HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Wayne Stone gained fame Sunday afternoon on the golf course of the Winters Country Club. He shot over the creek onto No. 6 green—135 yards—for a hole-in-one.

Open Letter To John Edward McAdoo, James West, Ed Roller:

Inasmuch as you witnessed the above-mentioned hole-in-one feat, and have accomplished the same feat (in one instance), and-or been witness to similar accomplishments within the past few weeks, it is natural to assume that Lady Luck accompanies your group about the links.

Therefore, it is requested that this lowly duffer be allowed to tag along with your group of golfers for a round or two in the hope that some of this skill can be acquired through association.

It has been called to our attention that in talking about ex-blizzards who have gone on to institutes of higher learning and who are listed in the lineups of football teams in this year's issue of Texas Football, we failed to mention a couple of them.

It could be claimed that we had resorted to an old trick of always leaving something in the pot to build around next week—but in this instance, it was simply an oversight. The magazine came to hand at a late hour, and a hurried reading—or scan-over—was not enough to prevent leaving out something. We flat missed it.

So we are more than glad to make notice that two other ex-blizzards are carving grid careers in college. Up at McMurry, member of the Lone Star Conference, Chip Puckett, 6-2, 174 (remember him?) is the only corner back returning to the Indian lineup as a regular.

Over at Abilene Christian College, member of the Southland Conference, "defensive back, Tommy Young, competes well for the defense" on the Wildcat squad.

It's simple when you know how: From the Dothan (Ala.) Eagle: "You fellows really do a nice job," the passenger remarked to the pilot as they walked the terminal after the late night flight had landed. "But," he added, "I just don't understand how you manage to fly in the dark." "Simple," replied the pilot. "There's a light out on the right wing tip, and another on the left wing tip. All I have to do is keep the plane between the two lights."

Says FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover: "Law enforcement today is being degraded, purposely in many instances, by the widespread and indiscriminate use of the term 'police brutality.'"

It is all but assured that a hike in the federal minimum wage and expansion of area coverage will be enacted by Congress this session. This is partly what it would do: increase the minimum from $1.25 to $1.40 an hour in 1967 and provide for another jump to $1.60 an hour 24 months later in 1969. This represents an annual rate of increase over the two-year period amounting to 7.2 percent. A proposed amendment to the bill would make the big jump to $1.60 in only 12 months—in 1968, a scheme to get the most mileage during an election year. That would amount to a 14.3 percent increase in one year—more than four times the average rate of increase in the minimum wage over the past 15 years. One can only imagine the inflationary effect, job loss and dislocation that would result. And the addition of areas now exempt would provide the match to light an explosion which in all probability would destroy many jobs by eliminating many small businesses.

Two Winters Drivers Make Impression In Area Stock Car Racing Circles

Stock car racing has been around for a good many years, and with the continued enthusiasm of a public geared to the tune of the gasoline engine, it is likely to be around for a good many years yet to come.

And much enthusiasm toward stock car racing has begun to be felt in the Winters community—all caused by the fact that two stock car race drivers who have been burning up the track at the Speedarena in Abilene and attracting attention in racing circles are from Winters—Leroy Brooks and Tommy Blackmon. Brooks and Blackmon rolled onto the race asphalt barely over a year ago, and already have gained a name for themselves on the fast-traffic oval.

Brooks drives a 1955 two-door Chevrolet, and Blackmon drives a 1956 two-door Chevrolet. But right there the comparison with regular stock cars stops! The cars have regular Chevvy engines, but a few doo-dads have made those engines different from the engines in regular cars—as different as a modern recip airframe engine and the handful of metal which was used in early days to pull the old Jennys around.

This difference is seen on the race track, too. Brooks' Chevvy engine has pulled him around the race track in Abilene in such fashion as to win him quite a few places. He started racing in mid-season of 1965. . . six weeks later he won the feature race in Abilene against 15 cars, some of which were driven by veterans. Since that time he has won three feature races, won trophy dashes, semifinals, and in Dallas on July 10, he won the feature race against about 25 other cars.

On July 3, Brooks set a time trial track record on the Speedarena track—the fastest one-lap run any car had made on the Abilene track.

Brooks' big wins have come within the last six weeks, he says. He won the feature in Abilene June 18; again June 25; again July 2. He was second in feature for three weeks. Also, on those nights he was stacking up the big wins, he won one trophy dash, a pursuit race, semi-final. He was runner-up for midseason championship, second to Bill Golleher of Abilene.

The engine in Brooks' car is a 337 cubic inch powerhouse, with two four-barrel carburetors. There is no muffler or long exhaust stack—each cylinder has its own short exhaust pipe.

Blackmon's '56 Chevvy is powered by a 337 cubic inch engine, with four two-barrel carburetors, short individual stacks.

Both cars are stripped down; rear seats have been removed, and only one bucket seat for the driver in front. All glass has been removed, and unnecessary instruments taken out of the dash. Doors are welded shut, and a heavy loop of steel—a roll bar—has been welded up the sides and across the top to shield the driver in case of a roll-over.

Blackmon began racing a short time after Brooks took to the track. He has won heat races, pursuit races, and semifinals.

As important to stock car racing as the driver are the pit men. These men do all the work on the cars between the races—some major repair work on engines—gas up, change tires, and otherwise keep the cars ready for the next race. There are no pit stops during the races.

Brooks' pit man is B. M. Grenwelge Jr., Lewis Blackmon, who himself in years past toiled stock cars around the tracks, is pit man for his son, Tommy. He is assisted by Leon Hilliard.

Both drivers have sponsors, without whom it would be hard to operate. These sponsors furnish fuel, do major repair work, and help to keep the cars going. Blackmon's sponsors include Crane Crankshaft Co., Abilene; Onken Radiator of Winters, and Blackmon's Repair and Body Shop, Winters. Brooks' sponsors include Crane Crankshaft, Spill Machine Shop, Winters, where wheels were built; Robert Robertson Premier Station, gasoline.

To watch a bunch of cars roaring around an asphalt track the average viewer would judge it to be a dangerous sport. But safety is stressed to the nth degree; fire trucks and emergency vehicles are stationed at the track during races, along with ambulances, etc. Too, men with hand-operated fire extinguishers are strategically located around the track. Rescue workers are "on top" of every accident, and lend assistance to drivers in every way during races.

All drivers wear safety seat belts, and are protected against injury by the roll-bar. Brooks recalls only one bad accident to his car—a "wheel-to-wheel" roll-over, from which he escaped without a scratch. A few weeks ago, Blackmon's car hit a stretch of asphalt covered with oil, spun out and into another car, smashing up the side of his vehicle. No injury.

There have been race drivers who said they had rather take their chances on the race track than on the traffic-clogged highways. Because, they say, race drivers are keyed to expect anything to happen, and are in control of their cars at all times.

Photos By Local Photographer Win At Convention

Photographs by Eddie Little, Winters photographer, were among the 200 pictures accepted for display at the Texas Professional Photographers Association exhibition held at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth July 16-18.

Little, a member of the board of directors of the TPPA, and Mrs. Little, returned home Monday night after taking part in convention activities.

In addition to the exhibit and trade show, educational programs on various phases of photography were presented by outstanding photographers, — from Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, North Dakota, and New York during the three-day convention.

For the first time, Little submitted direct color portraits. These received top scores and were included in a select group at the exhibit. They included portraits of Kendra Badgett, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Badgett of Abilene; Ralph Austin, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Austin; and Becky Brown, student nurse of Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown.

Other pictures submitted which received good scores were black and white portraits of Ralph Austin and Miss Brown.

Little Studio has been closed for the month of July except for emergency pictures, and will reopen August 1.

GLENN E. GRAY
... At Church of Christ

Glenn E. Gray Minister At Church of Christ

Glenn E. Gray, formerly of Athens, has recently moved to Winters as minister of the North Main Street Church of Christ. He succeeds Willis Jernigan in that post. Jernigan recently moved to Arlington.

Mr. Gray was minister for the South Palestine Street Church of Christ in Athens for three years before moving to Winters. Prior to that he preached for several congregations in the San Antonio area, including Houston City and the Fort Sam Houston congregation.

He attended Abilene Christian College and San Antonio College. Before he entered the ministry full time, he was employed with Gulf Oil Corp., in sales promotion and real estate for eleven years. While employed with Gulf he served eight years as a deacon for the Harlandale congregation in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray have three children, Lynell, who has been attending Henderson County Junior College, and Janis, who will be a junior student in Winters High School; and Glen Ed, who will be in the third grade in Winters school. Lynell will transfer as a junior to Abilene Christian College in the spring.

Cotton Insect Build-Up Will Bear Watching

The County Agricultural Agent's office has shown no undue alarm at the present build-up of boll worm eggs and flea hoppers in the county, it was announced this week, but it is "getting large enough to bear close watching."

This was stated in a weekly cotton insect report from the Extension Service office. The report said that the Runnels County cotton insect situation for the last week seemed "rather unusual." This is brought out rather dramatically in spite of the fact that the week was unusually hot and dry, boll worms, boll worm eggs and flea hoppers seem to be increasing at a fairly steady rate.

The reports went on to state that "it is our hope that if the weather continues hot and dry, that the weather plus the help of beneficial insects will keep this insect damage at a low level." No alarm was sounded at the present situation, and the report said that agricultural experts "are certainly not ready to recommend a spraying program at the present time." However, the report stated, "a change in weather could alter the picture overnight."

"Head Start" Mothers Go To School

Mothers of children enrolled in Winters Schools' "Head Start" program have themselves been "going to school" during the past few days.

This is part of the summer program financed by the Federal government and designed to acquaint children of limited means with school life and procedures.

Miss Louise Decker, Runnels County Home Demonstration Agent, is serving as the teacher of mothers of pupils in the "head start" classes.

Classes are held at 8:30 a. m. each Tuesday in the Winters school cafeteria. As many as 18 parents have attended all or some of the meetings.

Topics discussed at the classroom sessions include: Eat To Live Better, Meal Planning Made Easy, Food Selection and Buying, Nutritious Snacks, and More Milk In the Diet, Why Eat a Good Breakfast? and Dental Care.

Parents attending as many as five classes will receive a certificate of completion from Texas A&M University.

Mrs. J. B. Whitlow, supervisor of the school cafeteria, has assisted with the school.

FROM SAN ANTONIO

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hutcherson returned Saturday to their home in San Antonio after spending a few days last week in the home of Mrs. A. D. Lee.

FROM CLEBURNE

Mrs. Horace Grezory and Elaine Hanna of Cleburne were visitors the past week end with Mrs. Frank McKiel.

City Requests Cut In Water Use Sunday

Winters City Council this week asked residents to cut water use all day Sunday, July 24, during which time the settling basin at the water plant will be flushed and cleaned.

Normal and necessary use of water on this one day may be continued without overtaxing facilities, the Council stated. However, they asked that residents refrain from watering lawns and gardens, and washing automobiles.

Officials stated that in order to completely clean the water settling basin, the basin must be drained, and then flushed. They said that the amount of water needed for such an operation would equal approximately the same amount which has been consumed during an average consumption day this summer, about 1,000,000 gallons. Because of this, water pressure may be low in many parts of the city during the time the cleaning operation is underway, and if water is used unnecessarily there may be a shortage for the one day.

It was stated that many times the basin can be cleaned without cutting water usage throughout the city, but that because of the dry weather water consumption remains high. Rains would help to cut consumption.

Officials also said they had refrained from issuing an order prohibiting extra use of water during the time the settling basin is being cleaned because they felt that residents would be glad to cooperate. Periodic cleaning of the basin is an important phase of water plant maintenance.

Second of a Series

No Settlers Noted In Runnels County Until December of 1862

(The following is one of a series of articles covering the early days of this area. The series is being sponsored by the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee, of which Mrs. Charliese Poe is historian.)

BY CHARLIESE POE

When W. C. McCough of Eastland County with seven comrades passed through Runnels County in August of 1861 and discovered Ft. Chadbourne deserted they followed Oak Creek to its origin. They found some cattle but failed to see a person in Runnels County.

The county remained uninhabited until December 1862 when a settlement was formed on Elm Creek near its mouth, close to where Ballinger now stands, called Picketville. The houses were built by setting posts in the ground on end.

Families who lived there were Mr. and Mrs. John W. Guest and their three sons, N. T., B. G., and W. M.; R. K. and Henry Wylie with their negro servant and cowhands; Mrs. Felicia Gorden, a widow, and her five sons, William, Adison, Newt, Benton and Riley; also the noted Uncle Richard Coffey, wife and five children.

These families all lived at Picketville for four years and then they began to scatter. The permanent settlement of the county begins with them.

Others began coming into the county. Settlers, mostly stock raisers, came in slowly, came and went, until 1879 when there was a great influx of immigration, so much so that there was talk of organizing the county. A petition was circulated and succeeded in getting 158 signers, a sufficient number to entitle organization.

The petition was presented to the commissioner's court of Coleman County, to which Runnels was attached for judicial purposes.

County Girls May Now Enter Runnels Farm Bureau August Queen Contest

Applications now are being taken by the Runnels County Farm Bureau for entries in the annual Queen contest, it was announced this week.

The contest will be held August 11 at 8 p. m. in the Ballinger City Park.

Any girl who wishes to enter this contest should contact the Farm Bureau office for necessary forms and information. Contestants will be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness, and all the other qualities that go to make up Texas future homemakers.

In the contest, the girls will be asked several questions concerning the Farm Bureau. Each contestant will also be required to speak approximately one minute on "Why are you glad your family belongs to Farm Bureau?"

To be eligible to enter a girl must be a daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member actively engaged in agricultural production. She must be single and between the ages of 16 and 22 on Sept. 1, 1966.

The winner at the county contest will be sent to the district contest by the county FB and the district winner will be sent to the state contest. The state winner and a matron escort will be allowed $500 expenses to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Las Vegas, Nev., in December. All district queens will receive a watch.

Patricia Ann Sherman, Gary Neal Gray Recite Marriage Vows Monday

Patricia Ann Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Sherman, became the bride of Gary Neal Gray of Fort Stockton, when marriage vows were recited Monday at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Winters Church of Christ. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gray of Winters.

Glenn Gray, minister of the church, officiated for the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with floor candelabras holding lighted tapers. Baskets of white gladiolus were at either side.

Flower girls were Karen and Theresa Gray, nieces of the bridegroom. Zane Eoff and Wesley Crouch lighted the candles.

Dean Maas served the bridegroom as bestman and ushers were Mike Shannon, cousin of the bride and David Sherman, brother of the bride.

Linda Kay Whittenberg was maid of honor. She wore an ice blue brocade floor length dress with sleeveless bodice and boat neckline. Her headpiece was a crown with short blue net veil and she carried a long stemmed carnation and wore long white gloves.

Bridesmaids were Linda Allen and Marilyn Shannon of Abilene, cousin of the bride. They wore floor length ice blue brocade dresses fashioned with A-line skirts accented with a bow in front, sleeveless bodice with boat neck, short blue veils attached to crowns, long white gloves and carried a single long stemmed carnation.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white bridal satin wedding gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, round neckline and full gathered skirt with a panel of lace down the front. The charmingly lace jacket, designed with long tapered sleeves, ended at the waistline with deep scallops of the lace, fastened down the back with tiny satin-covered buttons. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white feathered carnations with ribbon streamers atop a white lace covered Bible. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a pill box hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown hosted the reception immediately following the ceremony.

The bride and bridegroom, both, attended Winters High School and following a wedding trip to Dallas they will be at home in Fort Stockton.

Gay Ninety Party Given Thursday In Newcomb Home

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Newcomb were hosts at a gay ninety party for members of the Martha class of the South Side Baptist Church and their husbands Thursday evening in the back yard of their home.

The ladies were very attractive in their long dresses, gay ninety hats and bonnets, high top shoes and ankle length pantaloons.

The menu consisted of hamburgers, potato chips, frosted fresh fruits, melon balls and iced tea served from the chuck box.

After the meal the guests were invited to sit in a circle and were taken one at a time into a Chinese tea room where Mr. Newcomb dressed as a Chinese cook and Mrs. Newcomb as a Chinese waitress served them their choice of Chinese food consisting bean soup, noodle soup or coconut pie. It didn't matter which food they selected, each was given a whack on the bean, the noodle, or the coconut. It was quite a surprise to each guest.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Pumphrey, Mrs. Bessie Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brandon, Mrs. Ela Thomas, Mrs. Ed Hawkins, Mrs. W. A. Eoff, Mrs. Lizzie Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Smith, Mrs. Ed Compton, Mrs. John Shipman, Mrs. Mittie Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jackson, Mrs. Ethel Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Virden and their grandson, Jeffrey Halford, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb.

MOVIES

"Paradise—Hawaiian Style"

A small indication as to how much Elvis Presley has grown in stature and in importance since he launched his film career 10 years ago, may be gleaned from the increased production values in the star's 21st feature, — Paramount's "Paradise — Hawaiian Style," which opens Friday at the State Theatre.

Producer Hal Wallis has spared no expense in making Presley's seventh film under his aegis the best and most elaborate to date.

A full 21 shooting days were spent on location in the Hawaiian Islands, with scenes filmed in Technicolor on the islands of Kauai and Maui as well as on the main island of Oahu.

"Sands of the Kalahari"

Joseph E. Levine's "Sands of the Kalahari," a Paramount Pictures release showing Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre in Technicolor and Panavision, further supports the theory shared by Levine, the entertainment world's most dynamic personality, and the film's co-producing team of Stanley Baker and Cy Endfield, that Africa is an endless source of provocative and exciting entertainment.

Africa remains an exotic and mysterious continent in the minds of most people, despite the newspaper headlines which cry out about its turmoil and newly emerging nations, and the many articles which ponder its sociological and economic importance. In the rest of the world's imagination, it is a land of diamonds and ivory, witchcraft and jungle rites.

"Finger On The Trigger"

Only in the movies could an American story of the war between troops and Indians after the Civil War be successfully shot in Spain. The answer is evident in the new action packed Techniscope and Technicolor production "Finger On The Trigger," directed and produced by Sidney Pink and being released by Allied Artists Pictures.

Starring Rory Calhoun, Jim Philbrook, Sylvia Solar, Bud Talbot and Tod Murray, the picture bears every semblance of being 100 percent American in cast. The background exteriors photographed in the deserts of Almeria are more like the American states of New Mexico and Arizona than those states themselves, and finally, director-producer Pink, as American as Yankee Doodle, set the pace of action that American fans desire.

"Finger On The Trigger" shows Friday and Saturday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

Entering the cloak and dagger sweepstakes is the 20th Century-Fox production in CinemaScope and De Luxe Color, "Our Man Flint" which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre. Starring James Coburn as freelance espionage agent Derek Flint, the cast also includes Lee J. Cobb, Edward Mulhare and Gila Golan.

Flint differs from other cinema and TV spy in that he doesn't spend his off-duty hours stalking hotels and saloons for female companionship. Flint lives luxuriously in a New York Penthouse with his harem of four international beauties, all of whom cook, clean, barber and generally care for the incredible Derek Flint.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

The National Commission on food marketing has issued its report after about a year's study.

Bearing in mind that figures can prove about anything, the Commission's findings, which are controversial, will hold a very great interest and will be the basis of considerable discussion in the future.

The report places emphasis on the farmer's share of the consumer's dollar spent for food. The lengthy survey of the economics of food marketing which, from farmer through retailer, comprises the Nation's largest industry, concludes that farmers are not to blame for higher food prices.

It is obvious that when the housewife buys a food product in the store she pays for all the services involved in producing, processing and distributing each item. Using figures for 1964, the Commission determined that consumers' expenditures for domestically produced farm food totaled $69.8 billion. The marketing cost made up 68 percent of the food dollar for that year. The farm value was 32 percent.

The $69.8 billion spent by consumers in 1964 breaks down as follows:

Over-all marketing costs were $47.3 billion, of which $20.8 billion was for labor; $5.1 billion for transportation; and $18.7 billion is classed as "other" costs. (This last item includes such things as buildings and equipment, containers and supplies, advertising and promotion.) This leaves $2.7 billion for corporation profit. The remainder of the total bill was $22.5 billion, (the 32 percent for the producer.)

The report itemizes the different commodities which have different cost spreads. For example, the farm share for butter is found to be approximately 70 percent because processing is relatively simple, transportation costs are low since the product is highly concentrated, and handling costs are moderate. By contrast, the farm share of the dollar spent for canned tomatoes is low, since 16 percent is charged to the high processing and container costs. A pound of choice beef retailing for 70.8 cents includes 17 cents for retailing, 2.3 cents for wholesaling, transportation and distribution costs, 5.3 cents for processing and 3.8 cents for "assembly" costs. For this one pound of beef, the farm value is found to be 42.4 cents.

For one pound of white bread retailing at 20.7 cents, the breakdown is: retailing, 3.7 cents, wholesaling, transportation and distribution 6.1 cents, processing 6.7 cents, assembly 2 cents and farm value at 4 cents.

The Commission's Report states that although farm prices of a marketbasket of food were unchanged between 1950 and 1965, the farm-retail spread rose 37 percent and retail prices increased by 20 percent. The conclusion here is that farm efficiency has notably increased and, of course, continues to increase as larger units are operated. This means that the marginal farmers are being eliminated, but this is not particularly the point or concern of the Commission's report. It is a concern in some other endeavor and their probable contribution to problems already acute in urban centers.

Following the report of the National Commission on food marketing it is obvious that the producer of agriculture products, whether food or fiber, must continue his struggle to produce at a cheaper unit cost if he is to receive his fair share of profits related to the cost of food from the grocer's shelf. This is to say, for instance, if cotton sold for 50 cents a pound, the percentage of the producer's profit would still be out of proportion to the price paid by the consumer if it cost him 44 cents to produce that pound of cotton.

It might help us at times to remember: Not all men are equipped by nature to be great, but all have the capacity to be good.

State Capital Highlights— Factors Other Than Population May Determine Commissioners

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

There could be a new look around many Texas county commissioners courts under a reapportionment opinion laid down by the Texas Supreme Court in the case brought by Mayor Hank Avery of Midland. Avery maintained that it isn't constitutional for one Midland County Commissioner to represent 95 per cent of the county's population—the City of Midland—while the other three commissioners represented only 5 per cent of the people.

Supreme Court agreed, 8-1, but with reservations. It held that the ratio was not fair representation, but that the re-division of county precincts, which it told Dist. Judge Joe B. Dibrell of Coleman to order, could consider factors other than population.

Declining to extend the population-only rule which the U. S. Supreme Court has applied to state legislatures, Supreme Court held that a commissioner court is not a legislative body. Court's majority wrote that the road, bridge and tax activities of the commissioners courts have more concern to rural residents than to city dwellers. In recent years, such courts have concerned themselves mainly with nonurban areas, leaving city matters to the city governments.

Supreme Court concluded that not just population, but also factors such as miles of country road, taxable values and geography, plus the "convenience of the people" set out in the Texas Constitution, can be taken into account by a commissioner court in dividing the county into four precincts. High court agreed with Judge Dibrell that the present Midland County situation obviously is arbitrary and should be declared invalid.

Case either will go back to Judge Dibrell for final decision or will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court by either Mayor Avery or Midland County—since neither won a clear-cut victory.

INTEGRATION WARNING
Sixty-four Texas school districts have received letters from the federal office of Education warning of slowness in faculty integration, reports Leon R. Graham, assistant state education commissioner. Graham said 33 other districts around the state were notified that they had violated federal law by failing to submit plans for integrating teachers.

He said the Office of Education expects districts to employ at least one Negro teacher for each school which was previously all-white and at least one white teacher for each previously all-Negro school. Some flexibility, however, is allowed, he added.

No federal funds will be given schools which fail to comply with the regulations of the Office of Education, Graham noted, and the federal government wants full-time teachers integrated, not part-timers or substitutes.

NEW EGG REPORT
Texas Department of Agriculture's Marketing Division begins publication of a new one-market egg price report July 19. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Formerly, quotations from six separate state egg market areas were used in reporting egg prices. "Advantage of the new policy," White said, "is that the single state-wide price quotation for each grade represents a true market for the state, so the information is more useful to producers and buyers alike."

NURSES NEEDED
Former Gov. Allan Shivers has launched a statewide campaign to pull Texas up from rank of 46th in the United States in number of registered nurses on the job.

More than 200 civic and business volunteers from all corners of the state joined with Shivers in seeking $12,000,000 within the next five years to recruit and teach enough nurses to make up for the 10,500 shortage now. The meeting was the first of the Development Council of the Texas Hospital Association health careers program.

MORE AIR SERVICE
Texas Aeronautics Commission approved applications by two small airlines to provide three new state routes.

Houston Commuter Airlines, a "whistle stop" at Alice, Hood Airlines of Killeen will extend its present service to include a Houston-Ft. Worth flight and a separate Killeen-Houston run.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES
Out-of-state witnesses in felony trials and grand jury hearings must be paid by counties up to limit of $2,000, at usual rate for out-of-county witnesses, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held. In other official opinions, Carr ruled that:

A city judge sitting as a magistrate has jurisdiction to accept local complaints in cases which he cannot try, issue warrants of arrests and transfer the cases to other magistrates for examining trial.

Vocational Rehabilitation Division of Texas Education Agency can pay tuition for handicapped persons to attend denominational schools for training. Thirty-one-year-old dormant Galveston Junior College still is in legal existence and may be reactivated by disannexation of overlapped territory of another district.

FUTURE PROBLEMS EYED
Governor's Committee on Public School Education adopted further research project guidelines for its three-year study of school needs. One committee member insisted on adding to the list of study topics, "how to get rid of incompetent teachers."

Committee recommended a budget of $253,338 for 1968 and $40,000 for 1969 to finance its work through the 1969 legislative session.

SHORT SNORTS
Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont has asked an investigation of auto insurance rates by Texas Legislative Council, research arm of Legislature. Light investigations of pink bollworm were reported in Trans-Pecos cotton fields, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture, which also reports Valley cotton is opening three to four weeks later than in 1965. State Highway Department will acquire scenic easements to protect area around President Johnson's LBJ ranch from commercial signs and buildings. Railroad Commission has set August 1 hearing on application of Texas and Pacific to discontinue passenger train service between Dallas and El Paso. Governor Connally announced approval of 16 projects under Economic Opportunity Act, in-

Miss Mildred Mansfield provided appropriate organ selections and with Jack Wallace, violinist, accompanied Mrs. Bernard Newland who sang "At Dawning." Gary Bracken, Gaylord Allen, Dick Howe and Bernard Newland, members of the Kings Men quartet, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The 23rd Psalm."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown in the grand tradition of Empress Eugenie. Chantilly lace ble, which was also adorned with branched hurricane floral arrangements, garlands of smilax and stephanotis and four candelabra.

For her wedding trip to Jackson and Yellowstone Park, the bride wore a beige and black dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white asters.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of East high school and attended college at the University of Wyoming two years and one year at the University of Houston. She was secretary of Downey Hall and a member of the Intervarsity choir and YFC.

Race Drivers--

They also wear the seat belts to keep them from being thrown from the cars in case of a rollover.

Do race drivers "drive wild" in normal, highway driving? Not necessarily. In fact, it has been said they are the safest drivers on the road, because of the training they receive on the track. They realize the danger facing every driver on the road, and their reflexes are tuned to such a degree that, for instance, if a tire blows out, they are more capable of handling a car than the average driver. When asked their opinion on the reason for so many highway accidents, most race drivers are unanimous in their answers: "Carelessness! Drivers let their minds stray from their driving, then suddenly—BOOM!"

Both Brooks' and Blackmon's

private cars are equipped with seat belts. Do they use them in normal driving? This perhaps was a useless question; they would not think of driving without them; they know what can happen, and they like to stay with that car, no matter what. They're serious about this... and just a bit surprised at the public's slow acceptance of seat belts—and the constant use of them—in private automobiles.

New Miniature Phone Announced By General T.

Development of a miniature wall telephone that occupies just 4 1/2 inches by 8 1/2 inches of wall space and can accommodate either pushbuttons or a conventional rotary dial has been announced by General Telephone & Electronics Corporation, parent company of General Telephone of the Southwest and Southwestern States Telephone Company with headquarters in San Angelo, Texas. The new telephone was developed and is being produced by Automatic Electric Company, a GT&E manufacturing subsidiary. It requires substantially less space than the eight inches by 10 inches necessary for mounting a standard wall telephone. The miniature unit also features a unique "off-the-hook" holder for its handset when a user temporarily leaves the telephone. The handset is placed horizontally across the holder without touching the hook switch that disconnects a call.
