ROGER BABSON SAYS

"Selfish Labor Interests May Bring On Depression, Loss of World Leadership"

Berlin, Germany, Oct. 22. Although I am writing this in Berlin, one should not judge Germany by Berlin since it is an independent and separate community of its own. Not only is it divided between different nations, but it is entirely surrounded by Russian-controlled territory. It is a free economic island floating in a "sea" of Communism—nothing like it anywhere else in the world. Now for an answer to the question frequently asked me: Is the United States facing serious unemployment?

Every Country Has Labor Unions

Even Germany has its labor unions, but practically no strikes. The union leaders and employers unite to make better goods to sell at lower prices. Hence, they are more industrious and more productive, due to longer hours and a lower cost of living. There is very little installment buying in Germany.

American labor will try to keep German products out of our country by getting Congress to raise our tariffs. This would not only increase the cost of living in the United States, but might cause Germany to "gang up" with Russia, Japan, and China in an economic war. Germany may have another "Hitler" who could be an "economic Hitler," just as powerful and ruthless as Adolf was in a military way.

Better Watch China

Germany is now making machinery and other products to export to us in the United States. If, however, we raise our tariffs so that she cannot export to us, Germany will export machinery to other nations—especially China. I have been to China and can visualize what could happen to us if these 400,000,000 workers should be sold tractors to farm with and machines with which to make textiles, steel, and other materials needed for exporting goods to compete with us. This is probably also true as to Russia, which I visit this week.

The above means that American labor leaders have a great responsibility. They could easily bring about much unemployment in the United States from which their membership, as well as their employers and all consumers, might greatly suffer. U. S. labor is now "pricing itself" out of its market, and our labor leaders could bring about a national depression of very serious consequences.

What I Learn About Germany

ROGER BABSON SAYS—

"Selfish Labor Interests May Bring On Depression, Loss of World Leadership"

Berlin, Germany, Oct. 22. Although I am writing this in Berlin, one should not judge Germany by Berlin since it is an independent and separate community of its own. Not only is it divided between different nations, but it is entirely surrounded by Russian-controlled territory. It is a free economic island floating in a "sea" of Communism—nothing like it anywhere else in the world. Now for an answer to the question frequently asked me: Is the United States facing serious unemployment?

Every Country Has Labor Unions

Even Germany has its labor unions, but practically no strikes. The union leaders and employers unite to make better goods to sell at lower prices. Hence, they are more industrious and more productive, due to longer hours and a lower cost of living. There is very little installment buying in Germany.

American labor will try to keep German products out of our country by getting Congress to raise our tariffs. This would not only increase the cost of living in the United States, but might cause Germany to "gang up" with Russia, Japan, and China in an economic war. Germany may have another "Hitler" who could be an "economic Hitler," just as powerful and ruthless as Adolf was in a military way.

Better Watch China

Germany is now making machinery and other products to export to us in the United States. If, however, we raise our tariffs so that she cannot export to us, Germany will export machinery to other nations—especially China. I have been to China and can visualize what could happen to us if these 400,000,000 workers should be sold tractors to farm with and machines with which to make textiles, steel, and other materials needed for exporting goods to compete with us. This is probably also true as to Russia, which I visit this week.

The above means that American labor leaders have a great responsibility. They could easily bring about much unemployment in the United States from which their membership, as well as their employers and all consumers, might greatly suffer. U. S. labor is now "pricing itself" out of its market, and our labor leaders could bring about a national depression of very serious consequences.

What I Learn About Germany

Germany may not yet have given up its ambition to be the leading power of Europe. The Germans believe that France and England have reached their peaks due to their desire for ease and so-called security. Italy is constantly being undermined by Communist influences. The three Scandinavian countries I have heretofore commented upon. I now forecast that Germany will be one of the world's greatest powers, on a par with the United States and Russia.

This could easily occur if Germany and China should work together. Germany supplying the "know-how" and machines while China supplied the raw materials and cheap but efficient labor. The two combined could crush either Russia or the U. S. in an economic war of unparalleled intensity that could bring our prosperity to a sudden end, with a stock market and real estate crash. If this happens, the blame will be laid on the doorsteps of certain selfish labor leaders.

What About East Berlin?

Anyone studying the map of Europe will see that Mr. K has some sense in desiring to solve the present crazy situation caused by dividing the great city of Berlin between the Russians and the Allies. With Berlin in the center of East Germany, which was given to Russia, a person cannot now enter or leave Berlin except by permission of Russia or by airplane. As I had not time to get a visa for East Germany, I was obliged to go from Copenhagen westward to Hamburg (one of West Germany's largest cities) and fly from there into Berlin.

What the solution will be no one knows, but the people of Berlin believe it will be settled in some satisfactory manner without any ultimatums or resort to war. World War III may come sometime, but not so long as Mr. K is premier. He knows that if World War III were started now, not only would the U. S., Great Britain, Germany, and all the allies be against him, but also China, which he fears most of all.

To summarize this column, let me say that I worry more at this point about our United States labor leaders than I do about Mr. K.

"The Mating Game"

Debbie Reynolds, Tony Randall and Paul Douglas are the stars of MGM's hilarious new comedy, "The Mating Game," with Fred Clark and Una Merkel also adding to the laughs in this story of a family of non-conformists who become involved in a running battle with the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue.

It is doubtful if the screen has ever introduced as zany and delightful a family as that composed by the Larkins, whose one-hundred-year-old Maryland farm includes a ramshackle house, an assemblage of whatnots and appliances which Pop Larkin trades for a living, and a menagerie of animals ranging from a sow, named Juliet, to mules, pigs, goats, ducks, owls and skunks. And in the tradition of Noah's Ark, there are two of everything, with one exception. And that's where the trouble—and laughs—start.

It seems that Juliet is head-over-heels in love with Romeo, the prize boar owned by the Larkins' wealthy neighbor, Wendell Burnshaw. Since the Larkins, Pop (Paul Douglas), Ma (Una Merkel), Mariette (Debbie Reynolds), two boys and their twin sisters, are firm advocates of the adage, "Do unto others and they'll do unto you," they do not hesitate to borrow Romeo in order to make Juliet happy. This is the last straw for the infuriated Burnshaw, who now goes into action to rid himself of his carefree neighbors.

He has discovered that Pop has never bothered to pay an income tax. When this fact is reported to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, outraged official Kelsey (Fred Clark) sends investigator Lorenzo Charlton (Tony Randall) to the scene of the crime to collect the evidence of Pop's flagrant tax omissions.

"Tarzan's Greatest Adventure"

Since the silent motion picture cameras photographed the first Tarzan film in 1918, the Jungle King's empire of devoted fan-subjects has swelled to enormous proportions. To all of them it is always too long a time between pictures, but their waiting period will be more than compensated for when "Tarzan's Greatest Adventure" comes Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the State Theatre with Gordon Scott again portraying the fabulous jungle hero. Co-starring in the Sy Weintraub-Harvey Hayutin Production are Anthony Quayle, Sara Shane, Niall MacGinnis, Sean Connery and Scilla Gabel, an Italian beauty, who makes her American debut in the film.

The claim made by the title itself is backed up by several innovations that lift this new production out of the usual Tarzan category into a picture that will not only more than satisfy fans of the popular Edgar Rice Burroughs characters, but please the average movie thrillseeker as well. For the first time in Tarzan movie history, cast and crew traveled deep into the East African bush jungle where the extraordinary film action was shot—in color, of course. And again for the first time, the story told in "Tarzan's Greatest Adventure" is one adults will go for, too, in that it involves one of the most exciting manhunts ever filmed—or rather, men-hunts, since four killers must be stopped.

"North By Northwest"

At long last, Eva Marie Saint is willing to be judged at face value.

That's why movie audiences will be seeing her for the first time as a sultry eyed, provocative blonde woman of mystery in MGM's Alfred Hitchcock production, "North By Northwest."

It is a role she admits she would have been afraid to consider a year ago. When Miss Saint first came to Hollywood, her greatest worry was that she would be given the usual glamour treatment. She had had more than her share of that at college, where she was adorned with such campus titles as "Dream Girl," "Sweater Girl" and "May Queen."

"When I first started to work in films I was prepared to turn down any role that might even hint at depending upon anything other than acting," she says. "And I stuck to my guns, even when I couldn't afford to turn down assignments."

However, now that the Academy Award winning actress has become established as one of Hollywood's most respected stars, she welcomes a new aspect of her career. She's delighted to be "glamorized."

Her hair trimmed to a shorter length, her wardrobe the most high-styled she has ever worn for a film, and her dialogue more sophisticated than for any previous role, Miss Saint has come to realize the value of doing parts far different from those she played in "On the Waterfront," "Raintree County" and "A Hatful of Rain."

"Mr. Hitchcock deserves the credit," she says. "Frankly, I wouldn't have thought of myself as a woman of mystery." I certainly don't think I look like one. But his point is that because I don't, I can be made to seem mysterious by certain changes in appearance and also by what I say and how I say it."

"North By Northwest," described as a romantic-espionage-comedy-drama, allows Miss Saint to exercise full range of her talents. Filmed on locations in New York City, Long Island, Chicago and South Dakota, the picture presents her as a woman who professes to love Grant one minute and triggers attempts on his life the next.

The actress likes her new screen personality so much that it will be a long time before she does another "sink-to-sink" role. This is a term originated by Hitchcock. It is a role in which the heroine is shown washing dishes in the sink, viewed by women who have just come from washing dishes in the sink.

form of conveying propaganda, and Russians think they have never had it so good before and are hoping for a better tomorrow.

Mrs. Max Lewis gave "Education and Religion in Russia." She said "Russia as a whole is backward in its education, its rulers do not permit the people to develop enough leadership to grow." She also stated that Russians are de-emphasizing education and stressing work and their schools have no text books, but learn only what the teacher tells them.

Working Soil When Too Wet Results In Compacted Condition

Working the soil when it is too wet develops plow pans, and results in a compacted condition of the plow layer, says Dewayne McAndrew of the local Soil Conservation Service.

He stated that compacting the soil restricts the movement of water, air and plant roots through the soil, thus causing the soil to be droughty.

A soil in good tilth breaks up easily into crumbs or granules. These crumbs are porous, allowing free passage of air, water and plant roots. Soils that are now in poor tilth can be restored to good tilth by planting more grasses and legumes in the rotations. With few exceptions, even the very best soils, in the Runnels Soil Conservation District, should be in grasses or legumes one year out of every four.

McAndrew stated that fine, fibrous grass roots grow all through the plow layer and push the soil particles apart. In doing so they develop good tilth. The legumes are essential for supplying nitrogen, and the deep roots help to open up the subsoil.

8th Grade Breezes Take Coleman 26-0 Thursday Night

After a scoreless first quarter, Glen Awalt made the first touchdown for Winters, going over from the nine yard line. Try for extra point failed.

Receiving the kick-off, Coleman failed to make a first and a fourth-down punt was returned to the 50 by Mike Briley. Adolfo Arroyo connected with Walter Butler for a 23-yard pass and a first down on Coleman's 27. An incomplete pass and a clipping penalty cost the Breezes, but Poe and Arroyo made up the loss and Poe made a touchdown from the ten. Extra point try was no good and the Breezes led 12-0.

In one of the nicest runs of the evening, a Coleman back returned the kick-off to the Winters 28 where the second quarter ended.

Adolfo Arroyo's passes highlighted the third quarter. The lone touchdown of that quarter came as the result of a pass from Arroyo to Briley from Coleman's 15. Score 18-0.

In the fourth quarter, Jerry Freeman made a first down on Coleman's 30 but on the next down a pass was intercepted by Coleman on their 24. After three tries, Coleman's fake kick lost ground for them and the ball went over on their 32. From there Arroyo tried a pass that went incomplete. Briley took the hand off and rolled to the 16 and an off-side penalty cost the Breezes five. But a not-to-be-denied Jerry Freeman scampered over for the last Winters touchdown from the 21 yard line and two points were added by Arroyo.

From their own ten, where they received the kick-off, Coleman tried a pass that was intercepted by Charles Bahlman. End of the game and final score, Breezes 26 Coleman-0. This week finds all of the Junior High teams idle but the following week they play Lakeview there.

If you do it yourself on Saturday and come to the office Monday with a sore back and an all-gone feeling, who's ahead?

By Vern Sanford

There is a powerful story to be told about outboard motors for 1960.

The Kiekhaefer Corporation has just concluded a two-day demonstration of Mercury outboards before 200 outdoor writers at Mercury's Florida testing site on Lake X near Orlando.

Feature attraction was the Mercury "800"—a new, six-cylinders in-line, 80 h.p. outboard for the big boats.

The Texas-manufactured Whitehouse boat shared the spotlight with Mercury when it came to the thrilling, daredevil demonstrations of strength and stamina. For this special feature, Kiekhaefer (pronounced "keek-hafer") with the "hafer" like "wafer") equipped a 14-foot fiberglass Whitehouse Apache with a Mercury "400" (45 h.p.)

Running at full speed the boat sliced across sandbars, hurdled a foot-thick telephone pole floating in the water—and went up and over a 10-foot-high skipjump. This was done time and again—without damage either to the motor or the boat.

Tom King, vice president of Mercury, was high in his praise of the Texas boat for its strong transom and pointed to Mercury's hydraulic shock absorbers as "the big secret" of the motor's ability to take terrific punishment.

Mercury's pride and joy for 1960 is of course its new "800" which Bill Bell of Dallas, Southwest distributor for Mercury, feels will be his most popular item. This because "the public is demanding larger motors with more horsepower."

Kiekhaefer is attacking the gas-consumption problem by utilizing fixed-jet carburetors.

"Mercury's new automatic choke supplies the proper ratio of fuel and air mixture through the carburetor in the same way that automobile carburetors perform, thus improving economy and making for easier starts," said Bell.

"The adjustable carburetor is on the way out," predicted King. "No longer will the outboard enthusiast have to adjust his fuel mixture of conform to his speed of travel."

While hydraulic shock absorbers, alternator type generators, and single-lever remote controls are not new to Mercury, its prop-jet exhaust is a radical departure from the earlier models.

Mercury's new 70 and 80 h.p. sixes minimize noise by submerging the exhaust fumes. In a unique departure from the previous methods, Mercury exhaust fumes on these larger models are expelled through the center of the prop, deep underwater and far aft of the boat.

Tempt 'Em With Colors
Ever fish with those big, artificial lures?

Expert fishermen do a powerful job of taking fish with artificial worm and eel lures. One reason they are so successful is they know when and how to use them.

Sportsmans Products of Marion, Indiana, makers of the Catch-em-Quick lifelike lures, has some suggestions along these lines that may be of help to you.

For fishing at night, or on dark cloudy days, they recommend dark colored worms. If that is contrary to your thinking then listen to what they say about it.

Fish feed by shadows or blotting out light. Dark colored worms block out more light and cast a heavier shadow than light colors. Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?

By the same token you should use bright colored worms in the early morning and late evening. That's when the fish come out of the deep water and bask in the shallows. For this active feeding period use the highly colored or spotted worms.

How about the bright sunny days?

That's when you should fish deep—among rocks, underbrush, logs and branches.

Most of the time fish lie where they can find both food and protection from their enemies. For this reason warm water fish usually will be found around weed beds or brush, near the drop off of a lake or a stream. Cold water fish usually will be lying around rocks or under ledges offshore, or in the center of the lake or stream, around logs and underbrush.

Naturally your lure should be dropped as close to this natural cover as possible.

It is important to every fisherman to know that fish often will follow a lure all the way to the fisherman without striking at it. Perhaps the most glaring fault of many anglers is retrieving the lure too fast.

So, follow these suggestions on your next trip: Use a S-L-O-W retrieve for largemouth bass, a little faster retrieve for smallmouth bass, and much faster for white bass.

Setting the hook is important. If the hook is not properly set, it takes only a split second for a leaping fish to throw the lure it is safe to assume that the fish are going to be somewhere around 15 to 35 feet deep. That's the time to start "bottom scratching."

Here's how! Use a lead-headed-jig lure, weedless or nonweedless, with either a dark colored worm, or a dark colored eel. Cast your jig lure into the deeper water around a weed growth. Try depths of from 15 to 35 feet, for black bass—both largemouth and smallmouth.

Let your jig rest on the bottom momentarily. Reel in the slack, give the rod tip a sharp upward jerk, then drop the rod tip toward the water. Give the line plenty of slack. Now, count to five and repeat the whole procedure.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? Let's try it!

Plan To Retire Soon? Contact SS Office

Do you plan to retire soon? If so, Floyd B. Ellington, District Manager of the San Angelo social security office offers the following pointers on things you can do which will assure you that your first check will reach you on time.

First, inquire several months ahead to find out exactly what proofs you will be asked to submit so that you can be sure to have those necessary to establish your claim for payments.

Then, file your claim a month to six weeks before you actually retire. Those planning to retire in January or February should file in November or December, if possible.

These two steps might save considerable delay in the issuance of your first check, Ellington says. He points out that his office handles some 2700 new applications for monthly benefits each year and therefore early filing is important to assure prompt initial payment.

The Winters Enterprise, Winters, Texas, Friday, October 23, 1959

The San Angelo office is open Monday through Friday, 8:30—4:30. If convenient, you may contact that office any day; however Ellington advises that Neil Tarvin, field representative from the San Angelo District Office will be in Chamber of Commerce Bldg at Winters on Oct. 14-28, Nov. 25, and Dec. 9-23 from 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 a. m. to answer questions or assist anyone in filing application for retirement, survivors, or disability insurance benefits.

ON MANEUVERS IN GERMANY

Army Specialist Four Elbert L. Morris, son of Oley E. Morris, Route 2, Wingate, Tex., recently participated with the 246th Transportation Company in "Exercise Side Step", a NATO command post exercise in Germany.

The ten-day exercise was designed to determine unit effectiveness under simulated combat conditions.

Specialist Morris, a helicopter mechanic in the company in Augsburg, entered the Army in 1953 and arrived overseas last March.

The 26-year-old soldier is a 1952 graduate of Hobbs High School. His wife, Naomi, is with him in Germany.

Working Soil When Too Wet Results In Compacted Condition

Working the soil when it is too wet develops plow pans, and results in a compacted condition of the plow layer, says Dewayne McAndrew of the local Soil Conservation Service.

He stated that compacting the soil restricts the movement of water, air and plant roots through the soil, thus causing the soil to be droughty.

A soil in good tilth breaks up easily into crumbs or granules. These crumbs are porous, allowing free passage of air, water and plant roots. Soils that are now in poor tilth can be restored to good tilth by planting more grasses and legumes in the rotations. With few exceptions, even the very best soils, in the Runnels Soil Conservation District, should be in grasses or legumes one year out of every four.

McAndrew stated that fine, fibrous grass roots grow all through the plow layer and push the soil particles apart. In doing so they develop good tilth. The legumes are essential for supplying nitrogen, and the deep roots help to open up the subsoil.

8th Grade Breezes Take Coleman 26-0 Thursday Night

After a scoreless first quarter, Glen Awalt made the first touchdown for Winters, going over from the nine yard line. Try for extra point failed.

Receiving the kick-off, Coleman failed to make a first and a fourth-down punt was returned to the 50 by Mike Briley. Adolfo Arroyo connected with Walter Butler for a 23-yard pass and a first down on Coleman's 27. An incomplete pass and a clipping penalty cost the Breezes, but Poe and Arroyo made up the loss and Poe made a touchdown from the ten. Extra point try was no good and the Breezes led 12-0.

In one of the nicest runs of the evening, a Coleman back returned the kick-off to the Winters 28 where the second quarter ended.

Adolfo Arroyo's passes highlighted the third quarter. The lone touchdown of that quarter came as the result of a pass from Arroyo to Briley from Coleman's 15. Score 18-0.

In the fourth quarter, Jerry Freeman made a first down on Coleman's 30 but on the next down a pass was intercepted by Coleman on their 24. After three tries, Coleman's fake kick lost ground for them and the ball went over on their 32. From there Arroyo tried a pass that went incomplete. Briley took the hand off and rolled to the 16 and an off-side penalty cost the Breezes five. But a not-to-be-denied Jerry Freeman scampered over for the last Winters touchdown from the 21 yard line and two points were added by Arroyo.

From their own ten, where they received the kick-off, Coleman tried a pass that was intercepted by Charles Bahlman. End of the game and final score, Breezes 26 Coleman-0. This week finds all of the Junior High teams idle but the following week they play Lakeview there.

If you do it yourself on Saturday and come to the office Monday with a sore back and an all-gone feeling, who's ahead?

There is a powerful story to be told about outboard motors for 1960.

The Kiekhaefer Corporation has just concluded a two-day demonstration of Mercury outboards before 200 outdoor writers at Mercury's Florida testing site on Lake X near Orlando.

Feature attraction was the Mercury "800"—a new, six-cylinders in-line, 80 h.p. outboard for the big boats.

The Texas-manufactured Whitehouse boat shared the spotlight with Mercury when it came to the thrilling, daredevil demonstrations of strength and stamina. For this special feature, Kiekhaefer (pronounced "keek-hafer") with the "hafer" like "wafer") equipped a 14-foot fiberglass Whitehouse Apache with a Mercury "400" (45 h.p.).

Running at full speed the boat sliced across sandbars, hurdled a foot-thick telephone pole floating in the water—and went up and over a 10-foot-high skipjump. This was done time and again—without damage either to the motor or the boat.

Tom King, vice president of Mercury, was high in his praise of the Texas boat for its strong transom and pointed to Mercury's hydraulic shock absorbers as "the big secret" of the motor's ability to take terrific punishment.

Mercury's pride and joy for 1960 is of course its new "800" which Bill Bell of Dallas, Southwest distributor for Mercury, feels will be his most popular item. This because "the public is demanding larger motors with more horsepower."

Kiekhaefer is attacking the gas-consumption problem by utilizing fixed-jet carburetors.

"Mercury's new automatic choke supplies the proper ratio of fuel and air mixture through the carburetor in the same way that automobile carburetors perform, thus improving economy and making for easier starts," said Bell.

"The adjustable carburetor is on the way out," predicted King. "No longer will the outboard enthusiast have to adjust his fuel mixture of conform to his speed of travel."

While hydraulic shock absorbers, alternator type generators, and single-lever remote controls are not new to Mercury, its prop-jet exhaust is a radical departure from the earlier models.

Mercury's new 70 and 80 h.p. sizes minimize noise by submerging the exhaust fumes. In a unique departure from the previous methods, Mercury exhaust fumes on these larger models are expelled through the center of the prop, deep underwater and far aft of the boat.

Tempt 'Em With Colors
Ever fish with those big, artificial worms?

Expert fishermen do a powerful job of taking fish with artificial worm and eel lures. One reason they are so successful is they know when and how to use them.

Sportsmans Products of Marion, Indiana, makers of the Catch-em-Quick lifelike lures, has some suggestions along these lines that may be of help to you.

For fishing at night, or on dark cloudy days, they recommend dark colored worms. If that is contrary to your thinking then listen to what they say about it.

Fish feed by shadows or blotting out light. Dark colored worms block out more light and cast a heavier shadows than light colors. Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?

By the same token you should use bright colored worms in the early morning and late evening. That's when the fish come out of the deep water and bask in the shallows. For this active feeding period use the highly colored or spotted worms.

How about the bright sunny days?

That's when you should fish deep—among rocks, underbrush, logs and branches.

Most of the time fish lie where they can find both food and protection from their enemies. For this reason warm water fish usually will be found around weed beds or brush, near the drop off of a lake or a stream. Cold water fish usually will be lying around rocks or under ledges offshore, or in the center of the lake or stream, around logs and underbrush.

Naturally your lure should be dropped as close to this natural cover as possible.

It is important to every fisherman to know that fish often will follow a lure all the way to the fisherman without striking at it. Perhaps the most glaring fault of many anglers is retrieving the lure too fast.

So, follow these suggestions on your next trip: Use a S-L-O-W retrieve for largemouth bass, a little faster retrieve for small-mouth bass, and much faster for white bass.

Setting the hook is important. If the hook is not properly set, it takes only a split second for a leaping fish to throw the lure when you let the line go even partially slack.

If you are losing fish that way, or the hook falls out after the fish is netted, it's quite likely that you are not setting the hook with sufficient force to drive the hook—through the fish's lips—and your striking technique needs correcting.

When the surface temperature of the water runs above 74 degrees

it is safe to assume that the fish are going to be somewhere around 15 to 35 feet deep. That's the time to start "bottom scratching."

Here's how! Use a lead-headed-jig lure, weedless or nonweedless, with either a dark colored worm, or a dark colored eel. Cast your jig lure into the deeper water around a weed growth. Try depths of from 15 to 35 feet, for black bass—both largemouth and small-mouth.

Let your jig rest on the bottom momentarily. Reel in the slack, give the rod tip a sharp upward jerk, then drop the rod tip toward the water. Give the line plenty of slack. Now, count to five and repeat the whole procedure.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? Let's try it!

Plan To Retire Soon? Contact SS Office

Do you plan to retire soon? If so, Floyd B. Ellington, District Manager of the San Angelo social security office offers the following pointers on things you can do which will assure you that your first check will reach you on time.

First, inquire several months ahead to find out exactly what proofs you will be asked to submit so that you can be sure to have those necessary to establish your claim for payments.

Then, file your claim a month to six weeks before you actually retire. Those planning to retire in January or February should file in November or December, if possible.

These two steps might save considerable delay in the issuance of your first check, Ellington says. He points out that his office handles some 2700 new applications for monthly benefits each year and therefore early filing is important to assure prompt initial payment.

The San Angelo office is open Monday through Friday, 8:30—4:30. If convenient, you may contact that office any day; however Ellington advises that Neil Tavin, field representative from the San Angelo District Office will be in Chamber of Commerce Bldg at Winters on Oct. 14-28, Nov. 25, and Dec. 9-23 from 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 a.m. to answer questions or assist anyone in filing application for retirement, survivors, or disability insurance benefits.

State Capitol Highlights:

Texas Faced With Problem Of Air Pollution; Cleaner-Air Week Oct. 25-31

By Vern Sanford

Though it hasn't any Los Angeles-type smog or London "pea soupers," Texas, in common with most of the civilized world, has "dirty air" problems.

Industrial smoke, automobile exhaust, incinerators — even small town cotton gins—are among the factors that pollute Texas air.

State Health Department is using the approach of Cleaner Air Week, October 25-31, to remind Texans of the importance of the air they breathe. During one day, says the Department's October bulletin, a person must breathe 30 to 35 pounds—or a whole roomful—of fresh air.

Texas by no means has the problems of cities like London where in 1952 several thousand died during a period of excessive air pollution. But, says the Department, "the problem is already present and growing in areas where no action is being taken."

Every citizen can help, says the Bulletin. Improper heating appliances in homes give off tons of uncombusted material and burning of leaves and trash in the back yard adds irritating agents to the air.

If you are especially interested in the problem, the Bulletin suggests you contact your local health department which will advise you where the air pollution abatement group in your area meets.

HOW MUCH TIDELANDS?

Texas now await a decision by the U. S. Supreme Court on how much of its tidelands the state owns.

U. S. Attorney general claims the state owns a strip only three miles out from the coast. Texas officials say it is three leagues, or 10 and one-half miles.

That Texas owns some tidelands was established by a 1953 act of Congress giving states control of their "historic boundaries."

Gov. Price Daniel and Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson argued before the high court that a historic boundary of three leagues had been established in the days of the Texas Republic and was agreed to by the U. S.

Opposing federal argument is that the U. S. has insisted on a three-mile limit for all countries for many years as a matter of "national policy."

Texas' oil-bearing tidelands,

particularly those further out, are believed to be worth many millions in revenue for the state public school fund.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

Indications keep piling up that a special Legislative session to raise teacher pay and a third-term race by Governor Daniel are strong possibilities.

Letters favoring the teacher pay session are greatly increasing, according to the governor's office. A representative of the Texas State Teachers Association said teachers are not "cooling off" in their drive and are not planning to wait until 1961. Several union labor groups have endorsed teacher raises and offered to help in the drive.

A recent State Democratic Executive Committee newsletter notes Daniel's popularity in polls and quoted him as planning "to keep the door open."

Which probably means the governor will keep the political pot in simmering suspense until very near the Feb. 1 filing deadline.

FIRST WATER LOAN

Texas Water Development Board has made its first loan under the $200,000,000 program passed by the Legislature in 1957.

Lower Nueces River Water Supply District received $3,000,000 which will be used to complete the $21,000,000 Wesley Seale Dam.

Under the program, the Development Board sells bonds and loans money to local governments to pay part of the cost of water conservation projects. Program is self-liquidating. Board is presently paying 3.56 per cent interest on the bonds and charging 4.06 per cent on loans.

White River Municipal Water District in West Texas is expected to receive the next loan. It is seeking aid for a $4,000,000 project to supply water to Crosbyton, Post, Ralls and Spur.

SCHOOL SUPPORT PROBLEM

Gaining public support for schools will hinge on how well schools adapt to new demands, State Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar warned school leaders.

Dr. Edgar told the Texas Association of School Boards of new curriculum changes, including beefed-up high school mathematics courses, now being tested in Texas schools.

School board members noted that, despite the hue and cry for better schools, a winning football team still gets more public support than anything else.

EDUCATION EXPANSION STUDIED

Whether the University of Houston should be brought into the University of Texas system is under state study.

Texas' Commission on Higher Education ordered staff study of the question directed to it by a resolution passed this year by the Legislature. At present the University of Houston is a private institution that receives state aid only for the first two years of its four-year program.

Houston proponents of the plan claim there is an increasing need for making college education available in Houston for that city's ever growing numbers of high school graduates. It is estimated Houston high schools will be graduating 15,000 students a year by 1975.

Commission Director Ralph Green has noted, however, that there is some "public alarm" over the expansion of public education and the shrinking of private education. He said the staff study would be completed by the latter part of 1960.

San Angelo citizens, meanwhile, have started activity toward getting San Angelo College admitted into the state's circle of fully supported state institutions. A visit to the institution has been scheduled for Green and Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, in whose district the college is located, for next month.

COLLEGES PAYING MORE

Texas' 18 state-supported colleges are paying an average of $433 a year more to its teachers this year than last. Their salaries for teachers now average $6,320, according to the Commission of Higher Education.

Commission Director Ralph Green said the pay levels are now 30.5 per cent higher than the average five years ago.

Widest range of salaries is at the University of Texas. Top pay there is $16,000 for nine months $10,392 average for full professors, $4,551 average for instructors.

"Undaunted Witnesses" is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School lesson. Meditation: "Most men would have given up in despair. William Tyndale had left his country, his home, and all his possession to go on with his work of translating the Bible into English. Then he was thrown into prison for heresy. Even this did not stop him, for he converted his keeper and obtained the supplies to continue his translation. He was finally executed for his heroic efforts to make the Bible available to all men, but it was only death that could make him lay down his pen."

"Today, when we can pick up an English Bible for a small sum of money, we forget the sacrifices of the men who gave it to us. We take for granted the gospel for which Peter and John and countless others were willing to give their lives. Let us prove ourselves worthy of this great company of heroes who triumphed over every obstacle to keep our faith alive."

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

Texas State Fair Will Close Sunday

Just one more big weekend remains of the 1959 State Fair of Texas, rated by old-timers as the most dazzling exposition in all the Fair's 74 years. The fair closes Sunday night.

The fair's big horse show will continue through Sunday, with judging of Arabian and Palomino horses and Shetland ponies Friday and Saturday morning and evening, and Sunday morning and afternoon. The horse shows are being staged in the fair's beautiful new $2,000,000 Livestock Coliseum.

The important junior livestock auction sales will be held this weekend, with the steer sale Friday morning and the sale of lambs and pigs Saturday morning.

Saturday the State Fair will salute West Texas and also Fort Worth, with special days designated in their honor. A feature of West Texas Day will be the football game between the SMU Mustangs and the Texas Tech Red Raiders in the Cotton Bowl at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Two unusual events are scheduled for Sunday. The always popular North Texas Firemen's Pump Races will be held at 1 p.m., along with fire-fighting demonstrations. News next year.

The Winters Enterprise this week received from the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, a plaque with a scrap of aluminum from an elevator of the old carrier, USS Enterprise, because, the company said, "the newspaper has the name of this historic ship." All newspapers in the United States with the name of Enterprise received a memento of the scrapped aircraft carrier.

We read a few days ago that Congress, in passing a bill to pay some government employees for days off, pulled a boo-boo which cost the taxpayers $4 million. In spite of the expected furor, we don't believe a $4 million error is going to break us up. It's the intentional multi-billion dollar boo-boos we should all be concerned about.

Blizzards Snowed Ranger In First District Encounter

By Billy Lynn Little

The Winters Blizzards rolled to a victory in their first district contest as they snowed under the Ranger Bulldogs to the tune of 22-0 at Blizzard Field Friday night.

The Blizzards got off to a fine start early in the game, when William Grissom scampered to the Ranger five. The Blizzard drive bogged down, however, and Ranger took over. A long pass from quarterback Jerry Anderson sent a Bulldog end past the Winters secondary, and scampering to pay dirt. But, "the best laid plans of mice and men..." and Winters speedster Joel Butts hauled him down around the Blizzard 5.

At the start of the second quarter, the Blizzards turned on the outstanding defense that spectators were to see more of during the night. On fourth down, Sammy Albino and Stanley Bolden broke through and nailed Anderson as he attempted to pass.

The second quarter ended with the score 0-0.

After that nothing but misery was dealt the visitors. It all started with the kick-off, from which the Blizzards marched 70 yards under the capable direction of sophomore quarterback Johnny Caskey.

Caskey broke the deadlock when he sneaked over from the two.

Grissom went off tackle for the extras, and the Blue led 8-0.

Here, some famous sayings seem very appropriate—the first of which would be "If you can't go through them, go over them." Now this is very well and good, for the Blizzards have a fella in the center of the defensive line named Tommy Webb. Now, the formidable Mr. Webb, standing around 5'10" and weighing 220, was not just about to let anybody go through him, and the Blizzard line was there to make sure nobody got around him. So Anderson made the very brilliant decision to go over them—this he did—only, beg pardon, Mr. Anderson, Grissom decided he wanted the football. Usually, but not always, whatever Grissom wants, (on the football field, that is) Grissom gets, so the junior halfback promptly decided to scamper 35 yards across that all important double stripe.

Now on the extra points try, a moment was taken out while everybody tried to find out just who had the football, and Caskey swept around behind all of them and trotted in—upping the score to 16-0.

The Bulldogs were disgusted, and rightly so. This time they went with the adage of "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em," and politely fumbled the ball into Grissom's arms on their own 35, and 5 plays later the Blue had touchdown number 3.

The excellent running of backs Butts, J. B. Guy Jr., and Grissom, along with the quarterbacking of Caskey, were tremendous assets to the Blizzards. But the big man in the clutch, and the man who racked up the yardage, was big fullback Dalton Attaway, who rumbled like a diesel engine once he got started. Senior quarterback Jerry Dunnam saw limited action, while recovering from a leg injury suffered at Colorado City.

The entire defense was tremendous in the second half, but the praises have to go to Webb. The big, likeable junior who moved here from Alpine has shown constant improvement since the start of the season. His big 74 is probably the most recognizable number on the Blizzard team, for he and freshman Eugene Mathis are the only 200 pound men on the team.

Winters FHA Met In Homemaking Cottage Thursday

Earnestine Scott, presided for the meeting and Betty Stanley led the group in singing the FHA prayer song.

Nancy Norman, chairman of the girl of the month committee and her committee members, Sandra Dishner, Pam Bedford, Bobbie Howard, Jay Henley, and Marcene Mathis, nominated several girls for September and October girl of the month.

Earnestine Scott was selected for September and Toni Johnson for October, as the member who had contributed the most to the chapter during these months.

Plans were made for Daddy Date Night and November 7, was set as the date for the State Degree workshop.

The program on parliamentary procedure was presented by Ruth Ann Spill, Linda Balke, Nancy Norman, Martha Turk, Eugenia Voss, Jean Mayo, Betty Stanley and Brenda Faulke.
