Several Months' Supply of Water In City Lake

W. D. Waggoner, superintendent of the Winters water department, said Wednesday that the supply of water in the City Lake "is sufficient for normal usage for several months".

The water line at the lake is about 16 inches below spillway level, Waggoner said. The amount of water in the lake should be enough to furnish all demands at least until after the first of the year, if no other rain fell on the watershed.

Demand for water in Winters reached a million gallons daily one day last week, and then on the following day zoomed to 1,080,000 gallons, Waggoner said. However, consumption dropped sharply following the showers the last of the week.

Although there have been some good rains in the area, the water superintendent said, rainfall on the city lake watershed has been below that for the surrounding area. There is more water in the lake this year than there was at the same time in 1961, he said.

Waggoner also said that his department has started to lay the water line to the Fairview Cemetery west of town. Completion date will depend upon the weather, he said. Rains of the past few days have slowed down the work considerably, because water is standing in some places where ditches will have to be dug.

Winters Scouts Left Thursday For Canada Wilds

Two Winters Explorer Scouts and their leader, along with several other Scouts and leaders from Coleman, left Thursday morning for a trek into the Canadian wilderness.

Mike Hays and Alan Benson, Scouts from Winters, and Scout Leader W. M. Hays, joined eight other Scouts and two leaders from Coleman, and will drive through to Ely, Minn., from where they will take to the water in canoes for their eight-day trip into the Canadian woods.

Going from Coleman are Scouts Jackie Birdwell, Jimmy Falkner, Bob and Charles Mann, Lynn Prater, Ronnie Donica, Barry Johnson and Hobby Woodward. Scout leaders from Coleman are Dr. M. D. Mann and A. B. Falkner.

The group will travel in three cars, camping out at night during the trip to the jump-off site. They were to spend the first night on the road in Oklahoma. Driving only eight hours per day, the Scout group will utilize parks, Scout camp grounds and public camping sites.

When the Scout group leaves Ely by canoe, they will take with them only the equipment necessary for an eight-day stay in the woods. They will be furnished a guide, and will carry camp equipment, fishing tackle, first aid kits, food. Fresh fish will make up their main diet while they are on the canoe trip. They will be out of communication for eight days, it was announced.

The group will travel on lakes, and will portage across country between lakes. The Scouts and leaders spent a week end recently at Hord's Creek Lake, practicing canoe handling, camping, in "basic training" in preparation for the trip.

Scout leaders said that the trip into the Canadian wilderness will be made without benefit of any modern conveniences, such as radios and auto. They will live out of their packs, and will depend one upon another during their long stay in the woods.

Enroute home following their trip into the woods, the scouts will attend a big league baseball game Aug. 2 between the Milwaukee Braves and the Houston Colts at Milwaukee, Wis.

Slight Damage Here In Wind Storm Saturday

Winters sustained only light damage to a few homes and buildings during Saturday afternoon's sudden storm, it has been reported. Most observers believe that a twister passed over the town, because of the character of the damage, but there were no reports received of a funnel in the area.

The storm hit about 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and dumped upwards of an inch of water in downtown Winters. However, outlying areas received little rain from that particular cloud.

Several reports of roof damage were received, along with reports of window breakage and broken tree limbs. A plate glass show window at Crockett Ford Sales was blown out, and a window of the second floor of the Chamber of Commerce building was shattered. These windows were "sucked out," evidence of the twister characteristics of the storm. The window at the Ford house was shattered on the sidewalk outside the building, and the window in the Chamber of Commerce building fell several feet out into the street.

Jim Hamner reported that a part of the roof of his home in north-east Winters was blown off. There was considerable water damage to the walls of his home, but damage to household furnishings was slight, he said.

Reports said that about one-fourth of a metal roof of the E. L. Crockett home east of the City Hall was blown off.

The Carl Brooks Motel on the Ballinger Highway south received roof damage, as did the Brannon Wrecking Co. building. A fence was damaged at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre on the Ballinger Highway south of town, it was reported.

On the Bud Davis farm east of town, a chicken house was destroyed and a cotton stripper damaged. The elevator of the cotton stripper was twisted, and the chicken house "seemed to explode and disintegrate," lending additional evidence to the belief that the storm was a twister. Cotton trailers on the LaDell Davis place were blown around, it was reported, but no damage was noted. Considerable rain was received during the storm, it was reported.

Mrs. W. M. Hays at Western Auto Store on North Main said a large refrigerator packing crate was picked up from behind the West Texas Utilities office across the street and blown against the door of the Auto Store. No damage was received, however.

N. D. Waggoner of the Municipal Power plant said that power lines were knocked down when the roof of Brannon Wrecking Co. building was blown off. Damage was repaired and power restored within a short time, however.

Many tree limbs were broken and, in some instances, carried by the wind for several hundred feet. There was one report of a big limb from a mesquite tree hitting a car, but no definite information could be obtained. There were a few reports of damaged television antennae.

The storm was localized, and no reports of hail or wind damage to crops in the immediate vicinity have been received. Although the rainfall was heavy in the business area of Winters, the west side of town received only slight showers. And the rain stopped about the city limits.

The firemen's training school, which will last from Monday through next Friday, is being sponsored by the Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association of Texas, in cooperation with the extension service of A. & M. ## Publication On Soil Erosion Now Available At SCS

A new publication designed to help town people understand soil erosion problems on their lots, gardens and small farms, has just been released by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. It is called "Soil Conservation at Home". It interprets the Service's experience in working with farmers and non-farm people.

Hoffman, who is assigned by the SCS to assist the Runnels Soil Conservation District, said that the publication consists of thirty pages of suggestions on what the homeowner can do to reduce the amount of water runoff from his lot and cut down on soil erosion. He said "it describes the ideal soil and how to know what kind of soil you have. There is also a section on a conservation plan that includes safe disposal of water, and shrub planting to encourage helpful wildlife, especially good song birds."

The bulletin is illustrated with photographs showing contour gardening, miniature terraces, grass waterways and other conservation practices.

Bollworm Control Advise Stands

Is the cotton bollworm becoming tougher and more resistant to insecticides in Texas? Because some farmers had trouble controlling bollworms last year, it seems they might be developing a tolerance to commonly used chemicals.

But according to test results contained in Progress Report 2236 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, bollworms show no resistance to the insecticides used for their control.

Bollworm larva for the tests were collected over the state and reared on cotton leaves and an artificial diet. They were then treated with various insecticides at different dosages and the rate of kill recorded.

The insecticides used were DDT, Endrin, Sevin, toxaphene - DDT (2 to 1 ratio), and Strobane-DDT (2 to 1 ratio).

The bollworms collected in El Paso, College Station, Eagle Pass, and Laredo showed a good rate of kill from the treatments. However, there was some evidence of tolerance to DDT in bollworms from LaGrange and Rosebud, and Eagle Pass during August. But these data do not show a real resistance of the bollworm to DDT, according to the report.

During the study, it was found that the population of tobacco bollworms was unusually high and therefore data were kept on both insects as both attack cotton in a similar manner.

Comparative toxicity tests with the bollworm and the tobacco bollworm showed the bollworm to be more susceptible to DDT. This agreed with previous findings that tobacco bollworms are harder to kill than cotton bollworms.

The study indicates that bollworms may be controlled with the usually recommended insecticides but if tobacco bollworms are present DDT alone will not provide sufficient control.

For more information on the study write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, and request a copy of Progress Report 2236.

Fertilizer Still A Good Buy

Many farmers and ranchmen who are looking for a good buy in production items are finding it in fertilizers. The use of this item of production is one of the best ways to reduce per unit production costs and increase net in come, says Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist.

The price of fertilizer did not increase during the period from 1951 to 1960. But, during the same period, wages for hired farm labor increased 34 percent, farm machinery costs increased 29 percent and real estate taxes 62 percent, added Parker.

Texas farmers and ranchers are realizing that fertilizer is a good buy because they increased the amount purchased during this period 23 percent, and there is room for additional increases in fertilizer use.

National Farm Safety Week July 22 - 28

The theme for the National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28 is "Family Safety and Play" and is being placed upon farm machinery safety.

According to the National Farm Safety Council and Ranch Safety Council, most half of the farm people in the United States each year. In 1960, 950,000 suffered disabling injuries, and Of the total fatalities, 100,000 were work accidents.

The Council points out that over 90 percent of the accidents involve some human error, carelessness, or lack of attention to rules and regulations and many other factors.

Accidents, the Council are the leading killer of people from ages 1 to 64, fourth in total deaths, 60, nearly a million in accidents, 95 million disabling injuries, and were permanently disabled. America's cost: $10 billion no dollar total can be paid for the pricelessness of a man's life, nor can it be replaced by a pension, grief, loneliness and pain. And most can be prevented. Safety is the Council's top priority.

Safety is no accident. Accomplishments of farm organizations in their efforts to reduce accidents was the Council. During the past 11 percent decrease in farm resident death resulted from this cooperation.

But, warns the Council, have a long way to go in farming and ranching to equal to other industries. Until every farm makes safety its top priority, our cooperative efforts continued, they add.

'Reapportionment' May Receive Much Opposition If Texas' Status Questioned

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

U. S. Supreme Court's decision that federal courts have power to review acts of state legislatures in reapportioning representation was met with an uproar from many states.

"Reapportionment" is the business of redistricting a state to determine the number of legislators according to an area's population. National and state constitutions both provide for re-examination of representation in legislative assemblies every 10 years.

An area frequently gains or loses representatives to the state house. This happened in Texas recently.

pulation of more than 700,000. In the event citizens dissatisfied with the situation in Texas ever go to court for a reshuffling, they'll be armed with the information that 11 urban counties have a little more than half of Texas' 9,579,677 inhabitants and more than a third of the 150 members of the House of Representatives.

HOPE FOR TRAPPED FISH

An "escape route" for thousands of fish which risk death daily in a shallow pool off Padre Island is planned by the State Game and Fish Commission, which estimates that tons of game fish have died in a nine-mile hole north of Port Mansfield over the last 10 years. Howard Lee, the commission's director of field operations, said red fish and trout swim into the shallow pool in the course of their north-to-south migration, "and don't recognize the fact that there's only one way out."

As the temperature increases in late spring and summer, the water level drops. Fish then are caught in a dry water pool created by drifting sands and are trapped there until death releases them as food for birds and other scavengers in the area.

Dredging of a six-foot deep, 50 foot wide channel running 4,000 feet through Laguna Madre into the Intracoastal Canal is expected to put a stop to the waste of fish and make them available for "harvest"—a Game and Fish Commission euphemism for fishing.

Up to now, fishermen have been unable to get to them in the pool trap without trudging through long distances of mud and sand.

PERMIAN BASIN COLLEGE URGED

A "Citizens Relations Committee" of 20 West Texans flew into Austin to ask the Texas Commission on Higher Education to approve plans for converting Odessa Junior College to a state-supported, four year "Permian State College."

According to their spokesman, W. D. Fleck of Odessa, 30 per cent of the Ector County's college enrollment of about 1,600 is composed out-of-county students. Administrators estimated a 3,686 enrollment by 1970, if it's changed to a state-supported senior college.

C. A. Roberson, business manager of Odessa's $3,000,000 junior college, said the population in the Permian Basin increased from 159,000 to 288,000 between 1950 and 1960 and is expected to reach 500,000 by 1970.

Commission will study the matter further before making a recommendation to the next legislature.

Attempts to get the 57th Legislature to approve full state support and senior college status of San Angelo Junior College, Laredo Junior College and Pan American College at Edinburg failed in the third special session.

cently moved into Brady where they'll survey job seekers and job opportunities for the next six weeks.

Service was set up with funds from the Federal Bureau of Employment Security to assist communities like Brady which have "substantial and persistent unemployment problems," yet are too far from one of the Employment Commission's 91 local offices to get help from a regular staff.

According to Ted Clifford of the Commission, the teams will go into economically - distressed areas to try to determine what has caused a long-time employment slump, offer remedies and either find job opportunities elsewhere or assist local civic groups in launching industry recruitment programs.

Limestone and Falls county officials already have asked for the teams' services. Clifford reported that some 25 or 30 counties now are in the "substantial and persistent unemployment" category.

CROOKED-HOLE DRILLERS CUT OFF

Texas Railroad Commission has severed pipeline connections and set zero allowables for all wells on leases in the East Texas Field on which deviation or inclination surveys have shown a crooked-hole oil well.

Chairman William J. Murray of the Commission says that the order covers 62 leases.

Attorney General Will Wilson advises that when a deviated well is found on a lease, the whole lease is to be questioned until proven otherwise.

Before the wells involved can be restored to production, operators must have inclination surveys made on each one, and must have production tests to determine each well's actual ability to produce. Wilson said production tests were required because of the possibility that a single deviated well might be drawing the allowables for eight or 10 wells on a lease that are actually dead.

Officials also revealed that the deviation survey is being extended to a single well in the Webster Field in Harris County. Operators have been asked to give permission for the survey under a new policy which allows the operator to volunteer permission before a court order is sought.

SHORT SNORTS

Deficit in the State General Revenue Fund, which dipped to $89,000,000 in March, was $28,351,556 on July 9, according to State Treasurer Jesse James.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says the waiting list in the Texas Veterans' Land Program has been reduced to less than 16.

Can Lease An Island? You Can Wiggle Thru the Red Tape

tee heard one member called a "card carrying communist" by a lady in Amarillo. He filed suit against her, and apparently the folks back home didn't believe her because he won renomination.

LEGAL RULINGS

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson answered a variety of questions this week. He told Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar that it is not legal for a school district to buy gasoline and oil from a consignee who is a member of the school board, even if he got the contract as low bidder on sealed bids.

He told County Atty. John Lawton of Denton that Jim George, who won the Democratic nomination for two justice of the peace seats, can't hold them both, and that he vacated the office he held when he became a candidate for the other place. George's name cannot appear on the general election ballot for both jobs.

He told County Atty. Bill F. Griffin Jr. of Center that trucks owned by a farm corporation and used exclusively for hauling poultry and farm products are entitled to the half-price farm license fee.

He told County Atty. Mack Wallace of Athens that members of the national guard are not exempt from ad valorem taxes levied against their property for road purposes. The exemption for militia members is from the "road tax" of $3 per man which used to be levied against those who did not put in a day's work a year on the county roads.

MORE OIL SUITS

More and more lawsuits are being filed by the attorney general against operators of a lease which he contends had been produced through a crooked hole since 1949.

There had been indications that the "deviation" practices whereby wells would up under somebody else's property had been going on quite awhile. But this is the first indication that it was happening that far back.

Request for an efficiency study of the Texas Railroad Commission won approval from the executive committee of the Texas Research League. So that big agency will be looked into thoroughly.

Oilmen had complained in the past that there was too much red tape about Railroad Commission operations.

TALL, LEAN AND HANDSOME—Although this tall San Angelo, Tex., man looks as though his boots were nailed down, the picture is not for real. Actually, the car is a tilt and the Texan is vertical. The "lean look" comes by standing on a banked curve.

FAST MONEY—Europe-bound lady travelers Sylvie Courbe, left, and Fran Manganicavallo are delighted by the quick action of the electronic foreign currency dispenser in an airline's office at New York's Idlewild Airport. They could receive, for example, 220 Belgian francs after inserting a five-dollar bill by pushing the right button for the foreign money. It holds five different currencies.

ROGER BABSON

Commercial Fishing Business Has Seen Much Change Down Thru the Years

Babson Discusses Diversification

I am taking a month's vacation in the fair city in which I was born, namely, Gloucester, Massachusetts. As I sit on my piazza and watch the beautiful but vacant harbor, which when I was a boy was full of fishing vessels, I reminisce concerning the industrial changes of the past fifty years.

The Fishing Business

This continues to be a prominent industry; but it has gone through great changes. Once most of the fish was dried out of doors in the sun and either cut up and sold in little wooden boxes, or else exported in bulk. Fish was also sold throughout the country (chiefly by the Frank E. Davis Company) pickled in tubs, and by other concerns cooked in cans.

Everything from fishballs to confectionery was tried out by the fish companies. Finally, Clarence Birdseye invented the quick-freeze industry which resulted in the employment of a large number of people in the filleting and packing of fish for storage in large freezers.

My guess is that someday much of this work will be eliminated and the entire fish will be ground. The Interior Department tells me that whereas the "fillet" now sold contains only 60 percent of the food value of a fish, the rest going to the chickens, this ground fish would contain 100 percent of the goodness. In this connection, it is interesting to note that doctors are prescribing fish diets for those with heart trouble. I believe in the future of the fish industry, but feel that great revolutionary changes are ahead. Already many of the leading fish concerns of my boyhood have gone through bankruptcy for refusing to adapt themselves quickly to future changes.

The Granite Industry

The most profitable industry of Cape Ann, in those days, was the granite industry. There were six large quarries in operation and Cape Ann owners were shipping granite for building purposes, and for paving the streets of large cities. Then, two unforeseen events happened which caused the stocks of these granite companies to decline suddenly from over $100 a share to $5 a share. The largest shipper of granite was the Rockport Granite Company which finally went into bankruptcy.

These two unforeseen events were (1) the development of the automobile, which demanded that the paving stones be covered with asphalt, and (2) the invention of cement, which became a great building factor. Those who had invested in the granite business sufferred severe losses. The people who suffered included the best families of Gloucester and Rockport—and even the banks. Merchandising and Trading Another branch of the Babson family was engaged in the sailing temporarily gone Communist and, with the exception of Hong Kong, we have no connection with her 600 million industrious people.

When steamships were used, the China trade moved to our larger American cities such as New York, Philadelphia, and New Orleans. However, the Babson family continued in the merchandising business. My father, Nathaniel Babson, was the leading storekeeper in Gloucester, and at his suggestion the family acquired control of over two hundred variety stores which have now become the profitable McCrory chain.

The moral of this story is the importance of diversification. The families who put all their money into the fishing business have largely gone broke; the families who put their money in the granite business were forced into bankruptcy; the families who refused to change from the sailing ships for steamships have about held their own. So I urge today, diversification. Do not put all your eggs into one basket! Have them in a few different baskets, but carefully watch each basket and be willing to quickly realize coming events.

Nature didn't make us perfect, so she did the next best thing. She made us blind to our own faults.

What a pity it is that nobody knows how to manage a wife but a bachelor.

If you don't enjoy what you have, how would you be happier with more?

Happiness is that sensation you acquire when you are too busy to be miserable.

The suspense begins when Miss Marple, returning by train from London to her country cottage, is horrified to see a man strangle a woman when another train passes on an adjacent track. Police, finding no trace of a body, believe her to be the victim of hallucinations, but Miss Marple knows what she has seen and deduces that the body could have "disappeared" if it had been thrown from the train and hidden on the grounds of the Ackenthorpe estate bordering part of the railroad track.

Foreign Aid Bill Needs Major Overhauling

By O. C. Fisher
A $5 billion foreign aid bill was approved by the House last week with 10 Texans voting for it and 12 voting against. This must be followed by an appropriation which may vary a bit from the $5 billion figure. A similar bill was previously approved by the Senate. A conference committee will now iron out the differences.

This runs the total of foreign aid to well over $90 billion.

During debate the House adopted several amendments, including one to forbid use of any of this money for loans, grants, or purchase of bonds of the UN until all members had paid their share of UN expenses, including UN Congo and Gaza Strip expenses.

Another amendment prohibits any aid to countries that expropriate U. S. property without adequate compensation.

A third amendment deals with aid to communist countries, restricting the use of aid funds unless the President finds and reports to Congress that such aid is vital to U. S. security, that the recipient is not controlled by the international Communist conspiracy and that the aid would promote the recipient's independence from international Communism.

The Bill also includes $600 million for Latin America under the Alliance for Progress program.

This entire program is badly in need of major overhauling. Too much foreign aid money is going down the drain because too often the primary factor in dishing it out has not been American interest and American security. Yet that should be the controlling justification for any outlay of U. S. dollars in the name of foreign aid.

When the President was in Mexico recently he announced a considerable amount of assistance to that country under the Alliance for Progress. Yet, Mexico continues to recognize Castro's government and carried on a vast trade program with the Communist government in power there. Therefore, any American aid to Mexico, under the circumstances, would indirectly benefit Castro by enabling Mexico to use American commodities in an export trade program with Cuba.

Actually, in order to protect American interest and security, no aid should be extended to a Latin American country that recognizes and carries on trade relations with Castro. It is proper and right that give-aways should have strings attached.

When a man starts his conversation by saying, "Please get me straight," it is very important for you to "get him straight."

A BEAUTIFUL DIVERSION... Astronaut Richmond Talbot (Tom Tryon) is surprised by the appearance of a girl from outer space (Dany Saval) aboard his moon-bound space ship in Walt Disney's hilarious Technicolor comedy feature, "Moon Pilot," starring Tryon, Brian Keith and Edmond O'Brien and introducing Miss Saval. Showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the downtown State Theatre.
