

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The Winters High School Band has done it again! For the ninth consecutive time, the band has walked away from the Regional UIL contests with a perfect score for first division honors in marching, concert playing and sight reading.

There were 56 bands in all classifications in last week's UIL contests, and the Winters band was one of two bands to win a Sweepstakes award without dissent from the judges. The other band with such a record was from Snyder, a class AAA school.

Unique is the fact that these bands were not competing one against the other. If such were the case, a mediocre band could presumably come away a winner, over bands of lesser talent. In these contests, though, it was possible for more than one band to receive a sweepstakes award... because the band as a unit was competing against a rigid standard, set high enough to present a realistic goal. If this same method of competition were used in football, for instance, a team would have to make so many touchdowns and advance so many yards rushing or passing before it could qualify for championship honors.

Another thing which demands consideration: If it were the same group of band students each year competing in these contests it would not be so unusual for them, as a unit, to reach a point of excellence where they could almost automatically win the highest honors. This is not the case, however. True, there are some students who remain members of the band for as long as four years... but they are simply a "cadre" around which the band as a whole is built each year. Each season new band members are added, and the quality of training they receive and the devotion to the band cause they give means much in the final analysis. Too, normal attrition through graduation and other causes tends to weaken the remaining unit. These two things present problems each year, but method of instruction and will to succeed and surpass each year keeps the spirit and excellence of the band at a high point.

The community can well be proud of the Winters High School Band and the instructor, Robert Gans.

In this day of expanding and power-hungry bureaucracies, it is gratifying to learn that there is one government bureau head who is not seeking to build an empire for himself or his department. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is reported to have told a Congressional committee that he thinks "we (the FBI) are entirely too big today, bigger than we should be. I would like to see the FBI remain small."

This year's new paving program is underway again, after several ups and downs in trying to get final approval on paving Heights Street in the northeast section of town near the school.

For a while it looked as if it would be impossible to get that street paved this year, because some property owners would not approve of the idea. But others saw the importance of having that street, which is immediately west of the Winters school plants, paved because of the dust problem and the heavy traffic. So they pitched in and made donations sufficient to put the project over. In fact, some people who do not even own property on the street made donations to the project.

This is an example of "self help." These people saw the need to have the street paved... they understood that if the city is to continue to grow and prosper there must be adequate streets. In some instances there may have been great financial hurdles to jump... but a "do-it-yourself" attitude prevailed, and the project is off the ground. These people (and the same holds true in projects of previous recent years) could have sat on their hands and waited for the government to take care of the whole problem (in this case, the City of Winters). But they didn't... it belongs to them. This is the basic idea behind our whole system.

Heights St. Paving Job

Work was started Tuesday on paving of Heights Street, west of the Winters schools. The new paving will include 2200 feet, from East Pierce Street north to the Novice Road. Construction will be 30 feet wide.

Money for the paving project was raised by property owners with the Winters Independent School district paying for their share of the work. Most of the property owners along the street have deposited money for the project, with extra donations made to cover those sections which some property owners could not or would not pay for, it was reported. Several donations were received from persons who have no property on the street, according to J. C. Eager, who has been working on the project. He stated that in many instances people were eager to donate to the project because paving of this street would eliminate a dust problem in the vicinity of the schools.

The City of Winters will pay for paving all intersections. Cost of paving a 30-foot street will be $1.67 per foot, with property owners on each side paying one-half that amount. The school district is responsible for much of the east side of the street on the north end to be paved, it was explained.

Tour Planned for Inspection of VCWD Water Retarding Structure May 5

A tour to inspect one of the four floodwater retarding structures now under construction has been planned jointly by the Runnels County Soil Conservation District and the directors of the Valley Creek Water Control District.

The tour has been planned for May 5.

G. Giesecke Jr., chairman of the RSCD, said that the site to be visited on the tour is on the Ralph Burns farm, one and one-half miles east of Wilmett. This is one of four structures now under construction; twenty are planned for the Valley Creek Watershed area.

The tour will also include a stop "to see how farmers are applying conservation practices to their lands in the watershed," Giesecke said.

He said the tour will be conducted May 5, beginning at 2:15 on the Burns farm. Everyone is invited to make the tour, which will be completed by 4 p. m. The group making the tour will meet at Bill Minzenmayer's farm, three miles west of Winters, and arrive at site No. 18 on the Burns farm at 2:15 for the first of two stops on the tour.

Hugo Vogelsang, chairman of the Valley Creek Water Control District, urged everyone who wants to learn more about the project to make the tour. He said this will be the first conducted tour in the watershed since construction began on the floodwater retarding structures the first of the year. He said the tour will be conducted by the supervisors of the RSCD, directors of VCWD, Soil Conservation Service personnel and County Agent C. T. Parker.

State Capital Highlights—
Redistricting Of Congressional Districts To Be Made In 1965

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Texans will have ample opportunity to give their views on how the state should be divided into 23 congressional districts of equal population.

A seven-member study group of Texas Legislative Council (research arm of the Legislature) plans to begin extensive hearings over the state soon after the May 2 primaries.

Congressmen and party officers already have been invited to make suggestions as to how districts should be drawn with approximately 416,000 population each.

U. S. Supreme Court has supported a Houston federal court ruling that the districts must be formed to provide "equal representation for equal numbers of people" as nearly as possible. The Houston court on April 1 agreed that the Legislature should have a chance to do the job in regular session of 1965.

Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, senior member of the Legislature in point of service, heads the study committee which will conduct the hearings. Other members are Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo, and Reps. Paul Floyd of Houston, Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge, Richard C. Slack of Pecos, and G. F. Mutscher of Brenham.

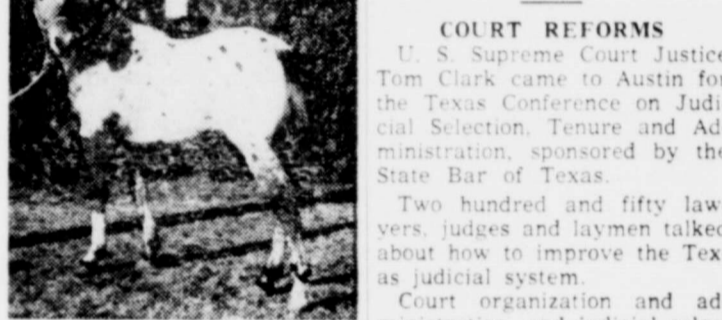

Gov. John Connally praised Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr for his representation of the state during the redistricting case. He said work of Carr and his assistants made it possible for the state to "hold our 1964 congressional elections without the requirement of a special session or at-large (statewide congressional) races."

COURT REFORMS
U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark came to Austin for the Texas Conference on Judicial Selection, Tenure and Administration, sponsored by the State Bar of Texas.

Two hundred and fifty lawyers, judges and laymen talked about how to improve the Texas judicial system.

Court organization and administration, and judicial selection, tenure, retirement, discipline and removal were discussed. Lawyers and judges from a dozen other states where court reforms have been enacted participated.

AGING
Governor Connally revealed that 1,400 of the 3,500 senile patients in state mental hospitals have been moved to private nursing homes in the last year.

He told his Committee on Aging that this is one method being used to better the lot of older, ill persons. Many have been sent to mental hospitals because there was no place else for them to go. But under the new Federal-state program of paying nursing home costs of the ailing aged, those not really mentally ill can be taken out of the state hospitals.

He urged the committee, headed by Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, to find further ways of bettering the lot of older Texans.

HIGHER EDUCATION
Texas Commission on Higher Education allocated $3,980,000 in appropriations to meet student enrollment increases in the 20 state-supported senior colleges for the coming school year.

At the same time, the Commission took a step toward higher standards in the state colleges when it moved to abolish state financial support for "questionable" or "frill" college courses, including:

1. Courses not counted toward graduation requirements;
2. Tour or travel courses;
3. Certain "work experience" courses;
4. Dramatic and forensic activities not in regularly organized classes;
5. Courses devoted exclusively to learning operation of one or two simple business machines;
6. Social or self-improvement courses;
7. Remedial courses on the high school level not carrying college credit;
8. Orientation courses aimed at counseling or guidance of freshmen students.

Commission approved recommendations to strengthen graduate and research programs in the North Texas area and authorized new third and fourth-year courses for Angelo State College, San Angelo.

APPOINTMENTS
John P. Thompson and R. L. Thornton Jr., both of Dallas, were named by Governor Connally to Texas Turnpike Authority.

Thornton succeeds his late father for a term expiring February 15, 1967. Thompson succeeds the late Bert Fields for a term expiring February 15, 1969.

Charles H. King Jr., also of Dallas, was sworn in on April 15 as Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

WATER
Oil operators in the New and Old Batson and Sour Lake Fields of Hardin County were given a warning by Texas Railroad Commission to dispose of their salt water "in satisfactory manner". However, the commission decided not to issue an order banning the use of open disposal pits.

Lower Neches Valley Authority asked for the hearings on the ground that oilfield salt water was polluting streams from which Beaumont and its industries get water.

COURTS SPEAK
Fifty-third District Judge Herman Jones granted the first injunction sought by the state to enforce the new small loan act.

Action was against E. L. Parker, operator of an Austin liquor store, whom Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell alleged was lending money at rates in excess of 10 per cent without obtaining the required state license.

State Supreme Court knocked out a state law granting a landowner, whose property is surrounded by another's, right of way across the neighbor's land, its decision, overturning lower courts, denied Baylor County rancher Wilmer Cleghorn authority to a road through the W. T. Waggoner Ranch.

An El Paso army sergeant convinced the Supreme Court it should hear arguments on April 22 in his suit for Texas voting rights. Many servicemen have complained about state regulations which permit them to vote only in the county where they resided on entering service.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected the third appeal

VETERANS LAND SALE SET
Twenty-two forfeited veterans land tracts in seven counties will be offered for sale on May 12. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has announced.

Bids on the tracts in Guadalupe, Hidalgo, Maverick, Uvalde, Wilson, Zavala and Culberson Counties must be received at Sadler's office by 10 a. m. on date of sale.

OIL ALLOWABLE SET
Texas Railroad Commission set May oil production allowable at 2,800,000 barrels daily for prorated wells, based on production at 28.5 per cent of potential. That's a decrease from the 29 per cent formula of the last three months and 2,900,000 barrels daily for April.

Figure still is the highest for May in the last five years.

OPINIONS
The attorney general held in opinions: That the new Ector County detention facilities for juveniles and adult women do not properly separate the boys from the girls and juveniles from grown-ups.

That county court misdemeanor defendants do not have an absolute right to see the prospective juror list before trial.

And that prison inmates are eligible for parole consideration after serving two years (one-fourth) of a two-to-eight year sentence.

SHORT SNORTS
General revenue fund deficit as of April 13 has risen to $38,800,000. State Treasurer Jesse James calculated, with balance in all state funds at $178,100,000. . . . Attorney General Carr testified in opposition to federal control of radiation source users in Texas and five other states. Governor Connally announced 105 separate schools and 3,400 trainees authorized in the state-federal Manpower Development and Training program already have graduated 1,000 trained workers from the re-training program. . . . State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners accredited four new schools: Municipal Hospital at Winters; Wintermute Memorial Hospital, Klondike; Terrell School of Vocational Nursing, Terrell; and Ennis. . . . A total of $725,445 in judgments has been entered against operators of alleged slant oil wells in East Texas, according to Attorney General Carr. . . . Texas Highway Department announced that 1965 license plates will have three letters and three digits (Example: AAA-123) for about eight million possible combinations. Discovery of a case of scabies in a feed lot at Hart (Castro County) led to a new requirement that the 500,000 cattle shipped to California annually must be certified as free of the disease, according to notification received by Texas Animal Health Commission.

Six Flags Over Texas Began Fourth Season Of Operation Last Saturday

Beginning the fourth season of Six Flags Over Texas Saturday the "theme park" located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, rivals any in the country in success, including the West Coast's giant Disneyland.

Groundbreaking ceremonies began in September 1960, and over 400 construction workers with special talents turned a sloping tree-studded area into 105-acres of outstanding beauty. Utilizing the existing vegetation and more than 1,000 trees on the site, architects and engineers laid out SIX FLAGS Over Texas so that the beauty of the site would be preserved in as much of its natural state as possible.

Before a spade of earth was turned, however, a year of study, planning and research was concluded. Great Southwest Corporation, owner, operator and developers of SIX FLAGS, using its own construction division, completed the tremendous task in slightly over 11 months.

SIX FLAGS, built at a cost of $10,000,000 opened to the public August 5, 1961.

There were many interesting and unique methods of design and planning that went into the construction of SIX FLAGS Over Texas.

First, Great Southwest Corporation purchased an operational, well equipped woodmill from New York and had it shipped en masse down to a site in Great Southwest Industrial District, wherein the Park is located.

The woodmill, using an ingenious method of fabrication, played a major role in the building of SIX FLAGS.

A team of artists and architects drew sketches of the shops and buildings to be developed for the various sections of the historical theme Park. These sketches were then re-drawn on huge pieces of cardboard that were the exact sizes of the facades of the buildings to be constructed. Carpenters at the woodmill cut the lumber to conform to the life-size drawings on the cardboard. When completed in prefabricated sections, these buildings were transported to their own designated sections in the Park, resulting in the creation of entire towns and cities.

To these towns and cities, a monumental landscaping program, costing in excess of $250,000, was added. An outdoor lighting system was installed at a similar cost which turned SIX FLAGS into a wonderland of multi-colored hues at night.

Inside SIX FLAGS exists an underground city. Threading through this underground city is a network of wires and conduit sound systems, fire alarm sprinkling systems and an 8 inch water main. To the visitor casually walking around the lush grounds, nothing of this network is apparent, but beneath his feet the lifeblood of modern engineering courses powerfully.

In the years following the opening of SIX FLAGS, millions of dollars worth of new buildings, rides, and attractions have been added. For SIX FLAGS will never really be completed. It will continue to grow, an ever changing, living dedication to Texas and the Southwest.

Mexico gained her independence from Spain in 1821.

Roger Babson Says— "Perfectionist" Is Often Just Another Term For "Worrier"

Babson Park, Mass. Most of my readers think there are so few "perfectionists" that it is a waste of good paper for me to write about them. But "perfectionist" is too often simply a professional word for "worrier", of whom there are a large number who read my weekly column.

Worry, The Real Crippler
One of my dearest friends died suddenly a few days ago of a coronary heart attack. He always wanted everything perfect; and consequently I could leave any work for him to do and I could forget it.

Since this friend's death, I have been thinking about perfectionism per se, and about worry as a "natural" corollary to perfectionism. Inasmuch as these two qualities so often coincide in the same person, my plea to my readers this week is to be content to do the best you can, but not to worry. Worry is the great depletor of strength and energy. This distinction must be made by all successful businessmen and women, by fathers and mothers.

Newton's Law Of Action And Reaction
My present feeling is that a successful life must be a balanced one. We must remember that Sir Isaac Newton's Law of Action and Reaction applies to all our doings. This law seems to determine our health and our judgment, and hence our financial success. It is the reason it takes two people to make a successful married life.

Conversely, it is also the reason that I must not close this column without telling readers that the ablest physicians, scientists, bankers, and businessmen I have known did not worry. When thinking of this today, I cannot call to mind one who was a worrier. These men included Edison, Ford, Otis, Gillette, Pillsbury, Eastman, Lincoln of Lincoln Electric Co., and even J. P. Morgan. None of these men were worriers; they were content always to do the best they could, believing that all would turn out well in the end. I personally knew them all; they were all optimists at heart. They were not necessarily "perfectionists" — if so, we might never have heard of them! They were all "good guessers"; in fact, they excelled at guessing—and had the courage to stick to their guesses! All of the above convince me that certainly, if worry is not a sin, it is at the very least contrary to the teachings of all history.

None of these men were worriers; they were content always to do the best they could, believing that all would turn out well in the end. I personally knew them all; they were all optimists at heart. They were not necessarily "perfectionists" — if so, we might never have heard of them! They were all "good guessers"; in fact, they excelled at guessing—and had the courage to stick to their guesses! All of the above convince me that certainly, if worry is not a sin, it is at the very least contrary to the teachings of all history.

I must not close this column without telling readers that the ablest physicians, scientists, bankers, and businessmen I have known did not worry. When thinking of this today, I cannot call to mind one who was a worrier. These men included Edison, Ford, Otis, Gillette, Pillsbury, Eastman, Lincoln of Lincoln Electric Co., and even J. P. Morgan. Beef Stands At Top Of May Plentiful Foods List

"Flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la" are being joined by an abundance of beef for tasty menu attractions.

Beef heads the list of May plentiful foods, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The five-item list also points to huge supplies of turkeys, canned ripe olives, salad oils, milk and all dairy foods.

All cuts and grades of beef will be plentiful all month, as the cattle inventory on farms stands at the peak of a six-year buildup. Beef output the first two months of this year was 9 percent higher than a year earlier.

So watch for special values in beef as retailers provide attractive displays and prices. May will be an excellent time to serve beef often and generously. The Service suggests starting the outdoor barbecue season with beef.

Spring salads will be enhanced by generous use of salad oils, dressings and canned ripe olives. Supplies are huge.

Count on turkeys, too, to provide the light touch to spring days. Marketings in May will run about one-fourth greater than a year ago. March storage holdings were up 2 million pounds.

It has been he who made original contacts, and acted as coordinator between the property owners, the City of Winters and the paving contractors. Last year J. C. This year, although he has no property on some of the other streets, he has pitched in and worked to get more streets paved. He has done a lot of yeoman work... work which others did not have the time to do... and is seeing some of his labor bring fruit.

Millard Shivers For Commissioner Of Agriculture

Millard Shivers of Waco, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture for Texas in the May 2 Democratic primary, typifies the success story of the selfmade man.

As a lad on a cotton, corn and livestock farm, Shivers planted, cultivated and harvested with his own hands. After graduation from high school, he set out to make his way in the world with $1.50 in the pockets of his new overalls and little else other than lessons of thrift, hard work, and faith learned from his parents.

He acquired a formal college education, with a double major in agricultural education and dairying, earning every cent of the cost himself. After college, he taught vocational agriculture and later bought half interest in a flour and feed mill which he managed.

During his eight years as organization director of the Texas Farm Bureau, the organization gained members each year for a total of more than 24,000 members. He traveled extensively over Texas, and was much in demand as a speaker at farm and business meetings.

Shivers and his wife, Marian, and their two children, Diane 14, and David 11, live in Waco. Basing his platform on his background in agriculture and business, Shivers lists the following major planks in his bid for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture for Texas: (1) Individual freedom in agriculture and business, (2) Enforcement without intimidation, (3) Expanding agriculture's markets, (4) Economy in government, (5) Better farm-city relations, (6) Emphasize agriculture's importance to Texas economy.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

WTU is proud to be a part of your community

PAYROLLS
... sparkplug for economic growth

Payrolls pay off when new manufacturing industry begins operation in a town. Memphis, population 3500, is a good example. Pictured above is the Hall Plant, a unit of Burlington Industries, famous textile manufacturers. It brought a payroll to this Texas Panhandle town for more than 100 employees, mostly women, and has become an important addition to the local economy.

National studies show that payrolls, which come from 100 basic new jobs in a community, add 100 more homes such as the total electric Gold Medallion home pictured left . . . increase retail sales by $331,000 annually . . . create three new retail establishments . . . bring 359 new people including 91 school children . . . and add 97 more car registrations.

This is another PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

American industry is on the move . . . expanding, relocating, and establishing new product facilities all over the Nation. Here is another opportunity for communities to seek new manufacturing payrolls. WTU suggests that every community give serious consideration to this opportunity, since payrolls are, as we have seen, a sparkplug for economic development and growth.

School Integration Not Working Well Even In the Nation's Capital

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
Race Problems keep popping up in Washington news. It gets a little boring but since March of 1963 a substantial share of the time of the Congress has been devoted to this emotional and political issue.

Last year it was estimated that Bobby Kennedy spent more than 50 per cent of his official time dealing with racial issues. In fact, Bobby was credited with triggering the first Freedom March, featuring bus loads of a mixture of Negroes and whites who invaded the south to test local segregation customs. Freedom marches led to the Birmingham demonstrations and mob actions, the shooting of a Negro NAACP leader in Jackson, a march on Washington, and an assortment of sit-downs, sit-ins, boycotts, blockades, interspersed with a variety of intimidations and threats.

Over in Brooklyn the CORE chapter is threatening a "stall-in" of cars to tie up traffic at the New York World's Fair on April 22. The plan is to have 2,000 CORE-driven cars run out of gas simultaneously in the main traffic lanes that day, as a protest against racial discrimination. But it may be stopped.

A touch of comedy has entered the picture. Some of the politicians who encouraged the mass demonstrations are now being forced to urge the Negroes to forego this latest threat. Even Bobby Kennedy has quietly suggested that the Negroes slow down.

Here in Washington, which the late President Kennedy said should be the Nation's showcase for integration, the age-old principle of "birds of a feather flock together," has been asserting itself. In 1955 (just after the Supreme Court decision barring segregation in public schools) in the District of Columbia public schools for the first time integrated. In Eastern High School, for example, in 1955 there were 510 white students, and 688 Negroes; eight years later, in 1963, in that same school, there were 51 whites and 2,381 Negroes!

At McKinley High School, in the District, in 1955 there were 521 whites and 659 Negroes; eight years later, in 1963, there were 15 whites and 1,774 Negro students!

At Roosevelt High School, also in the District, in 1955 there were 634 whites and 518 Negroes; last year, eight years later, there were 19 whites and 1,319 Negroes!

The same ratio runs through all the District schools. The whites have simply chosen to move into suburban areas or send the kids to private schools. It happened that in the District of Columbia, unlike most places the people did have those alternatives available.

Lone Star Gas Mailing Refunds To Customers

Lone Star Gas Company is mailing refund checks to its Texas industrial gas customers, following confirmation by the Texas Supreme Court of a claim that the State's dedicated reserve gas tax was unconstitutional, according to L. T. Potter, president.

The court decision followed legal action by Lone Star and virtually all other interested gas utilities to legally sustain their position. This was the third time in nine years that a special tax on natural gas, paid under protest, has been proved unconstitutional, Mr. Potter added.

Lone Star has collected the dedicated reserve gas tax from its industrial customers over the past two and one-half years, and has transmitted the amounts collected to the State in payment of this tax. Refunds totaling $320,000 represent the amounts which Lone Star has collected from these customers over this period of time, Mr. Potter said.

The 55 students and teachers attending were greeted at the door by Karen Knapp, Mike Mitchell and Fred Dooley.

"Nine Hours To Rama,"

The belief that Indian spiritual leader Mahatma Gandhi would prove to be a most inspiring screen subject prompted Producer - Director Mark Robson to film Stanley Wolpert's novel, "Nine Hours To Rama," which will show Friday and Saturday at the State Theater with a cast that includes Horst Buchholz, Jose Ferrer, Valerie Gearon, Diane Baker, Robert Morley, Harry Andrews, Don Borisenko and J. S. Casshyap as Gandhi. 20th Century-Fox is releasing this CinemaScope - DeLuxe Color drama, filmed on location where every event occurred as described in the novel.

The story of "Nine Hours To Rama," as adapted to the screen by Nelson Gidding ("Lisa"), tells of the last nine hours in the life of Mahatma Gandhi and involves those people most immediately concerned with his assassination.

"Strait-Jacket,"

"Strait-Jacket," the Columbia Pictures release showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre, is a taut suspense shocker which brings together for the first time the talents of Oscar-winner Joan Crawford, one of Hollywood's most glamorous screen queens, and producer-director William Castle, dubbed by a national magazine, "The Master of Movie Horror." Miss Crawford plays an axe killer and the film vividly depicts axe murders.

"Strait-Jacket" is the compelling story of a convicted murderer who, after 20 years in a mental institution, is released to live with her brother, his wife and her own daughter in a world grown strange.

Service Changes In Parcel Post Delivery Begins Here May 4

Limited adjustments in some postal services ordered in Washington March 10 by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski to save $12.7 million, will begin to take effect in Winters and other cities May 4, Postmaster Pace said today.

Service changes planned locally include the following, Mr. Pace said:

1. Parcel Post Deliveries
Parcel post delivery service will be provided on a five-day week basis for those who receive their parcels by truck. There will be no delivery of parcel post by truck in the city on Tuesdays. Packages arriving on Tuesday will not be delivered until Wednesday unless you have them sent special delivery. Since this is an economy measure we cannot deliver these packages at the window, which requires more time. This only affects those who have truck delivery. Those who receive their mail through boxes will receive their packages as usual.

Provisions have been made for patrons to call for parcels on which carriers have "left notice" of attempted delivery.

2. Window Services
Domestic and International money orders will not be issued on Saturdays.

The Postmaster emphasized that no essential major services are affected under the orders. There will be no change in home delivery or special delivery, for example. Regular business mail deliveries will continue as usual. Letters and other first-class mail will be handled with the same priority as ever.

The economy step, Mr. Pace explained, is in line with President Johnson's programs under which the recent Federal income tax cut was provided.

IN MAYO HOME

Visitors in the Bill Mayo home on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Benny Mayo and Penny from Seminole, Texas.
