

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Probably all of us could take some lessons in community service from a group of high school girls working at the Winters Municipal Hospital.

They are members of the Junior Volunteers . . . called the Candy Stripers, a name derived from the striped uniforms they wear while on duty.

Together, these 30 girls, within the past several months, have contributed approximately 3500 hours of time to help the patients in Winters' Hospital. That's a lot of time, in any manner of figuring, and probably could not be matched in community service by any other single group—or group of groups, for that matter.

These girls work on the wards and on the floor of the hospital. They do manual tasks to take some of the work load off the regular staff of nurses and attendants. They do many little things for individual patients. Their work is performed, during the time of school, after class hours, and during summer vacation time, almost around the clock.

They maintain their own rosters, and it is unheard of for one of them to fail to show up at the designated time. It's been said that most of them would rather miss a movie date than fail to show up for duty.

They do all this without thought of compensation. They even have to pay for their own uniforms. But perhaps the best compensation they could receive is the training they get . . . and the great respect of the community. There are some of them, it is true, who plan to go into the nursing profession after their graduation from high school. . . and the training they receive will be beyond value. But for the most of them, the training is only another facet of the education they will need when they go on into their chosen fields, as housewives or careerwomen.

It would be a natural, if there were a Senior Hospital Volunteer group here. But such is not the case. . . in fact, there are only two Junior groups in the state without an adult counterpart recognized by the State organization—and one of them is at Winters.

These girls will receive special recognition at a capping ceremony Friday night. The public can show their thanks to this group of girls who work so hard to help out, by attending the capping ceremony.

Just read where a British general has criticized the way in which the invasion of Europe was conducted during World War II. Our dilapidated friend who makes out on the sands of Bluff Creek says he's experienced the same kind of criticism. Says he once financed and built a fence to keep his neighbor's cows from foundering themselves on his cane patch, only to have the neighbor complain that the wires of the fence were not on his (the neighbor's) side of the post.

From an exchange: Personal journalism being what it was during the frontier days of this nation, many unusual things happened on the front pages of western papers. One, printed below, recently came to light:

The publisher of the Lewistown (Wash.) Daily News, in going through the files of the frontier - days Lewistown Argus found this head line on a story about the opening of a trial: "Dirty Horse Thief Caught Red Handed With the Goods. "Will Probably Be Strung Up and Good Riddance." "Stole Horse from Defenseless Widow." A jury acquitted the man the next day and the headline read: "Highly Respected Citizen Wrongly Accused of Theft. "Widow Was Out to Get Him on False Charges." —Grant County Herald.

OLD MONARCHS — These Winters Lions Club members are only four of many who received recognition for many years of service to the club at the banquet celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the local organization Tuesday night of last week. More than 110 years of service are represented in these four men. They received certificates and chevron pins. Left to right, John W. Norman, 35 years; W. G. Bedford, C. R. Kendrick and E. E. Crowds Brave Heat To Hear Old Fiddlers

High temperatures did nothing to quiet the enthusiasm of the public toward the Old Fiddlers Contests and square dancing here Friday and Saturday. Square dancing was held in the indoor parking lot of Economy Food Store Friday night and the fiddlers contests were held on the vacant lot next to Huffman's grocery Saturday.

Although a few fortunates found shade under the tent spread by Spill Funeral Home Saturday, others stayed in the sun to hear the many fiddlers from all over the state compete for $300 in cash money in two divisions. Contests were held for fiddlers over 60 and for those under 60.

Bonny Tomison of Arlington took grand champion honors in the old fiddlers' contest.

Winters were: Over 60: Jack Mears of Lubbock, Eck Robinson of Amarillo, Straley Alsop of Gustine, R. T. Luce of Brownwood and J. R. Solomon of De Leon. Under 60: Luce, Dorman Solomon of Boyd, Barto Riley of Olden, Densil Border of Slaton and R. E. Beck of Fort Chadbourne.

Lewis Mitchell was in charge of the fiddling event. The older group judged the younger and vice versa.

W. D. Waggoner was in charge of arrangements for the square dancing. Large crowds of spectators and dancers were present for the two nights of square dancing. A feature of the evening Friday was an exhibition by the Headless Men From Mars, a group from San Angelo.

A pony express contest which had been scheduled for the two-day Jamboree event was not held because of lack of entries.

It's YOUR City Hall

(This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the operation of the government of the City of Winters. Other articles will follow, written on a non-partisan angle.)

Most of you have heard quoted many times the old cliché "you can't fight City Hall." Have you ever stopped to think just what this means?

In truth it means you can't fight yourself. You are City Hall. The people that you elect and the people that they employ make up City Hall. The elected officials and the employees are local citizens just like yourselves. They attend the same schools and churches as you; they enjoy the same type of entertainment as you; they love their families and friends the same as you; they feel joy and pain the same as you; they can be hurt by unwarranted tirades and criticism the same as you; as a matter of fact you aren't you one of City Hall? It's your responsibility the same as it is the responsibility of the ones now serving. Ask yourself why you haven't tried to help, or if you have don't you feel a little better for it?

To promote a more cooperative spirit in our town as well as to share our mutual problems a few of us thought it might be well to print a series of articles on City Hall where some facts could be set out that might not be common knowledge, thereby making the problems a little smaller and the solutions a little easier. It was also thought that a question and answer section might be provided whereby questions might be asked and answers attempted to clarify some of our problems. If you like this idea, let the editor of your paper know. Send your questions to the editor.

As a starter a very current and very knotty problem was considered as a good subject for this first column and that is the problem of our cemeteries.

Recently there has been a good deal of sidewalk talk regarding the condition of Winters' cemeteries. Before you repeat too much of what you hear consider these items. Who gave you the information? Do they or you own a lot in our cemeteries, and have you looked at your own or your informant's lot recently? Keep these items in mind as you go on.

As background we will state briefly that until about 1954 the cemeteries were maintained by a Cemetery Association. This association had no real legal entity but was made up of interested citizens and friends who both contributed funds and worked to the maintenance of our cemeteries. About 1954 it became evident that the association could no longer effectively maintain cemeteries because of lack of funds and interest so the association ceased to function.

The Texas Statutes provide that General Law Cities such as Winters can own and maintain cemeteries. With the expiration of the Cemetery Association of the City Council at that time saw the need to take action and the City assumed the care of the cemeteries on a limited basis, that is, maintenance of the roads and alleys in the cemeteries. The care of individual lots is as always, the responsibility of the lot owner.

At about this time considerable confusion arose regarding the responsibility of the cemeteries due to a letter being published regarding a tax increase. This misunderstanding and confusion still exists and it is hoped this article may remove some of the confusion in order that we may remove some of the confusion in order that we may approach our problem with a view toward solving it.

The letter which brought about the confusion dealt with two subjects. Primarily it informed the citizens of a raise in taxes. Part of this raise resulted from a voted bond issue to build the park and swimming pool. The bond issue declared a sinking fund must be provided from taxes to retire the bond. This was quite regular. In addition the mentioned letter also contained information stating that there had been a five per cent increase in the tax value to cover care of the cemeteries. What the letter failed to state was that this was only for the then current year and that the levy had to be made again each succeeding year if it was to be maintained. A tax levy is not a permanent thing, although it sometimes appears to be, but must be renewed each year by the City Council. The cemetery levy has never again been included in the levy.

Winters Boy At "Boys' State" On UT Campus

Larry Rives, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Rives, of Winters, was among 718 high school boys from throughout the state who began registering June 4 for the annual Boys State in Austin. Boys State is sponsored by local American Legion Posts.

Upon arrival at the University of Texas Campus, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties—the Longhorn or Pioneer. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party; he attends its conventions, caucuses and votes in its primary.

In Boys State, The American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Wednesday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day, followed by the Governor's Ball Wednesday evening.

Outstanding speakers scheduled to appear are Department Commander John E. Mickelvey, Electra; Dr. Harry Ransom, Chancellor, The University of Texas; Zollie Steakley, Mrs. Harold J. Cooper, Beaumont; National Vice Commander of The American Legion, Harry Wright, Mexico City; Robert W. Calvert, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Texas; and Dave Shanks, Austin American Statesman.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 10,406 junior high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Work May Begin Soon On FM 53

Highway construction work for the next two years vitally affecting Winters has been approved by the Texas Highway Commission, according to J. A. Snell, district engineer of the Highway Department.

Bids have been received on reconstruction of Farm - to - Market Highway 53, and work is expected to begin on this project within the next few days.

Also, the Highway Commission approved a program for purchase of right - of - way and reconstruction of U. S. Highway 83 from Winters south to Hatchell, Snell said.

Relocation of FM 53 received early approval by the Commission, and M. E. Ruby and Acme Bridge Co., Inc., of San Marcos submitted the low bid for the reconstruction work.

County Commissioner Melvin Mapes said this week that the bid accepted for reconstruction work was $399,300.00. Right-of-way already has been purchased for this project, with the cost amounting to approximately $50,000.00, Mapes said.

School Tax Board Meets June 18

The tax equalization board for the Winters Independent School District will meet Thursday, June 18, at the high school, Johnny B. Smith, school business manager, announced this week.

Board will meet from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m., to discuss tax problems with interested parties in the school district.

Members of the board are Ralph Lloyd, George Poe and Wade White.

49 Enrolled In Summer Driver School

Forty - nine student drivers are enrolled in the summer driver school being conducted by the Winters School, L. G. Wilson, instructor, said.

The school will continue into the summer, or until all students have completed the course.

One week of instruction was given prior to the end of school. Each student must have 30 hours of classroom instruction, six hours of actual driving, and six hours of observation of other drivers, Wilson said.

At the end of the session students may take the regular driver's test to qualify for a driver's license. This test will be administered by members of the Department of Public Safety.

Cost of the course this year is $25 per student, and students must have attained the age of 14 to be eligible. The car being used for the classes is the property of the Winters school.

Commissioner Mapes said construction work is expected to begin "within the next few days" on FM 53. A lot of work connected with relocation of the highway already has been done. Utility poles have been moved to the new right-of-way, and new fences have been built.

The approved program to purchase right-of-way and reconstruct U. S. Highway 83 will involve 6.8 miles of roadway, according to the engineers. Reconstruction work will be done from the intersection of FM 53, in the new location on the south edge of Winters, and extend south to Hatchell to join the already-reconstructed portion of U. S. 83.

Mapes said that the state will pay one - half the cost for the purchase of right - of - way for reconstruction of U. S. 83, with the county paying one - half. This will be the first step in a long - proposed program to improve U. S. 83 from Hatchell north to the Taylor County line, Mapes said. When this work will be commenced he did not know. He said, however, that the reconstruction of U. S. 83 "will be done."

In cooperation with the State highway Department in the reconstruction program of U. S. 83, the City of Winters will change parking regulations on Main Street, which will be a part of 83. Effective July 1, this year, parking on Main Street will be changed from angle parking to parallel parking. Meters will be changed for parallel parking, city officials said. Although work will not be started on 83 north from the FM 53 intersection for some time, the parking change is necessary to allow time for further traffic studies and to accustom motorists to the change, it was pointed out.

In the relocation program for FM 53, County, State and City officials are cooperating in relocation of water and sewer lines which will cross the new location. Sewer line relocation has already been accomplished, it was reported, with plans being made to lay water lines under the FM 53 right - of - way prior to the time construction work begins. Water and sewer line installations are being made according to recommendations of engineers, City officials said.

Marlon Brando, as Fletcher Christian, prevents mutineer Richard Harris from flogging Captain Bligh (Trevor Howard) in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Mutiny on the Bounty." The spectacular picture was filmed in Ultra Panavision and Technicolor in Bora-Bora, Moorea and fabled Tahiti with a cast of thousands.

The scene is Wakapookee Lodge where Rock Hudson gets into more contretemps with beautiful girls than anybody. Here, brunette campfire lady Paula Prentiss has an idea about how to have fun with a toasted marshmallow but Rock is too wise for this lil' old game in "Man's Favorite Sport?"

"Law of the Lawless"
 Combining in its big cast many of the best known names of movies and television with some of Hollywood's brightest newcomers "Law of the Lawless," a western suspense drama, shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn Theatre. Dale Robertson, Yvonne de Carlo and William Bendix head a notable cast which includes such popular veterans as Barton MacLaine, Bruce Cabot, John Agar, Bill Williams, Kent Taylor and Richard Arlen, as well as a pair of talented newcomers, Rod Lauren and Jody McCrea.

"The Son Of Captain Blood"
 "The Son Of Captain Blood," an exciting sea yarn starring Sean Flynn, the son of Errol Flynn, shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn Theatre. This Technicolor adventure film from Paramount features an international cast of stars which includes Ann Todd, Alessandra Panaro and Jose Nieto. Sean Flynn portrays Robert Blood, son of the famed pirate Peter Blood. Robert, just as his father, wants to go to sea. His mother (Ann Todd) opposes this idea; she wants him to become a doctor. After a bit of convincing, Robert finally persuades his mother, and signs on as a ship's navigator.

At this point the excitement really starts. After sailing for a few days, Robert's ship is attacked by a band of pirates. The leader of these pirates is Captain De Malagon (Jose Nieto), a bloodthirsty old cut-throat with a vengeance for Captain Blood. When De Malagon realizes that Robert is the son of Captain Blood, he is delighted and orders Robert to be flogged.

"Mutiny On the Bounty"
 In the long history of the sea and the ships that sail upon it, it is doubtful if many men have committed such a heinous crime as mutiny and lived very long to tell about it. This would seem to be especially true if the mutiny were directed against a ship of the British Navy. However, history does record that one group, led by the legendary Fletcher Christian, did mutiny against Captain William Bligh aboard His Majesty's Ship Bounty and not only were able to escape to a remote South Pacific island but lived there long enough to create a new Anglo - Polynesian race of people.

The hardy descendants of the Bounty Mutineers, 153 of them, still inhabit the lonely rock, known as Pitcairn, to which their ancestors came seeking refuge following the historic mutiny in 1789. The story of the fight for survival on this tiny island, which was uninhabited until the mutineers arrived, is quite as fascinating as the events of the mutiny itself. It recently has been immortalized by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the spectacular motion picture, "Mutiny on the Bounty," starring Marlon Brando, Trevor Howard and Richard Harris, showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-Inn Theatre.

"Man's Favorite Sport?"
 It's as bright as polished brass, as uninhibited as a child at play, as rollicking as a ride on a roller-coaster, as romantic as a June moon and more unadulterated fun than has emerged from Hollywood's connoisseurs of comedy in a barrel of movie seasons.

That's the fabulous new Universal release, Howard Hawks' laughter-jarred production of "Man's Favorite Sport?", starring Rock Hudson and Paula Prentiss, which shows at the State Theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday. While Rock Hudson has already established himself as the king of romantic comedies via such hits as "Pillow Talk" and "Lover Come Back," he far surpasses his previous efforts with his swinging, no-holds-barred antics in "Man's Favorite Sport?" As a world-famous fishing expert who has actually never fished in his life, Hudson gets into more weirdly wild predicaments than one could believe possible.

Bringing in Paula Prentiss as his co-star was a stroke of genius. Together they immediately become the most exciting new screen team to come along in many a movie moon. The bubble-some brunette who had become a star overnight with her debut in "Where the Boys Are" proves beyond doubt her amazing talent as a glamour comedienne in the tradition of Carole Lombard and Jean Arthur.

CARD OF THANKS
 It is with gratitude that we wish to express our appreciation for all kindness and words of sympathy. There are no words to express how much the interest of friends and loved ones mean at a time like this. Especially we wish to thank the neighbors and friends that brought food and served it; for the prayers, beautiful flowers, cards and letters, they meant so much in our hour of need. Roger Babson Says—

Big Revolution Expected In Near Future In Electrical Power Sources

Babson Park, Mass., in the early fifties, in the flush of the "atomic age", and with some evidence of limited reserves of fossil fuels to meet an expanding demand for energy, it was logical to suggest that nuclear power would be called on to fill the deficiency. Bernard McGarva, of Babson's Canadian Reports, disagrees; let me give you his reasoning.

Need of More Power

Engineering analysis had indicated that if, under this rising demand, prices for fossil fuels followed their projected rising pattern, the cost of thermal power would increase to over 6 mills per kw-hr.

Only, then, if costs for nuclear power could be lowered to that level would it become competitive. Further factors militating against nuclear power have been engineering developments that increased the efficiency of the conventional methods of electric generation. By design improvements, plus vastly increasing the size of individual generating units so as to obtain efficiencies of scale, thermal power can still be generated at an appreciably lower cost than nuclear.

Better Location of Plants

This differential should be maintained, or even increased, by the current trend toward construction of super-large generating plants located at the pit head of coal mines or under developed large water falls. Similar benefits are likely to derive from recent developments in the field of extra-high-voltage transmission equipment. This, by reducing power losses, would enable electricity to be transmitted economically over much greater distances.

In contrast to the previous Canadian maximum of around 330,000 volts, power from the Manicouagan development now under way — but not completed — will be transmitted to Montreal at 500,000 volts, over equipment of Canadian design on the Hamilton River Falls in Labrador. (Lines in Russia are said to be currently operating at this voltage.)

The Hamilton River

These techniques would permit the six million horsepower from the Hamilton River to be transmitted to New York City. (Note that Consolidated Edison made engineering analysis of purchasing power from Labrador against that from nuclear installations relatively near N. Y. C.; cost factors favored import of the Canadian power.)

There are a number of possible river developments of large size in the Canadian north that could, via extra-high-voltage, supply power to Chicago, New York, and Richmond. However, nuclear power would appear more practicable for Florida that attempting to bring anything from Labrador or the north on wires. Hence Florida should give careful attention to all nuclear developments, however slowly they may occur.

New Developments

One final word: The time may be coming when wires will not be needed to send these 500,000 or more volts from Labrador to New York, or Chicago, or other points. This may come about through wireless or through the development of lasers or other experimental processes which could make the use of such high-voltage wires wholly or partly unnecessary. Progress here should be carefully watched.

E. H. V. transmission techniques also strengthen the economic advantages of large-size mine-mouth thermal plants over the extensive coal reserves in the depressed Appalachia area.

Word About Uranium

Dealing now specifically with the Canadian scene, let me point out that uranium production in Canada is presently only a fraction of that experienced in 1960-61, as a result of termination of government contracts and producers operating under the government — inspired stretch-out program. It is said that only Rio Algom and Starnock will be operating after July 1st of this year.

Consensus of the experts is, however, that there will be sufficient demand for uranium for peaceful purposes by the mid-1970's to allow mining at a profit. In fact, one French company has been in Canada investigating the possibility of purchasing an interest in a concern with large reserves of uranium, in order to assure itself of sufficient supplies in the years to come.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

It is not unusual for lawyers to enter a courtroom carrying with them such things as moving-picture apparatus, toy automobiles, dolls, chalk and black boards, and a miscellany of other assorted devices to be used in the course of a trial.

In recent years courts and attorneys have come to realize the great importance of the fact that a jury is apt to better understand what it sees rather than what it may hear. Exhibits often speak louder than words.

Of course, any exhibits introduced must be properly identified by testimony as to the time and place taken, and are admissible only if proved to be relevant to the issues involved.

There are many varieties of visual evidence. Of common use and very important are the exhibits used in cases involving questionable documents such as wills, deeds and important papers that are claimed to be forged, or the authenticity of which is in issue.

Specimens of handwriting or of typewritten individual letter-characters are enlarged many times and shown on graphs and in picture form to prove characteristics, similarities, or differences. Many irregularities not visible to the eye are apparent when the word or particular letter is enlarged and shown graphically. Not many people know that typewritten letters and figures are just as individualistic as if written by hand, and may often be readily identified or distinguished by an expert.

Articles of clothing are frequently introduced in evidence, and, of course, injuries to the body are displayed to the jury to show the extent and nature of the damages sustained. Attorneys may also demonstrate actual facts and circumstances which might otherwise be difficult to understand.

The use of visual or demonstrative evidence is particularly important when combined with medical testimony. X-ray exhibits are a practical necessity in proof of certain types of injuries.

The basic premise of law is that if the exhibit will assist the jury in understanding the testimony of the witness and is not calculated to unfairly influence the jury, the court may permit the use of the exhibit.

HEALTH LETTER

One isn't enough, really, when it comes to feet.

You might say it takes two to tango, climb stairs or perform the majority of a person's ordinary tasks. People who have lost their feet, or at least lost use of them, may learn to compensate, but their words to two footed friends would invariably be "take care of your feet while you have them."

Feet are composed of the same types of bones, blood vessels, nerves, muscles, ligaments and skin that compose the rest of the body. Feet, as easily as other organs of the body, may become diseased. As a matter of fact, some diseases, such as gout, manifest themselves first in the feet.

Proper foot care is essential for general health. And it must be begun early.

A baby's foot grows and develops along with the rest of his body. Not until about age ten is the general structure of the foot completed. Certain details of the formation are not perfected until after the twentieth year of life.

Parents who would be horrified at the thought of mashing a child's finger with a hammer, may be contributing — by neglect — to foot disorders.

Common causes of foot defects are short, narrow shoes; improper style of shoes; shoes that are too stiff; runover heels and broken down arches; and short stockings that crowd the toes.

Children's feet grow and change at a rapid pace. Shoes and socks may need to be replaced as often as from four to eight weeks with a larger size.

Both children and adults need to give good daily care to their feet. Keep feet clean. Wash them with mild water and soap and dry the skin carefully. Avoid rubbing them too hard with a coarse towel.

In the case of athlete's foot, ingrown nails or corns consult your physician. The same goes for ulcers, sores or other infections on feet or legs. Women should avoid wearing tight garters or supporters.

And when you buy shoes, make sure they fit. Their purpose is to protect your feet and give you a balanced foundation on which to stand. For this reason, always select the style that's designed for your type of foot.

City Hall--

although the same effect has been reached by including a sum for cemetery care in the annual budget from funds provided by taxes. The present City Council included the sum of $3,083 for the care of the cemeteries for the coming year. This sum is far from adequate but it is all that City Councilmen said can be justified at the present time. This will hardly do more than keep down the major weed problem in the roads and alleys.

The present and just past City Council has extended water lines to all three cemeteries, although extensions within the cemeteries are still short of what is to be desired.

The matter has not gone unnoticed—it has gone unanswered. Your ideas and suggestions would be appreciated and helpful—but remember if the work is to be done by hired personnel it will require money and money means one thing—taxes. On the other hand we should justly bend our heads in shame over the present condition of our cemeteries.

Now let's go back and reconsider the questions previously asked. Who gave you the information about the condition of our cemeteries and what have they done? Have you looked at their and your own lot? It's our mutual problem—let's solve it by working together.

If you have questions you would like discussed regarding the problems of your city send them in and we will try to find the answer. This means down to earth questions of general and special interest and not political barbs or loaded questions. The latter type will not be considered within the intent of this series of articles.

MR. AND MRS. EARL COOKE

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooke Honored On Golden Wedding Anniversary

Thursday June 4, marked the Fiftieth Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooke, both members of Winters pioneer families. Mrs. Cooke, the former Nola Hinds, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hinds, who came to the Winters area in 1900. Mr. Hinds held large farming interests and continued overseeing these after moving into town.

Earl Cooke is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cooke, who moved from Mills County to Winters in 1909. J. R. Cooke was a grocer for a number of years and served as school tax assessor-collector for the Winters District until his retirement in 1945.

Earl and Nola began their friendship during high school days and through their participation in Winters first Little Theatre group. They were married June 4, 1914 in her parents home.

Then came World War I. Earl volunteered for naval service where he served as quartermaster. After his return he was employed in Winters a short time before moving to San Antonio where he was associated with Wholesale Clothing firm. From San Antonio they transferred to Austin for a few years and then to Dallas. The couple came back to Winters in 1948 because (quote) "we like a little town because of the kindness and friendliness of close neighbors who are so ready to share your joys or your heartaches."

Cooke has recently retired and is "having fun with his calves on the farm two miles east of town." They are both members of the First Methodist Church. Her hobby, or privilege is to see that any family of their church in need or sadness has plenty of food sent in.

A buffet dinner in their honor was hosted by their brothers and sisters in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooke. Forty relatives were present.

The dining table, covered with cut-work Irish linen, was centered with an arrangement of gold ranunculus. Across the end was a huge wedding cake proclaiming "Happy Anniversary to Earl and Nola for 50 years." After dinner the cake was cut by the bride and groom just as they did 50 years ago at the ages of 16 and 17 years. Packages were opened and movies were taken.

Cooke's three sisters, Mrs. A. T. Lindley of Abilene, Mrs. L. O. Steele, and Mattie, and three of his four brothers, John L. Cooke of Robstown, R. F. Cooke of Mineral Wells, and W. S. Cooke were present for the anniversary party. Only R. E. Cooke of Robstown was unable to attend the celebration.

Mrs. Cooke's only living brother, N. C. Hinds, and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. W. L. Hinds, and Mrs. Lora Coupland were present.

Others attending the affair included Mrs. John L. Cooke; Mrs. R. F. Cooke; Mrs. N. C. Hinds; Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Lindley, Jay, Lu Ann and Tommy of Abilene; Mrs. Neil Scott and Yauncy, Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Turner, Steve and John, all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hinds, Annette, nd Bill; L. O. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gehrels, Kathy, Chris, Craig and Curt; Rhea, Ken and Mike Cooke of Omaha, Nebraska; Merrick Spill, and Mrs. W. S. Cooke.

New Telephone Directories Have Been Mailed

New telephone directories for Winters have been mailed, according to A. J. Lacy, division manager for The Southwestern States Telephone Company. One directory is provided for each of the 1508 telephones in service here.

On the cover of the new books are pictures symbolizing the four states in which the company operates. The cover is gray in color.

The new directory has nine pages of alphabetical listings and 26 pages of yellow listings, compared to eight pages in the alphabetical section last year and 24 yellow pages.

The first name in the new directory is A - 1 Motel located on the Ballinger Highway, while the last name in the book is Mike F. Zuniga at 505 Wood St.

Telephone Company officials advise that all subscribers should discard their old books after receiving the new directories because some numbers in the old directory have been changed.

State Capital Highlights—

State Democratic Convention May See Fireworks Among Delegates

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

State Democratic party leaders here have completed advance preparations for a June 16 Texas party convention which could turn into a donnybrook or go off smooth as silk.

Action will take place at Houston's big coliseum and the swank Shamrock - Hilton Hotel, convention headquarters.

Delegates and alternate delegates who will cast the 2,834 authorized votes (some counties are sending up to 15 times their authorized strength) will be quartered in 27 hotels scattered all over Houston.

Big job is selecting delegates to the August national presidential nominating convention in Atlantic City and picking Texas national Democratic committee representatives.

Big argument is whether the convention will go on record as favoring the as-yet unwritten national Democratic platform.

Gov. John Connally, who claims a two-third to three-fourths margin of control, prefers that delegates remain silent on the liberal national program. He wants to write his own state party platform at the September state convention along moderate-to-conservative lines.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough and State AFL-CIO President Hank Brown argue the convention not only should pledge its support to President Johnson (there is no argument about that) but to his liberal program as well.

Some 26 per cent of the convention's seats are in contest.

Austin Attorney Will D. Davis chairman of a State Democratic Executive Committee sub-panel on credentials, has instructed heads of 14 rival delegations from seven counties to send him advance written briefings on their positions.

Hearings will begin Monday (June 15) at 9 a. m. in the Shamrock. Recommendations of Davis' group will be passed along to the full SDEC, which every bill would be enough to cause the average housewife (or her husband) to swoon, but that was the size of the State's grocery bill for fiscal 1963. When the overall item is digested, it points to thrifty shopping.

TOGETHERNESS—Some persons might think that this is carrying things just a bit too far. On the other hand, this Cypress Gardens, Fla., couple doesn't care.

The $6,900,000 fed some 40,000 inmates of state eleemosynary institutions, such as state hospitals, special schools, medical schools and correctional institutions. Cost of feeding each person under state care is about $173.68 per person — and that shopping triumph should be enough to make the housewife green with envy.

State Board of Control, "Housekeeper for the State," and its purchasers have mastered the technique of conquering spoilage and waste problems to the point that it is looked on as a model by all the other states, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Purchasing Chief Sam G. Cook believes that inmates of Texas institutions are probably the best cared for and best fed of any in the country. He says it is because the state purchasing law lends equal importance to acceptance of the "lowest" and "best" bid from food wholesalers.

AIRPORT AID SOUGHT

Texas Aeronautics Commission is seeking $450,000 in state aid to help build local airports during the next two years.

At budget hearings here Commission spokesmen and representatives of towns over the state argued for a program to insure at least one airport in all 254 counties. Thirty-five now have none.

Commission requests a

$1,100,000 budget for the next biennium, including the airport program and $200,700 for an agency headquarters building at the Austin Municipal Airport. All funds except the building cost would come from aircraft fuel taxes.

AG DECISIONS

Attorney General Carr has ruled that a county clerk should not accept for recording in the Deed Record a certified copy from another court of record where the seal of the court has not been affixed thereto.

Held state highway funds cannot be used to finance a Texas travel exhibit at sports and vacation shows under either the state constitution or current laws.

Concluded that the party whose candidate for governor received the most votes in the 1962 general election will have first spot on the general election ballot this year.

HIGHWAY

State Highway Commission authorized a $166,000,000 improvement program to get more safety and less congestion on 2,067 miles of primary and state highways.

Of the amount authorized, $151,000,000 is earmarked for construction, and $15,000,000 for right-of-way. About 65 per cent of the cost is expected to come from state gasoline tax revenue and license fees and the rest from federal grants in aid.

U. S. oil companies give away about 150,000,000 road maps each year at a cost of about $15,000,000.

will decide in an 8:30 a. m. Tuesday (June 16) session which delegations will be seated. The convention opens at 10 a. m.

Rival fund-raising events are scheduled Monday (June 15). The pro-Connally SDEC will stage a $10-a-plate dinner to finance the convention. Yarborough' Gulf Coast friends have scheduled an appreciation dinner for the senior senator at the same time.

If President Johnson has any preference about how things should go, he apparently kept silent on them during his recent trip to Texas. Aides maintained to the end of the visit he did not discuss politics with his old friend Governor Connally, Senator Yarborough or anybody else.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

Texas Legislative Council study committee has set three hearings to gather firsthand advice from the homefolks on how to form 23 Texas congressional districts of equal population. Dates are July 9, 10 and July 17.

They will be held in Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston. Others apparently will follow.

Legislators, political party spokesmen and the general public from counties where the meetings will be held and surrounding counties are invited to attend the sessions and give their views on how best to comply with federal court redistricting orders, said Committee Chairman Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr warned the committee that the 1965 Legislature must solve the congressional redistricting question.

Carr said, "The more you base it on any other considerations, the greater risk you run of having to go through the same thing again in the courts."

LOAN REGULATIONS ADOPTED

Small loan company advertising of such terms as "lowest costs," "quickest service" and "easy payments" is "misleading" under new state regulations. All advertising claims by lenders are subject to the test of absolute accuracy.

Regulations were adopted after public hearings here and go into effect on July 1. Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank A. Miskell has announced.

Miskell lists other regulations as: No strong arm collection practices permitted.....Companies must keep detailed records showing all charges on loans....Borrowers must furnish copies of insurance policies purchased in connection with loans...Money collected in premiums must be turned over to the insurance companies promptly.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court in a Sweetwater case said cities, by ordinance, can establish compulsory retirement ages for policemen.

The high court also: Held oil field truckers don't have to haul pipe at lower rates set by the Railroad Commission in 1962 until a court attack on the rates finally is set.

Set arguments for July 8 on Dallas County Flood Control District's suit to keep the city of Irving from annexing district lands and on appeal of Dr. Daniel William Scott Jr. of Houston from revocation of his license by State Board of Medical Examiners order.

Court of Criminal Appeals was urged to reverse the murder conviction and death sentence of Carl Jr. Hackathorn, 19, for slaying Mrs. Bobbie Jewel Nuttycombe, 18, of Dallas.

That court also was called on to order a $100,000 bond reduced to $10,000 on Samuel Spivey, another 19-year old, charged with robbery by firearms in a bizzare Houston robbery-torture case.

The attorney general's office asked federal court to dismiss state appeal of an interstate commerce commission order permitting higher passenger train fares in Texas.

STATE SCHOOL SITE

The big question of location of a newly-approved West Texas State School for the mentally retarded will not be settled until September, according to most recent reports from the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Board's site selection committee, made up of C. E. Bentley of Abilene, former Lt. Gov. Walter Wookul of Austin and Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe, has been visiting some 30 West Texas towns which are competing for the school.

Fisher Says Labor Department Policies Killing Bracero Program

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Mexican workers who desire to enter the United States on immigration visas to work on farms and ranches, will find it increasingly difficult to be cleared for admission. Under the Immigration laws the Labor Department must determine that an applicant will be paid prevailing wages, enjoy working conditions comparable to domestic workers, and there is a labor shortage.

The Labor Department recently announced that before an alien will be admitted to work on a ranch he must be paid not less than $150 per month plus room and board, plus $1.00 per hour overtime in excess of 208 hours per month. The law does not require this, but the Labor Department does.

In addition, the Labor Department now requires an employer who offers work to a Mexican alien seeking admission, to first offer to pay any qualified available domestic worker in the U. S., at least $150, per month, etc.

The Labor Department also requires the employer to first advertise for domestic workers, use the USES and other means of recruitment to fill the needs, and various other requirements.

The Labor Department has decided too many Mexican aliens are being admitted, and has undertaken this crack-down to reduce, if not entirely eliminate, the admission of more Mexicans. The influx of Mexican nationals began about 10 years ago when the Labor Department made the contract bracero program unworkable with arbitrary conditions and restrictions. By being denied admission for temporary employment under contract, thousands of the Mexican braceros came in on immigration visas, on a permanent basis.

In fact, during a ten-year period, up to recently, more than 400,000 were admitted—most of them because the Labor Department would not allow them to be contracted on a temporary basis. Now they are here permanently.

The bracero (contract) program, already reduced to almost uselessness by the Labor Department is due to expire at the end of this year. This is certain to stimulate a vast increase in applications for permanent visas from south of the border. Now the Labor Department has decided to keep them out.

Screwworm Still Danger If Cases Not Reported

The Southwest could experience a serious explosion of screw worm cases this year. That is, unless farmers and ranchers diligently inspect their livestock and report infestations so that emergency eradication action can be taken, the board of trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation recently warned.

The board noted that during 1962 and 1963, when screw worm populations were reduced by more than 90 percent, temperature and moisture conditions were less favorable than normal for screw worm development. Ideal weather conditions could cause serious outbreaks by the insect anywhere in the state.

Some eradication program officials fear that stockmen are relying too heavily on sterile screw worm flies to keep their animals free of infestation, and are not using good management practices such as treating and spraying livestock after they have been worked.

"Our success in keeping the number of screw worm infestations to less than 5,000 cases last year was due only partially to the action of sterile flies," the board was told. "The most important factor was that producers used smears and sprays to prevent infestations and reported cases to us early enough so we could initiate emergency measures."

The trustees also expressed concern that too many stockmen were trying to diagnose their own cases. U. S. Department of Agriculture officials said that various species of blowfly larvae look so much alike that only trained technicians using high-power microscopes can definitely ascertain whether a sample contains screw worms or not.

In other action, the board commended Marvin J. Bridges, who has served as executive director for the Foundation for the past two years, for his contributions to the eradication program. Bridges, who is returning to his livestock business in Buffalo, was originally slated to stay with the program only until the sterile screw worm fly production plant was completed at Mission, but has remained on to assist in coordinating activities of livestockmen and producer groups with eradication workers. He has resumed the position as Foundation trustee, which he resigned when he became executive director.

Dove Outlook Not Settled

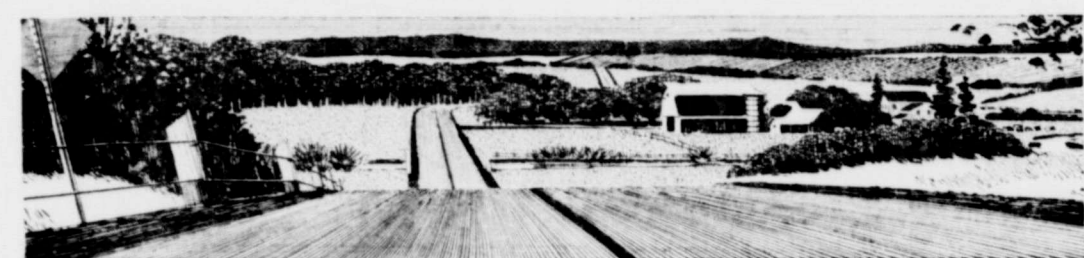

Observers commenting about a possible mourning dove increase in Travis county were cautioned by veteran Game Warden Gene Ashby that the season is still too young to permit definite estimates.

Ashby, whose territory includes lake country known for its prolific dove population, said, "The present dove numbers appear normal."

He added, "Some good showers have helped plants and generally aided food for the birds."

Ashby cautiously noted that harvest conditions for Texas' most popular game bird definitely hinges on future weather conditions.
