Letters To The Editor

Jones Answers Criticism In Last Week's Paper

March 17, 1961

The Editors, The Winters Enterprise, It is with some regret that I must again address a letter to the Editor regarding the coming City election.

In my initial statement to you I expressed my principles and beliefs. I made no charges and intended no discredit to any individual. Today I am a little disappointed to find I am the subject of a personal attack by a candidate for office.

I have the greatest respect for Mr. Poe, and I would rather consider him a fellow candidate than an "opponent" as he labels me. If, however, these are to be the rules, I will be glad to play by them and such being the case I cannot let false and misleading charges go unchallenged.

I have read and re-read Mr. Poe's statement trying to justify his accusations or to determine what he was trying to set out as his principles or platforms but I find neither. I do not feel obligated to defend myself against false charges, but for some who have not had an opportunity to examine the true record I offer the following facts that can be verified and not merely unfounded statements.

Spring Revival Begins Sunday At Hopewell Baptist

A spring revival at the Hopewell Baptist Church begins Sunday, March 26, and will continue through Sunday, April 2, according to an announcement made this week by the pastor, Dr. Robert Dobson, Bible teacher at Howard Payne College.

Michael Shihadi, junior student at Howard Payne College, will be the evangelist and Clyde Brevard will be in charge of the song services.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Shihadi was born in Jerusalem, Jordan, and went to Baghdad, Iraq where he worked as an accountant for three years. While in Jordan, he was influenced by Mrs. J. T. McRae, Southern Baptist Missionary, and in January 1958, he came to the United States and enrolled in the University of South Carolina at Columbia to study civil engineering.

Though he came from a Greek Orthodox faith, he started attending the First Baptist Church. Shihadi says, "It was through the influence of Mrs. McRae that I started attending a Baptist church." While Dr. Chester Swor was leading a revival meeting in the First Baptist Church, Shihadi heard him preach and made his public decision for Christ.

He is now a junior at Howard Payne College and his future plans are to go back home and preach the word of God in the land of Jesus' birth, death and resurrection.

Local Bible Class Will Aid Youths At Abilene Boys Ranch

Because a Ladies Bible Class at the Winters Church of Christ saw fit to check into the needs of the twenty-four boy "family" at Abilene Boys Ranch, the boys will receive extra clothing and bedding.

According to a story in the Abilene Reporter-News this week, the ladies learned how the ranch was filled to capacity and in need of additional funds and facilities.

Mrs. W. M. Eoff wrote Ben Richey, ranch superintendent, that the class would like to make some quilts and shirts for the boys and to donate used clothing if the items were needed.

Richey replied that the items were needed and would be most welcome.

"Donations, such as those offered by the Winters women, are greatly needed at the ranch," he said. Twenty-four boys make a mighty big family, and it takes a lot of clothes and food to keep them going, Mr. and Mrs. Richey said.

T. E. Holley New District Manager For Lone Star Gas

T. E. Holley, Lone Star Gas Company employee for 11 years, has been named manager of the firm's Ballinger district of distribution.

Holley succeeds H. E. Lawson, who will become district manager of Lone Star's Childress operation. These changes become effective April 1, according to M. L. Bird, Lone Star's vice president in charge of the General Division of Distribution.

The new Ballinger manager will supervise gas service and maintenance operations for some 4,000 residential, commercial, and industrial customers in the Ballinger district, composed of Ballinger and Winters.

Consulting engineers reported that a dam at the site would impound 165,000 acre feet of water and the lake would have a surface area of 7,950 acres.

Roger Babson Says

Increasing Minimum Wage Would Cause Additional Unemployment

Babson Park, Mass. — Each week some new proposition comes from the White House promising to reduce unemployment. These vary all the way from paying veterans' insurance money in advance of dates due to increasing the minimum wage. The first suggestion would put more money into circulation immediately but would reduce the amount available later. As to increasing the minimum wage, this will cause merchants and others to reduce the number of their employees so that the higher wage will not cost them more in total. This will result in increasing unemployment without increasing total purchasing power.

Purchasing Power vs. Unemployment

When discussing these two factors, it is much like asking which came first—the hen or the egg? Each is dependent on the other; but in most cases increased purchasing must come before increased employment, and I think President Kennedy believes this in his heart. Hence, the soundest, cheapest, and quickest method of increasing purchasing is to increase advertising.

Advertising appropriations are now "upside down." Merchants advertise when they have plenty of money, which usually means when business is good and there is full employment. Then, when business slows up and unemployment develops, these merchants reduce their advertising. This is why I say that the present advertising policy is "cockeyed." It may help the temporary profits of the merchant, but it is not for the best interests; it is not economically sound. This especially applies to newspaper advertising, although it also may include radio, tv, and mail-order advertising. Furthermore, Congress would surely be increasing unemployment by increasing postal rates.

Government Should Sometimes

Subsidize Advertising

Think what would happen to employment if all advertising should suddenly be stopped? Such an action would create a national panic with over half the people unemployed. Certainly the government would be as justified in subsidizing merchants selling certain products as in subsidizing farmers living in certain states. These merchants are doing as much for the nation as are the farmers. In fact, the farmers are dependent upon the merchants to sell their farm products. No one of us goes to the farmer direct to buy wheat, corn, potatoes, tobacco, barley, or any product of the farm.

I would advise against permitting the government to change advertising rates; but suggest allowing certain temporary payments to newspapers and broadcasters for increasing the advertising space or time devoted to promoting the sale of products which require much labor—the percent of subsidy depending upon the amount of unemployment involved.

Russia and "Full Employment"

President Kennedy cannot, or at least will not, go to Russia to seek disarmament while there is a large amount of unemployment in the United States. To make any satisfactory deal with Russia to reduce the "cold war," the President needs to have full employment here at home. Yes, we should actually have a shortage of workers in order that those workers then discharged by plants now making missiles, rockets, and other weapons will be able quickly to get jobs in peace industries.

Some of President Kennedy's suggestions will help the unemployment situation in a small way, but his ideas will not come near providing "full employment." Only advertising—natural or subsidized, will accomplish this. Subsidize advertising to reduce unemployment is something which I would like personally to help with. Secretary of Defense McNamara should immediately operate a new division to study this problem which I am today urging in this column.

Kennedy Reviving FEPC To Cover Gov't. Work

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

A revival of FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Committee) has been directed by President Kennedy. But the coverage will deal only with employment by contractors holding government contracts.

Under this policing plan, a committee will hear complaints from any disappointed job-seeker who claims he or she was denied a job or promotion because of race or religion. If found guilty the contractor could be penalized in various ways. The President appointed Vice President Lyndon Johnson to head the committees that will run herd on the hundreds of government contractors and subcontractors who had better watch out. Small wonder business complains about too much government meddling and interference in their affairs.

The Supreme Court showed some signs of being judicial minded in a 5-to-4 decision the other day which upheld a contempt of Congress conviction of two men who refused to answer questions asked by the House Un-American Activities Committee. They had been questioned about subversive connections.

As you might expect, the dissent came from Justices Black, Douglas, Brennan and Chief Justice Warren. This decision may indicate a switch in the balance of power on the Court in favor of the moderate-conservative wing that the Communists as just another political party but rather as a menace and a conspiracy.

The drive to up the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and extend coverage is due to be decided in the House this week. A mass of evidence has been presented at hearings tending to show that a considerable number of people will be thrown out of work if this effort succeeds.

As an example of this, the other day a man telephoned me from our district and said his firm employs on a part-time basis 5 high school and college students, pays them a dollar an hour, but that it will not pay the firm to keep them at $1.25 an hour. They simply do not produce enough to justify the raise, and the increase will cause all five to be laid off. All that glitters is not gold.

Latin Students Had Annual Banquet At Pierce's Cafeteria

On the eve of the Ides of March, the annual banquet for the Latin students of Winters High School was held Tuesday night at Pierce's Cafeteria. The sixty one students and guests were dressed in Roman style. Togas were fashioned from sheets to resemble pictures in the Latin Books.

Each Master—second year Latin student—was given a large amount of simulated Roman money, with which to purchase slaves, or first year Latin students. Even the attire of the Masters and the Slaves was symbolic, with the Slaves dressed all in white, and the Masters proudly wearing their mothers' best colored sheets.

Hints On Reseeding Grasslands Offered

There is an estimated 10 to 12 million acres of abandoned cropland and an additional several million acres of denuded or barren rangeland in Texas. This land is producing little or no income for the owners, but reseeding with adapted grasses is one method which may be used to bring at least part of it back into profitable production.

G. O. Hoffman and B. J. Ragsdale, extension range specialists, say there are, however, several things to consider before reseeding any particular plot of land.

One of the first is to take a survey of the vegetation currently on the land. If 15 percent or more of native key grass species are found in the area, do not reseed. In this case, the specialists say, it will be cheaper and much better to use deferred grazing with proper stocking to rebuild the pasture.

If reseeding is decided on, however, the next thing to do is have a soil test made. Grasses, just like other crops, need the proper nutrients, and soil testing and fertilization is the way to make sure they have them. The soil should be prepared just as it would for a cash crop. This can be done by plowing, growing an annual legume and leaving it or turning it under to enrich the soil. Next should come a sorghum, planted late in the season so the seed will not mature.

Now the land is ready for reseeding with grass. Plant grass seed in the stubble to reduce damage to young seedlings by wind erosion, packing rain, or from high soil temperatures. Hoffman and Ragsdale say that only seed of high quality with high germination should be used.

The grass should be planted in rows so it can be cultivated and weeded control. Cover the rows more than seven times in water, usually one-fourth to one-half inch deep, depending on the kind of soil. It is desirable to pack the soil with a cultipacker or, the specialists continue,

After the grass is established control the weeds and use late grazing, and you're in the age production business, and Ragsdale concludes.

INDIA'S RAILROADS AND India has arranged a $750 million World Bank loan for improvement and expansion of its railroads, passenger and freight cars will be purchased and considerable trackage will be electrified. The program is a five-year plan ending in 1961.

The auditors suggest that the examination made in previous reports concerning the collection of cash items, especially the collection department, be redone and subsequently followed as closely as possible. Contents receivable balances general ledgers of the various departments of the City should be audited monthly with the individual customers account cards, and any adjustments made immediately."

Eckert & Story, C.P.A.s, 30, 1958—"Because of our examination of the confirmation of receivable due to the City (including Utilities) because of the lack of internal control in accounting receipts and disbursements in the various departments, the scope of our examination was not sufficient to express an opinion on the accompanying financial statements as a whole."

In foregoing quotations there any "wonder" why was not made at the business in 1959. Isn't there "wonder" why some-not done to correct negligence prior to 1959. It was decided by the City that a study of causes of more value and then an audit would be made of accumulated records, and cases, even lack of cooperation, made the study a very long task as well as a long delay.

The auditors were requested to make an audit that all no punches" so that determine our inadequacy correct it. This was done except any blame for the faults as they were just as the previous ones with one - we were prepared and the action was taken to the situation and follow the recommendations. Auditors are invited to inspect records in the city hall, the a complete new and adequate accounting system which is, and you may even invite the auditors as to their of the change. But before charged with failure to report, I quote from the two-part report of Cherry, Story of September 30, 1959, I was mayor but in part of the time Mr. Poe was mayor. "Because of the limited scope of our examination in re-confirmation of receivable due to the City and of fixed assets of (including Utilities) and the lack of proper internal control in accounting for receipts and disbursements of the various departments of the City, the scope of our examination not sufficient to permit express an opinion on the accompanying financial statements as a whole."

I accept responsibility as the Mayor is with the administrative of the City affairs, but I did not correct action, and will did make such correction effective.

As to say here that in my opinion is absolutely no question of the honesty or integrity of any person or group of persons, I feel that it was a knowledge of accounting or possible failure to report information to the public. Nevertheless, now Mr. Poe know why there was in 1959.

Poe misquoted me as to in this election. I did not say that the "franchise" was but I agree that it is a issue. The issue is the private business to operate quite evident that my opinion the franchise is "best."

Poe. I will try to put words. Mr. Cal Young, believe to be an outstanding, president of the West Texas Utilities Company, petitioned the Council to hear his request for an extension of the franchise and the Council heard Young expressed his desire to improve the company's in Winters at a rather early date. He also requested the Council grant him a period of time to have to recover his investment named no period of time to the best judgment of the Council. General discussion that 12 years was a favored period. No guarantee of business. To be quite frank, I favored the extension as it seemed fair and just to me. I had no vote, but a majority of the Council saw fit to deny the franchise for the present. Now comes the "corker." At the next meeting of the Council after denial of the franchise Mr. Poe joined by a small group of citizens appeared before the Council to congratulate the council for denying the franchise. Who said the franchise was no issue? I ask Mr. Poe what is his position on the franchise. My original statement still stands.

5. Mr. Poe charges that in 1956 I was on the City Council when the representative of the telephone company met with the City Council about a rate increase. Once again he is only partly right. An extension of telephone franchise was attached to the request for rate increase but it never reached discussion because I vigorously opposed the rate increase for the reason that according to the companies own figures the increase was not justified. The representative left the meeting with the remark that he would wait until I was off the Council before he repeated his request. That was February 27, 1956. My term of office was completed April 10, 1956. What Mr. Poe failed to tell you was that on May 18, 1956, he called a special meeting of the City Council at which time the rate increase was granted. Here again you may check the records at the city hall to verify these facts. By strange coincidence early in July of 1956 the Telephone Company who had been a long time customer of the West Texas Utilities Company, switched their service to the City Light Plant.

6. Mr. Poe is correct when he states that on or about July 15, 1955 the ordinance imposing the gross receipts tax on the telephone company and the West Texas Utilities Company went into effect. I commend Mr. Poe for his action, and I believe the record will show that I seconded the motion to adopt the ordinance. On this we agree.

7. I can hardly agree with Mr. Poe that had it not been for the Federal government and the Roosevelt administration 90 percent of the rural people would still be burning kerosene lamps, but either premise is purely conjecture. I agree that Mr. Roosevelt did some wonderful things and he was a great president, but he also appointed Henry Wallace as Secretary of Agriculture and later hand picked him as his Vice-President, and he met with Churchill and Stalin at Yalta and again with Stalin at Teheran and most school children know the result of those actions as history has now revealed. I have every confidence in the ability and ingenuity of the American people, including the rural people, and I believe blowing out the oil lamps was only another step in ever forward progress, with or without the government aid.

8. Mr. Poe insinuates that I am for freedom from government control only so long as it does not help me. He then becomes clairvoyant and determines my belief about FHA. I resent the implication here. It will probably come as quite a shock to Mr. Poe to learn that in the 11 years I have been in the house building business I have only built 2 FHA financed homes and more than 80 Non-FHA homes.

I'm sorry, I have been unkind. I had hoped such tactics would not be made necessary but the provocation seems to me to justify the action. We have a good town and a progressive town; I am proud of Winters and the progress it has made, and I expect it to make more; I am proud of the men and women who have been responsible for the progress, including and singling out George Poe whom I still respect and trust that I may still call friend. I ask that this useless bickering stop and that we devote our energies to the further betterment of our community. Let us be reasonable and admit that we have differences of opinion—one of the greatest factors in building the greatest country on earth when we have freedom to express those differences.

I must have one more little difference with George — or maybe we agree here — to vote is not merely a privilege, it is a precious right, use it.

Sincerely,
HARVEY D. JONES.

CATTY-CORNERED—Cat lover Nan Cotton plays with a few of her 51 pet cats at her home in Telscombe, Sussex, England. Officials have ordered her to get rid of all but 10. She says it's "like asking a mother to choose which of her children to send to the guillotine."

FIREMEN'S BILL HELD LEGAL
Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled that a proposed bill to set up machinery to arbitrate firemen's wage and hour problems would be constitutional.

Rep. Robert Hughes of Dallas is sponsor of the bill which would set up an arbitration board to work out disputes between firemen and city governments. Disputes not settled by the board could be taken to the people in an election once each year.

AUTO RATE BILL MOVES
A bill directing the State Board of Insurance to make drastic changes in the merit rating auto insurance plans has been approved by the Senate Insurance Committee.

Passage came after a lengthly debate in committee. More heated debate and attempts to amend are expected when the bill is taken up by the entire Senate.

As approved by committee, the plan would still assess insurance premium penalties for speeding but not for running red light lights or stop signs, making illegal turns, illegal passing or negligent collision. It would still assess penalties for accidents with damage of more than $25, and it would still be retroactive for three years.

"FLEXIBLE" RATING KILLED
House, meantime, killed by a decisive 125-to-21 vote a bill that would have provided a complete new approach for auto insurance in Texas.

Called "Flexible" rating, it would allow each insurance company to set its own auto insurance rates. Rep. C. W. Pearcey of Temple sponsored the bill which has been defeated by previous legislatures. He argued for it on the basis of free competition rather than state-controlled rates.

Opponents successfully argued that the plan allows large out-of-state concerns to take over the market and eventually set much higher rates.

MILK IS BOILING TOPIC

Milk continues to stir up arguments in this legislative session. Senate passed a bill placing restrictions on the importing of milk from other states, but the House postponed floor debate after tempers flared to the shouting point.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo sponsored the Senate bill, and Rep. Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches is the House sponsor. Their measure would bar out-of-state milk from Texas unless a health inspector could certify that he had "personal knowledge" that the milk had been produced under the same standards as Texas milk.

Dairymen - supporters content that is a health standards protection and will prevent "unfair competition" from out of state. It is opposed by milk processors who declare it will limit the supply unnecessarily and force up prices.

GARNISHEE BILLS STUDIED
Proposals that would allow for the garnishment (taking over) of wages for payment of debts are being considered by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

Rep. Henry Fletcher of Luling is sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment that would permit the Legislature to pass a broad garnishment act.

Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler is sponsor of another that would allow for attachment of wages only to make child support payments.

MINIMUM WAGE ARGUED
Proposal for a 75-cent-an-hour minimum wage for Texas workers, including farm labor, was argued before the House State Affairs Committee.

Employers of fewer than four persons would be exempt. A spokesman for the AFL-CIO testified in favor of the bill, declaring that migrant farm laborers are often paid only 30 cents an hour. A Texas Restaurant Association official said that restaurant workers average 81 cents an hour, but that many "marginal workers," such as the handicapped would lose out under a minimum wage.

Rep. Malcolm McGregor of El Paso is sponsor.

An unusual treat for the Junior Girls' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church was an all-day meeting on Saturday in the home of one of the counselors, Mrs. W. G. Bedford. The purpose of the meeting was the study of a book, "Sawgrass Missionary," by Providence.

The girls came early, many wearing square dresses as the book centered around Baptist work among the Seminole Indians of Florida. Some girls helped build a fire, others helped prepare food while others made the large recreation room ready for study.

Mrs. Loyd Roberson, local director for Girls' Auxiliaries, gave each girl a notebook, and as she discussed the needs of the Seminoles and how these needs were met, the girls were given material for their notebooks. Games were played, Indian fashion, and the noon meal was eaten as girls sat on the floor around a symbolic campfire. The food was cooked on a wood stove, the first most of the girls had even seen.

Mrs. W. J. Yates and Mrs. Bedford assisted Mrs. Roberson in the presentation of the book to the following girls: Odessa Smith, Jeri Guy, Carolyn and Sandra Blake, Sherry Bedford, Debra Carroll, Sandra Hilliard, Patsy and Mary Lou Wuestinger, Jane Kiser, Shirley Powers, Jo Crouch, Stephanie Cox, Sylvia Moore, Suzanne Parks, Rita Powers and Janice Pierce.

Roger Babson Says

Compares Advantages Of Life In California and In State of Florida

Babson Park, Mass.—As I write this column, thousands of farmers and their wives in the snow-packed Central West are insisting they will never spend another winter on the farm. They are agreeing to spend their winters in California, or Florida, and are trying to decide which it will be. Here is a brief, but impartial, answer.

What About California?

Although I have spent 35 winters in Florida and expect to do so for the remainder of my life, I often wish I had been born in California! It is a wonderful state, with tropical climate in the south, with snow in the north, and any climate between these which anyone could wish. It has a long coastline, a desert interior, and great mountains. The only out is Los Angeles, with its crowded population, terrific transportation problem, its "smog," etc.

California is also rich in natural resources, with the possible exception of coal. It has great waterfalls which supply electricity to all the homes; it furnishes natural gas which heats most of the homes; but its great asset is oil. California has an abundance of oil of good quality, and this has been a tremendous asset to the state industrially, besides paying for the roads, state buildings, and other public improvements. All of these came after the discovery of gold in 1849, which sparked the "gold rush" and resulted in the building of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

Is It Too Late To Move To California?

As I think of the farmer and his wife in Nebraska, I wonder whether all these natural resources will be of much help to them? For the businessman with money, who can purchase large acreage for an extensive cattle ranch or orange and other fruit groves, there is still an opportunity for health, power, and prosperity in California. Few investment bargains, however, exist at the moment; although they will appear again when the next depression comes. A large amount of money is borrowed on California mortgages are held by one or two great California banks which can be very tough if the tide turned against them.

For the farmer and his wife in moderate circumstances who want only a winter home or place to retire to—California may not be the state. Prices are high, and there is a shortage of houses in most sections. If you have friends living in some small California city—preferably near the coast—and they know of some reasonably priced home, it might be well to go out and look it over. California in general, however, is a place for big business rather than for retired farmers.

What About Florida?

Outside of sunshine and a fair rainfall, Florida has only a few natural advantages. It has no coal, no waterpower, no natural gas, except that being brought in by pipeline, and, most important of all, Florida has not yet discovered oil. Some years ago oil was found in South Florida around the town of Sunniland and a few wells nearby were drilled and produced oil. This caused the great Florida oil boom. Nearly all the large oil companies sent representatives to get leases and do exploration work. Many of these companies spent millions of dollars drilling for oil, but not one drop of commercial oil or gas did they find. Very few wells have gone below the 10,000-foot limit, and very little "off shore" drilling has been Small industries are starting up in Florida, using electricity. Orlando and Tampa are rapidly becoming industrialized, while Jacksonville is a state of small homes; in fact, just now there is a surplus of small houses. Therefore, for farmers of the Central West and the East who want a winter home free from snow, or for retired families who would get a check from the north every month I surely advise one of the small cities of Florida. Perhaps it would be cheaper to buy a house already built than to buy a vacant lot. But I do not advise buying a Florida home without seeing the actual property. There surely is a surplus of motels and subdivisions. Nevertheless, I believe that a man with a check coming in every month would never regret moving to Florida.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

The 1961 crop of commercial rose bushes in East Texas is so excellent in quality that Agriculture Commissioner has given it his personal recommendation in letters to other commissioners of agriculture all over the United States.

Commissioner White returned to Austin from Tyler, which is the center of Texas rose bush production and shipping, convinced by personal inspection that the 1961 crop is a pay-off harvest from years of research and increasingly scientific cultivation. "Our 1961 crop of rose bushes," White informed his fellow commissioners in all of the other states, "is the best news we have had in Texas nursery stock in many years. Our people in the Texas Department of Agriculture, as well as old timers in the industry, tell me that this 1961 production represents the best crop we have had within their memory. Frankly, I have never seen such fine roses as are being produced this season."

The Rose Research Foundation, sponsored by East Texas rose growers under the direction of Dr. E. W. Lyle, is given much of the credit for improved quality and hardiness of Texas rose bushes.

Dr. Lyle has achieved recognition as being one of the leading authorities on cultivation and development of rose bushes in the United States.

East Texas production of rose bushes, in a year of normal production, usually runs from 23 million to 25 million bushes annually. The heaviest volume of shipping is now under way.

Commissioner White pointed out that the combination of research and weather conditions in East Texas this season apparently have developed a situation "just right to make this what may turn out to be the banner year in quality production of rose bushes in Texas."

In order to afford complete protection for this record crop in shipments both in Texas and to other states, the Texas Department of Agriculture has established rules of inspection and issuance of a special inspection certificate. The rules and the special certificate become effective March 1, under authority granted by the Texas Legislature.

Under the regulations, no lot of rose bushes may be shipped from any point within the State without previously having been inspected by the Texas Department of Agriculture, the certificate showing that the plants are free from injurious plant diseases or pests.

Ground was broken for the Marine Corps War Memorial Feb. 19, 1954.

BRADSHAW NEWS

"Belief is a truth held in the mind. Faith is a fire in the heart."
—Joseph Fort Newton.

Harold Ray Wilson of Del Rio was a morning visitor at the Baptist Church. Dr. Norman Weaver, religious educational director of Hardin-Simmons, was a visitor at the morning and night services.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Brewer of Ovalo and the Lelon Bryans of Norton attended the services Sunday morning at the Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Reid and Sherry of Big Spring and Harold Ballenger of Hardin - Simmons attended the morning services at the Drasco Baptist Church. The Drasco Methodist congregation met with the Baptists in the night services, which was the closing of the weekend revival. Singer Billy Barsch delivered the messages for the revival. Pastor W. I. Taylor sang a special for the morning and night services with Barbara Sneed at the piano.

"A Home Up In Heaven" was the special given Sunday morning at the Moro Baptist services by Mrs. Earvine Carey and Clyde Reid with Mrs. J. W. Allmand at the piano. For the night services Mrs. Carey and son Randall sang with Mrs. Carey accompanying with the guitar. The number was "Beautiful Prayer."

Sunrise Easter service is to be observed April 2 in the Wayne Hunt pasture. Everyone is invited to attend.

The key verse to next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson is: "I am the good Shepherd. The good Shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." —John 10:11. The meditation is by D. Trigg James Sr.

"Once in a leadership - training class we were discussing how important it is for the leaders and members of the Church to show real concern for people. A member of the class told this story: 'There had been a bad accident on a Saturday night. Some of the critically injured were related to a certain church. Members of the family thought of their pastor and called. His wife answered the telephone, and when the request was made for the minister to come to the hospital, she brusquely informed the caller: "My husband never goes out on Saturday night."

"Then the lady telling the story asked, 'What do you think of that?' Well, what do YOU think of that? No doubt the minister was concentrating on his sermon for Sunday morning. But one wonders if his refusal to minister to persons in need didn't scream so loud that his sermon couldn't be heard.

"Another minister told me recently of a Saturday - night call from a doctor. A chaplain traveling through the country had become seriously ill and was in the hospital alone. The physician asked, 'Do you preachers have a union to take care of such cases?' The minister replied, 'Yes, we have a union.'

"He went immediately to the hospital and remained through the night. The next morning he asked his district superintendent to see that the chaplain was cared for as it was necessary for him to leave the city.

"The 'union' to which the minister referred is the 'brotherhood of the Good Shepherd.' It is not a professional organization; it is the fellowship of the 'concerned.'

Bustin' out at the seams!

The WTU service area is growing fast and the facts prove it. Personal income, retail sales, value added by manufacture, bank deposits, savings, construction and other growth factors all are on the way up.

This company's own record of growth in the past decade is further evidence. Our KWH sales have increased 154 per cent, and our generating capability has increased 212 per cent.

Notice that our capacity to serve has increased even faster than our sales. That is because we are working hard to stay ahead of area growth — to have facilities available to serve more people, businesses and industries as they come.

Such an objective is back of our current multi-million-dollar expansion program. One example of it is the new generating station under construction at Oak Creek Lake. When completed it will provide in the very beginning an additional 75,000 kilowatts to our system.

Such long-range expansion plans and the cost figures are significant for one very simple reason. They stand as living testimony to our faith in the future of this area — as evidence of our belief in GROWTH UNLIMITED.

MOVIES

"Young Jesse James"
A sharpshooting, fast-paced western, "Young Jesse James," an Associated Producers Production and Twentieth Century - Fox release in CinemaScope, opening Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre, presents for the first time, an accurate and exciting account of the badman's early, pre-outlaw beginnings. Ray Stricklyn, Willard Parker and Merry Anders head the cast.

Ray Stricklyn stars as the young Jesse who, having seen his stepfather hung by Union soldiers, rides off to join the band of the Confederate guerilla Quantrill with only revenge in mind. All goes well for awhile, but when some Union wagons and prisoners are captured, Jesse recognizes, among the prisoners, one of the Union soldiers who hung his stepfather. He guns down the unarmed soldier in cold blood, thus getting his revenge. But this is just a beginning, not an end. Jesse has become a trigger-happy killer.

"All the Young Men"
Said to be an explosive story of Marines trapped in the snowy hills of Korea and torn apart by their own doubts, fears and prejudices, "All the Young Men" stars Alan Ladd and Sidney Poitier Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre. World-renowned heavyweight Ingemar Johansson is introduced to the screen in "All the Young Men," new Hall Bartlett Production for Columbia Pictures. The film also co-stars James Darren, Glenn Corbett, comedian Mort Sahl and lovely Ana St. Clair.

Ladd has another "fighter" role in "All the Young Men," playing a professional soldier recently broken from sergeant. Poitier, who was nominated for an Academy Award for his work in "The Defiant Ones," and who last was seen as Porgy in "Porgy and Bess," takes command of the embattled squad. Some of the men resent Poitier's assumption of authority because they have learned to rely on Ladd's cool courage under fire; others resent him simply because he is a Negro.

As the small group of fighting men make their desperate stand in a strategic farmhouse, winning time for oncoming forces at the risk of their own lives, Poitier's esteem as a leader and human being rises. In "All the Young Men," Johansson is said to have registered with remarkable effectiveness on preview audiences as an actor; He even sings a folk song. Darren plays a sentimental Marine and Corbett the medical corpsman who must perform an emergency amputation. Sahl is seen as a would-be writer and Miss St. Clair, in her first Hollywood picture, plays an attractive Korean girl whom Poitier defends from a brutish Marine.

Mrs. Arnold Lail Has Art Exhibit In Abilene Store

Mrs. Arnold Lail, local artist, is exhibiting oil paintings at A. B. Barrow-Furniture store in Abilene all this week and through Saturday, April 1. Mrs. Lail was reared in South Taylor County and after an absence of many years returned to Abilene five years ago to make her home at 3349 South 20th Street.

She has studied art at Hardin-Simmons and Los Angeles, Calif. She is a member of several art clubs in Abilene and her paintings have been on exhibit in numerous Texas cities, also Los Angeles and Butte, Montana.

Mrs. Lail has a painting of the Perry Haynes Rancy, near Killen on circuit at the present time. The Haynes Ranch was willed to the State of Texas for an orphan's home according to Mrs. Lail. The artist lived in Montana five years, hence the beauty of mountains, snow and lakes are depicted in her work. One of her paintings is of a bear hunt. She relates seeing nine big black bears on one trip. Mrs. Lail and her husband lived in Los Angeles 35 years, rearing her family of two children there.

On exhibit are some Pacific Coast scenes. One is of an old twisted tree at Carmel By the Sea. It has been said this tree has been painted and photographed by artists more than any other living tree. Another coast scene is of Malibu suburb of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lail is a lover of horses and Hereford cattle, and she has magnified these loves in her paintings, Wagon Train, Montana Bear Hunt and Lail Ranch.

While living in California, Mrs. Lail visited the Huntington Library in San Marino, where she saw the famous painting of Blue Boy by Gainsborough and Pinkie, by Sir Thomas Lawrence. She was very much inspired to paint, so much that she took her equipment and sat for hours copying the two famous paintings. The art appraiser at the University of California valued the copies at $2500.00 each. They are now on exhibit at the Barrow Furniture store.

A new antioxidant cellophane has been developed to increase the shelf-life (as much as 50 percent) of potato chips and similar snack items.

More FHA Funds Made Available To Farmers

Additional funds have been made available to help meet the needs of eligible farmers who need operating money to carry out their farming operations, John H. Curry, County Supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, has announced. Curry said that a $35,000,000 contingency fund provided by the 1961 Agricultural Appropriation Act has just been released to the Farmers Home Administration to meet the growing demand for credit. This move was taken by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Curry said, in an effort to make certain, within the authorities and funds available, that no qualified family-type farmer will be required to give up farming because of his inability to finance his 1961 operations. Because of high operating costs and unfavorable margins of profit many farmers have exhausted their regular sources of farm operating credit. The amount of operating loans made so far this year by the Farmers Home Administration totals 20 percent higher than last year. The credit Agency's biggest lending season lies just ahead as farmers prepare to start their spring work. The Farmers Home Administration makes operating loans primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their land and labor resources on family-type farms and make needed changes in their farming systems. Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. Loans may also be made to qualified farmers who carry on smaller than family-type operations.

1960 Texas Cotton Crop Hit By Disease

Diseases took an estimated $158 million bite out of the 1960 Texas cotton crop, according to reports from 15 cotton specialists located throughout the state.

An estimated 1,116,000 bales never got to market because of diseases, said Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, who compiled the report for the Cotton Disease Council.

In addition to the loss to producers, businesses related to the cotton industry also suffered. Diseases were also a major factor in grade reduction and lower yields, Smith said. In many instances, the weather, soil, planting seed or ginner got the blame for the low production and poor quality when the real culprit was plant diseases, explained Smith.

The seasoning file is the Creole word for saffras powder and it came to them from the Choctaw Indians. It derives from the French and means to spin or knit.

Blakley Against Federal School Aid

U. S. Senator William A. Blakley believes a tax break for parents is needed to further the education of American youth.

Consideration should be given the average parents who are struggling to put their children through school, especially high school and college, Senator Blakley declared.

He called for additional income tax exemptions for such families among the measures he is advocating for better educational opportunities. He urged a $400 exemption for each dependent child enrolled in high school, and said he also would work for a $1200 exemption for each dependent enrolled in a college or university.

Senator Blakley has set out a clear-cut aid - to - education program that would help the schools without the danger of federal control.

"I am opposed—I always will be opposed — to federal interference in our public school system," Senator Blakley declared. "But it is not enough just to oppose."

"We must provide the finest facilities available. We must have the best trained teachers and they should be paid commensurately with the wonderful contribution they are making toward the education of our growing population."

As the alternative to a federal aid program, Senator Blakley proposes that the states retain five percent of all federal income taxes collected in each state. The money would be used for improvement of the school system.

"The amount of funds to be retained would be sufficient to meet the needs at no greater cost than is now being proposed under the federal aid program," the senator pointed out. "This would enable Texas to use approximately 100 million dollars annually—of Texans' money—for the support of our own school system. The Federal Government has pre-empted the field of taxation to such a degree that there is no other adequate source."

Senator Blakley said he has talked with parents throughout Texas and finds they do not expect — or even want — the government to educate their children.

"They take pride in making this contribution themselves," the senator declared.

1961 Cotton Insect Control Guides Are Ready

The 1961 revision of L-21, Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects, has been released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports C. F. Garner and R. L. Ridgway, extension entomologists. Copies of the revised leaflet are available at county agents' offices.

Several changes have been made in parts of the 1961 guide and these should be studied by persons using the publication. One of the more important changes has to do with the early season control program, say the specialists. These changes may be found in the second paragraph of the section entitled Other Insects.

Another change is the addition of a new section on Three-Way Insecticidal Mixtures. This section was included to clarify questions relating to mixtures of this type. In the table section of the leaflet, the recommendations for flea-hopper control have been separated from the thrips column. Changes have also been made in information concerning application dates for controlling these insects. Garner and Ridgway say there are some new restrictions concerning the use of insecticides on cotton that become available too late to be included in the revised guide. The restrictions which apply to insecticides presently recommended for use on Texas cotton are: livestock should not graze in treated cotton fields or be fed gin waste which has come from treated cotton; BHC should not be applied to cotton in rotation with root crops; one day should elapse before hand harvest of cotton treated with methyl parathion and five days before hand harvest of cotton treated with aldrin, demeton, dieldrin, endrin, guthion and parathion. New restrictions are in addition to those listed in the leaflet.

Now Good Time To Plow Terraces

Now is a good time for maintenance plowing of field terraces, according to Glenn Green of the local Soil Conservation Service.

Green stated that terraces and their end closures should be checked after each farming operation to see if they have been weakened. Needed repairs should then be made.

He said that a good job of terrace maintenance costs little more than that of breaking land. Terraces maintained before spring rains could prevent loss of water and the cost of major repair bills later.

RSCD Supervisors Announce Plans For Tour March 29

Bill Minzenmayer, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Runnels Soil Conservation District announced that there will be a conservation tour on Wednesday, March 29. He said the tour will start at 9:30 a. m. on the B. J. Colburn farm which is about five miles northwest of Winters and one mile west of Farm to Market Road 2405. Minzenmayer stated the tour will feature winter legumes as cover crops and their management for soil improvement.

Farm Steer Beef Production Proved

Utilizing farm feeds, crop residues, small grains and Sudan pasture for beef production has been proven practical and profitable for Texas farmers. Over a seven year span at the Beeville Experiment Station, calves weighing 387 lbs. on September 16 showed an average gain of 686 pounds by December 23 of the following year, when fed on this system.

For these tests, the calves were supplementally fed sorghum silage, sorghum grain and cottonseed meal in drylot when grazing was not adequate. It was found to be unprofitable, however, to feed concentrates while grazing the calves on good pasture.

Management determines when to supplement feed in drylot and when to graze by observing the cattle and the grazing crops. Such a system allows maximum usage of grazing crops and silage or other roughage. On the tests, appraised values of the cattle at the end of grazing generally showed that grazing and drylot feeding were more profitable than selling after grazing only.

Some of the disadvantages of this type of system are the farm steer beef production requires owning two sets of cattle at the same time; it takes about 15 months to finish each group of cattle; and additional funds for feedlot construction, fencing and watering of grazing fields, feed storage and feeding equipment are required.
