HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The new "welcome" sign, purchased by the Chamber of Commerce with the help of other organizations and individuals, has been completed and installed on the lawn in front of the City Hall. There is space on the sign to put special messages which may be seen from the street, day or night. These may be special notices to call attention to some activity or special attraction, or perhaps safety slogans.

This sign is just another little touch which goes along with a progressive attitude displayed by Winters' businesses and individuals. It may seem a simple thing, and may go unnoticed much of the time by many of us who pass along the street daily. But to many people, traveling through town, this sign will help in a way to prove a point—that Winters is not just another spot on the highway where motorists are forced to slow down; just another traffic slower-downer. It will make an impression of most travelers, who will remember Winters. And good publicity is never out of place. We may be a "City on the Grow," but unless we tell someone else about it, we will be in the same class as the boy who threw a kiss to the girl in the darkened theatre—he knows about it, but no one else is aware.

Herbert Hoover said: "A splendid storehouse of integrity and freedom has been bequeathed to us by our forefathers. In this day of confusion, of peril to liberty, our high duty is to see that this storehouse is not robbed of its contents."

It has been so hot during the past few weeks, even The Thinkers who hang around the trough at Harrison's Auto Parts have not had a business meeting in quite a spell. But come cooler weather, and more favorable fishing conditions, and the opening of the dove hunting season, and perhaps the beginning of the football season, activities will pick up a little, with regularly scheduled and unscheduled meetings held. Then it will perhaps be a time for Spec Robinson to make an official report and give his recommendations on the best method of hooking mountain trout. On a recent trip to trout streams in New Mexico, he discovered that the best way is to keep an eye on fish hatchery personnel; the time to put the fly rod to work is when they dump into a stream a load of hatchery-raised pan-sizers.

For those of us who have been suffering through the 100-plus temperatures of "dog days," there comes a bit of encouraging news by way of the almanac-calender: "Dog days" are due to end next Thursday, August 11. So any noticeable discomfort after that date can be laid to something else.

There are many tales, handed down through the decades, about "dog days." Some of them are to the effect that dogs are more apt to "go mad" during that time; others that during this summer period, rattlesnakes "go blind" and will strike without rattling a warning; and some that the sting of a wasp or bee is deadly during "dog days." There is one old claim that if one drinks rain-water which happens to fall during the "dog days" period, his hair will come out; and that one should never eat fish and drink milk at the same time during "dog days."

LEAVE FOR ENGLAND

Vinson, and other relatives and friends here the past three weeks, will leave Saturday for South Ruislip Air Station, London, England where he will be stationed with the U.S. Air Force for the next three years. His wife is the former Valerie Cox of Oxford, England.

Plans Being Made To Loop City With Big Water Line To Increase Pressure

Winters' City Council Monday night discussed further plans for a complete looping of the city with an 8-inch water line. This type of water line was included in the water distribution system recommended by Marvin-Turner Engineers in a complete study made about five years ago. Marvin-Turner Engineers was the predecessor of Bryant-Curington Engineers, who presently are engineering the construction of the City's new water settling plant.

The Council plans to begin work on more of the 8-inch loop project this fall or winter, and subsequently complete the entire loop. Part of the "loop" already has been installed; the water department, when laying new lines, follows as closely as possible the original plans for the improvement of the water distribution system, city officials pointed out.

In addition to the main loop, several inner-loops have already been completed. Officials expressed the hope that within two or three years, the entire project could be completed. A complete loop will provide greater pressure for water consumers in most of the town, it was suggested. At present, when water usage is at a peak, some sections have reported very low pressure. The city is working hard to eliminate this problem, officials stated, and are receiving "great cooperation from patient water consumers."

Chamber of Commerce Will Sponsor Industrial Seminar Here Sept. 23

The Winters Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an industrial seminar here Sept. 23 to study industrial development and potential. Harvey D. Jones, chamber president, announced this week.

The seminar will consist of several separate meetings or phases throughout the day, covering different aspects of industrial development, with a round-up to cover all facets later in the day.

The Winters Chamber is working with the Texas Industrial Commission, the state's industrial development agency, in planning the seminar.

Expected to be present at the September seminar in Winters are experienced industrial development professionals associated with banks, railroads, utilities, and area chambers of commerce along with the staff of the Commission.

The Commission, with offices located in Austin, works closely

Mrs. W. L. Collins Receives Honors From Heart Ass'n.

Mrs. W. L. Collins, who for the past five years representing Post 9193 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary, and has served as Heart Fund chairman for North Runnels County, recently received an award certificate from the Southwest Texas Heart Association in recognition of her work.

The certificate read, "Southwest Texas Heart Association, Chapter and Affiliate of the Texas and American Heart Association, Certificate of Appreciation, awarded to Mrs. W. L. (Louise) Collins for the year 1965-66.

Mrs. Collins was one of four in the state last year receiving a Heart Pin Award. The pin was presented during a Lions Club meeting.

Mrs. Collins stated that "without the assistance of the chairman, Chief of Police Joe Stevens, and John Gardner, and others who worked in the campaigns, these awards would not have been received."

H-SU Students To Be Greeted By Computers

Hardin-Simmons University students registering for the fall term will be greeted by H-SU's new IBM Series 50 system, which consists of two card punches, a reproducing punch, a sorter, a collator, and an accounting machine that also prints reports, university officials said this week.

The new equipment, which is being leased from International Business Machines, will be housed in Sandefer Memorial and is to be tested thoroughly before the fall registration, according to Robert E. Herman, who is in charge of the new system.

"This program has a dual purpose," Herman said. "First, it will assist the registrar's office in such matters as registration and grade reporting, and it will assist business office functions as payroll procedures and student accounts.

"Second, it will be used for teaching purposes. A fundamental course in data processing will be offered this fall, and we hope to add more courses at a later date—tentatively in the spring."

But few major changes will be evident to most students during registration. The reason, according to Herman, is that "in order to cut down on confusion, we are trying to make as few changes as possible in registration from the student's standpoint."

Family Night Set For Thursday, Aug. 11 at Country Club

Regular family night for members of the Winters Country Club has been set for Thursday August 11, it has been announced.

Golf will begin at 5 o'clock and a covered dish dinner will be served. All members and their families are urged to be present.

Cotton Insect Situation Is Baffling Agent

The Runnels County cotton insect situation remains just about "as baffling as this agent has ever witnessed," C. T. Parker, Runnels County Agricultural Agent, said this week.

Normally with weather as hot and dry over such a prolonged period of time, you would not expect a boll worm increase at all, the agent said. Yet, this is not the case as the boll worm eggs and a few worms showed an alarming build-up last week in the Miles and Dry Ridges communities, he went on.

With the prospect of cheap cotton and the fact that boll worms are becoming resistant to most all chemicals, it makes the situation extremely hard to make a decision, it was stated. Then too, add to our trouble the light showers which have fallen in many parts of the county can lead to nothing less than an increased build-up, the agent said.

But there is one bright spot, according to the extension service agent: "We are not finding too many worms, just a tremendous amount of eggs. So far, beneficial insects have kept us out of real bad trouble, but this may not hold for long."

The agent went on, "Next week just might change our thinking to a control program. In the meantime, we have all 10 fingers crossed and hope the showers don't get us in too bad a tumble."

Pete Davidson Building Ultra-Modern Cotton Gin

The most modern cotton gin within a radius of 100 miles of Winters is now under construction on the west edge of Winters by Pete Davidson, owner of Davidson Gin. It is expected to be completed in time for the 1966 cotton crop.

The old gin operated by Davidson for many years on North Arlington has been dismantled, and all operations moved to the new location. The new gin is located west of Winters, on the north side and fronting on the new bypass loop of FM 53. Construction is being done by Continental Moss Garden.

The new modern gin, being built from the ground up, will provide facilities for a capacity of 10-12 bales an hour. Four new gin stands are being installed, with 79 16-inch diameter saws. Old saws are 12 inch diameter.

Two suction stations, powered with much higher suction fans than were available in the old gin, will pull the cotton off trailers into the modern gins. Not only has high ginning capacity been of prime importance in building the new gin, Davidson said, but with the modern equipment a higher quality of ginned cotton will be available.

All equipment will be set in place on special foundations, with gin stands mounted over pits containing cotton and seed moving equipment, before walls and roof of the building are put up. The building will be of pre-fabricated steel.

The office will be housed in a brick building to be built between the gin proper and the entrance to FM Road 53.

The late Jake Davidson, father of Pete Davidson, came to Winters in 1916 from Red River County, where he had run gins for 6-8 years. He operated a cotton mill for Runnels County Gin Co. for nine years, and later owned a gin adjacent to the Kornegay Gin in 1929, and the old gin was dismantled in the early 1950s.

Pete Davidson has been operator of Davidson Gin for many years.

Plans are to hold an open house for the public sometime the latter part of September, Davidson said.

Grid Equipment Issue Set For Next Wednesday

Some equipment will be issued prospective members of the 1966 Winters High School Blizzard football team, Coach L. G. Wilson announced prior to leaving for the coaching clinic being held at Houston this week.

Shoes and socks will be issued August 10 in this order:

Seniors and Juniors—8 to 10 a. m.

Sophomores—10 a. m. to 12 n.

Freshmen—2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Actual football practice will begin Monday, August 15, the coach stated. Workout times and schedule will be given to each individual when shoes are issued next Wednesday.

All prospective members of this year's football squad are urged to get this first equipment issue on the date specified, the coach said.

A&S Business From Ballinger May Be Handled At Winters

All business concerning rail shipments from Ballinger on the Abilene & Southern Railway may be handled through the Winters office of the railroad, if the Railroad Commission allows the closing of the Ballinger agency.

A hearing was held last week by the Commission at which the railroad company requested abandonment of the Ballinger agency. J. B. McCormick of Abilene, assistant superintendent of the Abilene & Southern and the Rio Grande division of the Texas and Pacific, said that all shippers have been advised of the plan to handle Ballinger freight matters through the Winters agency. He said there were no complaints.

The railroad will pay the cost of telephone calls by shippers, it was stated.

The Ballinger agency will be transferred to Abilene if the Railroad Commission allows the closing.

A. T. Yowell, Missouri Pacific traveling freight accountant from St. Louis, estimated that elimination of the Ballinger agency would save about $7,000 per year. He said shipments from Ballinger dropped from a $4,865 earning in the 1964-65 fiscal to $4,845 in the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Abilene and Southern is operating into Ballinger, the end of its line, about twice a week, going there when there are cars to be dropped or picked up. There has been only $32 worth of less than carload shipments in and out of Ballinger in the last two years, it was stated.

Operation of the Winters terminal of the railroad is reinforced by heavy grain shipments in season, and regular shipments of grain and livestock feed components throughout the year, augmented by business from Winters' other industrial activities.

Student Council Officers Attend Abilene Workshop

Several officers of the Winters High School Student Council and their sponsor attended a Student Council Workshop at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene from Sunday through Friday of last week.

Students from all over Texas met to attempt to solve problems facing high schools. They were divided into four "high schools" and given hypothetical situations to study and develop solutions. They wrote a constitution for their high school, a school song and a school yell.

After the achievement banquet Thursday night, a spokesman for each high school presented his problem to the rest of the group with the solution.

The old gin operated by Davidson for many years on North Arlington has been dismantled, and all operations moved to the new location. The new gin is located west of Winters, on the north side and fronting on the new bypass loop of FM 53. Construction is being done by Continental Moss Garden.

The new modern gin, being built from the ground up, will provide facilities for a capacity of 10-12 bales an hour. Four new gin stands are being installed, with 79 16-inch diameter saws. Old saws are 12 inch diameter.

Pete Davidson has been operator of Davidson Gin for many years.

Plans are to hold an open house for the public sometime the latter part of September, Davidson said.

Richard Puckett Will Play In Greenbelt Bowl

Richard Puckett, an outstanding member of the Winters High School Football team, and a graduate of Winters High School, will play in the 17th Annual Greenbelt All-Star Football Classic at Childress Saturday, August 13.

Puckett was selected for the all-district team as quarterback and safety. He was president of the National Honor Society and Student Council.

As a part of the Greenbelt Bowl activities, a 1966 Greenbelt Bowl Football Queen will be crowned at the game. Players select the candidates for the Queen contest. Puckett selected Miss Robbie Davidson of Winters as his candidate for the contest.

On August 12 at 6 p. m., there will be a picnic honoring entrants, players, and parents at the Childress Fair Park Rotary Bowl. Following the picnic, the queen contest will be held at the Elk's Club.

A parade will be held in Childress August 13 at 4 p. m., featuring all Queen contestants. The football game will begin at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Chas. Simpson Received BA Degree From Texas A&M

On July 15 Mrs. Charles Simpson completed requirements for a bachelor of arts degree from Texas A & M University, where she majored in English. At present Mrs. Simpson is employed as analyst in the A & M Agricultural Chemistry Laboratory.

Mr. Simpson, who received his master of science degree from A & M in May, is currently enrolled in advanced graduate work and is conducting research in the field of plant breeding.

The couple recently visited in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kruse Jr.

Chamber of Commerce Will Sponsor Industrial Seminar Here Sept. 23

The Winters Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an industrial seminar here Sept. 23 to study industrial development and potential. Harvey D. Jones, chamber president, announced this week.

The seminar will consist of several separate meetings or phases throughout the day, covering different aspects of industrial development, with a round-up to cover all facets later in the day.

The Winters Chamber is working with the Texas Industrial Commission, the state's industrial development agency, in planning the seminar. Expected to be present at the September seminar in Winters are experienced industrial development professionals associated with banks, railroads, utilities, and area chambers of commerce along with the staff of the Commission.

The Commission, with offices located in Austin, works closely with local economic development groups helping them to attract new payrolls. Reports have indicated that where local groups have worked through the Commission, industrial development has grown in many instances.

The Commission serves as a salesman for Texas on a nationwide basis for sponsoring an advertising program designed to attract the attention of plant location decision makers. The program builds the true image of Texas as a progressive industrial state with a wide variety of profit factors for the manufacturer.

The Commission works with industrial development professionals associated with private enterprise in assisting their existing programs through prospect development, training seminars for company personnel, consulting service, promotional aids, and other methods.

Cyclone of April, 1922, Left Death And Destruction In Rowena Area

(This is one of a series of historical articles about Runnels County. It is prepared under the sponsorship of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee. The writer is historian of the committee.)

BY CHARLSIE POE

(Information furnished by J. A. Patterson of Rt. 2, Ballinger) Soon after midnight Friday April 7, 1922, a cyclone struck the rich farming community four miles north of Rowena, leaving a mile wide path of death and destruction as it traveled in a northeastern direction.

The seven people killed included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Strum's small daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Khutel's young daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Frenzel's small child, and a Negro child. Frank Kvapil and his daughters, Rosie and Annie, also lost their lives.

Among the injured were Mrs. Paul Strum, who lost a hand, also the following Frank Kvapil children, Joe, Elmer, Charlie, Bill, Jerry and Emma. Emma later lost the lower part of her leg from blood poison. Elmer recalls that when he regained consciousness he was lying in the cow pen with cows walking over him and bawling.

Milo Gathering Beginning To Increase In Tempo

Activity in the milo fields of the Winters area is beginning to pick up, with a strong surge anticipated for next week. However, as is customary, cutting of the grain will be drawn out over several weeks, perhaps more so this year than in immediate past years.

Quality of grain has been reported as good, with production levels described as "good—considering moisture conditions during the past several weeks." Also, moisture content has been reported as high in the first cuttings to come in, but is expected to subside to a great extent as the season grows.

Prices were strong, at $1.80, higher than had been expected.

The certificate read, "Southwest Texas Heart Association, Chapter and Affiliate of the Texas and American Heart Association, Certificate of Appreciation for Community Service, awarded to Mrs. W. L. (Louise) Collins for the year 1965-66."

Mrs. Collins was one of four in the state last year receiving a Heart Pin Award. The pin was presented during a Lions Club meeting.

Mrs. Collins stated that "without the assistance of the co-chairman, Chief of Police Joe Stevens, and John Gardner, and others who worked in the campaigns, these awards would not have been received."

H-SU Students To Be Greeted By Computers

Hardin-Simmons University students registering for the fall term will be greeted by H-SU's new IBM Series 50 system, which consists of two card punches, a reproducing punch, a sorter, a collator, and an accounting machine that also prints reports, university officials said this week.

The new equipment, which is being leased from International Business Machines, will be housed in Sandefer Memorial and is to be tested thoroughly before the fall registration, according to Robert E. Herman, who is in charge of the new system.

"This program has a dual purpose," Herman said. "First, it will assist the registrar's office in such matters as registration and grade reporting, and it will assist business office functions as payroll procedures and student accounts."

"Second, it will be used for teaching purposes. A fundamental course in data processing will be offered this fall, and we hope to add more courses at a later date—tentatively in the spring."

But few major changes will be evident to most students during registration. The reason, according to Herman, is that "in order to cut down on confusion, we are trying to make as few changes as possible in registration from the student's standpoint."

Major Construction Work On Water Settling Basin For City Completed

The major portion of the construction work on Winters' new water clarifier, or settling basin, was completed this week with the removal of forms from the last segment of the concrete walls.

It was expected that the run-over trough, or wire, would be poured on top of the walls of the big 90-foot basin this week. Then contractors will begin construction of a pump house and dig ditches, lay inlet and outlet pipes from the basin and the filtering system in the old plant, and install air pumps and flash mixer. When this is completed, the new basin will be tied into the old plant.

Mayor W. M. Hays said this week that work is now approximately two-thirds complete, and the entire system should be ready for use within the month. However, completion will depend on weather conditions, the mayor said. Heavy rains would slow down some of the construction work now being done, such as laying piping; but it also would give contractors a chance to tie into the old system without inconvenience to water users. The old system will have to be shut down and drained while tie-ins are made, with the high-rise water towers being used for storage of water. Substantial rains would lower water consumption considerably.

City officials are planning some type of open house to be held after completion of the new basin.

A&S Business From Ballinger May Be Handed At Winters

All business concerning rail shipments from Ballinger on the Abilene & Southern Railway may be handled through the Winters office of the railroad, if the Railroad Commission allows the closing of the Ballinger agency.

A hearing was held last week by the Commission at which the railroad company requested abandonment of the Ballinger agency. J. B. McCormick of Abilene, assistant superintendent of the Abilene & Southern and the Rio Grande division of the Texas and Pacific, said that all shippers have been advised of the plan to handle Ballinger freight matters through the Winters agency. He said there were no complaints.

The railroad will pay the cost of telephone calls by shippers, it was stated.

The Ballinger agent will be transferred to Abilene if the Railroad Commission allows the closing.

A. T. Yowell, Missouri Pacific traveling freight accountant from St. Louis, estimated that elimination of the Ballinger agency would save about $7,000 per year. He said shipments from Ballinger dropped from a $4,865 earning in the 1964-65 fiscal to $4,845 in the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Abilene and Southern is operating into Ballinger, the end of its line, about twice a week, going there when there are cars to be dropped or picked up. There has been only $32 worth of less than carload shipments in and out of Ballinger in the last two years, it was stated.

Operation of the Winters terminal of the railroad is reinforced by heavy grain shipments in season, and regular shipments of grain and livestock feed components throughout the year, augmented by business from Winters' other industrial activities.

Student Council Officers Attend Abilene Workshop

Several officers of the Winters High School Student Council and their sponsor attended a Student Council Workshop at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene from Sunday through Friday of last week.

Students from all over Texas met to attempt to solve problems facing high schools. They were divided into four "high schools" and given hypothetical situations to study and develop solutions. They wrote a constitution for their high school, a school song and a school yell.

After the achievement banquet Thursday night, a spokesman for each high school presented his problem to the rest of the group with the solution.

The most modern cotton gin within a radius of 100 miles of Winters is now under construction on the west edge of Winters by Pete Davidson, owner of Davidson Gin. It is expected to be completed in time for the 1966 cotton crop.

The old gin operated by Davidson for many years on North Arlington has been dismantled, and all operations moved to the new location. The new gin is located west of Winters, on the north side and fronting on the new bypass loop of FM 53. Construction is being done by Continental Moss Garden.

The new modern gin, being built from the ground up, will provide facilities for a capacity of 10-12 bales an hour. Four new gin stands are being installed, with 79 16-inch diameter saws. Old saws are 12 inch diameter.

Two suction stations, powered with much higher suction fans than were available in the old gin, will pull the cotton off trailers into the modern gins. Not only has high ginning capacity been of prime importance in building the new gin, Davidson said, but with the modern equipment a higher quality of ginned cotton will be available.

All equipment will be set in place on special foundations, with gin stands mounted over pits containing cotton and seed moving equipment, before walls and roof of the building are put up. The building will be prefabricated steel.

The office will be housed in a brick building to be built between the gin proper and the entrance to FM Road 53.

The late Jake Davidson, father of Pete Davidson, came to Winters in 1916 from Red River County, where he had run gins for 6-8 years. He operated a cotton gin mill for Runnels County Gin Co. for nine years, and later owned a gin adjacent to the Komegazy Gin. He acquired the Komegazy Gin in 1929, and the old gin was dismantled in the early 1950s.

Pete Davidson has been operator of Davidson Gin for many years.

Plans are to hold an open house for the public sometime the latter part of September, Davidson said.

Richard Puckett Will Play In Greenbelt Bowl

Richard Puckett, an outstanding member of the Winters High School Football team, and a graduate of Winters High School, will play in the 17th Annual Greenbelt All-Star Football Classic at Childress Saturday, August 13.

Puckett was selected for the all-district team as quarterback and safety. He was president of the National Honor Society and Student Council.

As a part of the Greenbelt Bowl activities, a 1966 Greenbelt Bowl Football Queen will be crowned at the game. Players select the candidates for the Queen contest. Puckett selected Miss Robbie Davidson of Winters as his candidate for the contest.

On August 12 at 6 p. m., there will be a picnic honoring entrants, players, and parents at the Childress Fair Park Rotary Bowl. Following the picnic, the queen contest will be held at the Elk's Club.

A parade will be held in Childress August 13 at 4 p. m., featuring all Queen contestants. The football game will begin at 8 p. m.

Babson Park, Mass. Things are looking up for American farmers. Prices for livestock and other farm output are at good levels, and everything points to a new record in farm income in 1966.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966. HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 65 proposing an Amendment to Section 3-b of Article VII of the Constitution of Texas providing that school taxes levied in any independent school district or in any junior college district shall not be abrogated, cancelled or invalidated by a change in boundaries.

to push total demand for American farm produce to new highs. For decades, the federal government has been pursuing farm programs designed to cut crop surpluses and to bolster agricultural prices.

The current broader demand for U. S. farm produce is pointed up by the fact that on July 1 this year our carryover of wheat from last season dipped below the 600-million-bushel mark for the first time since the early 1950's.

Higher Production Costs Last year, gross income realized from farming was at a record high of $44.4 billion, up $2.2 billion from 1964.

In 1965, total farm production expenses were about 4 per cent higher than in 1964. This year they may top 1965 by a larger percentage, reflecting rising costs for livestock, feed, maintenance and repair of machinery, and the carrying of debt.

Onslaught Of The Labor Unions

Look for improvement in the over-all economic position of farmers to lead to greater efforts by labor union leaders to "organize" farm workers.

During the next few years, profit margins of farmers will be under persistent, heavy pressure from rising labor costs. Not only will this pressure come from wider unionization of farm laborers; it will also come from the application of federal wage-hour laws which are granting steadily broader coverage and compensation.

Bright Future For Farm Equipment Sales While some large farm operations have done very well for themselves in recent years, the average farmer has economically lagged his city cousin.

Hence, coming months will probably see farmers spending more freely for supplies, including heavy machinery. Such spending could well set a record this year.

PUBLIC NOTICE Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FIVE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966. SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4 proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of Texas by adding to Section 62 of Article XVI a new subsection to be denominated subsection (c).

Section 1. That Section 62 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a subsection (c) which shall read as follows:

"(c) The Texas Legislature is authorized to enact appropriate laws to provide for a System of Retirement, Disability and Death Benefits for all the officers and employees of a county or other political subdivision of the state, or a political subdivision of a county, or other political subdivision of the state or political subdivision of the county participating in this System; providing that when the Texas Legislature has passed the necessary enabling legislation pursuant to the constitutional authorization, then the governing body of the county, or other political subdivision of the state, or political subdivision of a county, or other political subdivision of the state, or political subdivision of the county participating in this System shall make the determination as to whether a particular subdivision of the state, or political subdivision of a county, or other political subdivision of the state or political subdivision of the county participating in this System shall be included in those systems regardless of whether the county or other political subdivision of the state or political subdivision of the county participates in the Retirement, Disability and Death Benefit System authorized by this Constitutional Amendment, or whether they participate in a System under the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 62 of Article XVI of the Texas Constitution as the same is herein amended."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on November, 1966, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Texas Legislature to establish a System of Retirement, Disability and Death Benefits for the officials and employees of the various counties or other political subdivisions of the state, or political subdivisions of a county, or other political subdivisions of the state, or political subdivisions of the county electing to participate therein and the officers and employees covered by the System; and forbidding the Legislature from making any appropriations for the operation of this System."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes have been cast in favor of such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Section 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have notice of said proposed Amendment and of said election published as required by the Constitution of Texas, and laws of this state.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966. HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 79 proposing an amendment to Article VIII, Constitution of the State of Texas, by adding Section 1-d to read as follows:

"Section 1-d. (a) All land owned by natural persons designated for agricultural use shall be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such agricultural use. Until paid, there shall be a lien for additional taxes and interest on land assessed under the provisions of this Section."

"(g) The valuation and assessment of any minerals or subsurface rights in minerals shall not come within the provisions of this Section."

Roger Babson Says—

Babson Forecast Made Early In Year Proving Reasonably Accurate

Babson Park, Mass. As we New Englanders say, a lot of water has gone over the dam since our business and financial forecast for 1966 was published here on December 30, 1965. Both the Gross National Product and the Federal Reserve Index of Production have scaled new peaks in the first half of 1966... just as we expected. But the stock market (as we also felt might happen) stumbled while business was still climbing.

Foreign Skies Still Clouded
Looking back, we find that last December we counted on more important developments to come out of Russia than actually took place. Very definitely South Vietnam has dominated the international scene. The "fireworks" in that unhappy country may well account for the relative inaction of the Russians.

Also, despite the rumble of threats from Red China, that rousing giant has been preoccupied with shifts in the Peking power setup. These should become increasingly clear later in the year. We were quite right in predicting no major war with either Russia or China. And we still feel our forecast that the balance would swing our way in Vietnam has been borne out, and will become even more apparent when the dry season returns in Southeast Asia.

Gains Harder To Come By
Six months ago we reasoned that the best of 1966 might be seen in the first half. Although some further progress will be had only at prohibitive cost. Some economists have begged the government to use its tax power to slow the economy. . . so credit inflation will not spill over into runaway price inflation and then a big bust. Apparently Uncle Sam has left the job of "cooling off" the boom to the money managers. . . the Federal Reserve Board. It is the old-fashioned way; it is cumbersome, all-embracing-sort of a shotgun method that hits around as well as on target—and, above all it is slow. But just because it is slow, don't think it won't work. It is working. That is why we still look for the final half year to be less boomy than the first half.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

Next to eyes and ears, the word nose is perhaps used in more idiomatic expressions than any other part of the human body.

To "keep your nose to the grindstone" means that you constantly expose yourself to arduous labor.

Many small children "pull their parents around by the nose." This means that the children dominate, and it probably originated from the fact that the nose is a sensitive part of the body, and dotting parents are especially sensitive to their children's desires. Rings are placed in the noses of bulls so they can be easily led. In former days, hogs' noses had rings placed in them to prevent their rooting up the yard or garden when they were allowed to run outside.

Not too many years ago, it was customary for certain Indian tribes to cut off the nose of a squaw when she was found guilty of adultery. This is probably how the expression, "cut off your nose to spite your face" originated. The term today means that you certainly don't gain anything by resorting to drastic measures.

For something to be "right under your nose" means that it is very close at hand, and a "nosey" person is someone who asks too many questions. To "pay through the nose" means that an exorbitant price has been exacted for something, and it usually bears the connotation of revenge.

Because the nose is sensitive to odors, a "nosegay" is any flower which is fragrant.

You can always tell when a man is well informed. His views are very much like your own.

Talk is cheap because the supply always exceeds the demand.

Cotton Growers Told To "Get Off The Fence" and Choose Programs

Cotton farmers of Rannels and Coke counties were challenged Monday night to "get off the fence—make up your minds what kind of cotton program you want and then support your program."

Charles Stenholm of Stamford, executive vice president of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Assn., made the admonition at a meeting of the cotton growers of the two counties in cooperation with the Extension Service. The meeting was to perfect the organization of a local cotton improvement association.

Neuman Smith of Rannels County and Ben Boykin of Coke County were reelected as directors of the Rolling Plains Assn. to join directors from 29 other counties on the executive committee.

Stenholm listed five objectives of the Rolling Plains group:

1. Gain recognition and representation for the Rolling Plains Assn.
2. Work with businessmen and chambers of commerce in perfecting a strong organization.
3. Keep in touch with Congressmen to gain proper legislation to benefit cotton growers.
4. Provide an insect survey program such as now is being conducted by the association.
5. Provide a cotton promotion organization on a local level.

Stenholm voiced his endorsement of the cotton research and promotional act passed by Congress which is to be presented for a referendum vote. Under the act, cotton producers would pay $10 a bale for promotion if two-thirds of the growers vote in favor of the act.

C. T. Parker Jr., Rannels County Agent, reported on the results of an insect survey which teams have been conducting. The survey is financed by the Texas Department of Agriculture funds and matching contributions of the Rolling Plains Assn.

Parker said he had been conducting the survey over the county with the assistance of two Texas A&M students and that about 20 farms a week have been inspected.

He called the team's findings almost "unbelievable." He said that on 100 plants inspected on one farm, bollworm eggs were found on 59. Other 100-plant lots showed 36, 22, 49, 24 and 45 eggs. On 100 plants of another farm they counted 117 bollworm eggs. The lowest count was 22 eggs, he said.

Parker said that insects are becoming more resistant to insecticides and that in 1961 DDT showed a 90 percent kill while in 1965 the kill was only 52 percent.

Stenholm explained that the Rolling Plains Association was organized in 1964 primarily to eradicate the bollworm, but that not much progress has been made in that direction.

J. T. Cooper of Roscoe, president of the Association, was present at the meeting, which was held in Ballinger.

Central Texas Opportunities, Poverty War Group, Will Select Committee

Not less than nine nor more than 16 persons will be elected to a Policy Advisory Committee for Central Texas Opportunities, Inc., at a meeting to be held in the Courthouse in Ballinger next Tuesday, August 9.

Joe D. Philpott, director of CTO, which will serve Runnels, Concho, McCulloch, Callahan and Coleman counties, has announced the meeting for 7:30 p. m. for the election of committee members and to advise directors of the corporation on problems of their respective counties.

CTO recently was organized as a corporation to work with county leaders and school administrations on the Federal government's Poverty War program. Two directors are named from each member county; W. M. Hays of Winters and Ernest Caskey of Ballinger represent Runnels County on the board of CTO.

Philpott said that any person interested in the program is invited to attend the meeting. He also said that the Policy Advisory Committee shall have not less than 30 percent of its members elected thereto who are members of a minority group and/or representatives of those income families.

Those qualifying for membership on the committee, Philpott said, shall be residents of such counties as made up the CTO corporation, and must be otherwise qualified as follows: 1. A person whose family income is $3,000 per year or less; or 2. a person who is a member of a minority group; or 3. a person who is a recognized leader within his respective community who has displayed prior concern with economic, social and educational problems; or 4. a person who is engaged in one of the following activities: public education, public health, service, welfare agencies, labor organization, employment agencies, legal profession, law enforcement agencies, religious institutions, financial institutions, civic and service organizations, business people, city, county and government units, and from existing organizations concerned with social and economic development.

Director Philpott said it is the aim to organize committees as quickly as possible and commence surveys as to the areas of poverty needing assistance and to formulate plans for helping people in distressed areas.

The director said that Central Texas Opportunities, Inc., is not a job placement office, nor will it hand out money. He said it was mainly concerned with organizing and maintaining adult education and training programs, and working with the schools in such programs as Head Start. He said the hope is to establish trade schools in each county. An appropriation of an undisclosed amount has been made by the Federal government to be used in this program. Offices of CTO are in Coleman, and have been open since July 1.

Sideoats Grama Said To Be Best Grass Plant For Runnels Soil, Water District

What does the average rancher consider to be the most important grass plant of this area? Ronald Rugh, Range Conservationist, with the local Soil Conservation Service said one of the most important plants to the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District ranchers is sideoats grama.

Rugh described sideoats grama as a native, warm season plant. It begins growth in early April and produces seed from July to September. The small oat-like seeds hang down uniformly on one side of the seed stalk, as indicated by the name "sideoats." Leaf blades are flat with small hairs and bumps along the edges.

Sideoats grama grows best on well-drained uplands and shallow rocky areas, but may be found on soils ranging from deep to very shallow, and in all areas of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District.

Rugh stated that this grass produces a high quantity and quality forage. And it is readily eaten by all kinds of livestock. He said, for this reason, we must manage our grassland to protect grasses like sideoats from continuous overuse. Frequent rests during the growing season are one way to protect our better grasses.

Sideoats grama is a good seed producer and can be harvested with a combine. The combined seed has been successfully planted on thousands of acres of formerly cultivated land. A seeding rate of 5 pounds of pure live seed an acre, drilled, is generally recommended. In this area, the best time to plant sideoats grama is between March 15 and May 15.

Rugh said that sideoats grama seed comes up to a good stand. And most landowners in the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District who have planted this grass have gotten satisfactory results. This grass is considered excellent for conservation use and responds well to fertilizer for increased seed and forage production.

Mrs. Tabor came to Winters Tuesday for a visit with relatives here while in Texas.

The Things We Say

By Ruby Shannon

When Americans visit England for the first time many are dumfounded to see Englishmen driving to the left along their highways. Much of America was settled by the English. Why, then, do we drive to the right?

It all started with a covered conveyance known as the Conestoga wagon, which was built in Conestoga Valley, Lancaster County, Pa., about 1725. The wagon was high at each end and sway-backed in the middle. It was pulled by six horses whose reins were held by the driver who rode the wheel horse on the left so he could look out for possible danger.

The driver rode the left wheel horse because of the problem of mounting. No real horseman would try to mount a trained horse from the right, and the best spot from which to guide a wagon when passing another is on the near side.

When automobiles replaced the wagon, the steering wheel was placed to the left in a position similar to that taken by the driver of the Conestoga wagon.

The cyclone then hit Valley Creek, just above where it empties into the Colorado River. The greatest destruction was to the home of I. M. Turner. All that was left of the four room house was the floor and three walls of the room that held Turner, his wife and three children. Mr. Turner's brother,

The Floyd Wiley, Jim Davidson and L. S. Nunn houses were partly off their foundations and needed some repairs along with the Bowder and Otto Wood homes. On Sunday a group of men with a wagon and tools went about putting the houses back on their foundations.

Sheet iron roofing was scattered over the country side, many fence posts and wires were broken. The Hatchel Baptist Church and Hagan School had to be rebuilt. The Hagan

SAFE INVESTMENTS

When investments of any kind are to the advantage of our customers and friends, it is always a privilege to us for them to discuss such investments and it is a pleasure to give them the advantage of our knowledge and outside counsel.

We all know government bonds are the safest investment ever offered and now the return on government securities is definitely more attractive than in former years. Moreover, the interest rate, when a government bond is purchased is established for the duration of the investment. This established rate in contrast with fluctuations which may occur in a short time in investment contracts. We recommend government securities every time.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

The news media shouts daily the crisis in our large American cities. In most issues of every newspaper is the report of racial strife, rising crime rates, the threat of air and water pollution, inadequate transportation facilities, overcrowded schools and hospitals and low treasuries.

Funds to provide needed services to the great populations is an increasing challenge for city governments, and the natural result is for them to turn in desperation to the Federal Treasury for their money sources.

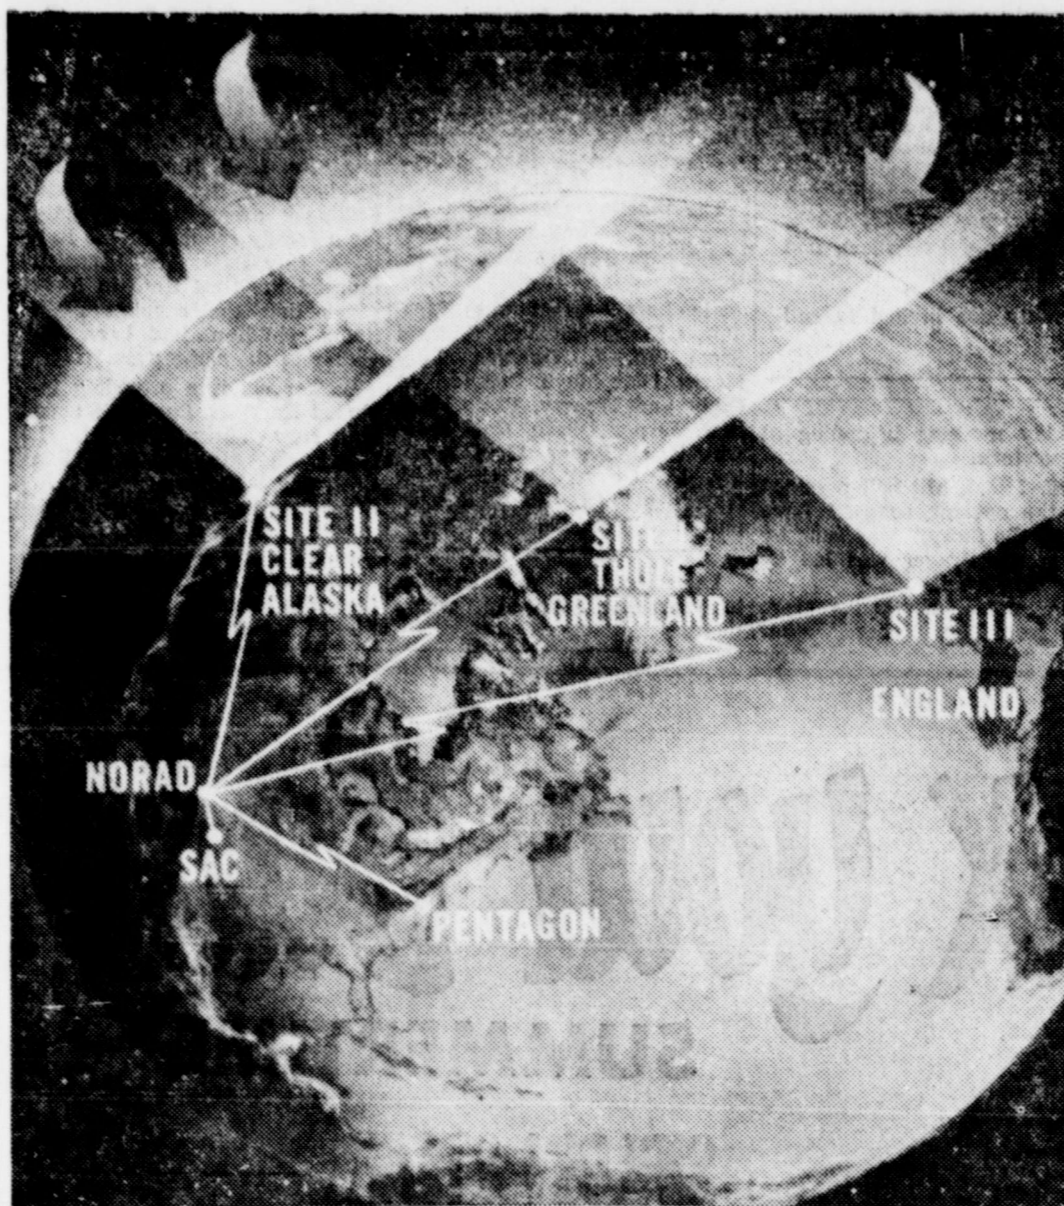

In the meantime, cities and communities aggressively compete with one another for new industry to provide jobs for their burgeoning populations and to generate new tax revenues. Cities of high industrial development work with business leaders to hold the business-industrial base which they already have, and to broaden it.

There are no answers in sight to the bulk of problems faced by our great cities, but it is apparent that millions of residents of the great metropolitan areas desire improvements in the quality of their living. Many of these people were attracted to the city in the first place because the economic opportunities in the rural and small towns appeared to be less and less attractive.

The fact remains that there should be increasing opportunity in such places as our great Central West Texas area. It should attract new business and industry on which a regional economy can be greatly strengthened. We have the people, the community leadership, the climate, the transportation structure, recreational facilities which afford a pleasant life of friendly cities and towns where families can put down roots and feel at home. We have the rich mineral and agricultural resources which provide the essential raw materials for numerous industrial enterprises.

The age old problem of water continues to be exactly that — a problem. But this handicap can and will be overcome because of pure old necessity.

The great Central West Texas area offers space unlike any other area in the State and, in fact, unlike any other area anywhere in the Country, which has other resources to go with a place to expand.

The State Water Development Board, now in the process of holding hearings over the State, has said that Central West Texas and West Texas are not to share in the distribution of water within the State, but, rather, must look outside the State's borders for its water supply. With this suggestion and recommendation we can not agree.

Estimates of population as a basis of need were developed by a survey made by the University of Texas, which showed our immediate area not to be sharing in the increase in population as compared to other parts of the State. As was said to the Water Board holding its hearing in Abilene on July 18, it is a matter of which comes first, the chicken or the egg. It is surely true that if we do not have water as a primary consideration along with other resources, our population and economic advances may not compare favorably with other areas in the State, but with water and the other natural advantages we have to offer our area should advance and expand beyond the percentage ascribed to certain other areas.

The bidding for industry is already highly competitive between localities and will doubtless become more so. Not only is it competitive between neighboring communities, but it is competitive between regions and States. Some cities and towns have voted tax exempt bonds to provide facilities to attract industries, which has brought loud complaint from areas in the North and East from which industry is invited to move.

On the other hand it is possible that Congress may, in a year or two ahead, consider some form of incentive plan to assist new plant construction in the more rural and small town communities. Legislation may be proposed, providing Federal Income Tax incentive for such development, although there is no doubt it will draw opposition from Representatives from the large cities. There is precedent for it, set some years ago by Congress in approving legislation to help disperse industries as prime targets in the event of nuclear attack. This theory could be applied to our normal economy.

Local leadership and dedication to future development is the first prime ingredient for success.

There are no hopeless situations; there are only people who have grown hopeless about them.

A palinode is a song or ode.

The Things We Say

By Ruby Shannon

After World War II strained relations developed between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. They still exist. Battles are fought with economic and political weapons, rather than with guns and explosives. It could develop into a hot or shooting war, but until that happens it is referred to as the "cold war."

Signs of the "cold war" appeared even before World War II ended, and Sir Winston Churchill spoke of an "iron curtain" that divided Europe in two. A Russian referred to Russia and the Allies as "two camps."

The "cold war" then is an expression of modern times. It got the name because of the strained relations between the Soviets and the Allied powers.

Shots have been fired and men have been killed in Korea and now in Viet Nam. There is little doubt that the Soviet Union aided the enemy in these "hot spots," but as there was no declaration of war on either side, we are still fighting the "cold war."

But it's getting warmer all the time. It's something like calling a spade a shovel.

Poetic name for Japan is Cipango.

Sometimes a fool has talent, but never judgment.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

Modern transportation and communication have brought sharpies to the country as well as to urban areas so that today "city slicker" is seldom used to describe a metropolitan crook. The expression, "don't take any wooden nickels," is still around, however.

Chase National Bank in New York City owns over 1,000 wooden nickels in a money collection totaling 75,000 pieces. Among them is the original wooden nickel of the 1933 bank holiday.

Wood is often used for all sorts of imitations. "The Boston Transcript" in 1832 warned: "We recently read of wooden hams in some parts of the west neatly sewed up in canvas, said to have their origin with the same ingenious people who invented wooden nutmegs."

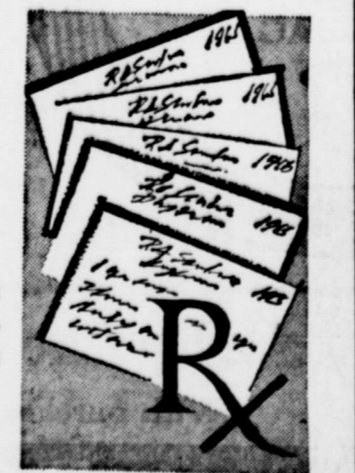

"Don't take any wooden nickels," is spoken facetiously to anyone going away from home for the first time. It means "watch out for city slickers." This is a senseless admonition, for a wooden nickel would be so obvious that only the most ignorant person could be deceived by it. Furthermore, what can you buy with a nickel made from any kind of material these days?

to the 500,000 star-spangled Americans who work for this country's security without pay

The U. S. Treasury Department sells about $4½ billion worth of Savings Bonds every year.

Yet no one ever tries to sell you Bonds on the phone.

Though you rarely see them, there are about ½ million patriotic Americans who will help you buy Bonds. Have been, since the first Series E Savings Bond was issued 25 years ago.

Your banker, for instance. He'll give you folders and facts, issue your Bonds, make certain they're properly registered, cash them when the time comes.

Your employer and thousands of other employers who have set up the Payroll Savings Plan are also on the team. So are the officials of your union who have endorsed Bonds.

There are many others. Like your neighbor, the advertising man, and the radio, TV, poster, magazine and newspaper people he works with.

All of these volunteers work for the Bond program without pay.

Careful Drivers To Get Better Insurance Rates Than Others

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

How you drive that automobile during the next 12 months will determine what you pay for car insurance a year from now.

Traffic violations, as well as accidents, will appear on your experience record and will count against you.

New plan designed by the State Board of Insurance will hit where it hurts the most... the purse.

Or conversely, if you care to look at it that way, it will lighten the load on those who are penalized by higher rates because of the carelessness of others. And that's the way it really is, since some kind of increase is necessary.

Penalty points now are being assessed motorists for accidents and major violations... including speeding.

One penalty point will mean a 15 per cent hike, two points 35 per cent, three points 60 per cent and four or more points 90 per cent.

Major violations—like driving while intoxicated, negligent homicide, hit and run or felony driving offenses—will cost drivers three points.

Two points will be assessed for driving while a license is suspended or for violations resulting in suspension.

One point will be charged for accidents where there is injury or death—or property damage over $50—and for speeding. Speeding points are not counted until after one or two "free convictions" in the preceding year to three years.

After 1969, penalties will be based on driving records over a 36-month period.

Twelve exceptions to the "point" rule are listed, however, and one of them includes accidents in which the driver is not at fault.

Unlike the old retroactive, statewide plan of 1960-62

which created so much controversy, the current plan is based on experience in 26 separate rating territories and considers no offenses prior to August 1.

In other opinions, Carr held that: Corporations providing radio-telephone service are subject to gross receipts tax.

Land used by Radio Church of God for religious worship and that properly used in the interest of Ambassador College and the Imperial School, both of Upshur County, are exempt from property taxes.

WATER RIGHTS COMMISSION DECIDES

Texas Water Rights Commission held feasible the 11.5 mile, $10,900,000 extension of the Texas City - La Marque seawall in the Jones Bay area.

Commission later gave Texarkana exclusive authority to contract for 120,000-acre-feet of water from Lake Texarkana. Water Development Board was given authority to participate in negotiations between city and U. S. Corps of Engineers. Water becomes available by raising lake gates.

The Things We Say

By Ruby Shannon

Probably the dirtiest name in the American language this year is "Jim Crow." With racial marches, sit-ins, and rioting—to say nothing of the civil rights laws being passed and enforced, to call a member of the Negro race "Jim Crow" would be like waving a red flag at a bull.

The term "Jim Crow" has been used for more than a century and until recent years it was a polite euphemism in Caucasian society. But like many euphemisms, the substitute word has become the thing, and the euphemism is now the dirty word.

The term "Jim Crow" came into popularity about 1830 because of the routine of a Negro dancer in a show. His act included a peculiar jump similar to a crow hopping, and soon the term was incorporated into a social game for children which went like this: "Wheel about and turn about and jump Jim Crow!" The dance was copied in minstrel shows, and before long, "Jim Crow" became a generic term for Negro.

By 1861, "Jim Crow" was in print on special railroad cars for Negroes. Later, this custom was replaced by special back seats on trains or buses and the word, "colored," but civil rights leaders have changed all that. "Jim Crow" was still printed on a car that ran from Boston to Salem as late as 1887.
