HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

There's not been much open publicity and fanfare about it, this quiet gathering of rifles, ammunition and other equipment; the work of cleaning and oiling and sorting; the close study of maps; the coordinating of plans; and laying away of supplies. The talk which was so commonplace a few weeks and months ago has been reduced to murmur; the boisterous talk and bragging has been set aside for the duration: the time has come (or is so near there is no definite difference) for action. And we betide those of us who by the least act or word or suggestion, knowingly or unknowingly, so much as attempt to stem the tide or slow the mad rush of this army which is making preparations.

No, we're not about to be invaded, but we are about to witness the departure of an expeditionary force of a sort. It's almost deer season in the high country! And an army—or at least a good-sized platoon—is making plans to move out to invade the mountain states; they'll be back in time to take part in the action scheduled for this state a little later in the year. All else will be forgotten or put aside until this chore is finished.

Guess we've been naive. We swallowed the whole line... and have been betrayed. Now... what can we believe? The credibility gap has become an uncrossable chasm. Can we now accept the scores we see flashed on the screen of the idiot box? Can we accept without question the fast talk of the announcers who tell us that "So-and-So" has just thrown his untempered pass, to set a new record?

In the past, we have just settled back and watched as the two teams to play the game for television go out on the field; we've watched the team captains toss for receiving-kicking choice; then we've picked out our favorite team. And all this is on the up-and-up. Of course, we've accepted the fact that, especially in the pro games, there has to be time for the commercials; but this has always provided a little time to run to the refrigerator before play is resumed, and has been okay.

But now... we learned during the past few days... all is not on the up-and-up. The truth finally is out; they've been fooling us all along. That flip of the coin we watch out on the field? All window dressing! It means nothing, because the decision has already been made who will kick and who will receive, a long time before the tv cameras start grinding. (Has this been going on all the time and we're just finding out about it?) Now... the game will not be nearly so interesting! Who cares who wins... maybe it's all been decided before the starting whistle blows.

It has been customary for certain players in certain positions in football to wear numbers within a designated number area. Up until this year, so we're told, it has been only a suggestion; however, it now is mandatory.

For instance, men in the interior line—center, guards, tackles—must wear numbers in the 50 to 70 area. They are not eligible to receive passes, and by having their numbers within a designated area, it is easier for officials to spot them. Ends and backfield men, eligible, must wear numbers in the 80, or from 40 down.

Open note to high school students who could be contemplating dropping out of school: Did you know that, at present rates, that you'll be throwing away about $100,000 in your lifetime? That's about what you'll earn in a lifetime with a high school education.

And with no high school diploma—that means no college. There goes another $150,000! That's how much more you'll earn in a lifetime with a college education. Quitting school now means throwing $250,000 down a rat hole! Think it over.

Brady Bulldogs Here Tonight

The Winters High School Blizzards, with a 0-1-1 record so far, meet an old adversary here Friday night, when the Brady Bulldogs, leaders of District 8-AA, visit for a non-conference game. Kickoff time is 8 p. m.

Smarting from their loss to Lake View in the opener, the Blizzards made a tolerable comeback in the game with Coleman here last Friday night, and had a taste of goal line sugar—and from accounts, will be honed to a finer edge for the bout with Brady this week.

Rips in the lineup have been repaired, and the Big Blue Winters team now stands a better chance, with a little experience behind them, of taking their place in the limelight of 5-AA.

Co-Captains for Friday's game will be Jerry Awalt and Walter Morrow. Brady has a 2-0 record for the season, having blasted Lampasas 32-6 in their opener, and then downing Lake View 15-0 last week. In their game with Lake View, the Bulldogs gained 172 yards on the ground against 76 for the Chiefs; 61 in the air to 117 for Lake View. And had 10 first downs to Lake View's 9.

Brady boasts good team speed—and observers say a better team than was fielded last year. In last year's game at Brady, the Blizzards dropped the contest to the Bulldogs, 14-0. The halfback who ran over for the PAT in last year's game, Puddin Jones, is listed as one of this year's outstanding players on the Bulldog squad. Also, Dorman Jones, quarterback who tossed for one of the counters last meeting will be piloting the Brady bunch again this year. They will be helped by an outstanding tackle, Barry Myrick, this year.

Some change is noted in the probable starting lineup for the Blizzards this week. Plans now call for the following lineup to face Brady Friday night:

Bob Irvin Picked First Cotton To Be Ginned Here
The first bale of cotton to be "ginned" in Winters in 1966 was brought in to Winters Gin last Wednesday by Bob Irvin of the Crews Community.

The raw cotton weighed in at 2,050 pounds and ginned out at 500 pounds. Mrs. Ronnie Graham, owner and operator of the Winters Gin, ginned the cotton free.

Irvin was presented $50 from the Winters Chamber of Commerce for ginning the first bale.

In previous years the Chamber of Commerce has paid a premium for the first bale "ginned" in Winters. The initial bale was brought in Wednesday, September 7, by John Hoyd, to Davidson's Gin which is being completely re-built on Highway 53 near the feed lots. They were not ready for operation. In order to "live by the rules" in the cotton-growing "race" and not penalize the new gin, the chamber of commerce paid a premium to both farmers.

IN UECKERT HOME
Mrs. Freida Steuer of Copley, Ohio, has been a recent visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ueckert.

RONALD COLBURN... High FFA Degree

Ronald Colburn To Receive American Farmer Degree

Ronald Colburn, graduate of Winters High School, will receive the American Farmer Degree at the National Convention of the Future Farmers of America in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11.

The American Farmer Degree is presented to only one boy out of a thousand each year. The FFA Foundation provides cash awards of $100 to American Farmer Degree candidates, and the Texas FFA Association provides $50 cash awards to each from the state.

Only two boys from the Winters FFA chapter have ever received this high National FFA Degree; Bobby Penny received the degree several years ago.

Colburn, now a junior student at San Angelo State College where he is majoring in agriculture, was active in FFA work while in Winters High School. He held practically every office in the Winters chapter, and is past president of the district, past vice president of Area IV, FFA. He received the highest state award, the Lone Star Farmer Degree. As a freshman in high school, he was Star Greenhand for Area IV.

Candidates for the American Farmer Degree must have been out of high school for a year, and must have made at least $1,000 from projects. In his supervised farming program, Colburn bred and feed registered swine, and has exhibited champion hogs and sheep in many livestock shows.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Colburn of Route 4, Winters.

BUSTER PERKINS

Buster Perkins Reported To Fort Riley, Kansas

PFC Buster Perkins, 19, son of Mrs. Loy Perkins, left last week after a visit with relatives in Winters, to report to Fort Riley, Kansas. He has been assigned to transportation with the 9th Infantry for an overseas assignment.

Perkins attended Winters High School and was employed as a truck driver until November 1965, when he volunteered for army service. He took his basic training at Fort Polk, La., and then was sent to Ft. Leonard Wood until August 27, when he came home on leave.

He has two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Hubach and Mrs. Cleo Laberdale, both living in Winters.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis of Claude, are announcing the arrival of a daughter, Gena Denise, who was born Saturday September 17 in an Amarillo Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Wilma C. Davis are the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Virden are the maternal grandparents.

AROUND THE 5-AA LOOP

With the 1966 season only two games deep, Haskell and Colorado City are the only members of 5-AA with perfect scores, 2-0. The others of the loop have either tied or lost at least one. Hamlin has lost both games played thus far. However, Anson is the only member not scored on thus far in the season. Hamlin and Stamford were the only member teams in the conference to drop decisions to outsiders last weekend.

The Winters Blizzards made a terrific comeback Friday night after the shellacking they took from Lake View in the opener on the previous Saturday night, to run abreast of Coleman, pre-game favorites, to an 8-8 tie. In the position chart, the Blizzards are next to the bottom, 0-1-1, and have allowed opponents 38 points in two games, to trail the league in that department. They'll host a real melle-tester this Friday night, when Brady comes 'visiting. The Bulldogs held Lake View to a 15-0 score last Friday night, so this week's game probably will be used as a weathervane for those fans and followers who like to make comparisons. The Blizzards are developing at a rapid pace, however—and Brady is an old rival they'd like to down.

Winters fans who have not made arrangements for seats to the Blizzards-Brady game this week had better get busy. This is not a conference tilt, but one factor may cause seats to be a little on the scarce side come game time: Ballinger is idle this week; and Winters plays Ballinger on the following Friday, Sept. 30... so where do you suppose most Ballinger fans and most Bearcats will be Friday night of this week?

Haskell, who walked away from Childress 27-0 in the opener, hit Clyde 19-6 Friday night, with HB Johnny Josselet, HB Tim Everett and Thornton Gilmore sharing the honors. A glance-back at the game of the previous week shows that Gilmore and Everett were responsible for the scoring against Childress. The Indians take on the Munday Moguls this week in another pre-conference contest. Haskell already has 46 points on the board, to opponents' 6.

Colorado City chewed Roscoe 14-6 Friday night, and now have 27 counters to opponents' 6. In their opener they took Coahoma 12-0. Mid-week accounts said the Wolves "nudged" Roscoe for their win, but the statistics show they did some pretty strong pushing, with first down tally at 13-7, rushing yardage 199-93, and slightly behind in the air, 27-34. The chart also shows that Don Steakley, who made the two counting TDs against Coahoma, also racked up one game late in the fourth quarter when Alan Grider took a hand-off from QB Howard and raced to the opposite side of the field.

When trapped and apparently about to be thrown for a loss, he threw back to Howard who was finally hauled down on the Blizzards one-yard line. Holmes, Coleman fullback, carried over for the score. A pass was good for 2 points, making the score 8-8. With only seconds left, Winters tried a 45-yard field goal with the hopes of untying the game, but the deadlock held. Randy Boles gained 96 yards in 21 carries, following fine blocking of Linemen Alan Andrae, Lanny Bahlman, and Terry Rives. Rives was outstanding on defense, as it was almost impossible for Coleman to make yardage around his defensive position.

The Blizzards tangled with the undefeated Brady Bulldogs on their home field this Friday night.

The action began with 52 seconds left in the third quarter. Alvin Dunn intercepted a Bluecat pass on his own 29 and returned it to Coleman's 30, before stepping out of bounds. From there, the ball was steadily worked into scoring position on drives by Randy Boles, Alfonso Esquivel, John Sims and Dunn. QB Dunn carried over for the touchdown. From a fake kick, Dunn passed to Boles in the end zone for the extra 2 points.

Coleman came back to tie the game late in the fourth quarter when Alan Grider took a hand-off from QB Howard and raced to the opposite side of the field. Winters Blizzards and Coleman Bluecats Played To 8-8 Tie Friday

The Winters Blizzards snapped back from their opening loss to battle the favored Coleman Bluecats to an 8-8 tie Friday night at Blizzards Field.

The game was a defensive stand-off through the first half, with only one serious threat in the second quarter. This came on a fourth down try as Blizzards End Fred Gray narrowly missed a field goal attempt from the 20-yard line.

The action began with 52 seconds left in the third quarter. Alvin Dunn intercepted a Bluecat pass on his own 29 and returned it to Coleman's 30, before stepping out of bounds. From there, the ball was steadily worked into scoring position on drives by Randy Boles, Alfonso Esquivel, John Sims and Dunn. QB Dunn carried over for the touchdown.

GET "REDDY" FOR WINTER with flameless electric heating

...the HEART of total electric living!

Your present electric cooling system may be the basis for adding a flameless electric heating system. If not, West Texas Utilities can put you in touch with Reddy Kilowatt recommended dealers to show you the many choices of electrical heating equipment. Another advantage of electric home heating—economy! During the winter months, when you heat electrically, you only pay WTU's low 1¢ per kilowatt hour rate. After the first basic step of 500 KWH, all the electricity you use for all purposes costs only 1¢ per kilowatt hour plus taxes and fuel adjustment.

Now is the time to get ready for this economical home heating to avoid the rush! Live better and heat better—electrically!

The Family Lawyer

"I recognized His Voice"

"It is a case of mistaken identity," protested the defendant, accused of breaking into a woman's home at night and assaulting her. "She herself admits the house was pitch dark."

But the woman countered: "Even though I could not see him, I recognized his voice. I have known him for years, and I am certain he was the man."

May an accused person be convicted solely by the sound of his voice? In this case the jury believed the woman's story and the court upheld its verdict of guilty.

True, a criminal is ordinarily identified by sight, not by sound. But his voice, even when not conclusive evidence by itself, may still play a key role in identification. The law recognizes that, in some circumstances, what a victim hears may reveal a lot more than what he sees.

Thus, identification-by-voice has been allowed not only in crimes committed in the dark but also in crimes committed by a masked man—or even committed over the telephone. A man who made obscene calls to a woman was convicted largely on the basis of her identification of his voice on the telephone.

But what if the criminal's voice is one that the victim has never heard prior to the crime? Even then, it may be distinctive enough to be recognized later with reasonable certainty.

In one case, a holdup victim noticed that the robber had a peculiar accent. This was held valid evidence in court that the defendant, who had a similar accent, was the guilty man.

In addition to a criminal's voice, other sounds he makes may also help to pinpoint his identity. The sound of a man's footsteps and the sound of a car's exhaust—both distinctive—have been held admissible in the courtroom.

Even the sound of a dog's barking has been held sufficient to identify him as the nocturnal slayer of a farmer's sheep. Of course this kind of evidence, like any other, may be rejected if it is just too flimsy.

For example, in a homicide case, a witness was notably hesitant in tagging the voice of the defendant as the voice of the killer. The court held that such evidence was not convincing enough to send a man to prison for murder.

"Conjecture," observed one judge, "is not proof."

Using Soft Bait—Surf, salt water, and even fresh water fishermen often find it difficult to keep soft bait such as shrimp, liver, crab, etc., from coming off the hook.

Get rid of this worry by tying such bait to the hook with thread.

Carry a spool of strong thread in your pocket, then, if rushing water tends to wash away your offering, you have the remedy at hand.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas
Lying in the center of old Indochina, Thailand proves to be the best friend of the United States on the mainland of Southeast Asia.

Almost surrounded by Burma, Laos, North and South Viet Nam and Cambodia, it is strategic as well as vulnerable. At the moment, she is threatened by forces from without and within. Crucial decisions in United States policy are shaping up. Only recently did we publicly reveal our activities in Thailand.

We are already there in an advisory capacity, much like the situation we assumed ten years ago in South Viet Nam. Our counter-insurgency experts are there at the invitation of the Bangkok Government to help them against Communist guerrillas inspired and directed from Red China.

The prevailing view of the State Department seems to be that we should step up aid to the Thailand Government, even to the point of sending in helicopters and planes to bomb guerrilla concentration points. On the other hand, it seems the general feeling at the Pentagon that another South Viet Nam not be allowed to develop.

The problem becomes highly complicated by reason of Thailand's location, which is strategic and important, and the cooperation we have had from the Government in efforts in Viet Nam.

In the meantime, the explosion of the Viet Cong mine in the main Saigon shipping channel had a greater significance than simply blocking and delaying supplies to the Port of Saigon.

It proved a great deal more. For a long period of time the principal reasons given for not mining the Harbor of Haiphong were that to do so might bring Red China into the war. This was given as the excuse by some who opposed our bombing of supply lines and oil and warehouse storage in North Viet Nam at all, and particularly against bombing railroad bridges leading from Red China.

It was also contended that to seal off Haiphong would offend our allies, but the same consideration did not stop the British from diverting a Greek ship carrying oil to Thodessia.

Probably the best of all the poor excuses for not doing something about the only big port of North Viet Nam was the frequent statement that to mine Haiphong's harbor would bring retaliation against the Harbor at Saigon and the channel of the Saigon River leading to the Ocean.

The mine exploded in the Saigon River channel should remove any doubt about the advisability of playing "after you Alphonse."

While we are doing less than we could do and less than we should do, North Viet Nam forces continue to build up in the Northern Area of South Viet Nam, and those knowledgeable of the situation have no doubt that under the present circumstances they have the capacity of waging aggressive and effective warfare for a long time to come.

Here at home the voices of the "new isolationists" continue to be heard, advocating greater welfareism and opposing our efforts in South Viet Nam. The new isolationists, although apparently with less influential advocates, have long passed the "butter or guns" issue of a year ago. It is now only butter.

To his credit, Vice President Humphrey recently took to task those who assert that the Administration should spend its money and resources on domestic programs instead of Viet

Roger Babson Says— Regardless Of Who Is To Blame For Inflation; Little Man Is Hurt

Babson Park, Mass. Everybody is talking about inflation again. What do we mean by inflation? To some economists the word suggests too much money chasing too few goods. To other economists it stands for strong unions pushing wages up and up. Still others think of inflation as a demand for goods that keeps pulling prices higher. But for this discussion, let us use the everyday meaning, simply climbing prices.

Who Is To Blame?
Right now the press is full of reports blaming this group and that for the strong upshoot in prices that has occurred this year. If you are a Republican, you are likely to say that the Democratic Administration is to blame. That free-swinging spending when a war is going on is creating too much buying power. The fact here is: Much of our production is now being "shot away" in Vietnam; it is not the type of production that can be consumed by our citizens; but money is being put in circulation, adding to buying power.

If you are a Democrat, you are likely to think of the moguls of industry pushing their price tags higher to take advantage of the brisk demand throughout our economy today. If you are a strong union man, you tend toward blaming the whole sorry business on the pricing power of big business. But the average man in the street is likely to feel, as President Roosevelt once did: "A plague on both your houses!"

Caught In The Middle
Surely, the man in the street is caught in the middle, whether he is a union member, or a Wall Street broker. At the beginning of a price upturn, advances are often slow and scattered. But, as momentum is gained, the upswing becomes steep and broad. And all the furor over inflation at this midsummer can probably be traced to the fact that people are now realizing that prices are beginning to bound upward. Ask any wife as she returns from shopping.

The natural reaction is to try to offset the falling purchasing power of the family paycheck by seeking a raise. Now, of course, not everyone is going to be able to get higher wages. Even those who do get fatter pay envelopes soon find that their gains are eaten into—even wiped out—by the well-known ability of a rising price wave to swell more rapidly than wages and salaries can be boosted. Point is: Once the inflation of Nam and Southeast Asia. Most of these are the same people who have never shown great concern about governmental expenditures for whatever purpose. Could they be like the boy who, having killed his father and mother, stood before the judge pleading for clemency on the grounds that he was an orphan.

prices hits its stride we are all in the same boat; no way has yet been invented to "beat the game."

All Must Cooperate
All right then, what can be done to remove the peril of an inflation blowoff and bust? For as night follows day, inflation has always ended in deflation. And that can be very unpleasant for everyone. No one group can solve the problem. . . not government, not labor, not business. But, if each of these would stop trying to fatten its share and work together, economic catastrophe could be warded off.

Government should remind itself that it's wartime, therefore not a moment for pushing the money supply higher than necessary by all sorts of spending schemes. Better to lose an election than the country. Business should avoid price jumps as it would the plague, realizing that some fall in profits would be preferable to a later wave of bankruptcies. Labor should tell its members that every wage boost is another nail in the coffin being prepared for the longest boom in our history. Yes, and the bankers should ask themselves if it would be better not to make that loan . . . at this time.

Some Sacrifice, Or Else
It is said that it is already too late. That any shutting down of the money faucets, or any cutting back by the big groups in the economy, would surely lead to depression. To a degree we agree with this thinking. But we shudder at what could happen if the inflation spree is allowed to mount higher and higher from its already lofty level. The bigger the action, the more powerful is likely to be the reaction. To us it seems far wiser to risk some sacrifices now than to run the extreme danger of severe economic breakdown later. What frightens us is the tendency for key groups to simply wait and see. When the avalanche is visible, it is already too late.

MOVIES

"The Money Trap"
Anyone who sees Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's absorbing new drama, "The Money Trap," isn't going to forget it in a hurry. For this new Max E. Youngstein production has some of the most powerful characterizations ever brought to the screen, enacted by Glenn Ford, Elke Sommer, Rita Hayworth, Ricardo Montalban and Joseph Cotten.

It's a story that could happen and probably has happened more than once in real life—that of a man driven to a crime because of his wife's extravagance. In this instance, the situation is even more tautly dramatic and ironic because the man, Joe Barton (Ford), is a homicide detective whose free-spirited wife, Lisa (Miss Sommer), puts him in a desperate spot after he has exhausted all means of borrowing money.

"Battle of The Bulge"
Coming here from its reserved seat Cinerama run and showing Saturday night, Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre, is Warner Bros.' "Battle of The Bulge," a dramatic version of one of the great moments of World War II when the Allies were faced with a surprise German breakthrough of such ferocity that it could easily have turned the tides of war and of history.

"Battle of the Bulge," a Milton Sperling-Philip Yordan-Sidney Harmon production in Technicolor was filmed in Europe under the same kind of conditions that characterized the Ardennes Forest — encounter which began December 16, 1944, as an idea of Hitler's to shatter the Allied forces, break through to the North Sea and continue the war.

The internationally-known cast stars Henry Fonda, Robert Shaw, Robert Ryan, Dana Andrews, George Montgomery, Ty Hardin, Pier Anelli, Barbara Werle, Charles Bronson, Hans Christian Blech, Werner Peters, James MacArthur and Telly Savalas.

"The Missionary In Uprooted Society of the Congo," was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. D. A. Dobbins gave the closing prayer. Present were Mesdames Roy Crawford, E. L. Crockett, Vada Babston, Dick Mayo, Carl Baldwin, Connie Gibbs and Tammy, Lillie Marks, Elmo Mayhew, W. T. Parks and Wildlife Department Placed Under New Leadership

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Far-flung operations of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have been placed under new administrative leadership.

Commissioners have named R. (Bob) Singleton as executive director. He replaces J. Weldon Watson who resigned last June. Singleton had been serving as director of Region IV with headquarters in La Porte.

He picked Robert G. Maurer-mann, Region V director at Rockport, as his chief deputy. In his first press conference, Singleton said he is considering recommending a change in the Commission's controversial policy on shell dredging.

He did not disclose exactly what he has in mind but said any such proposal would be "in the field of broad policy." His own close observation of dredging operations, he added, have convinced him that the Commission's 1963 and 1964 orders permitting shell dredging up to 300 feet of live reefs under close department supervision result in "extremely insignificant" oyster kill.

This issue has been heatedly debated between dredgers on one hand and fishermen and conservationists on the other since the old 1,500-foot-minimum-distance-from-reef policy was abolished.

A statewide tour of department facilities, particularly the parks, is planned by Singleton in order to familiarize himself first-hand with problems and needs.

Singleton declined to express his views on "closed door" meetings of the three-member P-W Commission. However, he did say "The commission sets policy. . . My duty is to implement and carry out that policy."

AG RULES

Not only may a county cut its tax rate when the reason for the tax disappears, but, according to Attorney General Waggoner Carr, it must. He pointed to the law which prohibits the use of tax funds for any purpose other than for which it was levied.

Carr also held that, while a city may prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages at any time, it may not prescribe a lesser penalty for such an offense than is provided by state law.

A district court has exclusive jurisdiction over all suits on behalf of the state and county for the collection of penalties on delinquent personal property taxes, although the county court may have the power to share jurisdiction in a suit against property for the actual taxes, Carr ruled.

BIG BEND AIRPORT PLANNED

Federal money will be available for building an airport adjacent to Big Bend National Park Service Southwest regional director, said $450,000 is expected to be provided by the U. S. government.

Money will go to land acquisition, planning and designing and actual construction. T.A.C. will supervise the work, including awarding of contracts, Murphy said. State will have to pay the cost of constructing terminal facilities and auto parking accommodations, as well as airport operation.

Texas funds are not now available and will require legislative appropriation or transfer from other source. Arizona's share of the Grand Canyon airport constructed under similar terms was about $160,000.

STUDY RESULTS

Attorney General Carr reports that a two-month study of Texas Highway Department records reveals no indication or evidence of price fixing among asphalt producers' sales to the state.

Carr's staff made the study at the request of DeWitt C. Greer, state highway engineer. Request followed the filing of lawsuits in other states alleging antitrust violations by asphalt producers.

PROGRAM HAS BOOST

Texas' marketing program got a big boost when John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, received more than $45,000 in donated equipment to be used as traveling showcases.

These contributions from farm commodity groups, individuals and industry signaled a "new era in Texas agriculture, marketing and education," White said.

Gifts included two large trucks, two power generators, two mobile trailers, exhibit material and operational funds.

SHORT SNORTS

Gov. John Connally approved Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for Canutillo Independent School District, El Paso; City of Snyder; and Advance, Inc. in San Antonio.

State will earn about $2,000,000 more in interest on its time deposits this year due to a one-half per cent increase, State Treasurer Jesse James estimates. James said interest collections under the 4 1/2 percent rate should be $10,600,000, compared to $8,700,000 for the fiscal year which ended August 31.

Texas' oil production allowable was boosted for October to 33.5 per cent of potential. Raise was first in five months. October percentage allows maximum oil production of 3,154,384 barrels a day, compared to September allowable of 3,125,028 under a 33 per cent factor.

State Board of Health has withheld action on 80 requests for federal hospital construction funds until Congress appropriates money for distribution. Since only about $17,500,000 in federal funds will be available for Texas, State Board will have to sift through all the applications to find the most pressing ones.

Auto inspection period for 1967 has officially opened, says Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Department of Public Safety director. Inspections will continue at 5,500 official inspection stations through next April 15 when 5,500,000 Texas vehicles must display new green and white stickers.

While most of the state welcomed the touch of cool rains last week, Texas Water Development Board lost all hopes of completing the Texas Water Plan by the time the Legislature opens January 10.

Board will take from four months to a year before it acts on adoption of the preliminary Texas Water Plan due to the scores of suggestions received from a series of river basin hearings.

All suggestions must be screened even before the Board can refer the plan to Texas Water Rights Commission for a public hearing on Water Rights involved.

A panel of five consultants, headed by Joe M. Kilgore, has gone over a list of proposed studies prepared by the Board's planning staff. The panel will present their suggestions to the Board at a meeting on September 19. Mainly, these will cover which studies can be made within the money available to the agency during the fiscal year.

Another water study by the Development Board, to determine the occurrence and quality of underground water in Shackelford County, will begin in mid-September, Executive Director Joe G. Moore announced.

Richard Preston, a water development board geologist, will conduct the study, which will begin with an inventory and sampling of all domestic, municipal, livestock, irrigation and industrial wells in the county.

Study will then move on to the collection and compilation of data regarding depth, distribution and quality of underground water. Surface and shallow subsurface rock formations will also be examined as an aid in determining the depth and mode of occurrence of ground water requiring surface casing protection in oil and gas drilling operations.

Texas Water Rights Commission has approved an amendment to the permit held by Trinity River Authority and the City of Houston which would nearly triple the storage capacity to reconsider the application, if the federal government does not confirm its participation within a year.

HEAD START SLOWED

Approximately 60 Head Start programs are being held up in five Southwestern states because of Congressional delay in approving appropriations for the Office of Economic Opportunity, Regional OEO Director Bill Crook reports.

Delay, said Crook, is proving costly in both time and money to the agencies which had expected to correlate the pre-school readiness programs with the regular school term. In some cases, he stated, administrators are serving without pay, rather than hurt the continuity of the program.

First priority on funds allocated to Southwest regional office is being given to those projects which are already in operation in the five states.

Crook's office is writing letters to local community action agencies and school districts, explaining that final action cannot be taken on their applications until Congress comes through.

Roger Babson Says

President Johnson Would Like For Congress To Cool Off Economy

Babson Park Mass. It is now official. President Johnson would like to see Congress take action to cool off our overheated economy. He is worried about rising prices and believes that first steps should be taken before the elections to prevent runaway inflation. He also called on the money managers to ease the "inequitable burden" of high interest costs.

Steps Recommended

In his message to Congress, Mr. Johnson asked for only a limited amount of legislation now. However, there was an implication that if his first attack on inflation should not be effective, more recommendations for new laws would be made. This would presumably be done after the turn of the year.

But for now—before the current session heads for the hustings—he is asking for congressional action to suspend the 7 percent tax credit on business investment in new machinery and equipment from September 1, 1966 to January 1, 1968. Also deferment for the same period is asked for the fast tax write-off on new buildings. All other anti-inflation action sought is in the form of requests: (1) To Congress to go slow on appropriations for non-defense; (2) to the Federal Reserve to ease interest rates; (3) to the government agencies not to add to the demand for money; (4) to business and labor to hold prices and costs down.

Boy On A Man's Job?

To us it looks very much as though suspension of the investment and construction tax relief—even if promptly made effective—would be too small an effort in the face of such a mighty inflation wave. It would be like fighting a big forest fire with a bucket of water.

The outpouring of credit which has been going on for years cannot be halted by an attack on one small front.

Furthermore, timing is most important. If the economy is overheated—and most economists agree that it is, any action taken to cut back the demand pressure on our productive machine should bring results fairly rapidly. The President himself pointed out that order backlogs for machines and equipment are months behind production right now. It is not likely that plans already in operation will be cut back very much by the suspension of tax relief. Perhaps the best that can be expected is that projections now on the drawing board will be postponed. Thus, the desired impact on the economy may be a long way off... when it is needed here and now.

THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE
Winters, Texas

Asking And Receiving

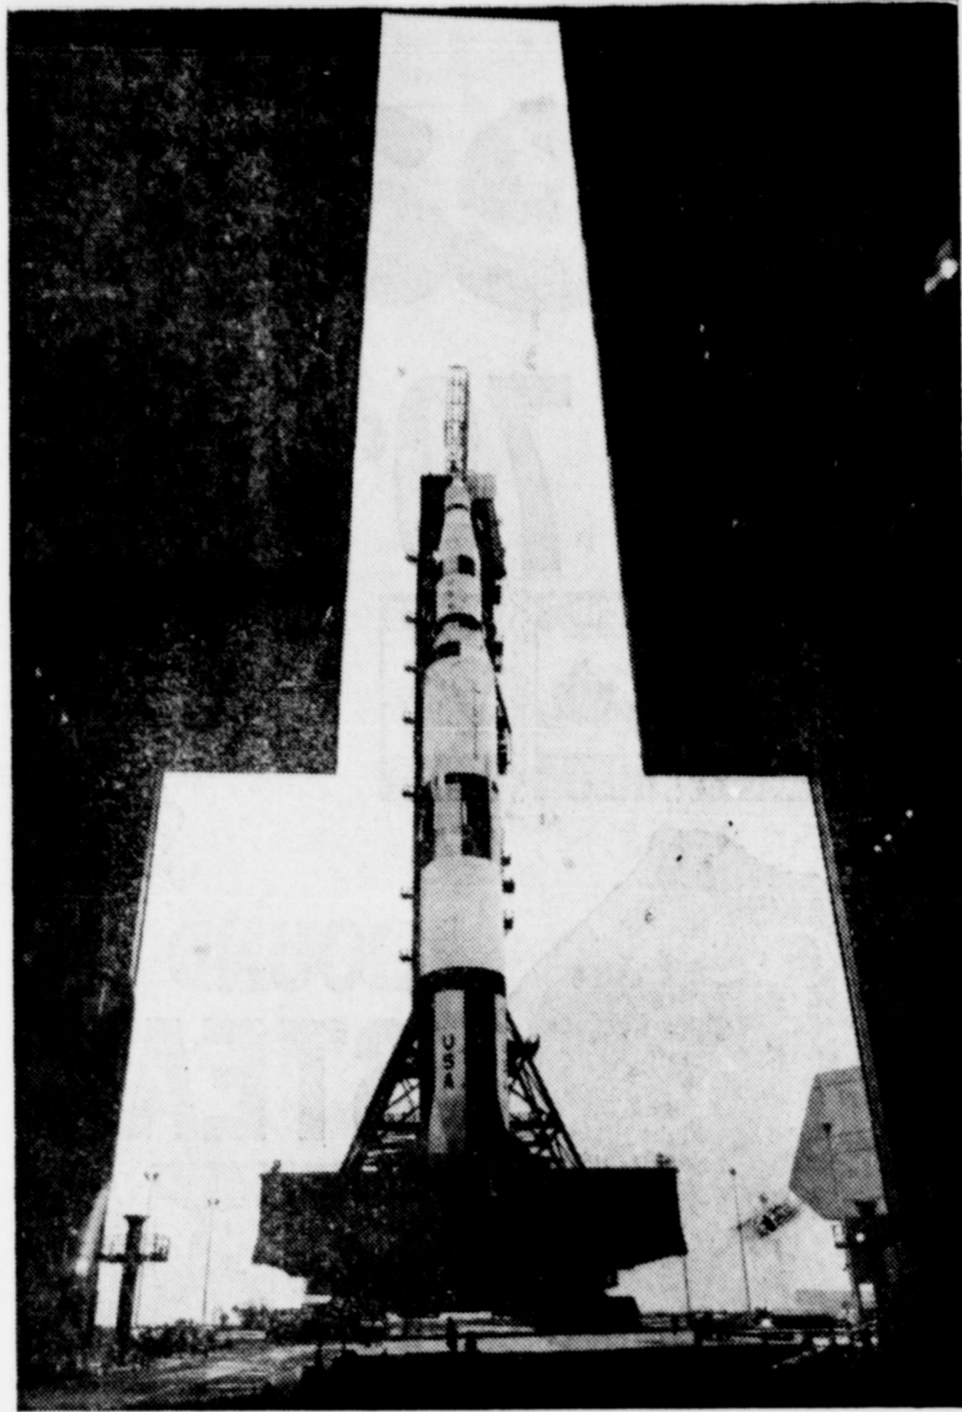

And, as for the requests made of Congress, the money managers, businessmen, and labor leaders, it is highly doubtful that early decisive action can be expected. It is the same old story. Management may hold back on price hikes... but not if unions keep punching wage costs ever higher. Labor in turn points to historically high profits and says they want their tool Congressmen who are about to go before their voters are under pressure to "bring home the bacon." No, human nature is not going to change just because the Chief Executive says we must slay the inflation dragon!

As far as the Federal Reserve authorities are concerned, we must not forget that they are charged by law with keeping prices from running away. In addition, for months now, the whole brunt of the inflationary onslaught has been borne by the Reserve Board. They can hardly make money easier and less costly until they see higher-price pressures subsiding... especially since this is the first time the Administration has offered to help fight the battle. Hasty moves now toward money ease could really put the fat in the fire.

It's A Big Job

We are very much afraid that the enormous size of the job ahead of us—dampening the inflationary fires—is not fully understood. More than a "balance" of the national budget, more than a slowdown in business expansion, more than a tiny and selective tax rise, more than a mild restraint on soaring money and credit supplies... will be necessary before inflation can be licked. All of us will have to give up something to win the fight. Otherwise we will all be burned by the inflationary fires as they lick ever closer to our own particular homes and interests.

Fishing is the most popular recreational activity.

So states the Department of Interior.

Recently the Department completed a study of some 40 recreational areas around the country, extending from the Virgin Islands to Mt. McKinley in Alaska. These areas provide "wide and colorful fish" ranging from tarpon to trout.

"The angler will find the wilderness settings are among the nation's most scenic and spectacular and also as varied as the species of sports fish in their waters," the report says.

"He can cast a line in the turbulent streams of Yellowstone National Park; the salt water of the Gulf of Mexico, near Fort Jefferson National Monument, off the Florida Keys; the two gigantic lakes contained in the Lake Mead National Recreation area; or in the placid brook along the sprawling Blue Ridge."

Now Texas is adding a facility to the list—Padre Island, the national seashore from Corpus Christi to Port Isabel. Here is a stretch of land little more than 100 miles long, off the coast of Texas. A major portion of it is being taken over by the Federal government. A superintendent has been appointed and the development is to get underway soon.

Padre will lure to Texas many people from all over the United States to fish along that beautiful sand spit.

Which also reminds us that Texas now has an advertising fund. Its expenditures are under the supervision of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, with offices in the John H. Reagan building in Austin.

With this money, and with the help of industries, the state is telling the Texas story to the nation.

Hunting and fishing are two important assets that will at-

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

The concentration of great power and authority in the Federal Government is an accomplished fact. For the past several years, particularly as it applies to our schools, has been an issue, but this is no longer the paramount question.

The question now is how much control is to be applied in the administration of the many Federal programs.

The one single Legislative enactment which has granted the most power to Washington is not contained in any of the grant-in-aid programs and, in fact, in the case of Federal Aid to Education, certain sections of the Law disclaim the intent to control.

The key to the power of control is contained in Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. This Section authorizes the withholding of funds under all programs if the local authorities fail to comply with conditions laid down by the Federal Government. This Section of the Law becomes the silent partner to Federal grant-in-aid programs but has only been applied thus far to any considerable degree, to public education.

Title VI of the 1964 act gives broad powers to any Agency of the Federal Government which approves funds in support of State and local programs. Local Administrators who fail to comply with directives called "guidelines" in the administration of such programs can have funds withheld or withdrawn. The authority is in the Law for Agency officials to actually exercise dictatorial powers not envisioned by many when the Law was passed.

Direction and "Guidelines" are issued from Washington purportedly for the purpose of assisting local officials in the drawing up of plans for compliance. It is a simple matter of saying to officials that they will follow directives issued by Washington officials as if they had the force and effect of Law. The directives are not, in fact, spelled out in the Law, but are derived from such phrases as "under such Rules and Regulations as may be formulated."

This simply means that local officials must follow the Rules and Regulations to be able to secure Federal funds. Guidelines have been issued to school officials as to what they must do if they are to receive funds, and unless they can comply, funds will be cut off.

There are signs that more stringent and exacting directives will be forthcoming in the not too distant future. The education and labor committee of the House of Representatives recently held a series of hearings which point to greater demands from Washington that certain things be changed to conform to the Federal view and contrary to local custom and State Law.

The hearings before the committee were presumably to investigate the extent to which textbooks and library materials used in public schools failed to accord proper reflection for minority groups. It is plain that the hearings began under the assumption that not enough emphasis and credit has been placed upon the contribution of various minority groups to our society. The real purpose was to conclude that ways should be devised to require textbooks for public schools in such a way as to change meaning and impressions from those now being used.

This would seem to be a sort of reverse book-burning proposition. Apparently there is no real difference between burning books for what they contain and burning books for what they do not contain.

There have been those in the past who have made great issue of eliminating books and literature because of their content, but nothing has yet been heard from these same people on eliminating texts which do not express a certain viewpoint. If books can be banned for these reasons, they can be banned for other reasons. Textbooks can be changed because of the interpretation of history or because they teach an "outmoded" variety of economics or because of the treatment of alien philosophy, such as Communism. Some in our intellectual community have been saying that we dwell too much on the bad aspects of these alien ideas and do not present a "balanced" picture for students.

Now that we have the many and varied programs of Federal Aid, we can only hope and insist that the planners here in Washington will apply reason, respect, and moderation to control of local affairs.
