Interim Report On Progress of Construction of Winters' New Water Settling Basin:

Main excavation on the project has been completed. Big 16-inch supply lines from present plant to new clarifier have been installed, with necessary fittings and piping.

Excavation completed and sumps for draining and cleaning have been poured and piping installed.

Reinforcing steel for the floor and sides of the 90-foot diameter settling basin expected to arrive within a few days. This steel must be installed, and then forms built before pouring of concrete is started.

Work on the project is reported "on schedule."

Water Superintendent W. D. Waggoner reports that Tuesday, June 14, saw the heaviest demand for water so far this summer. Consumption was "more than a million gallons" for the day.

With demand at this high level, with the present water treating plant, the water has only a little more than an hour to "settle out" before being pumped into distribution lines. Depending upon the weather, consumption is expected to reach a million and a half gallons before summer ends. (The new settling basin, when completed, with more than 900,000 gallon capacity, will provide more than 12 hours settling time.)

Grain men say they "usually get some kind of rain" during the annual wheat harvest. But this year has been different—no rain had been received through Wednesday of this week, and about all of the wheat has been cut.

This dry weather has been of some advantage in getting the grain out, but cotton and milo fields are beginning to get a bit thirsty. Farmers who raise wheat, cotton and milo must go through a period of mixed emotions about this time every year.

"Lack of communication" has been used as the excuse for riots about the country. Our old friend out on Bluff Creek wonders if the opposite could be used as an excuse for him to turn to rioting and demonstrating in an attempt to gain his preferences—such as communications from bureaucrats urging him to turn his fields out to pasture; or communications to the effect that the nation's surplus of wheat is getting dangerously low; or communications warning him not to plant too much of anything; communications from bureaucrats urging him not to spend too much at this time in order to keep down inflation; communications advising him how much the good old government is going to "give" him; communications telling him how much of his income he can keep. He figures he's got a good case for starting a riot on his own—if he can only find an extra dime to buy materials needed to fix up a molotov cocktail.

There has been a Resolution introduced in Congress which has not received much publicity; and the odds are that government leaders would rather not call it to public attention. The Resolution proposes to designate May 1 as a day of celebration—"National Tax Freedom Day." It would note the first day of the year that people begin working for themselves. From January 1 to April 30, every dollar the taxpayer earns belongs to the government; he must pay it out in federal, state or local taxes. In the words of the sponsor of the Resolution, "This is simply another way of saying that the average American's tax load is costing him one-third or more of his income. Certainly, this day (May 1) of relief throughout the land deserves to be marked appropriately, and the bill I propose would do this by giving it the status of a national holiday."

As Congress votes more billions to further the ideology of the complete welfare state, National Tax Freedom Day will move forward on the calendar. When it reaches July 4, will there still be reason to celebrate American independence? Will there be any?

IN THE SWIM — Donna Carroll, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Carroll, has had swimming lessons since she was three years old, and continues to take them. Instructors are Bo Killough, lifeguard at the Winters Municipal Pool, and Susan Roberts, one of the instructors. Regular swimming lessons will begin at the Municipal Pool June 27. Wayne Roberts, operator, has announced. Forty-five-minute class sessions will be held each morning. Teachers will be Killough, Miss Roberts, and Wayne Roberts. Other teachers will be added according to the enrollment so that each teacher will be able to give personal attention to the students.

Roberts said. Persons interested in the swimming lessons, for themselves or their children, are asked to contact the pool management so that classes may be assigned. Roberts reported that in the short time since the pool opened a little more than three weeks ago, 2,700 admissions have been recorded. (Photo by Little)

Fort Chadbourne Focal Center For Indian Fighters During Mid-1800's

(This is the third of a series of articles covering the early days of this area, written by Charlie Poe, Historian for the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee. Other articles will be forthcoming.)

BY CHARLIE POE
The Indians remained in possession of Runnels County for many years. Created by an act of the legislature long before the Civil War, the county remained uninhabited until 1852 when General Robert E. Lee, then a Colonel in the U. S. Army, established Fort Chadbourne on the advanced frontier line.

Some civilians gathered around the fort, considered to be in Runnels until 1880 when the county lines were established by survey and it was found to be in Coke County. Certificates were filed on a great deal of land around Fort Chadbourne while it was occupied. Two enterprising men, O. T. Taylor and Herman Aken, put in a large farm at the forks of Fish and Valley Creeks, about eight miles east of the fort, and raised hay for the army during 1856 and 57. Their farm was near what was known as Government Springs on Fish Creek, where the post obtained water and kept an outpost when necessary. However, the Indians became so annoying that Taylor and Aken abandoned the farm. The chimneys of their houses were standing and signs of the former were seen in 1880.

In February of 1861, Henry E. McCulloch made up a command, which included W. M. Lexon who died near Ballinger in 1902, and took possession of Ft. Chadbourne when the Federal soldiers left. He remained until the last of April and some Private Jack L. Hord finished his basic training with C (Charlie) Co, 4th Battalion, 1st Training Brigade on May 28 at Fort Polk, Louisiana. He spent a 14 day leave at home here with friends and relatives before reporting back to Fort Polk for advanced individual training in automotive and Motor Maintenance.

Peace Corps Volunteer Writes About Scenic Beauty In Africa

By Billy M. Pumphrey

Chunya, Tanzania — The Mbeya-Chunya road is unpaved, full of chugholes and large stones, and can, at times, be quite dangerous. Yet it is one of the most beautiful, scenic drives I've ever seen. We make the 45 mile trip at least every three weeks when we go into Mbeya for supplies and we have never failed to be impressed with the grandeur of the drive.

Leaving our school on the outskirts of Chunya we pass over small hills dotted with butts and covered with thick green vegetation. Native women dressed in their bright wrap-around dresses, often balancing a jar or load of fire wood on their heads with a baby strapped on their backs, hurry into the roadside bushes to avoid the dust from buses or trucks. Narrow one lane bridges cross small streams which are running now but will be empty in the coming dry season. Cords of chopped wood, large cans filled with potatoes, tomatoes and other produce are offered for sale in front of many huts.

Soon a chain of mountains become visible on the horizon and before long we find ourselves ascending into them. The huts get less numerous as it is cold in the mountains after the sun goes down. Many native trees dot the hill-sides and my favorite ones are the flat-topped acacias. Soon we

JOHNNY DENSON
... Perfect Attendance

Johnny Denson Had Perfect School Record

Graduation day a couple of weeks ago was a milestone in the lives of all Winters High School graduating seniors—but the event was of great personal significance to one of the graduates.

To Johnny Denson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Denson of the Wilmeth community, the final graduation exercises marked completion of twelve years of public schooling with an attendance record to be envied—for twelve years, Johnny was neither absent from school nor tardy.

During his twelve years in the Winters schools, Johnny was a band member for eight years. He was vice president of the band last year, and was a bus leader for three years.

To attend his graduation and to help him note his twelve years of perfect attendance, his sisters and their families came from Houston and Pasadena. They are Mr. and Mrs. Bo (Sandra) McMillan; Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Sylvia) Isbell, Josh, Jace and Jeree; Mrs. Sidney (Sharon) McGennis and Blair.

Shep Community Homecoming July 3

NUCLEAR SCIENCE—Edwin Robbins, center, science and math teacher in Winters High School, and Byron Anderson, right, senior in Winters High School, are pictured with Dr. H. P. Hanson, University of Texas, inspecting one of the displays at the Sixth Annual Nuclear Science Symposium at the University. Twenty-two students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities attended the conference which began Sunday, June 12, and ended Wednesday, June 15. The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. WTU is one of the sponsoring companies for TAERF, and paid all expenses for the 22 students and teachers attending from schools in the area. Some 500 selected high school science students and teachers who attended the sessions in Austin enjoyed the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists.

The Foundation is formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power. Fusion is the energy process of the sun and the stars.

Winters High School was one of 150 high schools in the state invited by the University of Texas to send a student and a teacher to the symposium. There are over one thousand accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas.

Council Approves City's Budget

Estimated income and expense in the operation of the several departments of the City of Winters for the next fiscal year will be about equal to that estimated for the present fiscal year, and for the last fiscal year.

The estimated City budget was approved by the Winters City Council Monday night following a public hearing on the proposal. Although publicized as an open public hearing on the budget proposal, only one interested citizen met with the members of the council, in addition to the several department heads. Besides the announcement of the open public hearing, mimeographed copies of the proposed budget were distributed about the city last week for examination by the public.

City officials pointed out that "the budget for the next fiscal year will be met with the current tax rate with no increase in taxes."

The budget, under which the departments of the City will operate from Oct. 1, 1966 to Sept. 30, 1967, indicates that officials expect figures in the revenue columns to be greater than those in the expense columns. They stressed that they intend to operate within the budget for the upcoming fiscal year. "This is definitely not a deficit budget," they pointed out.

Possibly the only exception will be operation of the Municipal Hospital. It is estimated, in the budget, that expenses will be greater than revenue for this department, as has been the case in past years. However, officials stressed the point that there will be an "unknown factor" in operation of the hospital beginning July 1, when Medicare becomes effective. There is no way to estimate or judge just what effect this program will have on cost and revenue factors in hospital operation, they said.

An increase in the amount of taxes to be collected during the next fiscal year is anticipated in the estimated budget for the present year. It was estimated that $87,985 in taxes would be taken in; this figure has been increased in the 1966-67 budget to $89,985. It was explained that new and additional construction and additions to the tax rolls would bring the figure for the new year up by $2,000. Also, anticipated collection of delinquent taxes has been increased slightly. During the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1965, $81,229 in taxes was collected.

Other income in the General Fund is estimated to bring the total revenue to $175,473 for the next year. Income will be from sanitary collections, parking meters, park revenue, oil leases, lake leases, gross receipts taxes from utility companies. Money in the General Fund which is not in use at any particular time during the year is invested in securities; the interest on these investments is expected to be $3,000 for the fiscal year.

Operating expenses for the General Fund for the year is budgeted at $143,600. Non-operating expenses, including bond principal payments and interest on bonds will be $31,275, bringing the total expense for the Fund to $174,875 for the year, slightly higher than that estimated for the present fiscal year. One of the items which has meant an increase in expenses for the General Fund as it has for all funds, is the increase estimated for Social Security Tax purposes. It is anticipated that this will cost the City's General Fund $810 the next fiscal year, whereas in the budget for the present year had this item at $390.

In the Street Department (General Fund), total expenses are expected to be $39,230, slightly higher than expenses for the present year. Again, payroll taxes are increased over the present year. Also, where seal coating for paved streets was budgeted at $2,250 for this year, this item was increased in next year's budget to $3,750.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL
Officials indicated that because of the many complexities surrounding the Medicare question, it is difficult to estimate what effect Federal participation in payment of hospital bills would have after the July 1 effective date. However, the budget was compiled as usual for this City department. Income has been estimated at $78,300 for the next fiscal year. Present year figures were $76,000; actual expenses for the last fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1965, as reflected by the audit report, were $68,066.

COMPLETES TRAINING — Seaman Recruit Charles W. Carter, 19, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carter of Winters, has completed seven weeks of Navy basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian to sailor, he was taught and supervised by experienced Navy petty officers. He learned the basic skills of seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other basic subjects.

Upon completion of his recruit training, he was assigned to a school, shore station or ship, according to the results of his Navy classification tests, his own desires, and the needs of the Navy.

Winters Municipal Hospital Eligible To Participate In Medicare Effective 1st

Winters Municipal Hospital is one of 14 hospitals in the 13-county San Angelo area currently eligible under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to participate in Medicare. It was announced this week by the assistant manager of the San Angelo Social Security District office.

The Winters hospital recently underwent a thorough inspection by representatives of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and State Health Department, in preparation for the Medicare program which will become effective July 1.

Also, the hospital superintendent, Mrs. Tommy Rougas, and the office manager, Mrs. Johnnie White, attended a class of instruction last week in Abilene to become familiar with Medicare procedures and regulations.

J. G. Keen, assistant manager of the San Angelo SS District Office, said that the absence of an area hospital's name on the current listing does not mean that the hospital will not be eligible for Medicare. He said that he expects nearly all hospitals to be eligible before the July 1 deadline.

Additional hospitals are being placed on the eligible list as quickly as their status can be reviewed and approved, the assistant manager said. Names of these other hospitals will be announced as soon as they are released by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

As of June 10, a total of 428 hospitals in Texas already were listed as eligible as were more than 72 percent of the hospitals in the nation, the Social Security representative said. Hospitals in this area, currently listed as eligible, include: Ballinger Memorial Hospital; Reagan Memorial Hospital, Big Lake; Brady Hospital & Clinic, Medical & Surgical Hospital, Brady; Bronte Hospital; Concho County Hospital, Eden; Menard Hospital, Menard; Crockett County Hospital, Ozona; West Coke County Hospital, Robert Lee; Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital, San Angelo; St. John's Hospital, San Angelo; Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital, Sonora; Sterling County Hospital, Sterling City; and Winters Municipal Hospital.

production starring Sidney Poitier, Anne Bancroft, Telly Savalas and Steven Hill, showing Saturday night only at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre, offers a flawless experience in motion picture suspense.

It is the first major film to deal thoroughly and with searing realism on an attempted suicide. Siegfriede Edith Schmuck and Rev. Joe F. Kraatz Wed at Port Arthur Wedding vows were repeated Saturday June 11, at 4 o'clock in the St. John's Lutheran Church at Port Arthur, when Siegfriede Edith Schmuck became the bride of the Rev. Joe F. Kraatz, pastor of the St. Mark Lutheran Church at Bridge City, former resident of Winters.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Helmut P. Schmuck, who were present at the ceremony from Woellmarsausen, Germany. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kraatz of Winters.

The Rev. A. D. Klages officiated for the ceremony before the altar where several arrangements of white summer flowers enhanced the sanctuary.

Mrs. Earl Marsch was the organist. She accompanied Mrs. G. B. Hutchinson, a former resident of Bridge City, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Mien Glaebigjes Herze" by Bach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, wore a gown of white satin overlaid with lace except for the front panel which was outlined with lace scallops, widening at the hemline. A small satin bow centered the demure neckline. The chapel train was also of lace and the long sleeves were complimented by white satin gloves. A circlet of white tulle roses accented with tiny green leaves, held the full length veil.

The bridal gown was selected in Germany when the bride was home last Christmas. Her corsage was of pink roses and white carnations.

Ursula Schmuck attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Margie Ann and Roselyn Jane Kraatz, sisters of the bridegroom, Ruth Ann Birkman of Port Arthur and Victoria Outlaw of Beaumont. Marcia Hansen was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore identical jade green peau de soie empire style full length sleeveless gowns with long white gloves. Bottle green velvet ribbons trimmed the gowns. Brief green veils fell from the bow of velvet ribbon headpiece. Each carried a single pink carnation. The junior bridesmaid's dress was light green with dark green ribbon trim and bow.

Ronald Kraatz attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were R. D. White of Texarkana, brother-in-law of the groom, the Rev. Calvin Goerdel, J. A. Barnes of Dallas, uncle of the groom.

Both cakes served at the reception held in the church parlor were decorated in the religious

County Showing Of "Restless Ones" In Ballinger June 20-22

"The Restless Ones," considered the most successful motion picture yet produced by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown in Ballinger on June 20, 21, 22 at the Texas Theatre. Picture begins at 6:15 and 8:30 p. m.

With the accent on youth, this feature-length film deals imaginatively and dramatically with the teen-age crisis. With a background setting provided by the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, and artfully woven into the story pattern, "The Restless Ones" is a hard-hitting, bold approach to our social problems.

Here is a film which dares to be different, a story which will stir the heart and mind. Having seen "The Restless Ones," you will never be the same.

Screen writer James Collier has skillfully brought into focus the contemporary plight of both teen-agers and parents. A sensitive script, produced by World Wide Pictures under the direction of Dick Ross, has resulted in a "break-through" in "The Restless Ones."

Tickets are available at the First Savings & Loan branch office in Winters.

RELAX in AIR-CONDITIONED COMFORT...

Judgment Counts In Water Code
The fine print NOT in the new state water safety code may trick some water sports enthusiasts into hazardous areas, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.
The regulations spell out the more obvious equipment requirements, limitations on boat operation affecting skiers and swimmers, about sobriety, about boat licenses, transfer of ownership, lost or destroyed certificates and about reporting accidents.

There is generous detail about driver discipline and responsibility, about willful, wantonly reckless or negligent driving. Also strong emphasis on such words as "reasonable" and "prudent" and about "hazardous wakes or wash."

And it's against regs to anchor a boat in the traveled portion of any river or channel. It's not legal to water ski later than one hour after sunset and earlier than one hour before sunrise.

But it's the unwritten law angles that may trip a lot of water sports, as the Department sees it. The statewide law does NOT forbid, for example, boat drivers sitting on the back of the seat, or on the side of the cockpit.

The state law does NOT forbid persons sitting on the forward end of the boat, or otherwise occupying areas such as cabin tops not designed for human occupancy.

The law does not stipulate distances between moving boats and permanent installations, such as docks and moving watercraft.

But the Department's files are beginning to bulge with the grim details of persons violating commonsense precautions.
The files also reflect, from the last monthly arrest reports, that game wardens now sharing responsibility for protecting water sports enthusiasts, issued 42 tickets last month. 39 of them for lacking a life jacket for each person in boats.

State Capital Highlights—

Insurance Board Disturbed By Cancellation of Some Car Insurance

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
State Board of Insurance is disturbed over the "growing tendency" of some insurance companies to cancel out or refuse to renew auto coverage on certain classes of drivers.

At its mid-week (June 15) rate hearing, Board debated whether it should ask for new legislation or put into effect new administrative regulations to deal with the situation.

Board Chairman Wm. Hunter McLean said more and more drivers are being forced into higher-cost "assigned risk plan" coverage because of "unwillingness" of companies to voluntarily issue insurance to young drivers, older drivers and drivers with poor driving records.

"Another insurance rate boost is anticipated due to increasing accidents, injuries and traffic deaths, and higher repair and hospital costs. Rates were boosted 13.4 per cent in 1965. McLean placed these among items for consideration at the mid-week meeting:

Revival of a "penalty system" based on number of accidents and serious traffic violations in figuring rates. A version of the system was abandoned four years ago after a brief trial and strong public opposition.

Alteration of the assigned risk plan to force all companies to take a proportionate share of "sub-standard" risk coverage.

Action to curb mass cancellations due to class, age, territory or agency and individual cancellations of policies of those who have no record of accidents or moving traffic violations.

Request for more uniform traffic regulations and enforcement procedures from county to county.

Modifications in methods of classifying drivers.

Board wants to find a way to "avoid further 'drying up' of the insurance market," emphasized McLean.

Companies writing auto insurance are in greater need.

The Growing Problem of water and air pollution is recognized and efforts are being made to deal with it. Just as conditions brought about by water pollution and unclear air did not occur suddenly, it will take a long time to find all the answers and to arrest the processes.

Another Problem To Receive attention is noise abatement. In discussing living conditions and the general welfare of people, the term "environmental quality" is being used, and anti-noise is a factor in it.

The Cost To Industry of controlling noise levels will be higher and will likely affect more kinds of industry and business than has been the case of water and air pollution. For instance, aircraft engine and truck manufacturers, having already spent millions to "bottle up" noise, will doubtless have to spend a great deal more. Machinery which operates at a lower noise level will have a selling point. Obviously two purposes are primarily involved—devices to prevent noise in the first place and materials to protect from noise in the second place.

Legislation has already been introduced to start a study on the effects of noise and how to eliminate it. Some day there will probably be a Federal "Office of Noise Control" and will likely provide Federal grants for research in control and prevention.

It Is Reasonable To believe that building codes would require greater sound insulation in interior and exterior walls. Heating and cooling machinery and component parts would have to be designed to create and transmit a minimum of noise. Cooling equipment could probably no longer be located on tops of buildings where it would transmit noise to surrounding buildings.

Construction Equipment Used in growing cities would have to operate below an approved noise level. This would likely include air hammers, generators, compressors, pumps, cranes and pile drivers. In manufacturing, employers might find give free ear examinations and where it is noisy, there still must be ears to receive it players.

themselves required to reduce noise in the machine shops and medical treatment to their ears.

Although Noise Is noise any (otherwise it isn't noisy at all). Noise of the kind to be dealt with must, of course, be man-made, and if it is to be a profitable operation such as manufacturing, there must be a lot of ears around to receive the noise. The point here is that the problem of noise could be considerably alleviated by encouraging industry to move into rural areas. In fact, but not for this reason, there are plans to help businesses locate or relocate in small towns. This is the latest added objective to the War on Poverty.

The Administration Has indicated that since earlier efforts at warring on poverty have been mostly directed towards the cities, attention should be given to small towns and rural areas, but that such areas must be made attractive by offering services competitive with the cities.

The General plan seems to be that industry will decide on just what is needed in areas in which it would like to locate. This would include available labor, water and sewer facilities, hospital and health facilities, adequate schools, roads and a source of power.

Under The Rural Community Development Service the Agriculture Department hopes to coordinate already existing Federal programs to extend them into the rural areas. Under this Program the Department will attempt to train workers, advise industry and develop these needed resources to attract industrial plants to areas depending primarily on agriculture to afford a community a year-round payroll.

The Theory Behind all this sounds perfectly good. There is no question that our small towns and rural areas are in need of additional sources of economic reliability. It is one way to stop the one-way street of people leaving the smaller communities and going into the cities to further compound problems already severe. Some enterprising communities, having long recognized the need, have done something about this situation without the Government's help. There is no substitute for local initiative.

Boat Code Is Aid To Aquatics

The specifics covering "What Not To Do" under the new state boating safety code are so elaborate that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department counsels all boaters to carefully study the detailed regulations.

A Department spokesman qualified that by saying that 97 per cent of the boat operators could successfully function like the old-time Jenny pilots who flew "by the seat of his pants."

He added that for maximum protection the most minute details have to be spelled out.

One reason, he said, is to apply the law for purposes of determining responsibility if and when there is an accident.

This spokesman skipped down the list from 1 to 12 under "Prohibited Operation" and noted that everybody but that "incorrigible few" would know that:

Wheat Harvest Almost Over Award Contract

Harvest of the 1966 wheat crop is nine-tenths completed, it was estimated here this week. Good weather has been an assist to grain farmers in getting fields cut, and it is expected that combining will be finished in this area within a week or ten days—perhaps sooner.

City Budget--

The hospital estimated total expenses for the year would be $84,470, a difference of $6,170.

ELECTRIC DEPARTMENT
This is the largest department in the City complex, and is supported by its own revenue. A slight increase is seen in revenue for the next year, $140,785, over $139,925 estimated for the present year. Audit report for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1965, showed revenue at $132,694.

Part of the revenue will derive from interest on funds invested. A total of $3,000 is expected to be received in interest.

The operating expenses are budgeted at $9,708 for the year, against $89,767 estimated for this year.

Non operating expenses, including bonds and interest and lease payment to the General Fund for an engine, will total $40,600—a fixed sum. Capital investment expense is estimated at $6,000.

Revenue over expense for the Electric Department is expected to be $4,476 for the year.

WATER DEPARTMENT
A decline in special water sales is anticipated for the next fiscal year, which is one of the reasons given for the expected decrease in estimated revenue.

Roger Babson Says—
Fixed-Income Workers Are Only Ones Hurt By Rising Cost of Living

Babson Park, Mass. The relentless climb in the cost of retail goods and services, squeeze of inflation hurts anybody whose income is not rising at least as fast as the cost of living. Workers don't have to worry too much if their pay rates are automatically hitched to any hikes recorded by the consumer price index, as is the case in many union escalator contracts. Salaries for many executives, government employees, and others in favored positions manage to keep up with — or even ahead of — the

Fixed-Income Recipients Are Victims

There are, however, approximately 40 million people in this country who are living on pensions, insured retirement allotments, and other forms of fixed income. Thus far, there is no way for these people — most of them in the senior-citizen bracket — to bargain for income gains to match the rising prices. They don't have to read in the paper that it cost them $12.50 in April 1966 to buy what cost only $100 during the consumer-price-index base period of 1957-1959. They have already felt their dollar shrinking.

From April 1965 to April 1966 there was an over-all advance of 2.9 per cent in the nation's cost of living. In terms of the national average, fixed-income people had to pay 6.2 per cent more for food, 3.5 per cent more for medical care, 2.3 per cent more for clothing and its upkeep, and 1.9 per cent more for housing. Families in general felt the upward pressure, of course; but pensioners and retirees of other types had very little chance of upping their income take. They could only cut back their outlays for their daily needs enough to balance their limited funds against their expenses.

Great Society Funds Will Not Help Much

While the White House has asked Congress to place $3.2 billion more at its disposal for Great Society plans during the next fiscal year than for the current year, fixed-income earners can't expect much help. There have been breakthroughs in health programs, and there may be more of these as time goes by. But this will not give great encouragement to the millions of healthy men and women whose set number of shrinking dollars must somehow continue to take care of their homes and maintenance, food, clothing, transportation, and essential services.

Naturally, if price deflation should have its turn, pensioners' and retirees' dollars would become worth more. But what are the chances of such a reversal in the near future? An inflationary explosion of runaway proportions would surely be followed by a downward cascade in prices. History tells us that. Yet, the stand-pat attitude taken so far by the government would seem to promise continuation of the semi-contained wage-price upsurge. . . . With price inflation not yet ready to give way to deflation.

Pressures Still On Upside

Even the shakeout in stocks has not yet been reflected in barometers that could indicate early deflation. Employment is bursting through the roof; unemployment is so low that employers have to bid higher and higher to get new workers. Costs of the Vietnam war are climbing, as are Great Society financial needs. Labor is going all out for raises and fringe gains during the remainder of this year and 1967. The guideline of 3.2 per cent annual pay hikes has been bulldozed flat by the unions. Cost pressures are ever upward.

So broad was the original concept of the Great Society that some have proposed a compensating system to protect citizens dependent upon a fixed income. About the only way this could be done would be to make up — say, each month or each quarter — the difference between the value of the dollar when a pension or retirement arrangement went into effect and its current depreciated value. The paper work would be so overwhelming and the cost so heavy that it probably could not pass Congress at this time. But we are certain you will hear much more of this as inflation continues to eat a bigger and bigger share of our senior citizens' income. Meanwhile, pensioners will just have to keep a close eye on their budgets.

WTU NOTEBOOK—PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS ... a must in Economic Development

Obtaining leads on industries that might locate in a community is one of the hardest parts of any sound economic development program. The lack of an industrial prospecting program that produces several leads may cause serious mistakes by a community in financing or other endeavors to attract unsound or unattractive industry. A community needs a well balanced program, combining all the techniques and utilizing all of the sources that will give it increased effectiveness and chances for real success.

- LOCAL PEOPLE AS A SOURCE OF INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS — usually provide a sound reason or give the community a competitive advantage in attracting the industry.
- BUSINESSMEN—should ask the company representatives they buy from if the company needs additional manufacturing facilities to serve this market area, also, service stations, restaurants and motel people can ask their customers.
- CITIZENS—who know someone that works for an industry should inquire if that industry might be interested in locating a plant.
- EXISTING INDUSTRY—may need a companion industry to supply them with raw materials or services. Expansion of existing industry is sound economic development.
- LOCAL IDEAS—can provide leads for the local people to establish an industry of their own or attract a certain type industry.
- EX-CITIZENS—should be contacted, advising them and asking their help to obtain leads on any industry that could logically locate in the town.
- CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTIVITY — should utilize such programs as direct mail, asking local citizens to call on industries when they are on a trip — watching all news media for possible leads or indications that a company might expand.
- COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES — such as utilities, banks, railroads, regional and state development organizations can provide leads for new industry. Keep all of these organizations fully advised of the local programs, advantages, activities and community interest for attracting new industry for improved economy in your community.
- ANY and ALL industrial leads should be handled through and by the local group that has been delegated this responsibility, usually the Chamber of Commerce.
- Ask your WTU local manager for additional information and services available.

Medicare Premium Notices Mailed To Two Million Elderly

First medicare premium notices are in the mail to more than 2 million of the elderly people who signed up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance under medicare, Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, announced today.

Another 15 million older people enrolled for the doctor bill insurance will not receive premium notices, Ball said. Their $3 premiums will be deducted from their monthly social security, railroad retirement, or civil service benefit checks, beginning with the checks due early in July. In addition, a number of States will be paying the premiums for their old age assistance recipients under agreements with the Social Security Administration.

The premium notices now being delivered, Ball said, call for quarterly payments of $3 payment for the doctor bill insurance protection for the months of July, August, and September. This is one-half the cost of the protection; the other half is paid out of general Federal revenues.

With the punch card premium notice is a return envelope pre-addressed to one of six social security payment centers which are located in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Birmingham, Kansas City, and San Francisco. Payment should be made by check or money order payable to "Social Security Medical Insurance," Ball said.

Older persons who cannot manage to make the quarterly premium payment of $9 may send in a payment of $6 for two months coverage, or $3 for one month, Ball said. Or if they have any questions about the premium payments, they may get in touch with their social security district offices. Premium payments for medical insurance are due on or before the first day of each month of coverage, he pointed out.

J. G. Keen, Assistant District Manager, San Angelo Social Security District Office, also advised that there will be very few instances when a social security representative will call on you to collect the premiums. This would occur only if you were behind in your payment and were about to let your medicare protection lapse. Therefore, don't pay your medicare premium to anyone other than a social security representative. If you are not sure, call the social security office to be certain they have sent a representative to your house.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Bursleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

Future Historians Will Undoubtedly mark September 2, 1945, as a significant turning point in the affairs of the United States, as well as the world. The history of World War II ended on this date with the surrender of the Japanese, but there is also another important significance.

At That Exact Time The United States stood alone on a pinnacle of power. No other nation anywhere on the earth could challenge us.

Both Allies And The Vanquished had to turn to us for assistance. Russia could not have saved herself without the equipment we had given her. Europe could not have rebuilt itself without the equipment we had given her. Europe could not have rebuilt itself without our wealth. Smaller nations everywhere had no other place to look for help except to America.

Also At This Exact Time it seemed that we developed a sort of complex of half apologizing for having won the war in the first place. Ever since VJ Day it seems some self-consciousness has bitten deep into us and has affected our foreign policy. At times we have seemed to apologize for our power. This appeared to be the case with Berlin, Korea and the Middle East, which were dealt with by several Administrations.

This Is What Sets Viet Nam apart from other periods of actual wartime. Other wars, with all their agonies, were made bearable by an enthusiasm for what we felt was right and a confidence in our ability to bring victory. What we knew we had to do was to rise up and fight.

This Attitude Seems To Be lacking in our conduct of the war in Viet Nam.

The Evidence Of This Is Now being demonstrated in Geneva where Secretary of State Rusk is trying valiantly to gain support from European leaders for the United States' position in Viet Nam.

Secretary Rusk Admits That our prestige is down in Europe because "it has been so long since the United States has had a resounding success or victory." Europeans Have Observed the hesitancy and reluctance of the United States to use its power—in Berlin, in Korea, at the Bay of Pigs—and now what appears to them to be a stalemate in Viet Nam.

The Forces Of History have not changed. Despite the introduction of nuclear weapons, a nation is not regarded as a great power if it shrinks from the use of its strength when attacked. It is doubtful that under such conditions a nation could expect allies to flock to its side when it is said we only have "limited goals" and those goals not clearly defined.

England's Winston Churchill did not rally the free world to Britain's side by calling for restraint against the Nazis or giving the half-V sign.

These Are The Things Which make it difficult for our friends abroad to understand. Voices of the "no win" policy for the United States are loud and clear. They were mistaken by a well-known Canadian newspaperman and Canadian Parliamentarian who recently visited Washington. Before coming they thought "American public opinion was shifting toward disengagement in Viet Nam and some kind of a rapprochement toward Red China."

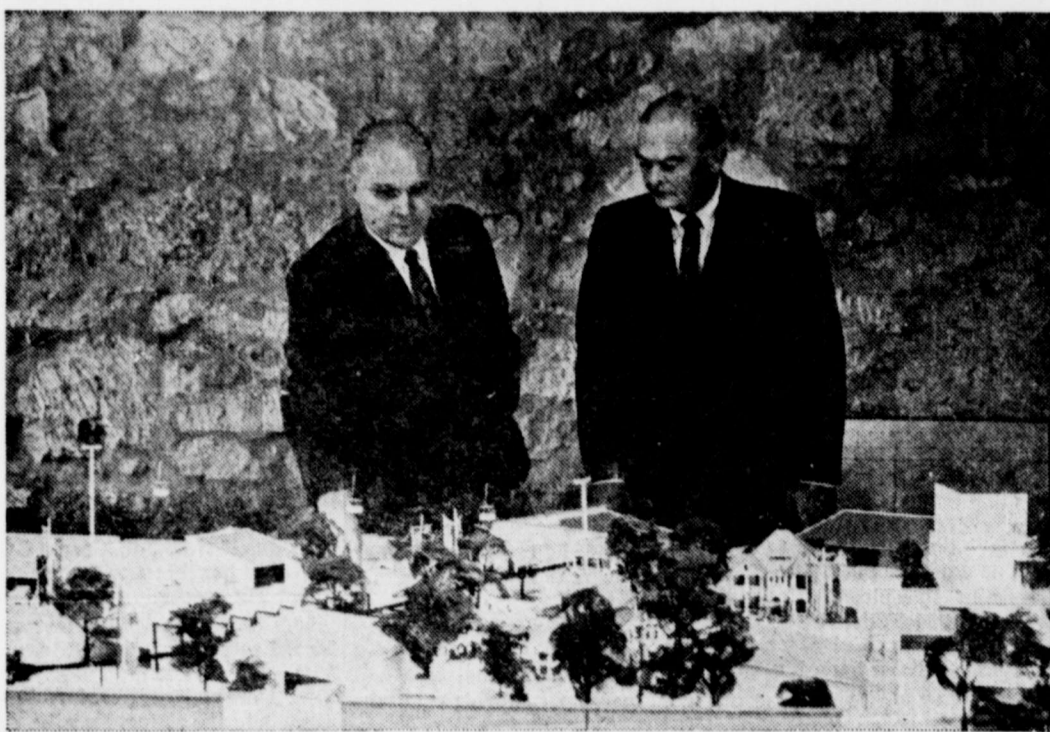

After Being In Washington a few days the Canadians found a different view. "Right or wrong, the vast majority of Americans still cling to the opinion that the war in Viet Nam must be fought to the bitter end, that Communism must be contained in Southeast Asia and that it must be stopped there if we do not want it to come over here."

Certainly Most People would like to see a peaceful settlement in South Viet Nam, but who can imagine a "peaceful settlement" under prevailing conditions and attitudes.

Indications Are That Mr. W. Averell Harriman will soon set off on another round of travels to other nations to explore the possibility of a negotiated settlement.

Mr. Harriman's Trip Has added significance by statements from Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, calling for "mutual cessation of all types of hostilities in Viet Nam and a new Geneva Conference to reaffirm the 1954 and 1962 Agreements."

Major Lester L. Lackey, who was lost over the Black Sea on a B57 Flight last December, was the husband of Peggy Jean Lindley, former resident of Winters and the daughter of Mrs. Oma Lindley of Abilene and the late Dr. A. T. Lindley.

Mrs. Lester and children arrived in Abilene Wednesday and will stay with her mother for a while. They were living in Frankfort, Germany.

Speaker Barnes Heads Program Team To Peru

Texas' dynamic Speaker of the House of Representatives, Ben Barnes, has been selected to head a program development team in Peru June 17-July 3 at the invitation of the Peruvian Partners of the Alliance, counter-committee of the Texas Partners. According to Banks L. Miller Jr., executive director of the Texas Partners of the Alliance with Peru, Barnes and six other team members will meet with Peruvian government officials to discuss the work of the Partners in many areas.

Speaker Barnes is scheduled to visit with the President of Peru, Fernando Belaunde Terry, on two separate occasions during the two-week visit to that country. At the same time, several trips are planned into the interior of Peru to survey the work of the Partners currently under way. Barnes and his team members will also make tentative plans for future projects for the Partner organization to undertake.

Speaker Barnes, who is a graduate of The University of Texas, stated: "I am certainly looking forward to visiting with President Belaunde, who is a University of Texas graduate. I am certain we will have many common interests to discuss. President Belaunde is truly a distinguished alumna of the University."

The scheduled 6,000-mile trip is nothing new to the nation's youngest Speaker. Barnes has traveled over 200,000 miles during the past six months while carrying out his many speaking engagements and the duties of his office.

The Texas Partners is a non-profit Texas organization headed by Edward Marcus of Dallas. The purpose of the Partner organization is basically four-fold: (1) to promote cultural exchange; (2) to encourage educational exchange; (3) social and medical projects, and (4) to encourage private investment. While in Peru, Speaker Barnes plans on assisting numerous projects currently under way in Peru.
