Local People Named To State Committee To Judge Essays Sponsored By VFW Aux.

Three Winters people have been named to a State committee to judge essays to be written by students from all over the state of Texas, in the 28th Annual National High School Writing Contest sponsored by the Department of Texas VFW Ladies Auxiliary, in cooperation with educators and the press.

Mrs. W. E. Little, Mrs. Homer Hodge Jr., and Harvey Dale Jones compose the State essay judging committee. All are from Winters. Mrs. Weldon Collins of Winters is State Essay Chairman for the VFW Auxiliary, Department of Texas.

"What I Can Do For My Country" will be the subject of essays to be submitted in the contest by school students from Texas. The annual essay contest sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary is approved by the State Board of Education, and many entries are expected. State awards to winning writers will be presented by Mrs. Collins at the Department of Texas Convention in June. Local winners will receive awards from the sponsoring VFW Auxiliary organizations throughout the state, and each local organization will forward to Mrs. Collins those essays winning top awards in their cities. Judging will be done on April 15.

An award of $50.00 and a silver medal will be presented, during the convention in June, to the student writer submitting the essay judged best for the state. Second place will receive $25.00 and a medal, and third place will receive $15.00. The winning essay in State competition will then be entered in the national competition, and awards will be $1,000.00 for first, $500.00 for second, and $250.00 for third and fourth place winner, $100.00.

According to the contest department of the National VFW Auxiliary, local awards are encouraged in the writing contest. These may be received from any individual or institution, but awards identified with any commercial or advertising promotion are not accepted. March 15 was the deadline for local contests throughout the country.

All students in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, enrolled in any public, private or parochial high school, are eligible to compete for awards in the writing contests. Essays may be up to 1,000 words, but no more, to qualify.

ASCS Reminds Farmers Of Four Important Dates

The Runnels County office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service this week notified farmers of some important dates and deadlines during the next two or three months, regarding their farming operations.

W. R. Gray Jr., office manager of the County ASCS, told farmers, "These are important dates . . . mark them on your calendar and refer to it often so that you will not let the deadline pass without having given the applicable program your every consideration and proper attention."

March 22: Final date to apply for intention to participate in the 1963 Feed Grain Program and to increase or decrease a signed intention.

March 30: Final date to apply for premeasurement of the 1963 cotton.

April 30: Final date to sign application for 1962 Wool Incentive payment for wool and unshorn lambs sold between the dates of April 1 1962 and March 31, 1963.

May 15: Final date to seed summer legumes on cropland and pasture land. An application must be filed and approved for this practice before the seeding is done.

Although It's Plenty Dry

Water Situation Here Continues To Be Good

Although area farmers continue to anxiously scan the skies for some sign of rain, after almost three months of 1963 have passed without any appreciable amount of rainfall, W. D. Waggoner, superintendent of the Water Department for the City of Winters, in reporting water usage for the past year, says that the Winters City Lake is in good condition, water wise.

Only a total of 1 inch of rainfall was recorded (unofficially) for the month of December in Winters proper, but the watershed serving the city lake received some more, raising the water level to capacity on January 1. In fact, there was enough water in the lake at the beginning of the year so that when the wind blew good from the north, water was lost through the spillway.

Presently, the water is only about 10-12 inches below spillway level, and any measurable amount of rainfall in the watershed will cause water to go over the spillway, Waggoner indicated. And, by the time the water is down very much, the usual spring rains should return the lake to a full level. The lake has never failed to be filled sometime during the spring, it was noted.

At the present, the Winters City Lake is supplying the needs of the city and the missile base east of town, besides furnishing water for two waterflood projects, Sunray Oil Co., and Pan American Oil Co., which began using water from the lake last December. However, with the continued growth of the area and the city, and the increased demand for water, facilities for storing water will need to be increased within a few short years, it has been explained by many.

The City Lake, located east of town, has a capacity of 3065 acre feet. Three acre feet contain a million gallons of water.

Water consumption in the city is increasing almost constantly, it is reported, demand during one month in 1962 reaching almost a million gallons per day. Total consumption for the month of June last year was 29,606,000 gallons, for the city alone. In addition, the missile base required 388,000 gallons, and Sun Ray Oil Company's waterflood project took 709,000 gallons during that period. During January, 1962, the lowest monthly demand for the year called for 12,762,000 gallons, for city usage.

Total water consumption for 1962 by the city, the missile base and the two waterflood projects, is as follows:

January—13,692,000
February—13,948,000
March—14,314,000
April—15,072,000
May—23,988,000
June—30,703,000
July—23,409,000
August—16,299,000
September—16,343,000
October—17,150,000
November—15,170,000
December—18,826,000

Students Must Have Permits To Get Vaccine

Parents were reminded this week that parental consent must be submitted in order for school students to receive the third and last of the Sabin polio vaccine.

Administration of the last of the series will be on Friday, March 29, for school children, and on Sunday, March 31, for adults and pre-school children.

School officials pointed out that when the administration of the polio vaccine began last fall, most parents signed permits for their children to receive the vaccine. These permits are on file with the school, and cover each of the types of vaccine. However, there may be a few parents who had not forwarded the permits for some reason or other; these should be on file not later than next Friday so that students may receive the last of the series, it was stressed.

The last of the series of polio vaccine will be administered in the school cafeteria. No set charge is being made for the vaccine, but those receiving the medicine are asked to donate what they can to help defray expenses. The Winters Lions Club is sponsoring the project.

FB Members Will Attend Wheat Meeting in Abilene

Several members of the Runnels County Farm Bureau Wheat Referendum Committee will attend a meeting March 26 in Abilene at the Windsor Hotel to discuss issues involved in the forthcoming wheat referendum, according to Hugo Volsang, president.

A number of other county Farm Bureaus in this area will be represented at the meeting which is being conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau to provide local farm leaders with information on the wheat issue.

Attending from Runnels County will be E. F. Albro, Winters, Sam Faubion, Talpa; M. L. Wood, Talpa and B. R. Russell, Winters.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 provides for a referendum to be conducted by the Secretary of Agriculture, with qualified wheat producers given an opportunity to vote for or against a multiple-price certificate plan for wheat. If two-thirds or more of those voting favor the plan it will go into effect with the 1964 crop.

The president of the local county FB said that state and national Farm Bureau policies strongly oppose the certificate plan.

A cattle feeding Field Day, which is expected to draw more than 500 persons interested in the commercial aspects of livestock feeding, is being planned for Winters for April 16.

A joint enterprise, sponsored by Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., Commercial Feeders, Inc., and Purina Mills, the Field Day will include tours of the milling operation, feed lots and a barbecue lunch.

Ray Alderman, of Alderman-Cave, said that although plans have not been completed, it is expected that this Field Day will be one of the largest of its kind for this area. The event is being designed to appeal to those people who are in, or expect to enter, the commercial cattle feeding business.

Several cattle feeding experts from Purina Mills are expected to attend the Field Day, along with cattle feeders, milling company operators and feed lot operators. A panel discussion covering the commercial feeding of cattle will be conducted in the State Theatre in the afternoon, following the barbecue lunch.

Plans for the Field Day are being completed by Alderman, Ray Walston of Commercial Feeders, and representatives of Purina Mills.

C. of C. Office To Remodeled Quarters Soon

Remodeling work on the office of the Winters Chamber of Commerce will be completed within a few days, and operations will be returned to the permanent location, Mrs. B. B. Bedford, secretary-manager, said this week.

The office building on West Dale has been completely redone, with a lowered ceiling and new tile floor. The front has been rebuilt, with metal and glass. The new front has been built behind the big colonial columns which retain the early-day appearance, and at the same time lending a modernistic approach to the whole remodeling project.

House of Representatives Sent Budget Bill To Senate; Flying Cost Criticized

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

A $3,000,000,000 budget bill has been passed by the House of Representatives.

Before it cleared the House and went on to the Senate, the bill elicited several cries of anguish from some who protested agency bequests as too small and some who claimed certain allotments were too big.

Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo claimed appropriations for the State Armory Board and the State Board of Control were too big since they involved $1,000 salary raises for executive directors of those agencies.

Rep. Terry Townsend of Brady claimed deputy commissioners in the Texas Education Agency draw a total of $14,800 more than the Legislature authorized.

Townsend also tried to cut out a $250,000 appropriation to improve the newly-donated Wheatly Ranch in Blanco County as a state park. He claimed the money was needed for established parks. But this move failed.

HIGH COST OF FLYING
Another attempt to cut a specific recommendation out of the budget bill almost was successful.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford tried to get the House to "ground" the State Land Office airplane. He pointed out that $100,000 is appropriated annually for operation and maintenance of a high-powered Land Office plane.

Cotten showed a photostatic copy of the plane's flight log for the year ended October, 1962. He stated, "In a year's time, only 68 flights were recorded. Sixteen were test flights to familiarize the pilot with the plane before he broke the propeller when he collided with another plane in a hangar and then he had to take eight more test flights to familiarize himself with the new propeller!"

Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs disagreed. He said that the plane is necessary for aerial surveys and photographs to confirm the 1941 state land survey.

Cotten insisted that the Land Office should hire commercial aerial photographers, as the Texas Water Commission does.

Cotten's amendment to strike out the plane appropriation failed by a narrow 72-68 vote.

LOW COST OF EDUCATION
Complaints about too-low appropriations came from members who said allotments for higher education in 1964-65 are too small.

The last Legislature appropriated $159,600,000 from the State General Revenue Fund for higher education in 1962-63.

State college administrators requested $243,000,000 for the coming two years. Former Gov. Price Daniel and the Legislative Budget Board recommended $226,000,000.

Gov. John B. Connally recommends $225,000,000. Paducah Rep. Bill Healy's appropriations bill allows for $187,500,000 to educate the bumper crop of war babies that is expected to begin to flow into state colleges next year.

Rep. Hugh Farmer of Fort Worth claimed the Healy committee had slashed Arlington State College's library budget so drastically, the school might not be accredited next year.

So, Farmer and Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth begged for an amendment to raise Arlington's appropriation. It failed by a vote of 94-41.

The $172,000 needed to make the Texas Maritime Academy in Galveston a reality was absent from the appropriations bill. But Governor Connally said, "I have real hope of getting the Legislature to restore the maritime money." He didn't say whether he had any hope of getting the allotment for higher education boosted.

COUNTY BUYING MAY BE EASIER
Rep. Vernon Beckham of Denison got a green light from the House Committee on Counties on his bill to raise the amount a county purchasing agent may spend on emergency purchases without advertising for competitive bidding.

Since 1925, the amount that may be spent without competitive bidding has been $150. Beckham said this is unrealistic in the view of rising costs. He proposed it be raised to $500. However, the subcommittee set it at $300.

Reps. Henry Grover and J. C. Whitfield of Houston won approval from the House State Affairs Committee on their bill to require competitive bidding on public school purchases above $1,000.

SALES TAX FREEZE FAILS
An attempt by Rep. John Allen of Longview to pass a constitutional amendment to freeze the state sales tax at two per cent and keep food and drugs exempt failed by a 72-64 vote.

However, food may remain safe from the sales tax if a measure by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas and Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity passes. They have proposed legislation to simplify sales tax bookkeeping for grocers. Since grocers have been the ones fighting for a blanket tax, this bill may satisfy them.

TUITION RAISES PROPOSED
Representative Atwell picked up a recommendation by the Commission on Higher Education to double state college tuition, and filed a bill to raise it from $50 to $100 a semester.

Governor Connally has ignored the commission's suggestion.

Rep. Dick Morgan, Republican from Dallas, chose "a good compromise." He introduced a bill to raise tuition to $75 a semester.

Children of members of the Texas National Guard who have been killed in the "cold war crisis" since 1950 will be provided free tuition in state colleges, if a bill by Representative Farmer is passed.

STATES RIGHTS STAND
The House passed a resolution to ask Congress to call a constitutional convention to leave legislative reapportionment to state legislatures. Rep. Bill J. Parsley of Lubbock said, "This may be the last time the state can take a stand on what may be the last of state's rights."

If the proposed amendment is adopted by a sufficient number of states, Texas could insure a rural, dominated legislature, despite urban growth.

Lake Travis Has Uniform Fish Laws
"Fishing laws on Lake Travis are uniform," J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, said today. The statement was made to clarify existing confusion on laws for the lake which lies in Burnet and Travis counties.

According to Phillips, laws for Lake Travis are as follows:
The bag limits for channel, blue and flathead catfish are 25 per day with no possession limit. For crappie and white bass, 25 each per day with no possession limit. For black bass, the limit is 15 per day of which not more than 10 may be greater than 11 inches and none of which may be less than 7 inches. No person may possess more than 200 minnows, and there are no limits on other fish species.

Only the following means and methods of taking fish may be used: rod and reel; pole and line; handline, set line and throw line. Only one trotline per person with not more than 30 hooks may be used in Lake Travis.

Spear guns and bows and arrows may be used on rough fish, and the common funnel fruit jar type trap and minnow seines not longer than 20 feet, dip nets, cast nets and umbrella nets constructed of non-metallic materials may be used for taking minnows, sunfish (bream or perch) and rough fish.

WINGATE COMMUNITY SAW FILM "HUNGER" AT SCHOOL THURSDAY
The film, "Hunger," was shown in the Wingate Community Thursday, March 21st at 7:30 p.m. in the Wingate School house. Bill Harman, Community Chairman for CROP was in charge of presenting this film to the community acquainting people with the need for CROP and what CROP is doing overseas. This organization is the Christian Rural Overseas Program helping those countries less fortunate.

Anyone wishing to donate an animal for CROP may do so by taking it to the Runnels County Auction Barn on March 18th, 25th, or April 1st. An agreement has been made with W. B. (Red) Weatherford, operator of the Runnels County Auction Barn, that all animals contributed to this worthy cause would be pooled together and auctioned near the middle of the sale on one of the above Mondays. There will be no commission or profit on the part of the Auction Barn for animals auctioned for CROP. This is one way they have of sharing in this benevolent program.

Hugo Vogelsang, County Chairman for CROP, announced anyone who wants to donate clothing for this worthy cause may do so by bringing them to the Runnels County Farm Bureau Office or that cash donations may be sent to CROP, in care of Otis Jacob, Ballinger, Texas.

Funds Still Needed For Screwworm Fight By Stockmen

The drive to raise $1,000,000 to keep the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program in operation is entering its final days, and trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, which is collecting the funds, say an all-out effort will have to be made to reach the desired goal.

Interest in the fund drive has been very high, trustees say, and they are optimistic the money will be raised by March 1. They warn, however, that if producers sit back now and do not make a "last-ditch" effort, they could still fall short of the required amount and the program would have to be stopped.

Many of the county SWAHRF chairmen report that they have already collected up to 50 percent as much as in previous drives. Victoria, Refugio, Kleberg and Crockett Counties have all raised over $11,000 since February 1, but many other counties are not doing nearly as well.

"We can't afford to relax our efforts until the final dime has been collected," Marvin J. Bridges, Foundation Executive Director, said. "The Foundation will announce when we go over the top and we won't ask for any more money."

Many organizations have aided the fund drive. The Perry Foundation of San Antonio and the Chamber of Commerce Association gave Oklahoma producers sent $14,000. Even the Future of America have gotten pictures. The Bellville unit on their livestock Sportsmen are actively going through their "Deer" campaign, with ter being asked to give for each deer he kills son.

There are definite progress toward eradication been made and success reached this year if the is available and producers rate by preventing screwworm infestations from developing farms and ranches. All es now being found in deep South Texas. On that it will be possible them in that area and their northward migrationducers are being urged to their animals faithfully, wounds and send in sam-

The subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson is "Why Men Resist Christ." The following is by Thomas A. Langford: As a teacher, I often see this. A student comes in and says, "I can no longer believe in God." Usually he will give intellectual reasons for this assertion, and sometimes these are really his reasons for doubting. But more often probing brings out the fact that the problem is not intellectual; basically it is moral. The person is doing what he wants to do, things he knows are morally wrong. He must either stop what he is doing or get rid of his Judge. So he asks, "Is there a God who can judge me?" And he answers No.

In the final analysis, then, the problem is not even a moral problem. It is a spiritual condition. For the real issue is—my will or God's Will. And our love of self is often stronger than our love of God.

The basic temptation of man is to make himself into his own god. Tuesday morning of last week at her home, Mrs. Jack Bishop of Drasco was hostess to the WSCS ladies of the Winters Methodist Church. Mrs. C. R. Willey was in charge of the program. Mrs. Horace Abbott opened the session with prayer and Mrs. Sam Jones said the benediction. Others present were Mesdames W. T. Stanley, G. E. Shook, J. L. Wright, Alfred Rose, Coke, coffee and cookies were served.

Treat Shearing Cuts To Stop Infestation Of Screwworms

Warmer weather and shearing time means that screwworm activity may not be too far in the future for this area. While officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program are hoping screwworms will not be found outside of the Rio Grande Valley this year, they urge livestockmen to take all precautions in working their livestock.

Angora goat shearing is well underway and sheep shearing will continue through April in most Texas counties. Nicks and cuts caused by shearing are prime targets for the screwworm fly.

Nearly all of the sheep and goat counties should be free of screwworms at this time, since they are located in the area where winter is severe enough to prevent screwworm survival. Infestation could come from the movement of infested animals into this region or through the normal migration of the insect from the overwintering area. If wounds are properly treated, the screwworm fly will have no place to lay its eggs and the life cycle can be stopped. By taking a little extra time and treating all wounds, cuts and scratches, producers can prevent further development and migration of the pest. Most of the medicinal screwworm preparations on the market, when properly applied to a wound, will prevent it from becoming a source of infestation.

Screwworm cases are presently being located only in deep South Texas, where intensive treatment of sterile fly release and livestock spraying is being conducted. Each case is being treated as emergency, in an attempt to prevent screwworm-free areas from becoming infested. To do this, officials point out, they must have samples of all cases being detected.

Arrangements have been made so producers can call eradication headquarters collect whenever an infestation is found. Producers should collect a screwworm sample and have it ready to be picked up before they telephone. The number to call in Mission is JUstice 5-1646.

Plant Best Seed Available

High crop yields of quality start with the planting of the best available seed. It is true, says Lee Coffey, extension agronomist, that good planting seed may cost slightly more but the few pennies per acre are about the cheapest insurance to be had.

Before planting any seed a farmer should be able to answer these questions posed by Coffey. Is the variety or hybrid adapted and recommended for the area? Is the seed high in varietal purity? Will the variety germinate high for the particular crop? Was the germination test made within the last six months? Is the seed free from weed seeds which will cost time and money to get rid of in the future? Is the seed free from troublesome seeds of similar varieties or other crops?

If the answer is "no," or "I don't know," Coffey says you don't know enough about your planting seed to plant them. Replanting increases the cost of production and upsets the time table of work and poor stands do not produce top yields, explains the agronomist.

It is true that the cost of seed is a minor one in the whole farming operation, points out Coffey, but seed are the reason the farmer plows, fertilizes, irrigates and harvests. Therefore, he adds, it is just good business to start with the best.

He suggests a close check of the tag on the seed container for the information that is needed to insure seed quality. And for detailed information on the best adapted varieties and hybrids for any particular area, visit with the local county agent. Also, on the same visit, Coffey suggests you check with him on the latest information on cultural practices.

Federal Union Would Endanger Government

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

An AFL-CIO Drive to unionize all federal employees—some two and a half million of them—is gaining headway. Outside observers are a little worried lest this trend may eventually get out of hand. France is cited as an example of this danger. There the civil servants, solidly organized, are often able to call the shots on questions of wages, hours, etc., by threatening the use of strikes. If the latter weapon is employed they can virtually shut down the operation of the government.

Last year President Kennedy issued an executive order giving federal employes official bargaining rights and is believed to be preparing another order authorizing an automatic union dues checkoff system. Thus, Federal agencies would deduct union dues from employ salaries—if voluntarily agreed to by the employe.

This trend, if handled properly, would not necessarily be against the public interest—assuming that strikes against the government will be forever prohibited; but such trends in union activities have a way of always getting out of hand in power struggles among union leaders. And the trend lends itself to a breakdown of efficiency policies desired by agency heads where they come in conflict with union demands.

Already the Government employe union (AFL-CIO), numbering 800,000 members, is demanding a 35-hour work week, with some of them plugging for a 32-hour week, plus a 20-day annual leave privilege. Most of this agitation comes from those who want more pay for less work. AFL-CIO at its Miami meeting last month threw its support behind the "elimination of speedup practices now in effect" by employes in government work.

Voluntary union activities, if used to promote efficiency, improved work standards, greater production, and an attitude of subservience to the public interest, can serve a useful purpose. But unfortunately the power of collective unionism is often used to interfere with good and responsible business management on the part of agency heads. Therein lies the real danger.

Soil Condition Is Important Factor In Farming Operations

Soil condition is a very important factor in all farming operations in Runnels Soil Conservation District, states James Barnhill of the local Soil Conservation Service. He said that, the entire soil profile needs to be examined to find out the condition of each soil layer. If past farming operations have broken down the surface structure and it has become powdery, it will puddle and seal over when rains do come. When this condition is present, as much crop residue and residue as possible should be left on the surface of the soil.

He stated that, other soil layers should be examined also. Plow pans are often formed in soils as they are cultivated. This plow sole will not let the moisture or crop roots go into the soil, which will seriously reduce yields. Occasional deep plowing, when the soil is dry, will help some. The best treatment, he said, is to perform tillage operations when soils are not too wet. And to grow high residue crops and properly manage their stubble.

Condition of the subsoil is also important because the full capacity of the soil is needed to provide plant food and water. Barnhill said, after years of continuous farming without returning the crop stubble from high residue crops, the crevices and root channels become clogged up. Often, a deep rooted legume is needed in the cropping systems to keep the subsoils open so that water, roots, and air can get through.

Barnhill stated that after examining all these problems in each field, the conservation cropping system and supporting practices can be planned to offset them.

"Tower of London" Hollywood's "man of a thousand faces" and one of its most skillful portrayals of the macabre plays the role of Richard III, one of the great scoundrels of history in the Admiralty Production "Tower of London," showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

He is, of course, Vincent Price and the role is said to fit him glove perfectly. Richard III is remembered only because he reached the throne of England over the bodies of wife, brothers, nephews and friends and the producers claim it was unnecessary to take any liberties with history. The real thing is assay into the horrible enough.

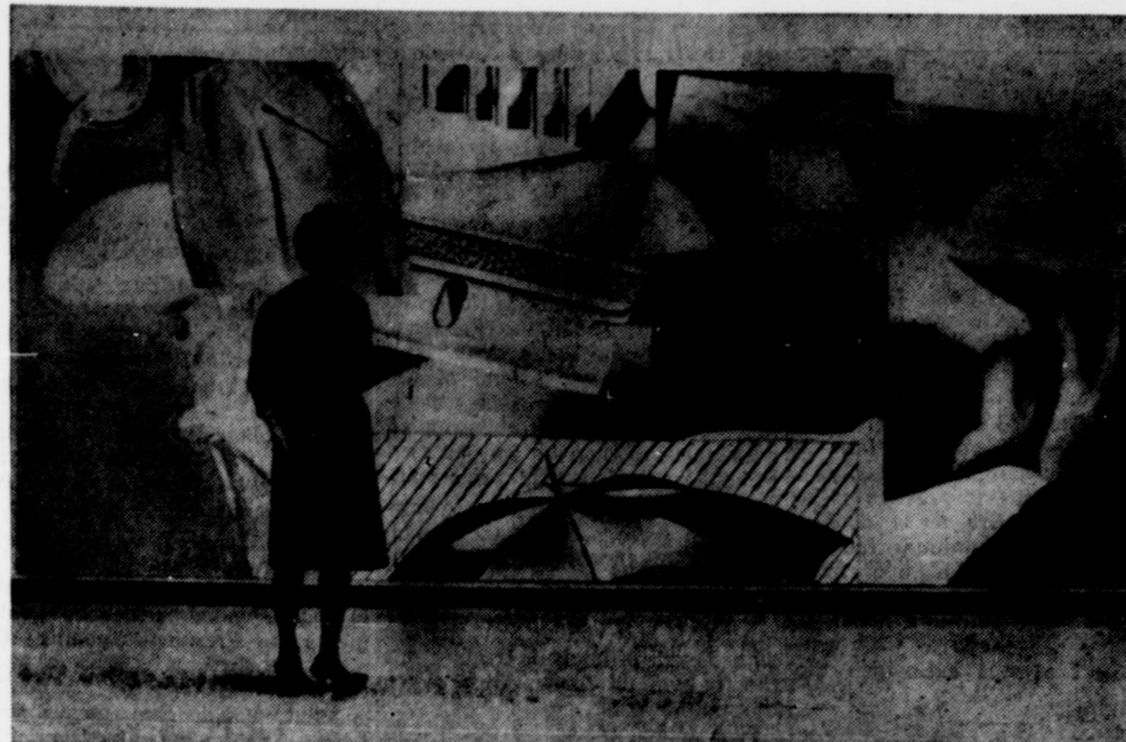

In order to bring Richard's amazing story to the screen it was necessary to rebuild the famous London tower in Hollywood, and this was done down to the last detail, including horror chambers, wine cellars, cells and halls especially dedicated to the infliction of tortures. Rebuilt also, were such happily long-forgotten instruments of torture as the rack, the iron maiden, the pillory and a special refinement which included a head cage and a hungry rat.

"Girls! Girls! Girls!" Tuneful music plus a fine romantic story brings Elvis Presley to the State Theatre Saturday night through Tuesday in a romantic entertainment melange that should please all moviegoers, as witness the highly appreciative audience that greeted the singing star at the opening yesterday of his latest Hal Wallis production for Paramount release, "Girls! Girls! Girls!" Norman Taugog deserves plaudits for his expert direction of the film in splendid Technicolor, which enhances the many outdoor scenes and musical numbers, adding extra zest to the motion picture.

Presley portrays the role of the captain of a fishing boat who, to earn money to purchase the sea craft, gets a job singing in a night club after his day's work on the water. Stella Stevens, svelte film charmer, carries the torch for Presley whose true love is his boat. However, love takes a twist when charming screen newcomer, Laurel Goodwin, comes on the scene . . . and the love light appears in both their faces, to the chagrin of Miss Stevens.

There's action, romance and humor before the situation resolves to the intimation of Presley's marriage to Miss Goodwin. Let it be said here and now that Miss Goodwin is the most appealing and capable young performer (she makes her screen debut in "Girls! Girls! Girls!") to come from Hollywood in many a screen moon! Also co-starring in the film with Presley, is Jeremy Slate, who owns the boat Presley wants to purchase, and is the villain of the film.

Several Factors Can Help Insulate Company Against Effects of Inflation

Several factors can help to insulate a company against the effects of inflation:—(1) GROWTH. A company experiencing rapid growth will find that its rate of business increase can lift profits at a faster pace than the rise in costs. (2) VITAL INDUSTRY. This includes companies in industries which are vital to the economy or to consumers and which can pass on increased costs by raising prices. (3) DIVERSIFICATION AND INTEGRATION. Companies whose profits are squeezed by inflating costs can bolster their position through diversification and integration. (4) VALUABLE ASSETS. Some companies are in the enviable position of possessing assets which are vital to their principal business and also potentially valuable in other respects.

Building Materials
Companies in the building materials field also possess inflation hedge characteristics. Their timber and minerals properties should gradually become more valuable. Population growth and migration are favorable to the building industry's future.

U. S. GYPSUM is the largest company in its field; it supplies half the domestic requirements of gypsum wallboard and plaster, and also 20 per cent of the building industry's metal lath needs. The company also produces roofing material, siding, insulating material, and paints. Its properties include strategically located quarries and acreage.

MASONITE CORPORATION is the largest domestic producer of hardwood. It has large timber holdings in Mississippi and California. Company also derives oil revenues from its properties.

DIAMOND NATIONAL CORPORATION produces paperboard, folding cartons, containers, matches, and wooden ware. It also sells lumber and building materials. Company owns 500,000 acres of timberland.

Report On County Water Pollution Will Be Due May 14

Culminating a two-year study of the pollution problems in streams of Runnels County, specific recommendations for easing of salt water pollution areas in the county will be presented at a May 14 meeting of the Runnels County, Salt Water Pollution Abatement Committee, according to an article in the Abilene Reporter-News Wednesday.

James K. Anderson of Midland, committee chairman and an independent operator who has several leases in Runnels County, announced the date for the report meeting following a panel meeting at the Petroleum Club in Abilene Tuesday.

The report of three subcommittees on May 14 at 2 p.m. will be given in the third floor conference room of the Runnels County courthouse.

Too, the study group will take its recommendations to the Texas Water Commission, the Texas Railroad Commission and any related state agency in Austin, committee spokesmen said.

C. T. Parker, Runnels County agricultural agent, brought committee members up to date on chlorides measured in the county's two main watersheds — Valley Creek and Elm Creek. Parker pointed out critical areas along the watershed and said additional chloride samples will be taken in the future.

Parker is chairman of the subcommittee on surface pollution. His subcommittee is one of three conducting simultaneous reviews of the problem areas of pollution. The other two subpanels are plugging and cementing surface pipe, and salt water disposal.

Parker said the final report would make recommendations on surface casing requirements, oil well plugging requirements and salt water disposal requirements, the article said.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Frozen Car Locks
Hunters in the northern sections of Texas sometimes find the door locks on their cars frozen stiff when the car remains outdoors for any great length of time.

This can be remedied by heating the key in the flame of your lighter or a match for a moment before inserting the key in the lock. Lock will respond instantly.

Save Frayed Shells
Many hunters discard pocket-worn shells when using pump or auto loading shotguns.

This is a wanton waste of shells. Usually these worn, scuffed shells are good and will perform perfectly if fed directly into the gun chamber, rather than into the magazine.

Don't Distract Your Hound
Leave your hound alone when he is trying to unravel a trail. If you try to encourage him, or egg him on to faster efforts, you will only confuse him.

The pup usually knows what he is doing and doesn't need your help.

Don't Change Ammunition
You may ridicule the idea, but experts tell us that guns are highly sensitive to ammunition change.

For instance: If you have carefully sighted-in your rifle before deer season, using Brand X, then switch to Brand Z for the actual hunt, even though Z is of equal quality, your gun is apt to shoot off-target.

So the best bet is to stick to the same brand of cartridge throughout the season—unless you intend sighting-in the weapon again.

Nail-Trimming The Dog
You won't need to trim your dog's nails providing you allow him enough normal exercise to keep his nails worn down.

Training A Hunting Pup
Start training your pup in the spring for fall hunting. First, obedience training at the yard, followed by field experience once cool weather sets in.

Prevent Forest Fires
One precaution you can take to prevent your campfire from starting a disastrous forest fire is to build the campfire on a double-thick sheet of aluminum foil.

Foil will keep the fire from sinking underground, then flare up later when you are gone. Dousing the campfire with water doesn't always extinguish the fire.

Feather For A Gun Barrel
Maybe your hunting friends will think you are nuts. And they may even laugh at you. But if you will tie a small feather to the end of your shotgun barrel you'll improve your marksmanship.

The feather will record the slightest wind action, which will help you to subconsciously adjust your lead accordingly.

Quick Reload
Carry a quick reload for that 22 repeating rifle (if the tube type) by using the hollow handle of a plastic fly swatter.

Simply fill the handle with 22's, then when needed, pour the contents into the empty tube of your rifle.

Rabbit-Pointing Bird Dogs
Bird dogs frequently develop the annoying habit of pointing rabbits.

Don't try to break this habit harshly, or you may confuse the pup. Rather, just keep walking and ignore him, and he will soon catch on. Usually you can tell a rabbit point since the stance is much less tense than when the dog is pointing birds.

Incoming Shots
For many shotguns the incoming is the toughest shot of all. The trick is to blot out the bird with the gun muzzle as you shoot.

If you can see your target when you press the trigger, you can be

Know Nurseryman, Says Ag Dept.

How many times have you purchased nursery stock from a mail order house or roadside stand only to find later that the plants were inferior or misrepresented?

It happens all too frequently. Many times the plants fail to grow at all. If they do, the gardener may discover he has a weak, multi-flora hedge rose instead of the American Beauty he was expecting—or perhaps a tree crippled with disease when he was entitled to healthy stock for the price paid.

For many years, legitimate nurserymen have suffered the consequences of these actions by unscrupulous operators. Reliable local dealers and out-of-state houses are eager and willing to cooperate with Texas officials in wiping out the fly-by-night firms which abuse the public trust.

One of the duties of the Texas Department of Agriculture with which few people are aware is the inspection and certification of nurseries operating within the state. The Department, under Commissioner John C. White also checks with similar agencies in states from which dealers want to ship plants into Texas. When the firms and their nursery stock meet state specifications, a certificate is issued.

There are over 6,000 state inspected nursery firms operating in Texas. Each one has been issued a license which certifies that the stock and grounds were free of disease or harmful insects. Each nursery is spot-checked periodically to make certain a high standard is maintained.

Every person who sells plants, or exposes plants for the purpose of sale, whether in the field, off a truck, or in a business house, is required by the Texas Nursery Inspection Law to secure a license. The buyer who desires good stock should make certain that he is doing business with a legally operating, state licensed firm or individual. It may save disappointment later.

When you have reason to believe the nursery stock you bought is inferior, diseased or misrepresented, it should be reported at once.

sure you are not leading enough.

Squirrel-Hunting Trick
Squirrels are mighty bulky to carry in the pockets of a hunting coat.

Also they may overheat and spoil the meat if carried in the pocket too long.

Prevent this by taking along on your next hunt a couple of horse-blanket safety pins. When a squirrel is bagged, run a pin point through a leg tendon, snap the pin shut and attach to your belt.

By repeating the process, a number of squirrels can be carried this way on one pin.

Should you expect to bag a large number of bushy-tails better carry along several pins.

How To Hold A Shotgun
Nearly every novice—and many an old-timer—has trouble hitting a target with regularity.

Many misses can be avoided if the shotgun is properly held. Watch a novice next time he shoots. Does he hold his gun with his left hand between the slide grip and the magazine (pumps and autos) and with his left elbow bent? If he does, he's wrong.

The left arm should be extended straight from the shoulder with hand gripping slide (if pump). This gives a firm support and better control of the gun.

Practice this hold until it is done subconsciously and your shooting will vastly improve.

Domestic Peace Corps Would Cost Millions of Dollars

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Top priority rating was given to the President's proposed domestic Peace Corps last week when five cabinet officers appeared at the same time before a Senate Committee to plug for this new welfare plan. Referred to by the press as the "five Cabinet Princes", they were reported to have gone through their act without a bobble.

This new $100 million project is supposed to give government jobs to 60,000 young people. It supplements the President's pending Civilian Conservation Corps, a revival of depression's CCC, which if enacted would give government jobs to an undetermined number of young people. And it supplements still another project to channel up to 50,000 new workers into so-called community service establishments—such as hospitals, playgrounds, welfare agencies and migrant labor camps—all to be on the federal payroll.

It must be remembered that when one of these welfare programs begins, it will get bigger each year after that. The foreign Peace Corps is a case in point. Starting out at an annual cost of $10 million, the Peace Corps is now asking Congress to appropriate over $100 million for the next fiscal year.

The President has had a special 20-man commission working for weeks planning these new programs. Headed by Bobby Kennedy's special assistant, David Hackett, the group includes Donovan McClure, a public information officer for the foreign Peace Corps, all engaged in working out new plans designed to alleviate unemployment among young people.

Is it any wonder that we have mounting deficits? While it is conceivable that some sort of good might come about by initiating any or all of these new projects, the simple fact is that they are not needed and we do not have the money. The Washington Star had this comment to make about the revival of CCC: "For that indeterminate number of youths really looking for a better chance, there has to be a better way than going back to the dark days of WPA and CCC."

HEALTH LETTER

Today is not only the Space Age. It is also the Chemical Age.

One of the main benefits of living in this chemical age is availability of numerous pesticides. They have been essential for the improvement of our agricultural output and therefore for raising our standard of living. Also, these pesticides have been helpful in the control of many insect borne diseases.

Unfortunately, the most effective pesticides are often the most toxic and precautions against them the most difficult to enforce. In 1962, 13 Texans died as a result of mishandling of these toxic materials.

With the increased use of these highly toxic materials, both at home and in industry, it is essential that we stress safety measures at every opportunity. Listed below are some important points to remember when handling and using toxic insecticides.

1. Follow the instructions on the manufacturer's label to the smallest detail.
2. Store toxic sprays and dust away from children and irresponsible individuals, as well as livestock, foods and animal feeds.
3. All regular handlers of phosphorus insecticides should have cholinesterase tests at intervals not more than 10 days during the periods they are working with the materials.
4. All applicators should avoid breathing dust, vapors, or spray from the insecticides.
5. Respirators, which meet the specifications of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, should be worn when handling or working around highly toxic insecticides.
6. Freshly laundered protective clothing and gloves should be worn when sprays and dust are being applied.
7. If toxic insecticides are spilled on the skin or clothing, work should be suspended and the person involved should bathe and change clothes.
8. Individuals handling toxic insecticides should bathe and change clothes immediately after completing jobs or during any extensive breaks.
9. All personnel and livestock should be protected from drifts of spray or dust.
10. When toxic insecticides are applied to agricultural plants such as cotton or grain the fields should not be reentered for three days after application.
11. Toxic insecticides should be kept away from flames and sparks when being diluted for application since many solvents used in preparing insecticides are highly inflammable.
