Queen Contest To Be Held Again By Farm Bureau

The Eastland County Farm Bureau will sponsor a queen contest again this year, according to a decision of the board of directors at a meeting recently. The county event will be part of a statewide queen contest to bring recognition to deserving girls on farms and ranches of the state.

To be eligible, girls must be a daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member, between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age and not a previous Farm Bureau contest winner. The county contest will be held in connection with the annual farm bureau barbecue tentatively set for August 26.

Mrs. Clyde Coats of Cisco was named contest arrangements chairman. Members of her committee are: Mrs. Ed Harrison, and Mrs. A. W. Hendricks, Gorman; Mrs. Bill Tucker, Ranger; Mrs. John Leveridge and Mrs. Bill Clinton, Cisco; Mrs. J. D. Harrell, Olden, and Jimmy Sparks Desdemona, and Ray Norris, Eastland.

Other business matters were considered at the meeting.

Calves Win Praise From Show Judge

Eastland County's breeders of registered cattle maintained the high standards of their entries in the livestock exibited last Saturday at the annual county Registered Beef Calf Show at the show barn on the Lake Cisco road. The event was sponsored by the Cisco Livestock Show Association. Although the number of entries was smaller than anticipated, the Hereford and Angus calves drew considerable praises from the show judge and spectators. The show was limited to calves born after Sept. 1, 1954, and judged were animals of the same sex in pens of three.

T. G. Caudle of Cisco showed a pen of three WHR Proud Mixer bull calves to the championship, with second honors going to Dr. D. V. Rodgers of Gorman. Third place went to Archie Campbell of Olden. The champion Angus bulls were shown by Sutton Crofts of Cisco.

Ed Harrison of Gorman showed the championship pen-of-three Hereford heifers. Others winning honors for Hereford heifers were T. G. Caudle, second; Ed Huestis, Cisco, third, and A. V. Clark, Cisco fourth, Dr. N. A. Brown of Cisco won first honors with a pen of Angus heifers with second honors going to Crofts.

Jay Humphrey, Jr., Old Glory rancher, was the judge of the show. A number of individual animals were shown and won praise from cattlemen.

County Agent J. M. Cooper assisted the Cisco Livestock Show Association officials in staging the show. Officials included: Mr. Crofts, president; Mr. Caudle, show superintendent; and, Mr. Huestis, ground superintendent. pressed regret that the crowd was not large as had been expected.

"The Cisco Livestock Show Association and the breeders of registered cattle of Eastland County deserve a big hand for the high quality of show animals here last Saturday," Mr. White said. "We are very proud that the registered livestock program of the area is reflecting a steady growth.

"It is our sincere hope that the annual show will be held again next year. We expect to appoint ber of Commerce to contribute everything possible toward a successful show in 1956."

Cattlemen who attende the show were eligible for attenddance awards provided by the Thornton Feed Mill and by the Cisco Mills.

RECENT BIG RAIN SHOWED HOW COVER CROPS SAVED MOISTURE

By W. L. GARNER Soil Conservationist

What happens when it really rains?

Rain fell in Eastland County Wednesday May 18, as intense as can probably be expected every 50 to 75 years. While rainfall varied from three inches to the official 10.42 inches recorded at Eastland, most farms received around five inches. As often happens when rain falls so fast, only a small portion was retained to benefit the land. The real story can only be told in terms of moisture in the ground.

Moisture penetration test by soil conservation Service workers following the big rain showed that on mixed range land (sandy loam soil) with very little grass cover moisture only penetrated nine inches. In the same pasture where there was a fairly good grass turf, moisture was found 30 inches deep. In a corner of a county cemetary with an excellent tall grass cover the soil was well wet 33 inches.

Soil of this type will hold about one and one half inches of water

That the plaintiffs except James A. Bentley, who are the majority mineral owners, have executed to James A. Bentley, plaintiff-lessee, mineral leases covering their said respective mineral interests in said land for a primary term of two years, with delay rentals of $1.00 per year, providing for the usual 1-3 royalties, and containing a pooling pro-vision; that plaintiffs' rights are being prejudiced in that the lessee in said lease will not develop said land without a valid lease on the interests owned by the defendants. Plaintiffs pray for an order authorizing such receiver to ex-ecute a similar lease approved by the court in favor of the said James A. Bentley covering defendants' said rea valid lease on the interests owned by spective mineral interests in said land. all in accordance with Article 2320b, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, as shown by plaintiffs' petition to file in per foot of depth. Thus the relative bare range held about an inch of rainfall and probably lost over four inches, while the land with a good grass cover held about four inches of rain and lost about an inch.

On tight range land (fine textured soil) findings were about the same. With fair cover this land wet down two feet, but with poor cover only six inches. This type of clay loam soil will hold around two inches of water per foot of depth. It can thus be assumed that this range site held four inches of water under a fair cover, but only an inch where cover was lacking. Sandy range land south of Eastland wet two feet deep under a light annual needle grass cover, and over four feet with a good grass cover. Assuming this soil to hold an inch of water per foot this land held two inches with poor cover and four inches with good cover. A very deep sandy soil (forty eight inches to clay) was wet 68 inches with free water till present from 24 to 48 inches. It is estimated this soil held over six inches of water and there was almost no runoff, although run off and severe erosion was noted nearby where there was less depth of sand. Since it takes water to grow grass, or crops, ranchers in this area were benefited according to the amount of cover on their land Over grazed ranges with little grass cover actually retained little of the moisture that fell, and in many suffered severe sheet ero-

Damage to conservation structures were relatively light. All water ways, diversion terraces, and pond spillways examined fuctioned properly with only minor scouring where sod was lacking. Water topped some field terraces but severe damage was noted only on a few older terrace systems with inadequate outlets. Some unterraced land suffered severe erosion. Sheet erosion was evident on almost all cropland, and the runoff into Lake Leon carried a heavy load

In general the big rain was a blessing, although it is a pity our range and cropland had not been in a better condition to receive it.
