HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

This probably is one of the most trying of times for the farmer. With small grain ripening in the fields, almost ready for the combines, rain coming now would delay harvest, and perhaps do a lot of damage. And yet there are areas where the row crops need moisture.

With reports of hailstorms all over the country, the sky is constantly under surveillance, and each thunderhead that appears on the horizon is viewed with suspicion.

To farm, especially in West Texas, where success or failure might hinge on a twist of weather, takes a special kind of courage; of a kind which makes a farmer, after working months to get a good crop in the field, survey a wind and hail-hammered field, shrug his shoulders and go to work with renewed effort to pull himself out of a quagmire of ruin. The threat is always there, and uneasy rests the heads of all farmers when a cloudbank shows at this time of the year. It's an unending battle of nerves, but we know most farmers wouldn't trade their lot for any other.

We can only hope, along with the farmer, that the weather will permit this year's big crop of grain to be harvested and hauled to the bank.

From what we have heard, there may be soured in the near future, a call for a "possum drive." Several people have reported finding possums in their yards, apparently wandering away from brush-covered vacant lots, and maybe coming from the countryside. There seems to be a big population of possums this year; driving down the road at night one may see as many as half a dozen within a mile.

There might be a way to get rid of them, though, and still make a profit. In place of the regular barbecue for the visiting riding clubs during the rodeo, perhaps the Winters Riders could have a "possum drive," get a few bushels of sweet taters, and throw an old fashioned possum feed.

We see by the papers that the U. S. Supreme Court has, after about 112 years, finally okayed the entry of the entire State of Texas into the Union, by their decision that the tidelands off the shores of this state really are a part of the state, as described by treaty with Mexico.

Recently we read where some scientist has said that the blue haze in the air around us is really oil, before being absorbed by the earth. We now wonder how long the court battle to prove that the air around us is a part of Texas, too.

Read the other day where a group of scientists have been trying to pick up radio signals which may have been sent out from beings on planets in outer space. It seems that the belief is that there are beings out there in space, their civilization and knowledge is probably many thousands of years ahead of ours, and that they may be trying to communicate with us for some reason. As one scientist put it, there is an element of risk in making our presence known to those outer-space beings—it just might be that we would make fine beef cattle for them.

Anyway, it seems that one planet the scientists are trying to hear from is eleven light years away, and any signal we may pick up from them would have been sent many years ago, in relation to our present time. Also, it would take an equal amount of time for our answering signal to get back to them, and another span before we knew they had received it.

It doesn't seem practical to us, because of the long time involved. Probably by the time we got an answer back from them we will have forgotten what the question was.

ARRIVED FROM ENGLAND

Rev. B. T. Shoemake Leaves June 16 For Baptist Congress

By Charlsie Poe

The Rev. B. T. Shoemake, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will leave Houston June 16 with a group via plane for a month's mission tour of South America and will attend the 10th Baptist World Congress to be held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, June 26 to July 3.

From Houston, via Mexico City, the group will go to Lima, Peru, for a two day sight-seeing trip which will include the Place des Armas, the Cathedral, and the President's Palace where the fig trees planted by Pizarro more than 400 years ago still flourishes. Baptist Missions will also be visited.

The next stop will be at Santiago, Chile, built on two levels at the foot of snow capped peaks. The First Baptist Church, built by the Jarman foundation, and the Baptist Seminary will be the center of interest here, but the group will also have an excursion to Vina del Mar, the luxury beach resort.

From June 22-24 the travelers will be sight-seeing in Buenos Aires, Argentina, the largest city in South America. One trip will cover the handsome boulevards, via the Colon Opera House, the law courts, and the medicine school and on through the Avenida 9 de Julio, said to be the widest street in the world, to the Baptist Church and publishing house.

Another drive will be to San Fernando, the wholesale fruit market and on to El Tigre, a favorite resort at the delta of the Parana river. There will also be time for a boat ride through the numerous inlets and a visit to the Baptist International Seminary.

In Montevideo, capital of the smallest South American country, Uruguay, there will be a complete city tour and a visit to the rose gardens, the beaches, and the capital.

The Congress will open in Rio on Sunday, June 26 at 3 p. m. Meetings will be held at Moracano stadium with Billy Graham closing the convention on July 3. All speeches will be in English and Portuguese language. Approximately 20,000 to 25,000 people are expected to attend.

History of the Congress reveals that a globe-circling Baptist fellowship was visualized by John Rippon, a London minister and editor, as early as 1790. But it was a full century later than an American editor, J. N. Prestridge, campaigned for the idea so persuasively that British Baptists invited fellow believers of all nations to a "Congress" in 1905. Three thousand people attended and the Congress has met every five years since. Meetings have been in England, the United States, Sweden, Canada, Germany and Denmark.

The return trip will be via Caracas, Venezuela to Port Au Prince, Haiti and from there to Miami, Florida with an estimated 16,000 miles covered. The tour costs $1156.88 which does not include incidentals and personal items. Rev. O. L. Bayless of Houston is tour leader for the group of 20 or 30 people.

Since February when members of the Brotherhood notified the Rev. Shoemake that the church was sending him to the World Congress he has been a very busy man. He has been vaccinated for small pox, typhoid, cholera, and tetanus; secured a passport, and has checked on visas which will be issued as he goes along. A camera has been purchased and all spare time is used in practice picture making. He hopes to bring home many colorful pictures of his trip.

N. B. T. A. Twirling Instructor To Be In Winters June 13

Miss Shirley Hagan, National Baton Twirling Association instructor, will be in Winters the week of June 13, to teach all twirlers and majorettes, according to Robert Gans, band director.

Miss Hagan is recognized as a national baton twirling specialist and is well qualified as a majorette instructor.

These twirling classes are open to all children. Those who wish to enroll in the week-long baton classes are asked to report to the Band Hall at 8 a. m. Monday, June 13.

All high school majorettes, junior high twirlers and alternates should report at 8 a. m. Monday, June 13.

THUNDER JR. — Levi Garrett, 23, 24 and 25. The horse is a nephew of Thunder of movie fame, ridden by Bill Elliott in the Red Rider movie series.

Calf Scramble Expected To Be Big Attraction of Winters Annual Rodeo

One of the highlights of the Winters Annual Rodeo, slated for June 23, 24 and 25, will be the calf scramble, with three big prizes for the winners each night of the rodeo.

A. W. Libbe is chairman of the committee directing this phase of the annual rodeo, and said that winners in the event would be awarded sheep. First prizes will be sheep valued at $35; second prizes, $25 sheep; third prizes, $15 sheep. There will be a separate calf scramble each night, with identical prizes going to the winners.

Libbe said rules would allow boys between the ages of 13 and 17 to enter the event. Boys must have reached their twelfth birthday, but not their seventeenth birthday, to be eligible. Also, boys must be able to feed and care for the sheep they win for one year, and must reside in the Winters Independent School District.

According to information released by the committee, the Interscholastic League State Executive Committee, in cooperation with the State Board of Vocation Education, has formulated a plan permitting calf scrambles and still protecting a boy's amateur standing. This is done by placing the matter under the supervision of the 4-H Club supervisors and the Vocational Agriculture Department. (Continued on page 6)

Council Approves Budget For Operation Of City Departments Next Fiscal Year

The City of Winters expects to spend $339,590.41 for operation of all departments of the city in the next fiscal year. Estimated revenue for the year is $359,638.00.

These are the figures in the budget approved by the City Council in regular session Tuesday night. Of the several departments, the city owned light and power plant is expected to cost the most for operation, according to the approved budget. Expenses for this department have been set at $121,063.31; total estimated revenue is $136,272.57.

A complete breakdown of the budget will be published in the near future, according to Mayor Harvey D. Jones. Estimated revenue for the general fund is $106,600.43, with expenditures at $93,952.10. The water department is budgeted at $55,375 for expenses, with an income of $51,875.00.

Expenses for operation of the Winters Municipal Hospital for the next fiscal year have been set at $69,200.00, with a revenue of $64,890.00.

The council also discussed the appointment of an equalization board, but no final action has been taken, Mayor Jones said. Several members of the Winters Chamber of Commerce also met with the council to discuss other phases of city improvement and advancement; however, nothing definite was decided.

Trained Horses To Be Featured During Rodeo

Two trained horses, owned and presented by Levi Garrett of Sterling City, will be featured during the three day Winters Annual Rodeo, June 23, 24 and 25.

One of the horses, Platonio, is a former movie star, having appeared in movies made at Republic Studios in Hollywood. Platonio is known as a dancing horse, and can rumba, two step, cake walk, high trot and side step. He can untie knots and pick up hats, according to Garrett.

The other horse, Thunder Jr., a thoroughbred Quarter Horse, is a nephew of the black horse called Thunder, sold by Garrett to Bill Elliott for his Red Rider and Little Beaver series of movies.

A fast working horse, Thunder Jr. has a number of tricks. He can salute the flag, put on an imitation fight, and go crippled on the trail.

Garrett has trained horses for Howard Poe of San Angelo, brother George Poe who is in charge of specialty acts for the rodeo. He is married to the former Betty Davis, sister of Mrs. W. G. Bedford Sr. of Winters.

Garrett is a teacher of a boys' Sunday School class in the Baptist Church, and has plans for providing a vacation for boys on his ranch.

His plans include taking about 25 to 30 boys, from the ages of 10 to 14 years old, by chuck wagon to a tank on his ranch where they will camp, fish in the Colorado River for a few days and visit the Spade Ranch. The trip will last about ten days, then that group will be returned and another will spend a session on the ranch.

Big Prizes Offered For Rodeo Parade

The Winters Annual Rodeo, June 23, 24 and 25, will be punctuated by two big downtown parades which promise to draw riding clubs from all over the area, and bring to view some of the most colorful floats ever seen in a local parade.

Floyd Grant, chairman of the parade committee, said this week that invitations have been extended to eleven riding clubs in the area, and that it is expected that most of them will be here for the big event.

Big cash prizes are being offered for the floats to be judged the best in the parades. First prize will be $75; second, $30; and third prize, $20. The first parade will begin at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, June 23, and the second on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. To be eligible for prize money, Grant said, floats must be entered in both parades, without changes or alterations.

All organizations, clubs and church groups are invited to enter floats in the two big parades. Prizes will be awarded on the final night of the rodeo.

Two trophies will be awarded visiting riding clubs. The winners will be announced Saturday night during the final performance of the rodeo.

'60 Grain Harvest Getting Underway

Small grain has begun to trickle into the elevators in Winters, but the harvest season has been delayed by the weather. A few more days of hot sunshine will see an increase in combine work, and elevators are expected to be working at capacity.

A good grain crop is foreseen, in spite of the hail which has fallen in strips in the North Runnels County area. Some predictions indicate a harvest almost as big as that of two years ago.

The wheat has barely been touched by the combines, with only about three carloads coming into Winters by Wednesday. The flow of wheat is expected to increase tremendously within the next week, however, with the advent of good weather. About six carloads of oats have been brought in, and eight carloads of barley. Quality of the grain has been reported as good, and the yield is better than had been hoped for in many instances.

Charlie Chapman reports that out of a wheat field of 140 acres, he has cut 50 acres, with a yield of 40 bushels per acre. His place is two miles north of town.

J. C. Belew, who farms on the Inez Smith Estate farm about 3 1/2 miles northeast of Wintgate, unloaded the first load of wheat at Kimbell Mill in Winters on May 25. Belew has 57 acres of wheat, and estimates a yield of about 25 bushels per acre. The load he brought in tested 62 pounds per bushel, with a moisture content of 14 percent.

Belew's farm was one of those hit by the hail a few days ago—the day following the harvest of his first load—but the extent of the damage has not been determined. However, Belew reported he would have to replant all of his cotton.

C. T. Parker, Runnels County Agent, said Wednesday that grain is ripening fast all over the county, and prospects are much better than had been anticipated earlier. He indicated disappointment over the maize and cotton outlook, however, countywide. Conditions are pretty good in the north part of the county, Parker said, but it is spotted in the southern half.

DIANN ROPER

Two Local Students Represent Winters At Girl, Boy State

Diann Roper and John Jackson have been selected by the faculty of Winters High School as the Winters representatives to Bluebonnet Girls' State and the American Legion Boys' State. Diann is sponsored by the Winters Lions Club and John is sponsored by the Winters Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Boys and girls are selected for Boys' State and Girls' State on the basis of scholarship, character, ambition, leadership ability, and the ability to get along with fellow students.

Bluebonnet Girls' State will be held in Austin at the School for the Blind while Boys' State will be held on the campus of the University of Texas. Diann will report to Girls' State on June 8 and John will report to Boys' State on June 5.

The purpose of Boys' State and Girls' State is to enable outstanding high school students to grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they will be called upon to assume when reaching adulthood. The young people from all over the state are highly organized into mythical political parties and set up their own state and local governments, operate their own newspapers, and provide for their own organized activities.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Jackson of Route 2, Wintgate. He is a Senior student in Winters High School and is president-elect of the Student Council for the 1960-61 school year. He is active among many school organizations and is a member of the Blizzard football team.

Diann is the daughter of Mrs. M. G. Roper of Route 3, Winters. She is also a senior in Winters High School. She is a member of the girls' basketball team and a member of FHA. For the past three years she has won honors as the student with the highest scholastic average of her class.

Roger Babson Says

U2 Incident Not Only Reason Why Summit Conference Unsuccessful

Babson Park, Mass. — It does not seem reasonable that the Summit Conference of the four largest world government broke up suddenly in a turmoil without a cause.

The Spy Incident

Khrushchev must have known for a long time that we were flying spy planes over Russia and that it was a routine thing with our Intelligence Service. Surely it could not have been the real reason for the Summit Conference breakup. Something else must have happened to cause Khrushchev to give President Eisenhower an ultimatum and demand the abject apology which Khrushchev, of course, knew he would not get.

It also was a general surprise when President Eisenhower indicated that the U-2 spying would be suspended, at least for the time being, though many interpret this as a final cancellation. Many rumors are flying in the various capital cities as to the reasons for the collapse of the Summit Conference and the calling off of the spying.

A Real Probably Reason

When I was in Moscow a short time ago, I heard the United States bases discussed. The United States, it was said, was depending mainly upon these missile bases which surround the Russian empire. Furthermore, it was understood that in the event of the outbreak of World War III, these missile bases would be the first targets of attack; that is, Russia would first try to destroy these.

Also while in Russia, I heard that the U. S. bombers were to be gradually withdrawn following the U. S. Defense Department's disagreement as to whether we should depend upon bombers or upon missiles and rockets. This may have been another "Eisenhower compromise." Also when in Russia, I heard much about rocketry and military. Rockets are necessary to perform stunts in space, such as going around the moon; but there are various types of missiles that are sufficient for fighting on land or water. They can be fired from East Germany to any city in the United States, or from any of our cities to Russia.

What Khrushchev Knew About Bases

What may have made Khrushchev so ugly and insistent on an apology from Eisenhower is that he was just learning of these mobile bases. For instance, now most rocket bases are fixed. Eisenhower, however, was probably informed that the mobile rocket bases are a practical success. If this is true, the United States may have no further need of spies to discover rocket bases in Russia. Furthermore, the United States may be able to give up rocket bases in countries now surrounding Russia.

The land-based mobile rocket will work as follows: Instead of being on a fixed foundation, it will be on a heavy weighted car operated on heavy rails. This mobile base could be moved each night so that it would be constantly in a different location. Some nights it might be moved only 25 miles, other nights a hundred miles. Furthermore, at junction points it could be shifted to another railroad. Of course, Russia will also adopt mobile bases, but she has no such railway systems as we have. This would make the work of both the United States and Russian spies more difficult and dangerous.

Other Possible Reasons For Khrushchev's Sudden Leaving

Khrushchev probably had news from Moscow which caused him to destroy the meeting before it opened. It may have been some action of the Presidium directly after he left Moscow, or he may have felt that some other man was looking for his job and he had to be home to protect it. He may have heard that the younger element in Moscow is getting aroused, as in other countries, demanding reduced armament expenditures so that they may have more consumer goods. He may have been informed before the meeting that he would not get satisfactory action on Berlin.

Finally, Khrushchev must have been anxious to get home to speed work on his submarine fleet, as submarines will eventually take the place of all land bases, fixed or mobile. The Chinese Government, too, may have passed along threats to him which he could not ignore. At any rate, knowing he was blocked on all the most crucial subjects, he saw that it would be impossible to get any agreement on a reduction of armaments.

VFW Marble Tourney Dept. of Texas Set June 3, 4, 5, in Eden

Roy Butler and J. C. Riddle, second and third place winners in the District Veterans of Foreign Wars marble tournament, will participate in the VFW Department of Texas tournament slated for June 3, 4 and 5 in Eden.

The marble tournament will be held June 4, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. at the high school football field in Eden. A free swimming party and an awards barbecue dinner will be served at Pflugger Park. The champion will be crowned at the dinner and will play one game with the second place winner.

A sunrise swim and chuckwagon breakfast is scheduled for Sunday morning and church services will be conducted at the pool at 8 a. m. Following church services, the group will go on a guided tour of a typical Texas ranch.

The tournament was made possible through the courtesy of VFW Post 8549, its Auxiliary, Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce of Eden.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

$1.3 Billion Aid Bill Voted For Nation's Schools

A $1.3 billion federal school aid bill squeezed through the House last week. I voted against it. A four-year program, it would grant, recommendations, it may run into a veto. The Senate version of the bill calls for federal grants amounting to nearly $2 billion, over a two year period, and includes direct payments on teachers' salaries as well as construction. The two versions now go to a joint conference committee to iron out the differences.

A delay seems unavoidable in efforts to eradicate the screw-worm in Texas. A program of releasing large quantities of sterile male flies in infested areas has succeeded in completely eradicating that pest in Florida and most of the Southeast.

I have repeatedly urged USDA's Research Service to pursue this program in the southwest relentlessly. In a formal report based upon preliminary survey work, the Department reported last October that pending further studies the plan is not considered feasible in our area.

The difficulty, states Dr. E. F. Knippling, Director of Entomology Research, in a recent report to me, is that if the area this side of the Rio Grande were cleared, it would be subject to immediate reinfestation by flies from Mexico. "It would seem advantageous to obtain some additional research information under southwestern conditions before entering into a large-scale eradication program," Knippling continued.

"It is our thinking," he added, "that an intensive laboratory and field investigation program is necessary to determine the practicability of a large eradication effort in the southwest and the possibility of establishing a barrier area in which sterile flies are released continuously to prevent migration from across the Rio Grande. . . . We believe that if the screw-worm problem could be approached on the basis of research and large-scale pilot testing, an over-all effective and practical solution might be worked out."

TEXAS LAND VALUES

—UP, UP, UP

The decade of the 1950's saw a boom in Texas farm land prices which prompted frequent and free predictions from many an old-timer that a bust could not be far behind.

There was nothing approaching a bust, of course, even in the drought-ridden middle '50's. And as the new decade of the 1960's gets under way there are no real signs to indicate that the boom actually has even reached its peak.

Farmers may and probably will continue to complain of lower farm prices and increasing costs—which is well justified by current facts and figures. Some farm families probably will continue to forsake the land and its discouragements, although the number driven away from the farms to the cities is not nearly as high as during the drought years.

But the value of the land itself appears to be holding a remarkably steady upward trend, and this is observed in nearly all areas of Texas. Prevailing prices of farm and ranch land generally is higher than can actually be justified by its value for crop or livestock production.

The factors combining to produce this situation also have developed another over-all condition which is often observed and pointed out in many sections of Texas.

The condition is this: More and more land over the State is becoming tightly held and to all practical purposes taken off the market altogether, automatically cutting down the quantity of bid-able land available to influence any market fluctuation.

The top strengthening factor in price determination of farm and ranch land, not only in Texas but in most other agricultural states, is the vast increase in population to be considered against the fixed amount of land available. In Texas, this more or less simple situation of supply and demand is intensified because of the more than normal growth in population.

During the past two decades, the trend of farm folk flocking to the middle-sized and big cities in Texas also has had a reverse reaction—a notable rise in weekend farming and ranching. Money from Texas industry and commerce in the cities has found its way back to the land in an ever-increasing volume — no accurate measurement has yet been taken of just how large the volume might be, but the effect on farm land values is bound to have been considerable.

The boom-and-bust predictions of the old-timers are not likely to get more verification in the 1960's than in the 1950's.

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

"Home From the Hill" Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker head the cast of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Home From the Hill," with co-starring roles played by George Peppard, George Hamilton, Everett Sloane and Luana Patten. Peppard and Hamilton are two of the screen's most promising newcomers; former child actress Luana Patten has emerged as a leading young dramatic star. The powerful emotional drama of a divided family in a small Texas town, in which the sins of the father bring about tragic consequences in the lives of the other members of the family, is based on the best-seller novel and Book-of-the-Month Club selection by William Humphrey. The picture was filmed in CinemaScope and color and will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In. "Middle of the Night" Kim Novak, one of the screen's loveliest stars, and Fredric March, twice winner of Academy Awards for best acting, make a new off-beat romantic team in Columbia Pictures' "Middle of the Night," motion picture version of the Paddy Chayefsky stage play due Sunday at the State Theatre. Compelling story of a girl involved with an older man, "Middle of the Night" co-stars Lee Phillips, Glenda Farrell, Albert Dekker, Martin Balsam and Lee Grant. As the tormented, confused young divorcee who has never known real love, Miss Novak is said to give an illuminating performance. As the lonely middle-aged widower who desperately snatches at his last chance for love, March is said to give a powerful performance, that, all Hollywood agrees should put him in line for another Oscar.

"Platinum High School" The dangerous practice of "hazing" in American schools, frequently headlined in newspaper stories, is given a dramatic expose in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Platinum High School," starring Mickey Rooney, Terry Moore and Dan Duryea, and introducing popular singer Conway Twitty in a straight dramatic role. Co-starring are Warren Berlinger, Yvette Mimieux and Jimmy Boyd. The new picture is permeated with hot suspense and fast action in its story of a father (Mickey Rooney) who investigates the mysterious death of his son at an exclusive military academy for wealthy delinquents, situated on a remote island. Highlight scenes include a three against one fight with rifles (one of the most savage and realistic ever depicted on the screen) and the story's climax in which a speed boat attempts to run down the occupants of a small outboard motorboat in shark-infested waters. "Platinum High School" will be seen at the Fiesta Sunday and Monday. "The Diary of Anne Frank" "The Diary of Anne Frank," as a book, stage play and now a motion picture opening Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In has made a record for itself rarely equaled by any piece of writing. And it was written with no idea that it would ever be published. Anne Frank, aged thirteen, started keeping the diary a short time before she, her parents and sister and four other people went into hiding in Amsterdam following the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands. She continued her record until shortly before the Nazi police found their hiding place, two years later. The diary was found in the litter and rubble of the old house, after the war.

Texoma Tagging Gives Biologists Valuable Facts

White bass tagging on Lake Texoma is providing aquatic biologists of the Texas Game and Fish Commission with valuable information concerning the movements, spawning activities, and age and growth factors of the species.

During a 5-year period, some 3,253 white bass were tagged and released. Of this total, 330 tag returns were recorded. Information obtained from 1959 returns show that one bass was recaptured 177 days after it was released, while another was free for 494 days. The average interval of freedom for fish was 287.9 days. This figure is higher than any reported in other years. None of the 1959 returns were tagged that same calendar year.

The distance traveled by fish between release and recapture varied from less than 50 yards to as much as 14.5 miles. The average direct line distance traveled was about 9 miles. One fish was recaptured at the same place it was released. However, according to the director of inland fisheries, it is impractical to believe this fish stayed in the same area the entire period of freedom. Previous fish returns have revealed that some fish move a minimum of three miles per day of freedom.

Once again a fish tagged in Lake Texoma was retaken in Red River below the dam. Records show that 50 other fish have made this unusual trip.

Once substantial information has been collected, it will be made available to fishermen through newspaper, radio and magazines. Persons catching tagged fish are asked to contact Commission personnel at the Commission offices on the Lake.

After this experience each employee has a new understanding and sympathy for those who are permanently blind. ## Jefferson Davis--Soldier and Statesman

The birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis, on June 3rd, is important to every Texan for he was a military commander of distinction, he fought at Buena Vista and Monterey; he was wounded and retired from the army but his many talents destined him for leadership in other fields.

He was ever a champion of States' rights and he had the courage to back his convictions with appropriate action. The eventful time in which he lived cast him for a role in a great drama in which he played an important part. His character, integrity and leadership will ever be admired. He will be remembered as a great man because the greater part of his life was devoted to public service.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

The financial position of farmers at the beginning of 1959 was favorable. But now the prospects are less encouraging, reports John McHane, extension economist. Farm income has dropped substantially from 1958 levels and a further decline is likely in 1960.

Farm assets and equities continued to increase in 1959, but by the lowest percentage since 1955. The rise in farm assets and equities may stop for a time in 1960 or 1961. Also, farm debts rose during 1959 and are likely to increase further in 1960, the economist says.

Even though the farm financial outlook is less favorable, it varies considerably by types of farming and by areas of production. The outlook for operators of the larger and more productive farms and of those operators who have been able to expand their volume of business is much better than for the operators of smaller and less productive farms.

The production and marketing of agricultural products is becoming more and more competitive between farmers and areas of production. Agriculture is becoming more commercialized and specialized with larger investments. This is not only true in agriculture, but also in most businesses outside agriculture, McHane points out.

BY VERN SANFORD

Many Texans head for Mexico for a hunting or fishing trip. But not many go in for manta ray harpooning.

An Oklahoma friend of mine, Range Cloyd Jr., now a Mexico City businessman, recently told me of his adventures in this exciting sport.

Although you may never participate in manta ray harpooning, as an outdoorsman, you may, nevertheless, be interested in what Range had to say about his experience.

Anyway, here is an interesting, true story to add to your collection.

Strangely enough, Range happened to be on his honeymoon when his opportunity for manta ray harpooning appeared. So he and his wife both participated in the manta ray hunt. She is a former olympic swimming champion from Mexico City.

On arriving at Papanoa, Mexico, located on the Pacific Coast between Acapulco and Zihuatenejo they found the fishermen enraptured over the arrival in their waters of hundreds of giant manta rays. The huge mantas were scaring away all the fish which provide their livelihood.

When the Cloyds heard the details of the natives' plans for driving off the mantas, they couldn't resist joining in the hunt.

Here's how the fishermen went about it. First they made harpoons, using a broomstick handle for the shaft. To this shaft, they attached their harpoon point by binding it tautly with wire. The harpoon point was made from steel rods, such as those used in reinforcing concrete, and were about as big around as your little finger. These rods were bent back double, to the shape of a hook, and filed down at the end to an effective sharp-barbed point.

Second, they attached a light line to the handle end of the harpoon. The boats these fishermen used were old, primitive dugout canoe-type craft, made by the natives from trunks of trees.

At first Range was wary about going out in this small, crude craft, especially after hearing the tales of how the huge manta rays, weighing several tons, were known to jump as high as 15 feet out of the water during the mating season.

Nevertheless, the Cloyds proceeded to join the group and here is how the sport was enacted.

As the manta rays were close in, the natives did not have far to go from shore before encountering them. They paddled their way out until they could see a dark cast or shaded area in the water, indicating a sleeping manta.

As the manta takes his rest by floating just a few inches below the surface of the water, the hunters would move along quietly until their boat was right on top of a big ray. Standing in the boat, the harpoonist would hurl his harpoon into the back of the manta and then hold on to the line and hope, and pray.

The manta, quite rudely awakened, peels off like an airplane going into a dive. One of his huge wings lifts mightily out of the water, beside the boat, as if ominously threatening to smash it and the occupants, as the big ray tilts his body and takes off in a dash for the deep water.

You can imagine what an impressive sight this is from a small boat, when you realize that the smallest manta they saw that day had a wingspread of nine feet.

They grow much bigger, too.

As the manta dives, he takes the harpoon in his back with him.

The line which had been attached to the harpoon put there for two purposes. One—to retrieve the harpoon if and when it comes out of the manta's back before he gets away. AND TWO—to allow for a little joy ride under "manta power" as long as the harpoon or light line will take the strain.

There is no attempt to kill the manta. Sole purpose, besides possible the sport or adventure of the experience, is to drive away the manta rays so that ordinary fishing operations may continue.

Once speared, as described above, the manta will head for the open water and seek more friendly companions. Usually, some of his friends and relatives follow his wise move and accompany him.

The manta ray, sometimes called "the fish from hell," is perhaps one of the most terrifying and ferocious-looking denizens of the deep that you ever will encounter.

But my friend from Mexico says you don't have much to fear. They are not man eaters, although their mouths often are large enough to enclose a man's head and shoulders.

Main danger in this harpooning sport, says Range, is in the possibility of the ray overturning or demolishing your boat with his wings. This he could easily do.

If you are interested in trying the sport of harpooning these giant rays, you will find one of their favorite playgrounds right out of Port Isabel, where the Rio Grande River flows into the Gulf of Mexico. Many huge mantas have been caught there. Some as large as 16 feet in length and weighing as much as 2,985 pounds.

As Range puts it, you can have mountains of fun with a manta. Just be careful while you're doing it.

Conditions Favorable For Mesquite Control

Mesquite robs 55 million acres of Texas rangelands of precious moisture and plant nutrients each year. Often it is necessary to control mesquite in order that the ranch achieve and maintain the highest production.

The ranchman seeks the most economical control of mesquite consistent with highest livestock production, and at the same time conserving natural range resources. A variety of chemical and mechanical methods or a combination of them can be used to solve individual problems.

"Mesquite Control" is a new extension publication which goes into detail on the different chemical and mechanical methods of control which can be used. Extension Range Specialists G. O. Hoffman and B. J. Ragsdale, authors of the publication, point out that grass recovery usually is much slower on mechanically controlled areas than where mesquite is controlled with chemicals. However, some brush plants, generally various kinds of underbrush, cannot be controlled with chemicals because of their resistance to selective herbicides. When selective herbicides are used for mesquite control, resistant plants may make faster growth and become a greater problem than when mesquite was the dominant brush.

Tell some people you can't get along without them and before long you can't get along with them.

Russell Sisters Wed Airmen In Double Ceremony In Abilene Friday Evening

The chapel of the First Baptist Church in Abilene was the scene Friday evening of a double wedding uniting Wanda Lorene Russell and Airman Second Class Jerry Lee Gerrell, and her sister, Lavanda Florence Russell and Airman First Class Robert Arthur Hayward.

The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Russell of Winters.

Airman Gerrell is the son of Mrs. J. J. Miller and M. L. Gerrell, both of Mansfield, Ohio. Airman Hayward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hayward of Mt. Pleasant, Michigan. The bridegrooms are stationed at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene.

The Rev. Don Patillo, pastor of the Harmony Baptist Church, officiated for the double ring ceremony and wedding music was presented by Emma Joyner, organist, and Mrs. James R. Field of Levelland, soloist and cousins of the brides.

Attendants for both couples were Al-C Jerry Dunch, best man; and Charlene Therwanger, maid of honor. Al-C Russ McGovern and Al-C Lowell Vrendenburg were ushers.

The maid of honor wore a dress of mint green chiffon over taffeta, styled with a sleeveless bodice of white lace and a full pleated skirt. She carried a long-stemmed pink carnation. Her mint green head-dress was trimmed with seed pearls.

Wanda was escorted by her father and Lavanda was escorted by their brother, Winford C. Reel.

The brides, given in marriage by their father, wore identical dresses of lace and tulle fashioned with sabrina necklines and three-quarter length sleeves. Lace and tulle tiers accented the back of the bouffant ballerina length skirts. Their circular veils of silk illusion fell from pearl trimmed headdresses and they carried bouquets of pink roses and feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining hall of the church and members of the house party were Mrs. W. C. Hill, sister of the brides, Mrs. Winford C. Reel, Georgia Ann Pittman, Mrs. Don Patillo, Barbara Williams and Shirley Hollingshead.

For a wedding trip to Possum

Kingdom Lake, Mrs. Gerrell wore a moss green sheath with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She is a 1954 graduate of Winters High School and attended Draughon's Business College. She is employed as secretary of Tom Todd, District Attorney in Abilene.

Airman Gerrell, a graduate of Mansfield Senior High School, attended Ohio State University.

The couple will reside at 257 Westridge Drive in Abilene.

For a wedding trip to Lake Brownwood, Mrs. Hayward wore an aqua suit with white picture hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She is a 1958 graduate of WHS and is employed as secretary to Bill Thomas, County Attorney in Abilene.

Airman Hayward attended Mt. Pleasant High School in Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

The couple will reside at 826 S. LaSalle Drive in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening in the brides' home, 709 S. San Jose Drive, in Abilene.

If you want to know what's behind the headlines, ask any housewife. She'll tell you it's her husband, especially at the breakfast table.

Nancy D. Schwartz Weds Donald Sisson In Odessa May 14

Nancy Dell Schwartz, daughter of W. H. Schwartz of Crews, became the bride of Donald Gene Sisson, son of Mrs. Katy Small of Odessa, Saturday, May 14, at 7 p. m. in the Terrell Hills Baptist Church in Odessa.

The Rev. Wayne Page officiated for the ceremony before an altar decorated with greenery, daisies and candelabras.

Mrs. Sheryl Sweden, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mary White.

Mrs. Gale Hyde, matron of honor, wore a dress of blue nylon over satin with a billowing skirt. She carried a nosegay of carnations. Gerald Thompson of Midland served as best man and ushers were Bill Edminston and Fred Gilliam, both of Odessa.

Given in marriage by her brother, Hartwell Schwartz of Odessa, the bride wore a white lace over satin sheath, and her veil of white net was shoulder length. She carried white cymbidians orchids atop a white Bible.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table featured an arrangement of blue carnations and a three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Ellis Fulton, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Johnnie Tatum assisted in serving. Verbalde Maas presided at the guest book.

The couple will reside at 404 East San Antonio St., in Kermit, where the bridegroom is employed as manager of the Retail Merchants Association.

State Capitol Highlights

State Funds Running Very Low; State Employees May Not Get Paid

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Most ardent advocates of a tax bill to pour fresh funds into the state's coffers likely will be legislative employees.

They may be hunting new jobs or working for nothing before the year is out.

Only about $130,000 remains in the legislative expense fund for use between now and the end of the year. A good part of this probably will be needed to pay travel and miscellaneous expenses of the study committees that meet between sessions.

If these expenses run very high, the permanent legislative employees—people who keep records, staff the legislative library, etc.—may run short on salary money.

Their only course, if they want to stay on in their jobs, will be to hang on until the new legislature finds money to pay them.

SESSION COSTS TOTALED

Last year's legislative sessions — one regular, three special — cost the state $2,773,140.

This averages out to $16,385 a day when the lawmakers are meeting, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness' report.

Of the $2,773,140 total, $724,000 was spent by the 32-member Senate, $1,242,000 by the 150-member House. Each member received in salary about $5,000, at the rate of $25 per day.

Rest of the expense is mostly for the employees to keep a session going answer letters, keep records, print bills, etc.

SALES TAX TAKE ESTIMATED
A retail sales tax with groceries, medical and other services exempted would raise an estimated $133,000,000 a year, a legislative committee was told.

Collection costs would run about $3,000,000 a year, a Texas Research League tax expert told the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy.

If the tax covered not only finished products but raw products used by business in manufacturing, the take would be some $80,000,000 a year more but would result in the consumer's paying two taxes on one item.

A retail sales tax would not hurt Texas' future industrial development, the Commission was told by a business expert, but a tax on manufacturing raw materials would.

Very few elective officials have come out strongly for any kind of broad-based sales tax. Some are bound to look longingly at this avenue, however, since the amount that will have to be raised next year will, if teachers get any sort of raise, be almost as much as a retail sales tax would net.

"LAME DUCK" OPINIONS ASKED

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been asked for opinions on whether retiring lawmakers should continue to serve on two important interim committees.

Four members of the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy are "lame ducks." They are the chairman, Sen Bill Fly of Victoria, and Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, who were defeated for re-election; Rep. V. L. Ramsey of Beckville, who ran for comptroller and lost; and Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring who didn't run this year.

There are five members of the House General Investigating Committee also did not run for new terms. They are Rep. H. J. Blanchard, chairman, and Reps. Joe Burkett of Kerrville and Carl Conley of Raymondville.

If the Attorney General rules these men should be replaced, most of the new appointments will be made by retiring House Speaker Waggoner Carr.

GAS TAX URGED

Court action has begun on what will undoubtedly be a long legal battle over whether the natural gas severance beneficiary tax passed last year is constitutional. An estimated $15,000,000 a year in state revenue is at stake.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., which filed a separate suit, was the first to begin argument in the Austin district court. A consolidated suit, involving 80 other companies, will be heard by the same court on June 16.

Tennessee Co. spokesmen argued that the pipelines are in the business of transporting only and should not be subject to a tax based on the value of the gas. Case is not expected to be decided finally for many months when it has gone through all the lower courts and finally to the U. S. Supreme Court.

INDUSTRY-SEEKING BUDGET SET

Texas Industrial Commission has set up an operating budget of $100,000, of which $76,250 will have to be raised privately.

Legislature appropriated $23,750 for the Commission, about 10 percent of what was asked.

Between now and Sept. 1, 1961, the Commission proposes to spend about $50,000 on printing, mailing and advertising. Remainder would be spent on salaries and office expenses.

Commission's goal is to attract 154 new industries to Texas in the next year.

Former Attorney General John Ben Sheppard of Odessa has been named chairman of a 400-member citizens advisory committee to assist the committee by gathering information on local conditions.

JOHNSON DINNER PLANNED

A $50-a-plate dinner by the Lyndon Johnson For President dinner committee will be held in Austin's Municipal Auditorium on June 13.

The dinner will honor Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Gov. Price Daniel.

Honorary chairman is Former Vice President John Nance Garner of Uvalde. Co-Chairmaning the event will be Austin's Mayor Tom Miller and Congressman Homer Thornberry.

Ticket orders should be mailed to Post Office Box 362 in Austin.

SHORT SNORTS

Corporation tax payments have reduced the general revenue fund deficit to $45,736,868, according to Texas Treasurer Jesse James. Forty percent of Texas boat owners still have not registered their craft under the new boat licensing law. Texas traffic deaths for the first 20 weeks of this year are down by 13 percent from what they were a year ago, reports the Department of Public Safety.

FREEZING SNAP BEANS
Select only fresh, tender young beans. Wash, cut or snap off the tips and sort for size. Freeze the small beans whole if desired. Cut or break larger beans into 1 or 2-inch pieces. Put beans in blanching water, and cover. Keep the heat on high and begin counting time immediately. Heat small beans in boiling water for 2 minutes, medium beans for 3 minutes, and large beans for 4 minutes. Plunge basket of heated beans into a large container of ice water or into running cold water. It takes about as long to cool as to heat them. When beans are cool, remove them from water and drain.

Pack the beans into moisture-vapor proof container. Leave 1-2 inch head space. Label container with name of vegetable, locker number and date. Freeze immediately, and store at 0 degrees F. or below.

Latest information on how to freeze, and how to cook frozen foods can be secured from your county home demonstration agent.

Freeze Surplus Vegetables

Freezing is a quick, easy way to preserve fresh greens and other spring vegetables. Freezing keeps the natural color, fresh flavor and food values of most vegetables and fruits better than other methods of food preparation.

For best results, select fresh, tender vegetables right from the garden while they are at the right stage of maturity for eating.

Other factors that influence quality are preparation, packaging, freezer loading and length of storage.

Directions for freezing foods should be followed carefully because the quality of the product can vary with freshness of product used, method of preparation, packaging and conditions of freezing, all playing a part.

Careful selection of foods to be frozen is important. The food coming out of the home freezer or the locker drawer is no better than it was before it was frozen.

Heating or blanching is necessary in order to slow or stop the action of enzymes. Until vegetables are ready to pick, enzymes help them to grow and mature. After that they cause loss of flavor and color. If the vegetables are not heated enough, the enzymes continue to be active during the frozen storage. They will then develop off-flavors within a few months and may discolor or toughen. Heating also wilts or softens vegetables and makes them easier to pack. Too long a heating period will result in softening of texture and an unnecessary loss of water. After heating, the vegetables should be cooled quickly and thoroughly to stop the cooking. To cool, plunge in running cold water or ice water. It takes a vegetable about as long to cool as it does to heat.

FREEZING CORN
Select ears with plump, tender kernels and thin sweet milk. If the milk is thick and starchy it is better to freeze corn in cream style. For cream style corn — Husk, silk, trim and wash the corn. Heat the ears in boiling water four minutes. Cool, cut kernels from cob at about 2-3 the depth of the kernels. Scrape the cob with back of knife to get milky heart. Package in moisture vapor proof package and freeze immediately.

Corn on the cob — Husk, silk, trim, wash and sort ears according to size. Heat in boiling water. Small ears up to 1 1/4 inches in diameter, should heat for seven minutes. Medium ears, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches, for nine minutes, and larger ears for eleven minutes. Cool and drain. Pack ears into containers or wrap in moisture vapor proof material. Freeze immediately.

Hard Pan Restricts Circulation of Air, Water in Soil

"Soil permeability is that quality of the soil that enables it to transmit water or air," according to James Barnhill, of the local Soil Conservation Service.

Barnhill points out that the permeability of a soil is determined by the structure or arrangement of soil particles in each soil horizon.

Under intensive cultivation most soils of the Runnels Soil Conservation District tend to form a hard pan below the plow layer by rearranging and compacting the soil particles. This hard pan restricts movement of air and water, thus temporarily lowering the permeability.

Barnhill mentioned that this condition can be relieved by growing deep rooted grasses or legumes in the regular crop rotation. These deep rooted crops are capable of penetrating the hardpan and leaving the soil open. Also the return of large amounts of crop residues to the land each year tends to keep the soil open and prevents compaction. Practices such as deep plowing give only temporary relief of the problem and should be used as a last resort.
