

State Capital Highlights—

Much Money Will Be Needed In Attempt To Upgrade Education

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

A costly plan for "catching up" with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texans by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School. It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education — bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities. To help achieve goals in those three fields, the Committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present classrooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.

Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.

Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry.

Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18-member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group.

Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college credits would be immediately transferable to senior colleges.

Committee, headed by H. B. Zachary, San Antonio construction executive, is taking its case to the public in a series of meetings with business leaders in their communities.

daily oil allowables was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission as it held August production to 26.5 per cent of the capability of the wells. Two large purchasers complained they are over-supplied with oil and unable to sell it.

A POPULAR PLACE
Texas' State Capitol is being invaded daily by both Texans and out of state tourists who come here to pay tribute to the history of the state. Men, women and children — about three times as many — literally crowd the Capitol halls, their numbers reaching as many as 1,200 a day. One of the most popular stops on the informal tour (there are no guides) of State buildings is the State Archives and Library, just across a walkway from the Capitol.

There, renowned artists Peter Hurd and his son-in-law Peter Rogers are executing a mural of Texas' history, featuring remarkable likenesses of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Anson Jones, as well as Davy Crockett and William B. Travis. The mural depicts the conquistador as well as the cowboy.

Visitors are invited to pull up a chair and watch the artists at work, and they do. They are all so treated to a newly-arranged re-creation of a room from Gov. Elisha Pease's (1853-57, 1867-69) mansion. Furniture was donated to the archives when former Gov. Allan Shivers bought the vulnerable mansion.

MAKING WAY FOR 1990
A large number of Texas cities with populations of less than 50,000 are planning now for the year 1990 by developing a blueprint for progress under a Federal-local program being administered by the State Health Department.

Under this program, a city can obtain studies of current facilities and projections of future needs in every area from economic and sociological needs to budgeting for capital improvements. The Housing and Home Finance agency makes grants for the master plans and the city pays one-third the cost, while the Federal agency pays two-thirds.

A typical town under study is the West Texas city of Winters, which has a population of 3,200 and will spend $4,845 toward a $13,365 master plan. So far, 109 cities have enrolled in the planning project to see where they can go and how they can get there over the next 25 years.

PUBLIC PEIR
Parks and Wildlife Department will advertise a second time for bids for concession rights on the new State fishing pier at Port Lavaca. Only one person submitted a bid July 1 after 13 said they were interested.

The 3,200-foot-long pier, that replaced one destroyed by Hurricane Carla, is said to be the world's longest fishing pier. Access to it will be free to the public, but the department is trying to provide a source of bait, soft drinks and fishing gear via a concessionaire contract.

ANIMAL HEALTH HEAD CHANGE DUE
Texas Animal Health Commission will decide on July 27 on a new commission director to replace Dr. R. G. Garrett of Taylor who plans to resign.

Decision will be made at a meeting to be hosted by Chairman Ed Knoke of Sandia at his Knole Jersey Farm in Jim Wells County. Knoke said there have been several "well-qualified" applicants for the post, but declined to list them. However, it has been rumored that a staff veterinarian with the commission, Dr. S. B. Walker, will be favored.

BRUCELLOSIS PROGRAM BLOCKED
Animal Health Commission postponed to September a decision on whether to let a Type II brucellosis control program to be set up in one part of Brooks County.

Commission has been informed that many Brooks County producers want to organize a program, but the King Ranch which has 3,991 of the 16,000 head of cattle on county tax rolls does not. Approval of the owners of 75 per cent of the cattle in a county is necessary so the proponents want to organize a program in just the soil conservation district which covers all of the county except King Ranch property.

Commission said it lacked sufficient information for a decision at this time.

WEST TEXAS SCHOOLS
West Texas cities that want to be home to a new West Texas School for the mentally retarded will have to wait until at least September 14 to learn which will be chosen.

Chairman of the Board for State Hospitals and Special School site selections committee, C. E. Bentley of Abilene, said his committee will report to the board on that date. However, Bentley did not say that the committee will make a definite recommendation on a single site at that time.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT
Texas Industrial Commission is boasting in the July issue of Texas Parade Magazine that 27 new plants were announced in Texas in May. Map used to illustrate the new industry points out quite prominently the fact the Dallas-Forth Worth area gained 12 of these new plants, seven were located in Panhandle towns and six others were in other small towns.

Commission announced that Patrick J. Ryan of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Sylvan R. Lange of Great Marshall Industries have been approved for the first year class at the Industrial Development Institute in Norman, Oklahoma.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULINGS
Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled that a county election board must furnish voting booths for all polling places within each city of 10,000 or more inhabitants.

Carr also ruled that a county clerk does not have authority to charge the fee for releasing of a chattel mortgage or lien on personal property at the time such mortgage is filed.

Lynnann Kruse Is Honored At Tea In Davidson Home

Lynnann Kruse, bride-elect of Charles Simpson, was complimented recently with a pre-nuptial tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Davidson, 200 East Pierce Street.

Mrs. Davidson greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree, who was attired in a trousseau frock of white jersey, with fitted, sleeveless bodice and pleated skirt. Her accessories included a crescent corsage of red carnations and poppy red shoes.

Others in the receiving line were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Charles Kruse, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Simpson, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The bride's chosen colors of red and white keyed the party decorations. Red carnations were nestled in the draped swag of the white net over bridal taffeta, which covered the refreshment table.

Presiding at the bride's register was Marta Lee Davidson, who registered the forty-four guests.

Assisting Mrs. Davidson with hostess duties were Mrs. J. C. Jarrell, Mrs. B. T. Gardner, Mrs. F. C. Mills, Mrs. Martin Middlebrook, Mrs. A. O. Merck, Mrs. Wayne Bedford, Mrs. Floyd Sims and Mrs. Charles Matthies.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. James C. Kruse of Monahan, sister-in-law of the honoree; Mrs. Elo Michaelis, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, aunt of the honoree; Misses Marryatt Smith and Lola Eubank, of Balinger; Miss Ann Williams, Mrs. Bill Miller, and Mrs. David Burton, of Abilene; and Miss Nancy Tomes of Albany, Georgia.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

There was a time when the method of trying lawsuits was so technical and strange to the average layman that the lawyer was considered a behind-the-scenes manipulator.

Now, since the public has come to know more about trial procedure, this erroneous conception largely has been corrected. The attorney is pictured for what he really is — a hard-working fellow who presents a case in a manner designed to fully and legitimately protect his client's interests.

The lawyer's duty starts with his first contact with his client.

When advised of the controversy, he usually questions his client thoroughly to determine all of the facts involved. His first duty is to objectively evaluate the facts involved. He immediately advises his client to tell everything. Facts and circumstances which may seem trivial to the client can be of great value to the lawyer in the trial of the cause.

The attorney then fits the law to the facts involved, and determines the theory under which lawsuit or controversy must be approached. It is surprising to the layman to learn that no two cases are alike; and, that nearly always it is necessary for a lawyer to "hit the books" to find a case or decision which governs the particular principle involved. This is sometimes a long and arduous task depending, of course, upon the intricacies of the factual and legal situation.

Quite frequently the lawyer will find it necessary to take statements of opposing parties or of witnesses to determine what facts they know that will confront him later in the trial. He is permitted to do this under our rules at any time before the trial. He also immediately starts planning his strategy, and determining the main points, factual and legal, upon which he will rely.

The next step in nearly every instance is negotiations between the parties which may or may not lead to a settlement. This usually takes considerable ingenuity, time, and diplomacy. As a result many cases are settled out of court.

If the case is not settled, the attorney then prepares for trial. The case may be won or lost in trial preparation.

One of the most important aspects of a trial is the jury. The fate of the lawsuit is determined by 12 persons drawn from different walks of life, of different interests and frequently of different race, sex, and nationality. The lawyer presents his client's case to the jury through examination of witnesses and the introduction of other evidence. Based on this evidence the jury decides what are the facts of the case and renders its verdict in accordance with their findings.

The word "porphyry" originally meant "purple stone" and was applied to stone from Egyptian quarries mined for use of the Roman Emperors.

Thirty-First Baker Family Reunion Held July 13 and 14

The 31st reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baker of Winters was held in the Ballinger Community Center on July 13 and 14 with 32 descendants and 3 guests in attendance.

In the absence of the president and vice president, Mr. Lonnie Collinsworth presided over the business meeting.

Each family present made a few remarks about the continuation of the annual reunion as the crowd was small this year. The group voted unanimously to have a reunion next year and make every effort to increase the number in attendance.

Games of dominoes and forty two were enjoyed and Joe Baker showed slides of his recent trip to the Worlds Fair and other points of interest in New York and the Eastern States.

Relatives attending the annual reunion were: Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Baker, Waco; Lillian Baker, Lake Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Collinsworth, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker, Winters; Mrs. E. H. Baker, Winters; Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Baker, Meadow; Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Baker, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Antelope Herd Cut 35 Percent

A 38.53 per cent decrease in antelope numbers in the Trans-Pecos was shown by aerial counts, according to A. J. Springer, wildlife coordinator for the Parks and Wildlife Department. Dry weather during the critical months of February, March and April was blamed for reducing the herds to 4,963 head, a drop of 3,111 animals compared with the 1963 census.

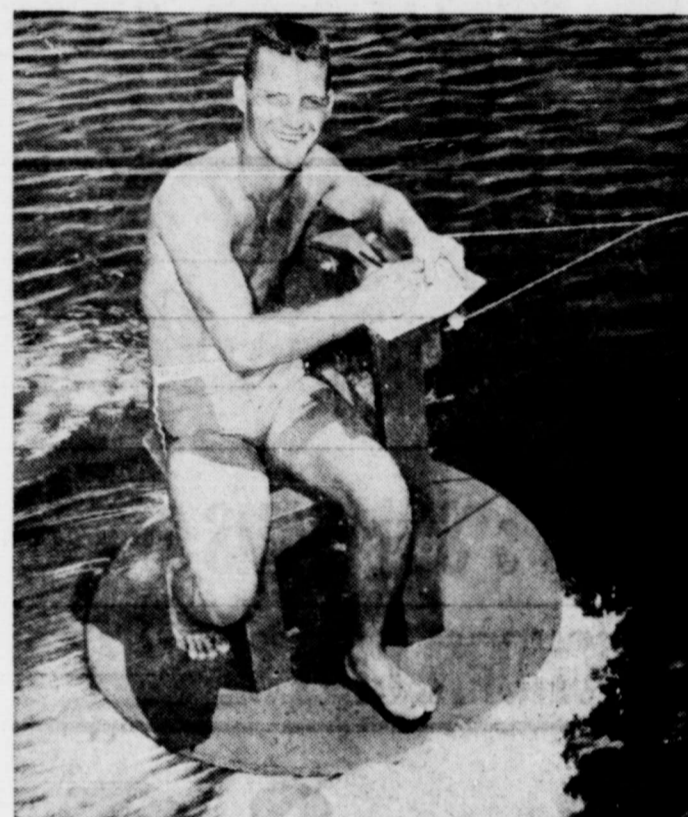

The flying recorders reported seeing 1,396 bucks, 2,642 does and 925 fawns. The fawns represent a 35 per cent fawn crop. Under favorable conditions fawn crops usually range from 60 to 70 per cent, they said.

Biologists also reported seeing few yearlings this year, indicating low survival of last year's fawn crop.

Texas Pecan Crop Prospects Good

Pecans should be plentiful this fall with Texas topping the list of major pecan-producing states, reports B. G. Hancock, Extension horticulturist, Texas A and M University. "No major pecan-producing section of the state is without a crop this year," says Hancock. Although production in Texas will be near average with about 35 million pounds, the overall product in the U. S. will be only about half as much as last year, says the horticulturist. Last year's total national production was about 300 million pounds.

"Based on national supply, there should be a strong demand for the high-quality Texas pecan this fall and winter," Hancock points out. The primary problem for Texas pecan growers is severe infestations of the nut casebearer, explains Hancock. The control program on first generation infestations has been highly successful and spraying has begun for the second generation of nut casebearers in some areas of the state. Where control programs were not initiated, the outlook is very dim, Hancock points out. Malathion and Sevin have been used quite effectively to control the nut casebearer. However, careful timing of the spraying programs is of utmost importance for good control, explains the horticulturist. County agents, county pecan committees, and county pecan growers organizations have done an outstanding job in developing a system for timing spraying programs, says Hancock.

Dry weather is now becoming a problem for pecan growers in some sections of the state and may be even more so in the coming months, adds Hancock. This along with a second generation of nut casebearers and other insects such as the pecan weevil, hickory shuckworm, and aphids will influence the overall harvest of the pecan crop this fall.

"A Distant Trumpet"
Warner Bros., in filming "A Distant Trumpet," included every necessary ingredient to retain for the screen the epic qualities of Paul Horgan's best-selling novel of the American Southwest following the Civil War.

For the leading roles in the Technicolor-panavision version of the action-crammed book, which shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre, Warner Bros. cast a trio of popular young stars — Troy Donahue in his first Western as a rugged but sensible West Pointer handling his first cavalry command, sultry Suzanne Pleshette (his off-screen bride), and beautiful blonde Diane McBain.

Don Knotts portrays the unusual title role of Henry Limpet in the Technicolor comedy-with-music which was produced by John C. Rose and directed by Arthur Lubin. Knotts is one of the nation's greatest current favorites, known to millions as the nervous deputy on the Andy Griffith TV show. Don appeared with Griffith in "No Time For Sergeants" on Broadway and in the subsequent hit Warner Bros. film as well as having been a regular on the Garry Moore and Steve Allen shows.

Don stars for the first time in the role of Henry Limpet, for which he wears an ancient pair of pince-nez glasses. Co-starring with Knotts are Carole Cook, Jack Weston, Andrew Duggan and Larry Keating.

Present were Mrs. Everett Cockerell, Mrs. Bill Hendrix, Mrs. Pete Eoff, Mrs. Bill Hill, Mrs. John Grohman and the hostess, Mrs. John Smith. Mrs. Smith dismissed the meeting with prayer.

"It's Only Money"
Jerry Lewis, considered by many to be America's top comedian, reaches a new all-time high in hilarity with his latest hit-comedy, "It's Only Money," produced by Paul Jones, directed by Frank Tashlin, and showing Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

He plays a screwball TV repairman who dreams about becoming a private - eye.

"The Incredible Mr. Limpet"
Now it can be told! How a mild Brooklyn bookkeeper turned into a "secret weapon" for the United States Navy and helped drive Nazi submarines out of the Atlantic during World War II. Incredible? Perhaps that's why the Warner Bros. motion picture dealing with this spectacular revelation is entitled "The Incredible Mr. Limpet." The new release shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

school," as the golfers say, on each shot made by the professionals.

After the teeveed match was over, Clarence hurried to the Winters Country Club where he proceeded to match the action. Playing high, wide and handsome on the local nine-hole course, he came in with a 32, three below par 35. He got a birdie (one below par) on holes 1, 7 and 8, and parred the other six holes. In most instances, according to those who were in the foursome with him, most of his first putts were for eagles or birdies, and the law of averages dictated that he just had to make some of them.

This may not be the first time such a score has been turned in on the local course—probably many have done that, but the majority of players do not even approach it. This goes to show, however, that not all the spectacular and precision play is confined to the big shot professionals.

Tawnya Smith Writes On Trip To World's Fair

Tawnya Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Smith, accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. Vera LaFoon of Wichita Falls, on a flight to Washington, D. C. AND New York City and to the World's Fair. She writes the following account of her trip:

"It was real exciting, my first plane trip, first time to see Washington, D. C. and New York City. We left Love Field in Dallas at 2:26 p. m., June 26, and arrived in Washington at 8 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

"Mr great uncle and aunt met us at the air port and we went to Warrenton, Virginia to spend the week end. Warrenton is only 40 miles from the District of Columbia.

"On Monday we went to Washington to tour the city. Our first stop was Lincoln Memorial, then to the State Capitol (congress was in session), the Smithsonian Institute where we saw many collections from George Washington's administration up to the Kennedy administration, the inaugural gown of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Washington Monument, Tidal Basin, Japanese Cherry Trees, the Pentagon, the World's largest office building, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington Cemetery, the grave of the late President John F. Kennedy, the eternal flame, Marine Corps Memorial (Iwo Jima Statue). We also saw the National Wax Museum and other things too many to mention.

"On July 1, we went to New York City and the first thing I saw was the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building and traveled through the Holland Tunnel, which is 8 miles long. In the late evening we walked down Broadway to Rockefeller Center then to the Radio Building.

"The next day we went to the World's Fair, which is 35 miles away. First was the Texas Pavilion, Walt Disney's Small World and many other places.

"On July 4, enroute to Washington, we went to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and visited the Civil War Battlefield where they fought the "Round Rock Battle." We returned to Dallas July 5.
