HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

With all the hullabaloo regarding the status of the Poll Tax in Texas, there still remains in the minds of many the question of whether payment of this tax will be a necessary qualification for voting in elections this year.

Officials have time and again pointed out that, as it stands now, payment of the Poll Tax will be required before any voter (except those with average exemptions and first voters) will be permitted to cast a ballot in any local, county or state election this year.

Those who keep hoping that the question will be resolved before any elections this year are treading on thin ice, because it is not likely. Therefore, in order to protect your right to voice your choice in elections this year, advice is that you secure that little piece of paper called the Poll Tax Receipt before the deadline—Jan. 31. Without it, you'll be on the outside looking in come election time.

There will be a good bit of activity at the polls this year, too. First, the school board elections, then city elections, both in April. Primaries in May and general election in November. And there could be other special elections during the year in which you would be powerless to give your opinion of candidates or issues without a Poll Tax Receipt.

Just a few more days in which to get this important chore done. Deadline is Jan. 31, 1966!

Winters Volunteer Fire Department is calling for bids on their 1965 Ford station wagon, which has been in use as an emergency vehicle. Spokesmen for the department have said there has been some question as to the reason this vehicle is being put up for sale to the highest bidder.

The reason it is for sale, firemen said, is that a good while ago the fire department decided it would be better to have a new model station wagon on hand at all times to use as an emergency vehicle. When one is sold, they said, another would be ordered to take its place so that there would never be an available.

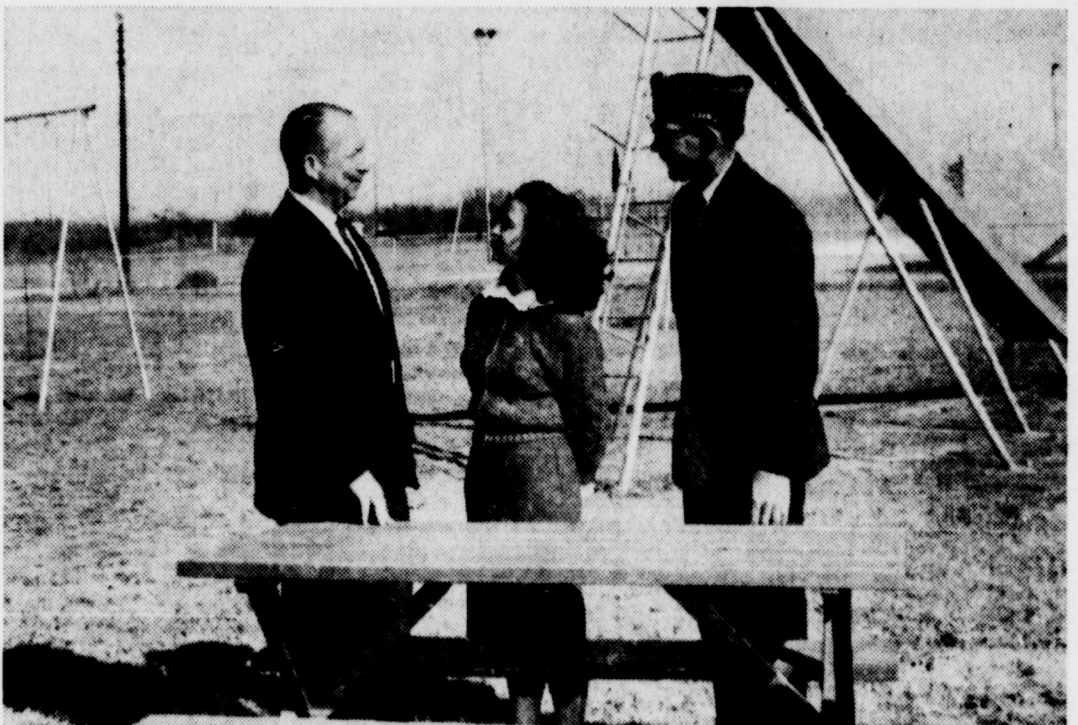

This emergency vehicle is equipped with all types of life-saving apparatus: oxygen, lifelines, gas masks, and the like. When the fire fighting equipment rolls, the emergency vehicle rolls too. Because it is never known when a call comes in whether a life is in danger. The emergency car also makes special calls even without the fire trucks—if there is need for the equipment it carries. The oxygen it carries has been used to help firemen who have been almost overcome by smoke—this alone is worth the price of the vehicle and equipment.

Department spokesmen also have emphasized that the vehicle is bought and paid for by funds from the department—there is no public money, that is, tax money, used in the purchase of the car. The original car was purchased with funds collected by popular subscription and department money.

The firemen and their friends pay for the cars further than that, some of the individual firemen signed personal notes to help pay for the present vehicle.

While we talk so much of freedom for other people, we should take stock of the status of our own freedom. Is it a quality of freedom that rings true? In one way or another, more people each day are being required to do what they are told to do by some authority, and more and more frequently that authority has its source in Washington. The growing voice of authority is inevitable because authority, mainly federal authority, holds the purse strings. The existing prosperity of countless industries, businessmen, farmers, whole communities, is at the absolute mercy of those who award the contracts, the subsidies, the matching funds, or whatever you wish to call them.

As we enter the new year, we should resolve that the constitutional system of government—a government of checks and balances as laid down by the founders of the nation—is the best kind of a government to live under; that the rights of private property and persons are to be held inviolate.

GIFT TO PARK—One of the many projects of Winters Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary has been to provide equipment for the City Park and playground. Recently, Mayor W. M. Hays, on behalf of the citizens of Winters, accepted from officers of the organizations picnic tables to be installed at the park. Shown making the presentation are Mrs. J. L. Morrow, president of the Auxiliary, and W. E. Arnold, commander of the local veterans' post. The organizations previously had presented slides and swings to the playground at the park. Recent Audit Reflects Good Fiscal Position Of The City of Winters

A positive and strong financial position for the City of Winters is reflected in the annual audit report, released the first of this week. The audit covers the fiscal year Oct. 1, 1964, to Sept. 30, 1965, and was conducted by the firm of Cherry, Eckert and Story, public accountants of San Angelo.

The audit indicates that every department of the City of Winters is on a sound financial footing.

In their cover letter accompanying the audit report, the auditors emphasized that their examination covered the financial position, cash on deposit, income, investments, notes and contracts.

As of Sept. 30, 1965, the audit report shows, the City of Winters has a total of $689,000 in bonds outstanding, with several departments represented. Payments on bonds during the past fiscal year reduced outstanding indebtedness from $732,000.00 the report indicates.

Tax bond obligations account for $365,000.00 of the indebtedness, with revenue bonds making up the difference. However, $120,000.00 of this total is a liability of the Municipal Light Plant, for a generating engine the cost of which was under-

School Census Will Begin On January 10th

The annual census of all scholastics for the Winters Independent School District will begin Jan. 10 and end Jan. 31, Superintendent of Schools Robert F. Christian has announced.

Registration of all scholastics is necessary in order to determine state assistance and in setting up grade sections for 1966-67, the superintendent said.

Children to be included in the census are those who will be between the ages of six and eighteen on Sept. 1, 1966. This includes all children living in the district whether or not they are enrolled in school at the present time, and any married people between this age.

Census slips will be sent home with each student and parents are asked to complete the census form for each child in the family.

If parents or friends have or know of six year old children who should be enumerated in the current census, they are asked to notify the school immediately.

Winters Public Library Begins Twelfth Year

On January 4 the Winters Public Library marked the beginning of the 12th year of operation, with the new year beginning with many new books being placed on the shelves.

During the last year, Miss Myra Glover, librarian, reports a total of 11,759 books were read from the library, with the summer reading program for the library during 1965. More than 100 school children joined the reading club, she said.

This week plans will be discussed of an entirely different type of reading program for next summer, Miss Glover said. The library club will complete the plans at a later date, she said.

The Winters Public Library is supported by a small membership fee, fines on overdue books, and donations from civic clubs and individuals. No public monies have been used in operation of the library.

During 1965, Miss Glover said, more than three hundred new books were purchased. Many of these books were presented by individuals and families in memory of friends and loved ones.

Books are arriving daily, the librarian said, with latest additions including Billy Graham's "World Aflame," Irving Stone's "Those Who Love," Yutang's "Flight of the Innocents," and "First Ladies In Fashion," "Quest for the Dead Sea Scrolls," and many others.

Library hours are from 2 to 6 p. m. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

"Bring your old jewelry and anything else you have loose around the house . . . even your husband. We're having a white elephant sale." The speaker was president of the local Parent-Teachers' Assn. and she was promoting their fund-raising activity.

No one gets very excited about a white elephant sale. The one thing you probably won't find there is a white elephant. But this pleasant pastime is an excellent means of raising money, and people who buy white elephants frequently resell their property to other buyers at other white elephant sales, so it keeps the money circulating if nothing else.

Albino or white elephants are born sometimes, just as other albinos pop up in other genera of the animal and vegetable kingdoms . . . yes, even in man! The white elephant was sacred to the Siamese just as the white buffalo was sacred to the American Indians.

In Siam, the white elephant could not be used for work, and when one was born, it required a full-time keeper to groom and feed it. Boarding the critter was expensive so it became the custom of the King of Siam, when he wanted to dispose of the services of a courtier who displeased him, to make the courtier a present of a white elephant. The recipient was usually ruined by the cost of the animal's maintenance.

The next time you are tempted to buy a "white elephant," remember this.

Resolve To Reduce Children's Risk of Heart Attack, Association Urges

"Resolved, that in 1966 I will take precautions to reduce my children's risk of heart attack in their adult years."

This resolution was proposed for the New Year by the Southwest Texas Heart Association which pointed out that proper heart and health habits formed early in life can make the difference between a high or low risk of heart attack in middle age.

All parents were asked to cooperate in a risk-reducing regime by taking these specific steps:

1. Get the basic facts about heart disease from your local Heart Association and pass them on to your children.
2. Take your children to see the doctor regularly, promoting the idea of periodic physical examinations.
3. Help your children form good diet habits. Serve less saturated fat and substitute unsaturated fat wherever possible. Serve fewer cholesterol-rich foods. These are important safeguards against hardening of the arteries, which sets the stage for heart attack.
4. Discourage overeating and don't "push seconds." Remember, the most stubborn cases of obesity are those established in childhood. Obesity raises the adult's chance of getting high blood pressure and diabetes—both heart attack risk factors.
5. Encourage youngsters to keep physically fit by participating in active sports and other forms of regular exercise.

Accidental injuries in the United States each year result in 114 million days spent in bed, 84 million workdays lost, and 12 million lost school days.

Deaths from heart failure during deer hunting season occur three times as frequently as accidental deaths while hunting.

State Capital Highlights—

Big Prize On Political Scene In Texas Is Control Of Demo Party

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

One of the big sleeper battles on the Texas political scene during 1966 will be for control of the state Democratic party machinery.

Some observers think this brewing struggle is behind the fuss between U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Gov. John Connally. Few think Yarborough has any intention of running against Connally for governor, as some have suggested.

But there is every reason to believe that Yarborough will be the key figure in any all-out liberal Democratic effort to wrest control of the State party committee from hands of the governor's friends.

Shifting population patterns and legislative redistricting tend to shorten long odds against a liberal victory in this year's conventions. Half the 6,000-plus delegates to the September state Democratic convention will come from 12 major counties where liberals are gathering strength.

Furthermore, the big counties will have more members on state party committees. This because of the Senate redistricting act, which adds senatorial representation in Bexar, Dallas and Harris Counties.

A personality clash at the top leadership level is necessary to whip up enthusiasm for convention warfare. The feud between Connally and Yarborough most likely will provide the spark that sets off the 1966 version of a familiar state Democratic fight.

Stakes are high, for not only is the party committee an effective power base but a powerful instrument in the process by which delegates are selected to the future (1968) presidential nominating convention.

Not since the administration of Coke Stevenson has a Texas governor lost control of the state Democratic party machinery.

BIG SAVINGS AIDED
State Finance Commission has adopted new regulations, effective January 1. Rules allow higher interest to depositors with big savings accounts and an interest break for late depositors in Texas chartered savings and loan associations.

Old rules required uniform interest rates for all savings accounts in the associations. This new variable interest order, still partially subject to approval by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, is aimed at placing the state-chartered savings associations in a better competitive position with banks and federally-chartered savings associations.

One provision would allow "time account certificates" for investors who will keep $1,000 or more in savings for at least a year.

Other regulations would provide for paying a full month's dividend on money deposited by the 20th of the month instead of the 10th and for a full month's dividends on money withdrawn during the last three business days of a dividend period.

Under state regulation, associations have no ceiling on the dividends they may vote. However, interest returns have been running about 4 1/4 to 4 1/2 per cent.

Federal regulations adopted in December have boosted allowed dividends up to 5 1/2 per cent on time deposits.

GIANT PARKS PLAN IN OFFING

Most extensive state parks and recreation plan in Texas history may be submitted to the Legislature next year, says Governor Connally.

He may ask the lawmakers to approve a $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 land purchase program for parks during the next biennium. Total budget for parks this biennium is only $5,400,000. However, that is more than has been spent on the system for the past 10 years.

In mid-December Connally said he will tour the state during 1966 discussing needs and plans—including an "expansive and ambitious" parks-recreation development.

State Parks and Wildlife Department announced recently that additional facilities are being planned for all types of outdoor recreation including boating, fishing, water skiing, canoeing, swimming, sailing, bicycling, sightseeing, horseback riding, golf, hunting, "rock hounding" and nature study.

CONNALLY APPOINTS
Governor Connally has appointed A. L. Dear, executive vice president and general manager of the Palestine Savings and Loan Association, as a member of the Upper Neches Municipal Water Authority.

PROBING THE PAGODA—U.S. Marines cautiously search around a small village pagoda before moving across an exposed paddy during fighting near Hoy An, South Viet Nam. The Marines moved in to help dig out Viet Cong units that had inflicted heavy casualties on South Vietnamese troops.

Dear, 54, succeeds Eugene Fish of Palestine, for a term expiring Jan. 1, 1971. Fish was one of the men who pushed Lake Palestine to a reality, but died before it could be completed.

BOAT REGISTRATIONS DUE SOON

More than 200,000 motorboats are subject to registration by April 1 under Texas' new Water Safety Act, so warns State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer.

Present certificates expire on March 31.

New law authorizes the motor vehicle division of the Texas Highway Department to issue certificates for boats operating in state waters. Same division handles license and title procedures for autos.

Renewal notices covering boats already registered now are being mailed out, along with a brochure outlining the Water Safety Act. Under its provisions, state game wardens now have full authority, for the first time, to enforce water safety statutes.

New registrations will cover a two-year period. Fees range from $3 for boats less than 15 feet long, to $12 for those 40 feet and larger.

Safety equipment requirements include lightings, horns, bells, fire extinguishers and flame arresters. Also required are rear view mirrors on boats towing skiers.

BUILDING GAINS

November building throughout Texas increased seven per cent, despite a traditional decline during the 11th month.

A report from the UT Bureau of Business Research also shows total construction for the month came to $133,631,000, a figure exceeded only during August and in November, 1964. Texas building during 1965 did not set a record. Record belongs to 1964.

U. S. Department of Commerce sees a nationwide 11 per cent increase in nonresidential building for 1966, but only a "small advance" in private housing construction.

COUNTIES ATTACK PROBLEMS

Texas counties now may get busy planning to solve their complex problems on a regional scale with state and federal aid.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr paved the way with an opinion saying the State Health Department is authorized by a 1961 act to "arrange planning assistance" when counties request it.

Cities and counties may pool problems and resources in a broad planning program under an act passed last spring.

Health Department has served as the administering agency for small cities in the past, and will continue this function. Federal funds are available for part of the cost — normally two-thirds for cities and up to three-fourths for cities in depressed areas.

Although no Texas county has a master plan in effect, some have been awaiting the green light from the attorney general so the federal agencies could provide the needed money.

Bexar, El Paso, Ector, Grayson, Jefferson, Nueces, Harris, Tom Green, Orange, Tarrant, Dallas, Denton and several other counties with rapidly changing areas are expected to join the program. Applications are made to the Health Department.

GATESVILLE BUILDINGS

Attorney General Carr has ruled that the Texas Water Development Board may pay the tuition fees of two employees to attend an eight-day course in Earth Control and Investigation conducted by the Bureau of Reclamation, in the Denver Laboratories. Tuition total would be $300.

In other rulings, Carr said: Firemen who participate in firemen's relief and retirement fund can draw out all payments made prior to August 23, 1963, when leaving fire department employment.

Special service charges and penalties assessed against small accounts by depositors cannot be considered in determining whether deposits are dormant and subject to escheat by state.

FEDERAL ROLE INCREASES

Federal government has become a virtual dictator over management of Texas Employment Commission's operation of unemployment compensation and job placement programs, a new Texas Research League study maintains.

Bureau of Employment Security of U. S. Department of Labor has tightened controls over expenditures, administration and program leadership, study reports.

"The federal-state partnership which congress intended to prevail... has deteriorated to the point where the federal agency tends to dictate the details of day-to-day management," says the League.

A real federal-state partnership concept can be restored, the study observes, only if congress: (1) restores to states responsibility for allocating earmarked administrative funds on a workable formula and (2) provides for judicial review of issues between a state and federal agency.

Roger Babson Says

Without Big Supply of Borrowed Money Business Would Suffer

Babson Park, Mass. Everybody wants money. Businessmen are borrowing it. So are house owners, consumers, towns, and speculators in common stocks and real estate. Bank loans to business have climbed 20 per cent in the most recent twelve-month period. Just how rapid a rush into debt this can be measured by contrasting the 7 per cent to 10 per cent advances in commercial loans that took place in the three prior years.

Swamped In A Sea Of Debt
Everybody is in favor of prosperity. As Al Smith once so aptly put it, nobody wants to "shoot Santa Claus." It is widely understood today that without abundant money supplies made available through borrowings, the business boom of recent years would run out of steam and grind to a halt.

But unfortunately, it is not so widely understood that money supply created by borrowing means that for every dollar of loan there must be an offsetting dollar of debt. Debt which must be repaid. Furthermore history shows that the gravest economic difficulties beset the businessmen and consumer alike when credit (debt) becomes overextended. Any upsurge to the economy could start a rush for the liquidation doors. And a prosperity that was floating along merrily on a tide of credit suddenly would become swamped in a sea of debt.

Battle Of The Rate
That is what the U. S. money managers were worrying about when they hiked the rediscount rate from 4 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent on December 3. For some time, debt had been expanding more rapidly than the output of our economy. The Federal Reserve Board is charged by a law that was written over a half century ago with the duty of providing business with sufficient credit to meet legitimate needs of growth, but not so much as to touch off a runaway inflationary boom.

But human nature hasn't changed. Just as in the late 19th Century—in the days of William Jennings Bryan who visualized the "hard money" men of that era as crucifying the nation on a "cross of gold"—the "easy money" men of today sprang immediately to attack the Conservative Members of the Federal Reserve Board as foes of the "little man" and as "boom killers."

Real Danger
To understand why the money managers acted contrary to the expressed point of view of the President and of many congressmen, one should scan the history of U. S. banking. We started well enough with a federal central bank, but the great populist, Andrew Jackson, soon returned banking to "the people," in the form of state banks. The record of boom and bust was so notorious that a National Banking System was voted in 1863. This too saw a succession of credit expansions and disastrous debt contractions. Finally, the Federal Reserve Act set up the present system providing that the governing board be independent of political influence.

Hence, if any Administration should "pack" the Board with "easy-money" governors, the basic intent of the Federal Reserve Act would be destroyed. Even more important, the U. S., in the eyes of the Free World, would be viewed as an irresponsible inflationist. The impact on the dollar and on our prestige worldwide could be disastrous.

Net Without Hope
One of the first and truly biggest jobs for the U. S. today is to contain the Red tide in Asia. War's escalation could bring huge demands for financing our effort there. The interest rate on U. S. bonds must be high enough to attract buyers. The Fed's action in hiking rates may accomplish just that. And, in the long run, if more costly interest keeps prosperity from spinning off course, the price will be a small one. But we must not forget that three decades ago an aroused people bent back a move to pack the Supreme Court. If a packing of the Reserve Board becomes an issue in the months ahead, we can again have real hope that the public will rise to the defense of the independence of our money and credit "watchdogs."

STUDY—Studying his school work, Pinocchio's attention is called to the news reports of another damaging exploit in space by Astro, the jet-propelled rogue whale, in the full length cartoon in color, "Pinocchio in Outer Space," a Universal release, showing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

The Family Lawyer

Instead Of Bankruptcy

To the wage earner drowning in a sea of debt, the Bankruptcy Act offers two kinds of rescue. One is bankruptcy itself, whereby most of a person's debts are wiped out. Last year about 155,000 individuals chose that course.

The second alternative, although not so well known, has been gaining favor steadily in recent years. Called the Wage Earner Plan, it is designed for the person who is ready, willing, able (eventually) to pay his debts—if only he can have a breathing spell to put his finances in better shape.

Although the Wage Earner Plan is administered by the bankruptcy court, the debtor continues to be called a "debtor"—never a "bankrupt." In a typical case it works this way:

The debtor agrees to turn over a fixed percentage of his weekly wages to a court-appointed trustee, who makes regular payments to the creditors. In return, the debtor is protected from wage attachments and most other forms of pressure by creditors.

In short, the Wage Earner Plan gives a debtor time to pay his debts gradually, under the protecting wing of the court. It requires an OK by a majority of the unsecured creditors, and also by the court.

Under what circumstances will the court approve a debtor's application? There are two main tests:

1) Financial — The debtor's earnings must be large enough, in proportion to his debt burden to give a reasonable chance of success. As a rule, the court will approve only if his debts can be paid off in not more than three years, using not more than 25 per cent of his income.

2) Moral — The debtor must have an earnest desire to make good on his obligations, even at the cost of prolonged belt-tightening and penny-pinching. And, in most cases, his wife must share that desire.

The Wage Earner Plan is not an easy alternative. Nevertheless, last year about 27,000 debtors chose that way of keeping the stigma of bankruptcy from their record.

For, even though debt is not considered as sinful as it once was, there still are a lot of job applications and credit forms that ask the question: "Were you ever a bankrupt?"

And there still is comfort in being a person who, like Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's village blacksmith, "looks the whole world in the face, for he owes not any man."

MOVIES

"Pinocchio in Outer Space." That charming puppet, known by children around the world, Pinocchio, has a brand new adventure in "Pinocchio in Outer Space," a Universal release of a full length, wide screen color cartoon showing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre. Based on an original idea by Norm Prescott with the screenplay by Fred Laderman, it is not a remake. The classic character is involved in a fairy tale of the future.

"Flash, the Teenage Otter." Walt Disney has learned that non-professionals often make the best actors, particularly in films of a documentary nature where realism is of prime importance. Disney came to this realization when he cast "non-actors" in his newest nature featurette, "Flash, the Teenage Otter," with gratifying results.

This heartwarming story of an otter, his life and misadventures, was filmed entirely on location in the lake region of Wisconsin and the script called for several live actors. Rather than import them from Hollywood or New York, it was decided to have these roles played by local citizens.

Shows Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

"Red Line 7000" Few spectator spurs can match stock car racing for sheer excitement, and producer-director Howard Hawks provides plenty of that in his latest Paramount Picture release, "Red Line 7000," which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre.

"Red Line 7000" is an exciting and tense red-blooded drama about racing drivers and the girls they love, played against actual backgrounds at Daytona, Darlington, Charlotte, Riverside and other famous American speedways.

The youthful starring cast includes Gail Hare, Laura Devon, James Ward, Norman Alden, Charlene Holt, John Robert Crawford, Marianna Hill and James Caan.

Now this tense and adventurous arena of speed and death is admirably entwined with the lives of those involved to make an authentic and truly breathtaking motion picture. The daring, the personal excitement, the loves, the lives and the tragedies of the track become alive with tremendous force. Howard Hawks not only relives a lost love of his youth, racing, but also brings forth a great film charged with fine performances by a group of new faces that surely will be tomorrow's bright stars.

Major L. L. Lackey Aboard Lost Plane Off Turkish Coast

Major Lester L. Lackey of Lubbock, son-in-law of a former Winters resident, Mrs. A. T. Lindley of Abilene, is listed as missing over the Black Sea, north of the Turkish coast on a flight with his B-57 bomber from Inerlik Air Base, near Adana, Turkey.

The Major had been on what the Air Force described as a routine training mission from his base at Rhein Main Airport in West Germany last Tuesday. He and his navigator, 1st Lt. Robert A. Yates of Ridgewood, New York were last heard from at a point 90 miles north of Turkey's coast.

He is the husband of Peggy Jean Lindley, who was reared in Winters, and the daughter of Mrs. Oma Lindley of Abilene and the late Dr. A. T. Lindley. She has been living in Germany with her husband for some time.

Congressman Omar Burleson wired Abilene relatives that the intensive search had been suspended. His status is listed as missing until something further develops. Wreckage of the plane has been found and identified in the Black Sea.
