

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Recently the Winters Lions Club held a very successful light bulb sale, to build up their treasury. The monies in the treasury of the club are used for several different purposes. Recently, for example, some of the funds were used to purchase glasses for two school children who otherwise perhaps would have been unable to continue their school work with any degree of success. With Christmas coming on, much of the money will be used to purchase food for Christmas baskets which will be distributed just before the holiday. This project, the Christmas greeting from the Lions Club, has been cause for just a little more happiness in a few homes. The Winters Lions Club has been quick to point out that without the cooperation of the public these projects would not have been possible. In the past, too, several people have offered to help by adding to the funds for the Christmas project. Anyone wishing to do so this year may contact Jim Nevins, president of the club, Dr. Z. I. Hale, or this column.

We've about come to the end of the football season, and somehow it will be a relief. Not much longer will we have to suffer with nervous indigestion from the time our predictions are made public until the final scores are known on Sunday morning following the games. We can finally read the sports section without that sinking feeling; the feeling that if we had just played a hunch we would have been correct more times. On some Monday mornings during the past ten weeks we have even felt nervous about coming downtown.

Of the ten games we picked last week, three were misses. During the past ten weeks, we have predicted the outcome of 100 football games. Some of them we picked blindly; on some of them we tried to follow the advice of the "experts;" on some of them we tried to figure the percentages. Finally, we've come to the conclusion that there just ain't no foolproof system. Of the 100 games picked, we were lucky and called them right 67 times; 33 times, the teams let us down or we foolishly picked the wrong team; and, according to the figures, some of them were probably beaten and didn't know it.

This week will just about wind up most of the big games, so we'll take one more chance. The Texas-A & M game was scheduled for Thursday, but we have to pick them ahead of time.

We're tempted, of course, to go along with the crowd, and stay popular, and pick Texas. But we think it just might be a big surprise to everyone: we'll pick A and M.

Baylor over Rice.
TCU over SMU.
That's all for this year.

The opening of the new post office around on West State Street has disrupted some habits of long standing. It's been hard to get used to going to a strange place to pick up the mail each day. We had gotten used to parking, walking an average number of steps, opening the door a certain way, and going to a certain spot to get the mail. Now it has all changed. It seems that even the faces of the people one meets at the post office early in the morning have changed. Of course, they're the same faces, but perhaps a little brighter in the new surroundings of shining letter boxes and freshly painted walls.

Several times in the past few days since the post office has been moved we've found ourselves, on a trek to pick up the mail, headed up toward Main Street. The habit had become so embedded in the subconscious. This just proves that, even when necessary, it is hard to teach an old dog new tricks.

A few bruised and battered members of the Winters school faculty, after being pummeled by the Winters Blizzards in the student-faculty basketball game last Tuesday night, were unyielding Wednesday morning in their demand for a rematch. Some of them had sudden attacks of old illnesses a few minutes after the game began, and had to drop out. The game ended 47-38 in favor of the Blizzards.

Jerry English was top scorer for the faculty, netting 19 points, which caused some of the other members of the team to suspect he wanted to be a loner. Other faculty members playing were W. T. Stapler, Ed Cheek, Bob Christian, Don Edwards, Rodney Cath-

Cotton Gins Busy; Harvest About Three-Fourths Over

Cotton farmers in the area have taken advantage of the good weather of the past several days, and Winters gins have been working at capacity. Gin yards have been full of cotton trailers waiting their turn under the suction pipes.

The three Winters gins reported 7595 bales ginned up to Tuesday noon, and estimates are that a little more than 75 percent of the 1959 cotton crop has been harvested.

The last few weeks have seen a decrease in the number of transient cotton pickers. Many farmers are using strippers to pull their cotton, now that frost and cold weather has killed the leaves.

83 Counties In Great Plains SCS Program

"The Great Plains Conservation Program has eighty-three designated counties in the State of Texas," states Bill Minzenmeyer, Supervisor of the Runnels Soil Conservation District. He said, "there are 1,489 plans being applied on 2,784,735 acres. In addition there are 894 applications on hand in the state. The other Great Plains states are making similar progress and it appears that funds will be very low by early spring, unless additional funds are appropriated for this fiscal year."

"The Great Plains Conservation Program helps you get complete conservation on an entire farm or ranch over a period of from 3 to 10 years," mentioned Cecil L. Drake, of the local Soil Conservation Service office. "When planning is completed and the contract is signed, you know what you will get, what it will cost, and how much cost sharing help you will get," said Drake.

"Confronted by Christ" is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson. An illustration: "Y. Kochi was one of the worst criminals in Tokyo. He was arrested, sentenced to life imprisonment, and sent to a penitentiary where the hardest criminals were kept. He soon became one of the most difficult prisoners to handle. Then came a new warden who was a devoted Christian. He tried to teach the hardened criminals of the love of Jesus. As a reward for good behavior, they were allowed to have a candle in their cells at night. Kochi was given a New Testament, and he read it through again and again. He became a model 'trustee' and eventually was released from prison. As a Christian evangelist, he established a small church down in the very parts of Tokyo that had been the scene of his crimes in the old days. He now was a new man in Christ.

Special days next week are for: Mrs. J. C. Guide For Analyzing Turkey Production Is Available

Texas turkey production has become a large flock, highly commercialized operation. As the size of a turkey flock increases, the more costly are wrong management decisions.

To protect the investment of money and labor in turkey production and to maintain a favorable position for profit, a dependable and current cost analysis of each flock is needed as a basis for sound business judgment. For this reason, Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist, and Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, have written a guide for analyzing a turkey operation.

The guide provides a means for evaluating the costs of turkey meat production. Of an estimated $15,000 cost, $10,000 is required to feed 4,000 turkeys. An average feed cost of three and one-half cents per pound was used in the estimate, assuming that concentrate and grain were being used. The amount of money required for feed emphasizes the attention needed in making careful purchases and the continuous care needed to prevent waste. In the estimate used in the guide, 10 percent feed waste costs $1,000.

A study of the equipment and facility cost for 4,000 birds of $287 per year shows that this makes up a relatively small part of the total cost. A 20 percent saving would be only $57 and would more than likely result in poorer flock performance. Every reasonable opportunity must be given every turkey to grow rapidly in good health.

Costs and conditions vary with each different turkey-growing situation. The turkey grower who keeps up-to-date on the items in the guide and completes the guide using his own information will be well informed as to where his weakness and strengths are in his operation. With this information, the specialists add, he can adjust his efforts to improve his chances for maximum profits. Your local county agent has a copy of the guide and can help you analyze your particular turkey operation.

Police Chief Speaker At Club Meeting

Chief of Police Lawrence Hennigan spoke on "Traffic Safety" at the regular meeting of the Junior Culture Club Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ward. Mrs. Glendon Presson served as co-hostess.

Mr. Hennigan stated that safety is the state of being free from danger and suggested that we insure our safety in traffic by first checking ourselves. Physical defects are a big factor in many accidents and each person should check his sight, depth perception and his hearing ability. If you know your own abilities, you will be more capable of judging what the other person plans to do.

He also stated that traffic problems would be greatly reduced if the public would file a complaint against each citizen they see speeding or breaking any rule or law of safety.

Hennigan said that a traffic survey is being conducted in Winters by the state and the highways in our city will be zoned according to the results of this survey.

It is possible that there may be a school speed zone on North Main and the city plans to put a school crosswalk on the highway so that children will have one safe place to cross going to and from school.

He stated that the state plans to widen and straighten the highway from Ballinger to Bradshaw. Citizens interested in seeing this accomplished might hurry the procedure by letting their road commissioner know that they would like to have it done at the earliest date possible.

Mr. Hennigan answered traffic questions and made suggestions as to the correct way to drive in several instances.

"If You Dream-Don't Drive" was the theme of the program and Mrs. Rodney Cathey read "The Motormans Prayer." The club decided to send a contribution to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene.

The refreshment table laid with white linen was centered with a

Irrigation Continues To Increase In Texas

A survey just completed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service shows a continued increase in irrigated acreage in Texas. The irrigated area in June 1959 was 7,140,443 acres. Similar surveys in 1957 and 1955 showed an irrigated area of 6,962,234 and 6,208,022 acres, respectively. The data in each survey was compiled from information furnished by county agents from each Texas county, according to Wayne Keese, extension agricultural engineer-irrigation.

Reports from the counties show that some irrigation is practiced in 239 of the State's 254 counties. An estimated 6,445,155 acres are irrigated by surface methods and 695,288 by sprinkler systems. Irrigation is used on 48,110 farms, and ground water supplies obtained from 60,708 wells are used on 5,914,753 acres, noted Keese.

Cotton is the leading irrigated crop with 2.2 million acres, and grain sorghum is second with just over two million acres. Wheat ranks third with 637,000. Other important irrigated crops are rice, 436,000 acres; vegetables, 375,000; and pastures, 200,000. Corn, forage sorghum, alfalfa, oats and many other crops are produced on irrigated farms.

Irrigation did not expand as rapidly the last two years as in the previous two year period, probably because of more favorable rainfall, explained the specialist. The increase during a period of more favorable rainfall indicates an acceptance of irrigation by farmers as a sound management practice instead of simply an emergency practice to maintain production in drought periods.

Keese added that the growth of irrigation not only indicates the farmer's continuing effort to increase his production efficiency, but demands continued emphasis on conservation and efficient use of one of our greatest natural resources—water.

Johnson-For-President Clubs To Be Formed In Texas and the Nation

By VERN SANFORD

Austin, Texas.—First of the 1960 political headquarters signs will be up before the Christmas lights.

An executive committee, formed to steer the Johnson-for-President drive, is opening a state headquarters in downtown Austin. Goal of the state office is to add to the 60 or more county clubs for Johnson and eventually to expand into a national operation.

With two exceptions, the state's top Democratic brass is on the committee. Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker Sam Rayburn are honorary co-chairmen. Plans were announced by Ed Connolly, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Byron Skelton, national committeeman.

Not on the committee are the state's junior senator, Ralph Yarborough, and national committeewoman, Mrs. R. D. Randolph. Both, long identified with the party's liberal wing, have hedged questions on their presidential preferences.

TIGHT SCHEDULE

A possible time table for filling the three vacancies in the Legislature was set up by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson when Governor Daniel asked him for an opinion on the election law.

Forty days would be needed between the time the election is called and the time the new officials could take office, according to Wilson. This allows a required 35 days between the call and election day, two days for Commissioners Courts to canvass the votes and three days for county judges to certify the results to the secretary of state.

Law does not require that all the seats be filled in order to have a session, Wilson commented. But he said he felt it would be "especially desirable if more taxes are to be voted because of the old American principle of no taxation without representation."

Governor Daniel has discussed calling a special session in January to raise money for teacher salary increases.

INSURANCE PLAN DEBATED

Impact of a big change in auto insurance rates, due to take effect Jan. 1, is a prime discussion topic among insurance circles as well as the motoring public.

Under the merit plan, drivers with no record of accidents or moving traffic violations for three years get a reduced rate. Others pay on a sliding scale up to double the usual rate, depending on the number and seriousness of their accidents and violations.

Opinions on the plan vary widely. Among them:

(1) It will make drivers more careful.

(2) It will make clear to the driving public the direct relationship between accidents and cost of insurance.

(3) It will cause "bad" drivers to drop their insurance.

(4) It will result in more hassles over who was to blame for an accident. (Only the driver held responsible gets his insurance hiked.)

(5) It will flood the courthouses with contests over traffic tickets.

(6) It will be declared illegal because of the "double jeopardy" principle. Some lawyers reason that the driver is punished for his violation once when he pays a fine and cannot be punished again with higher insurance rates.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas recently predicted that merit rating would result in such an overflow of traffic cases that new courts would have to be created and new buildings to house them.

Others have complained that traffic laws and their enforcement are not uniform and that some drivers—victims of speed traps, for example—will be penalized. Answer to this, says Insurance Board Chairman Penn. J. Jackson, is to work out the wrinkles in law enforcement.

Insurance agents, in meetings and conferences over the state, are baring up on the new procedures, planning how to explain them to their customers.

Although the rules apply after Jan. 1, present policyholders will not be affected until their contracts run out sometime next year.

TOO MANY IRONS IN THE FIRE

Duties of Texas' attorney general should be streamlined down to one main job—that of serving as the state's top legal officer.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson made this recommendation as he and his staff gained new, streamlined office space. Department moved from the west wing of the Capitol into the top five floors of the just-completed Supreme Court Building.

Wilson said he is an ex-officio member of more than 20 state boards and has to spend nearly half his time at their meetings. Moreover, he said, it makes the attorney general responsible for the activities of agencies over which he has no direct staff control. He cited the Veterans Land Board troubles of several years ago as an example of the problems caused by such a situation.

Wilson advocated strengthening the executive branch of state government by gradually placing more responsibility with the governor. As a starter he suggested having the governor make appointments to replace the attorney general on state boards.

PENNY SAVED, PENNY EARNED

A House Economy in Government committee says it has turned up some cost-cutting ideas.

Use of more prison-made products by state agencies was recommended to the committee by O. B. Ellis, director of the prison system. For example, Ellis said prison-made bricks would cost the state much less than those it now buys. Also, he said prisoners could do the re-binding of school textbooks at a saving of about $300,000 a year.

Possibility of cutting back the farm-to-market road program was explored by the committee. State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer made no recommendation, but said the state is now spending $78,000,000 a year on building and upkeep of rural roads.

Under the Colson-Briscoe Act of 1949, $15,000,000 a year is automatically appropriated to build rural roads. None of this can be used for repair which must be paid out of other highway department funds.

Rural road program has exceeded its 1949 goal which was to build 25,000 miles. There now are 31,000 miles.

Board of Control could cut costs by combining its Austin warehousing operations, the board's executive director told the committee.

Harvested Native Grass Seed Needed For Coming Season

Kirby Robinson, vice-chairman of the Runnels Soil Conservation District, reports that locally harvested native grass seed will be needed to meet demands for the coming season. He stated that such practices as seeding old fields to grass, pasture planting, range reseeding and waterway development are increasing the need for adapted native grass seed.

Many thousand pounds of native grass seed can be harvested from pastures, odd areas and roadsides, stated James Glynn, of the local Soil Conservation Service. He says that grass seed can be harvested with farm equipment such as grain binders, combines, rakes, bunchers, strippers and various types of hand equipment.

Prices for such grasses such as sideoats grama, native bluestem, green sprangletop and plains brome range from $3.00 to $10.00 per pound of pure live seed. These grasses can be harvested locally at a small portion of the cost.

Seeding with locally produced grass seed is more likely to be successful than using seed produced many miles away. Grass like humans and livestock have a tendency to become acclimated and when moved to different climates often take considerable time to adjust itself.

Many of the grasses can be harvested from now until frost depending upon the amount of fall. If help is needed in determining when to harvest, call on your county agent or Soil Conservation Service technician.

SAFETY AWARD

Department of Public Safety announced that its annual fleet safety contest was won by DPS Region 3, headquartered in Corpus Christi.

All DPS vehicles are involved in the contest. To win it, the 188 drivers in the Corpus Christi region drove 157 vehicles 4,668,993 miles with only 18 accidents. More than one-third of the accidents occurred during emergency pursuit at speeds of up to 105 miles an hour. There were no fatalities.

About 1870, Frank Meana, a Cheyenne saddlemaker, made a saddle with a leather flange extending over the cantleboard, to the rear, which became known as a "Cheyenne roll."
