HOME TOWN

Talk

B. C. THOMAS

There is prospect of weather just around the corner although we've had a few for two past weeks. The peddlers and out-of-town men are beginning to knock on doors and ring bells all over the whole area. Fact of distance doesn't seem to bother them—they'll cover path for miles if any hope of getting to the pitch at the other end. Presence seems to create a for the law enforcements each year, when they begins to warm up them to get about. Accidents to police departments, these peddlers and the records—and many times trying to sell something front behind which some side while they look over the "case" a job, before being caught and committing an act of robbery.

For own protection, it would pay for people who have the doorbell for some of the peddlers to notify the police presence in the community. If the "salesman" is legitimate, he will not mind answering the door. If not, then the sooner the peddler is uncovered the better.

As to these itinerant door-to-door peddlers, they must have permission from the city to ply their trade in the city limits. This permission is granted after a set of questions and the applicant is interviewed. Again, if they're legitimate, they won't mind undergoing an investigation and paying in order to do business.

The investigation is for the protection of the public against peddlers, and the fee paid is a token offset for the business man in town who keeps the town going.

Not an indictment against out-of-town legitimate and service people who customers here—however, spent with out-of-town peddlers right on rolling, never. But it is a warning that many door-knockers out the public for all they and then pull stakes never to return again. So the city is to at least notify their presence in the city. In other words, know you're dealing with—it'll be a little food for thought.

Sanoga News says this story: A man lived with his family in public housing unit. He had public schools and part-time free lunch program. He retained his National Guard and the Army and upon discharge he enrolled in the university, working part-time at the State Capitol to supplement his GI educational check.

He married a health nurse and bought a house on an FHA loan, then obtained Small Business Loan to start a business.

He was born in the City of Winters. He bought a small ranch and aid of the Veteran's program and obtained money from the government. He put part of his land in a Bank and payments off his ranch. His father lives on the ranch very close to their Social Security.

He wrote his Congressman to protest these excessive expenditures and high taxes. I believe in individualism. I think I should stand on their own feet. I demand a return to the States Rights.

Two weeks ago we read a little episode about one of our citizens who got some mixed up during a visit to Fort Worth and Dallas, some of his clothes in Fort Worth, Herb Love of the Idaho, Journal, where he worked for a while some time ago. He turned out to be a "went to Fort Worth" and a suit of clothes and a suit of clothes left his suitcase in his suit in Fort Worth. He said that "we probably did it wrong or missed somewhere. Surely some sort of a law against it (continued on last page) of the instructors and members of the training class are shown with the special rescue truck which will be on standby duty for disaster relief anywhere in the state.

W. D. Waggoner Attended Rescue Training School

W. D. Waggoner, Winters water superintendent and member of the Volunteer Fire Department, returned Saturday from Austin where he had attended the Texas Rescue Training School, sponsored by the Engineering Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College.

Waggoner was a member of a 13-man class in Heavy Duty Rescue, taking instruction from Feb. 13 to 18. The course is tied in with Civil Defense and Disaster Relief.

The Winters fireman was one of six men from Texas who attended the school. Classes, which lasted for six days, were filled with 10 hours of study and actual practice in rescue work. Waggoner said that in simulated rescue operations, no dummies were used, that live people played casualty victims. Much of the training was in specially built and wrecked buildings prepared for the course, and in some cases smoke was used to simulate gas-filled areas.

Waggoner said he will try to teach a class in the Winters Fire Department, and also try to arrange classes of persons other than members of the department, because, as he put it, "If there is a disaster locally, the firemen will be busy, and will need trained assistance."

Included in the course were Orientation of combined rescue operations, squad organization, uses of tools for rescue squads, handling of rope and wire cable, fire control and extinguishment, care and use of gas masks, handling of casualties, reconnaissance of and location of casualties, rescue from heights and basements, shoring, bracing and breaching walls, use of lifting devices, first aid, artificial respiration, and lashing and pegging.

As a graduate of the school, Waggoner becomes a volunteer member of a state-wide disaster rescue team, which will be dispatched to any point in the state where help is needed. The squad to which he is voluntarily assigned has a specially built rescue truck, stationed in Houston, which, in case of emergency, can be flown immediately to any point in the state or area. He said that the emergency truck can be loaded aboard a special aircraft and be airborne within seven minutes after a call goes in about a disaster. Rescue team personnel also will be flown to scenes of disaster, he pointed out.

Waggoner has expressed thanks to the City of Winters for making it possible for him to attend this special rescue course.

Resolution of Respect Honors Late Dr. Maddox

Wingate Basketball Team Wins First In Conference Play

The Wingate basketball team wound up the season last Monday night by defeating Miles 54-37. The Pirates compiled an outstanding 29-2 record. The two defeats were by a total of three points.

Besides winning a first place trophy in conference play, the Wingate team entered and won first place trophies in tournaments at Buffalo Gap, Elmdale, Tye and Wingate.

The starting crew, made up of two seventh and three eighth graders, were Joey Langford, Jimmy Adams, Johnny Beck, Larry Hensley and Larry Awallt.

According to Coach Ray Cowan, the success of the Pirates was mostly due to a strong bench of Bill Cathey, Skipper Pittman, Junior Rubio, Fred Dooley and W. C. Dunn, who was a starter until he was side-lined with a broken collar bone. Kenneth Patton is the team's manager.

Blizzardettes Beat Lake View For Championship

The Winters High School Blizzardettes wrapped up the District 7-AA championship Tuesday night at Blackwell, defeating the Lake View Maidens, 63-60.

With this win, the Winters girls will go on to bi-district against Granbury, District 8-AA winners. The game which cinched the championship for the Winters girls was a touch-and-go contest all the way. There was never more than a 3-point separation between the two teams, and the boiling point was reached with only seconds to play.

The locals trailed by one point at the end of the first quarter, with Lake View leading 18-17. They came back, however, and put a 3-point lead on the scoreboard at the end of the half. The Maidens again jumped out front 3 points at the end of the third period, leading 48-45. Again, the Blizzardettes came out swinging, and it was a nip-and-tuck game until after the final signal.

With only one minute left on the clock, Lake View led by only one point, 58-57. Linda Wagner, of Lake View dropped 2 points, to tie the score at 60-57. With 25 seconds left, Lou Awallt hit for 2 points, closing the gap at 60-59. Awallt was fouled, and hit two free throws, bringing the total to Winters 61, Lake View 60. Wagner missed her free throw with only seven seconds left. And then Jackie Powers, Winters guard, was fouled in the last 15 seconds of the contest, and Lou Awallt hit two free throws, the winning counters going through the hoop after the clock had stopped, to final the score at 63-60, and a district championship for the girls from Winters High.

The Winters girls have ended district play with an 8-1 district record, plus Tuesday night's playoff game. They have a season's average of 27-4.

Lou Awallt with 32 points and Nancy Spill with 17 led the Winters team. Linda Wagner led Lake View with 29 points, while her teammate Zula Tomlinson made 21. Jackie Powers shone as a ball thief during the entire game, and the entire Winters team showed championship characteristics.

Letters To The Editor

The Winters Enterprise: I wish to thank you for your invitation to the various candidates to use your columns in presenting their ideas and platforms. I should like to state that I am a candidate for Alderman of the City of Winters in the April 4, 1961 election and I solicit the vote of all Winters citizens.

I would not mislead you, the voters, to try to make you believe that I have a cure it all platform.

First of all I believe in using good horse-sense in administering the affairs of the city and especially in the handling of its funds. I do not believe in denying any lawful and legitimate business the right to operate within the limits of our city.

I am for good streets, good water supply, recreation facilities, good sewage and garbage disposal, and a clean and sanitary town for us to live in and raise our children in.

I am for equal rights to all and special privilege to none. There are a number of vacant buildings in our town. To ease this condition we need a general trade-at-home movement.

And last but not at least, I am for everything that is for the welfare of Winters and its citizens. Sincerely, A. C. ERNST.

Ocean Getting Richer and Land Getting Poorer, Due To Erosion

Babson Park, Mass. — Every time it rains, anywhere, the water washes out much of the soil's goodness. It seeps through the ground to the rivers and thence to the sea. As a result the ocean is constantly getting richer and the land is getting poorer.

History of Phosphate

During millions (or billions) of years this has been taking place. A small bay (now part of West Central Florida) became a great chemical cauldron. Here were "cooked" certain clays, chemicals, and the countless bones of animals, from microscopic arthropods and fish to great mammals including elephants and mastodons and even huge whales.

The final result of the chemical reaction from these millions of years of "cooking" is what we now call "phosphate." When mixed with the nitrogen of the air and the potash of the ocean this phosphate is able to replace the "goodness" of the soil which has been washed out. Hence, has followed the mining of Florida phosphate. With the addition of nitrogen and potash this mixture is sold as "fertilizer."

Where Fertilizer Is Sold

Originally this fertilizer was sold only for use on the old farms and plantations of our 13 original states. For years the lands of the Midwest continued to have enough "goodness" to raise crops without fertilizers; but now the demand for this Florida fertilizer is gradually extending westward toward the Rocky Mountains.

It has been found that this phosphate is essential not only to crops, plants and livestock, but also to men and women. A man weighing 150 pounds must have within him 1 1/2 pounds of phosphate in order to keep in good health. A pregnant woman is very dependent upon phosphate in order to assure her baby good bones and teeth. Such a woman knows that otherwise the unborn child is robbing the mother's teeth, causing decay. In fact, children living near the phosphate mines have no cavities in their teeth. Furthermore, the fluorine which great cities are now adding to their drinking water comes from Florida phosphate.

Demand for Phosphate

Today phosphate is in demand not only for fertilizer; but also as additives for over 100 different foods. Baking powder, prepared flour, table salt, water softeners—and even tooth paste and the head of the common match. Industrially, phosphate finds its way into many diversified industries . . . in the making of aluminum, steel, and textiles; as an additive for gasoline and motor oils; also the manufacture of photographic film and thousands of other products. I am told that even Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola use it. Certainly we could buy no orange juice until phosphate was fed to the trees.

As a result the phosphate industry has grown from a $100,000 business 75 years ago to a $100,000,000 operation annually today, employing thousands of workers. Although some phosphate is found in Tennessee and in Utah and foreign countries, yet two-thirds of the world's supply now comes from Florida.

Leading Companies in the Industry

I understand that the original company is the American Agricultural Chemical Co., which was started by the father of the industry, Peter B. Bradley of New England; next we find the International Minerals & Chemical Co. which has been developed by Louis Ware and his able son Thomas. Among the other eight are the Virginia-Carolina Chemical, the American Cyanamid, and the Davison plants now operated by W. R. Grace & Co., as well as the large packers such as Swift, Armour and others.

Not only is phosphate essential to life of all kinds; but it is the basis of a growing business. An increased demand for fertilizer should continue almost forever. The Florida supply should last 80 years. Every farmer who uses fertilizer may well buy a few shares of the stock of one of these listed companies. See your broker for price, dividend, etc. Incidentally, phosphates should be one of the very best hedges against inflation.

OLD DOCUMENTS FOUND

Four historical documents 110 years old were recently discovered in airtight canisters in the Canadian Arctic by an oil exploration party. They were turned over to the Canadian government. Written on parchment or hand-lettered on lead plates, the messages were left by members of a search party for the expedition of Sir John Franklin, famed seeker of a north-west passage in the 1840s. The location of the discovery of the papers would have coincided with Franklin's third expedition. During a 10-year period more than 40 search parties covered 10,000 miles of the far north on foot, seeking the intrepid explorer. It was finally determined that Sir John died on King William Island, June 11, 1847.

Congress Is Getting Off To Slow Start

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
 A month later than usual in organizing and getting down to business, the current session of Congress is getting off to an unusually slow start. Most of this delay was caused by the maneuvering which finally resulted in the packing of the House Rules Committee.

The old-time country doctor is almost a thing of the past. One of the last of that vanishing race was the late Dr. E. O. Deal of Mertzon. He passed away recently just short of his 95th birthday.

Dr. Deal was everything to everybody. He came up the hard way to become a physician highly respected in his profession. Two years ago he wrote me a letter and was quite nostalgic in reviewing the past.

"On account of a semi-invalid mother, and other conditions," he recalled, "I never attended a higher than a two-teacher ungraded country school; and one three-month term was my longest. Never saw a college until I entered Medical College on a First Grade Teacher's certificate which I obtained by night study around a 'pine-knot' fire. Twice in my life attending doctors said I would not live through the night. In October, 1899, I went on the table with a possible chance of 'one in a hundred of living. I promised the Lord if he would let me live I would try to serve Him. I began at 35, and in less than six months was teaching a Bible Class on Sundays. I taught a Bible Class for 55 years. And that was the hardest thing for me to give up."

Dr. Deal lived in Irion County nearly 54 years. For about a half century he was County Health Officer, and for 38 years he was County Democratic Chairman. He is gone, but his wholesome influence will be felt for generations to come. Irion County's Country Doctor served mankind as few men in a lifetime have the opportunity or the will to do.

RIDDLE: What costs less the more you use it?

ANSWER: The electricity

that serves you in your home. The more of it you use, the bigger the bargain . . . the less you pay per kilowatt-hour for it. In fact, in homes served by WTU the average cost of electricity is 22% less than it was 10 years ago.

Think how many new uses you have for electricity these days . . . from your TV to your work-saving appliances for cleaning and washing. This is why your over-all bill may be a little higher than in the old days.

But what else in your home can give you so much value yet cost so little?

Electricity COSTS SO LITTLE—YOU CAN USE LOTS OF IT

Miss Chenoweth Gives Tips On How And When to Wear Proper Gloves

By OLLIE CHENOWETH
Home Demonstration Agent

Ever feel like sitting on your hands because you didn't wear gloves at some function—or happened to choose the wrong color or kind? If so, you'll appreciate these fashion tips.

Today there are many informal occasions when they are not needed. But do plan to wear them on the streets of a large town or city; going to and from church; at ceremonies such as weddings and funerals; attending formal luncheons, dinners, receptions, dances, the theatre, opera, concerts. Once inside, you may remove them whenever you wish, except at formal dances, dinners and receptions. Here they are usually kept on until you wish to eat.

Gloves are made of both leather and fabric for all occasions. Thin white glove kid or suede leather is considered most formal particularly for above the elbow gloves for evening wear. The much less expensive fabric gloves in these lengths are also correct, except for ultra-formal occasions. For ordinary daytime wear, kid, doeskin, chamois, string, suede, antelope, or fabric gloves are suitable; for sports or driving, pigskin, deerskin, woolen or string with leather palms are recommended.

One safe rule about the length is always to have your glove meet your sleeve, therefore, with a three-quarter sleeve wear a mid-arm glove; with an elbow sleeve an elbow-length glove. This is a sensible practice if your arms are not your best point. But if you do have pretty, rounded arms and smooth elbows, there's no reason why you shouldn't wear wrist or bracelet-length gloves with almost any length sleeve. The one thing to avoid is a too-short gap between glove and sleeve that looks unintentional—as if the sleeves had shrunk.

Beige and grey co-star as the newest fashion for gloves for spring. White gloves may be worn when there is something else white in the costume. For instance, if you are wearing a white hat with a yellow coat white gloves would be correct. Remember that contrasting colors always call attention to your hands.

The terms "one-button," "two-button" glove, are simply a measurement of length, starting from the base of the thumb. A one-button glove measures 1 inch from the thumb; a two-button, 2 inches, and so on. Here, in terms of "buttons," are the most popular glove lengths: shorty, or wrist length, 2 buttons; bracelet length, 4 buttons; midarm, 8 buttons; crush, 10 buttons; elbow, 12 buttons; opera, 16 buttons; shoulder length, 20 buttons. Gloves should always fit like a glove.

Father of Former Resident Died In Cross Plains Sat.

John F. Merrill, 66, of Cross Plains, father of R. R. Merrill of Bis Spring, former resident of Winters, died of a heart attack Saturday morning at his home.

Born July 22, 1894, at Hamilton, he married Margaret Mae Kemp there on July 2, 1913. The couple moved from Mills County to Cross Plains where they had been residents for 20 years.

The first transoceanic cable to Australia was opened in 1876.

HER TURN NOW—Herself premature as a baby, who overcame a heart defect, Linda Winter now serves as a nurse in her old hospital in Cincinnati. Her ordeal made her decide to become a nurse.

BEDDER PLACE—Little Tommy Kemmerer, of Minneapolis, Minn., got tired of his soft crib at home. His parents tucked him in, but later found his curled up in a bureau drawer in his bedroom.

"HEY, WHO YOU?"—Nan Miller, 8 months, makes friends with a new kid in the neighborhood.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—Identical twins Randy and Ricky Jones, of Dallas, Tex., fell into double trouble after Christmas. Each was trying out a new set of roller skates. Within an hour each had broken his arm.

Twenty-Four Farmers, Ranchers in County Complete SC Program

Two Great Plains Conservation Program contracts have been completed since the first of 1961, states Cecil L. Drake, Soil Conservation Service Technician.

Twenty-four farmers and ranchers in the Runnels Soil Conservation District are now using this program to speed up application of conservation practices on their farms. 73,190 dollars have been set aside for the cost-share payments to assist in applying needed conservation practices on 9,579 acres of land.

Vegetative treatment practices such as range seeding, pasture planting, critical area planting, and waterways are cost-shared at 80 percent of average cost. Average cost includes the cost of seed, land preparation, and seeding operation.

Other practices being used are brush control, range pitting, constructing wells, constructing ponds and pipelines and fencing. These are cost-shared at 50 percent of the average cost.

Terrace and diversion construction are cost-shared at 70 percent of the average cost.

Additional Funds For Farm Housing Is Available

An additional $50 million made available to the Home Administration for housing loans, John H. G. agency's county supervisor announced this week.

He said that the new money assure an adequate supply of credit for eligible families during the balance of fiscal year. Loans made this year plus those being made had practically exhausted funds previously available.

Farm housing loans are available throughout the rural areas of the United States. The loans are made to farm families with an opportunity to acquire an adequate and efficient service building.

Applications for farm loans may be made at the office of the Farmers Home Administration each Tuesday, Curry said. The loan interest rate is 4 percent over periods up to 33 years.

Johnson, sweethearts of Winters Methodist Youth Fellowship, and Sharon King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. King, sweetheart of the Drasco-Wingate MYF were crowned and presented gifts by Ray Lee Hornbuckle at the annual Methodist Sweetheart banquet held Saturday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

A miniature fence entwined with lemon leaves, red and white fuji mums decorated the hall where guests arrived and they entered the banquet hall through a large red heart.

Tables, laid with white, featured white hearts pierced with red cupid arrows and place cards were accented with red arrows inscribed in white. A large heart with an arrangement of red and white flowers centered the speaker's table. Background for the speaker's table was an enormous white heart, on a field of blue, decorated with Valentine motif. Red and white streamers throughout the party rooms completed the decorations.

The Rev. Ray Elliott, pastor, gave the invocation and Betty

Stanley, president of the MYF, welcomed the guests and served as mistress of ceremonies.

Jonny Milnor of Fort Worth entertained the group by singing and playing the guitar. John Townsend laboratory technician at Winters Municipal Hospital, was guest speaker and his subject was "What Are You Going to Do When You Leave the Garden" The banquet was closed with the MYF benediction.

Governor's Measures For Erasing
Coming Up Early On Calendar

REFUND STALLS
House members refused to take a beat-the-clock short cut toward getting a tax referendum on the ballot at the April 4 special election.

Rep. Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, sponsor of the bill, asked the House to instruct the State Affairs Committee to consider the bill immediately and report to the House. Proposal was defeated 81-65, with the vote dividing approximately on the same line as the one by which Speaker James Turman was elected.

Referendum would, in effect, have given the public an opportunity to say which of three possible broad-based taxes they would prefer—payroll, income or sales. Bill would have to have final passage before the end of February for the question to be printed on the ballot. Without hurry-up procedures the schedule will not be met.

Now the matter is left entirely to the legislators to determine. As most ran on platforms that called for no sales or income tax, these two taxing methods doubtless can be eliminated from further consideration.

HORSE RACING ARGUED
Legalized horse racing is still a live issue after a committee hearing that ran into the small hours of the morning.

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio is sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment that would allow race tracks and pari-mutuel betting on a local option basis.

Opponents, mostly ministers and lay church leaders, called gambling a parasite on the economy, and a producer of fewer jobs for the money spent than is possible in any other business.

HEADS UP!—Walking on air, these headstrong lads seem to defy gravity at Tynecastle Park, Scotland. Opposing soccer players, they both went up to butt the ball.

Supporters called it a clean, popular sport to which Texas climate is ideally suited. And, they declared, a painless revenue raiser.

RE-CUTTING THE PIE

Two congressional re-districting bills have been introduced, one of which could cause anguished howls from the neighborhood of the Potomac.

Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas has introduced a proposal to give Dallas County the extra congressman due Texas and leave other districts as they are.

Rep. Malcolm McGregor has introduced a bill which gives Dallas two congressmen and re-carves all the other districts.

McGregor's proposal is based strictly on population, with no thought to personalities or politics.

In some instances it would result in two congressmen being put in one district. Some districts would be enlarged, some reduced.

RAISE PROPOSAL AXED

County school superintendents are a touchy subject with the Legislature.

County Superintendent George Corse has come back this session to work for a bill to abolish the county superintendent's office in counties with few or no pupils in county schools. Under this year's plan, abolishment would be on a local option vote. Supporters say it would save the state $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

In this same atmosphere is a bill by Rep. R. A. Bartram of New Braunfels. However it would raise the salaries of assistant county superintendents. Money-hurting House members killed the bill.

OLD RULES RE-ADOPTED

Teacher pay raise advocates were disappointed when both House and Senate adopted the same rules of procedures as they used last session.

These rules prohibit passage of any new spending measure until the general appropriations bill is passed.

Last session passage of the general appropriations bill was virtually the last act before adjourn. Teacher raises and other new spending proposals died without ever coming to a vote.

ALSO RUNNING

Among other measures in the legislative churn are bills that would: exempt from state license fees farm trailers that farmers borrow from cotton gins and grain elevators; provide procedure for acquittal, and erasure of the blot of a criminal record, of persons found to have been convicted of crimes for which they were innocent; set up statewide, rather than countywide, licensing of notaries public; provide for licensing and regulation by the State Health Department of persons engaged in the exterminating business; allocate $1,800,000 more for assistance to the needy aged and blind; raise the minimum age for receiving a drivers' license from 14 to 16.

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

Impala 4-Door Sedan—Jet-smooth traveler that rivals the luxury cars in everything but price

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less bounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less... well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Play It Safe

Never go out in a boat without a lifebelt or at least a live-saving cushion handy. This applies especially to canoes because of their easy-to-tip-over habit. And in canoeing, always wear the lifebelt. No matter how well you can swim, wet clothes and wet shoes can pull you under should your craft capsize.

Check Trotlines Often

When running trotlines at night be sure to check them at least every three hours. Rough fish take a good toll of trotline bait — and empty hooks catch no fish. Keep those hooks baited by frequent checking.

Warning Bells

A turkey bell rigged on the shore line, dangling from your trotline, will save many trips running hooks. The bell will ring when your bait is tampered with. No ring, no rebaiting.

Retrieve In Spurts

Your retrieve should be more or less erratic when spinning for bass.

This is especially true when using a spoon, as the steady twinkle of a spoon looks most unlikeliest when viewed by a fish.

Let the spoon dip and rise, slow down and speed up, for life-like action.

Color and Deep Fishing

The deeper you fish the less important color becomes.

Colors on your lures tend to lose individuality the deeper they sink. Red is the first to lose distinction. So concentrate on plug action in deep water, and never mind the color of your bait.

On the surface, however, color does count, with red and white the most popular. Contrast of the two colors seems to please (or displease) bass especially.

Try Backcasting

Backcasting is important, especially in bait-casting.

Forward motion is increased by a snappy backcast. Backcasts not only get distance, but also save making bird's nests.

Learn to flick your wrist in a snappy cast to the rear, and then slash quickly forward.

Improving Cheap Flyrods

Avoid buying cheap flyrods. Among obvious drawbacks is the fact that they do not have enough guides to control the line properly.

But if you already have such a rod, it can be improved by re-spacing its guides and adding a few of your own. These can be bought at any sporting goods store for about the cost of a cigarette each.

Clear Water Fishing

Clear water is hard to fish. Even old pros have trouble with it.

You can help matters a lot by using patience.

Cast out your plug. The fish will scatter. Let the plug sink to the bottom. Leave it there — three-four-five-six minutes — then start your retrieve.

By that time the fish will have forgotten the original splash of your plug and may go for it.

Change Dry Flies Often

Wet flies and dry flies are different in many ways.

One important point to remember is that the dry fly loses its efficiency once it gets water-logged. Conversely the wet fly increases its allure the more beat-up it gets.

So change dry flies often and let the wet flies stay on your line.

Add Glue To Blood Bait

Blood bait is great for trotlines and throwlines. But it does not stick to the hook well.

Make bait that has good sticking properties, take a pint of blood (chicken, beef, etc.) and mix in a jar. Mix in 3 table-spoons of glue.

The glue dissolves in blood, and when in a shallow bowl or pan, cool until thick. Cut into small sized blocks or pieces to go bait your lines.

A Hit With Misses

Misses strikes and misses, but before casting out over again.

Especially true of bait-casting. But even fly fishermen can benefit by this advice.

Summer Fly Fishing

Wet flies are usually used as early spring bait. It is surprising how often they are used in dead summer when the water is sluggish and clear. Fish take them deep and slowly in the

Stretch Trotline Tight

Stretching the main line of a trotline is very important. Fishermen know this because catches are generally better when the line is tight, so that when a fish bites, the hook will set at once.

Fish may mouth hook loose if line is slack.

Crow Shooting Made Easy

Crow hunting can be a lot of fun, especially as between-season shooting.

If you can spot a flyway the critters use on their way to roost each night, you can get in some great pass shooting.

Choose a hilltop, if possible, to locate a make-shift blind. Pull up a pile of brush and get set before the evening arrivals start flying across.

Most sportsmen think of safety colors as bright shades of red. But yellow makes a far better color to wear in the woods, especially the reflecting type color. Scientific tests show that of all colors, yellow is the brightest and carries farthest.

Well, we don't know about the law, but we'd like to set Herb's mind at rest—hate to see him worry about this thing. Our friend was lucky enough to return home before the last norther hit.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation to all my friends who were so faithful to visit me during my stay in the hospital. The flowers, cards and visits made the time in bed much more bearable. A special thanks to the hospital staff and to Dr. McCreight for their attention. Earl Rodgers. 1tp

Bicycle Safety Rules

The motorist should be as cautious toward a bicyclist as toward a pedestrian. A bicyclist should, in turn, be as cautious as a pedestrian in protecting himself. Practices which bicyclists should follow include:

1. Obey all traffic laws, signs and signals which are reasonable for bicycles, just as though you were driving a car.
2. Have bicycle equipped on the front thereof with an amber reflector at least two and one-half (2½) inches in diameter or an electric headlight with the lens not less than two and one-half (2½) inches in diameter, and the rear of said bicycle must be equipped with a reflector of at least two and one-half (2½) inches in diameter.
3. Yield the right-of-way to both pedestrians and motor vehicles.
4. Ride with traffic, keep to the right and close to the curb or side of the roadway.
5. Ride single file.
6. Do not weave in and out of traffic or ride out from between parked cars.
7. Do not carry passengers or packages so large that they interfere with vision and balance.
8. Move off the roadway or street to stop, park or make repairs to your bicycle.
9. Do not hang onto or "hitch" to other vehicles or allow anyone to "hitch" to your bike. Though seemingly quite harmless, this is one of the most dangerous things you can do. You are in danger from every direction.
10. It is a good idea to use clip guards on trousers or slacks.
11. Avoid riding in bad weather as danger from skidding is greatly increased.
12. Stunting is dangerous. If you must try it, do it off the street in a safe place.
13. Do not ride on streets where there is much traffic.
14. Do not ride on the sidewalk in business districts.
15. Walk your bicycle across dangerous intersections. To do this follow a path near the inside line of the pedestrian crosswalk.
16. Keep your bicycle, especially the brakes, in good condition.

Self-Employed Is All-Important

Correct reporting of self-employed net earnings every year is all-important for social security purposes, says Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo social security office.

Ellington joins with Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in reminding people who work for themselves—alone or in a partnership—that Federal income tax returns (Form 1040) for 1960 must be filed on or before April 15, 1961. This must be done if net earnings for the year were as much as $400, even if no income tax is payable.

The Social Security Administration, Ellington said, wants to remind self-employed persons that future old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits to them and their families will be based on their average earnings. If those earnings are not reported or are incorrectly reported, benefit amounts will be reduced—in some cases lost entirely — when the worker retires, becomes disabled, or dies.

He cited the case of a man he called Tom Shun. T. Shun was a young and prosperous farmer with a large and growing family. When self-employed farmers were brought under social security beginning with 1955, Tom thought to it. He had a new thought of social security thing for older people neighbor Jones who had worked in the city. Tom could just wait until he was before looking into this security business.

The following year Tom went into this "business." His local farm association explained the provisions of the law. Tom and his young wife and children. He filed an income tax return and paid the city tax. It wasn't a profit, but Tom planned to get around the year of 1955 and file a return. But Tom was no late in 1959 he died.

Mrs. Shun applied for benefits for herself and children. Benefits, however, to be based on Tom's earnings after 1954. She had failed to report his 1955 and had never filed a delayed return. Her earnings could not be included. His widow was average. His widow was to take a smaller
