Freedom Riders May Have Been Prompted by Reds By Congressman O. C. Fisher

What prompted the Freedom Riders mission into the South? Many speculations are heard. One theory which has substantial backing is that it was Communist - inspired, timed to coincide with the Kennedy - Krushchev meeting in Vienna which will take place soon. If so, the Reds would hope that Kennedy's prestige would be down graded because of world news coverage of the Alabama riots, and that this would give the Russian Commies are not in the habit of overlooking any bets.

Another theory is that the NA-ACP, through its Congress of Racial Equality, which sponsored the trips, felt that by provoking a riot have fallen below the cost-of-living in the South it would assist in more members.

In any event, the bus trips, which were widely publicized as a challenge to Southern laws and customs, have aroused much interest in the need for enactment of laws to better cope with those who conspire together for the purcluding riots. Bills have now been introduced to make it a Federal offense for one or more persons to travel across state lines with their mission designed or reasonably calculated to cause riots or the violation of existing laws. This proposal is sure to run into stubborn opposition from NAACP and also from certain radical labor leaders who don't want interference in the movement of pickts or goon squads across state lines, even though such movement might be designed or reasonably calculated to provoke breaches of the peace or other criminal acts. It is felt by many that the riots, which were most deplorable, were actually in accordance with the hopes and expectations of the socalled Freedom Riders. President Kennedy surprisingly announced that donations to the fund would be treated as charity payments and exempt from income taxes.

Many Congressmen promptly challenged the legality of the President's views. After all, if a tractor (or the value of it) cannot be given to a Texas farmer, sans income tax, why should it be legal to donate that same tractor to Fidel Castro and the donation be exempted from taxes?

Ministers Have Until April 15, 1962, To Obtain Coverage

The time has been extended to April 15, 1962, for ministers to take action in obtaining social security coverage, according to Floyd B Ellington, manager of the Social Security District Office.

Participation in the social security insurance system is optional on an individual basis for ministers. For this purpose, the pastor of a church is treated as a selfemployed person, and once he elects the coverage, he pays the social security tax with a report of his earnings each year when he files his income tax return. The previous deadline for elect-

My son and I gave this new invention a good test on Lake Travis as soon as the minnow socks arrived. We bought four dozen big Silver Shiner minnows-the kind they raise at Rockdale.

Another interesting feature of the experiment was the fact that bass would attack the minnows three, four, sometimes five times, trying to free the bait . . . even scaling and skinning the tail of the big Shiners in an effort to take the bait from the sack.

We wrote Wes Rose of Bait's Alive in Toronto, and told him about our experience and ordered several of his minnow - socked hooks in each size.

Wes says that the "sock" is tied to a specially designed nickled hook, with a pan shaped shank, because it allows the minnows more freedom of motion.

His idea was developed with three main thoughts in mind.

Second-no device yet had been produced that would hold a minnow securely while still allowing it to swim and remain alive almost indefinitely.

Third-best position of minnowto-hook is parallel.

For maximum hook exposure the sock and minnow should be on the left side of the hook.

Ordinarily the minnow is inserted into the sock head first. However, for certain conditions, some fishermen prefer the head at the point of the hook. In that event they insert the minnow into the sock, tail first.

Next time out we'll try them with some small perch as bait.

Minnow Socks should be equally as effective on the Gulf, using live shrimp as the tempter. For that matter, hunks of squid might be inserted in the sock, thus saving a man lots of re-baiting time. Anxious to try that too!

Wes also pointed out some other uses. For example-attaching the sock and its single hook to a spoon and trailing it bucktail like. Or using it in conjunction with any type of spinner or wobbler.

For still - fishing Wes recommends the use of a solid piano wire leader, bent into an "L" shape. With this rig and a 10-foot line the minnow will struggle in a

Process For Food Developed

Scientists of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service are developing a new means of dehydistribution outlets throughout the drating potato, carrot or other vegetable pieces so they will be ready to eat after simmering in water for about five minutes. Before this new process is recommended for commercial use, however, cost estimates will be made and storage data obtained.

According to the scientists working on this project, it gives vege-Hope itself is a species of happitable pieces a porous structure which enables them to take up water rapidly. As a result, their cooking time is shortened from the 15 to 30 minutes usually required to about five minutes. PHONE LINES OUT-Eldredge Cox, on the ladder, and Jerry Don King inspect damage to telephone cables caused when a truck ramed the pole about 4:30 last Friday afternoon. Cox is the senior exchange repairman and King is exchange repairman for the Winters office of the Southwestern States Telephone Co.

According to reports, the truck failed to make the corner and hit the pole, breaking it, and cutting some of the telephone lines in the lead cable. This pole was the main riser pole, carrying lines for the entire south part of town, and several long distance lines. The lines run from the pole and enter the ground at this point, and from there go underground to the telephone office on North Main. The pole is located on West Parsonage just off Main Street.

Cox said that the damaged long distance lines were resotred to operation in less than an hour. Not more than 30 local phones were out of order as a result of the accident, he said. These were put back in operation by the next morning.

Cox said that this particular cable was called a "1212 pair cable," and that some 300 lines were damaged. Most of the 300 were not in use, however.

The 1961 Cancer Crusade drive for funds netted $852.00 from Winters and surrounding communities of North Runnels County, Homer Hodge, co-chairman of the county campaign, said this week.

Special gifts solicitation, headed by Gene Keel of thers; Mrs. Louisa I Ballinger, netted $372.49.

Hodge was county co-chairman with Jim Miller of Ballinger.

The co-chairmen said this week that they were "gratified to see the vote of confidence given the pro-gressive program of the American Cancer Society by the people of our county. Certainly we have lost many fine citizens to the disease. We know of no more fitting and more effective way to remember them and to avoid repeated loss to this killer in the future than to give our time, effort and financial support to this outstanding volunteer organization."

'Response to our volunteer endeavors in North Runnels has been wonderful," said Hodge. "Although there still remain many unreached, I think the efforts of Mrs. J. W. Bahlman and her pub lic education committee volunteers have had a significant effect. The support of the medical profession in this respect has been truly laudable. We can only hope now that everyone will heed our Crusade slogan fully: 'Fight Cancer with Check-Up and a- Check'."

Cotton Council Speaker Urges More Research

research and promotion are paying big dividends in the form of lowered costs, improved products and expanded markets, according to Gene Woodman, field representative of the National Cotton Coun-

In an address before a meeting of farmers at the Farmers Co-Op Gin at Wilmeth May 25, it was pointed out that cotton consumption in apparel uses has grown by 1,300,000 bales or 50 percent since 1947. "This proves beyond any shadow of doubt that product improvement research and sales promotion have paid off for cotton, the speaker stated.

Color slides were shown to illustrate how industry funds are being used to hold and expand cotton's markets. When combined with the additional research and promotion support harnessed from groups outside the industry, Woodman explained, cotton is given a much more formidable program than ever before. He cautioned that the total, however, still falls far short of the $75 million a year cotton's synthetic fiber competitors are spending on research and the $20 million on promotion.

"Market research is employed to pinpoint cotton's opportunities as well as its problems. It determines where research and promotional efforts should be applied, what is needed to make cotton competitive, and finally how to proceed with improvement programs.

"The problem of meeting price competition is attacked by a variety of research projects aimed at reducing cotst," Woodman contin-ued. "Each hundred pounds that are added to yields cuts produc-tion costs by $7.50 a bale. Better control of insects and weeds could drop costs as much as $40.00 a bale on a belt-wide average."

Soon as you lay out money for a year's television service, the thing behaves perfectly month in and out, just like all insurance.

The idea of some buyers is that the gross price is all profit to you.

To those who are looking forward to a ripe old age, I think it fair to tell them it isn't what it's cracked up to be.
