Talk

More than half a month remains before those who have not already voted to get their poll tax receipt. The deadline is January 23, and there will be no extension.

It will be a very important pollwise. Congressmen will be elected; a governor will be elected; other high state offices will be up for grabs. The people will choose State Senators, State Representatives. In the meantime, about half of the elective offices will be filled this year. There will be city elections and school elections; voters will determine a few more constitutional amendments next fall. In addition, there is a chance for other elections not now in sight.

If you've got your poll tax receipt, you are permitted to join the parade to the polls. If not, you may only stand and watch the people elect candidates and discuss issues which highly affect your own life.

Payment of poll taxes has been made a little more convenient for the citizens of Winters and community at large, by the opening of an office on North Main Street by the Jordan, deputy tax collector. The office is open every day during business hours, and someone is on duty at all times. So excuse that it is too much to be going to the county seat, obtaining the receipt by mail, and then standing up. There are few who do not make frequent trips downtown—and the tax office is only a few steps away from any given location. Even if you cannot make the trip because of ill health or some other legitimate reason, arrangements probably could be made to obtain poll taxes.

The poll tax receipt is your guarantee of the right to voice your opinion. Without it, you have no moral right to praise or to criticize.

Not called down for not mentioning, in talking about hog killing last week, the virtues of cracklin' bread! Fully intended to do that, but each time we reached the subject we were rebuffed by an insurmountable barrier—an endless task, which, when full rein, would consume a lot of paper. Suffice it to say that the man who has not had the pleasure of eating cracklin' bread has had three-fourths of the fun of life.

Nothing in the news lately has puzzled: Were the Congolese soldiers who killed those American missionaries our (U.N.) heroes, or did they belong to the other side? Or were they just uneducated rioters out for a lark, applying for U. S. financed independence?

Our old friend who lives on the farm out on Bluff Creek says that the Washington, D. C. government is paying some people while they learn to drive tractors. Says he can't quite see it out—although he guesses they are learning and getting paid for it, it will be relieving the unemployment situation a little. And then after they learn to drive the tractors, he figures they will be in line to get paid for driving tractors in fields they're supposed to plow. And then the tractor driver market is growing they can then be paid for learning to do something else. He should keep a few off road tractors for a long time, he figures. Says he wonders, though, if a training program is using all the tractors which were supposed to have been sent to Cas-

Our friend says he wishes the government had had a training program like that back in the days when he was re-tooling his farm operation from mules to tractors. It would have saved a lot of sweat and swearing, and a lot of many rows of cotton which were blown up during the period when he was learning that a tractor had to be held between the rows; that a tractor would not let the driver sleep from one end of the row to the other; and that the driver got down to open the gate, he had to climb back on the seat before the tractor would go through the gap.

Jones Named As "Man of the Year"

Winters' Mayor Harvey Dale Jones was named Man of the Year for 1961 at the annual banquet of the Winters Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night at the school cafeteria. This is the highest honor which can be bestowed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Jones, a native of Winters, and who finished school here, is serving his third year as mayor. He attended the University of Texas, and received his law degree from the University of Denver, Colo. He is a veteran of the armed forces, having served in the Pacific Theatre and in Korea in the Army of Occupation. He is in the lumber business.

The award, an engraved plaque, was presented to Mayor Jones by A. W. Libbe, outgoing president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce. Libbe, who has served two years as president of the local Chamber of Commerce, introduced the board of directors, and J. W. Bahlman, who is the newly-elected president of the business organization, oldover directors are Harry London, Walker Tatum, Ted Meyer, Mord S. Tucker and Libbe. New directors are J. W. Bahlman, Ellis Zane Moore, P. L. Harrison, C. P. Alfrey and William D. Parish. Outgoing directors include John W. Norman, Russell Mote, Bob Loyd, Harry Herman and T. L. Hatler. Bahlman, in his acceptance speech, asked for the cooperation of all citizens of Winters in building for a bigger and better town. Libbe presented an award certificate to Mrs. B. B. Bedford in recognition of her work with the Salvation Army's drive for assistance following the destruction in coastal areas following Hurricane Carla some months ago. The certificate was awarded by the Salvation Army.

G. W. Thomasson, communications representative of General Dynamics - Astronautics, Abilene, was the guest speaker for the evening. His topic was "The Space Age," and he reviewed the accomplishments to date in what he called this "technological" explosion the world is now experiencing.

It's not so much whether we want to explore space, but whether we or some other people will take the lead, the speaker said. "We are already deep into it," he pointed out.

Throughout history, Thomasson related, man has advanced by spurts or waves and at the end of each wave there is a plateau. "The world already is in a race to a new plateau. Do we want to be left on the last one?" he asked.

The race into space is being made, he said. Because man is inherently inquisitive, he must explore; because man is acquisitive; he must advance his habitat and lay claim to what he explores.

In 10 years, Thomasson noted, man already has made great advances in the new technology of the nuclear and space areas.

"In the coming decade man will set foot for the first time on the surface of the moon and then return to earth," he said. "And in the lifetime of most of us, man will visit Mars and perhaps Venus."

The space race is costly, he said, but it is an investment in the future. Already the space efforts have brought improvements in weather exploration, in communication, and will, in the near future, affect many other phases of the economic life, he said.

Poll Tax List Growing Longer

Office personnel at the North Main Street office of Travis Jordan, deputy tax collector, report that the list of people who have paid their poll taxes is growing longer each day.

Up to Wednesday afternoon, they said, more than 200 people had dropped by to pay their taxes. This is in addition to the many from this area who got their receipts from the county seat prior to the time the Winters office was opened a short time ago.

January 31 is the deadline for paying poll taxes, or obtaining exemption certificates, Jordan pointed out. He urged everyone to get their poll tax receipts before the deadline so they will be permitted to exercise their voting rights during this election year.

This race to conquer space, the speaker said, will affect world culture and world economics; and the most pressing needs for American superiority are in political realism.

"The nation which controls space will dominate the world," Thomasson said. "If we want our economic and political systems to prevail, we must have the space weapons in our camp."

Runnels County Political List Keeps Growing

The list of candidates for political office in Runnels County continues to grow as the Feb. 5 filing deadline date draws nearer.

Re-shuffling of the State Representative districts by the last legislature has caused new names from new localities to show up on the Runnels County list. Ben Barnes of DeLeon, now State Representative from the district of which Comanche County has been a part, has announced as a candidate for State Representative, 64th District. Runnels County is now a part of that District, along with Brown, Coleman and Comanche Counties. The old district included Runnels, Coke, Concho and Coleman with Bill Moore of Ballinger as Representative.

No new candidates had shown up on the roster in Runnels County this week, with only incumbents so far definitely announced for re-election. These candidates include: For County Judge, W. H. Rumpy, re-election; for County Clerk, Frankie Berryman, re-election; for District Clerk of Runnels County, Willie Stephens, re-election; for County Treasurer, Otis Jacob, re-election; for Commissioner, Precinct No. 2, Melvin T. Mapes, re-election.

It is also understood that State Senator Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo has also filed in Runnels County as a candidate for re-election.

USDA Announces Change In Skip-Row Cotton Planting

The four-row limitation on "skip-row" planting will not apply to the 1962 cotton crop, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Under regulations for 1961 and earlier crops, skip-row cotton planting was permitted provided the skips left idle or planted to other crops were equal in width to the four rows of cotton. If the skip rows were any narrower, the entire acreage was counted as planted to cotton for acreage allotment and marketing quota purposes. Under this arrangement many growers planted a four-and-four pattern—four rows to cotton and four left idle or planted to other crops.

The change, Secretary Freeman said, will provide the cotton grower with more latitude in planning and carrying out his operations. Under the new system, only land actually planted to cotton will be counted as cotton land in determining compliance with acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Each grower will determine for himself the pattern best suited to his operation. It is expected that many will shift to a two-and-two pattern, that is two rows of cotton and two rows left idle or planted to other crops.

The decision to end limitations on the skip-row planting is in line with recommendations of the Cotton Advisory Committee and many members of the cotton industry, USDA officials said, and is expected to result in improved income for cotton growers through increased efficiency in production.

The January 2 announcement applies only to cotton and does not change skip-row determinations in effect for other crops. Details on the new regulations are available at local ASC committee offices.

Points Out Reasons For Expecting High Retail Sales During Coming Year

In my 1962 annual forecast for readers I predicted that retail trade will set fresh records during the new year. Not all economists are of the same mind on this matter, so I would like to point out my reasons for expecting historic highs in retail buying in 1962. Retailers from the largest to the smallest, from the big cities to the tiny hamlets, could be affected by the developing trend.

Money In Buyers' Hands
First off, it should be emphasized that workers' earnings have been climbing steadily ever since earner has been steadily on the rise. To demonstrate that the up-trend is still strong, it should be noted that over the past twelve months hourly earnings have gone up 4 percent, and weekly earnings 7 percent. The rate, as you can see, is still very healthy.

Earnings VS. Living Costs
The importance of the great boost in earnings is highlighted by the fact that, during the same period of time, the retail price of goods and services has edged upward at a far less rapid pace. The consumer price index of the Labor Department has, in fact, risen only a moderate 13 percent during the past ten years. Over the past twelve months the gain has amounted to only 1 percent, a far cry from the 7 percent rise in weekly earnings mentioned above.

I am proud indeed of our manufacturers and merchants who have thus succeeded in holding prices down while wages have been soaring ever higher. This is not an easy thing for them to do at a time, when the squeeze on profits is ever tighter, and when labor unions are persistently seeking new raises and more costly fringe benefits. But I am confident that astute tradesmen will be able to hold their heads above water successfully in 1962,—at least partly because of the tremendous retail turnover that I anticipate.

Labor Force Expanding
The labor force has been growing steadily, and the families of that force are the nation's buyers. While the unemployment problem has been a serious headache for the Administration, it has not affected selling seriously, except in a few one-industry localities such as, for instance, coal mining centers. Detroit can be badly hurt during a recession or at model-changing time, but employees laid off over the longer term can gradually be absorbed by other industries spreading out into previously all-auto sections.

I look for a continuing expansion of the working force and of employment generally in 1962. Even the jobless rate, which has been hovering around 7 percent for about a year, has suddenly begun to move lower, and now stands, seasonally corrected, at 6.1 percent. Government economists are reflecting more optimism. One insider, in fact, recently estimated that the unemployment rate may be down to 4.5 percent or even less by year's end. At any rate, the current course of employment is now strongly upward, the trend for unemployment gradually lower.

Buying Psychology Powerful
The nervousness and doubt evident during the recession now seem to have given way, in considerable degree, to renewed courage and confidence with regard to domestic prospects. Buying psychology in 1962 will be far less cautious, and even luxuries will be a good deal easier to move.

Texas ranked first in the nation with 37,477 persons enrolled in Civil Defense adult education classes.

Funerals Services Here Sunday For Adolf Belitz, 82

Funeral services for Adolf Belitz, 82, a German-born immigrant, were held Sunday. A brief service was held in Spill Memorial Chapel at 2:45 p.m. and the funeral was held at St. John's Lutheran Church at 3 p.m. with the Rev. H. K. Flathmann, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Lutheran Cemetery.

Mr. Belitz came to the United States and to Winters in 1891, and died at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Winters Municipal Hospital.

Born April 22, 1879, in Elenbruck, Germany, he came to Winters at the age of 12 and lived with a sister, the late Mrs. Richard Gottschalk, south of here for three years, moving to Dallas in 1894 to become a baker's apprentice.

He returned to Winters in 1909 and opened a bakery. His first bakery burned and he rebuilt on S. Main St. at the same location where the Belitz bakery now stands. Mr. Belitz operated the business until entering the hospital on Jan. 9.

Mr. Belitz married Minnie Bredemeyer May 12, 1912, in Winters. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and of the Sons of Herman Lodge 216 at Rowena. Survivors are his wife; three daughters, Minnie Belitz, Mrs. Walter Gerhart and Mrs. Merl Wright, all of Winters; and seven grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. A son and three daughters preceded Mr. Belitz in death.

Pallbearers were Willie Davis, Carl Gottschalk, Herbert Jacob and A. B. Spill, all of Winters, William Chamber of Midland and C. A. Christian of Abilene.

Persons Who Got VA Checks Urged To Send Report

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on the Veterans Administration pension rolls are urged by the VA to complete and return promptly the income questionnaires they received with their checks on the first of January.

The completed cards must be returned to the VA not later than January 31 or by law payments must be discontinued, P. J. Mims, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said today.

The questionnaire—a tabulating card—together with complete instructions for filling it out, was sent to disabled veterans, widows, and orphans receiving pension payments from the VA, and to the parents of deceased veterans who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation.

Pension is paid to wartime disabled veterans who are unemployed because of disability not due to service and to eligible survivors of wartime veterans.

The income questionnaires were not sent to those placed on the rolls after October 20, 1961, nor to disabled veterans receiving compensation payments since compensation payments based on disabilities due to military service are not affected by the recipient's income or net worth.

Here's the VA's advice to those receiving the questionnaires: 1. Fill out the card completely, following instructions carefully. 2. Do not bend, staple, pin, cut, tear, or mutilate the card, as it is machine-processed when returned to the VA. 3. Sign the card. Unsigned cards must be returned for signature. 4. Return the card promptly.

U. S. Navy Accepts 3-Year Enlistments

Capt. Paul George, Director of the Seventh Navy Recruiting area with Headquarters in Dallas announced today that in addition to its current programs the Navy will accept young men without prior military training for a three year first enlistment. Also eligible personnel with prior military training may now reenlist for only two or three years with up to 30 days advance leave. Formerly enlistments and reenlistments were for four or six years.

This new experimental program will remain in effect until June 30, 1962. This program has been placed in operation to meet the increased readiness posture of the Navy and the Nation and in no way effects the Navy's current stay in school policy.

For more information contact the Navy Recruiter at San Angelo, Texas located in the Post Office Building.

LENDS ENCHANTMENT

It's always exciting and flattering to be remembered. When you're away, a long distance call is the kind of thoughtful attention a woman appreciates most. She'll love getting the news first hand, but most of all she'll love knowing you care enough to call long distance. To her, your call is a big thing, yet it costs you so little, especially if you call after 6:00 P.M. or on Sundays.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

Boating is the fastest growing participation sport in the country. Those people would like to get on the fun. But they simply can't afford the price of a new outboard motor, much less a boat to go with it.

Anyone can rent a boat, but a self-owned motor is almost a necessity. One solution is to invest in a used motor.

Here are a few tips, gathered from talking with several reputable outboard motor dealers, which may be helpful to sportsmen shopping around.

One of the most important things to remember is to buy only from an authorized outboard dealer. Beware of sharks and independent outlets. Unless you're dealing with a trustworthy, personal, friend, who will vouch for his merchandise, better think twice before you buy a motor from anyone but a person holding an outboard dealership.

A large motor will depreciate one-third its list price the first year of operation. Naturally, smaller motors have an approximately lower margin of depreciation.

Don't let the age of the motor fool you, even though the later model motors usually are the best. Only through a pin-pointed examination of the integral, working parts can a prospective buyer ascertain the true condition of the outboard.

Best way to judge the running condition is to actually test the outboard, on a boat, in the water.

If this is possible, a person can get a first-hand picture of the engine's capabilities and its running condition by close examination. Don't buy it without first examining its innards thoroughly, even though it operates smoothly. A badly worn part may function all right at first. But tomorrow could present an entirely different story.

Two most important things to watch while running an outboard are the cooling pump and the exhaust shift. The water-pumping unit is one of the most vulnerable parts.

Examine the lower portion of the cowling. Check the water escape duct in particular. Unless there is a steady stream of liquid pouring from this outlet, while the motor is in operation, something is at fault with the water pump.

The so-called "clutch dog" in the outboard foot usually is the first part that wears out first.

This is because an operator has a tendency to shift too slowly, slipping the gears. Shifting should be done with a quick, fluid motion.

If the motor won't stay in gear, it won't shift smoothly, normally the "clutch dog" is the part at fault.

After testing the motor (always for one ten minutes or more to allow for normal heating), remove the protective cowling and examine each part individually.

First look for cracks, especially in cylinder heads and block. If either of these parts is faulty, the motor is in poor condition and should not be purchased. Replacement of either is an expensive operation.

Foot and hold brackets (the parts that attach to the boat transom) are other places where cracks are apt to show up.

Occasionally the foot may receive a severe operational jolt against some submerged obstruction, causing it to crack.

Also the twin holding brackets, subjected to continuous vibration and sometimes severe knocks when the motor is laid to rest on the transom, often become cracked.

Check the gasoline tank for dents and be sure there is no leakage at these depressions.

On large motors examine the electrical starter and connections. Make doubly sure the generator is functioning properly.

Work the starter cord several times. If the motor is in acceptable running shape, it should kick off on the first or second yank of the cord.

How good a motor you get depends largely on how much you are willing to pay. To double-check a second-hand motor is only a matter of being sure of what you are getting for the price you are asked to pay.

Some Foreign Born Agricultural Workers Not Covered By SS

Mr. Floyd B. Ellington, Manager of the San Angelo Social Security District Office, announced there has been some misunderstanding by farmers and ranchers as to which foreign born agricultural employees are covered by social security.

If you are a farmer or rancher and contract with a foreign government for specific temporary agricultural workers, then wages paid to these employees are not taxable wages under the Social Security Act. However, wages paid to other foreign born persons who are admitted to the United States under a temporary Visa are covered if they meet the agricultural employment tests.

A farm or ranch worker is covered by social security if he is paid $150 or more cash wages in a year by one employer or if he works for one employer on 20 or more days in the year for cash wages figured on a time basis.

Ellington emphasized that employers are required by law to keep accurate payroll records in order to report the employee's name and social security number as it appears on his social security card along with the amount of wages paid during the year.

For further information about social security provisions contact your San Angelo social security office or a representative from this office when he is in your locality.

Cotton Producers Emphasize Cost Cutting in 1961

The past year wasn't what cotton growers in many Texas counties would classify as a good one, but for the state as a whole, lint yields were the second highest on record, 348 pounds an acre. Thus, low yields in some areas were offset by record yields in others.

Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist, in his 1961 annual report highlights some of the past year's achievements. He said the 7-Step Cotton Committees, working on all levels, continued to be a major factor in the progress made by the producers of the state's most important crop. Since the program, initiated 16 years ago by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been operating, lint yields have climbed from 134 pounds an acre to 1961's 348 pounds. But perhaps of equal or even more importance have been the changes in production and harvesting, ginning and soil management practices.

The specialist reported that an estimated $68 million plus was saved last year in harvest costs through the use of machines—33,089 stripper harvesters and 4,782 spindle pickers. Harvesting machinery doesn't come cheap, the specialist said, as verified by the expenditure of over $32 million in 1961 alone for new picking and stripping machines.

Growers saved another $27.7 million in labor costs through the use of 50,605 rotary hoe equipped tractors and chemicals for weed and grass control. Spot-oiling of Johnsongrass was used on approximately a quarter million acres of cotton in 163 counties and spot-spraying of the same pest with water carried chemicals was used on 136,700 acres. Lateral oiling saved up to $25 an acre on hoe bills and was used on more than 86,000 acres in 75 counties.

Defoliants or desiccants were used on 61,555 farms in 170 counties to prepare cotton for machine harvesting. The use of moisture meters, a recent introduction, expanded rapidly and 136 were used in 41 counties as an aid in quality improvement.

Last year, county agents in 207 counties assisted producers with all phases of the 7-Step Program. County program building committees were also active in planning county work and emphasis in many counties was placed on the use of cotton burs for soil improvement and to reduce fire hazards. Burs were spread on 17,306 farms in 126 counties. A few years ago burs were commonly burned as waste. A ton of burs contains about $7.50 worth of plant nutrients and their application has raised lint yields by as much as 25 percent.

A team of extension specialists—cotton, entomologist, cotton gin, and at times others—was used to carry educational information to the counties. The team conducted 157 meetings attended by 13,252 producers. County agents in their follow-up work held almost 2,100 meetings with an attendance of approximately 53,000. County agents and committees also enjoyed the cooperation of newspapers, radio and television stations for getting needed information to producers and supplied them with more than 2,100 stories, 2,250 radio and 39 television programs.

Cotton is still the state's most important crop and the progress made has materially aided the entire economy of Texas, the specialist concluded.

Grain Resistance To Greenbugs Being Studied

The greenbug, as small grain producers know, is one of the most damaging insects of these crops. Losses from reduced yields of grain and forage have frequently exceeded several million dollars in a single season.

This insect can be controlled by modern insecticidal sprays, but often these are impractical or not effective because of weather conditions. The most economical and practical means of controlling the greenbug appears to be the development of resistant varieties.

Studies on greenbug resistance in barley, oats and wheat were initiated in 1951, by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. A recent publication of the Experiment Station contains the results of eight years of these studies.

Greenbug resistance of significance was first found in several varieties of barley. It was transferred to desirable domestic varieties by crossing, and several of the hybrids are presently undergoing yield trials.

Several greenbug-resistant varieties are spring-type wheats and of poor quality; therefore, much more breeding work will be necessary before acceptable greenbug-resistant varieties will be available to hard red winter wheat growers.

Resistant oat varieties have also been found, and this resistance is being transferred to domestic varieties. However, this breeding program has not been in progress long enough to indicate the successful development of adapted resistant oat varieties.

Marshall Formby Makes Formal Bid For Governor Chair

Calling for a return of the Government of the people of Texas, Marshall Formby, Wednesday, made his formal announcement for Governor in the Democratic Primary. Formby, made his announcement from McAllen, in the Valley, where he was guest of honor at an appreciation dinner. Recently, the highway through the Valley was named the "Marshall Formby Valley Expressway".

Formby is a former County Judge; former State Senator; and a former member and Chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. He is a strong advocate of the State Farm-to-Market Road System.

"Texans are demanding a more positive, progressive state administration, headed by a Governor who is not obligated to any cliques in either Washington or Austin. People are tired of the bickering and fussing among elected executives in Austin and they want a new leader—but one who will not be dictated to from Washington," Formby said in his announcement.

"Furthermore, the State needs a good solid businessman approach to solve the State's economic problems. I propose to bring sensible and logical leadership to the Governor's office when I am elected."

Formby's platform includes favoring a simplified tax system; amending the so-called unfair merit car insurance ruling; increasing the speed limit to 70 miles per hour on 4-lane divided highways in rural areas and then strict enforcement; solving the State's water and soil conservation problems; less red tape for small businessmen and farmers; and, operating Texas on a cash basis. He favors greater consideration for the State's senior citizens.

Sesame Variety Released By Farm Station

Foundation seed for Oro, a new shattering-type sesame variety, has been released to certified seed producers by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. It was developed in the cooperative plant breeding program of the Texas Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Oro is a branching, white-seeded variety that has proved to be widely adapted. Its erect branching growth habit permits it to fill out skips in rows and also helps in controlling weeds. The plants usually are 3 to 5 feet high, and under good growing conditions produce 3 capsules per leaf axil.

Seed produced by Oro are white, high in oil and protein and possess a bland to nutty flavor acceptable to the bakery trade. In four years of tests, Oro consistently produced more pounds of seed per acre than either Margo or Dulce.

Oro is harvested in the same manner as other shattering-type varieties. It requires from 85 to more than 100 days from planting to maturity, depending on weather conditions, and is 3 to 5 days later than Margo. At maturity, the leaves and stem turn yellow.

The new variety is moderately resistant to bacterial leaf spot when this disease is not severe and has proved resistant to Rhizoctonia root rot under most conditions.

For more information on Oro, write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and request a copy of Experiment Station publication L-547.

ortals as Screwworm s Are ASCS Expanding within the planned screwworm eradication program in the Southwest is a step forward today with the announcement that the South Animal Health Research Station's board of trustees is expanded and that an advisory council has been created.

C. Scruggs, recently elected president of the Foundation, said that each county which has an eradication committee will be represented by one man on the advisory council, and that additional advisory council members can be appointed.

Scruggs pointed out that 216 counties in Texas now have eradication committees and that other counties in the state are in the process of organizing. "Interest in the program also is growing in other states," he said. "Seven parishes in Louisiana have organized, and the Oklahoma Cattleman's Association passed a resolution at its annual meeting in December to call attention to the screwworm eradication program being conducted in the Southwest and to join with other southern states to adopt and foster a program that eventually will complete screwworm eradication."

Scruggs said the selection of J. R. Jersig of San Antonio as chairman brings the total number of trustees to 16 at this time. Jersig will represent Wildlife and Women's clubs. Other trustees are: One year—Claude McCreary, Victoria; C. H. Devaney, Colorado; Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde; Lane, Marfa. Two year terms: W. E. Bridges, Buffalo; W. E. Shaw, Weslaco; Alvie L. Cole, Building City; C. G. Scruggs, Hard school; Nelson, New Braunfels. Three year terms: V. A. "Bill" Clements, Longview; Jerry Puckett, Stockton; T. A. Kincaid, Jr., Kings; Dr. G. Kendrick, Marlin; construction; Richards, Paducah. Jersig is vice president, and Jersig is secretary-treasurer. Jersig emphasized through the following statement—that every penny collected would be used solely for the eradication program: "That it be the policy of the board of trustees that funds received from producers and will be held in escrow and expended only in the event that funds are available or authorized to initiate the screwworm eradication program and in the event that efforts to secure sufficient funds fail, all monies in such escrow accounts shall be returned to the individual or organization in which they were received." The screwworm eradication program is literally one of self-expectation. It is based on the fact that the female fly mates only once. The native population is overwhelmed by systematic releases of screwworm flies which have been sterilized by irradiation.

Early Planted Cotton Best

Cotton planted on April 3 in field trials at the McGregor Substation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1961 produced almost three times as much lint an acre as cotton planted on May 15. O. J. Tippit, farm superintendent, said early planting has proved effective over the years when early insect control is carried out.

In the 1961 tests, two varieties were used with little difference noted between them in yields when planted on the same date. The April 3 planting yielded 452 pounds of lint an acre compared with 158 pounds for the May 15 planting. April 15 plantings produced 342 pounds of lint an acre compared with a yield of 274 pounds for May 1 plantings.

Gross returns per acre based on lint at 30 cents a pound were $135.60; $102.60; $82.20 and $47.40, respectively for the four different planting dates, Tippit said. Hoing costs on the April plantings were 73 cents an acre compared with 55 cents for the May dates. All planting seed were treated with the systemic insecticide Thimet and the April plantings received three spray applications for early season insect control at a cost of $5.25 an acre. The May plantings required only a single spray application at a cost of $1.75, but all received three applications of insecticides for late season control at a cost of $6.75 an acre. All tests were planted, Tippit said, on early, well-prepared seedbeds, and 18 pounds of the Thimet-treated seed were planted per acre. This rate meant that approximately 100,000 seed an acre were planted. The final stand count taken after the last cultivation showed an average of 45,780 plants an acre or 3 1/2 plants per foot in the row, well within the 3-4 plants per foot recommended, Tippit explained.

The 60-acre field on which the tests were carried out was in grain sorghum in 1960 and was fertilized with 100 pounds of 16-20-0 an acre. Tippit said root rot was not a factor in yield as only a trace occurred.

"Pirates Of Tortuga"

The swashbuckling and vanished era of piracy and romance is captured in Pirates of Tortuga, Twentieth Century-Fox's perfect escape yarn for fans of all ages showing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre with Ken Scott and Leticia Roman in starring roles.

This is a tale of the buccaneers of the Spanish Main, of the privateer vessel which Charles II of England sends to conquer them, and of a girl stowaway who joins in the adventure. Bart Paxton (Ken Scott) is captain of the "Lazy Mermaid" commissioned by the King to capture the villainous Henry Morgan who has been spirited English cargoes to his hideout on the island of Tortuga, near Jamaica.

Meg Garham (Leticia Roman) a thieving gypsy street waif, is a stowaway aboard Paxton's vessel.

Convinced that she too can become a "great lady," she sets out to steal the hearts of all the ship's officers including the captain himself.

How Paxton's plans to destroy Morgan (Robert Stephens) are exposed, how both he and Leticia become the victims of scheming blackguards, and how Meg finally saves the Captain's life occupy the later part of this exciting 17th century adventure.

Ken Scott comes into his own in "Pirates of Tortuga." Scott, who has come up through the supporting player ranks and has portrayed a great many "heavyweights," finally wins both the fight and the girl.

"The Silent Call"

The hue and cry over the public's demand for wholesome screen entertainment suitable to the movie-going needs of the entire family is met by 20th Century-Fox in a new CinemaScope feature, "The Silent Call," a heartwarming story of a boy's devotion to his beloved dog, showing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

Here is the material of a classic, the audience-catching combination of a small boy, a faithful pet, and a pair of parents devoted to their child but trapped by the circumstances that must enforce their cross-country trek to a new job location where the dog will be unwelcome.

Roger Mobley, as the 12-year-old who must endure separation from "Pete" is already acclaimed for his sparkling performances on the popular "Fury" tele-series.

Gail Russell and David McLean play the difficult roles of the parents torn between sympathy and understanding of their small son's emotional difficulties, and the necessity of facing up to bread-and-butter problems.

"Twist Around the Clock"

With some of film's finest dancers of "The Twist," the new dance sensation, and a dozen or so of the most popular new song hits, Columbia Pictures' "Twist Around the Clock" Sunday only at the State Theatre. The breathless new romantic comedy brings

Mary Mitchell and Jeff Parker do the twist in Columbia Pictures' "Twist Around the Clock," first full-length feature about the sen-

Shameless loyalty of Susan Hayward to John Gavin, the man she can never marry, is dramatic time-bomb of Universal-International's "Back Street" in which the two co-star with Vera Miles.

to the screen such recording and night club favorites as Chubby Checker, Dion, Vicki Spencer, The Marceles and introduces Clay Cole. Mary Mitchell and Jeff Parker play a brother-sister dance team who bring "The Twist" to New York, where it zooms to national and international popularity.

"Back Street"

Hollywood's loudly heralded new production of "Back Street," starring Susan Hayward, John Gavin and Vera Miles, arrives Tuesday at the State Theatre. Already rated one of the season's top screen attractions, the Universal-International picture based on Fannie Hurst's all-time best selling novel seems due to receive a fervent welcoming ovation. Directed by David Miller for producer Ross Hunter, movie-land's most consistently successful filmmaker, "Back Street" is announced as an unabridged story of the "other woman" in a married man's life.

Current version, embracing modern technical improvements and dramatized for a new generation of moviegoers, is said to contain far more heart appeal and emotional thrust than its predecessors.

According to every preview report, few screen or theatrical efforts have approached the age-old, yet forever controversial problem of marital infidelity with such great sympathy and human understanding.

Miss Hayward, at the pinnacle of her popularity, will be seen as the woman who can never marry the man she loves. Gavin has the married-man role, while Miss Miles portrays his wife, an alcoholic. Action, probing the intimate hopes and frustrations of these inherently respectable people ranges from bitter-sweet romantic interludes in the midwest U. S. A. to tragic consequences in Rome and finally Paris. Sequences involving Gavin's two children are reportedly more poignant than counterpart stanzas in Miss Hurst's book.

Mrs. Loyd Roberson Named Chairman For Baptist Crusade

Mrs. Loyd Roberson of Winters has been named Woman Chairman for the Runnels Association in the churches phase of the Texas Baptist Crusade for Christian Education.

The leadership for each of the 17 Baptist districts in the state is the responsibility of a pastor, layman, and woman co-chairman. Each of the 122 associations have a set of similar officers. Together these district and associational chairmen are responsible for carrying out the crusade program.

The purpose of the crusade is to strengthen the denomination's schools by encouraging more Baptist students to attend Baptist colleges.

More than 3,700 Texas teachers participated in 225 demonstrations on the use of electronic laboratories, educational T.V., teaching machines, and other new teaching aids at Texas Education Agency conferences in San Angelo, Denton, Beaumont, and Corpus Christi.

Discovery May Aid Fight Against Screwworms

A recent discovery may prove of great value in future efforts to control or eradicate a very expensive livestock parasite, the screwworm. The discovery was a black screwworm fly. Normally, the flies are blue-green.

The first black screwworm fly was found by Dr. Leo E. LaChance, insect geneticist of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Kerrville, in a laboratory colony obtained from Orlando, Florida. Since these flies had not been irradiated, the black one is believed to be the result of a naturally occurring mutation. Several generations of the black screwworm fly have been produced by LaChance and his associates.

The black color is important as a genetic marker (a distinguishable physical characteristic that is heritable) and could prevent a problem which delayed the eradication in the Southeast, a quick, effective way to identify the released flies. Irradiation does not alter the appearance of screwworms and they are not readily recovered in traps. Dark markings are not sufficient for accurate identification. An easily distinguishable marker, such as the black color, could eliminate this present speed progress in future control programs.

The ARS entomologists are conducting studies to compare the genetically marked flies with wild flies for activity, longevity, and reproduction. This discovery will provide a valuable tool for use both in entomological research and in control efforts.

This discovery contributes much to the program underway in Texas sponsored by the Southern Regional Health Research

Twenty-two Texas schools have taken advantage of a new, State Board of Standard which authorizes accredited high schools to accept superior and talented students on their own rate through standing and advanced examinations.

Lawmakers Working Hard—Want To Turn Home For Election Campaigns

Vern Sanford Press Association

Legislative progress has been made as the Legislators toward the Gov. Price Daniel's reelection are seeking re-election are diligently at work. The session is to be home by the Legislature—Feb. 5.

House of Representatives: A much-amended loan bill to the Senate. Bill to set up tight supervision on the tend in amounts $1,500. Exceptions are credit unions, savings and associations and various cooperative credit groups. The bill is exempt from the regular interest per year. All schools over $1,500 would likewise increase 10 per cent. Bill allows a 3 per cent charge on loans under $200 to $500 . . . between $500 and $1,500 interest allowed on a loan over $20 is less than $4, the lender can charge $4 in lieu of interest.

Rural Roads: Senate passed the proposal by Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota to cut the spending on farm-to-market road construction and improvement by $17,500,000 a year. This amount will be used for construction of secondary and primary highways.

A House rural bloc on the Agriculture Committee favored a smaller reduction. They preferred a ten year graduated cut . . . to reach the goal set by Governor Daniel, Texas Farm Bureau, the County Judge and Commissioners Association and the Texas Good Roads Association.

Tourism: Large crowds turned out for the Senate and House committee meeting on these bills: (1) to appropriate $300,000 for advertising for tourists; (2) for expansion of the juvenile parole system; (3) and for repairs to the San Jacinto Monument.

Opposition came largely from advertising people who felt the Highway Department isn't the proper supervisor of an advertising program.

HORSEPLAY—Film star Yul Brynner lends his white cloth hat to a friend on the location site near Salta, Argentina, where his new movie, a historical drama, is being filmed.

G. W. Timms Was Honored On His 89th Birthday Sunday

G. W. Timms was honored Sunday on his 89th birthday with a birthday dinner attended by sixty four relatives. Other friends and relatives called during the afternoon.

All of the couples children were present except Mrs. Maudie Tharp of California. Those present were J. E. of Shallowater, W. O. of Hereford, J. L. of Lubbock, H. G. of Petersburg, R. V. of Ballinger, Mrs. May Kidd of Lamesa and Mrs. Pearl Wood of Ballinger and all of their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Timms moved to Winters in 1924, when he retired from active farming.

"TOURISTS READY TO TRAVEL"

Formation of the Texas Tourist Council became official at a luncheon here which honored state representatives. Council urged appropriation of $300,000 for out-of-state advertising.

Tourist Council elected as its president James Gaines of San Antonio. Vice-presidents are Glenn Alexander of Corpus Christi, Everett Fulgham of Lubbock, Ed Leach of Galveston, Charlie Meeker of Dallas, T. P. Newhall of Greenville, John Ben Sheppard of Odesa and John Simpson of Austin. Ed St. John of Austin was elected secretary.

Speaker James A. Turman told the 500 luncheon guests that the old joke "it is easier to pick a tourist than a bale of cotton" is about to go stale. He said Texas must let the rest of the nation know what it has to offer.

TEXAS CALLED BOOK DESERT

University of Texas Chancellor Dr. Harry Ransom told members of the Texas Commission on Higher Education that the State of Texas is laboring under the label of "the book desert of the United States."

Dr. Ransom made the statement in support of a plea from Dr. F. L. McDonald, President of Lamar State College of Technology, for a more realistic appropriation recommendation for libraries in Texas' 19 state colleges.

Reappointed to the State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education were: Dr. Glenn Barnett of the University of Texas; Mrs. Kate Bell, Houston Public Schools; Dr. Arvin N. Conner of the University of Houston; Dr. Frank Hubert, Texas A & M; Dr. Herbert LaGrone of Texas Christian University; Dr. Emmett D. Smith of West Texas State College, and Mrs. Florence Vaughn of Tyler Public Schools.

The Board also appointed a 16-member Junior College Study Commission on Budget Procedures and Reporting. This to comply with a bill for appropriations to public junior colleges passed in the summer session of the 57th Legislature.

SHORT SNORTS

Assistant Attorney General Bob Erie Shannon of Brownwood has been appointed Chief of the Attorney General's Insurance, Banking and Securities Division.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson won a judgment recovering more than $423,000 for the State in a suit alleging fraudulent sale of land in Kinney County to the Veterans Land Board.

Agriculture Commissioner John White predicted that the growth of the European "Common Market" will have a major effect on Texas farm economy. He said Texans will export some 25 per cent of their $800 million cotton crop this year.

Accreditation standards was a much-discussed topic when 1,200 Texas school administrators met here last week.

IN WILSON HOME

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wilson were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wilson and Mike of Anson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winstead of Levelland.

Children's Chapel Will Be Open On Jan. 21, Austin

At the Austin State School more than two thousand retarded children, who have been gathered in from most of the counties in Texas, will now have a beautiful chapel where the most competent of them can gather and worship.

The $100,000 structure, which will be dedicated at four o'clock on Sunday, January 21, represents not one dollar of taxpayers' money, but is the result of contributions—from pennies to thousands of dollars, and from people all over Texas. For the more than forty years that the State has maintained the Austin State School there never has seemed to be enough tax money available to do more than to properly house and feed and clothe the children there.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heart felt thanks to the hospital, nurses, Dr. McCreight, to the ones who sat up at the hospital and at the funeral home, the ones who visited him, to every one who helped in any way and to Rev. James and Rev. Shoemaker who conducted the service, to the choir and organist, the pallbearers and the comforting words of sympathy, the cards, both, get well and sympathy. May Gods Love and blessing be with each of you. The Pendleton family and Step-children. Itp

Many Shotgunners Are Now Loading Their Own

By Vern Sanford

Although you don't see many cigarette smokers who roll their own anymore, the fad of "do it yourself" is just hitting the shotgun field in a big way. More and more hunters are loading their own shells.

There are many reasons for the boom in handloading. For one it is a fascinating hobby which can be enjoyed at home. For another shotgunning no longer is just a fall hunting sport. There are many hunters who bang away at clay targets on skeet and trap ranges throughout the year.

But probably the primary reason for its phenomenal growth is the economy angle. Handload ammo is cheaper than that bought off the shelves of sporting goods stores.

A shooter who burns up much ammunition has found that he can pay for a handloading outfit in a couple of seasons or less. And since the equipment is durable and will last indefinitely, it isn't long before he's reaping the full benefit of the savings.

More than 50 percent savings is effected by the hunter who loads his own ammo. The reloader can put out a box of ammo for something like $1.30 to $1.50, depending of course on what kind of load is preferred.

Good handloading tool will cost between $30 and $100. Cheaper tools handle only one size shell, but the more expensive ones take interchangeable dies which permit loading of all types of shells, from .410 to 10-gauge magnum.

With one of the better tools even a person just learning the operation can turn out two boxes of ammunition in an hour's time.

Some of the brand names of handloading tools are Texan, Lyman, C.H. Acme, Pacific, Herter's and Hollywood, among others.

Components necessary for shotgun shell reloading are primers, powder, shot and wadding.

Used commercial hulls can be reloaded from one to three times. Nowadays hulls are hard to come by. Gun club members keep their ranges picked clean. However, the hulls alone can be purchased for about $3 per hundred. These are new, primed cases.

Components come cheaper, naturally when bought in bulk form. Primers list at $14.95 for a box of 1,000. Shot comes in 25-pound bags at $7.50 per bag. Powder is available in different sized lots. One half pound sells for $1.80; three-pound kegs cost $9; and 12-pound kegs are $28.

Over-shot wads are priced at about $1.65 to $2.15 per 1,000, while filler wads range from $2.65 to $3.25 for 500. (All these are listed prices and may be slightly higher or lower, depending upon the retail sources.)

It takes almost four 25-pound bags of shot and about three pounds of powder, to reload 1,000 shells. Shotgun shells are easier to reload than rifle ammo because measurements don't have to be so exact.

In a rifle load excessive pressures can build up when even a fraction of a grain of excess powder is poured into the case. But since the shotgunner uses an altogether different kind of powder, such minute measurement isn't necessary. Nevertheless, anyone handloading shotgun shells should use common judgement.

Probably the best booklet on handloading is the Lyman "Reloader's Handbook." It costs $2 and is available at most sporting goods stores.

This book gives the lowdown on all kinds of handloading—shotgun, rifle and pistol. It outlines the exact procedures for handloading and includes charts covering all kinds of different loads for every gauge of shotgun.

For safety's sake, as well as tidiness, most handloaders carefully pack their equipment away in a box, when not in use, and bring it out on the kitchen table only when they are ready to work.

An experienced handloader not only can turn out dependable ammo, but often his product exceeds in performance that which can be bought across the counter.

WITH WINGS?—It is not some revolutionary variation of the helicopter. The plane wings lashed to the sides are part of a wreckage being hauled out of the desolated mountain area at Trout Creek Basin, in Wyo.

JET BUSINESS—This is a scale model of the kind of businessman's jet plane which a Grand Rapids, Mich., industrialist may put into production. The jet would cruise at 500 miles per hour and would seat five passengers.

ATTENDED FUNERAL

Mrs. George R. Hill accompanied her mother, Mrs. C. C. Bledsoe, Lawrence Bledsoe and Mrs. Arnold Moses to Fort Worth, Tuesday, to attend the funeral of her uncle.

Allotments of $2,225,000 have been made to 345 schools and 16 junior colleges in Texas to purchase materials and equipment to strengthen instruction in science, mathematics, and modern foreign languages.

In 1961, almost 18,000 non-English speaking children enrolled in pre-school summer classes to develop a vocabulary of basic English words. This program is operated by local communities to prepare students for work in the first grade. In 1960, approximately 16,000 non-English speaking children were enrolled in similar classes. Instruction in the summer classes helps about one-half of the students complete first grade in the normal time. Of approximately 14,000 with summer class attendance who entered the first grade in September, 1960, 7,113 were promoted to the second grade at the close of the spring semester, '61.

New Publication On Home Decoration Is Available

Thinking of redecorating all or part of your home? If you are, you would do well to read a recent publication of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This bulletin, B-971, deals with the beautification of windows and glass walls, important parts of any room.

There are few set rules for window decoration, but window treatments should help control light and heat as well as enhance the beauty of the room in which they are used. Each window or group of windows challenges its owner to make it contribute to the comfort, utility, beauty and joy of the home.

How is this accomplished? By utilizing the basic art concepts of harmony, proportion, balance, rhythm and emphasis.

When choosing draperies, consider the room, proportions, exposure, view, walls, floors, furnishings, accessories and the amount of surface which needs to be draped. Remember that the walls and floor form the background, which is the basis for pattern and color selection. A room's location also plays an important role in the selection of color. South and west rooms are usually more pleasant when done in cool, quiet tints, while north and east rooms are better in the warm colors.

There are myriads of combinations for decorating rooms and each person must choose the one that is most pleasing personally. Before you make your choice, however, see your local county home demonstration agent and get a copy of B-971.
