

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If you have boys between the ages of 8 and 12, and they like to play baseball and would like to take part in Little League Play this year, and if you would like to see them in an organized and well-supervised recreational program this summer...

Little League season will soon be on us, and now is the time to get the ball rolling, and make plans for summer play. So says F. R. (Phil) Anderson, president of the Winters Area Little League Association.

Thursday night's meeting will not be for handing out jobs... any more than any other kind of meeting... but will be for orientation. They say it's a good idea to get everyone interested in Little League going in the same direction, and learn the needs of Little League locally.

This is one of the finest programs ever promoted for young boys. Every boy who wants to play baseball gets a chance to do so... and the training received is invaluable. It's supervised recreation, under leaders who like to work with boys and who gladly give of their time and talents.

Winters is fortunate to have an ideal Little League baseball field, well lighted, and with new grass this year. It's in a good area, with plenty of room for spectators. Many other cities the size of Winters would give anything for such facilities...

So, if you're interested in helping YOUR boy get the recreation he is entitled to this summer, attend next week's meeting and find out for yourself just what the program has to offer.

Weldon Wade joined the ranks of goldfom's "Hole-In-One" club Saturday afternoon... but, alas, the feat will have to go un-rewarded. Because, as we understand it, a hole-in-one must be performed before at least four witnesses to become official and go on the books.

Wade, who is with Baroid Division in Winters, made the lucky golf play on No. 6 hole at the Winters Country Club, using a 7 iron.

The big celebration planned for June 6 — Pony Express Race, Old Fiddlers Contest, Square Dance Exhibition, etc.—lacks an official and publicity-wise handle. Those who are promoting the event feel that just calling it a "celebration" or "event" will not be adequate when it comes to putting out publicity. So they're searching around for a name.

Here's a chance for some person who would like to get in on a good thing to stick a name on a celebration which could become widely known and popular. Just pick out a name for the event and tell us or tell the Chamber of Commerce or some of the individuals who are promoting all the entertainment. As yet there has been no prize or award promised... they just need a name.

There's going to be several things going on here during that big celebration, so the name should be big enough to cover the whole shebang, and also be just a bit descriptive. Could be called something like "Hullabaloo," "Whizbang," "Whoop-teedo," "Whiskere," "Hootenanny," "Whoopnanny!"... you name it.

Descendants Of Civil War Veterans Asked To Help in Decorating Graves

By Charlie Poe Cooperating with the state during Texas Civil War History Appreciation week, April 20-26, the Runnels County Historical Committee has asked descendants of the veterans to assist them in marking Confederate graves in the county.

There are no living Confederate veterans and only 69 of the widows live on. One of them is Mrs. W. W. McIver of Winters, who was 92 on February 2, and who also has the distinction of never having gray hair. It is jet black.

Mrs. McIver is the widow of the late W. W. McIver, Methodist preacher, veteran of nearly four years in the War between the States. The last part of the war he was a member of Company F, Texas Cavalry. He enlisted in Alabama when the war first started and was once wounded in the Battle of Sabine Pass, a seasoned veteran at the age of 18, when the war was over.

McIver came to Texas after the war and later met the former, Fanny Ford. They were married in Palestine in 1891.

Mrs. McIver's children are Roger of Abilene, Mrs. Sybil Powell of San Angelo, Elmo of Temple, Mrs. Gladys Gamble of Winters, Mrs. Avis Cagle of San Antonio and Clay of Moro. Emitt died this year and H. W. in 1954. She has 4 step children, 25 grandchildren, 33 great grandchildren and a number of great-great-grandchildren.

Winters Blizzard Tracksters Take Second Place Spot In District 6-AA

The Winters Blizzards went into the District 6-AA track and field competition last Saturday in McMurry Stadium prepared to stave off an anticipated attack from the second-favorite Haskell Indians, but were outflanked by the Stamford Bulldogs, who took the top honor for the day.

Stamford racked up a total of 137 points in track and field events, with Winters trailing with 98. Haskell finished in fifth place with 65 points.

Seven district records were smashed, and one tied in Saturday's events. Of these seven records, Winters Blizzards took three, and saw one of their own records, set in 1963, tied.

Steve Grissom broke the old 14.9 record set in 1961 for the high hurdle event, with a 14.7 time.

Mike Patterson of Winters, heaving the discus 152-4 3-4 broke the 1963 record of 151-7 1-2.

Richard Shade tossed the shot 50-9 for a new mark, shattering the 46-5 3-4 record set in 1963.

Bad luck shadowed Winters' Steve Grissom in the low hurdle event. Running neck-and-neck with Larry Butler of Hamlin, Grissom lost his balance at the next to last hurdle, fell, and finished fourth. Hamlin took the event with a 20.8 time. Grissom had turned in a 20.5 time in the prelims.

LITTLE LEAGUE PARENTS ASKED TO MEETING

A meeting of all parents of boys who will play Little League baseball in Winters this year will be held in the City Hall meeting room Thursday, April 24, at 7:30.

All parents and others interested in Little League baseball are urged to attend this important meeting.

Student Council Officers Installed At WHS Monday

Five new officers and 16 recently elected class representatives on the Student Council of Winters High School were installed in special ceremonies in the Homemaking Cottage Monday night. Robert F. Christian, high school principal, was in charge of installation.

Officers formally installed for next year's school term were Larry Rives, president; Hank McCreight, vice president; Mary Young, secretary-treasurer; Bill Cathey, song leader; and Donnie Buchanan, school pianist.

In his installation talk, Principal Christian compared each office and representative to one of the many functions of a tree. He told them that they all "must work together diligently in order to keep the tree alive and growing." Everyone in the council must continue to ripen "like the fruit of the trees in order to produce a well-matured council," he told the student council body.

Ronald Kraatz is the only out-going officer. He expressed his thanks to all members for helping him in his duties as president. Mike Mitchell, Dick Young, Linda Easterly and Russell Bedford are all seniors and out-going council representatives.

Present and future members of the Student Council include the five officers, five seniors, and Johnny Mathis, Chester Puckett, Betty Shoemaker, Ann Bean, Darlene Sneed, Susan Roberts, Fred Minzenmayer, Roger Pendergrass, Mike Magee, Byron Anderson, Sylvia Moore, Joyce Englert, Lenda Fuller, Martha Brown, Danny Killough, Randall Boles, Richard Puckett, Gary Pinkerton and Reid Stoecker.

Mrs. Eva Kelly is faculty sponsor of the Student Council.

Following installation ceremonies, the group had dinner in the high school gymnasium, catered by Clifford Huffman, and then played volleyball, basketball and performed on the trampoline.

Ballinger Choir To Perform At Southside Church

The Mt. Moriah Baptist capella choir, of Ballinger, under direction of Ellis Wamsley, teacher in Carver school in Ballinger, will present a program of secular and spiritual music at the Southside Baptist Church Sunday, April 26. It has been announced. The program will begin at 7 p. m.

The program will be a benefit to raise funds for the purchase of choir robes, and all collections for the evening will go for that purpose, it was explained.

The public is invited to this musical program.

Winters Exes To Meet Coleman Here Sunday

The Winters Exes baseball team, recently organized, will meet a team from Coleman here Sunday afternoon at 2:30, according to Gayland Robinson, a manager of the local team.

Game will be played on the baseball field one block east of the City Hall. No admission will be charged.

Heights Street May Be Paved

Winters' street department is presently working on a project to pave Heights Street, from East Pierce north to the Novice highway.

The street is immediately west of the high school and the grade schools, and the Winters school district board of trustees has agreed to pay their part of the paving, it was understood.

Most other property owners along the street have agreed to put up the money to pave the street, with the exception of one property owner, according to city officials working on the proposed project.

The proposed project for Heights street would include 2200 feet. Cost of paving a 30-foot street will be $1.67 per foot, it was explained, with property owners on each side paying 83 1-2 cents per foot, or one-half of the cost. The City pays for paving all intersections.

Also, it was understood this week that one block of the street separating the high school gymnasium and the homemaking and manual training buildings will be paved, east to North Rogers Street. The school probably will pave a parking lot on the east of the grade school building, it was announced.

Several other property owners in Winters have been anxious to begin paving projects in their sections of town, according to the street department. Others interested in paving this spring should contact the street department, they said.

Bill Little Made Honors "List" But Wasn't Recognized On Honors "Day"

Bill Little (formally William Lynn) Little, University of Texas student from Winters, has come to believe every child should have something unusual about his name.

It so happens that at the University there are two William Littles in undergraduate school, both seniors,—but one from Winters and the other from Houston—and a third William Little living in Austin and listed in the telephone directory.

Middle initials seem to mean little to the average person, so the Winters Bill Little has received numerous bills, duns, letters, pleasant and unpleasant telephone calls—all for another Bill.

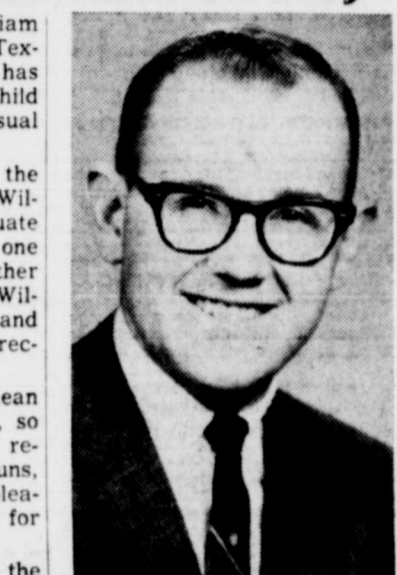

But last week came the crowning blow. It seems the Winters Bill Little was one of the approximately 500 students at the University scheduled to be recognized on Honors Day.

Out from the office went invitations to the parents of William Little to come to the affair. William Little was sent a card, notifying him of the honor. But all of this went to the Houston William and his parents. The Winters William received nothing. Since the Houstonian knew of no reason for his recognition, he inquired at the office the last of the week—only to learn the honors were in Journalism, which he did not study, and were actually for the Winters William Lynn Little.

By the time the mistake was rectified, the journalist Little was busy covering the Texas Relays and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little were in Dallas attending a convention.

Bill did find time to go by the auditorium and pick up the booklet which listed CORRECTLY names of the several hundred students receiving public recognition for special honors—just for a keepsake.

Little is a senior in the school of journalism and was a William Randolph Hearst Award winner in national journalism competition in both the fall of 1962 and of 1963. In his sophomore year he was named out-

BILL LITTLE standing beginning worker on the Daily Texan, University of Texas newspaper. He served for two years as sports editor of the Texan and at present is employed in the sports publicity office at the University.

For three years he has served as an upper class advisor for Freshman Council committees and also as an orientation advisor for incoming freshmen. He was one of a small group selected for the Leadership Seminar in the fall of 1962. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity.

Little is president of Little and Associates, a group of five University students who recently published the magazine type book — "Texas — National Champions."

The most recent honor won by Little came last week end when, at the annual convention of the Southwestern Journalism Congress held in Norman, Oklahoma, he was awarded two of the top honors.

Little won first place in the sports column category for his spirited effort on the Baylor red candle tradition and a second place in the sports story (Continued on page 8)

City Officials Studying Possibility Of Recreation Program For Winters

A proposal to build a recreation program or department within the City establishment is being studied by Winters' city officials. The program, as outlined briefly at a meeting of the City Council Monday evening, would entail no outlay of funds presently, but would give official sanction to some sort of planned recreational facilities, according to spokesmen.

As proposed, the program would call for setting aside by the Council of certain areas in the City Park for construction of specific recreational facilities. By so doing, it was pointed out, added facilities would be on an orderly and planned basis, rather than dependent upon a haphazard additions.

The idea was brought forward at a meeting of the Council Monday night. As outlined to the Council, there has been some discussion recently of the lack of adequate facilities for tennis. Because of the ever-growing interest in tennis locally, the tennis courts on the grounds of the Winters schools are crowded most of the time, it was explained. So it has been suggested that an area in the City Park be set aside for construction of tennis courts. No request has been made for the City to provide funds, it was pointed out. Rather, funds for building new tennis courts would be raised by public subscription. Backers of the project are only seeking official approval of such added recreational additions to the park area.

After hearing the suggestions, councilmember s agreed to study the matter, with the possibility of establishing a bonafide recreational program to include other projects in addition to the proposed tennis courts.

At present, it was stated, there is a lack of adequate recreational facilities and areas. At the City Park, there are no facilities other than the swimming pool, with a short season, and swings for children. There also are picnic tables in the park, but nothing else is being offered for recreational purposes. Members of the council agreed that there is a need for such a recreational program in Winters, with the steady increase in population and more and more demands being made for more adequate planning and facilities.

State Capital Highlights—

Governor's Panel On Higher Education Makes Report Recently

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Only the upper 15 per cent of Texas high school graduates ought to be taken in the state's top universities, the Governor's Committee on Education Before the High School has been told.

A sub-committee also informed the panel that some type of higher education must be made available to all and that there is an urgent need for general upgrading of the college system. Enrollments must be built up, dropouts reduced and standards steadily improved, the study group heard at a meeting last week.

State Supreme Court upheld lower court decisions that approval of $65,000,000 Millican Dam on the Navasota River is final.

Grimes and Brazos County landowners challenged feasibility of the big federal project.

SAN JACINTO ANNIVERSARY

Places which otherwise would be little known become famous because of some great historic event which occurred there. Such a place is the site of the battle of San Jacinto. It was there that the enemy was crushed and driven back so Texas won her independence.

Often in the present day we are inclined to take for granted, and not appreciate, our rich heritage from the past. What others did in early days laid the foundation for the future of our great state. To preserve the principles for which they fought is our obligation to future generations.

Independence has ever been dear to all Texans. Brave men who fought at San Jacinto defended it with bullets. We must defend it with ballots — when we vote.

JUVENILE PROGRAM IMPROVING

Texas Youth Council reports that there has been a sharp and welcome drop in the number of repeaters among juvenile offenders sent to Gatesville, Gainesville and Crockett correctional schools.

In the fall of 1961, the rate of returnees was 45 per cent. Then the 1961 Legislature appropriated funds for expansion and improvement of school facilities and for five council parole officers. By August, 1963, the return rate was down to 29 per cent and youth council spokesmen say they hope to hold this since the parole personnel was increased to 20 last month.

The Rev. Clint Kersey, council parole supervisor, said, "We believe that by an increased stay, we can keep them in school. Then when they are paroled, they are better able to adjust and hold a job, and that cuts the chance of return."

SCREW WORM APPROPRIATION ASKED

Gov. Connally has requested a $5,500,000 congressional appropriation for continued protection against the screw worm menace.

A two-year program has eradicated the screw worm from Texas, Connally told congressional leaders, and feasibility of a barrier along the Mexican border to prevent re-infestation is proved.

While southwestern states, livestock producers and sportsmen have financed over half the $12,000,000 program to date, Connally said, it now is an international matter and should be financed by the U. S. without local matching requirements.

The state, producers and sportsmen would continue to provide inspection, survey and other services in the U. S.

OIL FIELD BRINE

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board scheduled a hearing for July 1 at 9 a. m. on its order prohibiting the surface disposal of oil field brine in Area II of the Ogallala formation — the Middle High Plains. All area II permit holders are to appear at the hearing and show cause why their permits should not be amended to conform to the no-pit order.

A May 27 hearing has been set for Ogallala area I—Panhandle area—and a hearing on area IV will be held on August 5.

THE JUDICIARY

All gubernatorial candidates have been asked by a State Bar committee to pledge that, if elected, each will consult the bar committee on judicial appointments.

Vernon B. Hill of Mission wrote all candidates that his committee would propose no nominees, but would rate each considered for judicial appointments either exceptionally well qualified, qualified, or not qualified.

He said a similar procedure is followed by the President of the U. S. and the Attorney General and the American Bar in appointments to the federal judiciary.

State Bar also has named a committee to consult with newspapermen and law officers about the problem of publicity on lawsuits and trials.

Talbot Rain of Dallas is chairman, with former District Judge Joe Frazier Brown of San Antonio and Joe H. Reynolds of Houston members. Apparently, the group will seek to work out some sort of joint code for policing publicity.

"AIRPORT" OFF-LIMITS

The airstrip at the LBJ Ranch, a single, 6,300-foot runway located 12 miles west of Johnson City, has been declared off-limits to all civil and military aircraft, "except those on official business with prior permission to use the airport."

An order published by the Texas Aeronautics Commission for the Federal Aeronautics Agency said aircraft also must avoid flying within one nautical mile of the presidential residence.

LEASE CALL

The State is offering 369,786 acres of public lands for lease oil and gas producers. Land commissioner Jerry Sadler has called for sealed bids on 608 tracts to be submitted by 10 a. m. on May 5.

Sadler predicted the leases will increase the Permanent School Fund by several million dollars.

SLANT-WELL SUITS

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr announced that nine new civil penalty suits have been filed against 14 alleged slant-well oil operators in East Texas, making the suit total 106.

First suit to be filed outside of East Texas, as well as the first against an out-of-state defendant, was filed in Jackson County against John Wrather of Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Carr also filed another "first" suit, claiming a Rusk County gas well was slanted.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Connally appointed Lewis R. Timberlake of Austin to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. He succeeds the late Millard Cope, executive of the San Angelo Standard-Times. Timberlake is a past president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. He named Charles H. King Jr. of Dallas Commissioner of Bureau of Labor Statistics. King resigned as president of the Dallas AFL-CIO Council to accept the appointment.

Connally picked Judge W. T. McDonald of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to serve as chairman of the Texas Judiciary Advisory Committee to the U. S. Olympics.

OPINIONS

Attorney General Carr held in opinions:

Bee County Commissioners are not required to name a board of managers for a county hospital at Beeville which has been leased to Seventh Day Adventists.

A Bexar County man is entitled to credit on his prison sentence for six months held in county jail.

Term of Titus County Justice of Peace Precinct 1, Place 1, began Jan. 1, 1963 and extends through 1966, while the Titus County J. P., Precinct 1, Place 2 (unexpired term) serves only through this year.

WATER COMMISSION

South Texas Electric Cooperative, Victoria, received Texas Water Commission approval of application to take 23,400 acre feet of water a year from Guadalupe River in Victoria County to cool steam-powered generators of its new electric plant.

Action Getting Underway In Fight On Poverty in Nation

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Skirmishes on the poverty front sparked the political scene in Washington last week. Beginning with 27 officials, consultants and advisers, in addition to clerical help, the Office of Economic Opportunity came to life, though yet unofficial. Headed by Sargent Shriver, this new venture in bureaucracy gained momentum. Forty telephones were installed, along with borrowed desks, typewriters, etc. All this happened even before the Congress formally creates the new office.

On Capitol Hill the House gave the green light to an expanded welfare phase of the anti-poverty drive by approving a $360 million food stamp bill. Although this is not a part of the $1-billion anti-poverty package which is being pushed by the President, it was sold in the House as a vital factor in the war against poverty.

The Food Stamp Bill will enable people in approved areas to buy food stamps and then trade them in at grocery stores at a value in excess of their cost, thus creating a direct federal subsidy on food bills for the recipients. The lucky recipients are supposed concerned with losing water through evaporation. Bulletin is available free from the commission's office, Austin, Texas.

Behind the scenes, the substantial showing of Governor Wallace in the Wisconsin Presidential preference primary has created quite a stir in Washington. The Governor ran on one issue—the civil rights bill pending in the Senate. Polling over 260,000 votes, more than one-third of those cast in the Democratic primary and about one-fourth of the combined Republican Democratic total, Wallace had done little campaigning in the Wolverine State before the voting took place.

In the Senate, where the civil rights bill is being debated, the Wisconsin showing against the bill caused Senator Hubert Humphrey, the bill's leader, to explode incoherently. In fact, he was so distracted by the tremendous vote that favored Wallace that he shouted, victoriously, "A flop. . . a fizzle!"

BEWITCHING TREE—This craggy arboreal fixture on the Pacific coastline near Carmel, Calif., has earned the nickname "witch tree" by dreamers who use its natural design as a springboard for their thoughts. The tree does present a bewitching sight, however, in contrast to its rocky surroundings. Sole figure on ground sets the mood.

Roger Babson Says—

Young People Should Be Able To Take Advantage of Changing World

Babson Park, Mass. At this time of year many parents are thinking about what they could do to help their boys get on in the remarkable era which we are facing scientifically, socially, financially, and educationally. Tremendous changes are going on and young people should be prepared to take advantage of them.

Do Well In High School

It is well to be interested in athletics and other extracurricular high school affairs, but these do not count much in getting a foundation. So many employers want a list of the 10 per cent or 20 per cent of the students with highest grades who are about to graduate from high school. The large companies are not content with knowing how these young people are getting along in college, but are going back to their high school records. Therefore, it is very important that a graduate from college should have a good record in high school.

Liberal Education Vs Business Education

It is reasonable for one with the time and whose dad has plenty of money to get a "liberal" education. This is especially true when the young man knows where he is going to work. But if he has not the time to give three or four years to a "liberal" education, he should seek a business education which will include some of the most important of the liberal education subjects.

I have in mind, for instance, the Babson Institute at Wellesley, Mass., where over 800 young men are now studying the fundamentals of business. It does not necessarily mean that they are going into business, but they must have these fundamentals now if they hope to administer a large position later. Parents little realize the change that is taking place in the demand for young men.

Importance Of Chemistry

After graduating from a college of business administration, I would advise a post-graduate course in chemistry. This might be done in one year or it might take two years, but tremendous developments are taking place in chemistry. I especially have in mind the manufacture of — synthetics. There will be great changes in the manufacture of what people call "artificial" foods (though they are not really artificial). They have the same vitamins and other nutrients as the food which we raise in the cornfields or in the orange groves. A young man or woman could well become an expert on rockets or nuclear power.

The synthetics are also being extended to commodities other than foods. Therefore, I should suggest getting a position with a concern such as Du Pont of Wilmington, which developed nylon and some of the other most valuable products of today. The best "rubber" tires contain practically no rubber at all. The Du Pont Co. is now putting on the market a "leather" (Corfam) which may be superior to any leather now used. The company is experimenting on a substitute for woolsens, in which I am sure they will succeed. Just as Du Pont has eliminated the need for the silkworm, so it may eliminate the need for the cotton fields and many other present industries.

Construction Greatly Changed

Now, the principal building product is wood; and this may continue to be true with the use of plywood. The carpenter's job, however, is nearly over; the lumber will come all cut, ready for quick erection in the house. This situation applies also to buildings, which will be made largely of aluminum and glass. I would not think of buying an old office building today in view of the new buildings being erected. The time is coming when the chair in which I sit will be stamped out of plastic; and this will apply to the desk and all other furniture in the house. I have a good many pieces of antique furniture in my home, and experts are now calling on me to take photographs and measurements of these antiques in order to make "duplicates" which are indistinguishable from the originals. The main point is that these reproductions are more useful and stronger than the originals. I merely give these facts as illustrations of the importance of synthetics to chemistry and design. "Chemistry" includes plastics, which are the basis of many of the clothes we wear. The time is coming when clothes will not be manufactured as they are now and wearing as we know it will be eliminated.

Stock Market In Unusual Period; Advises Caution In Investments

Babson Park, Mass. Many readers are wondering whether the stock market will advance much further beyond the 800 mark which the Dow-Jones Industrial Average has recently succeeded in penetrating. It may be that an extraordinary condition exists, in which we may be seeing two types of markets going on at the same time. That is, a bull market may be co-existing with a bear market.

Two Trends At The Same Time

Normally, a bull market is associated with a condition of rising stock prices. During these periods, many stocks participate in the market advance to varying degrees. The current bull market, however, is somewhat of a paradox. Only a handful of stocks have been rising in price. The vast majority are either standing still or losing some ground. This has left many investors disappointed as they watch the Dow-Jones Industrial Average march resolutely to new highs while their own investments have done little or nothing. The reason for this is that the bull market has been largely in high-grade stocks being bought by the institutional-type investors, such as insurance companies, pension funds, and trust funds. The bear market which exists simultaneously is largely in secondary stocks, and in the so-called glamour stocks which took a terrific trouncing in the last market collapse. For example, the bear market may still exist for electronics stocks and other speculative issues which pay little or nothing in the way of dividends. In the absence of unbridled speculative fervor, demand for these stocks has dried up.

The Same In Real Estate

The existence of divergent trends is not limited to the stock market; it is also apparent in the real estate market. Demand for office buildings, apartments, and good residential developments is holding up well, especially in large cities. Activity is still high and prices firm in these segments of the real estate market.

Two Markets For Savings

Many savings and loan associations, particularly in California, are paying 4.85 percent—a rate well above those permitted commercial banks. These are advertised in newspapers and magazines by the savings and loan associations which seek additional savings money to meet the demand for mortgage money.

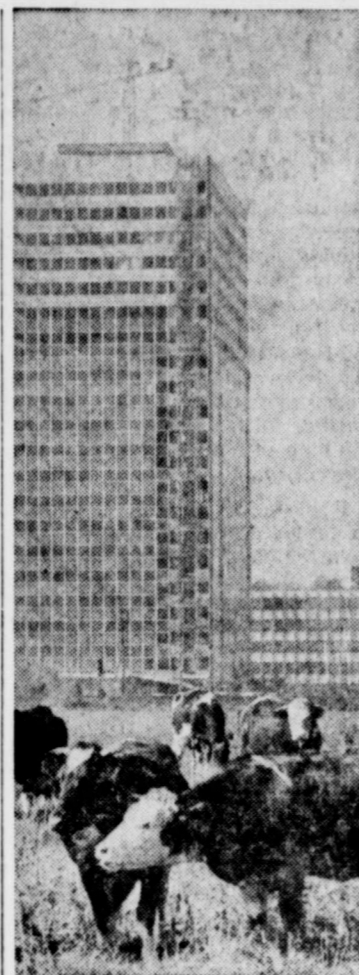

In staid old New England, rates for savers run about 1 percent less than the California savings and loan associations pay. Lowest rates are paid by the savings departments of commercial banks and on commercial bank certificates of deposit; highest rates by the Massachusetts mutual savings banks—varying from 3 3/4 percent to 4 1/4 percent—and by savings and loans and so-called building industry.

In contrast, hotels and motels are still sliding in price in many areas. The same applies to farm lands. Those near large cities, and those situated on the side of such cities where the bulk of growth is taking place, still enjoy brisk demand and high valuations. This is especially true of property for shopping centers, industrial and office centers, and good-quality residential developments. However, farm lands too far out remain a drug on the co-operative banks, which average a little higher.

Pay Attention To The Fundamentals

I conclude by emphasizing what I said in the early portion of this column; namely, that two distinct markets are operating at the present time. Hence, it is unwise to argue whether we are in a bull market or in a bear market. These two different types of markets appear to be running along at the same time. Even the "blue chip" label is not a guarantee of sure-fire profits, as the 30 stocks which comprise the Dow-Jones Industrial Average have not all participated in the advance.

Therefore, I urge readers to be very selective in making their investments. Forget about whether this is a bull market or a bear market. Concentrate, instead, on the fundamental factors of quality, growth, and a healthy profits picture. A look at the earnings and dividend records for the past year shows that the stocks which have enjoyed a bull market have been those of companies that have fared best in a keenly competitive climate and successfully surmounted the grueling cost squeeze. These companies have increased their profits and paid out larger dividends. This is no time for careless speculation.

Boll Weevil Threat At A Minimum

Texas cotton farmers can take some comfort in the fact that fewer boll weevils went into hibernation this winter than last year, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Boll weevil counts were made at random over the state by Texas and federal entomologists with special attention to the most troublesome areas in Central Texas. The winter survival is expected to be about half of what it was in 1962, White said.

During the late fall of each year, Texas and U.S.D.A. research teams take samples of wood trash adjacent to cotton fields to determine the number of weevils in hibernation. The number surviving the winter, combined with weather condition during the early part of the cotton fruiting period, will determine potential boll weevil damage to the 1964 cotton crop.

"I am especially pleased with the report this year which indicated our control efforts to hold the destructive boll weevil at an absolute minimum are working, Commissioner John White said. "Our neighboring state of Louisiana shows some increases of the insect are in prospect for their area, however," he added.

Trash samples collected from four Central Texas counties are indicative of results over the rest of the state. Falls, Hill, Limestone, and McLennan county areas averaged only 517 weevils per acre, compared with 1,781 in 1962.

Commissioner White attributed a major part of this winter's decrease in hibernating boll weevils to low spring populations that survived the winter last year. A cotton planting and plow-up program administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture is designed to control the pink bollworm and also achieves benefits in boll weevil destruction. Mandatory plow up of cotton stalks in much of the State destroys hibernating quarters for many insects.

This is the second year in which substantial decreases in boll weevils have been noted, White pointed out. Last year also showed a decrease from the spring of 1962 in numbers of surviving weevils. As a result, damage to the 1963 crop from boll weevils was gratifyingly light.

"The Running Man," Laurence Harvey, Lee Remick and Alan Bates are starred at the State Theatre Friday and Saturday, in Carol Reed's production. "The Running Man," new romantic suspense drama released by Columbia Pictures. Based on a novel by Shelley Smith. "The Running Man" was produced and directed by Carol Reed in Panavision and color.

"Under the Yum Yum Tree," film version of producer Frederick Brisson's Broadway comedy hit which David Swift directed for Columbia Pictures release, shows at the State Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Reportedly a witty, urbane and delightfully amusing, teeming with fast and funny situations. "Under the Yum Yum Tree" stars Jack Lemmon, Carol Lynley, Dean Jones, Edie Adams, Imogene Coca, Paul Lynde and Robert Lansing.

"The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," a John Ford Production, starring James Stewart and John Wayne, shows Saturday and Sunday at the Fiesta Theatre. Directed by Ford, a four-time Academy Award winner, the Paramount release co-stars Vera Miles, Lee Marvin and Edmond O'Brien and features Andy Devine, Ken Murray and John Carridine.

Stewart and Wayne join forces for the first time in their long and brilliant careers to create two strong, memorable characterizations: Ransome, a courageous, idealistic lawyer whose reputation as the man who shot Liberty Valance, although abhorrent to him, affords him the opportunity to win statehood for a western territory and fame for himself; and Tom, quiet, respected rancher and only person feared by Valance, who creates a legend and propels Ransome to fame—all for the woman he loves. Lovely Vera Miles plays the girl in their lives, a young woman faced with the necessity of begging help from the man in love with her for the man she loves.

"Bachelor Flat," An eye-filling array of young beauties lends support to the hilarious — misadventures of Tuesday Weld, Richard Beymer, Terry-Thomas and Celeste Holm in the 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color comedy-romance "Bachelor Flat," showing Saturday and Sunday at the Fiesta Theatre.

Jack Lemmon, Carol Lynley and Dean Jones stars in Columbia Pictures' "Under the Yum Yum Tree." Other co-stars include Edie Adams, Imogene Coca and Paul Lynde. Film, in color, is based on the Broadway stage success. Shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre.

JOHN WAYNE plays a respected rancher, the only man feared by killer Liberty Valance in "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," John Ford Production due Saturday and Sunday at the Fiesta Theatre. He stars with James Stewart in the Paramount picture which co-stars Vera Miles, Lee Marvin and Edmond O'Brien.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

DIVISION OF ESTATES EXPLAINED

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death. If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property — cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, any other items not constituting real estate — is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Sponge as Bug Holder

Small bass bugs and poppers can be a problem out of the water. Where to put them so you can grab one without tangling the others is the question. A piece of sponge sewn to the crown of your favorite fishing hat provides a handy place to perch your favorite bugs. They're easy to remove and they won't fall out.

Grips on Sinkers

When fishing a sandy bottom where there's a fast-moving current, getting a sinker to hold is a problem. To solve this, drive a few nails into the soft lead. These "legs" will grip the soft bottom and anchor the sinker in even the fastest water.

Emergency Wader Repairs

How many times have you been caught with your waders or boots in dire need of first aid and there wasn't a patch to be had?

Next time you head for the lake, on a fishing trip, don't leave home until you've tucked a few adhesive plaster strips in your tackle box. One of these strips on each side of a tear or hole in a wader will provide an emergency patch that makes the waders almost as good as new.

Foam Rubber Dog Bed

An old foam rubber automobile seat, cut down to size, makes perfect bedding for a dog house. Ticks and other insects that sometimes infest ordinary bedding will be locked out by the foam rubber.

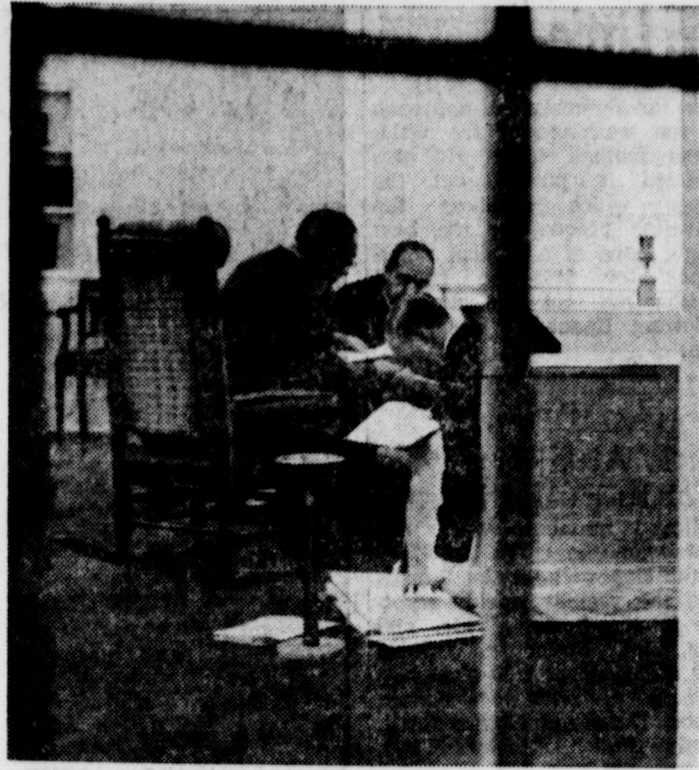

Pork Rind Substitute

If the fish are hitting and you suddenly run out of pork rind, try using a piece of an old innertube cut into half-inch wide strips about three inches long.

Such a strip adds lots of action to your lure and looks almost like the real thing.

Tackle Box Dividers

Don't throw away that old plastic ice cube tray or the partitions from a metal one.

THROUGH THE GLASS—A view through the door of the President's office shows him sitting in his rocking chair discussing reports with Kermit Gordon and Elmer Staats.

They'll provide you with a handy place to keep small accessories in your tackle box.

Fishing Apron

A carpenter's nail apron can help you "nail" lots of fish by keeping your equipment for stream fishing within easy reach.

Lacing Made Easier

Rawhide boot laces can be made to lace more easily if you char the ends.

Clean Trophies With Cornmeal

Mounted game trophies may be cleaned by many methods. A good and inexpensive way is to take a handful of corn meal and rub it thoroughly in the fur. Wait a few minutes and then brush gently or comb. Makes that old trophy shine.

Gun Identification

One sure way to identify your rifle is to put your name on it—or rather in it. Remove the butt plate and insert a piece of paper bearing your name, address and telephone number.

Emergency Gun Cleaning Rod

A piece of fishing line about four feet long loaded with a half-dozen split-shot sinkers and an oiled patch at one end makes an excellent emergency gun cleaning rod that can be carried afield.

Fitted Gun Case

If you have a long carrying case and a short rifle, don't despair. Stuff newspapers or cloth in the narrow end of the case until the weapon fits just right.

Protect Dog's Tail

Hunting dogs working in thick cover are subject to injury. One such injury is the tendency of the tip of the dog's tail to cut and tear.

Here's a simple solution to the problem. Cut the finger off an old pair of leather gloves and slip it over the tip of the dog's tail. Fasten with tape.

Easy Fish Sealing

To snugly hold a fish while you're scaling it, lay it on a cleaning board and stick an ice pick through its tail.

Hunting Insurance

Some hunters take no chance of missing up a shot.

They cut off the breast pocket on the shooting side of their hunting jacket. This, so they won't catch the butt of the gun on the flap or mouth of the pocket and goof a perfectly good chance at a trophy head.

About 180,000 persons will be saved from cancer this year. According to the American Cancer Society, many of them will be saved because of improved methods of diagnosis and treatment. See your doctor each year for a health checkup.

Corkwood trees in the Lower Brazos Valley furnish the lightest native wood in the United States.

Lightning moves 30,000 times as fast as a bullet.

HEALTH LETTER

Mankind has always been faced with the riddle of life and death.

This problem increases, as does age, along with maturity and broadening responsibilities. Centuries ago, war, famine and infectious diseases plagued man and limited life expectancy to about thirty years of age. Now with social reforms and better health facilities, people are building their plans for a lifespan of seventy to eighty years. Unfortunately, many of man's greatest hopes and dreams are swept away by sudden, unexpected death.

Although accidental death and suicide certainly account for many unexpected deaths in America, the greatest cause is heart disease. In Texas, as well as the nation, heart disease takes the greatest percentage of lives each year.

Presently, research personnel all over the world are trying to find the key that unlocks the gateway to a life free from coronary artery disease.

High blood pressure, elevation of the serum cholesterol, emotional stress, obesity, cigarette smoking and decreased physical activity have each been identified as factors increasing the risk of heart disease. Heredity is probably a factor of equal importance.

Just as diabetes requires people to take certain precautions to avoid serious trouble, it may be that people carrying a high risk of heart disease will one day choose to act accordingly. They could steer away from some enemies of a healthy heart such as inadequate exercise, overweight and cigarette smoking.

Since emotional stress-call it worry if you like—may contribute to the risk of heart disease, don't do it. Have regular physical examinations instead. Your doctor can discover most forms of heart disease in their early stages, but only if you give him the chance to do so. More serious damage can usually be averted or delayed if the condition is found early and the doctor's instructions are fully carried out.

And if you have heart disease, do what your doctor permits—no more and no less.

Emergency medical care of a person having a heart attack may mean the difference between life and death. But if preventive measures are exercised earlier, you may avoid, or at least reduce the chances of having coronary artery disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little Receive Award At Southwestern Photog Meet

A local couple, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little, received one of the five Distinguished Service Awards presented at the recent annual convention of the Southwestern — Photographers Association held in Dallas.

The other four recipients of the certificates made at the awards banquet were Dallas and Houston photographers. The awards were presented for "Untiring Services and Contribution Towards Betterment of the Profession of Photography in the Southwest."

The Southwestern Photographers Association is made up of leading professional photographers in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

In addition to the services award, the Littles had a number of prints accepted to hang in the exhibit of outstanding photographs. Four of their prints were selected for the top bracket of a limited number chosen for the display from hundreds of pictures submitted by photographers from the five states.

Little photographs selected as top prints included "Breath of Spring," a photograph of Linda Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lloyd; "Headin' Home", a portrait of Donald McWright; "Padre," a portrait of the Reverend Donald Hailie; and "Donna Isabel," a portrait of Mrs. Manuel Esquivel. Two other pictures favorably recognized were "Happiness Ahead", a portrait of Mrs. David Burton that recently won a first place in area competition; and "The Elder," a portrait of A. T. Jobe.

Little served as chairman of the National Award committee for the Southwest and as a member of the print committee. While in Dallas, he attended a meeting of the board of directors of the Texas Professional Photographers Association. He was recently reappointed to the board for his tenth consecutive term.

Mrs. Little was a member of the print and of the awards publicity committees for the convention.

Little Studio, closed for the week of the convention, opened for business on Monday, April 13.

Roger Babson Says--

Computers Will Be Big Help In Reducing Taxes At County Level

Babson Park, Mass. Every reader of this column is interested in reducing taxes. We see in the newspapers much about the cut in federal income taxes, but almost nothing about a cut in state or local taxes. I believe this will be discussed much more during the next year or two as readers become better acquainted with what computers can do, to reduce county taxes at least. Readers who wish to reduce local and state taxes should send for a salesman from a leading computer manufacturer, such as International Business Machines.

What A Florida County Is Doing

In a talk which I had recently with Mr. Paul Pickett of Orlando, Florida, who is on the Budget Committee of Orange County, I gained some very interesting information. He tells me that one of these computers, at a rental of about $7,000 a month, should save the county a net of over $20,000 a month on extra help. Now such a modern computer could do the schedule programming in a few days that it takes school teachers (supplementing their regular employment) several weeks to accomplish. When I asked Mr. Pickett whether the school teachers would complain, he stated, "Many of them will be glad to have extra days off; while many of those who take their places when they have time off are housewives with no regular employment. Thus the employment situation as a whole should not be upset."

In view of the activity of salesman of the leading companies, it is probable that many more counties may be making this same saving. Whatever the facts are, I am only passing this along to readers as an illustration of what the introduction of computers may accomplish, or upset—according to the circumstances.

Revolution In Education

As the Federal Government is constantly assuming more of the cost and maintenance of road building, the present trend indicates that the greatest "local" expense will be our public schools. It looks now as if the education of our children could be considerably improved at lower cost by the use of computers. I feel certain that fewer new

Winters Masons Invited To Lodge Workshop

Winters Masonic lodge officers have been invited to participate in a Masonic workshop at the Masonic Hall in Norton, along with officers of lodges in Wingate, Norton, Ballinger and Miles.

The workshop will be held for officers and members of all the Masonic lodges in the five towns, and will be held at 7:30 p. m., Monday, April 20.

Joe. E. Atkins of San Angelo will conduct the workshop. He is also chairman of the Masonic Workshop Area covering seven counties in this area. The workshop will deal with common problems of Masonic Lodges and their operations.

The workshop has been approved by John R. Collard Jr., of Spearman, Grand Master of Masons in Texas, and is part of a semi-annual statewide program covering the quarter-million Masons in nearly 1,000 Masonic Lodges in the state.

Grand Master Collard urged the attendance of officers and members of the five lodges invited to participate and stressed that other Masons are also welcome to attend.

school houses will be built and that computers may materially reduce the construction of new college buildings. The taxes which voters are now assessed for the maintenance and operation of buildings used for educational purposes can be considerably lowered and the efficiency of the teachers increased.

Time Now Wasted

For some peculiar reason, parents want their children to spend more time at school. Are they really anxious to have these children learn more; or are they using the school as a sort of "parking lot" for the care of their children a good portion of the day? Of course, I am opposed to the large number of "drop-outs"; but the present educational system may be more responsible for these drop-outs than the children.

At any rate, from visits I have recently made to schools, I do not see much change in the methods of education from when I was in school many years ago. Most leaders of Parent Teachers Associations and other organizations probably agree with me. The immediate question is: Who runs the school? Do the parents, or the teachers, or the taxpayers, or the politicians? It is a very complicated situation; in most communities the school committees are made up largely of businessmen and others who know very little about proper improvement of their schools. When some one committee member makes a study and tries to bring about a reform he is persecuted as one who simply wants publicity.

Importance Of Computers

The early part of this column explains how the budget commissions of many states are using computers to reduce expenses, but I forecast that computers must also be used to increase the efficiency of teaching. Parents seem to believe that the amount of time spent in school determines their children's education. This is all wrong. Instead of the time being increased, it should be decreased. This will someday be done with greater use of computers.

There are several companies which will demonstrate how this can be accomplished—resulting in fewer teachers, better education, lower taxes, and children trained to concentrate and get real jobs for which they are best fitted. Research and new machinery have entered almost every phase of family life except education. I believe education is on the verge of a revolution in which computers will play a prominent part.

"Tranquility is a certain equality of mind which no condition of fortune can either exalt or depress."—Seneca.

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Adams and son of Abilene were visitors at the morning services at the Baptist Church. Gary Hester of Winters attended the night services. Ben delivered the morning and night messages in the absence of Pastor Charles Ashby.

The Hays children, Gayle, Laura, Kelly, Paul and Eddie and their father of Guion, Jim Mayfield and Bobbie Aldridge attended the morning services at the Moro Baptist Church. For the morning special Mrs. Bud Hicks and Mrs. Russell Grunn sang "If Jesus Goes With Me," with Mrs. J. W. Allmand at the piano. Wednesday night of last week at the Drasco Baptist Church the Baptist Jubilee Fellowship program was carried out. The WMS ladies of the church were sponsors. Featuring on the program were Pastor and Mrs. W. I. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Sneed, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ray Williams, Mrs. Dick Bishop, Melba Lewis, Cynthia West, Randall Sneed and Donna England. The church banquet followed the program.

The subject for next Sunday's International Sunday School Lesson is, Facing Family Tensions. The memory selection is, Be subject to one another out of reverence for Christ.—Ephesians 5:21. The following has been selected: Paul had something important to say concerning our mutual responsibilities as we live together in the home. He insisted that wives, husbands, parents, and children alike must respect one another in the Lord.

Harmony exists in families where the members keep in mind the idea, "I have obligations" rather than "I have rights."

If the self is at the center of a person's life, family tensions can become very destructive. Christ at the center of a person's life leads to positive action that will be for the good of all.

What we have been saying here is that respect for personality is basic in the Christian family. And if Christ is central in the home, then we will be considerate of others.

A. & M. University Compiling Library Of History Writings

A scrapbook filled with newspaper clippings telling of the New London school disaster of 1937 which claimed the lives of more than 450 youngsters has been received as the first item in Texas A & M University's expanded archives collection.

Receipt of the gift from J. W. Grosdidier, Box 227, New London, was announced Friday by University Archivist Ernest Langford.

"All of our children have attended London school and we would like this book to be entered in their behalf," Grosdidier wrote. Among the five children are Leon E. Grosdidier, who received a Master of Science degree from Texas A & M in 1960. The others are Juanita, Glen L., Neva L., and Sarah E. Grosdidier.

Texas A & M Archives contain an estimated 10,000 items relating broadly to university history, but under the new program gifts are sought that will help future scholars better understand many facets of the state's history and development.

"The collection is being developed into a general archives division of Cushing Memorial Library for the purpose of permanently preserving for reference and research manuscripts, documents, pictures, newspapers, maps and records of all sorts," Library Director Robert

A. Houze said.

Gifts or deposits of original records of people, families, business firms and organizations are welcomed.

"Materials deposited will be listed under family name and carefully and properly protected," Langford said.

"The materials will be made available for public use under safeguards. For purposes of income tax deductions, a monetary value may be placed on gifts."

The University also collects, preserves and makes available for study both books and periodicals dealing with business, economic, literary, political and social development.

IT'S THE LAW

HISTORY OF WILLS

Courts see that your intention of "will" as to property is carried out after you die. Before then you may revoke or change it any time.

The passing of property to heirs is one of man's oldest transactions. As far back as the Egyptian, Assyrian and Jewish civilizations, we have wills written and witnessed on papyrus, clay tablets, etc. In one will an early testator left some of his property to his wife and named a guardian for his children.

The Hammurabi code (2100 B.C.) permitted a father by deed to favor his son.

Under early Roman law the head of a house could tell the patrician assembly his wishes, but later Roman law favored a written will to keep the testator's plans secret until death. It also favored having a firm record of his wishes, not resting on memory.

By 2100 A.D., England, where we got our law of wills, was quite well advanced: The church courts (like our probate courts) supervised disposition of property according to a "testament" of how the testator wanted his property to go.

Church courts supervised personal property (movables like armor or personal effects); land was passed on by wills which the king's court handled. Hence today we speak of "last will and testament" since English courts came to pass on both real and personal property, so that one court could handle the whole estate.

English church courts had "executors" who carried out one's testament. To die "intestate" (without a testament) was almost like dying unconfessed. Sometimes the church in the interests of a man's soul could give some of the man's goods to others besides his family. Then, as now, some property had to be left to the surviving wife and children.

By the time of the American Colonies, the laws were well settled, and law courts, rather than church courts, administered and distributed estates here.

Need More Time?

The housewife of the Young Married Set is involved with so many activities, she needs all the time she can lay her hands on. A Gold Medallion Home is the answer! It provides so many time-saving conveniences, it's just like adding more days to the ordinary 7-day week. For instance, the electric clothes dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly and even the electric dishwasher saves 7 hours a week...why, that's 10 hours already! Not to mention that the electric range is so automatic, it's like having a hired cook to do all the watching. And the electric water heater provides hot water instantly upon demand. Heating and cooling systems are automatic too... the thermostat is set at the start of the season and forgotten until the season changes.

This is just a smattering of the many ways the total electric Gold Medallion Home saves time for the Young Married Set. Oh yes, with a flameless total electric Gold Medallion Home, there's one less bill to pay each month.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

By Vern Sanford

If there is any one body of water in Texas that might have what you would refer to as "everything," it is Lake o' the Pines.

Here on Cypress Creek in East Texas, only a short distance from the Louisiana line is a marvelous lake for all types of recreation. It is one of the newest lakes in Texas, finished only three or four years ago by the Corps of Engineers. It is located 9 miles west of Jefferson, and only 65 miles northwest of Shreveport, La.

Lake o' the Pines is created by what is known as the Ferrill's Bridge Dam, which is 70 feet high and 10,600 feet long. The water supply pool covers an area of 18,700 surface acres, which makes it a fair-size lake in Texas.

There is no more picturesque spot to be found anywhere in the state.

The name Lake o' the Pines is well adapted to this body of water. Its shores are lined with towering pine trees and surrounded by huge oaks, pecans and other native shrubs.

For the fisherman, there are portions of the lake where the underbrush has not been cleared. In these areas still stand towering trees of every nature. At the root of every one of these trees is some kind of fish.

Although most Texas lakes are fished mainly for largemouth black bass, this particular lake offers outstanding fishing in perhaps the largest bream in Texas with a wide assortment. This is Texas' most popular lake for cane pole fishermen.

Although there are large semi-cruiser boats and fast hulls on the lake, there probably are more of the flat-bottom john boats here than on all other lakes in Texas combined.

This is a great lake for sculling. A fisherman sits in the end of the boat with a short paddle and maneuvers it around among the protruding tree tops.

Most of these fishermen use a cane pole, baited with either minnows or worms. They drop the bait alongside one of the cypress poles or the old dead pine stumps. They jiggle it a few times. If there is a hungry fish around they take it and move on to one of the thousands of other such locations within hollering distance.

Fishermen here generally do not bother with stringers. They use wire baskets hanging over the side of the boats. They can drop their fish into these baskets and get another bait down in a hurry.

This does not mean that casting is out. It is a wonderful spot for bait casters. There are fine big black bass, plenty of crappie and chain pickerel, or jackfish as they are called locally. Most of the crappie in the area are large black ones. This, because there is sufficient acid in the water to make this species abound.

And those big bream, or blue gill! People travel for miles just to pole fish for those fellows.

In most areas the growth is a little too heavy for fly fishing, but in the more open waters and around the edges of the little islands, the fly or bug fisherman has a field day.

There also are monstrous catfish in the lake. Some alligators have been found, but they are recognized as beneficial to the waters.

The Engineers have done an excellent job of providing recreational areas around the lake. Also they have provided enough open water for those who are just interested in water sports.

There is no reason for the man who fishes and the man who skis to get in the way of each other. In the area around the dam there is a great deal of open water where racing is possible.

There also are a number of excellent commercial accommodations for those who do not care to camp out.

lake, extending in a northwest direction from the dam up Cypress Creek to the area of the Lone Star Steel plant.

It can be reached through Pittsburg, Daingerfield, Ore City, Longview, Marshall, Jefferson, Avinger, Lassater and Gilmer. The lake is split up with a score of smaller streams flowing into the main body. Backwater in these streams also provide wonderful fishing spots.

In other words, you can hit the lake most anywhere and find a good place to catch a fine string.

Although the open water of the lake gets rough and is dangerous in bad weather, there are many coves where fishing is possible almost every day of the year.

If you are looking for something different in a lake . . . then a weekend at Lake o' the Pines is it.

HEALTH LETTER

Students, working in chemistry laboratories for the first time, sometimes object to the strict supervision exercised by their teachers. But, as soon as they have conducted a few experiments, and have seen the startling and sometimes volatile results, of mixing two chemicals, they are usually appreciative of the rules imposed on them in the laboratory. They have been made aware of the dangers and are taught how to prevent mishaps.

Unfortunately, chemicals are being mixed in other areas beside the laboratories and by persons who know nothing of their characteristics or the dangers involved in mixing them. Many times the results are disastrous.

Consider the case of the housewife who, wanting an especially immaculate finish, poured some liquid chlorine bleach into a toilet bowl along with a cleaner, figuring that the two stain removers would do a better job than one.

The result was the chemical generation of poisonous, even sometimes deadly, fumes, when the bleach came in contact with the acidic substances present in the toilet cleaner.

The result would have been much the same had ammonia been mixed with the bleach.

Poison Control Centers throughout Texas report that they receive calls regularly from people who suffer from respiratory irritations after inhaling such fumes. Newspaper and other news media report numerous cases of injury and death from gases of this kind.

Manufacturers sense the dangers of using these products more than do the users. A majority of the name brand toilet cleaners and ammonia found on the market today carry some warning against mixing with chlorine bleach. Similarly, the liquid chlorine bleaches bear warning against mixing with toilet cleaners.

These warnings are not always conspicuously placed. Some are buried among the directions for use, while others are in unusually fine print that is seldom noticed. In almost every case any advise on what to do in case of gas poisoning is omitted.

The secret of safety in this case is to read the label on all cleaners, bleaches, solvent and other household chemicals thoroughly before using.

Quality Beef Supplies Available

The fed cattle market continues to be a depressed one, with large supplies of high quality beef available in retail stores.

Food shoppers can find many beef cuts at reasonable prices. Now is a good time to enjoy steaks and replenish freezer or locker space with beef, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Extra care is needed to maintain quality and flavor of meat. As soon as the shopper arrives home with the meat, she should remove the store wrapper from fresh meat and wrap it loosely in wax paper. Keep fresh meat in the coldest part of the refrigerator and use within a few days. Freshly ground beef should be used within a day or two, advises the specialist.

Freezer storage provides a means for keeping meat for longer periods of time. Meat to be frozen should be packaged in moisture-vapor proof material. Freeze not more than three to four pounds of warm food per cubic foot of freezer space in a 24-hour period, the specialist says. To maintain frozen meat quality, make certain the temperature is held at 0 degrees Fahrenheit or below.

There are reasonable price tags on steak cuts, rib, rump and chuck roasts, as well as ground beef and stew meat.

JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor. . . I am happy to have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

ON THE OTHER HAND—

Jim Langdon's Opponent Is a 10-Time Loser!

Jesse Owens, 69-year-old attorney, is still running for office after 38 years and TEN DEFEATS. He has lost the following races:

- 1926—Defeated for Sheriff of Foard County by L. D. Campbell.
- 1930—Defeated for District Attorney by John Meyers.
- 1932—Defeated for District Attorney by Ed Gossett.
- 1940—Defeated for District Attorney by T. Gene Rogers.
- 1946—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by Tom L. Beauchamp.
- 1952—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by K. K. Woodley.
- 1956—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by W. A. Morrison.
- 1958—Defeated for District Judge by Tom Davis.
- 1960—Defeated for Court of Civil Appeals by James Denton.
- 1962—Defeated for Texas Supreme Court by Meade F. Griffin.
