A spokesman for the Farmers Co-Op states that "Farmers and ginners alike are coming to realize that cotton today faces fierce competition from synthetics because the synthetic industry has stepped up its research and promotional programs which could eventually mean capture of the cotton industry's markets.

"An example of how research and promotion has helped the cotton farmer," he said, "is the discovery of wash and wear finishes which helped to create markets for 800,000 bales of cotton annually. This is only one way research is helping cotton meet competition mean more money for the farmer, but on the other hand, it also means more fruitful production,' the board spokesman said.

"In counties throughout the nation where cotton is predominantly the industry, farmers know that cotton is their livlihood, its prolihood, and it is to the interest of every cotton farmer to see that competition is met for continued growth, and the stability of the cotton industry which can be in-sured only through the united effort of all cotton farmers toward seeing that a sound research and promitional program for cotton is carried out," the spokesman said.

Student, Teacher To Attend Science Symposium At UT

Jerrel Elliott, who will be a junior Middleton, science teacher in Winters High School, have been nameed to attend the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools scheduled at the University of Texas June 11-14.

The Symposium is sponsored by the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation. All expenses of the symposium will be paid by the power companies which make up the Foundation. The West Texas Utilities Company will pay the expenses of the student and the teacher named to attend the symposium.

The symposium will bring together students and teachers who are vitally interested in the scientific frontiers which have been opened by twentieth century discoveries in nuclear science. The program is designed to (1) supply basic information about nuclear science and the interrelated fields of modern mathematics, radio chemistry and nuclear physics and (2) to give teachers and students an opportunity to discuss aspects of nuclear science with wellqualified scientists from several fields.

Winters High School was one of ten high schools selected to send representatives to the symposium. Mr. Middleton was selected to represent the school's science department and Jerrel was selected on the basis of scholastic ability and scientific interest.

Jerrel is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ray Elliott.

Bob Shoemake Receives Math Scholarship

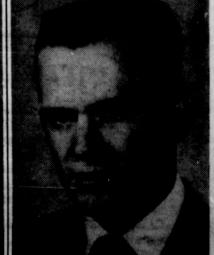

Bob Shoemake, a junior student ceived notification of an award of a summer scholarship to attend an Institute for High School Students in Mathematics at New Mexico State University at Albuquerque,

Bob will attend school from June 26 to August 4 at the New Mexico The purpose of the Institute is to give opportunity to secondary school students with outstanding academic achievement to gain an increased understanding of scientific content and methods through instruction and study under the supervision of teachers of recognized scientific stature. Purposes also are to improve the quality of training in mathematics and in the sciences in high schools and increase the quantity of the supply of qualified personnel in teaching and work in scientific fields and to develop the large potential of talent among the youth and stimulate them towards fields of scientific achievement.

Although the courses will be noncredit, they will be broad, informative, and of special interest to students of science and mathematics. Students will be encouraged to do individual work of a creative nature and will have the opportunity to study a wide variety of topics not usually included in high school curricula.

Bob was selected on the basis of scholastic record, test scores, and recommendations of his principal and teachers. Bob is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Shoemake.

Statistics Which Should Be Read Let me close this column by giving some statistics for bankers, merchants, and parents to read. These figures are based upon a survey by the University of Michigan. The survey showed that 68 percent of American households are in debt in one form or another. 48 percent of the families are saddled with periodic installment debt repayments; 31 percent owe mortgage debts; 24 percent owe on noninstallment debt. According to the study, 14 percent of the families owing installment debts are "in hock" for over $1,000—double the proportion only five years ago. The survey had one encouraging note. Namely, that about one-third of the families owing installment debts report that they have enough savings to offset their debt. For those who rationalize that installment buying keeps their savings intact, I would like to point out that statistics show this is a very costly practice.

TRIED AND STILL TRUE—It seemed almost too simple when 178 years ago the Montgolfier crothers brought man's dream of flight to reality. Their talloon, left, was launched over the French countryside by building a fire under the craft. As the air within warmed, the balloon rose in the air. As it cooled, it settled slowly earthward. In North Dakota recently, P. Edward Yost, right, mont-golfiered to a 9,000-foot, two-hour flight in a U.S. Navy test balloon. Suspended in a swing seat, he manipulated a portable propane burner which warmed the air inside. To land, he merely turned down the flame. Advantages, says the Navy, are economy and simplicity of operation.

"The Savage Innocents"

An exciting adventure drama a bout life among the Polar Eski-"The Savage Innocents," starring Anthony Quinn and the beautiful Japanese favorite, Uoko Tani, arrives next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the State used in the oval sign identifying Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor and technirama, the Paramount release offers movie-goers an unusual glimpse at a primitive people fighting for survival in a distant corner of the globe.

"The Savage Innocents" is based on the best-selling novel, "Top of the World" by Hans Ruesch. The book has been published in 15 languages and is considered the final authority as a realistic portrayal of Polar Eskimo life. For the utmost in authenticity and realism the film was made mostly in the northernmost Arctic wastes of Canada. It has scenes, hitherto unphotographed, of Eskimo life, together with shots of seal, walrus, caribou, polar bear and other wild animals native to the re-

The versatile Academy Awardwinning Anthony Quinn has one of the most challenging roles of his career as the simple but courageous Eskimo hunter, Inuk. The story concerns his taking of a wife, played by Miss Tani, and what happens to the couple upon contact with the civilization of the white man. In addition to an eyeopening view of a way of life about which very little is known by the average movie - goer, "The Savage Innocents" tells a dramatic and deeply moving story of unusual people.

Every man has three characters-that which he exhibits, that which he has and that which he thinks he has. -Alphonse Karr.

Humble Introduces New Gasoline Trademark

Last week Humble Oil & Refining Company unveiled its new Enco trademark to motorists of Texas and the Southwest. Announcement of the new brand Enco comes from the company's ergy Company," adopted after the (New Jersey) into the Humble Oil & Refining Company.

The new trademark will identify Angeles to Chicago. Humble gasolines, motor oils and other products throughout the West, Middle West and Southwest. Except in Texas, Enco will also be service stations selling Humble products. In Texas, service stations will continue to be identified by an oval Humble sign.

By replacing 12 different brand names and four different service station identification signs established before the merger, Enco is expected to end a confusion of brand names among the company's customers as they travel from state to state.

Two new premium gasolines make their debut under the Enco trademark. Through an exclusive combination of additives developed by Humble research, these new premium gasolines give cars what Humble calls an "energy boost."

Humble engineers say this energy boost results from greater engine efficiency achieved by the cleansing action of the new combination of additives.

To acquaint motorists with the new Enco trademark, a widespread advertising campaign in all media began last week. One feature of this campaign is an offer of a free Parker Eversharp Reporter ball-point pen to the first 200,000 customers who test-drive a new Enco premium gasoline and report on the results.

The Enco trademark was first tested last summer when the new Humble Oil & Refining Company

Budget Hearing--

event there are any who desire, I shall be glad to discuss fully my knowledge of the facts.

As early as 1911 the City of Winters found it necessary to finance a water program. In that year a Water Improvement Bond in the sum of $20,000 was adopted. The bond was set up with payments being deferred over a period of years. As you know, a bond issue is nothing more than a loan and must be repaid over a period of years. Some bonds are paid from taxes and others are paid from revenue provided from some public works depending on the tenor of the bond indenture. From time to time after 1911 the City found it necessary to finance other improvements by additional bond issues. Additional water facilities, sewer facilities, street facilities and general operation of a new growing town required outside money and bond issues were about the only source. A new hospital was found to be desirable and necessary and this too was financed by a bond issue. During the depression years it was found difficult to meet some requirements and refunding of the bond issues were resorted to. Refunding is simply another name for refinancing. By 1938 the City of Winters had a bonded indebtedness of approximately $200,000 which included some of the original 1911 bond issue which had been refunded. It was found desirable that year to bring all of the outstanding issues up to date and refund these bonds. These bonds were all of the tax bond type. In 1941 additional water requirements were developing and thought was being given to the development of a municipal power plant and the bond issues were again refunded. Additional bond issues were adopted and time warrants issued from time to time covering additional water system, city hall and fire station, street improvements, swimming pool and park, electric system and sewer improvements and by September 1960 our outstanding bonded indebtedness had reached the principal sum of approximately $76,000 plus interest of a like amount.

The bond issues were not unusual as compared to other towns and our ability to repay, however, in the refunding of the bonds the payment dates were set up with either very small payments during the early years or no payments at all for at least 10 years after the bonds were issued except the interest that accrued. This, in my opinion, is not good policy if it can be avoided. For instance in 1953 total bond principal payments were $11,500 and interest payments of $15,000 or a total of $26,500 to be paid on a total outstanding of $875,000. By 1956, the motif used in decorations for without any new bond issues the the annual junior-senior banquet payments had increased on the Friday eve principal to $21,500 and they have teria. continued to increase until this year of 1961 when our payment of ceremonies and James B. I make no effort to deny that these are up just the same as are all commodities with which you are well acquainted. Our materials cost more, our fuels cost more, wages are higher, requests and demands of the citizenship for more services are greater, but these things any thinking person already knows. This is not peculiar to Winters-it is the world

I do not intend to present a hopeless picture for it is not hopeless, as a matter of fact it is far from it. I do intend to present a factual report to the people of our status. I have no choice but to recommend to the Council a source of revenue to meet our obligations and that source is either from increased taxes, increased water, power and sewer revenue, or a combination of all of these. I regret that it falls my duty to do this and I would welcome a plan whereby it would not be necessary. It is easy to say economize-it is more difficult to do it. I could close my eyes to the facts, squeeze by this term of office and leave it to the next man to figure out but that is done far been very low, with one elevator too often in public office and results in a compounded burden a little later on. We must meet this problem at this time for if we do we can work it out. If we wait it may be too large to bear. Our budget for the coming year is almost ready for presentation. A public budget hearing will be announced within afew days and I urge all interested citizens to attend that budget hearing. There the citizens will have an opportunity to examine the proposed expenditures of the city and make any comment they desire or inquire into the details of expense. Some of the citizens may have a solution to the problem. It will be welcome. I suggest that you discuss our mutual problem with your friends and encourage them to come to the budget meeting. Do locality. not be afraid to speak out or talk with either myself or any of the councilmen regarding this matter. I can assure you that your councilmen are interested in the welfare of Winters and of its individual citizens, else they would not donate their time to the affairs of the City. I cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity of all interested citizens in acquainting themselves with the true conditions for I know with an understanding citizenship we in Winters can overcome any problem which faces us. Just remember this your councilmen pay taxes just like you do. If your taxes go up, so do theirs. Before you condemn your City government study and know the facts and causes, then if you feel your City government has erred, use your best judgment at election time.

I present this after considerable study and with only one result in view-to establish in Winters a sound economy and a better place to live. I trust that you accept it in the spirit I present it and help myself and your councilmen with a solution. I am well aware that it will not be easy to say "I told you so." When you hear this please ask for a solution and see that they present it at the budget hear-

Some time ago we mentioned an ad which had been run by another paper across the country, which read: "Must sell brand-new forbasider, with built-in Hemingway. Can be used left or right-handed. Etc." Decided to get in on the game before prices went up, and ordered one, thinking that perhaps we could copy it and start a brandnew business in Winters manufacturing forbesiders.

Now comes word, by way of George Fuermann who runs the 'Post Card' column for the Houston Post, that Jim Barnhill, publisher of the Hillsboro Mirror, also has the idea of manufacturing forbesiders. The only thing we can figure out now is to have a meeting with Barnhill and perhaps come to some kind of agreement regarding territories. If he won't try to sell in West Texas, we'll stay out of his area.
