Mike Patterson Welcomed Home By 150 Friends

Approximately 150 classmates and friends of Mike Patterson, 16, turned out for a "Welcome Home" party Saturday afternoon when Mike returned home from John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

Mike, who received critical burns over 67 percent of his body when an oil storage tank exploded near Norton July 2, has said he considers himself lucky to be alive. Johnny Hopper and Ralph Teten also were injured in the explosion. Hopper was hospitalized for some time at Galveston, and Teten was in Winters Municipal Hospital for several weeks.

Almost every member of the Winters High School football team, and the coaching staff, were on hand when Mike stepped from the auto driven by his mother Saturday afternoon. The party was a surprise to him.

Mike will be a junior in high school this year, and indicated he is ready to begin getting in shape again for the grid season. He plans to begin light workouts on weights and running a little to gain back some of the strength he lost while in the hospital. He lost 10 pounds, and must report back for a checkup in two months.

Coach L. G. Wilson said Mike, a letterman in 1962, may be ready to begin playing before the season is over this year, as a tackle.

Specializing in kicking with the 1962 AA semi-finalist football team, Mike was credited with staving off Crane in the Region II championship game in Midland last fall. Four punts in that game earned him a 44.7-yard average.

He and Johnny Mathis, in the game with Ballinger last year, were credited with stopping Ballinger's most serious scoring threat last fall, when the Blizzards nipped the Bearcats 12-0. He figured strongly in all of the Blizzard's games last year, as a hard-to-stop lineman and a toe man on kicking. He received honorable mention on the all-district team, as a tackle, last year.

Patterson also is a member of the Winters High School basketball team and the track team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Patterson.

New Check Law In Effect August 23

County officials are notifying all merchants and businessmen of Runnels County that the new "hot check law," passed by the last session of the Texas Legislature, will become effective Friday, August 23.

Under provisions of the new law, officials said, all persons receiving alleged worthless checks are required to notify the writer of the check by telegram, registered or certified letter, ten days before the passer can be filed on.

Officials said that notification must be addressed to such person or firm at place listed on the check, and warned that check receivers should be careful in getting correct address. They warned that under provisions of the new law, the passer cannot be filed on if he is not notified ten days previous to filing.

Blizzard Gridsters In Pre-Season Daily Workouts

Suddenly this summer, even in the face of high mid-afternoon temperatures, there is a hint of the Fall around the corner.

This hint of the season-to-come is punctuated by the grunts and groans, chatter and coaches' instructions, as 37 boys take part in the pre-season, two-a-day football workouts in preparation for the tough grind ahead.

Beginning with mild track and field workouts, the tempo will be increased each day as the team is honed to a sharp edge to meet their first opponent, Colorado City, on home grounds Sept. 7. Coaches report a hustle and desire among team members reminiscent of the 1962 season, when the Big Blue went all the way to the semi-finals in Double A competition. Hot weather, summer stiffness and inexperience make their mark, but coaches indicated that this is the usual condition during the first few days of practice each season.

Coach L. G. Wilson said that several other boys will be added to the lineup for the second week of football camp. He said that all boys who plan to play football in Winters High School this year, and who have not reported for training, should contact him before next Monday.

Blizzard team members who have been in practice this week will be presented in an inter-squad scrimmage Friday night, August 23, at 7:30. The public has been invited to come out to this no-admission feature of summer football camp, when team members will be introduced to the fans.

State Employees Get New Bosses By Creation of New Parks, Wildlife Board

By—Vern Sanford
 Texas Press Association

Some 700 state employees scattered throughout Texas are getting a new set of bosses. Reason is the creation of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission on August 23.

James M. Dellinger, Corpus Christi contractor; A. W. Mour-sund, Johnson City rancher-attorney; and Chairman Will Odom, Austin geologist and engineer, make up the new three-man Parks and Wildlife Commission. They replace nine commissioners on the old Game and Fish Commission and six on the old Parks Board.

Many state employees, who wondered whom Gov. John Connally would select to head the infant agency, now are worrying whether they themselves will remain on the payroll.

About 72 of the employees are in the Parks Department; some are managers of the state's 50-plus parks system. Another 625 or so are in the field of game and fish. About 100 of these are in the Austin office—the rest out in the field.

Connally says the consolidation will eliminate some duplication of services and effort.

One thing the state is sure to save on is per diems and expenses for the commissioners. The $25 per diem plus travel, hotel and meals allotted the three new men should come to about one-fifth the amount spent in past years on 15 commissioners.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN NEEDED

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., head of the Department of Public Safety, is looking for 100 additional highway patrolmen.

He asks applicants, aged 31 to 35, to contact him no later than September 14. Recruits will start to school November 19. Pay is $412 a month while in training, $453 on graduation.

Department will endeavor to assign the men to stations within 100 miles of their present homes.

HOPE TO CUT TRAFFIC DEATHS

Col. Garrison cast a gloomy eye at his crystal ball, and predicted a possible 31 traffic deaths in Texas over the three-day Labor Day weekend. But he hopes he is wrong!

"There is always a chance that the estimate can be proved too high," Garrison said, "if motorists will put forth a concerted effort to hold the line by driving within safe and legal limits, and remaining especially alert to the added dangers of holiday travel."

DPS has enlisted the aid of the Texas Safety Association, Texas Association of Broadcasters, junior chambers of commerce, Texas Council of Safety Supervisors and the Texas Motor Transportation Association for a Labor Day "Operation Motorcade"—a concerted campaign to call attention to highway dangers.

BEE WATCHING—Moving in close for an eyeball-to-eyeball look at a bee in action is William Munroe, 10, of Rochester, New York. He seems rather bee-witched.

SCHOOL LAND BOARD MEMBER NAMED

A Taylor attorney—Wilson H. Fox—has been appointed by Attorney General Waggoner Carr to take Carr's place on the School Land Board. Law specifying the change was passed at the attorney general's request.

Governor Connally and Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler will remain on the three-member board, which does a big, and complicated, business, leasing many thousands of acres of state-owned land each year.

Fox is a former district attorney and state representative for Burnet and Williamson counties.

HAWAII CALLS

Many of Texas' state officials now are in Hawaii attending the National Legislative Conference in Honolulu.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock heads the list.

Others attending are House Speaker Byron Tunnell of Tyler, Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler, Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, and Rep. Dick Slack of Pecos.

Also in the group are Bob Johnson, former representative from Dallas and now executive director of the Legislative Council, and his assistant, John T. Potter of Austin.

POPULATION VS ORGANIZATION

Theory that a large population produces a greater volume of business activity than a small population is not 100 per cent true.

This is revealed by the University of Texas' Population Research Center. It surveyed 30 Texas cities for the 20 year period—1940 to 1960.

Cities surveyed were Alpine, Angleton, Aspermont, Boerne, Borger, Brackettville, Burnet, Cottle, Del Rio, Denton, Eastland, Grapevine, Hillsboro, Humble, Italy, Killeen, McKinney, Menard, Merkel, Olney, Paris, Port Lavaca, Runge, Rusk, San Diego, Seagraves, Seymour, Somerville, Van Alstyne and Wintersboro.

Nine of these — Brackettville, Eastland, Hillsboro, Italy, Menard, Rusk, Seagraves, Somerville and Van Alstyne—had a population decline.

Runge, Italy and McKinney all saw a decrease in the number of business organizations. Brackettville and Hillsboro were the only ones that had a decrease in the number of governmental organizations.

Only city that had a decrease in the number of organizations, but grew in population, was Runge.

San Diego was the only place that failed to produce additional volunteer associations.

In general, the survey proved that businesses and other organizations multiply even when population growth does not occur. Smaller cities usually support a greater number of organizations per 1,000 population than do the big cities.

HIGH SCHOOL DROPOUT

The growing problem of high school dropouts will be the topic of the annual meeting of the Texas State Committee on Public Education in Austin on September 22.

President of the committee, Mrs. Helen J. Bechtel of Corpus Christi, is inviting all interested persons to attend the one-day session. No registration fee will be charged.

Governor Connally has estimated the state rate of dropouts for the next five years as 325,000.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT

Producing ability of Texas oil wells was cut by some 28,617 barrels a day when the Railroad Commission reduced the daily oil allowable from 28.5 per cent in August to 28 per cent for September.

Most of the major oil companies wanted more of a cut. But independent producers succeeded in getting the commission to hold production near the August allowable.

Commissioner Ernest Thompson of Amarillo returned to his office after a long illness and attended the hearing.

What's Ahead For Cattle Prices

The recent drop in fed cattle prices has caused considerable concern among cattlemen as to the prospects for the near future, says Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The average weights of cattle slaughtered under federal inspection so far this year, have been the heaviest since early 1961. This was caused by the low number of cows slaughtered along with heavier weights of fed cattle coming from feedlots, explains Uvacek.

Even though the nation's population and income levels continue to increase, the effect is not enough to offset the future increases in beef supplies.

Marketings of fed cattle will be very heavy in the West and the Corn Belt during the next three or four months, he says. The April-

June quarter should be 10 percent from level ago.

Uvacek says that feed cattle strengthening prices in the West during summer and fall.

In view of this situation, management should be holding down on expenditures and should sell cattle as soon as they desired grade, advises.

WEEKEND VISITORS

Weekend visitors in of Mrs. R. K. Fishel and Earnest Scarbrough and children, Shirley, Jane, of El Paso; George Hooker Sr., of Coleman; and George Jr., and his wife, and Jorga, Nancy, Mary and David of Abilene. Mr. Scarbrough returned Tuesday.

BABSON Timing To Budget and Save Is One Most Important Things In Man's Life

vious, for example, that it is better to pay the grocer than the doctor, even though food costs may be fairly high. Household labor costs and general expenses are also high today, plus insurance, taxes, repairs, etc. But oftentimes children or other members of the family can help lessen expenses by doing more of the chores and—or by bringing in some extra money from outside jobs.

My observations of present conditions indicate that a man with a family of four bringing home earnings of $5,000 (after income and social security taxes) ought to try to hold his living costs under 85 percent of that total. About 43 percent would go for food and clothing, and 39 percent for housing and transportation. I have said before—and I still believe it is true—that many families are paying too much for transportation. This is particularly true of those in the lower income brackets. Unless they buy more for cash and buy less on credit, they will never get started on a sensible financial basis for the future.

Even with reasonable allowances for benevolence and church and for personal and miscellaneous items, there should still be at least 5 percent left for insurance, savings, accounts, and investments,—or, more specifically, about $250. I heartily advise you to put half this amount into life insurance and the other half into savings. Starting on such a tight budget, I would definitely not make any provisions at this time for speculative investment.

Start Budgeting Early In Life
One of the most important things in a man's life is to learn early to budget and to save. Failure to do this is responsible for the sad fact that close to 30 percent of the men 55 years old right now are not self-supporting. Most of them have made enough money between the ages of 30 and 50 to keep themselves and their families in comparative ease for life if they had only followed a definite plan of saving. It seems senseless to me to work the best part of your life to earn a few dollars if these dollars are going to earn nothing for you afterward.

Only by way of labor and saving is important capital built up. Those who consume less than they produce can turn their surplus back into productive channels that will increase the nation's wealth. Investments of various sorts, including bank deposits, can build up independence for you and educate your children. In addition, savings provide the capital for commerce and industry to generate new productive facilities and thus open new employment opportunities.

HEALTH LETTER

Measles is almost as much an accepted part of childhood as bumps, bruises and abrasions. Over 90 percent of children will at some time have clinically evident measles. Although the national death rate for measles in the U. S. is relatively low, its after effects in deafness and mental crippling can be serious.

In many parts of the world measles poses a major threat. In Africa and South America the death rate among children may be as high as 25 percent.

An average of 50,626 cases of measles were reported per year in Texas during the last six years. Thousands of cases of measles occur annually with minor epidemics appearing every other year. The epidemic pattern is based upon a new group of susceptible children capable of supporting an epidemic.

Scientists made a break through several years ago in research on the measles virus. A strain of the virus was isolated in 1954. Work continued, and in the spring of this year two types of measles vaccines were licensed for manufacture. The two type vaccines—one prepared with live but greatly weakened virus, and one made with a chemically killed virus may be administered separately or in a combination.

The live vaccine induces active immunity following a single dose and produces a mild noncommunicable measles infection. Some fever and a measles-like rash usually occur about six days after vaccination, lasting from two to five days. Clinical reactions are reduced sharply if standardized. Measles Immune Globulin is given along with the attenuated vaccine but at a different site and with a separate syringe. It is hoped that this vaccine will react much as an actual case of measles might. However, this is a question researchers have yet to answer.

Reactions are infrequent when the inactivated vaccine is administered, ordinarily in three monthly doses. The protective effects beyond six months, however, are unknown.

Another method is to administer live vaccine from one to three months after one or two doses of inactivated vaccine have been given. In this case, clinical reactions are sharply reduced and protection is increased over that of the inactivated vaccine alone.

Immunization is particularly recommended for children and those especially prone to develop serious complications.

Urge Drivers To Use Caution During Long Holiday Weekend

Texas Safety Association issued a special Labor Day safety bulletin urging Texas drivers to display "caution" and "courtesy" in their driving during the long holiday weekend.

"Caution and courtesy can go a long way in cutting down traffic accidents and fatalities during the Labor Day weekend," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said. The safety director said drivers should put all their driving skills to work for them to stay out of trouble in traffic and should be prepared for the unexpected actions of other drivers. He also urged drivers to start out with a proper driving attitude.

"Your attitude about your own driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect on the possibilities of your being involved in an accident. Treat other drivers the way you want to be treated—with courtesy," he added.

Musick reminded drivers they have a moral as well as a legal responsibility when driving.

"No one really wants to be killed or injured by another person in traffic. But, for some reason, many drivers seem to think they have a built-in personal immunity to a fatal accident. It just isn't so — and it CAN happen to YOU."

The TSA is cooperating with the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Texas Highway Department and other groups in promoting traffic accident prevention during the Labor Day holiday period.

In addition to traffic safety activities, the Association is promoting accident prevention programs for holiday safety at home and in public places.

"Non-transport accidents at home and in public places also take their toll during holidays," Musick noted.

He said an unusual number of drownings this summer has given cause for special concern in the area of water safety.

"If you are going to a lake, river or some other body of water, make sure you know the hazards of that particular place before you go in swimming or take your boat out. Be sure you have approved life-preservers for every passenger in your boat and that everyone knows and observes safety rules," he said.

Musick said homeowners should use caution in starting fires for cook-out. Make sure all fire prevention precautions are taken.

"And don't forget about the small children and 'elderly persons,'" he continued. Special attention should be given to removing environmental hazards that might cause falls. These two groups are frequently the victims of accidental falls.

County Must Be Re-Certified For Brucellosis

Runnels County must be re-certified as free of brucellosis, according to C.T. Parker Jr., county agent.

To date, the program for re-certification is only half completed, the county agent said. All farmers and stockmen owning cattle are urged to contact the county agent's office as soon as possible so this work can be finished.

The program has been on a voluntary basis, Parker said, and will continue to be so long as stockmen keep calling in. However, if the program lags, he said, each individual will be notified that his herd must be tested.

Approximately 140 herds remain to be re-certified before the program is completed, Parker said.

Billy Gruben is the cattle tester with the county agent's office.

FROM PLAINVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gresham and sons of Plainview are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gresham and with her mother, Mrs. J. S. Sanders.

Winters High School, is shown with Dr. Robert Miller, veterinarian who gave the injections to about 113 animals in the day-long program. They were assisted by Kenneth Durst, vo-ag teacher. Twenty percent of the proceeds received in the vaccination program were given to the local FFA chapter. (Little photo)

In Texas it would be a good project for some civic organization to try to develop camp sites. Landowners could be contacted and sold on the idea of adding such a program to their own economy. A landowner with a good water hole, accessible lake or stream and a wooded area might find it profitable to furnish camping facilities.

Garner State Park is a typical example of the manner in which people will use available facilities. It is practically impossible to get into this park unless you've made your reservation well in advance. Hundreds of persons pitch camp there every summer to enjoy the park facilities.

Landowners soon discover they can make more money than just the per day camping fee. With a concession they can sell food and drinks—also at a profit. The concession business in most of the public areas is a paying proposition. It can be profitable to the landowner, too.

In many instances the campers themselves can be blamed for lack of interest on the part of landowners. Too many campers are willing to leave their litter for the landowner.

This is noticeable even in roadside parks, where tables, benches, fireplaces and trash cans are courteously provided. Too many users walk away from their tables and leave all the old scraps, sacks and cans around to attract flies and varmints. And to mar the landscape!

Watermelon eaters especially are bad about this. They'll buy a cold melon along the way, then stop at the first roadside campsite and eat the melon. When through they'll leave the rind and seeds, and an extremely sticky table for the next fellow who comes along.

If you love the great outdoors, help preserve it in all its finery.

THE LAW—
What happens if you should die? Who will inherit your property? If you have a will, it will control the distribution of your property. If you die without a will, the state law will determine who inherits your property. This is often a complicated matter, and it is best to consult a lawyer to make sure your wishes are carried out. A will is a legal document that states how you want your property distributed after you die. It can save your family a great deal of trouble and expense.

Well Adjusted
Moldboard Said
More Economical

Despite modern agricultures many advances, a good job of plowing is still important to the success of many crops, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer. Proper plowing controls many plant diseases and weeds, he adds.

Properly adjusted moldboard plows are more economical to operate at a depth of about one-half the bottom's cutting width.
The design of the plow determines how the furrow slice is turned, the amount of soil pulverization, and the scouring or cleaning ability of the plow. Usually the gentler the slope of the mold-board, the lighter the draft and the less the pulverization, says O'Neal.

Plowshares should be sharp, but not unduly hooked at the points.
When sharpening a plowshare make its shape as nearly like that of a new share as possible, explains the engineer. Farmers should not expect to work many acres with a dull share, he says.

Colter rollers and colter bearings should be checked and tightened or replaced if needed. Bearings should be lubricated to reduce wear, and frogs or standards and beams should be checked to make sure they are not sprung.
Because it is impossible to make adjustments where parts are worn or bolts are not tight, they should also be checked, says O'Neal.

To properly adjust the plow first set the wheels at the tread width desired and then level the plow while setting at the plowing depth to be used. One of the most important adjustments to be made on the plow is at the hitch. Adjust it vertically so that the rear of the landside is about a finger's
