Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The Winters High School football stadium area this week is dotted with tents, make-shift tarpaulin shelters and cots and beds of every description. It's an encampment that cries out for good weather to last out the week. It's a hodge-podge of camping facilities, minus the campfires, of course, without regular form or fashion. But it is irregularity with a purpose. It's just the ticket for about 34 football hopefuls and their coaches, who are camped out this week undergoing almost full-time training in preparation for a strenuous football season ahead, so window curtains and rugs have no place in their daily routine.

Coach L. G. Wilson and his staff have been putting the boys through their paces this first week of training, shaking loose some of the spring-and summer-acquired tallow, and hardening muscles which will be called upon later to stand the grind of perhaps a full hour of hard football.

The camp was set up Sunday afternoon, and practice was started Monday. The boys got their equipment on the first day, and also were chased from the practice field in the afternoon by showers. The coaches have been working on individual training most of the time, with a scrimmage now and then to adjust the boys to harness-work. Wednesday was "sore-muscle" day, with unused muscles banged about after three days of workouts. But the soreness will disappear after a few more sessions of practice.

"What kind of team will be fielded this fall?" It's too early to tell, Coach Wilson says, with the coach's usual non-committal expression. There are only three starters returning from last year's team: William Grissom, Joel Butts and Pee Wee Williams. But don't get the idea that's all the beef available. Up from the ranks of the second string and may be some talent as yet unexplored.

The team will go to Angelo Sept. 3 to tangle with Lake View, and then on Friday night, Sept. 9, will be off and running against Anson on Blizzard Field.

Three youngsters we know, with just a few nickles among them, were privileged to "eat out" for breakfast the other morning. They wanted ham and eggs, but their lack of adequate capital prevented this. So they pooled their resources, and one of them had ham and eggs and the other two had sweet rolls.

The cool damp weather the first part of the week—Winters received .30 inch rain—slowed down harvest of the maize crop. It will take a few days of hot sunshine to start the wheels rolling again. J. C. Jarrell, railroad agent, reported 104 carloads of maize had been shipped out of Winters to Thursday morning. In addition, much of the grain has been shipped out of Winters by truck.

The news columns are filled with sour notes. While Khrushchev has tuned the Fidel to play his own red notes, Lumumba directs his Congo line with a red-ding whip.

Is the pressure caused by supersonic aircraft enough to do damage to humans or property?

This question has been uppermost in the minds of many people since the advent of faster-than-sound aircraft, which, when reaching and going over the speed of sound, cause what has become known as sonic booms.

The scientists say no. Although the sonic boom is ten times stronger than the loudest recorded, strongest thunderclap, says the Air Force, and the pressure created by aircraft diving from 35,000 feet and pulling out at 25,000 feet reaches five pounds per square foot, no structural damage has been done to the flimsiest of test structures. Tests have shown that pressures of less than 70 pounds per square foot have caused no damage. Pressures higher than this are unlikely, it is said.

All this information was given to a group of area people who were guests of the Strategic Air Command at Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska, the first of this week. The group was flown to Omaha, home of SAC, for an orientation tour of the underground headquarters of the United States deterrent force. The group included newspaper people and civic minded citizens.

Blizzard Band To Practice Next Week

Robert R. Gans, Winters High School band director, said this week that the Blizzard band will continue their pre-school practice next week, and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the following week. School will begin on Thursday, Sept. 1.

The band has been in practice for two weeks. The band director said that the first public appearance of the music and marching group will be at the Lake View football game Saturday, Sept. 3. In order for band members to participate in this first exhibition, he said, it will be necessary that they attend the last week of summer practice. Several members have not been practicing during the summer sessions because of vacations and working, he said. After school starts there will be only two school days in which to practice before the game, which will not give enough time.

WHS Blizzards Go Into Second Week of Training

The Winters High School Blizzard football team Friday will wind up the first of two weeks of intensive summer training, with another full week scheduled before school begins Sept. 1.

About 34 members of the team and the coaching staff have been camped out at the stadium this week. The days have been devoted to individual training and team scrimmage. The boys and coaches have been living in tents and improvised camping quarters, and taking their meals at the cafeteria.

The second week of training begins Monday, but the camping will be over. Team members will eat only the noon meal at the cafeteria, and will spend the nights in their homes. In addition to the varsity trainees, the B team will practice during this second week.

All members of the coaching staff have been staying at the stadium with the boys.

The first game of the season will be against Lake View there on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Adolph Gottschalk To Leave Tuesday For Germany

Adolph Hans Gottschalk, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gottschalk, will leave Tuesday, August 23, for Germany where he will teach commercial subjects in the American Army Dependent School.

He will fly from Abilene to Newark, New Jersey and from there to Frankfurt, Germany where he will receive his assignment. Mr. Gottschalk expects to be in Germany for twelve months.

He applied for the Civil Service position in January of this year, and believes the reason for his early appointment was because he is single and a veteran. He stated that he applied for the position because he thought it would broaden his interest and give him an opportunity to visit foreign countries. He also stated that he has always wanted to visit Germany because three of his grandparents were born there. Mrs. W. M. Minzenmayer of Winters is one of the three born in Germany.

Gottschalk was born January 12, 1928 and is a graduate of Winters High School. He served two years with the Army during the Korean conflict receiving his discharge as a corporal with the corp of engineers.

In 1954, he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree with a major in business administration from Texas Lutheran College. He will receive his master of education degree from Sul Ross College Sunday, August 21, however he will be unable to attend the graduation exercises. He also attended McMurry College in Abilene, Texas Tech in Lubbock and the University of Texas in Austin. He taught school four years in Cuero and two years in Olton.

He has one sister, Mrs. Bill Ahrens of Hatchell, two brothers, Edward, who is a farmer near Ballinger and Richard Gottschalk, who is a patient in a Veterans Hospital due to injuries received during World War II.

Eddie Little, of 707 Heights St., Winters, has been honored by an elite group of his fellow professional photographers recently.

The Professional Photographers of America, Inc., represented by several of its most prominent members, has selected one photograph by Little for exhibit at the 69th Annual Exposition of Professional Photography and 8th National Industrial Photographic Conference, held August 7-12, 1960 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, Ill. The work is titled "Tex." The picture is one of Leo Minzenmayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Minzenmayer of Route 3, Winters.

The choice was made by a Jury of Selection comprising holders of the Master of Photography degree, highest honor PP of A confers on qualified members. Photos accepted for display win their makers merit points toward the Master's degree, for which 25 merits are required. In addition, outstanding prints in the exhibit are chosen for the PP of A Loan Collection which tours the country during the year. This is third consecutive year that Little has had a picture chosen for exhibit at the National Exhibition.

A record number of prints were submitted and selected for showing in this year's exhibit. From some 5,000 prints sent in, more than 1,000 were accepted for display. About 160 of them will go into the travelling Loan Collection. More than 5,000 members of the PPofA and their families attended the exposition. It is estimated that about 10,000 of the general public saw the print exhibits.

Louis Hord Gins First 1960 Bale

Louis Hord, who lives eight miles northwest of Winters, produced the first bale of 1960 cotton to be ginned by local gins. He delivered the cotton to the Citizens Gin, and ginning was completed about 5:30 p.m. Thursday of last week.

The cotton weighed 1,490 pounds and produced a bale of lint weighing 350 pounds. The cotton was ginned free, according to Claude Tatum, manager of the gin, and the gin operators gave a premium for the first bale.

The Winters Chamber of Commerce, complying with a custom of many years standing, presented Hord with a check for $50.

Last year's first bale came in August 24, and was produced on the Mrs. Carrie Young farm south of town by Robert Pruser.

Winters Man Helped Rescue Truck Driver

Gulf Oil Corp., like most big companies, carries on a continuing training program among their employees, stressing safety on the job, including procedures to be taken in emergencies. Monday some of that training paid off. W. M. Bunger, Gulf's production foreman in Winters, after about 33 years service with the company, put some of that training to use.

A gasoline truck jack-knifed and overturned on a rain-slick pavement on U. S. Highway 277, crashed into a bridge 22 miles southwest of Abilene, pinning the driver, Bruce Green of Wichita Falls, in the wreckage.

Bunger was the first man on the scene, and was soon joined by two men from Abilene in an attempt to pull the driver from the wreckage. In spite of the danger of possible fire and explosion—raw gasoline poured from the wreck endangering the entire area—the trio sawed through the steering column of the wrecked truck cab so that Green could be freed.

Bunger was traveling from Wintgate to some oil wells near Abilene when he happened upon the scene of the accident. He said that although safety has been a part of his work for years, this was the first time he ever participated in such a rescue. The two Abilene men who took part in the rescue were identified shortly after the accident. However, it was Tuesday before the identity of the other man—Bunger—was known.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

"That 8-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the logging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

National Guard Company "D" Had All-Day Drill Sunday

Sunday the 14th was an all day drill for Company "D." Once each month the Guardsmen meet for a full days training. Sometimes this time is used for classwork in the various weapons tactics, etc. that must be learned. Some are devoted to firing on the ranges at Camp Barkley. Some, and these the men particularly like, are used to hold field problems involving application of the things learned in the classwork. Some meetings are used to take tests. Such a meeting was this last Sunday.

A test group from the Battle Group, located at Abilene, consisting of Major Hill, Captain Lindsey, Captain Wyatt, and Captain Lynch, administered the test to members of the Coleman unit. These tests cover many things, all of them required knowledge, that each man must know to perform his job. Such items as tactics, weapons, first aid, map reading, compass reading, formations and other aspects of soldiering.

To say that the men enjoying taking these tests would be inaccurate. No one enjoys being tested, but the Guardsmen realize that it is important to find out where more training is needed. The test will help each man receive the training that he needs. Then too, testing makes up a large part of the work of the Guardsmen. In every phase of training, tests are given by various groups to the men, individually, by Companies, by Regiments, and by Divisions.

Most men are used to it by the time they have been in for any great period. They know that at any time they might be "tested" by the real thing. They expect to be ready, to be used, at any time and they know that they will be ready, for they have been judged and pronounced ready. They stay ready, as much as they might dread the test, to do their jobs that they have been trained for. The Guardsman likes the feeling of being prepared to do a job. Knowing he can do it right is a confident feeling. He is proud he is a member of a unit so trained and so prepared. So he continues to give up his time and continues to do the extra work necessary so that he may say, "I'm trained and ready."

Perils of Self-indulgence is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson.—Meditation: "general Omar Bradley has declared that humanity is in danger of being trapped in this world by 'moral adolescence.' Our knowledge of science has already outstripped our capacity to control it," he says. "The world has achieved brilliance without wisdom, power without conscience. Ours is a world of nuclear giants and ethical infants." Such was the case with Nazi Germany. It is a scandal against evangelical Christianity that, just 400 years after Martin Luther nailed his Ninety-Five Theses on the cathedral door in Whittenberg, Germany, Nazi storm troopers began tacking up other signs. These read: 'Juden Verboten' — 'Jews Forbidden!' So it is that the rise of the Nazi regime drives home the fact that men become worse than beasts when the moral demands of the gospel are allowed to lag behind technological progress.

Today, we stand in great need of that Reformation spirit which exalts Jesus Christ and brings His transforming power to bear upon all of life. As Christians, we must bring as much of our lives under His influence and control as possible."

West Texas Cattlemen Will Hold Special Round-Up For Children

The cattlemen of Texas have traditionally, since the days of the open range, come to their neighbor's aid when the need arises. The cattlemen's round-up for crippled children is still carrying out this neighborly spirit. A hydrotherapy pool is urgently needed at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene to provide additional physical therapy facilities for the handicapped. Cattlemen from a large geographic area have banded together to provide the pool for the crippled children. This will be done by each rancher giving a calf, or a pen of calves, to the round-up. The calves will be sold at a special sale at the Abilene Livestock Auction Commission on Sept. 17. This sale is in conjunction with a special feeder sale drawing buyers from all of the nation.

The idea of the Cattlemen's Round-up came from Mr. Conda Wylie of Bronte. Mr. Wylie, who ranches in Coke and Runnels Counties, has run his cattle on the same place under the cross brand for more than fifty years. Wylie started the round-up off with a donation of 20 calves to be delivered this fall. A committee of more than 40 ranchers has been organized under the chairmanship of Jim Skinner to carry out the plans of the round-up. Skinner operates under the Hashknife brand which his late uncle, Mack Merchant, made familiar throughout West Texas.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center has many things in common with the cattle industry. The center, in true Texas spirit, offers rehabilitation to crippled children and adults free of charge. The center is a private non-profit organization that was built and is operated on funds raised from donations only. With the present facilities and equipment valued at more than $350,000.00. The entire structure and operation has been built and operated without any form of government aid. The West Texas Rehabilitation Center, like the cattle industry, has proven that private citizens operating as a free enterprise can produce satisfactory results.

The center provides treatment without regard to race, creed, color or financial circumstance to anyone referred to the center by a member of the American Medical Association. Services offered are physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, educational therapy, audiology, psychology and pre-vocational evaluation. The patients, more than three hundred of them, are victims of polio, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, and other neurological and orthopedic disorders. There are no geographic restrictions of the patients' eligibility to the West Texas Rehabilitation

"On the Beach"

Stanley Kramer's "On the Beach," opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre through United Artists release, has been called "the biggest story of our time."

Kramer, dedicated to the belief that this is a solemnly hard truth, arranged an unprecedented premiere for the film, a story about the survivors of an atomic disaster. It had its world premiere simultaneously in major cities on all seven continents.

This unprecedented multiple global showing was devised by Kramer because of the stark urgency of the picture, the quality referred to by the book critics who, in reviewing the sensational Shute novel, spoke of it as "the most important and dramatic story of this era."

An adaptation of Nevil Shute's sensational best-selling novel, "On the Beach" stars Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner, Fred Astaire and Anthony Perkins, and introduces, in her movie debut, lovely 19-year old Donna Anderson. The strong supporting cast is headed by John Tate, Lola Brooks, Guy Doleman, John Meillon and Harp McGuire.

Stanley Kramer produced and directed "On the Beach" from a screenplay by John Paxton. Giuseppe Rotunno, the prize-winning Italian cameraman, was chief cinematographer, and the musical score was composed and conducted by Ernest Gold. The picture was filmed in its entirety on location in Australia, on sites precisely corresponding to those used in the Shute novel.

In the case of "On the Beach," the customary "This film could not have been made without the co-operation of . . ." was considerably more than a formality. It could not have been made without the all-out cooperation of Australian Commonwealth officials, who were unstintingly generous in their assistance to the movie troupe.

"Heller in Pink Tights"

Films about the entertainment world have always gone over big with fans. Apparently the public can't ever see enough behind-the-scenes drama of Broadway, the circus, burlesque, grand opera and the movie capital itself. Now Paramount has blended greasepaint with another sure-fire setting — the Wild West — in "Heller in Pink Tights," starring Sophia Loren and Anthony Quinn, and opening Sunday and Monday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

"Heller in Pink Tights" is the first film ever to focus on theatrical trouping on the frontier, with its mining camps, cow capitals and last outposts. How such a natural could have been overlooked in all the years of movie-making, is a mystery. Actors and actresses began touring the West the moment pioneers settled towns. It is a fact that theatres sprang up before churches and schools. Famous international stars trekked across the plains to Denver and even sailed to San Francisco in the Gold Rush days.

PARK IN THE SHADE AND TRADE

visions

When you are eight years old, it is not difficult to transform yourself suddenly into an Indian scout and to see a procession of chiefs, with their brightly colored feathered headdresses, galloping across the horizon astride magnificent stallions.

Children are fired with imagination, just as they are filled with faith. The faith of a child is something so simple and so beautiful that many an adult, viewing it, finds himself crying a little, deep down inside, for his own lost childhood and the touching innocence that was once his.

Yet before God, all men are children, His children, and Faith is there to be accepted, if men will but take it as a gift. The Church has the answer, showing you how to live like a man, while still possessing the heart of a child . . . helping you to get the very most out of life. If you haven't been to church lately . . . why not go this Sunday?

Copyright 1960, Krister Adv. Service, Strasburg, Va.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Role of Universities

Research Is Key to Southwest Progress In the Challenging 60's

(This is first in a series of articles dealing with vital research programs in Southern and Southwestern universities that promise the master key for unlocking the region's vast treasures in the decade of the 1960's.)

ATLANTA, GA. — "I think research does mean a better south. It could mean a leading South." With those words Governor Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia, chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board, recently gave the Southern states a master key to progress in the challenging sixties.

Boosting Southern Income
Proof of the past effectiveness of research activities in the South is found in a look at the past two decades of research in the area. Research has provided 50 to 75 percent of the 250 percent increase in the per capita income in the South since 1939.

Basic research on long-chain polymers has resulted in the development of nylon, the manufacture of which is located almost exclusively in the South.

University research into the electrical behavior of solids resulted in the development of transistors, of which a single Southern firm now provides one-third of the nation's supply.

More than half of the nation's chemical plants have located south of the Mason-Dixon Line in the last few years—a fact noteworthy since the chemical industry is one of the most research-minded of all industries.

Into the Space Age

Research has already launched the South into the age of space.

Ceramic engineers at Georgia Tech have discovered that ground fused silica molded at room temperature makes a substance so hard that it can be used for rocket nose cones. Their discovery could be the basis for a hundred million dollar nationwide industry.

Students and faculty at the University of Maryland designed the delicate instrument payload carried in the rocket which put the first U. S. satellite in orbit. The success of "Project Farside," brought personal congratulations from President Eisenhower.

University of South Carolina research into the effect of atomic waste on plant and animal life in the Savannah River area has provided a stockpile of information available for use at any other site where an atomic installation is planned.

These and other examples of important research have been cited by the Southern Regional Education Board in its recent publication, "University Research—What It Means to the South."

There are three major sources of support for research in the South—government; industry and the universities. Here we are primarily concerned with basic research in the universities.

Universities, then, lead in the discovery of principles and processes which may be adapted to technological and economic purposes.

New Breakthroughs Needed

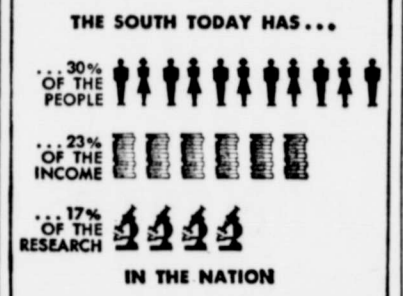

"Our region needs the basic research our universities produce," said Dr. Robert C. Anderson, director of the SREB. "Without fundamental knowledge, and new breakthroughs into the unknown, all the applied research of our industries will become stymied before long. Without the new scientific talent which our universities produce, our whole way of life would come to a standstill."

The South Lags in Research

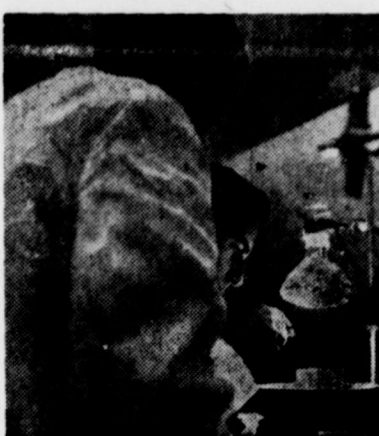

By 1960, the nation as a whole is spending over $10 billion annually on research and development.

Expenditures for organized research in the South's publicly-supported universities have risen from $23 million to $58 million in six years—from 8.5 percent to 12.6 percent of the educational and general budget. The national average is now 16 percent.

In spite of its recent advances, the South still lags behind the rest of the nation in amount of research provided. Though it holds 30 percent of the nation's population, it provides only 17 percent of the nation's research.

THE SOUTH'S SHARE OF the nation's population is still twice as large as its share in research expenditures. More important, the region's part of the national income is consistently greater than the per cent of funds spent for research.

THESE STUDENTS represent the young Southerners the late Gov. J. Melville Broughton of N. Carolina had in mind when he said about the South, "At long last we are beginning to substitute the research laboratory for the walling wall."

SCD Cooperators Preparing For Winter Cover Crops

"Runnels Soil Conservation District cooperators are now preparing seedbeds for winter cover crops," announced Arthur Egge-meyer, Chairman of the Board. He says that an estimated 20,000 acres of cover crop will be planted in the District this fall.

Some cooperators who plant cover crops each year are Neuman Smith, Hatchel, R. R. Merrill, Winters; F. O. Minzenmayer, Winters; L. B. Watkins, Wilmet and Norval Alexander, Crews.

"These cover crops will consist of winter peas, small grain and vetch," states James Glynn, technician with the local Soil Conservation Service. He says that cooperators are using these crops to protect the soil from wind and water erosion through the most critical period of the year. (Fall, winter and spring).

Glynn mentioned that these crops will add organic matter to the soil, increase water intake and build up soil fertility when managed properly.

Football Tickets Go On Sale Soon

All Blizzard football fans who held season reserved seats for the 1959 football season have option to purchase the same tickets again this year, but they must purchase them at the school office on August 24, 25 and 26 or they will be sold on the first come first served basis starting Monday, August 29 through September 2, 1960. Tickets will not be sold before August 29 except to those holding season tickets last year desiring the same seats.

Ticket prices as adopted by the District 7AA officials will be $1.00 for adult general admission, $5.00 for student general admission and $25 for a reserved seat if purchased prior to the games or $50 for a reserved seat if purchased at the gate the night of the game. Season tickets will again be sold as they were last year.

These reserved seat tickets are for all home games and the 1960 home schedule will include the following games: September 9, Anson; September 16, Brady; October 7, Colorado City, November 4, Cisco; November 11, Ballinger. The district has also ruled that all games will start at 7:30 p. m.

Reserved seats for Winters fans will again be on the east side of Blizzard Stadium between the 40 yard lines. All tickets may be purchased at the school business office and it will be impossible to sell or reserve tickets by telephone. School authorities urge home fans to purchase their reserve tickets since seats may be scarce due to the Winters Band and student section again seated on the east stands.

Home Town Talk—

Because the sonic boom will become more prevalent as training is stepped up and as aircraft become faster, SAC decided to go to the people and explain to them that there would be no damage or danger. No sonic boom pressure is strong enough to injure a person. SAC officers told the group, who were asked to return and inform the people of their areas.

So when you hear that sonic boom you can be assured that the danger comes not from the pressures created by fast-flying aircraft, but from a possible absence of aircraft which can fly fast enough to create the boom. Those big fast aircraft are presently the United States' "big stick," and possibly the only deterring force against a power-hungry commu-nistic bloc.

The reason most men succeed is that their wives won't let them fail.
