Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

During the past several days, since the beginning of school, we have heard many people make the suggestion that a city patrolman be stationed to direct traffic on North Main Street in the vicinity of the school during peak hours of school pedestrian traffic. Although there have been school zone signs posted in the area, there seems to be a need for controlled direction at the times when school students are going to and from school. Several have even made a suggestion that a group of mothers could form Traffic Patrols during rush hours, if it is impossible to station city patrolmen in the area.

Sounds like a good idea, and just might save a life or two.

There have been several inquiries regarding the publication of the school lunch menu this year: it will be published each week for the succeeding week. Because of the rush of events involved with the opening of school, it was not published for the first two weeks of school. However, Mrs. J. B. Whitlow, supervisor at the school cafeteria, said that it will be a regular weekly feature for the rest of the year.

Within the past few days a big 4-A school in the area attempted to lure away from the Winters schools the head athletic coach. Undoubtedly the move would have been "up" for the coach; probably higher salary, and an opportunity to advance in his field. The fact that the 4-A school dipped down into 2-A territory, and finally accepted a man from a 3-A school would seem to be proof that the move would have been a good one for the coach. However, there seems to have been a sense of obligation to the school that recently hired him, and to the boys with whom he has been working so hard the past several weeks. We like that, Coach L. G. Wilson, and feel the community appreciates your decision.

We've been trying to find someone who will do the picking of the winners of the football games this year, but there seems to be no one who will take the job. Had several who offered to do it, but after it was explained that they would stand a chance of being hung in effigy if they picked the wrong teams, or that by picking some teams they would be going against the predictions—or wishful thinking—of some of the most sports-minded exes, they decided not to take the chance. And some of them decided not to take the chance of being wrong sometimes. We don't mind being wrong sometimes—in fact, if we can correctly guess the outcome of just half the games, we would probably raise our right-wrong average one hundred percent.

So we'll walk out on the limb next week, and start with the games to be played on Sept. 17.

Our old friend Herb Love of the Shoshone, Idaho, Journal, says "It's come to such a state of affairs that a Democrat can't cuss the Republican platform without casting aspersions on the Democratic platform—and Republicans can't cuss the Democrat candidate and their promises without refuting some of their own candidates' campaign promises."

Borrowed: One woman to another, "Why don't you go to him and in a perfectly straightforward way lie about the whole thing?"

Winters Gins Have Ginned 156 Bales

Winters gins have begun to gin the 1960 cotton crop, with 156 bales finished by Wednesday morning. Cotton picking has barely begun, and the following weeks should see an increase in harvest activity.

According to one source, farmers could use a few more cotton pickers at the present time; however, the slight shortage has not yet reached anywhere near a critical stage. Pickers are being offered and paid $1.75 per hundred, delivered at the gin, in most instances. Some farmers have indicated that if the cotton picking cost goes beyond this amount, many growers will defoliate and strip.

Winters Blizzards Clobber Lakeview In Season Opener

The Winters High School Blizzards opened the 1960 football season Saturday night in Lakeview with an 18-0 win over the Lakeview Chiefs. After they got warmed up, the Blizzards swarmed all over the Lakeview squad and held them to only 5 first downs during the game.

The passing arm of Johnny Caskey was responsible for the first touchdown, and for the two successful conversion attempts. The junior quarterback also accounted for a run-over TD. Kenneth Crowe, Joel Butts and James Williams were under the point-making passes tossed by Caskey.

The first quarter was a stand-off, ending with both teams scoreless; however late in the second quarter, John Jackson, tackle, recovered Chief quarterback Hudson's fumble on the 37 with one and one-half minutes left in the first half. Caskey called on William Grissom, fullback, who made only four yards on a reverse play. Then from the 33 yard line, Caskey hit Joel Butts on the 20 for 13 yards, and the first down. After an incomplete pass to Butts, Caskey hit him with a straight shot in front of the goal posts, with only 53 seconds left. Again Caskey tossed, this time to Kenneth Crowe, who out-sprinted the Chief defenders, for the conversion and two more points.

Lakeview moved the ball to its own 38 on an 8 yard kickoff return. Richard Self, fullback, faked a pass and made 13 yards around right end for the Chiefs' second first down. On the next play Butts grabbed the ball intended for Mike Sanders, and dropped it for Winters on the 30. At halftime Big Blue led 8-0.

The Chiefs came back to play in the second half, and had a good chance to score when Caley, halfback, caught a pass from Caskey on the Blizzards' 39. Then the Blizzard line closed in, and threw quarterback Hudson for a 10 yard loss. He lost the ball at the sideline on a bootleg play around end.

In the fourth quarter, Hudson was replaced by Jim Havlik and drove the Chiefs to their own 47 before being forced to punt. The punt, however, was blocked by John Jackson and the Big Blue team quickly moved to the nine on runs by Grissom, Vernon Poe and Butts. Hudson came back in and threw a pass, after Lakeview defense held. However, his first attempt from a new spread formation cost his team a two point safety when linebacker Bruce Waggoner smothered him in the end zone.

Steve Grissom, who had a touchdown called back on him in the third period, took the kickoff and raced from his own 30 to the Lakeview 30. Caskey hit William Grissom at the sideline on a 20 yard pass. Butts carried two yards through the center of the line leaving eight yards for Caskey to cover around right end for the second TD. Caskey tossed to end James Williams for the two point conversion.

Vernon Poe was Winters' top ball carrier for 55 yards in 11 carries.

Winters Independent Schools opened last Thursday for the 1960-61 school year with 1051 students enrolled. This total is 33 less than the same day last year, but school officials expected 50 to 60 more students to enroll within the next week. Already this week, several more students had enrolled.

In the high school, first day enrollment was 298. For the elementary grades, 459 and 294 for the primary grades.

Waggoner won second place ribbon for the best pack class, and his pup, "Linda," won third in the female 6-12 months old class. Other places won were fourth, "Blondy," 6-12 months old male puppy class; fifth, "Yakima," 6-12 months old male puppy class; seventh, "Miller Haggan," 6-12 months old male; and ninth, "Mollie Bee," in the derby female class.

Waggoner also showed to first place in the coon hound class, 6-12 months old, "Betty," owned by Jim Hamner of Winters.

Waggoner said this was his last show, as he is getting rid of all his dogs.

Winters School Enrollment 1,051

Waggoner Dogs Won Many Places In Tarrant Show

W. D. Waggoner, whose Walker fox hounds have won many ribbons and trophies at dog shows during the past several months, took his dogs to the Tarrant County Fox-Wolf and Coon Hunters Association bench show Saturday, picked up a big trophy and several ribbons, and immediately gave his dogs away.

In a show of about 100 dogs, Waggoner showed the best female puppy in the show, "Little Sister," and won a big trophy. The same puppy won first place in the 6-12 months old class.

Waggoner won second place ribbon for the best pack class, and his pup, "Linda," won third in the female 6-12 months old class. Other places won were fourth, "Blondy," 6-12 months old male puppy class; fifth, "Yakima," 6-12 months old male puppy class; seventh, "Miller Haggan," 6-12 months old male; and ninth, "Mollie Bee," in the derby female class.

Winters Students May Be Protected By Insurance

Again this year, according to Winters School Superintendent J. B. Nevins, parents will be given an opportunity to sign up for insurance protecting their children.

Parents are being notified of the offer of accident insurance, and all coverages and protection. No member of the faculty, administration or school board receives any remuneration for the extra work and responsibility incurred in preparation of these insurance forms for the students, Supt. Nevins said.

The insurance will be carried by the Old Security Life Insurance Co., and first day for signing up will be Friday, Sept. 9. Deadline will be Friday, Sept. 16, Nevins said.

Policies cover accidents at school, or travel to and from the school, participating in any school sponsored and supervised activity.

Fresh from their 18-0 victory over Lakeview Saturday night, the Winters Blizzards Friday night take on a tough Anson Tiger team on Blizzard Field. This first home game of the season will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Blizzards elected tri-captains prior to the Lakeview game Saturday night. Representing the Big Blue team Friday night at the toss will be Tri-Captains William Grissom, John Jackson and James Williams.

With one game under their belts, the Winters High School footballers are being put through a tough training interval this week.

Anson, who ended up in the 6-AA cellar in '59, is expected to rebound, with about seven returning starters. They have a tough defensive lineup, led by Bobby Edwards, a hefty linebacker, and a 200-pound fullback. The team throws a lot, according to reports, working from a spread T formation on offense.

Coach Wilson's Blizzards will go into the game minus senior fullback Robert Marks, who is out of this game with a sprained ankle. Also, Tommy Webb, who has been on the bench with an eye injury for several days, probably will not see action in the Anson fray. However, the determination exhibited at the Lakeview game and this week in practice bears fruit to the thought that the Blizzards are out for a win over Anson.

Probable starters on offense will be Kenneth Crowe, LE; Donald Clanton, LT; Alvis Jackson, LG; Kerwin Knapp, C; Bruce Waggoner, RG; John Jackson, RT; James Williams, RE; Johnny Caskey, QB; Joel Butts, LH; Vernon Poe or Steve Grissom, RH; and William Grissom, FB.

Defensive lineup will probably read Williams and A. L. Mitchell, E; Eugene Mathis and John Jackson, T; William Grissom and Knapp, inside linebackers; Roger Stanford and Steve Grissom, outside linebackers; Caskey and Jerry Dunn, HB; and Tommy Young, safety.

Officers Elected For Junior High School Band

Robert R. Gans, director of Instrumental Music at Winters Public Schools, reports the largest membership ever to enroll for Junior High band. Sixty-one students had signed up for band and there is a possibility that others may register later.

Students elected as officers for the Junior High band are Mary Young, president; Ann Bean, vice president and Judy Matthews, secretary-treasurer.

The Junior High Band will perform at all in town football games. Librarians selected for the Senior High School Band were Sandra Cowan, Virginia Sullivan, Sherry Stanford and Pat Winton.

IN MIDLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bailey Jr. and son Jimmy Lewis spent the week end in Midland visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Blackman. Other visitors in the Blackman home were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy oe Blackman of Roswell, New Mexico.

Roger Babson Says

Presidential Candidates Are Of Best Age To Serve the Country Well

Babson Park, Mass. From my knowledge of the major candidates for President and Vice President, I believe all four are good men. I sincerely hope my opinion may be correct; but I may be wrong. I had many surprises when I ran for President in 1940 on the Prohibition Party ticket. Is Any Candidate Too Young? Mr. Kennedy is 43. Mr. Nixon is 47. The average age of Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy is about 45 years, and the average of Mr. Lodge and Mr. Johnson is 55 years. The average age of the four men is 50 years. Looking back on my life, I was at my prime and did my most important work when I was at an age which compares with the above averages. I not only had good ideas, but I had the energy and ambition to carry them out. I think that every reader of this column who has reached over seventy years of age will agree with my own experience. I suppose this age objection will votes. However, we may now forget platforms.

The real difference between the two candidates will be shown by the speeches they make during the coming two months. It now looks as if each will try to outdo the other in the "giveaway" goal. It seems to me this may be known as the great "giveaway" campaign where both the liberals and conservatives offer sugar-coated promises to win the great independent voters who may determine the election on November 8. I doubt if the religious question will be a real factor. The Florida vote will depend upon what the respective candidates promise to do with the Cuban situation.

Savings Versus Comforts
As I talk with many people, the consensus seems to be that those who own their homes and have savings accounts or investments—however small they may be—will vote the Republican ticket to protect the value of the dollar. On the other hand, those who do not own any home and have no savings—especially those who owe considerable amounts on installments for automobiles, furniture, etc., or even those who have large long-term home mortgages—will vote the Democratic ticket to depreciate the value of the dollar.

The most important question to me is how long this "gimmick" political competition can continue. Certainly this trend to the left I found in all countries while traveling about Europe. However, it certainly cannot last indefinitely, although I would not now predict whether World War III would hasten it or delay it. It may continue during the next two or three presidential campaigns, until all parties see that our country is reaching a dangerous economic precipice. The result may be the appointment of a dictator, or at least of a coalition government. Otherwise, we could be headed toward some form of Communism. My grandchildren feel that Russia may gradually move further to the right with each generation while the United States may go further to the left with each generation, until the United Nations becomes a forceful organization to remove the economic causes of war.

On The Atlantic Ocean. When readers see this column, I will be leaving New York City on the Cunard Steamship "Mauretania" to make my annual "check-up" abroad.

Previous Trips Seeking Information
Readers will remember that two years ago Mrs. Babson and I went to South Africa and reported on the unbelievable social conditions there. Cape Town is a beautiful city; but the segregation laws are terrible. My associate, Mr. George M. Rideout, visited the West Coast leading into Central Africa, and is not surprised at the revolution going on in the Belgian Congo. Last year we visited the Scandinavian countries and West Germany, East Germany, Poland, and Russia. Our reports on these have been published by this newspaper.

The world is ruled by feelings rather than by figures, and I have learned that it is impossible to know how people feel without mingling with them in their own country. I have been especially anxious to visit France, which is the controlling link between the East and the West. Spain is now of no consequence; England seems primarily interested in looking after itself; but France, under the dominant leadership of Europe's strongest man, Charles De Gaulle, can swing us all either to the left or to the right according to his exercise of foresight and courage, and by strength of the wealth of French foreign holdings.

West Berlin and Cuba
I have had a feeling, as readers know, that Khrushchev will forget West Berlin for the present, in the hope that the lush plum of Cuba will fall into his lap. Whether I am correct or mistaken in this thought will be ascertained by my talks with influential German people. I am also anxious to learn whether the so-called "West German Boom" has reached its peak. Now that American bankers are urging U. S. investors to send funds into Germany, I am suspicious. I want to learn whether the money which we send over is being used for constructive industrial development, or whether the Germans are now selling their stocks to us and using the funds to buy United States securities.

Manufacturers in the United States now suffering from German exports are anxious to know whether this foreign competition will become more intensive, or whether it will gradually decline. Germans with whom I expect to talk are already complaining about gradually increasing wage and other costs in Germany. This is very important from our standpoint, and I hope to bring back an impartial report thereon.

What About Belgium?
For nearly one hundred years, the Belgians have controlled the Congo and its rebellious province of Katanga. With the United Nations upholding the Lumumba, the people of Belgium are outraged, bitter, and angry. I am told they feel that they have been betrayed by their allies. They feel that the Lumumba regime in Leopold-ville is only a "front" for the Communists. Readers realize that the United States and Britain have joined with Russia—through the United Nations—in ordering Belgian troops out of the Congo. In this affair, President De Gaulle of France will be an important factor as he lived for many years in Elizabethtown, Africa. He probably knows the African situation better than any other leading statesman.

The Katanga province is now a source of abundant cheap copper. Doubtless the handling of labor there is rather ruthless, and the district is handicapped by its distance from the sea and transportation costs. There are two stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange which will be directly affected by what happens in Katanga. These are "Roan Antelope Mines" and the "Rhodesian Selection Trust." Before the Congo revolution, these were selling at 4 1/2 and 2 1/4 respectively. They have since fallen to around 3 and 1 1/2 respectively. Whoever ultimately controls the Congo, these mines must be kept operating. It seems absolutely impossible for the natives to carry on these great copper developments. To close them down would be suicidal to the Belgians must change and take a more constructive attitude, or else these mines will be operated by the Russians or by some appointee of the United Nations. This is another matter which I wish to learn about on my trip.

Social Security Has Been Serving America For 25 Years

Floyd B. Ellington, District Manager of the San Angelo Social Security office, noted today that social security has been serving America for 25 years. August 14 was the 25th birthday of the signing of the Social Security Act.

Ellington stated that social security means many things. It means vocational rehabilitation and old-age, survivors, and disability insurance. The Government insurance part of social security—the part called old-age and survivors insurance—has grown over the past quarter of a century until 14 million men, women and children are receiving monthly checks.

Unusual Animal To Be Exhibited At West Texas Fair

Cimarron, a 3,140-pound cross between a Buffalo and a Brahma, is to be a special exhibit feature of the Sept. 12-17 West Texas Fair. The 20-year-old animal, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis of Scottsdale, Ariz., will be on display on the Fair's midway. A small admission charge will be made.

Cimarron, billed as "the world's largest steer," stands six feet tall and 10 feet long. He was born near Amarillo, and was raised on the Circle D Ranch at Colony, Okla. The Davises acquired him when he was three years old and have shown him at 20 state and county fairs, rodeos and other exhibitions since he was 10. Cimarron's horns are six inches in diameter at the base. Known as a Brahma, Cimarron is the offspring of a Buffalo bull and Brahma cow. He eats five gallons of oats and a bale of hay each day—and has a weakness for cotton candy, Cokes, candied apples, and beer.

The huge animal can grow a Buffalo's coat to fend off blizzards and zero weather, and sweat glands inherited from his mother enable him to stand sizzling temperatures of 133 and up. He sheds his heavy coat in the summertime.

Nowadays, some wives think they are good cooks if they serve a meal they have thawed out all by themselves.

Every man has an equal chance to become greater than he is.

Investigations Revealing Some Fraud In Unemployment Compensation

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association Over 50,000 persons are drawing approximately one million dollars a week in unemployment compensation in Texas.

Investigations have disclosed fraudulent claims. Charges already have been filed in several Texas cities, and investigation is underway statewide.

"In view of the recent frauds disclosed by investigations in unemployment compensation claims," says Maurice Acers, Commissioner, "it is imperative that an already broad system of fraud detection and prevention be expanded and accelerated."

There are a number of ways TEC can catch the cheaters. And TEC is out after them now. One method is by "cross-matching." This involves checking a person's unemployment claims against his earnings.

Sometimes this isn't necessary. Some people who are drawing unemployment compensation and secretly working, will betray themselves by their nervousness when they report to the local TEC office.

In one instance a truck driver applied for unemployment compensation, then got another job. When he made his weekly trip to report to the employment office, he drove up in the truck of the company employing him and double-parked in front of the TEC office.

A TEC employe asked the man why he was driving this company's truck. "Because I'm working for the company," the driver said.

This man soon found himself in court.

There are some, says a veteran TEC employe, who take the attitude: "I've earned it. Now I want to collect it." In other words, after they have worked long enough and earned enough to qualify for unemployment compensation, they feel they're entitled to quit work and collect it.

That is not the way the program is set up under the law. Here, briefly, are some of the requirements:

- 1. You must have built up a certain amount of work credits during the 15 months preceding application, with an employer who hires four or more persons.
2. You must have lost your job through no fault of your own.
3. You must make application with TEC for another job.
4. You must be able and available to accept another suitable job.
5. You must visit your local TEC office once a week to report your availability for work, or if you have done any work, report your earnings.

For example, a woman unable to work because of pregnancy would not be eligible for unemployment compensation, even though employed by a concern participating in the program.

Conflicting opinions sometimes develop over what is another "suitable" job and who is "available" for work.

A typist who has been making $200 a month may consider a salary of $185 unsuitable. But if that is the going rate for that work in that area, TEC may decide it's suitable enough and deny unemployment compensation.

Others drawing unemployment benefits may be "available" in body only. When directed by TEC to apply for a certain job, they'll do it, but will appear so dull and uninterested that prospective employers won't hire them.

Most important to TEC is throwing a barricade in the paths of those people who just plain want to get some of the money just because it's there.

TEC also tries to alert employers to their role in halting fraud. When a former employe applies for benefits, a copy of his application is sent to the employer. If the employe quit or was fired for incompetence, it is the employer's duty to inform TEC at once.

TEC warns that if you're not willing to work at a suitable job, you cannot collect unemployment insurance. Furthermore, you cannot work, earn a salary and collect unemployment insurance at the same time.

Invariably some people try to get around TEC rules. Such persons cause trouble for their employers, who have to pay more taxes; trouble for TEC, which now is on the lookout for the chiselers; and trouble for themselves, because they are laying themselves wide open for suits for fraudulent claims.

Taken individually, the collection by some person of from $7 to $28 a week, to which he is not entitled, may seem like peanuts. But any unchecked fraud, viewed in the light of the whole massive unemployment compensation program in Texas, could multiply itself into a million-dollar headache.

Last year $51,376,076 was paid out in Texas in unemployment benefits. This was more than was taken in in unemployment taxes from employers. Fortunately for TEC, the program has, over a period of years, built up a substantial trust fund—$255,534,551 to be exact—against bad periods.

But this fund, designed as a cushion against depression-type breadlines, can serve its purpose only if it is not abused. It is meant as insurance, TEC officials explain, not as a dole, and not to pay for vacations for those who are tired of working.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Department of Public Safety celebrated its 25th birthday this month. Col. Homer Garrison Jr. has been director for 22 years. The highway patrol has grown from 140 to 773 men, but is still far short of the 2,500 estimated need. Personal incomes of Texans rose five per cent last year, bringing the annual per capita income for the State up to $1,908. Some 700 persons from 100 Texas counties will attend the Governor's Conference on Aging, in Austin, on Sept. 7-8. Delegates will draft recommendations for the White House Conference on Aging.

Summer Session Enmeshed In Politics

By Congressman O. C. Fisher The 2nd session of the 86th Congress ended last Thursday, following a torrid 20-day post-convention meet that was deeply enmeshed in politics.

Perhaps the most important clash was over the medical care for the aged issue. Before the conventions the House had passed such a bill, but based upon a voluntary Federal-State arrangement, with both participating, but not to be financed from Social Security. (Presently the Social Security tax is 6 per cent of payrolls, to be eventually increased to 9 percent under existing law).

In the Senate Senator John Kennedy plugged for a compulsory medical aid program for the aged, to be financed by an increase in social security taxes. Opponents argued the present tax is extremely high and is hardly enough to pay for the ever-increasing costs for social security benefits. Vice President Nixon favored a voluntary Federal-State plan something like the House version but with more coverage, not to be financed from Social Security.

The voluntary approach prevailed in the Senate, and the bill was sent to the White House. Politically, Kennedy announced he would "take this issue to the people in November."

Another issue coming out of the session deals with proposed increases in the minimum wage. The House had approved a watered-down bill, raising the minimum from $1.00 to $1.15, with a million more workers to be covered. Senator Kennedy, supported by the CIO, plugged hard for an increase to $1.25 with an additional 4 million to be covered. In conference trying to work out a compromise, Kennedy insisted on his version—and so no bill was enacted. Again the Democratic nominee said he would "take this issue to the people in November."

Thus, apparently two major issues developed from the 20-day skirmish.

Actually, the real hero of the short session turned out to be the Chairman of the House Rules Committee—Rep. Howard Smith of Va. He succeeded in bottling up and killing a mammoth Federal aid to education bill and a gigantic election-year housing bonanza measure, the two costing an estimated $4 billion, initially, and if enacted would wipe out any chance for a balanced budget next year without an increase in taxes.

As a result of Smith's heroic action he has become something of a nemesis of the free-spending liberals. Bolstered by a plank in the Democratic platform calling for the emasculation of the Rules Committee, the radical-liberals have declared war on economy-minded Smith and his committee. That issue will be fought out when the next Congress convenes in January.

Texas Residents May Obtain Proof of Age From Census Bureau

Last year, 10,610 residents of Texas turned to the U. S. Bureau of the Census for help in proving they were born. These persons were among an estimated 30 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birth. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only source of this information for most of these 30 million people.

Proof of age or birth is needed today to collect social security and other retirement benefits. It is needed to obtain passports. It is needed to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements. It is needed for some forms of insurance.

Since 1920, the Census Bureau has provided more than three and one-half million persons with copies of their Census records on age, place of birth, citizenship, or kinship. Persons seeking such records of facts about themselves should write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburgh, Kansas, for a Census Records Search Application Form. A fee of $3.00 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1.00 each. An expedited search costs $4.00. Expedited searches are usually completed within a few days while the routine $3.00 search may take up to 30 days, depending upon the backlog of requests and the ease or difficulty in locating the information.

The personal information in the records of the 1900 and later Censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates or, for a proper purpose, a legal representative such as guardian or administrator of an estate. Information regarding a child who has not reached legal age may be obtained upon the written request of either parents.

Let's Strengthen All Reserves

Many have more money coming in now than at any other season. It is a good time to build a reserve in the bank for months when demands for taxes and unexpected expenses may leave little for current needs.

In military strategy, reserves are built up when there is opportunity. The same plan is also good business strategy. You will be prepared for anything that may come, if you use today's opportunity to improve your financial position. With a reserve in the bank you have cash which may be put to any use.

New accounts are especially invited at this time of the year. This is a bank for everyone. You will find understanding, dependable service here.

Big Radio-Tv Plans For Texas Football Fans This Fall

Texas, accustomed to good radio and TV coverage of college football will get better coverage than ever this season according to an announcement from the Humble Company, sponsor of broadcasts for the last 27 years.

In fact, the announcement said, most of Texas will be able to hear any Southwest Conference game or see any NCAA telecast being broadcast each Saturday.

More than 200 Texas radio and TV stations will be used to cover urban and rural areas in hundreds of cities and towns in the state.

During the season, coverage will include radio broadcasts of all Southwest Conference games, games played by Texas Western College, a weekly videotaped Southwest Conference Game of the Week on 30 television stations, and the 13 NCAA live telecasts. Humble will be a co-sponsor of the NCAA telecasts.

In addition, Humble will sponsor radio and video coverage of the 14 play-off AAA and AAAA high school football games in December.

New in the radio broadcasts this year will be a series of recorded interviews with people connected with the game. They will discuss interesting sidelights and behind-scenes activities.

The popular Game of the Week, featuring Kern Tips, will be shown each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in most areas of Texas. Games will be selected by the Conference, videotaped, edited, and then shown on the big network the next day.

The NCAA games will start with a telecast of the Georgia-Alabama game on September 17. Southwest Conference teams appearing in these live telecasts include Texas, Texas A and M, and Arkansas.

Recently the oil company's 23-man announcing staff attended a football seminar held in Houston. Conducting were Tips, who heads the staff, and Coach Jess Neely of Rice University. They discussed types of play and formations likely to be seen this season, rule changes made since last season, and football broadcasting practices.

This year the announcers will travel thousands of miles to bring southwest football fans factual and interesting broadcasts from 41 stadiums in 17 states. And fans seem to appreciate this, for surveys have shown that about two million people see or hear one of these college games each week.

So, when the season starts September 17, football fans in Texas will know—if they cannot go to the games—Humble will bring the games to them.

Better Hog Prices Are Forecast

The price outlook for hogs for the next few months is considerably brighter. John McHaney, extension economist, says that prices received by farmers in the last half of 1960 will be higher than those received in the last half of 1959. He says they will not, however, reach the peak prices of 1958, and the usual fall price decline can be expected.

McHaney explains this forecasted price rise by pointing out that the 1960 spring pig crop was down 16 percent from the 1959 spring crop. This decrease was brought about mainly because fewer sows farrowed and fewer pigs were produced per sow.

Spring prices in 1961 will be largely determined by the size of the 1960 fall crop. McHaney continues. According to the present crop forecast, the 1960 fall crop should be smaller than the 1959 crop, thus the prices received in the spring of 1961 should be higher than those received this year.

Second Annual Drasco Homecoming Attended By Large Group On Labor Day

Second annual homecoming of the Drasco community which was held at the Abilene State Park on Labor Day was attended by a large group. Twenty-two towns were represented covering a distance of over 400 miles.

Below we are printing a brief history of the community which was written by the president of the homecoming organization, Mrs. P. F. Lail.

"Drasco is a small community, located on the County line of Taylor and Runnels Counties. When the Community was first founded in the early 1900's, it was known as the County Line school. Later, on the name had to be changed, as there was another community in Runnels County by the same name. The new name was Drasco. "There were no roads at that time, so a local rancher plowed a furrow from the Bluff Creek Cemetery to Winters, a distance of 15 miles.

"The first marked grave in the cemetery was dated in 1901. Old settlers believe that the little grave was a one year old boy, that died while making the journey over the Butterfield Trail. Later, his parents returned and placed a monument over his little grave. This cemetery was centrally located, and provided free burial ground, not only for Drasco, but the neighboring communities of Shep and Moro. Today it is known to be on the southern corners of the Lail and Shaffer ranches.

"As the community of Drasco grew, fences were built, farmers came in and began plowing up the grass land, where the cattle had roamed from the Bluff Creek Cemetery to Winters. A one room school house was built in either the latter part of the eighteen hundreds or the early days of the 1900s. Mrs. Tom Spencer, of Comanche displayed photographs of the school building at the homecoming. She related of her first school days, in 1907.

"A Baptist Church was soon organized, with but a handful of members. The last charter member, Mrs. Sarah Hardy was laid to rest beside her husband in the Bluff Creek Cemetery. Mr. Hardy preceded her 57 years ago.

"Several of the Drasco stores have burned. During Drasco's most thriving years, 2 stores were in operation. The school

Famous Clown To Appear At West Texas Fair 6 Days

Emmett Kelly, the most famous clown in the world, will appear at the 1960 West Texas Fair for its entire run of six days, September 12 through 17, it has been announced by John Womble, President of the Fair.

Kelly, whose sad-faced character, "Willy," is known by young and old alike throughout the world will sadly saunter up and down the Fair midway each day and, in addition, will be seen at the early show on the Free Midway shows stage each night.

The star clown with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey

Circus for fifteen years, Kelly played to a combined audience of over fifty million people in 175 cities annually. He has more recently been the star of two major television successes, the "General Electric Theater" and the "Annual Circus Christmas Party," with a cumulative audience of over 70 million.

He was the subject for a best-selling book, "Clown," which at present is in its fourth edition. His story has also been made into a $2,000,000 motion picture, starring Henry Fonda, which will be seen in theatres throughout the world.

He was recently saluted on Edward R. Murrow's "Person to Person" television program, and will soon be seen as the star of a new television series called "The Clown."

Emmett Kelly joins a glittering list of entertainment stars already announced for appearance at the West Texas Fair, including the "Dukes of Dixieland," Anita Bryant, and the Half Brothers.

The Free Midway Shows will take place twice each night at the West Texas Fair, to be held September 12-17 at Abilene's Exposition Center.

They all offer so many flavors and colors that what you want is usually in short supply, meaning out.

By VERN SANFORD

Unique is a fairly common phrase in Texas. But even in unique Texas, it's the most fitting word to describe Devil's River in West Texas.

Here is a most unusual river, from the very moment it emerges as a fast-running stream in Val Verde County, until it pours its crystal-clear waters into Devil's River Lake, some meandering thirty miles away.

It's a genuine thrill to follow the swift-moving waters as Devil's River winds through the beautiful mountainous country, ascending at the rate of some seven feet per mile.

Your first thought is — "This couldn't be West Texas. It's more like Colorado or Montana."

True, there are no mountain trout in Devil's River. But there are plenty of catfish, perch galore, and a bountiful supply of four-pound-plus bass.

Most Texans aren't used to fishing waters of this type. In fact, they will find it difficult at first. But when they catch on—watch out.

Fly fishermen will have a run for their money, as the perch scramble for their hackles and hooks. Spin fishermen also find the perch eager for their small diving lures, Abu spinners and midget spoons.

Catfish are reputed to be abundant in these waters, but our angling endeavors attracted none except in the lakes below the river.

But—the big bass—they are the tricky ones. These lunkers stay in well-protected holes, between or close by rocks and underwater ledges.

Biggest problem for the fisherman is that the rippleless water is so clear that the fish can see the angler readily — and from great distances. When they spot you they scatter quickly.

Actually, you have to stalk your game here, more like a hunter than a fisherman. You'll do a lot of wading, too. You won't necessarily need waders, as you won't be wading in very deep water, and you'll have plenty of trudging around to do. But you will need rubber-soled shoes that will give you a good footing on the smooth rocks and in the swift current.

We found our inexpensive Dura-Hyde, low-cut shoes ideal for the occasion. They are made of a synthetic material, instead of leather, and have heavily ribbed rubber soles. They took the rocks without scuffing or bruising the feet and held a firm grip wherever the foot was planted. Frankly, we were surprised to discover that they were not harmed one bit by the continuous soaking.

Pardon the digression, but shoes in a place like this are mighty important.

Now, let's get back to those bass.

Because of the clear water the fisherman can spot the deep holes in the water quite readily, as he walks along the bank. But, by the time you find the deep holes where the fish abound, you've spooked the fish. So, of necessity, you must know the river.

Actually, one should survey the river for a few hours before fishing, to locate the lunker holes. Then do your fishing by means of long-distance casting.

That's where the heavy lure comes in handy. You need a heavy lure that can give you the long cast.

Devil's River bass seem to prefer top-water lures above all else. Also, they have their preference as to the kind of top-water attraction.

Our host for the trip, Stanton Bundy, publisher of the Devil's River News at Sonora, uses one top-water lure and only one. It has proved to be the most successful lure in this water, year in and year out, for Stanton and his fishing buddies.

Oh, yes, it's the Bass-Oreno. South Bend makes it. The color of the lure didn't seem to make much difference. However, the green and black, frog-colored lure, seemed to have a slight edge over all others. Second choice was the red and white.

As he uses only one lure, Stanton doesn't take along any tackle box.

To me, this was unique in itself, for seldom have I seen anglers so sold on one lure that they will use it and no other kind or brand. As one who likes to experiment, I couldn't conform to this practice. But I'll admit it catches the big ones for them.

These boys know their waters, though, and they are dead right about the Bass-Oreno for the big bass, at least for the week-end we were there. Not one single lunker was caught on anything but a Bass-Oreno during the two days of fishing, although other good lures took more than enough small bass and perch.

This points up the importance of listening to the lure or bait recommendations of the local anglers when you're away from home on a fishing trip. You may be a good fisherman. You may know what to do in your favorite fishing waters. But the same kind of fish don't always react the same in different waters.

Personally I always take along a dozen or so lures—especially my favorites. But I also try to ask for suggestions when I get to my fishing destination.

I'll grant you that once in a while some overstocked fishing camp operator will try to sell you lures that probably never have taken fish, but it's worth the chance to ask anyway. That is, if you want to land anything but the young and foolish.

The Bundys — Stanton and "Mac"—proved to us not only that one lure can and will get the job done . . . but they also proved to us that Devil's River, out of Sonora, Texas, is a lunker bass fisherman's paradise.

BRADSHAW NEWS

"Prayer is a way of life; a steady flow of sustaining power." — Evelyn Lucks.

Funeral rites were held for Mrs. S. S. (grandma) Hardy, 99, of Winters Wednesday afternoon of last week at the Spill Memorial Chapel, Rev. Virgil James, assisted by Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, officiated. Burial was in the Bluff Creek Cemetery. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Hudson of Winters; two sons, John of Winters and Andrew of Kerman, California; and 100 grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were grandsons Tom and Lloyd Hardy, Ray and Miles Cunningham, Malcolm Hardy and John Lytle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Denton, Karwin and Rhonda of route 1 Winters were visitors Sunday morning at the Church of Christ services.

At the Moro Baptist church Sunday morning were Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Reid and Sherry of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hicks of Abilene at the night services.

Marc Knox of Austin was at the morning services at the Drasco Methodist church.

Man's Hope for Peace is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson. Meditation: "Some times the craftsmen who built the cathedrals of ancient times were forced to give up their religious occupations to spend their time in waging war. Skilled masons spent their days in building forts and castles instead of lifting up choirs and chapels. Master sculptors were set to fashioning the crude stone balls that were used in their primitive cannons while their carvings of saints and symbols were left neglected.

What a waste of talent! Even today the most brilliant scientists of the world are devoting their talents to inventing more deadly atom bombs, ballistic missiles, jet fighter planes and other fiendish weapons of destruction. Thousands of years ago Isaiah had a vision of the day when men would turn their weapons of war into instruments for peace. His promise cannot be fulfilled unless men devote God's great gifts to living together in peace and brotherhood."

Special days next week are for Bobby Knight and Wanda Joyce West the 11th; Dallas Graham, Alice Crow Angeley, Herman Adams and Ken McMillan the 12th; Mrs. C. M. Crockett, Douglas Williams and Mrs. Allen Sikes the 13th; Mrs. Elmo Mayhew the 14th; Finis Bradshaw, Ray Adams, Joe Parris and a wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. "Circus of Horrors"

When you see American International's "Circus of Horrors" you will see not only a gripping motion picture but a real circus as well. Actual performances on the high wire trapeze, performing animals, "haute escole" horses, clowns, pageants—all of these are the REAL thing and not just a film, for the production went to the site of Bill Smart's Circus, outside London in Datchet, for filming the actual performances. The Smart Circus is regarded as one of the best in all of Europe. Many of the best aerialists in the world have worked with the European circuses and every year recruits from these groups find their way into our American "Big Top" circus. It is a custom of John Ringling North, for instance, to tour the continent annually looking for fresh material for his "Greatest Show on Earth" and often he finds outstanding performers in little out of the way troupes. For centuries, such groups have travelled about Europe entertaining. Usually the small circus group is a family affair, and is handed down from generation to generation, with sometimes three generations—grandfather, father and son carrying on the tradition.

The circus selected by producers Julian Wintle and Leslie Parkyn is still operating in tents under the "Big Top" and colorful as every child remembers . . . animals and clowns, beauty and the beasts, death-defying aerial acts and glamorous pageantry are all here, side by side. Starred are Anton Diffring, Erik Remberg and Yvonne Monlaur. "Circus of Horrors" opens Friday and Saturday at the State

Montgomery Clift and Lee Remick, romantic twosome of Elia Kazan's powerful CinemaScope, Color presentation of "Wild River," a Twentieth Century-Fox release. This explosive story of the beginnings of the rugged TVA project opens Sunday at the State Theatre. Elissa, sensational trapeze artist by this time, demands top billing which she has been promised. But she discovers Boethe has another "light of love" in the person of Melina, billed as "Helen of Troy." From Left: Yvonne Roman as Melina, Anton Diffring as Dr. Goethe, Erika Remberg as Elissa.

Frank Sinatra and Italy's beautiful Gina Lollobrigida, in her first Hollywood-made picture, form the exciting romantic combination of "Never So Few," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film version of Tom Chalmers' best-seller.

Also playing leading roles in the CinemaScope and color film are Peter Lawford, Steve McQueen, Richard Johnson, Paul Henreid, Brian Donlevy and Dean Jones. Telling the story of an American Captain in command of 600 Kachin guerillas assigned to harass 40,000 Japanese troops in North Burma during World War I, the story combines a vivid drama of fighting courage with a behind-the-lines love story.

An MGM location unit spent four months and travelled 27,000 miles to film the jungle sequences of the picture in Burma, Thailand and Ceylon.

"Never So Few" was produced by Edmund Grainger. John Sturges directed from a screen play by Millard Kaufman. "Never So Few" opens Sunday only at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

"Wild River"

"Wild River," Elia Kazan's explosive CinemaScope, De Luxe Color production for Twentieth Century-Fox of the clash between the proud people of Tennessee and a federal agent ordered to clear them from their ancestral homes to make way for the mighty TVA project, will have its local premiere Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre.

Starring beautiful Lee Remick, as a gentle country girl, and Montgomery Clift as the government agent assigned to move Jo Van Fleet, who is cast as Miss Remick's grandmother and the last holdout in the path of the dam, the Paul Osborne script, taken from a best selling novel by famed writer, William Bradford Huie, combines action and romance with a true story taken from one of the harshest cultural clashes in America's recent history.

The film was made entirely on location in Cleveland, Tennessee. That is producer-director Kazan's working . . . filming the story where it happened. He made a movie about stevedores and filmed it right on the New Jersey docks. The film was "On the Waterfront," awarded the Oscar for the Best Picture of its year. Marlon Brando, Eva Marie Saint, and director Kazan also received Oscars for this film.

"Stars in My Crown"

"Stars in My Crown," M-G-M attraction at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre Saturday only, is a tenderly-unfolded heartwarming story of a small Southern settlement at the close of the Civil War and a two-fisted preacher who leads the way in making his community a better place to live in.

Joel McCrea enacts Josiah Gray, ex-cavalryman who comes to the little village of Walesburg, inspires the community to build its first church, marries the pretty organist, Harriet, and becomes a second father to their little ward, John. The parson's steadfast courage and honesty make themselves felt on almost every member of the village and he even wins the iconoclastic Doc Harris over to his side when he saves the life of the latter's fiancée, Faith, after all the doctor's medical knowledge has failed. Only one man proves stubborn in his resistance to Josiah's precepts of honor and humility. He is Lon Backett, the town's richest man, who tries to exert his own authority over that of the law, but who in the picture's stirring climax, is forced to bow to the stronger will of the indomitable preacher.

Although "Stars in My Crown" has its share of rugged action, it is the atmospheric details of a small growing village, the homespun humor and the vivid naturalness of characterization which give the picture its warmth and color. There is the glowing sequence, for instance, in which the experienced Uncle Prill and the neophyte John go fishing, or the uproariously funny Medicine Show scenes, or the episode in which Doc Harris removes a fish hook from a young victim, or that in which Josiah back the town bully into a pool of mud. Then there are the various moments in which old-fashioned ballads and folk tunes of the period are sung in choral groups, an authentic as well as charmingly melodic touch.

Industrial Commission Votes To Stay Out of Politics, Inviting Industries

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

A family trying to get all slicked up to make a good impression on important company can't take time out for a domestic squabble.

On this premise, the Texas Industrial Commission, whose job is to lure new industry to Texas, voted to steer clear of political hassles and concentrate on putting the best foot forward.

Vote on this decision was 5-to-1. Voting no was Al H. Chesser, railroad brotherhood representative, who has urged the Commission to sponsor a legislative program including repeal of the state "right to work" law.

"Our job is to sell Texas," said E. B. Germany, Commission chairman. He said he felt the Commission would be hampered in doing so if it got involved in controversial legislation.

Reviewing two years' progress, Germany reported that 475 new plants had located in Texas since the TIC was formed in March, 1958. Plans have been announced, he said, for 375 others in 99 counties, and 492 plants have expanded in the past two years.

For the future, Walter Dickerson, TIC executive director, said 136 factory managements are considering a move to Texas. A number of these, he said, would make products for which Texans now spend $2,500,000,000 out-of-state.

HANDS OFF HOUSTON

As a long believer of local control for local matters, Gov. Price Danieles said he would not intervene in affairs of the Houston Public School system.

For weeks Houston schools have been in a squeeze between a federal court order to begin gradual integration and a state law which says it will lose state support if it dies.

As a last resort, the Houston School Board asked Governor Danieles to "interpose" in its behalf. Under the theory of interposition, the state has, under the Tenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, the right to interpose against any federal act by which it believes the federal government is exceeding its constitutional powers.

Daniel pointed out that this course had been tried without success in other states. Expressing confidence in the Houston board and its attorneys, Daniel said, "The Texas policy of local operation and control of public schools is far better than an attempted control by the governor or state."

TAX BITES UNCLE SAM

It was a sort of man-bites-dog story when the Attorney General's Department ruled the federal government would have to pay a $400,000 state inheritance tax to Texas.

In her will Mrs. Susan Vaughan Clayton made a bequest to "the United States of America, to be used for the retirement of the national debt." Mrs. Clayton was the widow of the late Will Clayton of Anderson, Clayton and Co.

A federal attorney proposed keeping the money in a special account in Texas since bequests to Texas and its citizens are exempt from the inheritance tax. But the AG ruling said other states would benefit just as much as Texans from national debt retirement. In effect: The federal treasury will have to take the bitter with the sweet.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Hottest rivalries between neighboring Texas towns used to center on who would have the courthouse. Nowadays it's usually over who has the best high school football team.

But two Central Texas towns, San Marcos and New Braunfels, are having a lively contest over the naming of a park to be built between the two cities.

State Parks Board, back in July, designated it as "San Marcos State Park." Civic-spirited San Marcos had raised $2,500 for park equipment with the request that it be named after their town.

New Braunfels folk raised a storm. They claimed it would be nearer their town, that their county would have to maintain a road to it, etc.

Recognizing the touchiness of the situation, the State Parks Board says it will reconsider the whole thing at its October meeting. Both sides are to be given a chance to present their views.

PISTOL-TOTIN' CURB URGED Legislation to close the loopholes in present state law governing sale and possession of pistols may be offered in the next session.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the law requiring the presentation of a certificate of good character before buying a pistol is not enforceable.

In 1958, the opinion pointed out, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled that this part of the law was unconstitutional because the caption of the bill passed by the Legislature did not sufficiently explain what was in the bill.

Local peace officers were quick to call for corrective legislation. Lawmen feel there should be curbs on who can buy concealable weapons and records of the purchases so the police can check on who made them.

OLD AGE ROLLS DWINDLE Though the number of oldsters in the state is increasing, the number receiving state old age assistance checks is declining and is expected to drop still more.

This conclusion was contained in the report of a subcommittee to the state Conference on Aging. Drop in the state pension rolls was attributed to more Social Security benefits, more company retirement plans, more oldsters working or receiving other support.

AUTO INSPECTIONS BEGIN Period for having official auto safety inspections made in Texas begins this month.

Deadline for getting a new inspection sticker on your windshield is not until next April 15, but with 4,500,000 vehicles to be checked, lines will be long in the final weeks.

Cost of an inspection is $1 plus any needed repair for motoring safety. Average cost to each vehicle owner, including the repairs, was $2 last year. Commission on Higher Educa-

State Fair of Texas To Honor Senior Citizens Oct. 10

Senior citizens of the state will be honored on Monday, Oct. 10, at the 1960 State Fair of Texas in keeping with the Fair's celebration of its 75th anniversary year, it has been announced.

The day has been designated as Jubilee Day and Golden Age Day at the Diamond Jubilee Exposition.

Jubilee Day will especially honor those individuals who attended one of the first five fairs, 1886-1890. "Jubilee Day has been designated as a special day to mark the State Fair's 75th anniversary year," said James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager. "We feel that it is appropriate on this day, which we also are designating as Golden Age Day, to pay tribute to our senior citizens in general, and in particular to honor those people who attended one of the great early-day fairs during the first five years of the State Fair's existence 1886-1890."

There will be a program in the Hall of State Auditorium on the morning of Oct. 10 at which State Fair President and Dallas Mayor R. L. Thornton Sr. and several other prominent senior citizens will speak. Mayor Thornton recently celebrated his 80th birthday. The program will pay special tribute to the visitors to the first five state fairs.

On Golden Age Day, all persons 65 years of age or older will be guests of the Fair and will be admitted free to the fairgrounds. A special entertainment program featuring a number of the Golden Age groups will be presented that afternoon.

The Cotton Bowl will be the scene of a big free show that night, starring Nelson Eddy and Gale Sherwood. Eddy will be remembered as the handsome, blond singing star in numerous movies such as "Naughty Marietta," "New Moon," "Maytime" and "Sweethearts," and others in which he played opposite Jeannett MacDonald. The entertainment part of the program will be followed by fireworks.

The State Fair has requested that the names and addresses of persons who attended one of the first five fairs 1886-1890 be sent to the Fair so that invitations for Jubilee Day can be extended.

New Brochure For School Children To Help Parents

Thousands of Texas school children are starting to school for the first time this year with some timely assistance from the Texas State Teachers Association.

More than 125,000 copies of a new brochure designed to help parents of new school children have been ordered from TSTA by local school systems. An estimated 262,000 new students will be enrolled in the state's public schools this year.

The publication, "To Help the Child—and Parents Too!", advises parents about legal requirements concerning school enrollment and attendance, the type of information the school needs, tips for preparing the child for school and helping him to make the most out of it.

Parents are advised, also, about such things as: how teachers can assist the child and parent, giving the school a change of address, sending written excuses for absence or inability to take physical exercise, and many other items.

The brochure was made available to all schools this year for the first time.
