Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

One of the marvels and conveniences of the electronic age, at least around here, is the "citizens' band" radio network. Just now coming of age, it can be compared with the advent of the telephone a good many years ago. Because it seems that nowadays every man and his wife has taken to the air waves to supplement present communication systems, or in some cases, to fill a communication void.

The "citizens' band" was authorized by the Federal Communications Commission sometime in the late 1950s, and within the past five years has become very popular. The FCC set aside a certain portion of the "band" or frequency, or whatever they call it, for use by private citizens . . . and the public has responded with a zest which only a new method of communication, or fad if you please, can command.

This "citizens' band" radio network is not a toy, mind you . . . it's serious business, and as such is closely monitored and controlled by the FCC. The Commission, in Part 19 of their rules and regulations, specifies that maximum input on transmitters cannot be more than 5 watts, so that powerful transmission which might drown out other areas would be curtailed.

FCC set aside 23 channels, from 26.965 megacycles to 27.255 megacycles, for the exclusive use of the "citizens' band." Channel 23, however, is not used for voice transmission, but is reserved for radio control . . . that is, remote control of some machine or thing.

Within the past few months, people in this area have shown an increasing interest in this "citizens' band" gadget. Especially in some sections where there are no telephones does this radio communication system come into its own. And there are blank spots within shouting distance of Winters, where there are no telephones or hope for telephones in the near future.

This "citizens' band" works something like this: A base station is established, and then as many as five mobile or detached stations may be teamed with the unit. However, the base station, and any mobile unit, may contact any other base or mobile unit within the range of the transmitter.

For housewives in "telephone blank" areas, or for that matter even when there are phones available, this "citizens' band" has become a miracle. For instance, we know of instances where there is a mobile unit on tractors or combines. The housewife, at the base station, can contact her husband when dinner is ready; and when mobiles are in cars or pickups, the wife can keep in constant contact with it—within range.

As we understand it, most people with "citizens' band" radios guard Channel 11—which has become about like the country party line. Too, if a mobile unit is out of range of the base station, they still can talk to other mobile units or base stations, wherever there happens to be a "citizens' band" setup.

The "citizens' band" radio is not to be confused with the "commercial band," which is used by many businesses such as oil field operating companies and others. Those are more expensive and much more complicated and powerful. The "citizens' band" sets are comparatively inexpensive.

With all the "citizens' band" sets going into operation about the country, there exists one of the best communications systems known to date. Telephone lines can be knocked down, but a radio network can be kept operating under very adverse circumstances. For instance, these radios could, and probably will, be used for tornado and storm warnings. Even in this area, the network is wide with fairly good distance coverage. Say that Noble Fabian, who has a base station and mobile units in the Crews community, spotted a tornado in his area—he could immediately notify one of the other base or mobile units, anywhere around the country, and give the alarm.

There is even talk of forming some sort of organization and really build up a real network.

So the next time you see a man driving down the road who seems to be listening intently to something, you will probably (Continued on page 7)

More Streets To Be Re-Surfaced

Winters City Council Monday night approved a program to re-surface several more of the city's streets this spring. Work planned will include filling holes, patching present pavement and applying a layer of gravel and asphalt as a "seal coat."

Council approved an expenditure of $4450 for this street maintenance project. This amount is slightly more than the $4000 placed in the year's budget for this work, but officials stated that it was felt that this work should be done to save some of the streets and to prevent further deterioration of present paving.

According to present plans, city officials said, approximately 8,947 feet of the city's streets will receive a seal coating. This figure may be changed slightly as the project gets underway, probably sometime in April, but overall cost will stay within the specified amount, they said. Repair plans call for re-surfacing streets to 30-foot widths, but because the width of streets varies, total footage will not be known until final surveys are made, it was pointed out.

Streets which will receive this seal coating will include: Roberts, from North Main west 684 feet.

West Pierce, from North Main west 698 feet.

East Pierce, from North Main east 1600 feet.

East Tinkle from Main Street east 2617 feet.

East Wood from Cryer 606 feet.

North Church, from Parsonage to West Truett, 816 feet.

South Church, from State to Hamilton, 1256 feet.

West Truett, from North Main 670 feet.

With the prospect that more new paving may be done this spring and summer, the council is drawing up plans and specifications to be followed on all that in order to prevent future drainage problems and to present uniformity, new curbs which may be built prior to paving this year probably will have to meet certain standards and specifications. Council also said that before any new paving is actually started, those property owners desiring new curbing would be given sufficient time in which to complete the work in order that paving can be finished during the spring and summer months.

No new paving projects have been started at this time, officials said, but it is expected that requests will be received from property owners who desire to have this work done this year. There has been some talk of beginning new paving projects in a few sections of town, they said.

The council Monday night also approved purchase of additional land adjoining the municipal hospital property, with the idea that if any future expansion of the hospital becomes necessary there would be some place to build. The property involved is that just west of the hospital, along with a five-room frame house. The city will pay (Continued on page 8)

Fifty-Seven Year Old Wilmeth Church Will Have Homecoming On Easter

Wilmeth Baptist Church, organized in 1906 as the Mazeland Baptist Church, will hold homecoming services on Easter Sunday, March 29. This will be the first homecoming since in about 1923 or 1924, when the present church building was completed.

Dr. Virtus Gideon, a former member of the Wilmeth church and now a teacher in the Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, will bring the homecoming message.

Prior to the morning sermon hour, a special singing and music service will be presented, with Bill Kornegay and Veta Raye Badgett participating. The devotional will be given by the Rev. Joe Priddy, a former pastor, and musical numbers will be presented by Mrs. W. S. Proctor, and Merle, with violin and piano.

ORGANIZED IN 1906
The Wilmeth Baptist Church was first organized as the Mazeland Baptist Church of Rannels County August 4, 1906, in the old Mazeland school house. S. T. Hazel of Hylton and W. P. Hicks of Miles, missionaries of the Old Content Association, composed the organizing presbytery, with Miss Willie Saddler of Norton acting as clerk.

Winters' Community Band Started "Tourism" Way Back In 1901

By CHARLIE POE
Texas Tourism now being stressed by the Texas Highway Department, Historical Survey Committees and other groups is not a new thing to Winters. Tourism was actually begun in Winters in 1901 when a band was organized that played for everything from dry rallies to weddings and made many tours over the state.

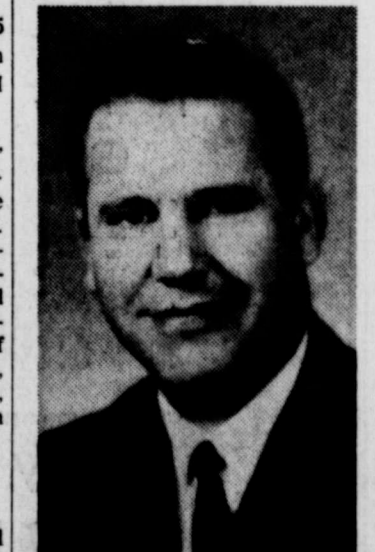

In a day when travel was slow, communication difficult, and entertainment was nonexistent Winters people furnished their own recreation by organizing the band that was the center of social life for many years.

A band stand was built on the lot where the John G. Key Oil Company now stands. Every Friday was practice night and the citizens turned out to hear the band practice as well as to attend concerts. In later years the band stand was moved to Tinkle Park which was donated to the city by the late Dr. Fred Tinkle and located East of his home.

Although the town consisted of only a few stores and the one room school house, the only public meeting house until 1905, the band was well known throughout this section. Their new uniforms, blue with gold stripes, cost $14 each, the finest that could be bought at that time.

Once the band played an engagement in San Angelo, staying in the Landon Hotel. About an hour after they left the hotel burned and eight people were killed in the fire.

Traveling in a band wagon drawn by four white horses, trips were made to Crews, Winkate, Ballinger, Bronte, Mave-rick, Robert Lee, Fort Chadborne and other places. The band played for picnics, weddings, box-suppers, old settlers reunions and political rallies. (Continued on page 2)

Longer trips were made by wagon to Ballinger, the nearest railroad, and continued by train. Brownwood, San Angelo, Coleman and Big Spring were included in the itinerary. Any trip out of town required three days and more often the celebration lasted that long.

The most exciting trip the band made, recalled by the late John Curry, was to Brownwood for the first prohibition campaign in Brown County. "We were hired by the pros and the Granbury band, a third larger than ours was hired by the antis. We were furnished band wagons and each side had parades for three days."

"The father of Cyclone Davis was the pro speaker and a man named Anthony spoke for the antis. He announced he would speak at the courthouse and we broke up the meeting by marching around the courthouse, carrying kerosene torches, and yelling at the tops of our voices. Needless to say the pros won the election."

The articles of faith and the church covenant were read and adopted by the new members, and W. C. Spence was recognized as a deacon at that time, and Mrs. E. M. Bond was elected as the church clerk.

In those early days of the church, the Rev. W. P. Hicks of Miles and the Rev. S. T. Hazel of Hylton acted as supply pastors, along with the Rev. Tyre of Winters and the Rev. L. Overman of Norton. This arrangement was kept until the third Sunday of February, 1907, when C. C. Smith was called as pastor of the church. Sunday School and church services were held in the old school building.

In about 1909 a tabernacle was built to serve for summer revivals. It was a big roomy building which was finally closed in. Revival meetings were held in the tabernacle by L. E. Hunt, with the assistance of Rev. Speer of Winters, and R. A. Scranton, assisted by A. P. Morgan, Rev. Frazier of Springfield, Mo., and the Rev. Sherman, assisted by the Rev. Cornelius of Brownwood.

BAPTISTS AND METHODISTS
In 1914, the Methodists of the community built a new church building near the old tabernacle, and alternated with the Baptists in the use of the facilities. The Methodists had church and Sunday school on the second and fourth Sundays, with the Baptists on the first and third Sundays of each month. Study material also was alternated, with Methodist literature being used for one quarter and Baptist literature the next.

Some of the preachers who conducted services during that time were Enoch Smith, R. A. Scranton, S. E. Milan, L. E. Hunt, E. Thompson, W. D. Bond, C. S. Cornelius and E. E. Mason.

In 1921, the congregation made plans for a new church building. Land for the new church was bought from Tom and Della Puckett for $10.00, with the land to remain with members of the Baptist Church forever. First trustees were J. F. Hudson, W. B. Hodges and F. E. Berryman.

Foundation was laid by A. M. Moreland and John Heck, with lumber hauled by wagon from Winters by some of the church members. The new building was erected while the Rev. E. E. Mason was pastor. The church building consisted of one big room, with curtains used to separate the individual classes for Sunday School. In the 1920s, the church organized a Baptist Young People's Union.

Dr. George W. Truett preached the sermon on the day the building was dedicated, and from that time the church has been known as the Wilmeth Baptist Church.

The church later bought the old Norton school house and built a parsonage on the church grounds in 1941 while Sam Brian was pastor. The church went into full time services in 1946 while Virgil James was pastor.

In 1953, while C. T. Cloud was pastor, the inside of the church was redecorated and five Sunday School rooms were built inside the church. An educational department was built on the north side of the building, with a fellowship hall, kitchen and two rest rooms. Again in 1955, when Earl Gaines was pastor, the church was repainted and more work done on the educational building. The building also has been repaired in 1964.

TWO CHARTER MEMBERS
So far as is known, there are only two charter members of the church still living. They are Mrs. W. E. (Mollie) Puckett of Winters and Willie D. Bond of Abilene. Some of the deacons prior to 1921 were W. C. Spence, E. M. Bond, Jesse Enson and Richard Nash.

From 1921 until 1940, deacons included F. E. Berryman, John Hood, W. E. Puckett, W. A. McDonald, A. M. Moreland, Earl Cook, and John Henry. Since that time, ordained deacons have been Lonnie Hester, Lonnie Overman, Jimmy Lucas, L. B. Watkins, Reed McMillian, G. L. Ash, James Stanfield and Ed Poehls. At the present time, five of these men, Berryman, Overman, Ash, Watkins and Poehls, still hold the office of deacon in the church.

Two former members of the church have gone into the ministry. In about 1946 Lester Lee Vinson and Virtus Gideon entered

State Capital Highlights—

Texas Voters To Have Chance To Help Pick GOP Presidential Nominee

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
For the first time in history, Texas Republicans will have an opportunity to express their preferences for the GOP presidential nomination in a statewide straw poll.

Republican Executive Committee voted to hold the presidential referendum on the May 2 primary ballot. The opinion sampling has no binding effect. Principal purpose is to boost the stock of Barry Goldwater and to lure restless conservative Democrats into the GOP primary.

Democratic Executive Committee offered no special voter bonus to keep their own parties in the fold.

Leaders of both parties, in simultaneous meetings in Austin, declined to submit requested referendums on sale of liquor by the drink and curtailment of Mexican nationals' commuting to jobs in Texas.

Names of Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller, Margaret Chase Smith and Harold Stassen will appear on the GOP ballot. Originally the names of Richard Nixon, William Scranton, George Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge were included, but they were asked to be omitted. Rockefeller wanted off. He was told he had to stay since he already had announced.

Democrats responded warmly to Gov. John Connally's call for all-out support of President Johnson in party conventions. But they squabbled at length before accepting Dallas as the site of their September 15th state convention. Dallas finally won, 33-18 over Corpus Christi.

Connally made clear in a ringing speech urging Johnson support that as governor he plans to keep control of the state party.

It is important... to choose people (as convention delegates) who will be as strong for Connally in September as they are for Johnson in June," the Governor stated.

Without dissent the Democrats agreed on Houston as the site of their June 16 state convention to pick national presidential nominating convention delegates. The state party platform will be written and a new SDEC selected at the September meeting.

Republicans will hold their June convention in Dallas and their September convention in Austin.

SDEC Chairman Eugene M. Locke of Dallas resigned at the Democratic meeting and was replaced by Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin. He had served as secretary.

Republicans adopted a resolution calling for a special legislative session on congressional redistricting, and decided to admit registered voters who did not pay their poll taxes (under new federal constitutional authority) to party conventions.

Both committees also got around to their required business: certifying statewide candidates for the primary ballot and selection of a place (Austin) for their May 2 election returns.

HOSPITALS LOSING DOCTORS
Texas salaries aren't good enough to keep top doctors on the job at state hospitals, Dr. James M. Schless, director of tuberculosis hospitals, told the hospital board at a recent meeting here.

He cited resignations of doctors at Harlingen State Hospital, East Texas Tuberculosis Hospital, and San Antonio State Hospital and possibility of the McKnight State Hospital clinical director's taking a job in another state.

Key medical jobs in the state institutions pay $14,000 to $15,000 a year, plus housing. Schless said the next Legislature will be asked to raise that to $19,500.

Executive Director Raymond W. Vowell offered the Board for Hospitals and Special Schools a more cheering note: with completion of new facilities for the mentally retarded (which now house 9,813), the present waiting list of 1,800 may be trimmed to 500 by fall.

IN BROWNWOOD
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bates and Jackie Redwine visited in Brownwood over the weekend with Mrs. Bates' sister and family. Mrs. D. H. Bagley Sr. Mr. Bagley is critically ill in Medical Arts Hospital in Brownwood.

RETURNED HOME
F. L. Bates returned home Sunday from Fort Worth where he had been convalescing at the home of his son after several days' stay in Coleman hospital.

The Greek artist Phidias made a statue 38 feet high of ivory and gold.

"OH MY GOSH" says Jerry Lewis, as he stares in amazement at the damage done by a group of seemingly wild women in the bargain basement of a large department store. This comical scene takes place in Jerry's new film, "Who's Minding The Store?", showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre.

DEBBIE REYNOLDS portrays a musical-comedy star who adopts six kids in the new Technicolor comedy "My Six Loves" showing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

House Of Representatives Voted For Economy Twice In a Row!

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

By turning down a general $600 million a year federal pay raise bill (including a salary jump for Congressmen) the House last week registered two economy votes in a row. The first, which came a week earlier, was the defeat of a $300 million item for foreign aid, disguised as an advance (nonreimbursable) to the International Development Association. The salary raise was defeated by a 222-to 184 margin.

I joined with 12 other Texans in voting against the pay hike. Nine from the Lone Star voted for it.

The bill was quite generous. It raised Supreme Court Justices, and other Judges, from $35,000 per year, which they now get, to $45,500; jumped the President's cabinet from $25,000 to $35,000; upped members of Congress by $10,000; and tossed in an average 4.2 percent raise for classified civil service workers plus a 5.6 percent average jump for postal workers.

A little more than a year ago the Congress voted a $1.2 billion a year raise for all classified and postal employees, some of which just became effective in January of this year.

As I pointed out during debate, the current deficit in federal spending is estimated at about $10 billion; and the recent tax cut takes more than $11 billion a year from revenue receipts. Moreover, by playing loosely with the taxpayers' money now the effect would be to encourage pressures for another round of pay raises in private industry, with resulting inflation. I maintained that it behooves the Congress to set an example of frugality and restraint at this time. This is no time to be indulging in raises for anyone.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

NATURAL RESOURCES
... basic factor in economic development
Many industries are established close to natural resources. One is pictured above — the Bestwall Gypsum Company near Quanah, where gypsum wall board and allied products are made. It is near Quanah because of large gypsum deposits there, and is a perfect illustration of the economic value of a natural resource to a community.
Employing 200 people, it adds payrolls, increases consumer sales, builds deposits in banks such as the one pictured left, and is a major factor in the Quanah economy.
This is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.
It is because here is a manufacturer using a natural resource. National studies show that each 100 new factory workers in a community increase local personal income by $660,000, bank deposits by $229,000, and create 65 new nonmanufacturing jobs, besides increasing all types of consumer sales.
The manufacture of natural resources pays big profits to a community, and almost every community has natural resources subject to development. WTU urges every community to assess and evaluate its own natural resources as a basic step in economic development.

What's next? dept.: We read the other day that the Fair Employment Practices Commission in another state had warned a big company that they could not give ability tests to prospective employees, because, as the FEPC explained, the prospect might not have the educational background to pass the test, or be from an environment which might cause him to fail the test. Have to hire 'em without finding out if they are qualified for the jobs, it seems.

Hearsay is dangerous, especially if there are figures involved. For instance, we overheard Pete Speer explaining about his latest fishing trip. He said he had caught six 3-pound bass; but the way we heard it, he had caught a "63-pound bass." That's the way those confounded rumors get started!

March is full of interesting dates. For instance, March 2 was Texas Independence Day. On March 4, 1836, Gen. Sam Houston was named commander-in-chief of the Texas armies. The Alamo fell March 6, 1836. On March 10, 1843, every tenth man, 17 in all, of the Mier Expedition to Mexico, drew a black bean and was shot. Ben Thompson and King Fisher were killed in Santone in 1884, March 11. In 1861, March 12, Sam Houston, Governor of Texas when the state seceded, refused to swear allegiance to the Confederacy and the Texas Legislature deposed him. March 16, 1836, David G. Burnett was named president of the provisional government of the Republic of Texas.

Toward the end of the Civil War the Confederate dollar was worth two cents in gold.

Mrs. O. D. Bradford Gives Tips on Lunar Signs for Planting

Some scoff at it, some call it hogwash, some swear by it—that the time to plant seed, or go fishing according to the lunar phases. If you don't believe that the lunar phases have something to do with it, just plant some seed when the sign is right. The 21 and 22 of March are good days to plant anything that grows above the ground.

Then plant some of the same seed the 30th and 31 of March when the sign is right for planting things that produce under the ground, such as potatoes, radishes and beets.

Plant clumps of chives in your rose garden and the rose beetles will not bother your roses.

If you have some late pruning to do, a good time for this is the 30th and 31st of March.

Good days for transplanting this month is the 21st and 22nd, according to Mrs. O. D. Bradford, a member of the Winters Garden Club.

MOVIES

"My Six Loves," Debbie Reynolds' starring picture, presents her to fans in the type of role that has endeared her to them: glamorous, romantic, humorous—with a dash of song-and-dance for good measure. The Paramount production, in Technicolor, co-stars Cliff Robertson, David Janssen, Eileen Heckart, Hans Conried, Mary McCarty—with Alice Ghostley, and shows Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

Debbie portrays a Broadway and Hollywood musical comedy star who must take an enforced rest in her Connecticut country home. Hilarious complications develop when she discovers half-a-dozen abandoned children in a shack on her property, and takes them to her house to feed them. The star, who doesn't know how to boil water, finds herself involved beyond her wildest domestic dreams (or nightmares). Involved with her are her secretary-companion and friend, played by Miss Heckart, and the town minister—a good-looking young man with a keen sense of humor and an equally keen appreciation of Miss Reynolds' charms.

"Who's Minding The Store?" What do you suppose would happen if Jerry Lewis was turned loose in a modern department store? In Jerry's new Technicolor film, "Who's Minding The Store?", showing at the State Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, this is what happens, and as you would imagine, all bedlam breaks out. The story is about Norman Phiffier (Jerry Lewis), his love for Barbara Tuttle (Jill St. John), and the madcap dilemmas that it causes. Unknown to Norman, Barbara is the heiress to the Tuttle Department Store chain. She tries to keep this secret from Norman because she knows if he ever found out he would leave her.

Everything is rosey until Barbara's mother (Agnes Moorehead) learns of her daughter's romance. Mrs. Tuttle feels that Norman is a total idiot and therefore not worthy of Barbara. To try and make her thoughts more obvious, Mrs. Tuttle asks Mr. Quimby (Ray Walston), the store manager, to hire Norman, and then give him impossible chores to do.

$2550 for the property, it was reported.

City officials were quick to point out that at the present time there are no plans for expansion of the hospital. Purchase of the extra land is being made to insure that if such plans are considered in the future, as the growth of Winters indicates, there would be some place to expand. The present hospital structure, it was pointed out, is not substantial enough to permit addition of a second floor, and there is not enough room on the present lot for any addition building.

Council members said that in case of future expansion of present hospital facilities, the frame house can be torn down or removed. Meanwhile, they said, the house can be used for storage and probably for classrooms for the school of vocational nursing now being conducted at the hospital. At the present time, a two-bed ward in the hospital is being used as a classroom. Moving the classroom to another building would put this ward back into use, it was said.

Council also approved the attendance of City Secretary Vic Sutton at the annual Governmental Accounting and Finance Institute to be conducted in Austin March 22, 23, and 24. During the short course, all phases of governmental finance and accounting will be covered, with general sessions and panel discussions planned.
