Ballots of Three Counties Will Be Impounded After November Elections

Texas Press Association

When Jim Leonard, executive sein Texas, asked Atty. Gen. Will Wilson to impound ballots in Duval, Zapata and Starr counties, after the general election in November . . . the Fall political campaign immediately got under way.

It was a quaint, but telling, legal order of impoundment that Wilson filed in the 98th District Court in Austin. It cited the vaults of Duval County's district and county clerks as "not as adequate, accessible and safe" as the vault of the Corpus Christi State Bank.

He then would deliver them to the Corpus Christi bank for safe keeping until the 98th District Judge, or his appointed representative, could examine them.

With this sort of preamble, it looks like the Fall campaign might be a little more exciting than the

And the report goes on at length listing job opportunities that can't be filled because the unemployed don't like that kind of work or else they think they are better off drawing unemployment compensation.

Yet in Chicago, last week the AFL-CIO's 29-man Executive Council, viewing with alarm the unemployment, opened a massive drive to reduce work weeks to 35 hours and require double pay (instead of 1 1-2) for overtime, without any reduction in the income of workers. A task force was set up to draft legislation and turn the heat on Congress to pass legislation next year along this line.

Obviously, this would be highly inflationary and by increasing prices any gain the workers might achieve, viewed from any standpoint, would be eaten away by ncreased prices. And the entire Nation would suffer.

Actually, there is nothing particularly alarming about the present level of unemployment. "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come'

One of the best-loved classics in American fiction comes to brilliant and heartwarming rebirth in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come,' 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope De-Luxe Color version of the epic drama of the South starring America's folk-singing idol Jimmie Rodgers in his first screen role, with Luana Patten, Chill Wills and Linda Hutchings, showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta

Drive-In Theatre. The "little shepherd" is a Kentucky mountain teen-ager (Jimmie Rodgers) orphaned and bound over to work off his dead family's debts in the home of a sadistic guardian (Goerge Kennedy). Unable to bear the wretchedness of this household, Chad flees with his dog, Luke, to the rural community of Kingdom Come where a gentle schoolmaster and his wife, the Tur-

The pictures he shows are good, depicting conditions in that country, and circumstances under which our armed forces live the name of national defense than in that cease-fire-only-not-peace under any other one misrepresenclimate. Dr. Bedford's running commentary during the slide program is right interesting, too. If you don't think a dentist can get a chuckle out of you, ask him to drop around and show his pictures to your group.

A well-aimed paddle, applied with vigor, would relieve the pressure of many so-called "traumic blocks" in the psyches of many of our juveniles.

Just read an account of how the Teamsters union delayed delivery of an edition of one of the big city daily newspapers because the paper carried an advertisement which was deemed critical of the union. After the offending lines were deleted, delivery of the paper was resumed. Therein lies the story of the danger of too much power in the hands of a few who disregard the rights of the public. There is much talk and jabbering by many do-gooders who are always "defending" the rights of someone else; but we've seen nothing from them about defending the rights of the public.

Texas voters in November will vote for or against 14 amendments to the State Constitution. About every conceivable phase of our State government is touched by one of these amendments, and it behooves every voter to qualify himself regarding these changes before he goes to the polls. But it will be difficult, to say the least. A slight once-over will not suffice -to understand what they are all about will take a great deal of thought and study. But under the circumstances, it will be next to impossible for even a small segment of the voting population to know what they are voting for or against. State publication laws do not permit a widespread dissemination of such important information. For example, some of the proposed amendments are published in one newspaper, and some in another, and still others in a third. Few papers over the state have published all 14 of them. Therefore, few voters will have even an inkling of what they will be faced with at the polls. It's something to think about!

The Enterprise completes final publication of seven of the proposals this week. The other seven have been published elsewhere, supposedly. Although the voting public will be exposed to part of them, it's a haphazard manner of informing, which can and should be corrected.
