HOME TOWN Talk

By B. C. THOMAS

Schools have gained reputation, down through the years, for being one of the finest systems in the state. Graduates of the school have gone on to colleges and universities where they have made it possible for them to make their studies with success. They have gone into business, employment, and are valuable to the communities in which they live.

They cannot be measured and entirely by the academic of the students, however. Sports and other activities are a part of the education. "Book learning." Winters schools have taken an active part in these activities, and their has been widely publicized. In the Winters schools, a well-rounded pack-training and education. This did not "just happen." The result of the high level of school patrons and citizens of the school district have the school system. It is a lot of hard work on the part of school boards, school trustees and teaching staffs. The schools also takes. Sometimes we may think it takes a lot of money, but the capita cost is really not especially when balanced the end result. The future of the community, and the future of the country, depend upon the of our schools to a great extent. We are responsible for the future. Therefore, it is up to each of us to work for the betterment of our schools, and to prevent, at all times, a reduction in the quality of the education they turn out.

Winters voters in the Winters Independent School District will be asked to vote for the school board on Saturday to decide which method the money raised to finance the operation of our schools. The school board after much study, has suggested a change in the procedure of assessment. Under the system procedure suggested, the school will, obviously, have more money in setting the tax rate, commensurate with the needs of the school.

Winters voters will be asked to vote for the suggested change in assessment under Senate Bill 116. The school board is on the job and has been working with the school board for a long time; they are the needs of the school board better than anyone. We are going to agree with the school board and believe that the adoption of assessment under Senate Bill 116 would be to the best interest of our schools. We cannot abandon the responsibility of maintaining our schools at the highest possible level.

Winters voters have become the target of organized and well-planned "suggestion" campaign. Every day, when the weather is perfect for fishing, and after a few interesting fishing trips, the old bug began to bite. To get the old fishing rod from the nail in the garage, it has hung undisturbed for years of summers—but in its very obvious, was a tangled garden digging fork. I think too much about that, until we tried to find the reel with the rotten line. In the on the shelf were a paint can and a paint brush. Searching revealed a bucket sitting in the corner where a window bucket ought to be. Desperate, and looked in the overnight case which serves as a tackle box, and—there was assortment of small hinges, and cabinet door fasteners we thought had been used some time ago.

A couple of days have not much good for fishing, any. But when the weather gets again, and when we get the off our hands, and the blister are not too bit, and thumbs not swollen from several licks hammer, might join some fishermen who somehow managed to evade the net's masticity.

Two School Board Members Will Be Elected Saturday

Voters Also To Decide Tax Method

Qualified electors of the Winters Independent School District, in a special referendum Saturday, will decide under what method taxes will be levied for operation of the schools. The question will be on a separate ballot and will be voted on at the same time school board members are elected.

School board members, faced with the problem of finding money for operation of the schools, are asking for a decision by the voters on which of the state statutes should be used: the present method which has been in effect for many years or a comparatively recent statute which gives more flexibility in arriving at the tax rate.

After several months study the Winters School Board arrived at a conclusion of higher taxes as the only method of continuing school with current increased costs. Due to decreased values and further expected decreases the Board felt a revision of the tax rate would be adequate and at the same time would require an expression of the people concerning a solution for the problem. Notices have already been received that a further decrease in oil valuations and an additional increase in the local school pro rata part of receipts can be expected next year. Enrollment estimates show an increase with approximately 350, a new record, for the high school alone.

As previously published, Board members are in favor of Senate Bill 116 because it does require an expression from the tax paying citizens rather than an arbitrary raising by the School Board alone. Also as previously published Senate Bill 116 does not give the Board unlimited authorization as the maximum combined rate for maintenance and indebtedness would be $2.00 which would also be scaled downward as the valuation of the district falls.

In order to know how many teachers and employees to approve in keeping with the present level this financial picture must be kept in mind. An increase would be necessary to maintain the present schools and studies are being made for further improvements. These improvements have been discussed but no plans at the present have been acted upon by the Board. Improvements include items such as:

Finish high school windows; fur-

Four Names On Official Ballot

Property owners and otherwise qualified voters in the Winters Independent School District will elect two members to the school board at the school election Saturday, April 7.

Voting will be at the office of the Winters Chamber of Commerce. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

Terms of office for the two members elected will be three years. Four men have filed as candidates for the two positions on the school board. Two incumbents, Jake Presley and Milton Jackson, are asking re-election. The other two candidates are J. B. Denson and Lloyd Gilbert.

Jake Presley is a farmer in the Winters Community east of Winters. He is married and has a family. He will complete his first three-year term on the school board this year.

Milton Jackson, the other incumbent seeking re-election, also is completing his first three-year term on the board. He is a farmer and rancher in the Happy Valley Community, and has two sons in school.

J. B. Denson, manager of the Farmers Co-Op Gin at Wilmeth, has filed as a candidate for the school board. This is the first time he has sought public office. He is a native of the Wingate Community, where he attended school. Besides his position with the gin company, he is a farmer. He has a son and a daughter in the Winters schools, and has two married daughters.

Lloyd Gilbert, a field maintenance man for Humble Oil Co., is also seeking public office for the first time. He was reared in Rockdale, saw service with the Air Force in the European Theatre during World War II. He has two daughters in the Winters schools.

B. T. Gardner will be judge for Saturday's school board election. He will be assisted by Mrs. G. C. Davis, Mrs. W. L. Graham and Mrs. Elzie Cox.

Governor Says Citizens Have Not Told Legislature Traffic Laws They Want

By VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

At a joint meeting of the Governor's Highway Safety conference and the Texas Safety Association, Gov. Price Daniel said that good traffic safety legislation still is lacking because citizens have never taken enough time and trouble to tell their legislators exactly what they want.

He said that five bills which have failed to pass will be introduced in the January session, regardless of the identity of your next governor. These concern:

1. State financing to pay the salaries of driver-education teachers in public schools.
2. Complete revision of the driver-licensing law.
3. A chemical test law for use in cases of driving while intoxicated—designed to free the innocent and provide medical evidence against the guilty.
4. Adequate city and county traffic courts of record to handle traffic cases with efficiency and justice.
5. Authorization for additional highway patrolmen and additional pay for Department of Public Safety personnel.

Although the Legislature lately approved 51 additional highway patrolmen, a $300 increase in pay and set a floor of $4,947 annual salary, the governor reported the patrol still is 150 men short of its authorized strength of 804. He feels the pay hike was insufficient.

TEACHERS QUIZZED

Texas school teachers are pretty good at answering their examinations. Texas Education Agency sent out questionnaires to about 95,000 school people. They expected a 30 percent return but 92,000 answered.

Questions were part of a Texas Legislative Council study of teacher training.

Results will be fed through computers to give lawmakers an idea of what school people think about the way public schools are run and how teachers are trained.

WATER LOANS HIT

The state will borrow another $15,000,000 on April 19 to help local water districts, river authorities and cities on their water projects.

Texas Water Development Board has the authority to borrow up to $100,000,000 for this purpose.

Its first bond issue of $10,000,000 is nearly used up in four loans. So another $15,000,000 worth of bonds will be sold.

Major project helped so far by this state program is the Toledo Bend reservoir on the Sabine River near Newton. It will get a $15,000,000 loan over the next four years.

PADRE STUDY

Herb Petry, chairman of a special committee to study the various proposals for making Padre Island a recreation area, said the committee will have a meeting in April to decide on its recommendations.

Governor Daniel appointed the committee after differences developed as to whether Padre Island should be turned into a recreation area by the federal or state government.

A bill in Congress has authorized federal purchase of a large part of the island as a national seashore area. But the bill has not passed the House of Representatives because South Texas Congressmen favor a smaller area, if any at all.

GI FARMS

Veterans Land Board has sold 20 repossessed GI farms for $19,000 more than it had invested in them.

But it turned down bids on a Grayson County tract which drew 33 bidders.

Board tried, but failed, to put a block deal back together by advertising for bids on an 860 acre farm in Zavala County. Board had set the minimum bid at $150,000 but nobody bid.

Only qualified veterans who have not made GI landloans were eligible to bid on the tracts.

PROFESSORS PAY

Two University of Texas department heads told their troubles as they moved into a new $4,000,000 business and economics building.

Dr. Carey C. Thompson, chairman of the economics department, said he recently lost a good faculty member to the University of Rochester which bid up his salary from $7,800 to $13,000 a year.

Dr. John Arch White of the College of Business Administration said his college had not had a full staff since the end of World War II. Last year he needed to hire 12 young instructors but could only find eight and then lost four of them. Other employers outbid his salary limits.

The two departments have a fine new building but are hard-pressed for professors for their growing number of students.

SUNDAY SALES

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has held that the new law which prohibits car-house sales on Sunday or Saturday does not prohibit the sale of mobile homes, (house trailers).

New law requires retailers in many lines to close either on Saturday or Sunday.

Much Confusion Apportionment Ruling Has Caused

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

The apportionment ruling by the Supreme Court, overruling a series of prior decisions, has created both confusion and consternation. Just how it will be implemented and how far-reaching it will be, remains to be seen.

The case originated in Tennessee when a group of urban citizens filed a suit in federal court, attacking the State's apportionment of legislative districts, and contending that they were being deprived of fair and equal representation because under Tennessee law rural areas were being heavily favored in representation at the Statehouse.

The Supreme Court decided such apportionment laws may be reviewed by federal courts to determine if such representation is fair and equitable.

But the 6-2 ruling drew a vigorous dissent from Justice Frankfurter who contended this issue was local in nature, was political in substance, and under our doctrine of separation of power between the three branches of government the judiciary has no legitimate jurisdiction.

Wide speculation is already being expressed of how the court could enforce any finding of improper apportionment. If the State of Tennessee should refuse to redistrict, can the Supreme Court later hold the Tennessee legislature in contempt? Or, can the Supreme Court enjoin the holding of state elections under a condition which the Court may decide denies equal representation to some areas? If so, then what would happen?

Other questions are being asked. Would this ruling apply to apportionment that relates to Congressional districts? Presumably it would. And would it apply to State laws relating to apportionment of judicial districts? And indeed will it apply to apportionment of County Commissioner precincts?

Many observers see in this decision a bold and dangerous expansion of judicial power, far beyond that ever contemplated in the Constitution. One writer with whom I agree says the Constitution "is being altered not by Congress and the people—the only constitutional way for its alteration—but rather by a momentary majority of a court which seems fatally determined to change the whole social and political fabric of this country—on its own writ and mandate".

Certainly the question of whether it is desirable to change lopsided apportionment situations is relatively unimportant. The essence of the action related to the propriety of the Supreme Court expanding its power beyond the dreams of the founding fathers. Just where is the line to be drawn?

PORT OF MUNICH—Has the skipper made a wrong turn and landed his ocean liner in the middle of downtown Munich, Germany? This Holland-American liner Rotterdam sitting in the street is just a model—to help the inland city celebrate "Netherlands Week."

People catch fish. But fishermen sometimes catch people. If you've ever been "hooked" by a fisherman, you know what I mean. Fortunately, more fish are caught than people. Homer, Circe, PR man for James Heddon's Sons of Downport, Michigan—makers of the famous Heddon's Fishing Tackle—sends us some interesting facts on this subject. "Every year," says Homer, "doctors are called upon to extract barbed hooks from various parts of people's anatomies. It may be an eye or an ear, the face or a neck, hands, arms, legs, or back—or rump." "Most of these painful injuries could have been avoided if a few simple safety rules had been followed," said Homer. "Experts have studied this needless injury problem for years and offer numerous suggestions to help fishermen derive pleasure instead of pain from America's greatest participant sport." Homer has included these suggestions in Heddon's 1947 Fishing Tackle Catalogue. I'll pass them on to you later, after I tell you how you may obtain free of charge Heddon's new 64-page catalogue. It sells regularly for 25 cents. But Homer says he'll send you one free if you'll mention this column. Guess he's trying to find out if we have any readers. Anyway, it's a beautiful multi-colored printing job with as many tips on fishing as there are items listed in the catalogue. Now—back to the safety tips we promised. Here's how to keep from latching onto a fishing buddy or getting yourself seriously involved in a hook:

(1) Learn the simple overhead cast—never toss a plug side-arm with your fishing companion nearby. And, always know where your partner is.

(2) If your lure hangs on a surface snag don't try to jerk it loose with your rod. That bent rod can propel the lure so suddenly and so fast you won't have time to duck! Instead, try to shake it loose gently or rowing and remove it by hand.

(3) While playing a fish always keep the bend of your rod away from your head and your companion. Again, a suddenly released lure with an assist from a bent rod could propel its hooks into the skin of you or your partner's love—on a face or a neck, hands, arms, legs, or back—or rump.

(4) It's safer to land a fish with net or gaff. Don't grab a fish with your hand unless you are experienced in the right technique. Always play the fish until he turns belly up. If large, beach it. And, never reach into the mouth of a toothed fish. A pair of long-nosed pliers can save you lots of trouble.

(5) Remember—the only lure that should be out of your closed tackle box is the one at the end of your rod. Too often loose lures in the boat end up on you later, after I tell you how you may obtain free of charge Heddon's new 64-page catalogue. It sells regularly for 25 cents. But Homer says he'll send you one free if you'll mention this column. Guess he's trying to find out if we have any readers. Student Council Members Attend State Convention

Alvis Jackson, president of the Winters High School Student Council for 1946-47, and Terrell Elliott, accompanied by the sponsor, Mrs. Eva Kelly, attended the State Meeting of Student Councils in San Antonio March 29 through March 31.

Theme of the conference was "Today's Affairs—Students' Concern." Joe Murfee, state president, presided at all the meetings.

Main speaker was Delbert Downing, president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, who spoke on the responsibility of young people in today's affairs.

Guest speaker, the Rev. Henry Baker, Dean of Students of Colorado State University, and director of summer youth camps, challenged the students of today to prepare themselves to accept the responsibilities of citizenship which would be theirs tomorrow.

Dr. John McFarland, superintendent of schools of Houston, presented a group of foreign exchange students from Finland, Lebanon, Australia, and other countries, who compared the schools of their country with those of Texas.

More than 2,000 delegates from all parts of Texas and exchange students were present at the convention, held at the Jefferson High School.

The Winters delegation led two discussion groups. One on "Orientation of New Students," and the other on "Promotion of Patriotism in School and Community."

The choir of Jefferson High School, Edison High School, and the San Antonio Youth Symphony, provided the entertainment for the general sessions.

Other features of entertainment were a western barbeque, a tour of the city with stops at the Alamo, Brackenridge Park, the missions, Fort Sam Houston, and other historical places.

High point of interest of the convention was the balloting for the State officers. Students used voting machines furnished by the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Health Letter

Time was when the State of Texas had so few public health workers that in many places they were present only when epidemic or other disease conditions were developed to a point where it could no longer be ignored.

Today, we have trained men and women on the job to provide assistance in the prevention of many prevalent disease conditions. And, in the event of disease outbreaks which occasionally develop even today, they are able to call for help from the Texas State Department of Health, in finding and eradicating or controlling the source of the trouble.

The local health unit is the focal point of public health in Texas. These local units, headed by physicians trained in public health work and assisted by public health nurses, sanitarians and clerical personnel, administer the many public health programs which protect the citizens of Texas against the hazards of disease and death.

The local unit director organizes and supervises programs covering maternal and infant care; preschool and school health; adult health and programs designed to control tuberculosis, cancer, venereal disease and diabetes. He is also concerned with industrial health, dental hygiene, nutrition, community sanitation and health education.

The public health nurse shoulders the detail work with mothers and children. She assists with special programs for crippled children, dental hygiene, and nutrition. With the assistance of teachers she helps select school children for examination by physicians, assists in securing correction of physical defects and helps teachers in planning health education programs.

The sanitarian concerns himself with a long list of diversified responsibilities. He inspects food-handling establishments and assists in training foodhandling personnel, such as cooks, waiters and dishwashers in proper foodhandling methods. He inspects water supplies, dairies, swimming pools, tourist courts and trailer courts. In addition he investigates reported "sanitary nuisances" and as-

 The provocative account of a young girl's first encounter with love and the bizarre attempt of her parents to protect her from the consequences of the tragic affair marks a re-pairing of Donahue and Miss Stevens, who earlier this year scored in "Parrish."
 Daves, who previously has directed Donahue in "A Summer Place" and "Parrish," teamed with the popular young star for the third time in "Susan Slade." They recently completed their fourth film together, "Lovers Must Learn," in Italy.

Connie Stevens and Troy Donahue head the cast of Warner Bros. technicolor production of "Susan Slade," opening Tuesday at the State Theatre. As teen-agers deeply disturbed by their tragic personal problems—she is an unwed mother and he lives in the shadow of his father's prison suicide—they are drawn to each other. Delmer Daves produced and directed the romantic drama which also stars Dorothy McGuire, Lloyd Nolan, Brian Aherne and Grant Williams. Daves had previously directed Donahue in "A Summer Place" and Donahue and Miss Stevens in "Parrish."

Roger Babson President Kennedy Faces Two Walls: Unemployment and the Berlin Wall

President Kennedy is up against two "stonewalls." The first is that dividing East Berlin from West Berlin; and the second is how he can reduce unemployment.

JFK Is Conservative But Worried
 Employment is increasing in practically all lines — manufacturing, building, merchandising, and other important segments; but unemployment continues to plague us, and no solution is yet in sight. Before going into further details, let me say that JFK is getting fed up with his "intellectual" advisers. He is willing to listen to them; but he has decided to make his own decisions and not leave them to anybody else—not even to Vice President Johnson.

Some Administration officials picking up big labor's theme that the government should do something soon to decrease heavy unemployment in the U.S. There is increasing talk of considering the problem an "emergency" . . . calling for drastic steps by Uncle Sam. These would include advancing public works projects, creating make-work programs—possibly a modern WPA. So far, JFK has balked at grandiose proposals, mainly because they would be too costly and would throw federal budgets even farther out of whack . . . to say nothing of the adverse impact on our already-sick balance of foreign payments. However, pressure from within and without the Administration is increasing . . . and 1962 election-year politics may force the President to send some stringent new proposals for reducing unemployment to Congress before too many more months have passed.

Selling More Goods The Answer
 JFK is emphasizing to both management and labor that the great need is for the United States to sell more U. S.-manufactured goods—at home and abroad—and to keep prices down. He believes this demands an entirely new brand of tariff powers,—an ability to "trade." This is especially important in view of the "European Common Market." JFK believes that only as he is given dictatorial powers will he be able to meet dictators in Russia and other countries. I believe he is correct.

In addition, the United States is faced with a rising imbalance of international payments and a resumption of the gold outflow. The nation really sits astride the horns of a dilemma: If the unemployment problem is met by inflationary spending, our gold outflow may become a flood; if we try to prevent gold loss through higher interest rates and lowered spending, business may slump and unemployment soar. The President—in trying to boost foreign trade—is on the right track . . . but he will need to be a supersalesman to sell Congress on turning over to him dictatorial powers.

The Coming Steel Contract
 The President is anxious to establish the principle that wages per hour will increase only as production per hour increases. (Management wants the new machinery also to get some "wages.") This may be okay for the steel corporations, but the trouble will come when all of the other unions want the same "deal" that the steel workers receive. Many corporations claim that, for various reasons, they cannot reduce costs further than they are now. All of this means that labor is tending more and more to approach a socialistic system as far as production, prices, wages, depreciation, etc., are concerned. This, of course, is the big danger. Meanwhile, the President's Labor-Management Committee has been conferring on automation dilemmas, but no workable program for dealing with automation-created unemployment and retraining has been proposed. Nor has a plan for stemming economy-numbing strikes yet been aired. Internal union dissensions further complicate the situation. The Meany-Reuther-Hoffa triangle may not be eternal, but it will

Play Your Fish
 Never "horse in" a fish! Chances are you'll lose it. Instead, "play your fish." So long as your line is tight and the rod bowed, the fish has little chance of throwing the hook. Don't reach for the fish until it's pooped, belly showing. Then, use your landing net, if you have one. If not, grab the fish firmly over its back, just behind its gills. This partially paralyzes it. Hold firm until the fish is securely in boat. The keenest punishment is to ignore a man who tries to insult you.

SAFETY, cleanliness and economy are the best-known features of flameless electric heating — so well known, in fact, folks sometimes take for granted that the all-electric Medallion home is the MOST COMFORTABLE, too! Only electricity can heat so evenly, heat so quickly, heat so dependably. When you're buying or building a home, look for the medallion that tells you your home will be "comfort-conditioned" with flameless electricity.

TO DENTON
 Mr. and Mrs. John Tharp, Bertha Mae and Mrs. A. A. Haller, sister of Mr. Tharp, of Woodson, were in Denton last week visiting Mr. Tharp's brother-in-law, who is ill. On their return trip to Woodson they had an auto accident at Decatur. No one was injured but their car was demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tharp met them at Woodson and returned home with them.

Use Snaps and Swivels
 Always use either a snap or a snap-swivel when fishing with artificial lures.
 Tying a lure directly to your line can foul up the action by altering the balance. If your lure doesn't twist, then just use a snap. If it spins or rolls, then use a snap-swivel.

Check Your Flies
Check the bite of your flies if you have trouble keeping the striking bass on the hook. Some of the heavier flies have too small a space between hook and fly. This causes the hook to fail. Spread hook point farther away from the fly body if you have this trouble.

Bottom Bouncing for Bass
When bottom bouncing for bass you will catch more fish if you handle your lure in such a way that it rolls up the bottom sand and mud. Such action attracts more fish than does a straight retrieve and bounce. To accomplish this, drag the lure a short distance along the bottom, after each bounce.

Emergency Bait Idea
Salt water fishermen sometimes find themselves far from shore with an empty bait bucket. Should this happen to you, try cutting a belly strip from almost any medium weight fish you may have caught. Cut a rough triangle, then slice toward the tail, making indents for wings to stir up action when trolled. Sew to leader with half-stitches to take trolling pressure off the hook. Don't use bait that spins.

Sure Getter-Upper
Nothing is more exasperating than to oversleep and miss the early-morning golden hours of fishing. If you're camping out—open the valve of your air mattress as soon as the alarm goes off. It won't take long for the air to leak out. Have you ever tried sleeping on a deflated air mattress?

Warn Ships With Foil
Salt water fishermen who pursue their sport near the shipping lanes should carry a good-sized sheet of aluminum foil to hoist should a fog close in unexpectedly. The metal foil enables any passing or approaching ship to detect your whereabouts on the ship's radar.

Novel Garfish Bait
To catch large garfish try this: Attach a fair-sized plug to a long piano wire leader. Then wrap part of a squirrel pelt around the plug, and sew or pin in place. Gar seem to really go for this offering.

Thumb Causes Backlash
Backlashes usually are not caused by your rod, reel or line. They are caused mostly by improper pressure of your thumb.

Use The Right Lure
Gamefish, such as bass, are predators who live by eating smaller fish. Small fish are quicker in movement than the predator bass, so the big bass hide around stumps, lily pads, etc., to surprise them. Your lures must imitate these small fish if you are to fool the big bass. And they must be presented just right! Here are a few suggestions: Work the shoreline with surface lures such as chuggars. If you get no strikes at surface, or near the surface levels, try one of the sinking baits like a river runt. Should you still have zero luck, chances are the fish are somewhere else. So experiment with jig and eel, or similar bait, among the lily pads and moss pockets.

Good Rod-Saving Advice
When you go on a fishing trip, keep your rod in its case until you are ready to use it. More rods have been broken by automobile doors than by fish.

Good Substitute Gaff
Next time you leave on a fishing trip, without your gaff, look for a bailing hook such as farmers and ranchers use. In fact, most farmers will lend you one. Such hooks can be bought in most country stores at small cost.

Use For Old Ironing Board
Don't throw away your wife's old ironing board. Such boards make an ideal no-squat, no-stoop cleaning place for fish.

Health Letter

Austin — Dental authorities can count at least 36 everyday habits that a great many Americans practice in one degree or another that are actually injurious to mouth tissue.

Item: Opening bottles with your teeth may make you the life of the party, but it's a juvenile practice as far as good dental health is concerned. Still, people often damage their teeth using them for such unlikely practices.

The habit of biting pensively on ear loops of glasses can be an important factor in teeth migration—moving out of position, dentists point out.

Chewing on pencil or pen during moments of concentration is almost an occupational hazard for bookkeepers and stenographers. Dentists report considerable erosion of teeth among people in these professions.

Upholsterers, carpenters, and shoemakers who hold nails between their teeth develop typical dental ailments. Seamstresses who bite thread and dressmakers who hold pins and needles between their teeth invariably suffer from bad mouth conditions, dentists have found.

Biting on matches and tooth picks, abnormal tongue pressures against teeth, lip and cheek biting, and continued clenching of teeth to control emotions all may have their adverse effects.

Also listed as detrimental to teeth and gums is the practice among women of using their teeth to open bobby pins. Another is the habit of cupping chin in hands while reading or watching television.

Such poor dental health practices are summed up in the fact that about half the American population over 45 years of age is—or should be—wearing some form of artificial denture, resulting in a 40 to 80 percent reduction in chewing efficiency.

Among children the habit most detrimental to teeth is thumb sucking.

However, most agree it will not cause teeth alignment if stopped four or five.

A sleeping habit known as "snoring" may lead to increased wear of teeth. This is because some people have of sleeping with their mouth open, forcing the jaw out of natural alignment.

IT'S THE LAW-

DIVISION OF ESTATES EXPLAINED

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

Observing their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benson held open house in their home at 811 State Street from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Children, son-in-law and two daughters-in-law assisted the couple in hosting the event.

The serving table was laid with imported linen cloth and appointments of gold mums, gold pom-poms and golden wheat. At the front of the refreshment table was ribbon with the inscription in gold, "1912, Grace, Con. 1962." Coffee, fruit punch and cake squares were served by two granddaughters of the couple, Miss Kay Gresham of Odessa and Mrs. Tommy Sharp of Dallas.

Hanging from the doorway between the living room and the dining room were the traditional wedding bells from India.

Gifts were displayed in the bedroom and arrangements of mums were displayed throughout the house.

After working at C. L. Green Milling Co. for a number of years he became a Ford salesman and later was in the tractor business. In 1940 he became associated with his son, Alvin, in the auto supply business. He is now retired.

Toward a Mature Faith is the subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson. The key verse is "Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ."—2 Peter 3:18. The following is by Lyndon B. Phifer: The question naturally arises: What is a mature faith? First of all, it is a faith in God as revealed supremely in Jesus Christ.—secondly, a mature faith demands loyalty to Jesus Christ. Thirdly, it requires that we respect every other individual as a sacred person. Fourthly, we must remember if we are to grow in the Christian faith is that we must take time to practice the presence of God. And finally, a maturing Christian will discipline himself in ways that will help him use his time, talents, and possessions in the most Christlike manner of which he is capable.
