HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Everybody loves a good fish story; and it's refreshing to hear a new one once in a while. For instance, Pete Speer fielded questions like a pro the other day when he was cornered and was asked for a report on a recent fishing trip. He flabbergasted listeners when he replied, "Well, to tell the truth, I didn't catch a thing! Didn't even have a bite!"

The "Story of the Week" concerns two fisherladies. Nell Colburn and Lynn Mitchell, of the Main Drug, visited "McGee's Tank" last week. Nell got a strike. The fish ran under some brush and snapped the line. Later Lynn got a strike, but was luckier; she finally hauled a great big bass up on the bank. Imbedded in the fish's mouth was Nell's hook and sinker.

Most of us seldom take the time to notice that fire-fighting equipment sits idle most of the time. But when someone shouts "Fire!", it is taken for granted that the fire trucks will roll in an effort to prevent what could easily be a catastrophe. It costs money to keep that equipment in a state of readiness, but in view of the protection afforded we don't complain too much about it. If someone shouted "Fire!" and there was no equipment to answer the call, then we would be somewhat upset.

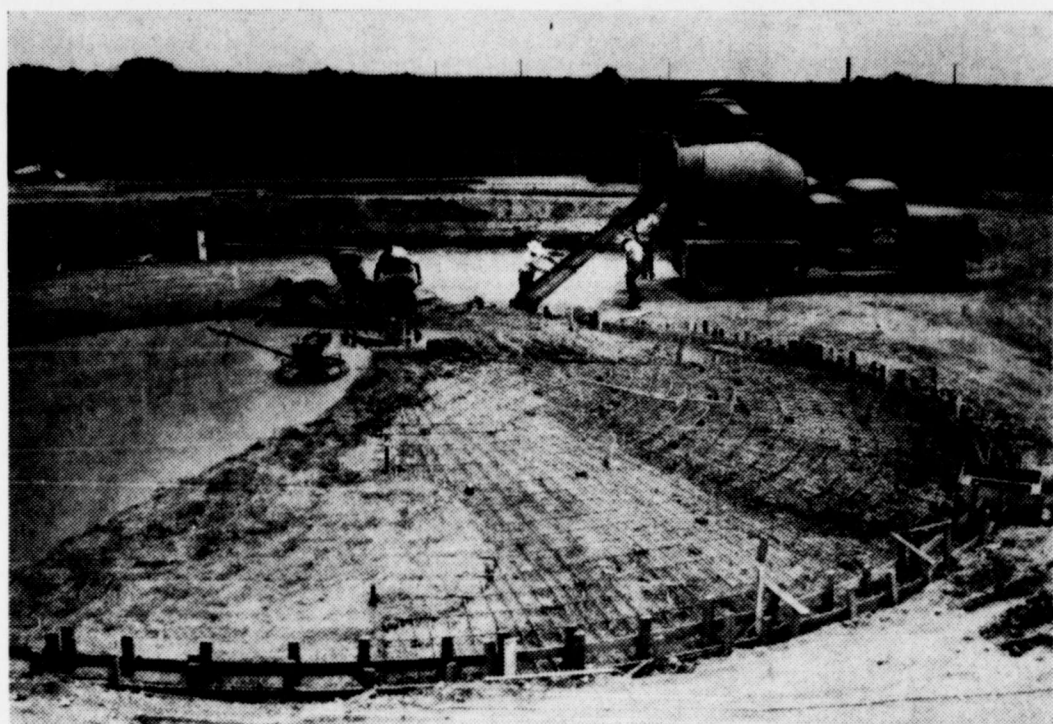

In another line of thought, if someone shouts "Mad dog!", we are brought up short. . . for we suddenly realize that here is a danger we have done nothing about. We have ignored it. All the time we have ignited the little boy who slips quietly past the haunted house. . . if we don't make any noise, this ghost will not harm us; if we pretend we don't see it, perhaps it will go away. Once in a while an incident nudges us to half-wakefulness; we open one eye, make a half-hearted pretense of warding off this gaffly (we take our dog to the vet for a rabies shot), whisper to the world that we're really up-and-at-tem. . . and then turn over and go back to sleep, perhaps to grumble a bit because a dog or a pack of dogs (it's always the other man's dogs) are creating a bit of a disturbance.

But there are those who have recognized that this thing which confronts us is not a ghost at all, but a reality. With reports of rabies in wild animals in the area, and of pets getting the dread disease, and of persons being bitten by rabid animals, there are those who would like to come to grips with this threat; they would like to do something about it, before something dreadful should happen to force us all to open our eyes and pay attention to what confronts us. They see a terrible danger in dog packs and even lone dogs roaming the community at will—even if the threat of rabies were not present, the danger of a child or even an adult being attacked is always there.

But these individuals and groups who would like to see a little defensive action taken cannot do the whole job—they must have the support and cooperation of the rest of us. They're not "out after" anyone; they're perhaps wider awake than the rest of us. They'd like for everyone to carry a big stick, and to refuse to tip-toe past the haunted house; but to stand and face the challenge.

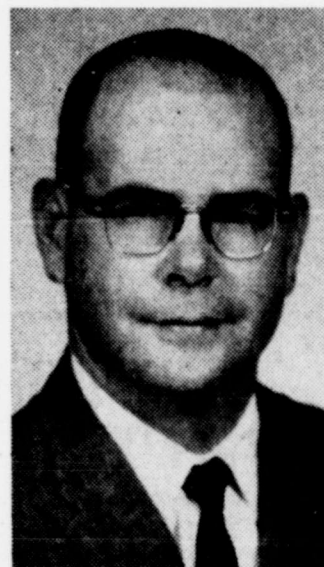

When a difficult situation heads up and an unusual solution is required, it is surprising how often someone pops up with just the requirements to solve it. Similarly when a fellow needs a friend in the worst way, it is gratifying how, in many cases, just such a friend turns up. If a problem can be given a little publicity of a person's distress is made known, the answer generally comes along. The unsolved difficulties are usually the ones that no one knew about until too late.

Clipped: When you come into contact with a man, do not attempt an objective appreciation of him according to his worth and dignity. Do not consider his bad will . . . narrow understanding . . . perverse ideas; as the former may easily lead to hate and the latter to despise. But fix your attention upon his sufferings. . . needs. . . anxieties. . . pains. Then you will always feel your kinship with him. —Schopenhauer.

PROGRESS REPORT—Workers pour the first round of concrete for the floor of Winters' big new water clarifying plant. This pouring was made last week. Steel was in place Wednesday in readiness for pouring the second round, which would complete the floor of the big settling basin. The floor of the unit will be in a cone shape, sloping down from the center as shown in the photograph for several feet. A "trough" will be poured in the circle shown by the stakes, to catch the sediment and sludge, and a concrete floor will extend to the edge of the excavation. The concrete mixer truck shown is dwarfed by the size of the settling basin, which will be 90 feet in diameter and approximately 18 feet deep when completed. (Little photo)

Fifth of a Series Norton Established In 1901, Still Active Runnels County Community

(The following is one of a series of articles of interest being sponsored by the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee. The writer, Mrs. Charlie Poe, is committee historian.)

BY CHARLIE POE
Norton, an active community in West Central Runnels County, was named for George W. Norton of Louisville, Kentucky, owner of the land on which the townsite was located. One of the two first houses was built in 1901 by Dr. W. W. Mitchell, the town's first doctor.

Mrs. R. T. Cope, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell and a member of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee, tells this incident in the early life of her parents.

On a hot June night in 1902, the Mitchells were sitting in the kitchen of their two room cabin with the doors open to catch the breeze. As screens were unknown, a dog kept coming in the door and after chasing him out several times, Mollie Mitchell said, "William, if that blasted dog doesn't stay out I'm going to shoot him."
"That's the thing to do," he replied, knowing that she had never fired a shot from the pistol, the only gun they had. She took him at his word and when next the dog's head came in view shot him right between the eyes. After Dr. Mitchell recovered from his surprise at her accuracy, he recognized the animal as the much loved pet

Historical Marker Will Be Erected At Old Townsite Of Content Next Sunday

The Official Texas Historical Marker for the Townsite of Content has arrived from the foundry and will be dedicated at a homecoming of former citizens on July 3, Rankin Pace, chairman of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee, has announced.

The brief program will begin at 12:30 noon as former citizens and guests gather at the site of Content, one of the earliest towns in the county, located in the northeast corner of Runnels County a mile east of Highway 382.

Sponsors for the attractive cast aluminum marker with Swedish steel effect are Frances and Shelia Allen of Ft. Worth, whose parents were early day physicians in the community, and whose aunt, Mrs. James W. Bright, lived there for 30 years.

Fireworks Are Prohibited In City of Winters

Winters Police Department this week again reminded residents of the ordinance which prohibits sale or firing of any type of fireworks within the city limits of the City of Winters.

Because of the potential danger to persons who handle fireworks, and to others who might be involved in a fireworks accident, officials have asked that the ordinance be observed. An increase in number of persons injured and damage to property is always noted during special holidays, such as Independence Day, when fireworks are exploded, they said.

The ordinance, passed Jan. 31, 1941, prohibits throwing or firing of any type of fireworks, "rockets, torpedoes, grenade guns, revolver, pistol, cap or cartridge, or any kind of combustible fireworks in the City of Winters." There is a penalty of not more than $100 for any "person, firm, corporation, company, or association," convicted of violating the ordinance, it was pointed out.

Two Local Women Attend Convention In Houston

Mrs. Weldon Brown and Mrs. J. B. Whitlow represented the Winters School Food Service at the State Convention held in Houston June 20 to 23, with headquarters in the Shamrock Hilton Hotel.

Approximately 1600 registered for the convention and saw the display of 150 exhibits of food and equipment.

Mrs. Brown was installed as District Director of District XI, at the luncheon on Thursday and made a tour of the domed stadium, Nasa, San Jacinto Monument, Battleshop of Texas and other points of interest while in Houston.

There will be no state convention next summer, as the National Convention is to be held in Dallas and all efforts will be put forth to make the National meeting in Texas a success.

Cotton Insect Infestation Is Light In Runnels

The Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A & M University is keeping a close watch on the cotton insect situation throughout the state, making weekly reports.

The latest report from the office of C. T. Parker Jr., county agricultural agent, states that the cotton insect situation in Runnels County this week "seemed very light."

Thrips seem to be fairly heavy; however, "not sufficient enough to cause much damage." No over-wintered weevils were found and web worms seem to be slacking off, the report says.

Beneficial insects seem to be building up, according to the report, and cotton looks "extremely good and we hope the light cotton insect situation remains the same," said the report.

New Regulation Signs Go Up At Old Winters Lake

To better inform the public of regulations governing activity at the Old Winters Lake north of the city, several new signs were placed around the area this week.

Control of the lake is covered by ordinance, which sets down rules for type of recreational equipment permitted or prohibited. Although row boats are allowed on the lake, motor-driven boats are prohibited. City officials explained that this regulation is enforced because of the small area of the lake.

Skating and swimming also is prohibited at the lake. Fishing is permitted, with the exception of trotline fishing. Firearms are also prohibited in the lake area.

Summer Work Going On At School Plant

Summertime provides an opportunity for custodians and others to catch up on a lot of work which needs to be done around the Winters schools, and which cannot be accomplished during the regular school year.

In addition to the normal maintenance work which goes on year-round at the school, workmen are now painting several rooms in the high school building, and all venetian blinds in the elementary building are being repaired.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Christian also said that plans have been made to paint the bleachers and stands at the stadium.

Appliance Store At E. E. Vaughan Station Destroyed

An early-morning fire Monday caused "total destruction" of the Vaughan Appliance Store located on North Main.

The fire was discovered about 6 a. m. Monday when Erce Vaughan, owner, and Leon Hilliard, an employee, came to open the business and an adjoining service station.

Vaughan had his key in the lock to open up when Hilliard walked up and heard a hissing noise. They then saw the flame in the building.

While they were in the service station calling the fire department, the heat force of the fire blew out five plate glass windows at the front of the building.

No estimate of damage has been given, but Vaughan indicated it would run into several thousand dollars, only partially covered by insurance.

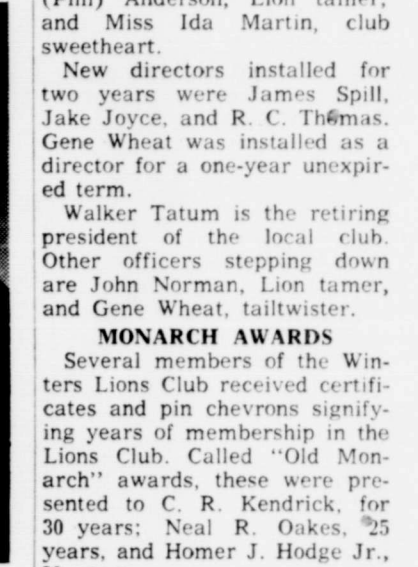

The service station is connected to the appliance store by a breezeway and received nothing but smoke damage.

State Capital Highlights—

Many People Visit State Capitol In Austin During Summer Months

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

It's tourist season at the historic Texas State Capitol Building. On any summer day, visitors from all parts of Texas, many other states and even foreign countries can be found in its spacious rotunda and in the splendid legislative halls or on the green, tree-shaded grounds. More than 200,000 tourists looked over portions of the 78-year-old state house during the last year, estimates the Capitol Tourist Bureau which is operated seven days a week by Texas Highway Department personnel.

Two-hour free parking is available for visitors on a lot at 11th and Congress Ave.—across from the south Capitol grounds. Limited parking also is provided on a first-come-first-serve basis in marked tourist spaces on the grounds.

DOMES OPENED

A part of the famous Capitol dome was reopened last year for the first time in 12 years. Visitors can now go to the fifth floor landing (in company of a guide) and are rewarded by a spectacular view of the capital city from an outside balcony. Six guided tours a day take them from the fourth-floor elevator stop — up 112 spiral steps to the fifth floor.

Many Texas s-adventurersome visitors are content to wander on their own through the columned corridors, to look up their Legislators' pictures in the House or Senate or to drop by the Governor's office and sign the guest book.

ALWAYS WORK

Maintenance requires almost constant effort. Crews of painters, carpenters, electricians and plasterers are at work in some portion of the sprawling building almost every day. Many areas, including the Governor's quarters, have been remodeled, modernized and air-conditioned.

Most dramatic of the maintenance work is painting the interior of the Capitol dome every seven years. Painters work on a platform suspended 260 feet above the star on the rotunda floor.

There are still a few oldtimers around who remember when the of ground and has 192,374 square feet of floor space. At the time of its completion in 1888, it was said to be the seventh largest capitol building in the world.

In 1879, the Legislature appropriated more than three million acres of land in 10 Panhandle counties to pay for the building.

Construction was begun February 1, 1882. Owners of Granite Mountain near Marble Falls in Burnet County offered free of charge to the state all granite needed to complete the building. (Original plans called for construction of Texas limestone.) Extended labor problems delayed completion, but Texas finally got a building that cost more than $3,700,000 in exchange for her three million acres of land.

Rising to a height of more than 309 feet (from basement floor to top of the Goddess of Liberty statue on the dome), the building is seven feet higher than the National Capitol in Washington.

It is 585 feet long and 299 feet wide, including outside steps in both measurements.

OX-POWERED
Fifteen thousand carloads of Texas red granite for exterior walls were hauled into Austin from Burnet County by ox-power and a specially built railroad. Texas limestone forms interior and dome walls.

Wainscoting of oak, pine, cherry, cedar, walnut, ash and mahogany would reach a length of seven miles. Door and window frames are all in oak and pine, except those in the Governor's ornate reception room, which are of cherry.

The original copper roof covers 85,000 square feet. Original floors were of hand-blocked clay tile, glass and wood. New hall and rotunda floors are of terrazzo, all Texas rock aggregate except for the blue in the U. S. Seal which was imported from Italy. These rotunda floors tell the story of Texas history and are regarded as among the largest and most beautiful terrazzo floors in the world.

Modeled after the classic design of the National Capitol, the Texas Capitol is built in the form of a Grecian cross.

Many other state agencies are located in modern buildings just off the Capitol grounds. Visits to some of these buildings are also well worthwhile.

Especially fascinating is the fine Archives and Library Building east of the Capitol. The Capitol Tourist Bureau, one of nine such units of the Highway Department, maintains complete information about other Austin attractions and provides travel information about the entire state.

Last year, these bureaus played host to 753,000 travelers out of a record total of more than 12,600,000 out-of-state people who were passengers in autos visiting the state.

Wingate, Hylton Masons Installed Officers June 24

A barbecue supper preceded the installation, with families of members and visitors attending. Duncan Hensley was installing officer, with Ed Kinard serving as marshal.

FROM RIESEL
B. D. Collinsworth, vocational agriculture teacher of Riesel spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Collinsworth.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS
"The Texas Capitol is more than a seat of government; more than a fountainhead of law," one writer has said. "With its treasures of Texana, it acts like a lodestone upon even the summer soldier and the sunshine patriot." And those who enjoy deeper drafts of history may stand again and again before the Capitol's paintings, sculptures and documents, each time finding something they had missed before. Here, one must thrill to the feel of an undercurrent of the tremendous energy and vigor which continues to keep Texas great."

While the Capitol used to house all agencies of state government, now only the Legislature and its agencies, plus the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and State Comptroller are under its spreading roof.

Coleman County Co-Op Members To Get Dividends

Members of the Coleman County Electric Cooperative will be receiving their patronage refund checks, sometimes referred to as "capital credits," sometime next week, Don Hart, power use advisor of the cooperative, announced this week.

Over 3400 checks will be mailed July 5 totaling $153,575.15 to those persons receiving electric service from the cooperative during the year 1956. The average check will amount to $45.17, it was stated.

The checks represent the amount the members of the cooperative paid in excess over and above the actual cost of providing electric service. For each dollar spent on electricity in 1956, the members of the cooperative will receive approximately 25 cents back in the form of patronage refunds.

This is the seventh consecutive year for patronage refunds to be paid by the cooperative.

OUR PRICELESS HERITAGE

It is 190 years since the founders of our nation pledged their lives, fortunes and sacred honor to the cause of independence. Most nations are centuries older but none has made such rapid and remarkable progress.

Individual opportunity with the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness — this is the American heritage. Men have fought and died to win it and we must ever endeavor to preserve it. Freedom cannot be taken for granted when there are those who would destroy it.

With faith in our system of government, unity and wise leadership, our nation will successfully survive all storms just as it has done in the past.

"These Are the Damned"

Rugged Macdonald Carey and shapely Shirley Anne Field share starring honors with Vivica Lindfors and Alexander Knox in what promises to be one of the most awesome dramatic thrillers of recent times. Columbia Pictures' "These Are the Damned," which shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

"The damned" of the film's title are nine children who have survived massive doses of radioactive contamination, and they are kept in frightful isolation, albeit luxurious and carefully-disciplined, in a cave somewhere on the coast of England. Their existence is top-secret; even to learn of it means death.

"The Flight of the Phoenix"

The blinding sun and the vast Sahara Desert combine with men's courage to create an unusual adventure drama. "The Flight of the Phoenix," a 20th Century-Fox release in DeLuxe Color showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre. The title is derived from the mythological Egyptian bird, the phoenix, which was fabled to live 500 years, be consumed in fire, and then arise reborn from its ashes.

A modern "bird," an old airplane piloted by James Stewart, is the focal point of "The Flight of the Phoenix." Stewart, his crew and passengers are forced to make an emergency landing in the Sahara Desert during a violent sandstorm. Stranded, with little chance of survival or rescue, they are given hope by a German aircraft designer, played by Hardy Kruger, when he suggests that they can build a small aircraft from the wreckage and fly it to safety. The film continues to recount the adventures of these thirteen men as they labor to cope with murderous Arab brigands, the harsh conditions and their own fears and weaknesses.

DR. AND MRS. GARY LYON HARTER

Miss Birdie Herbert, Dr. Gary Lyon Harter Recite Marriage Vows June 12

At 12 o'clock noon Sunday June 12th, at St. John's Catholic Church in Jeannerette, Louisiana, Miss Birdie Hebert of Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wilfred Hebert of Jeannerette, became the bride of Dr. Gary Lyon Harter of Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy William Harter of Andrews, Texas.

Rev. Father Ivan Arceneaux of Lafayette, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Acolytes were the brides cousins, Tom Angers of Franklin and Rock Breaux, Jeannerette, Michael Louivere, also of Jeannerette was master of ceremonies.

As the bridal party entered the church, the Immaculata Seminary choir of Lafayette sang traditional wedding chorus while Marshall Boulet, a student of St. John's Seminary, accompanied the choir.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white organza over taffeta, an original design of George Maurer. It was fashioned with an empire bodice of Alecon lace with elbow length sleeves and scalloped portrait neckline. The A-line skirt was given detail and formality by a court train bordered in a band of scalloped lace. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls. She carried a Mother of Pearl rosary, a gift of Fr. Arceneaux on her graduation day with the promise she would use it on her wedding day. Her bouquet was white rose buds centered with a large gl'amalia. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Gold vases of white gladiolus and greenery were placed in the main altar and family pews were marked with white satin bows and streamers.

Mrs. Leon Moeck of Lafayette, sister of the bride was Matron of Honor. She wore a floor-length gown of two shades of blue chiffon and crepe with a grain of the same color. The dress was also fashioned on empire lines. Her bouquet was of yellow rose buds centered with a yellow gl'amalia and her hairpiece was a romance blue-flower held together with a light blue veil.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jo Ann Delithe of Morgan City, Miss Anne De Ville of Ville Platte, Miss Gyl Krepper of Beaumont. They wore identical dresses to the matron of honor and carried similar bouquets.

The bridegroom's best man was his father, Mr. Troy William Harter of Andrews. His brother-in-law Dennis Rodgers of Winters, the bride's brother, Louis Hebert of Jeannerette and Hal Jungman of Corpus Christi were groom's men.

The ring bearer was the bride's nephew, Gregory Moeck of Lafayette and the flower girl was Barbara Beaulieu, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Beaulieu of New Iberia. She wore a floor-length white dress fashioned like the bride's and carried a miniature bouquet similar to that of the bride. Her headband was a circle of white rose buds.

Ushers were the groom's cousins, Terry Collins of Winters and Mike Collins of Odessa. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hebert were hosts at a reception honoring the bridal couple at the Recreation Hall in Jeannerette. The reception room was beautifully decorated in blue and white with arrangements of seasonal flowers. The bride's table was laid with linen cut work. The cake, three tiered and decorated in blue roses, John McClearnan of New Iberia, organist, played lovely music throughout the reception. Following the traditional cutting of the cake, the bride's godmother, Mrs. C. C. Rader of New Iberia, presided at the table.

Miss Sarah Babin of Lafayette registered the guests and held the memory candle which was lighted by the bride and groom and burned throughout the reception.

Mrs. Dennis Rodgers of Winters, the groom's sister, ladeled punch. Others assisting were Mrs. Geraldine Angers of Franklin, Mrs. James Chaisson of Lake Charles, Mrs. Joseph Kohler, Mrs. Harbey Breaux and Miss Susie Breaux all of Jeannerette.

At the entrance of the hall was a beautifully decorated rice tree which held bags of colored rice and wedding bells. Individual boxes of cake tied with white satin ribbon were also placed on the table for the guests. Tea girls were Mary Lejeune, Irene Moore of Jeannerette and Denise Rodgers of Winters, niece of the groom.

For traveling the bride wore a two piece oatmeal colored

Italian silk creation with matching lizard shoes and bag. Her hat was various hues of flowers and she wore a corsage of tiny rose buds.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Southwestern La., in Lafayette with a bachelor of science in nursing. She was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi social sorority, vice president of the Woman's Student Government Association.

The groom was an undergraduate of the University of Texas in Austin where he was a member of ETA, Sigma Honor Fraternity. He graduated from Baylor University College of Medicine where he is a member of Phi Beta Phi Medical Fraternity and on the Dean's list.

The couple will reside in Houston where he will do his internship at Ben Taub Hospital.
