

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

"Thunder in February, frost in April" is an old saying in these parts, and with variations, in many sections of the country. We'll probably have forgotten all about it by the time April rolls around, however. What's important, though, the thunder we've heard in the first days of February has been accompanied by good rains throughout the area.

There's no way to measure the value of the moisture which has fallen these past few days, but there have been a lot more smiles on the faces of farmers since the first rains fell last week. And when a farmer smiles, can spring be far behind?

The first good rains came last week, in the last days of January. Measured locally, 0.7 inch of moisture fell on Jan. 29, and another inch fell Jan. 30. Then the month of February started out with a promise, with 0.8 inch on Feb. 3, and 0.9 on Feb. 9. This was measured in Winters. . . other sections of the county have reported like amounts.

Total rainfall for 1964 thus far is more than was received for the same period in the past two years. No rain was reported in January of last year, with only 1.3 inch for the entire month of February 1963. In 1962, nothing was recorded for the first two months.

Kathryn Duff, in her "Front Page" column of the Abilene Reporter-News a few days ago said in effect that no thunder was heard with the rains during the last days of January. She should have been in Winters! Early on the morning of January 30, . . . about 3 o'clock, . . . we heard thunder rolling while the rain was coming down. Admit that it was noticed because it was unusual. . . sounded like a good spring thunderstorm for a while. Oh, well, we do things differently in Winters, anyway.

One of the most despicable acts of man is the indiscriminate poisoning of dogs and other pets! There is nothing, perhaps, which raps more on the nerves of most people than to hear that someone has lost a dog because someone threw poison out.

Admittedly, there are times when some kind of action should be taken to protect property, and even to protect oneself, against dogs which are allowed to roam a neighborhood unchecked. They can become a menace, of course, and something should be done. People who own dogs which cause disturbances or create danger should be held accountable. But poison! That is the method used by some who refuse to come out in the open with their protests; who work underhandedly, without thought or conscience of the possible results. Just suppose that someone threw out a poisoned wiener, in hopes that an obnoxious dog would get it. . . and some little child found it? That would be a terrible weight to have to bear on the conscience for the rest of one's life! And it can happen.

The police have reported several instances of dogs being poisoned in different sections of town recently. They are asking for the cooperation of everyone in trying to prevent this sort of thing, before it does end in a terrible tragedy.

Wouldn't it be nice if the puzzles on the front pages were as simple to solve as the word puzzles on the back pages?

Our old friend out on Bluff Creek says that he doesn't like to get to feeling too free and easy. . . it might spoil him to where he could not exist in this rough and tattered old world. So, every time he begins to feel that his shoulders are beginning to carry the big load without complaint, he spreads out his last income tax report, and then puts beside it reports such as that the Agriculture Department has agreed to pay export subsidies averaging 78.5 cents per bushel on an additional 7.84 million bushels of wheat bound for the Soviet Union, or that the president of some little country like Ghana has supported riots against U. S. embassies at about the same time Uncle Sugar decides to send a few more million over to help him stabilize his economy. Our friend says that such comparisons snap him back to reality and prevent him from getting too soft.

MEN OF THE YEAR—In a departure from the customary "Man of the Year" award each year at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, three men were honored as "Men of the Year" last Thursday night. The award was presented to the three Winters men for their work in promoting the enlargement of the Winters Public Library last year. A large plaque was presented to the three, and will be hung in the library lobby. In addition, each of the three men received smaller individual plaques. Chosen by a secret committee of Chamber of Commerce members, the three men are shown accepting the award. They are, left to right, Jerry Ward, oil engineer, the Rev. Edgar H. Graham, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and John Q. McAdams, president of The Winters State Bank. Making the award on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce was R. C. Thomas. League-Leading Anson Tigers Hold Tight Control On 6-AA; No Losses

It's down hill all the way now in the race toward the District 6-AA championship string in basketball competition, with high-stepping Anson calling the turns. The Tigers have laced together a perfect 7-0 record so far this season, and with only three more games to be played. Although there still is a chance they could slip a notch, allowing Stamford, the closest contender, to edge in and take the glory, odds are that the Tigers will hold their own. They have to meet Stamford, Winters and Ballinger again in their last three games, but they've been there before and know what to expect.

The Winters Blizzards, facing misfortune all season, are holding down a next-to-bottom slot, leading cellar-tenant Ballinger by only one game. The Big Blue team must face Hamlin, Haskell and Anson yet.

SEASON STANDINGS
Following Tuesday night's games, standings in the district looked like this:
Anson: 7-0
Stamford: 5-2
Hamlin: 3-4
Haskell: 3-4
Winters: 2-5
Ballinger: 1-6

FRIDAY NIGHT GAME
The Winters Blizzards faced Ballinger Friday night for the second time this season, and came away with a 64-52 win. Chester Puckett paced the locals on the home floor, netting 15 points. Roy Peterson, Danny Slaughter and Herbie Dankworth each made nine for the losing Bearcats.

FB Encourages Participation In Politics

Farmers and ranchers in Runnels County are vitally affected by legislative actions in both Austin and Washington, according to Ben Frerich of Rowena, president of the Runnels County Farm Bureau.
"And since Farm Bureau is the 'voice of agriculture' in both the State Capital and in Congress," Frerich said, "it is important that farmers and ranchers join together to support their own interests in state and national affairs."
The FB president announced that Runnels County FB is launching its drive for new members, with the drive to continue from Feb. 3 through Feb. 20. "Today only the voice of the organized is heard," he asserted. "The groups from which farmers buy are organized and the groups to which farmers sell are organized. Legislation is influenced by the organized. Therefore, it is essential that agriculture, which now represents less than 10 percent of the total population, be strongly organized."
Full-time legislative offices are maintained in Austin for the convenience of farmers, it was explained.

Winters Lumber Co. Developing New Addition

A new residential addition with sites for 28 homes is being developed by Winters Lumber Co. on the north edge of the city. The development adjoins Parkview Addition on the east.
The addition is as yet without a name. Winters Lumber Co. is currently holding an "addition naming contest," which ends Feb. 15, in which they are offering a $25.00 Savings Bond to the person submitting the name for the development. Contestants have been asked to submit their suggestions in person to the company's office on North Church Street.
Harvey D. Jones, manager of Winters Lumber Co., said that as soon as the development is named, and streets are paved, he will petition for annexation to the City of Winters. Curbs have been poured, and work is now going on grading and preparing streets for paving, as soon as weather permits.
The development will be restricted to brick or brick-trim homes, with living space of 1250 square feet and up. Lots are 75 x 140 feet, with an addition 15 feet on the front for utility right of way.
All homes built will be custom-built, Jones said. This project is not a "pattern home" project, it was explained. One home is now under construction, with others in the planning stage.
The new addition is not on a main thoroughfare, but is connected to the extreme end of North Main Street, Highway 83, by a street which will run south of Parkview Addition.
Jones said that he will make the announcement of the name for the addition just as soon as the contest is over and judges have chosen the winning name.

Parallel parking will be required on Winters' Main Street in the near future.
This was announced by City officials Tuesday following the passing of a traffic ordinance by the City Council in regular meeting Monday night.
No date has been set for beginning of parallel parking on the street, which is also U. S. Highway 83, according to Mayor Harvey D. Jones, but actual implementation of that part of the ordinance probably will begin about July 1. This is necessary because of the amount of work which will be required to move and reset the parking meters. Cars have been permitted to park at a 45-degree angle.
The new parking regulation was made following a request by the Texas Highway Department. According to information, the Highway Department may begin an extensive widening project for Highway 83, from Hatchell north to the Taylor County line within the next few months, and more traffic space would be required in downtown Winters.
Although the ordinance is now in effect, the present system of parking on Main Street will continue until everything is ready for parallel parking. This will be about July, it was understood.
The ordinance which contains the parallel parking regulation is known as the "Traffic Code of the City of Winters," and is an extensive bill to "regulate traffic on the public streets." It was passed on second reading Monday night, with four councilmen voting for adoption and one abstaining.
Included in the ordinance are speed regulations, rules of the road, and authority of police officers. The ordinance also authorizes the council to determine by resolution no passing zones, one-way streets and other driving and traffic rules. It also prohibits drivers from following fire apparatus and interfering with duties of fire department personnel.
One section of the ordinance requires that every motor vehicle be equipped with a muffler "in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive or unusual noise" and that "no person shall use a cut-out, by-pass, or similar device upon a motor vehicle" within the city.
The council also discussed and tabled a proposed ordinance for an "electrical code" for the City of Winters.
Council studied bids for a new fire truck, but deferred action until such time as a committee representing the fire department can study the specifications and make recommendations to the council.
City officials also passed a resolution authorizing a planning program for the City of Winters. This is the first step of a study which was proposed last year at a meeting of Citizens with the City Council.

FB Members From Runnels At Lubbock Meet

In his proclamation designating Feb. 3-8 as "Farm Bureau Week," Governor Connally cited the importance of agriculture to the economy of Texas and the United States. About 40 percent of all Texans derive their livelihood directly or indirectly from agriculture, he said.

What Is the Planning Program?

More than 50 businessmen and other residents of Winters met with the Winters City Council last December 10, to study proposals to adopt a long range and comprehensive planning program for the future development of Winters.
They heard S. J. Von Zuben, chief engineer of the Sanitation and Planning Division of the State Department of Health, outline the necessary steps to be taken in adoption of an overall planning program for Winters. He touched briefly on the cost of such a program, explained the value of planning for future growth, and listed some of the areas which would be included in the study taken in preparation of the planning program.
They also heard Jeryl Hart, representative of Marvin Turner Engineers of Austin, explain some of the results which have been realized by other cities which have adopted a planned program for growth.
After hearing the proposals, the group of businessmen overwhelmingly endorsed the plan, and recommended that the City Council take such steps necessary in the adoption of such a program. This the council did, commissioning the firm Marvin Turner Engineers to draw up the plans and outline the costs involved. It was explained that the State would underwrite two-thirds of the cost of such a planning program, with the City paying one-third. Cost would approximate $4000, it was pointed out.
Tuesday night of this week, the Winters City Council, acting upon the recommendations of the group who attended the public meeting in December, adopted a resolution requesting the Texas State Department to arrange for the planning program. Council also obtained the services of Bryant-Currington Engineers of Austin, successors to Marvin Turner Engineers, to make the necessary surveys and reports. Total cost of the project will be $13,385.00; the City of Winters' share will be $4,845.00.
WHAT IS PROGRAM?
Just what is this Planning Program, recommended by so many of Winters' business people and citizens, and adopted by the City Council?
First of all, it must be explained, this is only a "plan," and not a "development" program. It is not an "urban renewal" program. It is only a suggested pattern for the future growth of Winters and the community; — recommendations which will come with the final report will be just that, and will not be binding upon the City of Winters. As explained by many, if Winters is to continue to grow, there should be some sort of pattern to be followed, in order to insure that the growth and expansion is contained in an orderly manner, and yet to make sure that rights of everyone concerned are not infringed upon.
The complete study will take upwards of 22 months, according to the engineers who will make the study and present their detailed findings.
WHAT IT INCLUDES
In brief, the final presentation on the planning engineers will include recommendations for planning all phases of growth and expansion of the community. The report will cover elements of local environment which are likely to affect the physical development of the city, including but not necessarily limited to geography, topography, geology, climate, and forecast how these and other factors may influence future development.
The engineers will prepare reports and large maps of the planning area to "show land unsuited for development and natural and man-made barriers to future expansion." They will make a study and an analysis of the Municipality's economic base, and influencing economic factors.
They will recommend establishment of boundaries for each planning district that comprise the whole community, and state basis for such recommendations. They will make recommendations concerning transportation and streets, and all transportation facilities, and make a survey and analysis of the central business district and prepare a plan for the recommended development and expansion of the business district.
Engineers will study and prepare standards or criteria for use in determining needs for improvements and for extensions in the water and sewer systems, and make recommendations. They will prepare topographic maps, showing boundaries of drainage areas, so that steps may be taken in future expansion to take advantage of natural land conditions, and eliminate possible problems which may arise in the future.
In their final report, engineers will include a study of the City's financial position, and make recommendations for capital improvements and budgetary items. They will include in their final report and analysis (Continued on page 8)

Mrs. Ruth Clappitt Announced For District Clerk

Mrs. Ruth Clappitt of Ealing has announced as a candidate for District Clerk for Runnels County. Her statement follows:

After much thought and consideration, I have decided to seek the office of District Clerk of Runnels County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

As to qualifications, I invite review of my past work done in the county, 10 years with the Federal government in a supervisory capacity on various projects. The most important of these being the promotion, establishing and successful operation of 20 school lunch rooms, two 20-acre gardens and three canning centers in Runnels and Coke Counties. At times I supervised as many as 100 employees.

During the war years I supervised and operated the Runnels County food preservation center. I have completed 15 years of successful service with the West Texas Utilities Co. merchandise department as Home Economist, serving eight counties.

On all the above jobs I was responsible for the records, bookkeeping, clerical and general office work. All were positions of trust and public service.

Both my family and that of my late husband were taxpayers since the county was established. For 30 years I have been a taxpayer in my own right.

My church affiliation is with the First Christian Church. Civic work done at present is with the Runnels County Program Planning Board and the local museum.

This is my first time to seek public office and I want to assure you that if elected I will put forth every effort to handle this responsibility to the best of my ability.

There is no other issue in my seeking office other than that I need to work and feel this is the type of work I am qualified to do best. I solicit your support.

Aldermen Win Trip To San Diego

As an award for increasing sales of Purina products, Ray Alderman, manager of Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., and Mrs. Alderman will leave the last of this month on an all expense-paid trip to San Diego, Calif. Alderman-Cave was among the top dealers in the State to receive this award.

Leaving on Feb. 26, Mr. and Mrs. Alderman will fly by jet to San Diego where they will be guests of the Purina Co. at the El Coronado Hotel. They will attend banquets, business meetings, and will take sight-seeing trips to different places in California, including Disneyland.

On their return trip, they will go to San Francisco, and then to Las Vegas, Nev. Similar trips are awarded each year to dealers over the nation who are selected for the company's "President's Honor Council," given for increased tonnage sales. The local milling and grain company was listed in about third place in the entire state of Texas for 1963 for increased tonnage.

State Capital Highlights—

Part Of Texas Loan Act Has Been Declared Unconstitutional By Court

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

A controversial section of the new Texas Regulatory Loan Act, passed last year after 36 years of legislative wrangling over loan control, has been declared unconstitutional.

District Judge Herman Jones of Austin held invalid the provision that at least 51 per cent of stock in lending firms operating in Texas must be owned by Texans.

Jones emphasized this was the only section of the 1963 act affected by his ruling in a suit brought by three out-of-state firms.

The companies whose subsidiaries operate in at least eight Texas cities charged the in-state ownership requirement violated state and federal due process and equal protection guarantees.

American Investment Company, a Delaware Corporation; Industrial Finance and Thrift Corporation of Louisiana; and Consolidated Credit Company of Charlotte, N. C., joined by a number of other out-of-state firms, instigated the suit.

Their subsidiaries operate in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, El Paso, Waco, Texarkana and Arlington.

Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell refused licenses to them.

COMMITTEE ON HIGHER EDUCATION

The Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School is well ahead of schedule, reports Dr. A. B. Martin, executive director.

Earlier this year, the committee—made up of leading industrialists and educators—set an April date for preliminary reports for the recommendations due Gov. John Connally in August. Studies on education in public and private colleges and universities, and professional and technological needs have advanced so well that subcommittees and their consultants have been discharged.

Martin said, and the April date has been moved back to February 19.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS STARTED

Tuesday's ground-breaking ceremonies at Falcon State Park in Starr and Zapata Counties near Zapata launched a three-park improvement program which will cost $1,041,966.

The $279,416 in improvements at Falcon will include a boat ramp, parking area, paved road, 24 shelters, 50 tent campsites with water, cooking grills, tables, three restrooms with showers and laundry units, ranger's residence and concession building.

Similar improvements are planned for Dam "B" Park near Jasper in East Texas and Lake Whitney State Park in Central Texas, according to J. Weldon Watson, Parks and Wildlife Department executive director.

TOURIST PLAN UNVEILED

A pilot plan designed to bring more foreign visitors to Texas was announced by Governor Connally.

Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, the governor's representative, and Walter Meyer of San Antonio, who originated the plan, took off for Germany Sunday to test the program.

They hope to encourage 40 or 50 German citizens to make a 16-day red carpet tour of Texas' leading cities and historic spots from October 15 through November 2.

Texas Tourist Development Agency is sponsoring the projected program in cooperation with Chambers of Commerce and interested private citizens. No public funds are involved.

The tourists, of course, will pay their own way, although some will benefit from hospitality in Texas homes. First visitors will get special low plane fare and at-cost prices all around.

It is hoped the initial visit by the Germans will establish guidelines for a continuing long-range program to boost travel in Texas by globe-trotters from other lands.

COURT RULES ON LAND

In a 5-4 decision, the State Supreme Court overruled lower courts and directed a new trial in a dispute over oil income on 10,000 acres of Winkler County land.

Suit, brought by Southland Royalty Company against Pan American Corporation to recover a portion of proceeds from minerals produced, involves interpretation of a 38-year-old lease.

NO FIRM PROBE URGED

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has called on State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner to continue investigation of a collapsed California money order firm, American Security Currency Limited was doing business in 317 Texas grocery and drug stores.

Thousands of Texans reportedly were caught with valueless paper on their hands when the firm went into bankruptcy. Carr recommends getting all facts on its history and status plus full details of an alleged sale of accounts to another company also licensed by the commission.

CONNALLY IN CIRCULATION

Governor Connally returned to duty at his office in the Capitol last week, for the first time since he was wounded in Dallas on November 22 by the assassin of President Kennedy.

Connally announced a traveling and speaking schedule which included visits to UPI and AP managing editors' conventions here; a Boy Scout report ceremony in the Capitol; Abilene's B-52 day celebration on February 15; the Laredo Washington Birthday festival on February 22; the Paper Industry Salesmen's Association meeting in New York on February 25; dedication of the New York World's Fair Texas exhibit on February 26; and probably a visit with President Johnson in Washington on the way back to Texas.

LIBRARY ADDITIONS

Texas State Library last week obtained a historic treaty and an historic suit of clothes. Both are certain to be viewed by thousands in years ahead.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough presented the Library a certified State Department copy of the El Chamizal treaty signed by President Johnson on December 20—defining the boundary along the Texas-Chihuahua and El Paso-Juarez borders. The treaty, placed on display in a glass case, ended a century-old boundary dispute.

Governor Connally, at the Library's request, turned over to the State archives the black, light-weight suit he was wearing when he was seriously wounded in Dallas. He was the first Texas governor to be the victim of an assassination attempt. The suit bears bullet holes in the back, front and right sleeve. Also placed in the archives is the blood-stained shirt Connally wore on the tragic November day, and his black and gold silk tie.

Chancel Guild Met At Parsonage

St. John's Lutheran Guild held their regular meeting Thursday at the parsonage home of pastor and Mrs. A. W. Holck.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. T. F. Hantsche and the devotional was by Mrs. L. R. Hoppe. Miss Emma Henniger gave a talk on "Church Bells."

Bible verses were repeated as the response to roll call which was given by Mrs. Hoppe. Mrs. Ellis Ueckert moved that the group buy a brass planter for the church altar.

Mrs. Hoppe and Miss Henniger served refreshments to the group.

Present were Mesdames T. F. Hantsche, Ellis Ueckert, L. R. Hoppe, Bill Hoppe, J. J. Wesels, A. B. Spill, Charlie Adams, Albert Holck, A. W. Stoecker and Miss Emma Henniger.

SON TO GIDEONS

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gideon of Midland are announcing the birth of a 5-lb boy on January 13. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Watson of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gideon of Winters. The great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Gray of Winters.

DIVERSION PAYMENTS

Agri. Comm. John C. White says Texas farmers should not count on a cotton land diversion payment plan, as has been rumored.

White says Texas farmers should go ahead and release their unwanted cotton allotments back to their local ASC committees so the permits can be reassigned to other parts of the state. He urged cotton growers to protect their future allotments by releasing unused permits before the February 4 deadline, as in years past.

BRACERO PROGRAM

The U. S. Congress has extended the bracero program for another year—through 1964—as a compromise between the close-out or phase-out argument by states where the contract laborers from Mexico are employed. However, figures from the Texas Employment Commission indicate that a phase-out has been in effect in Texas for the past two years.

Henry LeBlanc of the commission's farm labor division reports that 38,000 braceros worked on Texas crops in August, 1961; 12,917 in August, 1962; and 12,008 in August, 1963.

WATER STUDY

Texans in the future may get very thirsty if they don't plan ahead to catch and save more water. This conclusion and other information about water, including the fact that since 1890 Texas has been using up its water resources at a rate 11 times faster than its population growth, has been spelled out for students.

The water story has been published in a 40-page illustrated booklet, "How Can We Meet Our Water Needs?" prepared by the Texas Society of Professional Engineers and printed by the Texas Education Agency.

Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar has notified school superintendents that 3,000 copies of the booklet on one of the state's most vital problems are available on request for use as resource material in junior and senior high schools.

SHORT SNORTS

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr named Judge Hawthorne Phillips of Harlingen as his first assistant. He succeeds Albert Jones of Houston who had accepted temporary appointment.

"The Eyes of Texas" now is public property. The University of Texas' copyright expired on January 30, and couldn't be renewed.

Traffic death toll for 1963 was 2,793, largest in history by far, according to the Department of Public Safety. Figure is an increase of 282 over 1962.

The governor's office will be located in the old State Agriculture Department quarters on the Capitol's first floor, during extensive remodeling and enlargement of the executive suite.

UT Bureau of Business Research reports new construction in 1963 dropped $14,200,000, but expenditures for additions, alterations and repairs increased by $17,800,000 for a net gain of $3,600,000 over 1962.

State Supreme Court held the Railroad Commission can't withhold future drilling permits from operators of slanted oil wells who want to straighten their wells. Almost 1,000 slanted wells have been shut in since 1962.

Lon E. Alsop, 65, retired after 22 years as director of the Texas State Commission for the Blind. Although blind since birth, he had successful careers in business, politics and government administration.

Roger Babson Says— Predicts Everyone Will Be Working For Government 75 Years Hence

Babson Park, Mass. I have a friend in Lake Wales, Florida, Mrs. William Jones, who specializes in authentic antiques. Some time ago she gave me a book, which I have just finished looking over. It is entitled "The History of Mankind," and was printed many, many years ago before the time of photography.

How Our Ancestors Lived Years Ago

The book first impresses me with the great courage of the people of long-ago days, when very few of the commodities existed which we think important today. The skins of animals provided clothing to keep people warm day and night. They cut down their own nearby trees to provide heat. Their only need was for food; and the essentials for producing food are seen to grow it and offspring to continue the harvesting of it. . . both of which the people provided.

Their idea of the function of government was to educate and to protect people from sickness. Hospitals were almost non-existent, and people sent to one were treated as if they were in a house of correction. As time went on, families gradually started to unite into groups, thus marking perhaps the beginning of the United Nations Organization, which I feel sure is here to stay.

Value of Municipal Bonds

How will these buildings be financed? My guess today would be that the community would issue so-called "municipal bonds" to provide the funds necessary to build schools, hospitals, and other community facilities. These bonds would be sold to the people; they would pay a very low interest rate; and would be perfectly safe. They would be redeemed gradually through taxation. Whether we are living under socialism or communism or some other "ism", taxes will be unavoidable.

In short, municipal bonds may be the safest investment even today. I do not mean that there are not other safe investments, but I should place municipal bonds used for buildings as the most acceptable. Toll road bonds may be all right for a reasonable time into the future, but ultimately all highways will be free of tolls.

What About Religion?

This book shows clearly that religion in many of its primitive forms was a kind of "magic". There gradually followed the rise of many different denominations. Along the way—between the "quackery" with which it started and the several hundred church denominations we have acquired today—there developed what is called "theology".

Let me make it clear that I believe in one God and one church; but it is the family and home which must establish this faith—it cannot be left to legislation or church organization. Let me add, in closing, that I feel the future must depend also on courage and self-control such as marked the pioneers of old. We do not have to fight wild animals for our very existence; but we do have other things to face which take courage. Faith in God will help us to succeed.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER: Civil Rights Bill Making History In Congress

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

History is being made in the House in action on the mislabeled Civil Rights Bill, now being debated. One thing is admitted, by both friend and foe of the legislation: It is undoubtedly the most revolutionary legislation submitted to Congress since the Force Bills of the Reconstruction era.

If enacted in its present form, rights and privileges enjoyed by American people since the enactment of the Constitution will be drastically curtailed, and subjected to direct federal harassment and control.

For example, the Bill would for the first time bring the American educational system—public and private—under substantial Federal control by allowing the President to control the placement of pupils in local schools, and allow him to approve the faculty, censor textbooks, and even change study courses, as these things pertain to races and religion. The alternative would be loss of Federal aid.

It creates an FEPC giving power to a federal agency to dictate to the storekeeper on Main Street whom he can hire, fire, or promote; and the offender can be sent to jail without a jury trial if he disobeys. The bill grants $10 million a year to hire Federal inspectors to run herd on American business, and control their hiring and firing policies.

In 1883, the U. S. Supreme Court held unconstitutional a law enacted by a Union-dominated Congress, during the post-war period of hysteria, which made it illegal for any private business to refuse to serve or otherwise do business with any-

World Day Of Prayer Set For Friday, Feb. 14

Ladies of the Lutheran, Presbyterian and Methodist churches will observe World Day of Prayer services at 2:30 p. m. Friday, February 14, in the First Methodist Church.

The Lutheran ladies will give the program and all women of the town are invited to attend. A nursery will be provided in the church basement.

SON IS BORN

Mr. and Mrs. David Dobbins are the parents of a son, David Douglas, born Tuesday, Feb. 4. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dobbins and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Knox of Burnet.

The court there held that such a law was contrary to the enjoyment of private property rights guaranteed under the Constitution.

Despite that decision, never before challenged, this bill re-enacts a so-called "Public accommodations" provision, and again makes it illegal to do what the Supreme Court in 1883, held an American citizen had a right to do, in the exercise of his property rights.

These are but a few of a score of provisions which strike heavy blows at private and property rights of American citizens. Even many of its sponsors frankly admit that the bill expands Federal power over the social, educational and economic activities of the average citizen, on a scale never before proposed in American history. Actually, the "civil rights" feature is incidental. It destroys and nullifies far more civil rights than it protects.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

By Vern Sanford

I'll bet you didn't know that: Fish, like humans, get seasick if left to the mercy of the waves for an extended period. The mullet is the only fish rich enough to fry in its own fat. Frequently the words "frog" and "toad" are incorrectly used. In general, frogs have smooth skins and toads warty skins.

The mountain lion, largest cat in North America, is the only one that has a long tail and is unspotted when fully grown.

Gopher turtles of the South and West are exclusively terrestrial and never go near water.

Honey bees carry water as well as honey. Special carriers bring it to the hive, dole it out, seal it in cells, or even act as storage tanks themselves until the water is needed.

Just before the molting period, ducks and geese fly to bodies of water where they will be safe from land enemies. Reason is they molt their primary feathers all at once, and for a short period can not fly.

The House Sparrow, formerly known as English Sparrow, was introduced into New York City from England in 1852.

Some snakes have been known to live for one or two years without food by absorbing the fat of their own bodies.

Members of the pigeon family drink by suction. Other birds take the water into their mouths and throw their heads back in order to swallow.

By pushing their trunks up above the surface of the water and breathing through them, elephants can walk along the bottom of a river.

The leopard, once supposed to be a cross between the lion and the panther, takes its name from two words—leo, meaning lion, and pardus, meaning panther.

The armadillo gets its name from the Spanish word meaning "clad in armor."

Electric sparks stirred up from a cat's body, when the fur is under friction, are caused by the peculiar dryness of the hair, which is free from the oily substances common to the coats of most animals.

Gophers are called "salamanders" in some southern states. In parts of the West they are referred to as "dogs." Copperhead snakes have fangs and venom at birth.

The earthworm gets traction for movement by being covered with small bristles. These bristles press against the walls of the tunnel and allow the worm to gain a so-called foot-hold.

Jackrabbits have been clocked at 40 miles per hour. In a foot race among North American animals, they concede only to the antelope.

All bumble bees except the queen bee die in the winter. She alone survives to produce another generation.

Insects have no lungs. They breathe from tubes running through their bodies.

The ant has two stomachs. One he uses for himself. In the other, he stores food which is to be shared with other ants in the nest.

Bears are near-sighted. But their keen senses of hearing and their smell make up for this deficiency.

The purple finch is not at all purple. The male is of an old rose color while the female has the general sparrow-like appearance.

I bet you didn't know that: White pelicans are one of our largest American birds. Their wingspread sometimes reaches nine feet.

The ringneck pheasant was first transplanted in this country from the Orient in 1881. Now it is one of the principal game birds of America. A huntable number are found in the Texas Panhandle.

No two zebras, even of the same variety, are exactly alike in markings. Apart from the Mountain Zebra of southwest Africa, all belong to one family. White ants are not ants but termites.

Largest of the cats, next to the lion, is the male tiger. It may measure more than 10 feet from nose to tail tip and weigh as much as 650 pounds.

Both the cedar waxwing and the robin love fruit. Occasionally they stuff themselves on over-ripe berries to such an extent they become intoxicated.

The black mamba, most deadly of all African snakes, is credited with the speed of a galloping horse.

In Roman times the horn of the white rhinoceros was believed to be a defense against poison. Often, therefore, it was carved into cups or drinking horns.

There are about 600 species of mantis. Greeks believed this insect to be studying the future so they named it "mantis" meaning "diviner." Moslems asserted that it prayed with its face toward Mecca.

Most brilliant of all pheasants is the monal. The haunt of this bird is the highest forest region of the Himalayas.

For many months of each year the sun never sets on the arctic tundra. No other migrant travels so far. Annually a tern may travel 25,000 miles from the North Pole to the South Pole and back again.

The dragonfly's head is mostly eyes with which it can see the tiniest prey far away.

The alligator snapping turtle of the central-southern United States may grow to a weight of 200 pounds.

The record speed of any animal is held by the frigate bird. It has a flying speed in excess of 100 miles-per-hour.

The common American bear may be cinnamon, chocolate brown or black in color. But, correctly speaking, all are Black Bears.

Largest fish is the Whale Shark. Smallest is a Goby. The latter is less than an inch long.

Bats rest during the day, hanging upside down in caves, under cliffs and in trees. At dusk, they fly out to feed on insects.

Horned lizards often bury themselves in the sand. Then they change the color of their bodies to match the color of the sand as they lie in wait for their prey. They can change from dark to light, and back again, in a few minutes.

Not all so-called beavers are found in water and have webbed feet. The mountain beavers, or sewellels, found in the mountains of Oregon, Washington and northern California never go near the water. They have neither webbed feet nor flat tails. Furthermore they are no more given to felling trees and building dams or houses than are rabbits.

Spittlebugs also are called froghoppers because the adults hop about from plant to plant and seldom fly.

Alewife, a member of the herring family, is used for oil and in feed products.

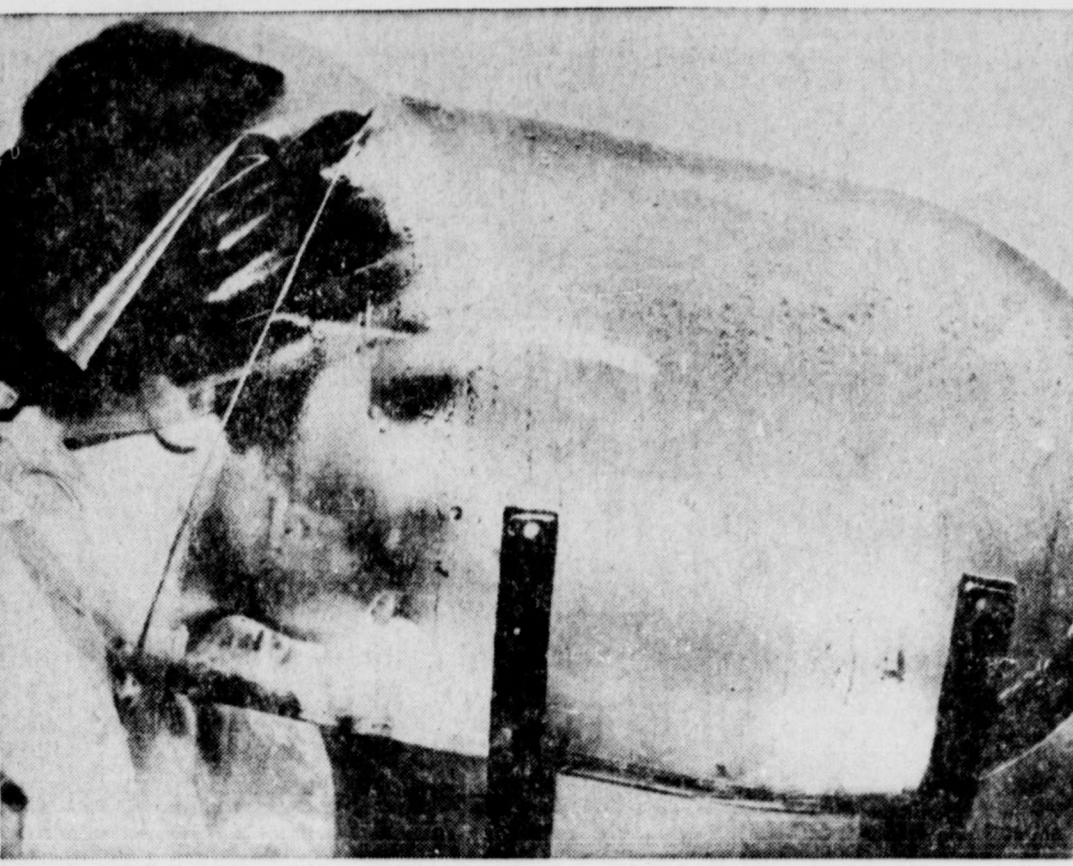

PROLONGS BATTERY LIFE Between trips afield, reverse the batteries in your flashlight. Then if the switch accidentally is turned on, no harm is done, for the circuit will be broken. Then install the batteries properly when you're ready for your next trip out.

CARPETS FOR TRACTION A valuable item for the auto camper to have on hand, whether he's on the coast or inland, is two strips of old carpet, about 15 inches wide and six feet long. Keep 'em behind your spare tire. Next time you get stuck, slip the carpet strips under the rear tires for greater traction.

Silent Whistle Useful Carry one of those silent dog whistles the next time you go deer hunting. If you see a deer head down and you can't determine its sex, blow a blast on the whistle. Up will come the head and you'll be sure whether your target is a doe or a buck.

Freeze Fish in Ice To keep fish fresh in a freezer, try putting them in a pan of water first and freezing the entire tray. Next run some warm water over the pan. Out will come the cake of ice—fish and all. Wrap the encased fish—ice and all—in foil and pop it back in the freezer. The frozen water will seal the flavor in.

Spark Plug Sinker All out of sinkers? Then gather up some old discarded sparkplugs. They make fine sinkers. Just bend the electrodes together and tie onto a wire leader. Should the sparkplug sinker become lodged between rocks, the soft electrode acts as a safety opening to free the leader and line.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

OUR "BILL OF RIGHTS"

December 15 is observed each year as "Bill of Rights Day" throughout the United States. What does this important "document" mean to us?

The American "Bill of Rights," consisting of the first ten amendments to our Federal Constitution, all adopted at one time in 1791, specifies in some detail a number of basic civil rights of the individual citizen. Unaltered by subsequent amendments and jealously guarded by our courts, these privileges must still be respected by our governing bodies today.

Among the most familiar of our constitutional guarantees are those relating to freedom of religion, speech, and of the press. The same article protects the right of peaceable assembly and the privilege of petitioning the government for redress of grievances.

Another amendment secures our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and specifies that no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, and unless supported by oath or affirmation.

The due process of law amendment encompasses not one but several guarantees. Every American is secured against being compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case; and against having his private property taken for public use without just compensation.

He is also secured against being held for trial for a capital (death penalty) or other infamous crime, unless upon a presentation or indictment of a grand jury. And, of course, no person may be deprived of life, liberty or property without orderly court procedures, or due process of law.

The right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury, in the locality where the crime was committed, the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, and the rights to compel attendance of defense witnesses and to have the assistance of defense counsel in all criminal prosecutions are secured by another section of the "Bill of Rights."

Excessive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments, are prohibited in Amendment VIII. Other articles insure the right to bear arms and ban quartering of soldiers in private homes during peace time.

Then, to make quite clear to our governing bodies the underlying intent of the preceding provisions, the Ninth Amendment states: The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

The Tenth Amendment further emphasizes this basic theory by providing: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Thus, that fundamental philosophy expressed in the Declaration of Independence, that men are endowed with certain inalienable rights, and that "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," has been carried forward into the highest law of our land.

Catfish Like Sardines

Here's a quick way to chum some catfish to your bait. Buy a can of cheap sardines or all-fish cat food and jab holes through the can with an ice pick or a knife blade. Then drop the can in the water, weighting it with a large sinker or stone. Fish are attracted by the aroma from the leakage from the can. If you put your baited hook nearby, you're in business.

Plastic Bag Handy

When going deer hunting, carry a large plastic bag in the pocket of your hunting coat. It takes up very little room and makes a nice dry seat while sitting on a stand. Furthermore, it serves as an excellent container for the deer liver when you head for home.

Miss Jean Ann Irvin, Niece of Winters Men, Is Married At Lubbock Saturday

In a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Second Baptist Church in Lubbock, Miss Jean Ann Irvin became the bride of John Buckner Mallory. Vows were read by the Rev. Bob Hearn.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis Irvin of Lubbock and the niece of Joe Irvin and J. D. Vinson, both of Winters. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Mallory of Lubbock.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of bridal taffeta designed with a molded bodice, portrait neckline and petal point sleeves. Bands of Swiss guipure lace highlighted the gown. The bell-shaped controlled skirt was accented at the side by soft pleats which swept into a full chapel train. A bridal coil of white bridal taffeta held a finger-tip veil of silk illusion accented with seed pearls. Mrs. Mallory carried a white orchid circled with white miniature carnations.

Miss Julia Mae Irvin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sherilyn Billington, Miss Marilyn Billington, Miss Becky Ball of San Angelo and Miss Donna Ruhmann of Midland, cousin of the bride. They were identically attired in street-length dresses of rose peau de soie. Scoop necklines and bell skirts were features of the dresses. Attendants also wore coils of self material with silk illusion veils and matching shoes. They carried cascade bouquets of miniature pink carnations.

Serving as best man was Danny Lynn Irvin of Ft. Polk, La., the bride's brother. Grooms-men were Johnny Barrington, David McIlhane, Jimmy Woodward and Johnny New-some. Ray West, Travis Brown and Billy Vinson of Denver, Colo., and Douglas Vinson of Abilene, both cousins of the bride, were ushers.

Becky Vinson of Denver, Linda Sue Vinson of Abilene and Kathy Ruhmann of Midland, all cousins of the bride, lighted candles.

Meg Hall and Amy Barrington of Midland were flower girls.

Mrs. Gerald Harris, organist, accompanied Rex Webster, soloist, in traditional wedding music.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given in the church parlor.

The couple will honeymoon in Guatemala, Central America. For the trip, the bride chose a pale pink Italian silk suit and added white lizard shoes and bag. The orchid from the bridal bouet and a pink Italian silk hat completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Mallory was graduated from Lubbock High School and Merriman Business College. She is president of Phi Beta Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Her husband was graduated from Monterey High School and has attended Baylor University. He is now employed by Hicks and Ragland Consulting Engineers.

HEALTH LETTER

"A lone man's companion... a sad man's cordial... and a chilly man's fire... there's no herb like unto it under the canopy of heaven."

That's James Russell Lowell's personal reflections toward tobacco or cigarettes.

But medical science points out some disconcerting parallels of smoking to health.

With this in mind, the Division of Cancer and Heart of the Texas State Department of Health is determined that today's generation should have the facts when confronted with the decision of smoke or not to smoke.

A first and basic point is that smoking is a habit—similar to an addiction. "The habitual use of tobacco," according to the recent report by the Surgeon General by the Advisory Committee, is related primarily to psychological and social drives, reinforced and perpetuated by the pharmacological actions of nicotine on the central nervous system. . . . Secondly, teenagers should be aware of the relationship between smoking and health.

Lung cancer, heart and circulatory diseases are linked to the smoking habit. And statistics show that these diseases increase in proportion to the number of cigarettes smoked per day.

Teenagers are challenged to add it all up. A smoke lasts about six minutes, but cuts ten minutes off your lifetime.

Teenagers are further advised that the habit decreases physical endurance and ability, slows thinking processes and discolors fingers and teeth.

inevitably, the question arises . . . why do teenagers start smoking anyway?

Teenagers say, according to recent studies, they are lured by the persuasive voice of advertisers. They also start because the gang does it, in search of security and stability and in imitation of people they admire.

Parental example appears to be an important contributing example. When both parents smoke, a teenager stands a 40 percent chance of taking up the habit. But when neither parent smokes, the teenager stands only a 22 percent chance of starting.

Today's teenager will make his own decision to form or reject the habit. But he and his generation will have the facts, as well as the myth of the TV commercial, as a bulwark for an adult decision.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
By VERN SANFORD

By Vern Sanford

Seagulls are many things. They are a source of entertainment. They are scavengers. And they are fish-finders. For entertainment, go to the coastal beaches and watch folks tossing scraps and bread crumbs to flocks of screaming gulls. It's fun!

As scavengers, gulls quickly clean up the refuse left on beaches by careless picnickers. Whether they are flying far out to sea, or over the gulf, or dipping into the bays, or even the large inland lakes, gulls are the "spies" that ferret out schools of fish for the anglers. Whatever the value of the seagull, it is sufficient that it is on the protected list.

Food waste tossed on the beaches will be cleaned up in a hurry by the gulls. There may be only one gull in sight when the refuse is dumped, but in a matter of minutes, gulls by the dozens will come in from all points of the compass.

It's the same at sea. I've been on shrimp boats far out of sight of land. Not a gull would be in sight until the net was pulled from the water. Then the birds flew in like rain drops from a summer squall. Gulls are of paramount interest to fishermen. Or perhaps we should say "to anglers who know how to utilize them."

If you know how to "read" the gulls, they'll find fish for you. Many a good speckled-trout-catch in our coastal bays has resulted from anglers "fishing the birds."

It's a type of fishing that calls for a type of looking on the part of the fisherman. Also plenty of h.p. and fuel—to keep up with the moving gulls. How does one go about fishing the gulls? It's simple. Scan the area for gulls. If the birds are flocked up, wheeling in tight circles and repeatedly dipping into the water, they're working a school of fish.

I don't mean they are feeding on speckled trout or red-fish, or mackerel and kingfish. Instead they are feeding on the small fish chased to the surface by the game fish.

Note the direction in which the birds are working. Open up the throttle and swing ahead of the gulls. Be sure to give them a wide berth-when passing so that your motor won't spook the school of fish.

Turn off the motor when you are in line with the working gulls. If the birds are working with the current, anchor until the gulls almost reach you. Then pick up anchor and drift along with the current and the gulls, fishing all around the boat.

You'll find fishing good as long as you don't make any noises to spook the school. Of course, you may also hook a seagull or two. They'll frequently grab your shrimp just as it hits the water.

If you've ever had a gull grab your bait and hook himself, you know what you're in for. But for the benefit of those who have never had the experience, let me assure you that a hooked gull can be a rough customer.

You'll have a battle on your hands trying to reel in a gull. Then when you get the bird in the boat, you'll really have your hands full—fending off wings, feet and beak. And all the time the gull will be screaming bloody murder right in your ears.

Then to top it all off, the gull in his frantic fighting probably will imbue your own fish hook in some part of your anatomy.

Best thing to do if a seagull foul hooks himself on your line, is to cut the line and let it go at that.

Even if you don't have a boat, gulls can aid you in surf-fishing. Just keep your eyes on the flocks of gulls standing on the shoreline. If they get up and start wheeling over a certain spot in the surf, make haste for that spot. Chances are there will be a nice school of fish under them.

Now a word of warning about "fishing the birds."

Don't depend on the birds finding fish for you in congested ship channels or bodies of water where there is a steady stream of boat traffic. You'll find plenty of feeding gulls there. But they'll be feeding on stuff churned up by the props. Other types of sea birds can help you locate fish. During the spring and summer, mackerel birds will help you find both mackerel and kingfish. Then in the fall and winter, keep tabs on the migrating flocks of white pelicans.

"Fishing the birds" also works on the major lakes within the state—particularly when the white bass or sand bass runs are going full force. Gulls are quick to locate white bass when they school near the surface of the water. But on the lakes you won't find near as many gulls as on the bays, beaches and offshore.

For something new and exciting, try "fishing the birds." But take along plenty of fuel and be prepared to do a lot of looking.

"Fun in Acapulco,"

Showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre is the new Elvis Presley musical "Fun in Acapulco." The film is set in the beautiful, romantic city of Acapulco where the beaches are snow-white, the hotels are plush, the fun is plentiful and the girls are Wow!

Base mapping should be completed within eight months, according to the schedule presented by the engineers. Other studies will take a much longer period of time, with a complete and comprehensive plan report completed within 22 months.

As pointed out by the engineers, and also by city officials and other proponents of the project, the completed plan will be just that, a recommendation which can be followed in future development.
