

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

There's nothing like mention of a little rain to start a conversation. And there has been plenty of it — conversation — these past few days. Length and depth of the talk of course has depended upon the amount of rain received in the area occupied by the conversationalists.

For instance, in those areas which received just a little rain — up to an inch and a half — over the past week or ten days, the conversations are shallow. While in other sections, such as the Valley Creek floodwater area, the talk has been of more depth. They received about six and one-half inches in some of the Wingate route areas the other day, so the subject was well-covered.

Heavy downpours on the headwaters of Valley Creek caused quite a bit of conversation and action because of flooding conditions, too. There was some damage reported in the Valley Creek valley.

To the man in the dry-dirt farming country, there is no finer music in the world that raintrops hitting a roof. Boot Denson of the Wingate community spent a long time just sitting in the chicken house listening to the rain fall on the corrugated tin roof — he hadn't heard the rain fall for quite a spell.

There's a West Texas Utilities Company meter reader who can tell you all about the flooding of Valley Creek.

David Dobbins drove out to read some meters along the Bronte highway Monday afternoon. The water jumped the road ahead of him, and he decided to turn around and come back. Then the water started across the road in front of him again — and he was marooned. There he stayed for three and one-half hours before wading to dry ground. The truck he was driving stayed there another four hours.

If for some reason pet owners of the area failed to get their dogs and cats vaccinated Wednesday when the Winters FFA sponsored the anti-rabies drive here, it has been suggested that they make appointments with the vet right away and get this done.

The outbreak of rabies in surrounding areas indicates that the count would be high in North Rannels County also. There have been several cases of rabies reported in Taylor County. The little time it would take to get the vaccinations and the relatively small cost is of little consequence considering the damage which could be caused should a rabid animal attack a group of playing children.

There was a rise on Bluff Creek the first of the week, which was caused for some confirmation on the part of our old sometimes-red-dirt farmer friend. He had found him a shade tree on the banks of the creek to which he always retreated when things got too cumbersome around the house, and would sit by the hour with a baitless fish hook dangling in a stagnant pool, contemplating. Refused to move even when the raintrops started coming down because he refused to believe it could happen. When he was finally forced to evacuate by the rising waters, he figured it was purely a political move, and decided it was time to get the ball rolling again on his own recently-organized Bull Mouse party. Enthusiasm on the part of potential Bull Mousers had dropped because of the long hot summer. But our Bluff Creek party head figures that now he can raid the ranks of The Thinkers who frequent the water hole at Harrison's Auto Parts and get enough names to splice out a slate of candidates. There'll probably be a fight between the fisher and golfer factions, he said, but it probably won't amount to much. Like for instance some of The Thinkers are bi-sportsmen, with divided interests — some are golfers and fishers all at the same time. You can tell a fisherman-golfer by the way he spends so much time around the edge of the water hazards, looking as if he'd just let a big one get away.

Winters Lake Gets 8 Inches Of New Water

Winters Lake received eight inches of water following the good rains in the watershed over the week end, according to W. D. Waggoner, city water superintendent. This additional water ran into the lake from Monday morning to Tuesday afternoon, it was said, and Elm Creek still was running slightly. Rains received earlier last week were responsible for putting enough water in the lake by Monday morning to make up for that week's usage and evaporation, Waggoner said. The lake now is 3 feet 11 1/2 inches below spillway level.

Summer Band Concert Next Thursday Night

The Winters High School band, under direction of Robert R. Gans, will present a Summer Band Concert on the lawn of the high school next Thursday evening, beginning at 8 p. m.

The concert, the first summer event of this type for the band, is being sponsored by the Band Mothers Club to raise funds for band instruments and uniforms for the year.

The band will present a program of marches and football music, while the majorettes and twirlers and cheerleaders will perform.

Sponsors urged band and music fans to wear their "sitting in the grass clothes," as there will be no benches or chairs on the lawn. In the event of inclement weather, the band concert will be moved to the high school auditorium.

Band mothers will also operate concession stands and will sell coffee, cake and pie.

Tickets for the concert will be 50 cents each, and a door prize will be given.

Heavy Rains In Area Stay Long Dry Season

Up to 6 1/2 inches of rain have fallen on some sections of North Rannels County during the past week, to delay to a great extent the long dry spell which had begun to take its toll on crops.

Rainfall was spotty in this part of the county, with Winters proper receiving only 1.7 inch during the period, while at least 6.5 inches has been recorded in some sections of the Wingate country. Three inches reportedly was received in the Wilmet Community Sunday night.

Creeks in the Wingate area were flooded, partly from local rains and partly from rains in South Taylor County, and other watershed areas. Valley Creek was out of its banks in several places, and enough runoff was received to fill Ballinger's lake to overflowing, according to reports.

Some farmers and ranchers in the Wingate area have reported damage caused by the creek flooding. Several head of sheep were lost on the Bill Harman place, and at the Floyd Waggoner place, water was reported to be three feet around the house, and six inches in the house, and up to headlights on the car. Water was said to have risen to the front porch on the Ralph Watson place, and into the floorboards of a car.

In the Winters area, Bluff creek rose Monday afternoon. Elm Creek, which empties into Lake Winters east of town, was up the first part of the week, dumping eight inches of needed water into the lake.

According to many sources, the rains came too late to help some of the earlier-planted cotton, but there will be a good bit of benefit for the late cotton. Much of the cotton in the area had already "burned up," according to some.

However, the rains were a life-saver to ranch lands, it was said. Many stock tanks which had been dry or already dry were filled by the rains, especially in the Wingate area.

Maverick Will Get Texas Historical Marker

An official Texas Historical Marker, commemorating the Texas Civil War period, will be erected in the Rannels County community of Maverick, according to an announcement made by the Texas State Historical Survey committee and the State Building Commission, which are jointly responsible for the erection of markers.

The marker will be made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect for durability and appearance. There are four sizes of the markers erected by the State Building Commission with research and inscriptions prepared by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. The official medallion appears at the top with the inscription below.

The marker planned for Maverick is 24 x 18 inches, and will be erected at the western city limits on State Highway 158.

The following information will appear in the inscription:

Maverick was founded in the 1870's, named for Samuel A. Maverick, who came to Texas in 1835. He fought in the Texas War for Independence. In the Secession Convention in 1861, he was made one of the commissioners to negotiate the surrender of the United States troops in San Antonio. In 1835 he had land in this important ranching area.

This marker has been designated the "Governor John Connally" marker since, at his suggestion, the marker was designed to tell the history of the town involved, facts about the economy, listing any special annual events that would interest tourists and calling attention to specific historical sites.

The erection of Official Texas Historical Markers is part of the Civil War Centennial Commemoration in Texas. Markers are designed to interpret and commemorate the role of prominent Texas Confederates, battles, frontier outposts, coast fortifications, manufacturing plants, and military supply centers.

State Capital Highlights—

Water Commission Going All Out To Develop Water Master Plan

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

All available money and manpower of the Texas Water Commission is being dedicated to a long-range state water master plan.

Gov. John Connally authorized the agency to transfer money already appropriated by the Legislature for other purposes. Existing state plans, in Connally's opinion, "fall short of satisfying the water needs for all of Texas."

In 1961, the Commission produced a plan for meeting Texas water needs to the year 1980. Both the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, are coming up with their own long-range plans covering parts of Texas. They propose diversion of water from surplus areas like the Sabine to water-shy areas like the Neeces.

Connally said the federal government is considering a water pollution control bill which would supplant state authority in the field.

He urged the Commission to explore "all reasonable alternatives," including those contained in preliminary reports of U. S. Agencies.

The Governor indicated he will authorize other state agencies to cooperate in the crash program. He also pledged to his help in any way possible and to recommend to the Legislature "necessary funds to fulfill this important responsibility."

STIFF GUN LAW URGED

Pressure from prosecuting attorneys is beginning to sift its way through legislative candidates who are being urged to pass a gun registration law during the 1965 session in an attempt to reduce the crime rate and help police solve crimes.

Latest of the recommendations along this line comes from Dallas' District Attorney Henry Wade. Gun registration is on the list of the most - controversial issues a legislature can tackle and proposals on the subject are frequently skirted.

DROUGHT AID

Sen. Ralph Yarborough announced here that 23 counties will qualify for drought aid under two federal programs.

Eligible for emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration are Brazoria, Dallas, Dawson, Falls, Gonzales, Hardin, Hartley, Jefferson, Lavaca, Navarro, and Wharton and Wilson counties.

Eligible for haying and grazing privileges until October 31

under a U. S. Agriculture Department program are Collin, Dallas, Donley, Eastland, Freestone, Jones, Rockwall, Rusk, San Augustine, Scurry, and Taylor counties.

SALES TAX RAISE SUGGESTED

A Texas State Teachers Association spokesman last week suggested the Legislature raise additional funds for education through increasing the sales tax rate or removing present exemptions.

L. P. Sturgeon, TSTA public relations director, said a half cent increase would raise $50,000,000 a year and an across-the-board amendment another $61,000,000. TSTA is driving for a $45 month increase in teachers' pay.

If Texans paid the same amount of taxes as citizens of neighboring states, argues Sturgeon, Texas would have enough money for public school and the higher education improvements.

NEW RANGER ANMED

Toliver H. Dawson of Del Rio was named a Texas Ranger by Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr.

Dawson, who first served as a highway patrolman at Alpine, will be stationed in the Carrizo Springs area. He succeeds the late Wiley Williamson of Gonzales on the 62-man force.

SHRIMPERS REMINDED OF DEADLINE

Texas shrimpers were reminded by the State Parks and Wildlife Agency of the August 15 opening of the shrimp season in coastal bays. Also called to their attention was the Aug. 31 deadline for renewing commercial licenses.

September 1 to August 15 has been designated as the Fall season for shrimping in Sabine Lake.

A new regulation to prevent bait shrimp from being sold on the commercial food market also was announced for Gulf waters of Jefferson and Orange counties.

HUNTING 'ON THE CUFF'

Almost one out of every three Texans hunt "on the cuff," or without having to buy a license, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Watson said that last year 230,000 of the 740,000 Texans licensed to hunt secured exempt licenses without cost to them. Others paid the usual $3.15.

On the exempt list are persons 65 and older; those under 17; and those who can show they are hunting on their own land and live on that same property.

Watson said 2,350,000 licenses for hunting, fishing and commercial fishing uses now are available from 2,800 official deputies of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

AIRPORT FUNDS

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr advised the Texas Aeronautics director, Frank W. Raymond Jr., the Legislature could amend the State law to authorize the State to appropriate funds to incorporate cities for construction of airports and navigational facilities without violating the constitution.

Commission is expected to seek a legislative sponsor for this type of bill.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Connally reports that 531 Historical Markers will be erected along State highways during the next 30 months.

Attorney General Carr says his office won 320 cases, lost three, and disposed of 58 in another manner during the month of July.

State General Revenue fund was $22,500,000 on the black side of the ledger at the end of July, reports State Treasurer Jesse James.

Governor Connally proclaimed September 13-19 as "Women Voters Week."

H. D. Stewart Jr. of Big Spring and Ed Tabola of Houston were appointed to the State Board of Barber examiners by Governor Connally.

An application for a charter to Conroe Bank and Trust Company has been filed with the State Banking Board.

Governor Connally is visiting the Mexican border states of Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Chihuahua, and Coahuila this week.

Texas Highway Department reports that 9,161 persons visited the new Capitol Tourist Information Center in Capitol during its first month of operation.

Texas Health Department sees possibility of local outbreaks of influenza this winter, although no major epidemic, and advises immunization.

U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough was top speaker at the 1,000 delegate convention of the Texas Electric Cooperatives who held their 24th Annual Meeting in Austin.

FROM SAN ANTONIO

Mrs. Baxter Wilson and Mrs. Del Gunn returned Friday to their homes in San Antonio after a few days visit in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Yates. Debra and Jana Gunn who had been visiting with their grandparents returned to their home also.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Don't cuss the carp. It is not a native to Texas. It was brought here from Germany shortly after the Civil War as the first project of the first conservation agency.

In Germany it was a desirable and plentiful fish. In Texas it has just about ruined some of the waters for game fish. But still there are thousands of people who like to catch them.

Known among game fishermen as "bugle mouth bass," they abound in all the lakes and streams, plowing up the bottom, foraging for food that game fish might eat, and otherwise being a general nuisance.

They grow big. Five pounders are the most common and many of them get bigger than that. Generally considered a trash fish, netters are given to remove them from fresh water impoundments. They catch them on a trotline and in nets. Pole and line fishermen haul them in by the ton around the tin barns found on practically all the lakes.

Here the barn or dock owner baits the water with corn or some other substance to attract the carp. Then fishermen sit over these holes for hours, using dough bait or something of the kind to catch the carp.

There is nothing wrong with the taste of carp, but with so many small bones through its flesh, most people toss them to the side. Despite that, however, there are numerous recipes for cooking them.

Perhaps the most often mentioned is the "planked carp." This is a very simple recipe. You clean the carp in the usual manner, then place it on a plank in the oven for an hour. Remove it, throw the fish away and eat the plank.

Seriously, though, many recipes are available for cooking, smoking and canning carp.

Many country people can the carp and say it is just as good as tuna for fish cakes, salads, etc.

One chef offers this recipe for smoking: Cut the tail off the carp while it is still alive and allow it to bleed. Then prepare the fish by skinning. Cut into

"The Best Man"

"The Best Man," one of Broadway's biggest hits during the last election year, has been made into a timely motion picture for release during this election year. Starring Henry Fonda, Cliff Robertson, Margaret Leighton, Edie Adams, Shelley Berman, Lee Tracy, Ann Sothern, Gene Raymond and Kevin McCarthy, the political comedy-drama showing Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Theatre, through the United Artists release.

Tony Curtis adds still another tour de force to his long list of successes with Universal's romantic comedy in color, "Wild and Wonderful," showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In theatre.

"Take Her, She's Mine"

James Stewart is back on the screen with another of those comedies which have made him famous and popular. It's "20th Century - Fox's CinemaScope, Deluxe color attraction, "Take Her, She's Mine," which shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Theatre. The equally popular Sandra Dee shares starring honors with Stewart, appearing as the teen-age daughter who gets him into any number of embarrassing, but comical, situations.

"Wild and Wonderful"

Tony Curtis adds still another tour de force to his long list of successes in Universal's romantic comedy in color, "Wild and Wonderful." In a very hilarious film, he is pitted against his best friend and yet most intense rival — a French Poodle dog no less, named Monsieur Cognac — for the love of Christine Kaufmann.

"Wild and Wonderful," in color, co-starring Curtis and his wife, Miss Kaufmann, and a fabulous trained French poodle named Monsieur Cognac, shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

WATER!—"Sammy" just can't give the seal of approval to desert climate. Out of his element in Tucson, Ariz., he wants back in the tank—right now—picturesque background notwithstanding.

By Vern Sanford

Nearly every Texas stockman will agree that his Number 1 Animal Enemy today is the coyote.

Unfortunately for Texas stockmen there has been a steady increase in the number of coyotes — the past few years.

Simultaneously another problem has arisen — an increase in the use of the Western range by humans. This was unfortunate in that it prevented the scattering of cyanide poisons to control the coyote population. Such a control method is unique in areas where hunters, fishermen, campers, hikers, photographers, rockhounds, or just plain visitors with new-found leisure hours abound.

Cyanide cannot be safely used where children play. Nor can poisons selective to the canine family be employed where the tourists' pet dog will roam.

The coyote doesn't mind the increase in people, for Don Coyote is very adaptable. But increased public use of the great outdoors has hampered the activities of the predator control men.

With curtailed predator control, the sheepmen suffered big losses. The mohair goat raiser found it almost impossible to operate at a profit. Poultrymen suffered too. In Texas and Oklahoma, coyotes caused heavy losses among new born calves.

Something had to be done to stop the population explosion of coyotes without endangering the vacation seekers who invaded the scenic wonderlands of the West. So new tactics are being employed.

Wildlife researchers in the U. S. Department of Interior have come up with a plan of birth control — for coyotes.

Planned parenthood for predators is fast becoming a reality. Don Balsler, a research scientist with the Bureau's control methods section, operates out of the Wildlife Research Center in Denver, Colorado. There he is testing the results of feeding stilbesterol to coyotes during the breeding season. Initial results have been good.

The coyote that eats a bait treated with this reproduction inhibiting chemical simply does not become pregnant.

If embryo implantation has taken place when the stilbesterol is ingested the embryos are resorbed by the female, and she does not give birth. The coyote doesn't know that any change has taken place, but when the annual crop of pups is prevented from being born, the population of coyotes in the treated area drops sharply.

It seems that research has come up with a tool in coyote control which comes near to pleasing everyone. Groups of people who objected to other control methods in the belief that they were cruel or caused suffering to the animal can find no objection to the reproduction inhibitor which causes no pain, no suffering — no change at all except no pups are born that spring.

Those who feared coyote control programs because of alleged harmful effects on other species can now rest easier. The breeding season of coyotes coincides with the breeding season of very few other mammals. Hence, only the coyote is affected.

Dog lovers who objected to poisons, traps, and cyanide getters because they feared for Old Rovers safety, can relax when the method of control is the reproduction inhibitor. If a dog takes one of the stilbesterol baits, the only result is that it cannot be bred that particular season.

As coyotes come into season only once a year — and does more often — there can be no loss to the dog lover.

Sheepmen who feared the coyote because it killed hapless newborn lambs in the spring of the year, when it had a den full of pups to feed, can breathe easier. Relieved of the necessity of foraging for a litter of hungry pups, the adult coyote does not need to kill as often and is more apt to content itself with natural foods — sparing the sheep.

In 1963, a team of men operating under Mr. Balsler's direction inhibiting baits on a 720-square mile area in south-eastern New Mexico. Government trappers kept track of the number of denning females taken.

Winters Couple On West Coast Trip Visited Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baughan of Seminole have returned from a vacation trip to California and visits with relatives in that state and along the West Coast. At Westmoreland they visited their brother, C. R. (Joe) Sneed.

Mrs. Baughan's son, Weldon Duke, who is stationed at 29 Palms, accompanied them on a sight-seeing trip to tourists attractions including Knott's Berry Farm, Disneyland and Marine Land.

In Los Angeles they went to Chinatown and attended a baseball game between the Los Angeles Angels and the Washington Senators at Dodger Stadium. They visited their aunt, Mrs. Lora Holder, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Devore, and then took the scenic drive on the West Coast to Monterey and visited the Hearst Castle at San Simeon.

At San Francisco they crossed the Golden Gate Bridge and the Oakland Bridge and at Stockton they visited relatives, the Bob Goulds, former residents of Wingate.

Enroute home they went to Yosemite National Park, Los Vegas, Boulder Dam and through the Oak Creek Canyon at Flagstaff, Arizona.

VISITS GRANDPARENTS
Sharon, Michial, Linda and Tommy Stoecker of Abilene spent the week end with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stoecker while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stoecker visited in San Antonio with his sister, Ruth Stoecker.

They performed autopsies on all females taken in normal control operations. Results were very encouraging. So this year the testing area is being enlarged.

At the present time, reproduction inhibiting time baits are being exposed on the Mt. Home desert in Idaho, and on 150 townships in southern New Mexico. These areas were selected either because they had a high coyote population or because of the areas around that have been traditional trouble spots, with heavy losses to marauding coyotes.

After the durg has had time to take effect, Mr. Balsers men will take every coyote they can to examine reproductive tracts and to determine whether or not the Planned Parenthood Program has succeeded or failed.

Research Scientist Balsler is careful to point out that this program still is in its research stage, but livestock interests all over the West are watching eagerly for the results of the large-scale tests of this spring. If initial results of 1963 are confirmed by the more extensive tests of 1964, then we can say that research has solved still another knotty problem of wildlife management.

Maybe soon we can adjust the numbers of coyotes to suit the needs of the land — and the landowners — without endangering any other species of wildlife or domestic animals.

Perhaps Planned Parenthood for Coyotes is the answer.

Roger Babson Says— Consumer Habits Changing Fast And Dramatically In United States

Babson Park, Mass., Consumer markets are being reshaped so fast, so dramatically, and on such a wide geographic scale that I sometimes wonder how many of my readers recognize the extent of the "revolution." The people I most want to talk to about this are, of course, those of you involved in manufacturing, retailing, the services, advertising, or promotion in general.

Personal Incomes Climbing Fast

One of the key reasons why consumer habits are experiencing such a dynamic change is the unprecedented growth in personal incomes. During 1963, for instance, about a million family units were newly raised into the income bracket of $10,000 a year or better, carrying the total for this secure economic group of buyer units to an all-time high of 12.3 million. It should be noted, in fact, that at least a third of these had incomes over $15,000. Also important is the knowledge that 1963 saw a reduction of 700,000 in marketing families earning less than $4,000 a year.

The thing I want to stress about this trend is that it does not mean that families simply buy more of what they have always bought, but that they are learning to look for better-quality goods. The tendency toward luxuries and toward higher living standards is also strongly on the increase. More money is being laid out for foreign travel, better automobiles, boats, and probably most important of all — higher education. As a matter of fact, the education "explosion" is having a tremendous effect on buying habits, and will continue to do so over the years ahead.

Education's Effect On Sales

Searching out the latest statistics, I have found that, while the population of our nation contained only 7.5 million college-educated men and women 20 years ago, it now has 16 million. And this uptrend is gaining at a great rate. In fact, government observers anticipate that the college-educated will total 20 million by 1970, and will reach as high as 28 million during the following decade. Already, estimates have it that 20 per cent of our households are headed by at least one parent with a higher education.

Add these facts to the increasing personal incomes and you have a buying public with far more sophisticated tastes than ever before, especially when you consider that the college-educated people are almost always in the best salary brackets. Hence this growing part of the consuming public must be an important consideration in your planning for future goods, promotion programs, packaging, and sales attitudes generally.

Circling Out From The Center

Whenever there is a revolutionary social trend, as in the current outburst of enthusiasm for higher education, its effects

She carried a white carnation bouquet.

A reception was held in the Training work auditorium adjoining the church building.
