"God's Concern for all People" is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday school lesson.—Meditation: "Even as Jonah of old did not consider the Ninevites suitable persons to receive God's forgiveness, so are we inclined to see no spiritual future for many. We, even as he, need to be reminded that God's grace reaches the most hopeless to lift them up. Often, like the publican who went up to the Temple to pray at the same time as the Pharisee, it is the one who seems farthest from God who realizes his need and avails himself of God's grace."

Time and again we have commented on the tremendous importation of foreign military rifles.

We warned of the dangers involved in trying to convert them into sporting guns. We also warned of the economic dangers.

Now comes a group of the leading gun manufacturers with a warning to the Federal Government that foreign gun imports are endangering our national security.

Six member companies of the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute have filed a petition with OCDM, asking that imports be limited to their 1945-55 historical level.

Those signing the petition were High Standard, Ithaca, Mossberg, Remington, Savage and Winchester-Western. They contend that the market for high-powered hunting rifles has been glutted by foreign surplus guns at fantastically low prices.

We think the expression "fantastically low price" is an erroneous statement. When a person puts good money into a piece of junk it isn't a low price it's a costly expenditure and a waste of money.

It is possible for the OCDM to recommend to the President that such importations be based on a quota which will not continue as a threat to national security.

Sometimes the wheels of governmental agencies work slowly. If outdoorsmen will quit buying this junk, the get-rich-quick importers will have to sell it for scrap metal.

And as long as some of our leading dealers continue to offer such items they will have only themselves to blame for what happens.

I still feel bad about keeping my mouth shut recently. I was in the gun department of a big retail store. Among the generous supply of honest American-made guns there were two rows of surplus military rifles. One was an import with a price of $29.95. It was a monstrosity. Alongside it was a

U. S. Springfield for $39.95.

A young fellow, lame from some affliction, walked into the place and studied the guns. He looked first at the Springfield and then at the import. He kept on fingering the price tags.

I wanted to offer him some advice. In the first place I doubt if, in his condition, he had any business with a gun at all. But I could overlook that, for nearly every man wants a gun. But here was a man who definitely couldn't afford a gun. And he was about to buy a piece of junk. I only wish that I had put in my two-cents worth and warned him against it.

I doubt if anyone, who knows anything at all about guns, ever would be proud of making a shooting iron from one of these imports. To my way of thinking these guns were designed to kill soldiers and it didn't make much difference which end of the gun the soldier was on.

If this sounds like I am prejudiced in favor of the American manufacturer, it is not accidental. I believe in American-made, American money and American enterprise. Although I have viewed our financial magnitude only from a distance, I am a strong believer in capital.

I am the same way about a good many other things. I like to read my advertising in a good newspaper or a legitimate magazine rather than in throw-away material that is passed out to clutter our mail boxes or litter our streets.

I get mad when I find some gyp bargain circular under the windshield wiper on my car.

It is for these reasons that I hope the OCDM will ask the President to act on the petition of the manufacturers and at least put a limit on junk gun imports.

In the meantime, we are now in season when we can use the guns we have. There is a bountiful supply of most game, except waterfowl, this year.

Research men like to use the word "explosion" in referring to the tremendous increase in wild-life population. This might be a good word, especially for quail.

Word comes from every section of the state that there are more quail this year than ever before. Old timers in the top Panhandle of Texas say they've never seen anything like it.

They are found in the Edwards Plateau, the Trans Pecos, the Brush Country and the Coastal Bend. They are throughout the grass and mesquite lands of all West Texas and even into the black jack country.

They are thick on both sides of the Red River and throughout the pine thickets this side of the Sabine.

There are bobs, blues and even a few of the Götunnix. What a year for hunting!

We're always happy to learn of a new product, especially one that's made in Texas.

Latest to come to our attention is a dove decoy. It's called "The Real D.Coy". It's made by the C. L. B. Co. of Houston. And believe you me it's well named.

Due to heavy rainfall through the state, doves are scattered. Tank shooting is likely to be slow. Especially will this be true after the doves become wary of water-holes. That's when the dove decoy really comes into its own.

"The Real D.Coy" is so designed that it can be placed high in a tree; on limbs that are large or small; on either a wooden or a wire fence; or placed on the ground. A number together look like the Real McCoy!

They really look real. Secret lies in the fact that they are balanced on a perch and not fastened to it. Weighted legs enable the decoys to be positioned several different ways.

No need to climb trees either. Through the use of a cane pole these decoys can be placed high in a dead tree, where they will be visible for a considerable distance, and they are just as easily removed.

Health Letter

Let's say you're a member of a neighborhood ladies club. It's your turn to put on the program, and you fret for days trying to wheedle an idea from an unresponsive brain.

Over and over you say to yourself: "If I just had a film to show . . . but where could I get one to interest a group of housewives?"

There just happens to be a public agency that will be happy to help you off the horns of that dilemma you're hung on—you or anyone else in a similar position.

It's the Texas State Department of Health. Or more precisely, the film library of the Department's Division of Health Education, with well over 1300 films available for free loan to responsible groups such as yours.

The loan business is booming. During December, January and February health films from the library were seen by an audience of more than 300,000 persons. Subjects ranged from communicable diseases to good human relations.

Would the ladies be interested in an expert account of how foods should be preserved to avoid the possibility of food-borne diseases? Drop a card to the library and ask that "40 Billion Enemies" be booked to you.

On second thought, it might be simpler to call your local health department and tell them your plans. Chances are they will assume responsibility for getting the film and supplying a health specialist to make side comments and answer questions after the film is shown.

Perhaps you'd like to show club members an approved, step-by-step method of making baby's formula. There's a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

One of the most powerful films in the library is called "The High Wall." It explores the development of prejudices and how it can be communicated to children through parental attitudes.

Most library films are purchased from commercial producers, but when one is needed with a strictly Texas application, division staff members write, direct, produce and photograph it themselves.

More than 45,000,000 of the 51,000,000 U. S. households will receive a newspaper today.

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

"RIO BRAVO"

Howard Hawks' "Rio Bravo," presented by Warner Bros. in Technicolor, coming Thurs., Fri., and Sat., to the State Theatre, is an undiluted, straight-from-the-shoulder drama in the best tradition of the Old West, with an outstanding cast headed by John Wayne, Dean Martin and Ricky Nelson.

The story builds up terrific suspense unfolding the courageous efforts of the sheriff of a small border-town to keep a wanted murderer in jail despite the prisoner's powerful and unscrupulous brother.

For John Wayne, "Rio Bravo" is a logical and worthy progression from such other western triumphs as "Stagecoach," "Red River," "Hondo" and "The Searchers." With the exception of one picture, Dean Martin's previous film work had been with his ex-comedy partner, Jerry Lewis, but in his present role as Wayne's ex-deputy sheriff, Dino's career as a dramatic star appears assured.

An event anxiously awaited by America's teenagers is the appearance of 18-year-old Ricky Nelson in the role of Colorado, youthful gun-slinger who comes to the aid of John Wayne when his enemies close in. Although his motion picture background is limited to two films made when he was a small boy, Rick's years of experience in front of television cameras have made a seasoned actor of him—a fact which becomes evident in "Rio Bravo."

"DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP"

One of the zaniest situations ever to pace hilarious movie action is the basis for Jerry Lewis' latest Hal Willis production, "Don't Give Up the Ship," which is due in town next Sun., Mon., and Tues., at the State Theatre. The Paramount release co-stars two gorgeous newcomers—

Dina Merrill and Diana Spencer—plus Mickey Shaughnessy, who scored so heavily in "Don't Go Near the Water" and in "Designing Woman," and Robert Middleton; featured are Gal Gordon, remembered for his very funny performances in the "Our Miss Brooks" television series, Mabel Albertson and Chuck Wassil.

The ingenious idea that motivates "Don't Give Up the Ship" and sets the course for the madcap doings is the "loss" of a destroyer escort by a Navy lieutenant (Jerry Lewis) who must hunt for it at the worst possible time—when he is about to start his honeymoon. Who else but Jerry could "lose" a destroyer? Finding it, with the aid of a beautiful ensign connected with Naval Intelligence, without losing his impatient bride, is the neat trick the comedian must perform in this funniest of all the riotous films of his career.

"THE HUNTERS"

Linking the up-to-the-minute story of America's top jet fighter acres with a tender love story, Producer-Director Dick Powell's CinemaScope, De Luxe Color production of Twentieth Century-Fox's "The Hunters" will have its local premiere Sat. only at the Fiesta Theatre. Starring rugged Robert Mitchum with Robert Wagner, May Britt, Richard Egan and Lee Philips, the fast-paced action film marks an unparalleled co-operative effort on the part of the film makers and the Department of the Air Force.

Using the total resources of the jet fighter command at Luke Field, Arizona, "The Hunters," like Mr. Powell's first and highly successful destroyer-submarine picture, "The Enemy Below," also stars Mitchum as a tough battle commander.

Time and again we have commented on the tremendous importation of foreign military rifles.

We warned of the dangers involved in trying to convert them into sporting guns. We also warned of the economic dangers.

Now comes a group of the leading gun manufacturers with a warning to the Federal Government that foreign gun imports are endangering our national security. Six member companies of the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute have filed a petition with OCDM, asking that imports be limited to their 1945-55 historical level.

Those signing the petition were High Standard, Ithaca, Mossberg, Remington, Savage and Winchester-Western. They contend that the market for high-powered hunting rifles has been glutted by foreign surplus guns at fantastically low prices.

We think the expression "fantastically low price" is an erroneous statement. When a person puts good money into a piece of junk it isn't a low price it's a costly expenditure and a waste of money.

It is possible for the OCDM to recommend to the President that such importations be based on a quota which will not continue as a threat to national security.

Sometimes the wheels of governmental agencies work slowly. If outdoorsmen will quit buying this junk, the get-rich-quick importers will have to sell it for scrap metal.

And as long as some of our leading dealers continue to offer such items they will have only themselves to blame for what happens.

I still feel bad about keeping my mouth shut recently. I was in the gun department of a big retail store. Among the generous supply of honest American-made guns there were two rows of surplus military rifles. One was an import with a price of $29.95. It was a monstrosity. Alongside it was a

U. S. Springfield for $39.95.

A young fellow, lame from some affliction, walked into the place and studied the guns. He looked first at the Springfield and then at the import. He kept on fingering the price tags.

I wanted to offer him some advice. In the first place I doubt if, in his condition, he had any business with a gun at all. But I could overlook that, for nearly every man wants a gun. But here was a man who definitely couldn't afford a gun. And he was about to buy a piece of junk. I only wish that I had put in my two-cents worth and warned him against it.

I doubt if anyone, who knows anything at all about guns, ever would be proud of making a shooting iron from one of these imports. To my way of thinking these guns were designed to kill soldiers and it didn't make much difference which end of the gun the soldier was on.

If this sounds like I am prejudiced in favor of the American manufacturer, it is not accidental. I believe in American-made, American money and American enterprise. Although I have viewed our financial magnitude only from a distance, I am a strong believer in capital.

I am the same way about a good many other things. I like to read my advertising in a good newspaper or a legitimate magazine rather than in throw-away material that is passed out to clutter our mail boxes or litter our streets.

I get mad when I find some gyp bargain circular under the windshield wiper on my car.

It is for these reasons that I hope the OCDM will ask the President to act on the petition of the manufacturers and at least put a limit on junk gun imports.

In the meantime, we are now in season when we can use the guns we have. There is a bountiful supply of most game, except waterfowl, this year.

Research men like to use the word "explosion" in referring to the tremendous increase in wild-life population. This might be a good word, especially for quail.

Word comes from every section of the state that there are more quail this year than ever before. Old timers in the top Panhandle of Texas say they've never seen anything like it.

They are found in the Edwards Plateau, the Trans Pecos, the Brush Country and the Coastal Bend. They are throughout the grass and mesquite lands of all West Texas and even into the black jack country.

They are thick on both sides of the Red River and throughout the pine thickets this side of the Sabine.

There are bobs, blues and even a few of the Gouturnix. What a year for hunting!

We're always happy to learn of a new product, especially one that's made in Texas.

Latest to come to our attention is a dove decoy. It's called "The Real D.Coy". It's made by the C. L. B. Co. of Houston. And believe you me it's well named.

Due to heavy rainfall through the state, doves are scattered. Tank shooting is likely to be slow. Especially will this be true after the doves become wary of water-holes. That's when the dove decoy really comes into its own.

"The Real D.Coy" is so designed that it can be placed high in a tree; on limbs that are large or small; on either a wooden or a wire fence; or placed on the ground. A number together look like the Real McCoy!

They really look real. Secret lies in the fact that they are balanced on a perch and not fastened to it. Weighted legs enable the decoys to be positioned several different ways.

No need to climb trees either. Through the use of a cane pole these decoys can be placed high in a dead tree, where they will be visible for a considerable distance, and they are just as easily removed.

Health Letter

Let's say you're a member of a neighborhood ladies club. It's your turn to put on the program, and you fret for days trying to wheedle an idea from an unresponsive brain.

Over and over you say to yourself: "If I just had a film to show... but where could I get one to interest a group of housewives?"

There just happens to be a public agency that will be happy to help you off the horns of that dilemma you're hung on—you or anyone else in a similar position.

It's the Texas State Department of Health. Or more precisely, the film library of the Department's Division of Health Education, with well over 1300 films available for free loan to responsible groups such as yours.

The loan business is booming. During December, January and February health films from the library were seen by an audience of more than 300,000 persons. Subjects ranged from communicable diseases to good human relations.

Would the ladies be interested in an expert account of how foods should be preserved to avoid the possibility of food-borne diseases? Drop a card to the library and ask that "40 Billion Enemies" be booked to you.

On second thought, it might be simpler to call your local health department and tell them your plans. Chances are they will assume responsibility for getting the film and supplying a health specialist to make side comments and answer questions after the film is shown.

Perhaps you'd like to show club members an approved, step-by-step method of making baby's formula. There's a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

One of the most powerful films in the library is called "The High Wall." It explores the development of prejudices and how it can be communicated to children through parental attitudes.

Most library films are purchased from commercial producers, but when one is needed with a strictly Texas application, division staff members write, direct, produce and photograph it themselves.

More than 45,000,000 of the 51,000,000 U. S. households will receive a newspaper today.

"RIO BRAVO"

Howard Hawks' "Rio Bravo," presented by Warner Bros. in Technicolor, coming Thurs., Fri. and Sat., to the State Theatre, is an undiluted, straight-from-the-shoulder drama in the best tradition of the Old West, with an outstanding cast headed by John Wayne, Dean Martin and Ricky Nelson.

The story builds up terrific suspense unfolding the courageous efforts of the sheriff of a small border-town to keep a wanted murderer in jail despite the prisoner's powerful and unscrupulous brother.

For John Wayne, "Rio Bravo" is a logical and worthy progression from such other western triumphs as "Stagecoach," "Red River," "Hondo" and "The Searchers." With the exception of one picture, Dean Martin's previous film work had been with his ex-comedy partner, Jerry Lewis, but in his present role as Wayne's ex-deputy sheriff, Dino's career as a dramatic star appears assured.

An event anxiously awaited by America's teenagers is the appearance of 18-year-old Ricky Nelson in the role of Colorado, youthful gun-slinger who comes to the aid of John Wayne when his enemies close in. Although his motion picture background is limited to two films made when he was a small boy, Rick's years of experience in front of television cameras have made a seasoned actor of him—a fact which becomes evident in "Rio Bravo."

"DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP"

One of the zaniest situations ever to pace hilarious movie action is the basis for Jerry Lewis' latest Hal Wallis production, "Don't Give Up the Ship," which is due in town next Sun., Mon., and Tues., at the State Theatre. The Paramount release co-stars two gorgeous newcomers—

Dina Merrill and Diana Spencer—plus Mickey Shaughnessy, who scored so heavily in "Don't Go Near the Water" and in "Designing Woman," and Robert Middleton; featured are Gal Gordon, remembered for his very funny performances in the "Our Miss Brooks" television series, Mabel Albertson and Chuck Wassil.

The ingenious idea that motivates "Don't Give Up the Ship" and sets the course for the mad-cap doings is the "loss" of a destroyer escort by a Navy lieutenant (Jerry Lewis) who must hunt for it at the worst possible time—when he is about to start his honeymoon. Who else but Jerry could "lose" a destroyer? Finding it, with the aid of a beautiful ensign connected with Naval Intelligence, without losing his impatient bride, is the neat trick the comedian must perform in this funniest of all the riotous films of his career.

Ford Motor Company Plans To Build 100,000 Falcons, New Economy Car

Ford Division of Ford Motor Company released first official photographs of the Falcon today and said it expects to build 100,000 of the new economy cars by the end of 1959.

James O. Wright, company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said assembly of Falcons already is under way at the division's Loraine, O., assembly plant, and will start shortly at plants near Kansas City, Mo., and San Jose, Calif. Falcon engines are being produced at Lima, O.

Mr. Wright said the keynote of the Falcon will be economy of operation and maintenance.

"For example," he said, "the Falcon will have gasoline economy 50 per cent better than the largest of the so-called 'compact' cars of American manufacture, and 35 per cent better than the smallest domestic car made by the same producer. Compared with the latter, the Falcon has 35 per cent more luggage space, 70 per cent more windshield area, and a full foot more of rear-seat width."

Mr. Wright said that in the area of replacement parts a Falcon fender will cost 50 per cent less, a windshield 40 per cent less and a muffler 30 per cent less.

With regard to air-cooled versus water-cooled engines, Mr. Wright said the Falcon's water-cooled, front-mounted engine will require only $1.80 worth of anti-freeze in the winter—50 per cent less than a full-size car.

Mr. Wright said the Falcon will be introduced publicly October 8 at 7,000 Ford Division dealerships across the country.

"Based on the amount of public interest in the Falcon already being reported by our dealers," he said, "we are expecting our busiest, introductory period in years."

Mr. Wright said the Falcon combines economy of operation and smaller exterior dimensions with ruggedness, "big-car" roadability and passenger space comparable to that of standard cars.

"Its wheelbase is 8 inches shorter than a 1959 Ford Fairlane, yet it is a full six-passenger car with interior roominess approximating that of standard models," he said.

"For example, front leg-room in the Falcon is only 1-10 of an inch less than in a 1959 Ford and front head-room is actually seven-tenths of an inch greater. Rear-seat passenger space also compares favorably."

Mr. Wright emphasized that the Falcon is "all new from the ground up." None of its parts will be interchangeable with those of standard Ford models.

The Falcon, which features unitized construction to combine maximum strength and rigidity with minimum weight for this type of vehicle, will be offered in two-door and four-door models. Optional equipment will include automatic transmission, radio, heater, safety padding, seat belts, tinted glass, and interior and exterior deluxe trim.

Falcon styling is simple and functional, with decorative trim and chrome at a minimum. An oval grille runs the full width of the car and contains the single headlights. Both hood and fenders slope downward to meet the grille, providing the driver with better visibility. The center of the hood features a Thunderbird-type air scoop.

Running the full length of the car is a sculptured panel which adds to the car's beauty and at the same time provides greater strength for doors and side panels.

The "dogleg" entrance to the front passenger compartment has been eliminated, greatly improving ease of exit and entrance. The luggage compartment has 24½ cubic feet of space—nearly twice the space of the two top imported cars combined.

The new overhead-valve, water-cooled Falcon engine has a piston displacement of 144 cubic inches and a 3½ inch bore with 2¼-inch stroke—giving it a bore-stroke ratio greater than that of any other engine now being produced. The block is made of cast iron for durability and reliability. Aluminum is used in the flywheel housing, transmission

Heralding a new "breakthrough" in automotive design, the Ford Falcon—shown here with three views of the Fordor model—is all-new from the ground up. Functionally styled, the Falcon has a full length sculptured side panel that adds grace to its lines and provides greater strength for doors and side panels. The Falcon's all-new 90-horsepower six-cylinder engine is designed to give up to 50 per cent better gasoline mileage than standard cars.

ROGER BABSON SAYS—

Numerous Separate Cycles Business Cycles Are Made Up Of

Many have asked what is my definite system of investing. I hesitate to put this down in writing because it is easier to explain than to perform: The Babson System consists of three constantly changing factors, as follows:

Capitalizing The Composite Business Cycle

(1) The composite Business Cycle is a combination of a number of separate cycles. Most investment advisers forget that each commodity, each nation, and each family has its own special cycle. There are hundreds of these cycles, but we take about fifty and observe when the declines of most of them reach their low points at the same time and are ready to turn upward. In other words, if these different cycles were drawn one over the other every month, then—when most of the cycles were at their low point—that, according to the Cycle Theory, is the time to invest. This Cycle Theory, is the time to invest. This Cycle Theory, however, is only one of the three tests, all of which are extension and other parts where it cuts weight without sacrificing strength.

Other Falcon features include a redesigned front suspension for improved ride and handling; a new type of brake system which features nine-inch brakes—largest in the industry for this size car—and reduced pedal effort to compare with that of power brakes; 13-inch wheels; a 12-volt electrical system, and large, parallel-operating windshield wipers.

whatever the 20-year Business Cycle may indicate, there are certain times when one should buy stocks rather than at other times. This especially applies to those who are buying primarily for income. Such people do not care to wait and depend wholly on the long Business Cycle; but then desire to buy whenever they have money to invest.

Selecting The Best Stocks

(3) The third factor of the Babson System is to select the stock to buy, either for profit or for income. The careful investor should, however, decide which of these two aims is his real goal. All investors should try to purchase safe securities, whether buying for income or for profit, remembering that there must be a buyer for every seller and vice versa. The question of impatience to buy or to sell is equally important in selecting definite stocks. At times investors are more impatient to buy some special popular stock than to buy some other less popular but safer stock. This means that an investor should especially study volume, remembering that in a "bear" market the volume signifies one thing, while in a "bull" market it signifies another thing. Let me say that for a profit the Babson System demands the purchase or sale of active stocks as these will show the greatest increase in a bull market. On the other hand, these same very active stocks will decline the most in a bear market. When the odds are 50-50, then the investor must do some guessing or remain out of the market.

What About Bonds?

We have not discussed bonds today in this column. Bonds have a maturity factor which stocks do not have. Also, when buying preferred stocks the investor should be sure that they are noncallable and their dividends cumulative. To study the outlook for common stocks, only three factors have to be considered. But when studying bonds or preferred stocks, a 4th factor is necessary. This complicates the situation.

For those who are expecting me to make specific recommendations, I advise against now purchasing the present popular "electronic" and "space" stocks, but prefer, safe growth stocks. These today are the chemicals for profit, and the public utilities for income.

State Capitol Highlights:

People Are Writing Governor Daniel Saying "No More Taxes, Please"

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

People who have been writing Gov. Price Daniel in the past few weeks say "no more taxes, please."

In mid-August the governor announced he would call a special session to raise money for higher teacher pay only if the people demanded it. He said he also wanted to find out how legislators felt after they had had a chance to be home a while and talk with the folks in their districts.

In the weeks that have transpired, there has been a heavy volume of mail running strongly against the special session idea. Lawmakers also are taking a dim view of being called for a fifth round of money hunting.

Whether this means that prospects for a teacher pay session are out remains to be seen. It could mean only that the teachers, their families, friends and other school-minded people have been too busy with "back to school" work to get their letters off to the governor. On the other hand, it could mean that the people are getting tired of taxes, and spiraling wage scales.

PINCH ALREADY FELT—Perhaps the reason many Texans weren't eager to have another tax session was that they were beginning to feel the bite of new taxes already passed this year.

State Treasurer Jesse James' report shows that many stocked up on cigarets and liquor during August, before higher taxes on these items became effective in September.

Sale of liquor and cigarets tax stamps soared to $5,227,642 in August. This is $1,098,496 higher than sales for August, 1958.

No statistics are available for the pre-tax selling of items which got hit for the first time. But heavy advertising campaigns indicated that merchants hoped buyers would clear their stores during August of such items as air conditioners in order to avoid the 3 per cent sales tax.

GOVERNOR DEFENDS VETO—Governor Daniel's office has suggested that the State Hospital Board tap its $1,200,000 emergency fund to eliminate any fire hazard to the 800 oldsters housed in the Confederate Home in Austin.

Governor Daniel vetoed a legislative appropriation to build new quarters for these patients. His action brought some reactions of surprise and criticism. State Hospital system's safety officer was quoted as labeling the 50-year-old frame buildings as "definite fire hazards."

A spokesman for the governor retorted that the appropriation the governor scratched would not have emptied the Confederate Home. He said it would have provided quarters for only about 300.

He suggested the State Hospital Board use its emergency funds to re-double safety precautions for the old folks.

LONG TIME NO PAY—Legislative employees will have to wait until Nov. 4 to get their next pay check.

In its last special session the Legislature approved a $330,000 fund transfer for these between-sessions expenses by voice vote. But all bills not passed by a two-thirds record vote cannot take effect until 90 days after the session ends. Hence, the November date for this action.

Legislature also appropriated $1,000,000 for legislative expenses, but this was vetoed by the governor. He said he felt they could get along on the $300,000.

Arrangements were being made for some 20 House and Senate employees, who've missed two pay days now, to get low interest loans from loan companies.

ATTENTION, ALL BOAT OWNERS—State Highway Department has announced that registration and licensing of boats under the new water safety act will begin next month.

Boat owners will have until March 1, 1960, to get their certificates and identification numbers.

Forms now are being printed and will be distributed to boat dealers, county offices, Highway Department Offices and other public offices.

Cost of the licenses will vary with the size of the craft. Here is the scale: Boats under 16 feet in length, $1; 16 to 26 feet, $5; 26 to 40 feet, $10; 40 feet or more, $12.50.

Boats, regardless of length, if equipped with a 10 hp motor or less, will be exempt from the tax as well as the numbering provision of the law.

The Highway Department will deal only with the registration phase of the new law and not with safety enforcement.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS—Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center has been appointed chairman of the Senate General Investigating Committee.

Others named to the committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey are Sens. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris (reappointed), Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and R. A. Weinert of Seguin.

This committee succeeds a panel headed by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin which collected reams of material on the ICT Insurance Company, the state insurance liquidation division and tax collecting procedures in the state comptroller's office.

COST OF CITIFYING—In the past ten years Texas prison population has rocketed from 5,000 to 11,000.

Some might wonder if the state is reverting to the lawless ways of the Old West. Not so, according to O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Department of Corrections. Seemingly, it's "progress"—or at least a parting with old ways—that's causing the trouble.

In citing what he feels are the reasons more Texans are getting behind bars, Ellis put "urban movement" at the top of the list. "A good old country boy moves to the city," Ellis explained, "has a 40-hour work week and doesn't know how to use his time."

Ellis also blamed no jobs for youngsters and misplaced values—"too much emphasis on the big home, the big auto."

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

Congress Is About To Close Shop After 8 Months

Congress is about to close shop. And it's a good thing. Good for the Congress and good for the country. After 8 months of wrangling, maneuvering and legislating, you see signs of irritation and stringy nerves.

The shenanigans of Senator Wayne Morse cannot be explained that easily, however. When Senator Johnson the other day obtained unanimous consent of the Senate to debate the over-debated housing bill that had been vetoed, before voting on the issue of overriding the veto, Morse got his feelings hurt real bad because he was not notified in advance that unanimous consent would be requested. He was not there, and when he found out about it he declared "parliamentary war" on the Senate in general and the Senate leadership in particular.

Anything for headlines. Now Morse is using every dillitry tactic in the books to delay the business of the Senate, and thereby delay the recess if he can. At least that is the view of observers.

SPEAKING OF the veto of the housing bill, it will be recalled that Congress has approved two omnibus housing bills. The President objected to the first one because it was very inflationary, with many nonessential and expensive items in it. Then Congress passed another one, almost equally objectionable, and he vetoed it. It begins to look like some of the lawmakers would rather have a veto than a reasonable bill to meet essential needs of FHA mortgage insurance and other necessary items.

But surely the Congress will not quit without meeting its obligation to the country in that respect.

The Senate upheld the second veto.

The President also vetoed the public works appropriation because of his objection to 67 new starts for which money was provided—projects which had not been cleared by the Bureau of the budget as is ordinarily required. In defiance of the President, and inviting another veto, the House committee then approved a second one without meeting any of the President's objections.

And so it goes. At the time this is written a lot remains to be done in order to quit before the Soviet Dictator gets to town. And the leadership is determined to clear out before Nikita arrives on the 15th.

More lives were lost in the Civil War than in any other war in which the United States has been engaged.

According to the latest figures, last year's 100 top national newspaper advertisers invested over $300,000,000.

Continued from page 1) finished article was one that would hold up as well present a good appearance. Norma painted their lawn furniture and a barbecue barrel which her father made.

Yard work is also interesting to Norma, but she says she does not have the time to do as much of it as she would like. She has learned to prune roses and shrubs, and how to water and fertilize the yard. She estimates that she has worked 69 1/2 hours in 4-H work during her years in 4-H work.

In addition to the projects already mentioned, Norma attended the District Recreation School where she learned to direct games and other recreation. She has been asked to direct games and other recreation for other organizations, as Vacation Bible School and Future Homemakers Association. She also gave a program on parliamentary procedure for the County Luncheon Association. Norma has assisted with planning and directing recreation and crafts for the 4-H county camp for the past two years.

Since Norma is one of the older members in her 4-H club she has been a great help with younger girls, assisting the agent with teaching of crafts, sewing, and food.

Norma is very active in the Future Homemakers Association. She has also been a member of the school band for six years, starting when she was in the fifth grade. In the regional contests in 1958 she was one of only ten flute players chosen in the entire region. She is an outstanding student. During the school year of 1958-59 Norma ranked highest in a class of 116 members. She is also a member of the National Honor Society, and the Future Teachers of America. An essay which she wrote was accepted by the National Essay Association and was published in an anthology. Recently Norma was chosen to represent the 4-H clubs as Rodeo Queen for the 1959 Junior World Championship Rodeo.

Norma is very appreciative of the help and encouragement she has received both from her home demonstration agent and others. She feels that the things she has learned in 4-H work will be both practical and useful to her as she continues her education and in later life. After completing her high school education Norma plans to attend Abilene Christian College, where she will continue to put into practice the things she has learned in 4-H work.

Norma has been elected as a member of the Student Council for 1959-60 representing the High School band.
