

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Most people probably have turned their interests from baseball, except for the big leagues and the upcoming World Series, but perhaps it would be a good idea to think back over the past summer and the Little League activities in the Winters community.

In their first year as members of the National Little League Association, the kids from this area made their initial mark, with an all-star team going to the tournaments in Abilene for the first time.

Their progress during the summer season would have been impossible, however, had it not been for many individuals who gave of their time and talents and finances to see that the Little Leaguers received the right kind of guidance and equipment, and were provided with a park in which to play. A new baseball park was opened this year, and backers hope to have it lighted for night games by the 1960 season.

Space does not permit us to list each and every individual who helped, by working on the park and with the kids, or by donating money. We can say, however, that total cash donations toward building the new baseball park amounted to $601. Total donated to purchase equipment for the teams, in cash and equipment, amounted to $574.1. Much equipment was donated by individuals and firms and it would be difficult to set a correct amount.

In addition, many men worked long hours in building fences and leveling the ground on the new park.

So we can see that it takes not only teamwork on the part of the Little League players, but also on the part of the community as a whole. And that teamwork did a lot of good for a lot of kids this past summer.

"Found" articles are always showing up in the Enterprise office, and we do our best to find the owners. Some visitor in the office within the last few days, however, left the insides of a coffee percolator on the counter; it was not a "found" article, but a "misplaced" item. If the owner has forgotten where he left it, he may pick it up—or maybe bring the pot to go with it.

The Winters Blizzards are only two games deep into the 1959 football season, and have tucked both contests under their belts, running neck and neck with Cisco in leading District 7-AA. Cisco, of course, has played only one game, but the other teams in the district have played two games each.

Coleman and Eastland even-Stephen, with one win and one loss. Ranger and Ballinger have lost both their first games this year. District play will not begin for another two or three games; Winters will play their first district contest against Ranger Oct. 16, here. Therefore, the district picture is a little out of focus thus far.

The Blizzards go to Brady Friday night to take on one of the state's top AA teams, and then have a week's rest before they meet Hamlin here Oct. 2.

The character who made our football predictions last season is a little reluctant to take on the responsibility this year, so guess we'll have to get someone else to do the job. There is not much hue and cry around the college circuit this early in the season, so we may have to go far afield to pick our games for this week.

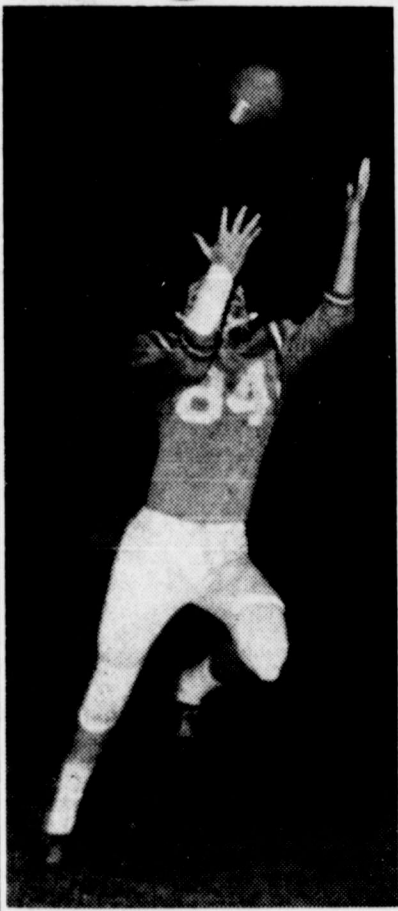

So we'll get our feet wet, take a saw in hand and climb out on a limb and say the following results will be seen on next Sunday morning's sports pages:
McMurry over Howard Payne.
Abilene Christian over East Texas State.
Louisiana State over Rice.
Texas A. and M. over Texas Tech.
Texas Christian over Kansas.
Mississippi over Houston.
Nebraska over Texas.
Navy over Boston College.

Hopewell Baptists Special Service Sun.

A special service will be held at the Hopewell Baptist Church Sunday September 20, to emphasize Christian Education, it has been announced.

Dr. E. Dodson, Bible instructor in Howard-Payne College, will be the guest speaker for the morning preaching hour.

Approximately 400 Attended Annual Style Show Thurs.

Approximately 400 persons attended the seventh annual style show "Patterns of Fall" held Thursday evening in the auditorium of Winters High School.

The Literary and Service Club sponsored the affair and proceeds will be used to purchase a wheelchair for Winters Municipal Hospital and to provide a $100 student-nurse scholarship. The club's first gift to the hospital was an incubator in 1940. Last years proceeds from the style show were used to purchase a croupette for the hospital.

Mrs. Charles Kruse was general chairman of the fashion show and Mrs. J. W. Bahlman was commentator. Mrs. H. K. Flatman, club president, welcome the guests.

Paula Poe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Poe, gave a reading "Come Little Leaves" and Sherry Mote sang.

Suits, coats, sport clothes, casual wear, party dresses and hats were shown by three local stores. Models for Heidenheimer's were Mrs. S. B. Parks, Mrs. LaDell Davis, Mrs. Tommy Rougas, Mrs. Frank Brown, and Miss Linda Parks. Styles from the Fashion Shop were shown by Sherry Mote, Linda White, Nancy Roberts and Mesdames Roy Riggs, Lynn Huff and Frederic Poe.

Maize Harvest About Over; Biggest Crop In History

Harvest of the biggest maize crop in history is about over in this part of Runnels County, according to elevator operators in Winters. Another week or ten days will see the end of the maize harvest season, it was predicted.

About 380 carloads of maize have been received in Winters since the beginning of the harvest. With good combining weather prevailing throughout most of the harvest season, farmers lost no time in gathering the bumper crop. At times during the height of the season, the grain came in

The Winters Blizzards head for the Hill Country Friday night, with an honest determination to stop the Brady Bulldogs. This may be quite a chore, inasmuch as the Bulldogs are rated one of the top AA teams in the state; but Coach W. T. Stapler has predicted that the Brady team is ripe for an upset. And, according to the coach, the Winters team, with two games on the win side of the ledger, just might be the team to pull an upset.

The Brady team, which boasts a heavy front line, has several returning starters. Two ends, a tackle, two alternate starters from last year, and a 209-pound all-star guard, are returning for this season. The Blizzards will be facing Scott Appleton, all-star guard in 1958, who is being groomed as the outstanding lineman in the state for this season.

Brady has been in state play-offs for about 5 years, and has gone to the finals two times. Coach Chuck York's Bulldogs slapped Ballinger 38-6 in their first and only game of the 1959 season. The Brady line averages about 180 pounds, with the back-field matching Winters in weight.

The Blizzards have been hard at work on the drill field, Stapler said, and are determined to give Brady some surprises on the field. Winters is not a big team, he said, but it is a rough and ready team, which likes to play football. Brady defeated Winters 32-6 last year.

James Williams, Blizzard end, received a slight concussion in the game against Anson last Friday night, and was under a doctor's observation for a while. However, Coach Stapler said the injury was not serious, and Williams will be in the starting lineup against Brady.

Other starters will include Albro, end; Nelson and Burton, tackles; Bolden and Dietz, guards; Scott, center; Dunnam, quarterback; Attaway, fullback; Guy and Grissom or Joel Butts in the half-back spots.

Tickets for the Brady-Winters game are available at the school business office.

Swine Field Day In Ballinger October 2 and 3

A swine field day program, sponsored by the Runnels County Swine Breeders Improvement Association, will be held in Ballinger Oct. 2 and 3. The program will include talks by outstanding animal husbandmen and others interested in swine breeding.

The best eight hogs will be chosen, and the champion carcass will be rewarded with a trophy for the owner. All spectators will be invited to take part in the carcass judging contest.

According to Lester Glass of Miles, president of the association, persons wishing to enter hogs in the carcass contest must be members of the association. Anyone wishing to enter the contest may do so by paying dues.

A barbecue will be served at noon on Saturday, Oct. 3, and evaluation and results of the contest will be made at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Included on the program are Dr. Raymond Anderson, T. D. Tankersly, extension animal husbandman, and Roy W. Snyder, extension meat specialist.

Blizzards Down Anson In Close Game Friday

By BILLY LYNN LITTLE

The Winters Blizzards outfought a tough Anson bunch of Tigers as they rolled to their second victory of the season at Anson Friday night by a score of 14-6.

After a nip and tuck first half, without either team scoring, the Blizzards opened up in the third quarter after a long drive, aided by a 15 yard personal foul penalty, moved them to the Anson 25. Halfback Joel Butts slashed thru the line to the one yard line, where quarterback Jerry Dunnam sneaked across for the tally. The try for extra points failed and the Blue led 6-0.

Anson banged back in the fourth quarter when halfback David Propt climaxed a long drive with a 15 yard touchdown run. The Blizzards stopped all the important extra points try, and the score was tied, six-up.

Fullback Dalton Attaway picked up the Anson kick-off and barreled out to the Blizzard 42. From this point, with time fleeting fast, halfbacks Junior Guy and Butts fought their way to the Anson 20.

Dunnam circled end to the 10, where, after being knocked out of bounds, an Anson player smashed into the Blizzard quarterback, causing a piling-on penalty. Ordinarily a 15 yard foul, according to rules and regulations, the ball could only be moved half the distance to the goal line. So the Blizzards had the ball first and ten on the five. During a discussion about exactly how much time was left (the Anson clock was broken, and the referee kept the official time on the field) the Blizzards huddled three separate times. Actually there was a minute and forty seconds remaining in the game, but that didn't make any difference—on the next play Butts smashed through to pay dirt, and the Blizzards led 12-6.

On the try for extra points, Butts again was not to be denied as he crashed over, giving the Blue a 14-6 lead.

But Anson was still not through, and a spectacular passing game put the ball deep in Blizzard territory. Then came the all important moment — Anson's quarter-dropped back to pass—in the end zone was a receiver and a defender. The Tiger end leaped, and so did Blizzard defense ace Jimmy Smith. For a breath-taking moment the two stood suspended in mid-air, and as the law of gravity pulled them earthward, Smith gained full control of the ball. The speedy end showed beautiful running ability, as he cut back and forth, running away from Tigers, and picking up block ers. After running for about 20 seconds, Smith was finally dropped. Dunnam fell on the ball on the next down, and the game ended. Anson led the Blizzards in all but two things—the score, 14-6, and pass interceptions, 1-0.

Once again the Blizzards have won a team victory, with all the boys doing their part. The line of Williams, Crowe, Burton, Nelson, Dietz, Rodney Butts, as well as backs Guy, Grissom, Butts, Attaway, and an exceptionally fine job by quarterback Dunnam, showed spirit and teamwork. To give credit singly to one player is impossible, for defenders Smith, Albro, Whitley, and Bolden also played fine ball. Center George Scott has looked excellent in both of the games.

Coach W. T. Stapler's Blizzards will be out to hang on to their unbeaten record as they cross swords with a rough Brady team in Brady Friday night.

New Street Signs To Be Erected Soon

Workers Needed In Girl Scout Troops In Local Organization

"The time has come to organize our Girl Scout troops for fall. We have girls eagerly waiting for troops, but a successful troop needs more than just girls; it must have qualified adult leadership." So spoke Mrs. Clem Rozman, Chairman of the local Girl Scout Association.

"The Girl Scout organization has as its objective providing a wholesome and worthwhile program for girls seven through seventeen years of age. The Brownie program is only a beginning for Girl Scouts as they delve into the eleven program fields. The three years spent at the Brownie level builds a firm foundation in Girl Scouting and prepares girls for a more enriched experience at the Intermediate level. The three or four years in the Intermediate program are growing ones in which girls learn by doing things that enable them to become more resourceful, self-confident, capable, and better adjusted individuals.

The Senior phase rounds out the Girl Scout's total experience as she continues to enjoy program activities on a more adult level, to assume more mature responsibility and to share knowledge she has attained.

Winters is faced with the usual "Fall Crisis." Are we to let the girls down? As a community, are we going to provide troops for our new girls — have Intermediate troops available for fly-up Brownies? Older Intermediate Girl Scouts going into junior high should have a troop waiting which will make it possible for them to continue their unfinished Scouting experience. Troops should be ready to receive graduating Intermediates into Senior Scouting with leadership capable of gaining and holding their interest.

"There is no greater field for volunteer service than in the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. We, in Scouting are proud that our adult membership has kept pace with our girl membership in the past. We hope it will continue to keep pace in the future.

"If your daughter is approaching Scout age, now is the time for you to look to the future. From time to time during the coming year adult training courses will be offered in this community. Taking advantage of these training courses will prepare mothers to enter Scouting with their daughters and to give them and others the benefits of Scouting which might otherwise be missed.

"The adult volunteer in Girl Scouting will long remember the fun, the personal rewards, the deep and lasting satisfactions that come in helping girls reach maturity.

"The Girl Scout motto is: "BE PREPARED". You can be of service in some phase of this worthwhile program. Girl Scouting needs your help in making our program grow and in reaching all girls in our community."

The street signs to mark all streets in the city of Winters have been received, and will be installed in the near future, according to Mayor Harvey D. Jones.

Also, metal numbers for each house in Winters have been ordered, and are expected to arrive shortly. The house numbers are being purchased by the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and will be installed by the chamber.

According to Tab Hatler, heading the chamber of commerce committee working on the house numbers, residents will not be required to pay for the numbers. They do ask, however, that home owners mark the front of the house where numbers are desired so that workmen installing them may know where to place them. The street signs have been purchased out of a special fund to which residents contributed several months ago. Not enough money has been received in contributions, according to city officials, to purchase the signs, so the remainder has been made up out of public funds.

The street signs, made of heavy metal, will be mounted on steel posts and placed at intersections of streets in the city.

M. C. Dale Appointed Head Of Farm Census In This District

M. C. Dale of San Angelo and a former resident of Winters, has been appointed supervisor of the Agriculture Census for 1959 throughout this district which comprises several counties in this section of West Texas.

Local residents who would like employment as an enumerator should contact Mr. Dale in San Angelo.

The census will be taken in October and November and will be for the entire year 1959. The information to be collected will give an inventory of all farms in the United States. It will show the amount of land used for crops and pasture, the quantity of crops harvested, the number of poultry and livestock on farms, and the kinds of equipment that our farmers have.

Information about agriculture is necessary to the good management of farms, businesses, and Government. We can get accurate and timely information only by taking a nationwide Census of Agriculture.

The Bureau of the Census is responsible for taking the Census of Agriculture. Its headquarters is in Washington, D. C., but it has field offices scattered throughout the United States.

The Census Bureau itself does not have enough permanent employees to do the job of collecting information from the Nation's 4,600,000 farmers. Therefore, it must get help from local residents in each State. About 30,000 enumerators, called "Enumerators," will be hired to take the 1959 Census of Agriculture.

Winters Schools Close Friday at 3

All Winters Schools will close Friday, September 18, at 3 p. m. in order to have ample time to reach Brady for the Winters-Brady football game. All buses will leave on regular bus routes at 3 o'clock.

Buses leaving for Brady will depart from the high school at 4:30 p. m. There will be no stops enroute to Brady.

Cotton Picking Underway

Cotton picking in North Runnels County is getting underway slowly, with 133 bales ginned to Thursday morning by all the gins in Winters.

Some sources have also reported a shortage of cotton pickers in this area. However, it was hoped that more cotton pickers would be available as the season progresses.

to Winters elevators faster than railroad cars could be supplied, and much of the grain was dumped on the ground to be loaded on to boxcars at a later date.

To handle the big shipments of grain from the Winters elevators, the Abilene Southern Railroad dispatched special engines to pull the long trains of boxcars.

With an average price of $1.40 per hundred for the grain, farmers in this area have already realized about $542,640 from this big crop of maize.

State Capitol Highlights:

Under New Filing Law, Candidates Cannot Wait Until 'Dogwood Blooms'

BY VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

"Dogwood time in Texas" could come around Thanksgiving this year.

In years past, the deadline for candidates to file for a place on the Democratic primary ballot was the first Monday in May. Would-be candidates frequently followed an old East Texas tradition of holding off formal announcements "until the dogwood is out." Depending on the season, dogwood blooms in late February to early March, some 2 to 1-2 months before the old May filing deadline.

Election law changes passed this year move the filing date up to Feb. 1. If the whole schedule is moved up accordingly, "dogwood time" would be from late November to early December.

Probably, for the first time at least, long habit will cause most candidates to feel this is too early.

Also for the first time in 1960, county officials will face a new fact of life. A constitutional amendment adopted last year bars them from running for another office while holding their present office, if it has more than one year to run.

This means that district judges, district attorneys, county judges, etc., all of whom have four-year terms, can't run for some state office in their "off year." They will have to resign first.

This rule does not apply to state officials holding four or six-year offices.

BATTLE LINES FORMING

However lively state politics, they probably will be eclipsed in the coming months by the tremendous interest building up in national party politics.

Focal point of most of the suspense and activity is U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, first Texan since John Nance Garner to be regarded seriously as a potential presidential nominee.

Clubs to support Johnson are already being formed, and Democratic Executive Committee Chairman J. Ed Connally of Abilene has predicted strong unity behind the senator.

But complete unity is unlikely. Liberals are forming a Texas Democrats for Stevenson organization.

First showdown will be at the precinct conventions. They'll be May 7 since the new law moves the date from the last Saturday in July to the first Saturday in May.

REPORT TO TAXPAYERS

Texas government cost more last year than ever before and will cost even more in the fiscal year that began this month.

But there was a bright spot in State Comptroller Robert Calvert report. Because of a new bookkeeping system enacted by the Legislature, the General Revenue Fund deficit is only $26,571,159 instead of the $67,000,000 that was predicted.

Calvert reported the state spent $1,163,883,080 in the year just ended. This is $140,000,000 more than in the previous year. In the present year spending will be some $50,000,000 higher than in the year just ended.

Biggest expenditures, in the order of their cost, were for highways, schools, public welfare, hospitals and penal institutions.

STUDY FOR SURVIVAL

A new adult education program aimed at the person who wants to live to a ripe old age regardless of what happens, will be launched in Texas this fall.

Texas Education Agency, in conjunction with several other states and federal agencies, is setting up the civil defense study program. It will be offered initially through public schools and junior colleges.

TEA's team of civil defense consultants will begin by holding workshops in various Texas cities and towns to train teachers. The teachers in turn will set up free classes for the public.

A 12-hour course in six two-hour sessions is planned. It will cover the potential period from both natural and man-made disasters, and how to survive them.

Texas is one of five pilot states which will pioneer this program this year. Next year 29 states will participate.

DAMP HARVEST

Too much rain at the wrong time has caused Texas crop prospects in some areas to sag.

U. S. Department of Agriculture has estimated the state's 1959 cotton crop at 4,525,000 bales. This is 225,000 bales less than was predicted earlier. Wet weather, causing insect damage and root rot, particularly in East Texas, was blamed. Quality, as well as quantity, of cotton has been hurt by the rains.

In some parts of the state August was the wettest month this year.

Rice, grain sorghum and vegetables also have been damaged in the sections near the coast.

HATCHET BURIED

A long and sometimes bitter controversy over Trinity River water apparently has ended in compromise.

Conflict had developed between the City of Houston and the Trinity River Authority, for which Dallas and other upriver residents were spokesmen. Each group wanted a permit from the State Board of Water Engineers to build a reservoir on the Trinity.

Charges and counter-charges were exchanged with a strong undercurrent of regional rivalry. A shouting contest before the Water Board seemed inevitable.

Now TRA and Houston have agreed on a plan by which the reservoir would be built, owned and operated jointly by the two. Houston would pay 70 percent of the cost and get 70 percent of the water.

Plan cannot be final until approved by the Water Board.

At the top of the arch was an arrangement of glittered wedding bells and large bow of white satin ribbon.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hord and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hand.

The Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated for the reading of the double ring ceremony.

Sandra Hord, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and David Whitley served the groom as best man. Miss Hord wore a pastel blue street-length dress fashioned with sleeveless fitted bodice, round neckline extending to a V in the back and full gathered skirt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white nylon acetate lace and nylon net waltz-length gown designed with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline extending to a V in the back and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. The set-in cummerbund fitted snugly at the waist.

The bouffant skirt was fashioned with an apron effect of the lace, revealing the ruffled net underskirt in the back emphasized by a large bow at the waist line. Her waist-length veil of illusion was attached to a crown studded with seed pearls and she carried a white gardenia set in a nest of white ribbon and net puffs, atop a white Bible.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the home immediately following the ceremony.

The table, laid with white lace, was centered with a styrofoam outline of a wedding bell, covered with white satin trimmed with net, seed pearls and small lace bells holding an arrangement of blue carnations.

Mrs. Hand was reared here, attended the Winters Schools and is classified as a senior. She was a member of the Goal Diggers Club, the Blizzard Band, National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll.

Mr. Hand attended the Winters Schools and graduated last June from Barber School in Fort Worth. He is employed at Elmwood Barber shop in Abilene.

The bride changed to a plaid linen two-piece suit with white accessories for her wedding trip to Corpus Christi.

The couple will make their home in Abilene.

Congressional Record As a Whole Has Been Good

By Cong. O. C. Fisher

With the drawing of the curtain on the 1st session of the 86th Congress, debit and credit posters are at it again. An appraisal of the degree of success of the session is a debatable subject, with more credit than debit being apparent from the record that has been made.

While there has been some free spending, by and large the record has been good, with a balanced budget being likely. On the face of it the Congress has actually trimmed budget requests by around a billion dollars. But unfortunately that does not tell the full story. We will know more about it next Spring when supplemental appropriations are made to supplement funds that are found to be inadequate.

Foreign aid was trimmed by nearly a billion. But most of that was offset by a three-quarter billion dollar outlay authorizing 37,000 additional units of public housing—a direct federal subsidy, although that figure is handled through back-door spending which does not appear in the budget.

Chief credit of the session was the Landrum-Griffin anti-racketeering bill which breezed through on the tide of an aroused public opinion.

On the wake of that historic success against the hoodlums and gangsters in the labor movement came the threats upon the political lives of those of us who supported the bill against racketeering. James Carey and Jimmy Hoffa both got into that act with wild-swinging threats of what they would do at the next election.

This brings up the recurring question of just how amenable rank-and-file union members are to union leaders who try to tell them how to vote, and just how regimented in that regard union members allow themselves to become.

The dictatorial attitude of labor politicians is evidenced by a statement made by James McDevitt, National Director of the political arm (COPE) of AFL-CIO, who in a speech made at a regional meeting of union leaders in Hartford, Conn., was quoted as saying:

"We are going to get the labor leaders who differ publicly with the position on candidates and issues already established by the labor movement... We are warning you, and we are warning all in the future; do not differ with the movement with respect to issues or candidates. We will not stand for it!"

RETURNED HOME

Diversity Club Opens New Year With Luncheon

Diversity Club opened the 1959-60 club year with a luncheon in Pierce's dining hall Saturday. Mesdames Clarence Ledbetter, Roy Young W. B. Middleton and W. T. Billups served as hostesses.

The theme of the years study, "Pleasant Stones" was carried out in decorations. The table, laid with white linen, was centered with a jewel box on a silver base over flowing with precious stones. An arrangement of pink carnations completed the club's colors of pink and white.

The club's year books were presented by Mrs. Truett Billups, chairman. Mrs. W. B. Middleton gave the president's greetings. Mrs. W. M. Bunger read the constitution and by-laws and a parliamentary review was presented by Mrs. J. W. Dixon, parliamentarian.

Winters Library Marks Increased Reading for Summer

Circulation of books in the Winters Public Library shows an increase in reading during the summer months with 1691 checked out, making an all time high for any summer in the history of the library, according to Myra Glover, librarian.

These books were enjoyed by children of every age as well as adults. Never before have so many adults gotten so many books from the library. Since the adults have shown interest in reading, best-sellers in fiction and non fiction are being added to the library.

These books were bought with donations from the Home Demonstration Club, Diversity Club and Literary and Service Club who support the library monthly. Last spring the Literary and Service Club helped buy bookcases which were needed very much and were enjoyed this summer.

The library recently received a book from the Junior Culture Club in memory of H. H. Chisum. Library hours are from 2 till 5 p. m. on Thursdays and Saturdays.

Soil Survey In County Progressing Rapidly

The standard soil survey in Runnels County is progressing rapidly, according to James Barnhill of the local Soil Conservation Service, with mapping being concentrated in the Valley Creek Watershed. Completion of the mapping in the watershed is expected by October 1.

Soil survey is a general term for the systematic examination of the soils in the field and laboratory. From this examination the soils are described, classified and mapped. Using this information predictions can be made for a given soil's adaptability for various crops, grasses, and trees, and their behavior and productivity under different management systems.

The field examination is made by the soil scientist who classifies the soils according to their different characteristics, such as texture, depth, permeability, slope, and parent material. The boundaries of the soils classified are mapped on aerial photographs.

Following a picnic lunch, general welcomes and instructions were given.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. W. H. Gill Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Gill, 93, pioneer resident of Runnels County, was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. B. T. Shoemake, pastor, officiated and burial was in the Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Gill, who is survived by 201 direct descendants, died at 8:10 p.m. Sunday in her home following an illness of five weeks. She entered Winters Municipal Hospital five weeks ago, the first time she had been a hospital patient in her life.

A native Texan, Mrs. Gill was born Lorena Shafter, July 29, 1866 in Milam County. She was married there to the late W. H. Gill in 1883. The couple moved to Runnels County in 1903 and farmed near Hatchel until his death in 1935. Since that time Mrs. Gill has lived in an apartment in Winters and did her own house work until she became ill five weeks ago.

Mrs. Gill could remember when there were very few houses and stores in Winters and the "sandstorms" were worse than the boll weevils that ran us out of Milam County.

Survivors include two sons, C. C. of Novice and Dolph of Cleburne; four daughters, Mrs. D. B. Thornton of Winters, Mrs. O. D. Mathis of San Antonio, Mrs. Fred Parker and Mrs. Dee Ferguson, both of Ballinger; 39 grandchildren, 107 great-grandchildren and 49 great great grandchildren.

ROGER BABSON SAYS — 'Live Seeds' Probably Will Be An Important Part of the Diets of Future

Babson Park, Mass.—Once each year I like to discuss foods. Usually it is at the close of the summer, which I spend at Gloucester, Mass., where I was born. There I once peddled vegetables and fruits from a milk wagon. I, of course, am writing only as a layman, surely not as a physician or druggist.

Vitamins, Minerals, and Bulk
In my youth I never heard of "vitamins, minerals, or bulk in connection with food. In the spring we were given cod-liver oil, which I hated; and molasses with sulphur on bread once a day. Then we were given jellies which my mother (bless her soul) had "put up" during the hot days of summer. We had potatoes, cabbages, squash, and carrots in the house cellar; but no green vegetables from November until rhubarb came again.

When ill, we were "built up on raw fertile eggs and raw milk. No other kind of eggs or milk was known. We had no bathroom in the house, but walked through the snow to a little "out-house"—20

Illegal Kills Keep Game Wardens Busy

Law enforcement duties in the West Texas area have picked up considerably since the first of September, according to the director of law enforcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. Within a week's time, 42 cases were made against hunters in the West Texas area, who killed curlew, plover, and quail out of season. The shooting of curlew and plover is a Federal offense as well as a State offense.

Although there seems to be a bountiful supply of doves throughout the State, shooting in some areas has been somewhat erratic. Weather changes started the bird movement and wardens of some counties report slow hunting. Water hole shooting has been slowed in many areas because of rains. On the other hand, a bountiful grain crop has provided so much food in other areas that doves are not inclined to leave.

Oats Subject of New Agricultural Bulletin

Oats, one of the most widely grown crops in Texas, are thoroughly discussed in a new bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Dr. I. M. Atkins, experiment station agronomist in charge of small grain research, and one of the bulletin authors, says that oats are used extensively in Texas for grain, winter pasture, hay, silage and other purposes.

While oats are a major cash crop only in the more concentrated areas of production, such as North Central Texas, their indirect contribution to farm income through their many uses for forage often equals or exceeds their value for grain, he adds.

The use of oats for all purposes has greatly expanded in recent years, as shown by the official estimate for 1957 of 2,670,000 acres compared to an average of 1,740,000 acres from 1947-56. Unofficial estimates made by county agents in 1955 and 1957 indicate that the acreage for forage purposes probably exceeds 1,000,000 acres per year; so the acreage devoted to oats in recent years probably exceeds 3,000,000 acres.

Oats are grown under a wide range of soil and climatic conditions in Texas. Because of this and their wide range of usefulness, many varieties and types are needed and can be grown. Along the Gulf Coast, spring-type or other varieties with low cold tolerance can be fall sown for livestock pasture. Farther north, in North Central Texas, varieties which can withstand wide fluctuations in winter temperatures are needed. Winter killing of oats occurs about 1 year in 4 in this area and may range from minor leaf injury to complete destruction of the crop on thousands

Runnels County FB Conducting Drive For New Members

M. L. Dobbins, membership chairman of the Runnels County Farm Bureau, reports that the Texas Farm Bureau theme of "four by four" for 1959, signifying 4000 new members and 4th place in the nation is fast nearing fulfillment according to statistics recently received from the state office.

In October 1958 Texas stood in 5th place over the nation with 76,033 members and through the concentrated effort of all county Farm Bureaus it appears at this time that by October 1959 Texas Farm Bureau will have renewed and enlisted the 4000 new members for a total membership of 80,000 and 4th place.

State statistics show that a total of 3,722 members were tabulated for the month of August which is a gain of 815 over the same period last year. For the same period of time the total state membership stood at 58,516 with a gain of 2,520 over last year. September and October renewals will total 20,000 and comparing this with the August membership would reach the 4,000 and the goal for 1959.

District VII which consists of 19 counties including Runnels County, has contributed greatly to this increase in considering the district membership. As of August 31, 1959 our district reported 880 new members, 3,546 renewals and 1,558 members will expire before October 31, 1959.

Dobbins stated that for the same period of time Runnels county had a membership of 646 members with a quota of 685 and to date the county has 90 new members, 351 renewals or a total membership of 441 which is a gain of 30 new members over last year. In our district, Coleman County holds the largest membership of 752, Runnels 646 and Taylor 526 but of the 19 counties in the district, Runnels County holds the top place by new members being topped by Brown county with 112 new members and a county membership of only 469.

of acres. The recent development of adapted hardy varieties such as Mustang and Bronco have increased the dependability of fall-sown oats in this area and in the northwestern part of the state.

The bulletin discusses culture, uses, varieties, diseases, insects and weeds that may affect oats. Also performance trials of fall-seeded and spring-seeded oats are discussed.

For a copy of the bulletin, "Oats for Grain, Winter Pasture and Other Uses," write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Beginning September 7, Office Hours will be from 8:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M. Monday through Saturday.

Revolutionary Suspension System Is Big Feature of 1960 Chevrolet Trucks

Impressive gains in cushioning cargo and passengers from road shock, plus much greater stability and safety result from a revolutionary suspension system designed for 1960 Chevrolet trucks.

The totally redesigned truck suspension provides the nearest approach to passenger car ride and handling yet achieved, along with vastly improved durability. It has been under development for six years.

"Aside from the obvious advantage of passenger comfort, this new suspension offers an economic bonus to truck buyers," E. N. Cole, Chevrolet's general manager, commented. "Because road shock is largely absorbed by rugged suspension members instead of being driven into the frame, chances for damage to fragile cargoes are reduced and life of cabs, metal panels, and other chassis components is prolonged, leading to lower maintenance costs."

In a clean break with the past, Chevrolet has replaced the hard-riding I-beam axle with independent front wheel suspension with ball joints and torsion bar springs on all but two models. Rear suspensions also are drastically changed, with coil springs on some light duty models. Heavier series use a new softer riding leaf spring with automatic adjustment of spring stiffness as the load increases.

In keeping with the "total redesign" theme, frames and other chassis elements also are redesigned and styling is changed along functional lines. Fenders, hood, and other panels are integrated with the new chassis for a more rigid, lower, roomier, more accessible cab and sturdier front end assembly.

An important feature of Chevrolet's new suspensions is that springs no longer are called upon to keep wheels and axles aligned and to take driving and braking forces, as in conventional systems.

Since those functions are performed by durable control arms, springs need only to cushion the vehicle. It also makes possible the use of friction-free torsion bars in front, and coil springs at the rear in light models. These two types of spring respond to small road shocks that would not flex conventional leaf springs because of inter-leaf friction, thus affording a smoother ride. On heavier duty rear leaf spring suspensions, design is such that only the proper spring length to give load support is in play at all times, giving a softer ride.

A revolutionary new suspension system gives vast improvement in ride, durability, and control to 1960 Chevrolet trucks. Front wheels are independently sprung on frictionless torsion rods. Rear suspensions are new, with coil springs on light-duty models and stronger, softer riding leaf springs on heavier models for improved cushioning of load and driver. New frames reduce height up to seven inches, with some cab floors at step-in level from the ground. Styling is new with rubber-mounted, roomier cabs. Inside steps have been eliminated, providing a full-width floor.

In addition to its superior ride, the new independent front suspension has many advantages. Unsprung weight is lower and wheel fight and shimmy are greatly reduced. "Wheel hop" is minimized on rough roads, giving better tire wear and prolonged suspension parts life. Ball joints simplify lubrication and afford correct friction for excellent ride, good wheel return, and automatic take-up of wear.

An important factor is that rugged control arms will keep front members in position in event of spring failure, unlike I-beam systems in which such a failure may seriously affect steering control. Also a safety consideration is the greater resistance to roll or sway on turns.

With the new rear suspensions, unloaded ride is much softer and fore-and-aft pitch greatly reduced. The assembly weighs less than conventional springs and affords impressive improvement in rear end stability, particularly on turns under load. Roll and sway also are markedly reduced.

Advances in strength and durability have kept pace with gains in ride and handling. Torsion bars basically the same in design as those used successfully in heavy military tanks, have been thoroughly tested in laboratory and proving ground trials. Brutal test schedules have shown the new suspensions to go through two torturing 3500 mile runs over jolting cobblestones without failure, compared with conventional suspensions which failed halfway through the first run.

Frames also have been redesigned and strengthened. Laboratory tests show some frames to be 1100 percent stiffer and to have 21 percent more beam strength. New designs reduce cab heights, with some up to seven inches lower. On light-duty models seat level is at step-in height from the ground.

Cabs are roomier, with improved sealing against water and dust. Inside stepwells are eliminated, affording full width floors. All cabs are rubber-mounted, have more windshield area, and are 67 percent stronger torsionally. Hoods are integrated with fenders for full-width accessibility to the engine compartment.

Re-proportioning of chassis, body, and sheet metal gives more favorable weight distribution, better maneuverability, and greater stability. Positioning the cab of light-duty models farther forward increases front suspension load by up to 8 percent.

Many other improvements are offered in the 1960 Chevrolet truck line. Powerglide automatic transmission will be available for the first time on light-duty models. Both 6 and 8 cylinder engines will be available in some models not previously so equipped. Brake sizes on most models have been increased, with lining life prolonged up to 40 percent, and cooling has been improved. A new hydraulic clutch control system for smoother action and increased clutch life is standard on all but one model.

Numerous engine refinements also are offered, including improved oil control, new manifold for the largest engine, three point mounting, and optional front-end power take-off for heavy-duty engines.

Some sales prospects are misers; they let the rest of the world go buy.

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

"SLEEPING BEAUTY,"
"SLEEPING BEAUTY," Walt Disney's $6,000,000 spectacular film presentation of the beloved old fairy-tale, is declared the supreme achievement in the wondrous art of animation and the Disney method of cinematic story telling. It is by all means the greatest undertaking in Disney entertainment history. Some 300 artists worked on it through six years.

It will be seen Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the State Theatre.

For this prodigious task Walt and his corps of veteran artists had at their command new and challenging implements of fantasy. These mechanisms—the big Technirama screen, revised color techniques, the fidelities of improved sound for the Tchaikovsky Sleeping Beauty Ballet music—promise breathtaking elegance for the picture.

But the entertainment quality of the 75-minute feature rises more from the treatment of the medieval tale than from its sense-stirring splendors. Walt has packed into "Sleeping Beauty" all the know-how acquired from previous production of classic fairytales, from the days of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" through the making of "Peter Pan."

The origin of the old legend of the sleeping beauty is dim in European mythology. The Disney romantic miracle play follows the rather thin original only in its main outline, the story adaptation having been made from Charles Perrault's version. Enormous research provided the authentic background and dressing.

LAST TRAIN FROM GUN HILL

One of the most important outdoor dramas ever made, Hale Wallis's Paramount production, "Last Train From Gun Hill," will be seen beginning next Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the State Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor and Vista Vision, and directed by John Sturges, whose credits include "Bad Day at Black Rock" and "Gunfight at the OK Corral," "Last Train From Gun Hill" stars Kirk Douglas and Anthony Quinn and co-stars Carolyn Jones and Earl Holliman.

In the tradition of "Gunfight at the OK Corral," which starred two great male personalities—Douglas and Burt Lancaster—Producer Wallis's new production is another great story with two equally important he-man roles that call for top talent to delineate. This time Douglas and Quinn are pitted against each other as erstwhile friends who become locked in a life-and-death struggle when the former comes after Quinn's son to avenge the rape and murder of his beautiful Indian wife.

GUNMAN'S WALK

Columbia Pictures' "Gunman's Walk," starring Van Heflin and Tab Hunter and co-starring Kathryn Grant and James Darren, is the story of a mad-dog killer, and of his father who proved himself faster with a gun. At the Fiesta Theatre, it scored with its eye-popping action and blistering drama. A CinemaScope-Technicolor production, "Gunman's Walk" is an excellent audience-pleaser.

This will show Saturday only at the Fiesta Theatre.

Heflin plays the picturesque pioneer cattleman who has won his empire through raw courage and blazing six-shooters. Although law and order has come to the territory, he attempts to rear his two sons, Tab Hunter and James Darren, in the image of his violent self. He succeeds with Tab; Darren is a gentle lad who despises the violent ways of his father and brother. Then, too, unlike his father and brother who despise the Indians, Darren loves beautiful Kathryn Grant, half Sioux, half French.

The conflict between violent father and even more violent son erupts after Hunter, freed of a murder charge, kills another man. In a final burst of fury, Hunter dares his father to see who is better with a gun.

"HOUSEBOAT"

A magnetic romantic team in the attractive and glamorous persons of Cary Grant and luscious Sophia Loren sparks Paramount's Technicolor comedy, "Houseboat" which is due to arrive next Sunday only at the Fiesta Theatre. This film, an original story by Mel Shavelson and Jack Rose, who authored the highly successful "Seven Little Foys," among other comedies, co-stars Martha Hyer and Harry Guardino and features Eduardo Cinnelli.

Modern Washington, D. C. and the colorful, historic Potomac River are integral parts of the light-hearted story about a lawyer's dilemma when he inherits his three children through the death of his wife, from whom he had been estranged for three years. He wants to be a good father to them, but they have ideas of their own that don't include him. The plot takes on uproarious proportions when he mistakes the glamorous, runaway daughter of a visiting Italian symphony conductor for an experienced housekeeper and hires her to help him take care of the children.

Cut Feed Costs With Winter Pastures

Abundant green grazing during the winter months can reduce feed costs, but small grains are not always the answer. Farmers should try to determine the returns from winter pastures before deciding how much acreage they will plant. Often pastures of oats or small grain mixtures may be leased to livestock producers.

Whether or not profits are to be made can be determined by comparing the cost of establishing the grain pasture with the value of the product derived from it. C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist gives some tips on making the decision.

First, determine the usual grazing period expected. If pastures can be leased for a monthly grazing charge per head, then a careful estimate of carrying capacity will indicated your possible returns. Proper grazing management is essential for obtaining maximum growth. Plan to stock the pasture so that good vitality is maintained. In some Central Texas counties last year, farmers contracted to furnish grazing for about 15 cents per pound of gain made by the steers. Usual gains averaged about 1½ pounds daily around Marlin. Where three acres would run one steer, and the oats were "grazed out" from December 1 to June 1, returns of $14 per acre were received. Bates says that if a farmer uses his own steers on his oats pasture, rather than lease out the grazing, the gain would return about $22 per acre if valued at 24 cents per pound.

Another way to estimate the value of oats pasture is to figure the value of air dry forage produced. In the Central Blacklands, research indicates that about 1½ tons per acre may be obtained from oats on upland. Bottomland yields are about one-third higher.

The steers normally utilize about 65 percent of the forage produced which means a loss of around one-half ton from trampling and waste. With one ton being effectively used, the value of hay saved by grazing can be determined. Succulent oats are high in protein so the forage compares well with alfalfa. The usual wintertime price of alfalfa runs about $35 per ton depending on locality.

An example of figuring costs and returns is set up as follows. Expected costs for establishing each acre of a three acre oat pasture: tractor use (breaking land, fertilizing and drilling) 2½ hours at $1.50 per hour—$3.75; fertilizer, 160 pounds of 10-20-10-$7.20; seed 2½ at $90-$2.25; giving a total cost of $13.20 per acre.

The three acres will produce an estimated 270 pounds of beef over the six months period from December 1 to June 1. Figured at 24 cents per pound the 270 pounds of gain will have a total value of $64.80. On an acre basis, this gain will be worth $21.60. Subtracting the cost of $13.20 per acre leaves a balance of $8.40, which is the net labor return per acre for the pasture program.

This same procedure can be used by dairymen to figure profit from grain pasture. Often, the operator can determine the value of the pasture either in additional milk produced or in tonnage of hay or silage saved. Usually most dairymen buy one of these items or knows the local value of these feeds in terms of his cost at the barn.
