HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Don't forget to register at all the businesses in Winters who will be giving away hundreds of dollars in merchandise on the second Moonlight Sale event, to be held next Thursday evening, December 22.

The event is being promoted by Winters merchants to show their appreciation to their customers for their loyalty, and the special sales are to give area shoppers a chance to see for themselves that most any item which can be thought of can be purchased right here in Winters.

Remember, your Christmas shopping will be with a lot less effort and worry if you "SHOP IN WINTERS!"

Television has been a terrific influence on our younger generation and it couldn't be brought to our attention more than an incident that happened in our local primary school recently.

Mrs. Charlie Sewell gave her second graders a list of statements (or answers) to which they were to write the questions. The first statement on the list was: "The baby is two years old." An example of a correct answer would be "How old is the baby?" Mike Dry's answer was "Would you believe three?" Television is a wonderful way to "Get Smart!"

Nothing resembles a hedge-podge pie so much as the many—50—separate and different lists of requirements and qualifications which must be met by drivers of the States in order to obtain drivers licenses. Where one State will require an annual renewal of license, and an examination at time of renewal, another State will require a bi-annual renewal, with no examination. Or another State will require only that drivers be "qualified" another will require stiff tests on actual driving. You can write your answers in some States, or give them orally in another; they test your eyes in one, take your word that you can see in another. Cost of license varies among the several States, too.

Now comes word of possible Federal interest in this area, which has thus far been administered by each of the several and separate States. Some advisors has come up with a proposal which, if adopted, would equalize the driver license requirements throughout the 50 States. Under this proposed system, all drivers would be required to take the same examination and pay the same fee.

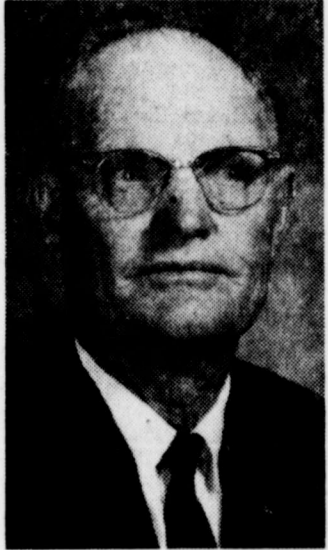

At first blush, this would appear to be a good idea. Under this system, the requirements would be uniform; driver licenses would become, in fact, Federal licenses, good for ALL sections of the country. This would mean, in theory, that all drivers would be equally qualified. Oh happy driver Utopia! But...

There's a gimmick—as ever, when Federal bureaus propose to take over an area: The advisor has suggested that States or districts which failed to accept this idea would have to be penalized in some manner, and suggested that the threat of lifting Federal assistance in highway construction would in effect bring everybody to heel. (It is being done in other areas, so why not the driver area?)

But, as experience relates, there would be holdout States or areas which would not want to go along with the idea, which would want to retain control of their own drivers. This problem could be easily solved, under the Federal system, however. Drivers in those holdout States and areas which refused to knuckle under could be issued special licenses, permitting them to drive, but only on State and County roads. This might make for less traffic in congested areas, too.

Drivers could be issued special license plates, which would designate which roads they would be allowed to use. For instance, drivers who lived in areas adopting the universal code could be issued red, white and blue plates, and would be permitted to drive on the big super Federal highways; drivers meeting only State requirements could be issued another type of plate, say a black plate with black numerals, and would be permitted to drive only on State highways; drivers meet-

Moonlight Sale and Drawing Set For Dec. 22; Stores Open Until 8 O'clock

Winters merchants will give away from $1500 to $2000 in merchandise in the second Christmas Season Moonlight Sale next Thursday evening, December 22.

Most places of business also will remain open until 8 p. m. for the convenience of customers.

The Moonlight Sale event is being sponsored and promoted by the Winters Chamber of Commerce as a part of this year's Christmas Season program.

Merchants will hold individual drawings for the items they will give away at the Moonlight Sale. No central drawing is being held. Customers are invited to register at each place of business; no purchase is required, nor will the winners be required to be present at the drawings, which will be held at times designated by the separate businesses.

Hundreds of people registered for the first Moonlight Sale drawings, held November 17, and it was expected that many more would register for these last drawing events before Christmas.

In addition to the special drawings, Winters merchants will be offering specials on all types of merchandise, from food items to household appliances, furniture, automobile accessories, clothing, jewelry, toys, gifts.

Response has been good to the appeal for toys to be presented to children during the annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children, sponsored by Pan American Industries.

But there still is a need—and so little time left before Christmas. If each person, hurrying along in the rush of preparation for Christmas, could only give one little toy for this party, many more children would have a happier Christmas.

The party will be held in the Higginbotham Building on West Dale Street Friday, December 23. At this time, Santa will make an early visit and will hand out sacks of candy and fruit and toys to underprivileged children, for whom the party will be given.

Residents who have toys and who would like to help these children experience a joyous Christmas are asked to leave them at the City Hall, the Chamber of Commerce office, the Industrial Arts Building at the high school, the Home Economics Cottage, or call Pan American Industries, 754-2082.

Schools Receive $2598 U. S. Cash

Winters Independent Schools will receive $2,598.75 in Federal funds to bolster library instructional materials, Superintendent of Schools Robert Christian said this week.

The grant to the school is authorized and made possible through Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, and is designed to help improve the quality of instruction in the nation's schools by assisting them to provide instructional materials not previously available in sufficient quantity.

The superintendent said that the school, to meet eligibility requirements, had to assure that Federal funds will be used to improve present programs serving the purposes of Title II and "not to supplant State, local or private school funds already being spent for such purposes."

Title II funds will be used to purchase books, periodicals, documents, maps, charts, globes, magnetic tapes, transparencies, films, or other printed and published materials or audio-visual materials, the superintendent pointed out. The program "recognizes that teaching and learning today depend upon effective school library materials, high quality up-to-date textbooks, and a variety of other instructional resources," he said.

Also, the selection of materials for particular schools and student bodies requires the cooperative efforts of all personnel involved, including teachers and librarians, the superintendent said. To assure that materials requested are those most needed, project proposals or requests for materials had to be submitted to the state agency on behalf of the children and teachers who will actually be using them in accordance with instructions provided by the state agency, he said.

The superintendent said that requirements the school plan had to meet, in order to qualify for the funds, included that of considering the relative need of children and teachers in the school for such materials, and assure that such materials will be provided on an equitable basis for all elementary and secondary children and teachers.

New Phone Building Construction To Begin

The contract for construction of an addition to the Winters telephone building has been awarded to Gabbart Construction Company of Abilene, according to A. M. Chappell, Southwestern States Telephone Company division manager.

The building addition of 1,072 feet of floor space will house new central office equipment, replacing the present equipment. The new equipment will provide for DDD—direct distance dialing—which is scheduled to go into service here Sept. 10, 1967.

In converting to this improved service, all Winters telephone numbers will have to be changed, Chappell said. He added that a DDD directory would be published to coincide with the Sept. 10, 1967, conversion.

Roger Babson Says—

Haze and Smog Becoming Very Serious Problem In United States

Babson Park, Mass. Where will you be living in 1991? Will you be in a brick and steel complex connected by miles of asphalt and concrete streets, gasping for breath under a blanket of filthy and polluted air? It may well be, unless we act now.

Smoke hanging in the sky above city and be pretty sure that it really was smoke. Today, so many different substances comprise this air mass that you can no longer be sure exactly what is lying between the sun and the earth. As our population has increased and as we have become so highly industrialized, our demands for energy and for auto transport have multiplied; our air is poisoned by auto exhausts and by the smoke from power plants. Certainly, they are among the worst offenders. But there are other offenders as well.

A Most Serious Problem
Over many of our larger cities today, there is a "sea of air" as much as three miles deep. Caught up in this sea is a mixture of mud, grit, smoke, smog, and various gaseous substances. Together, these compose the murky air which we describe as haze and smog.

Sand, cement, coal, and other substances in the air help to compound the problem. In far too many communities, laws regulating the disposal of industrial wastes are either ignored or poorly enforced. Probably in most cases, the laws themselves are inadequate and need to be revamped and up-dated.

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts of the U. S. National Center for Atmospheric Research, Boulder, Colorado points up the seriousness of our air pollution problem in this dire prediction: "In coming years thousands of people will die in our cities simply because they breathe." Dr. Roberts warns that this will happen even if we start now on an all-out national program to clean up the dirty air that overhangs our cities and towns and also affects outlying areas. The doctor's warning is confirmed by the U. S. Public Health Service which has declared that air pollution is already a major health hazard in 308 American cities having a total population of 43 million people.

Poisoned Air Pollutes Water Too
The poisons in our air are now also a major contributor to the growing problem of water pollution. We just do not know how many people fall victim to respiratory and virus ailments because of poisonous substances in the air, in our streams, and even on occasion in our drinking water.

Rising Energy Needs Added Indifference—
—Equals Pollution
Once upon a time, you could look up at a great cloud of Steps are being taken to cut down on the harm rendered by fumes from auto exhausts. If that does not work, we may have to ban cars from downtown areas of the largest cities

College Students Asked To "Set Traffic Pace"

The Texas Safety Association today issued its annual appeal to university and college students to "set the pace" for traffic safety during the Christmas holiday period.

"There are some 317,353 students enrolled in colleges and universities in Texas. Many of these young people will be driving home just prior to the heavy traffic rush at Christmas," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said.

"These student drivers can be a tremendous force for the cause of holiday safety. We are asking them to set an example for other holiday travelers by reaching their destinations safely."

In his appeal to student drivers, Musick also commented on their abilities.

"Tests show that young drivers are well-equipped physically for driving. The young driver reacts much faster in an emergency situation and his vision is better than that of older drivers," he explained.

"In addition, most young drivers have received some driver instruction and have a better knowledge of their motor vehicle and its performance. They also are up-to-date on our traffic laws."

However, the safety director warned that young drivers can get into trouble in traffic because of a lack of driving experience.

"The ability to handle an automobile safely where bad road or weather conditions exist is important and frequently demands a great amount of driving experience," he added.

"The safest way to deal with inexperience on the road is to cut down speed. Speed too fast for existing conditions is one of the major factors contributing to fatal accidents."

Musick reminded students to give motor vehicles a good safety check before getting out on the road.

"And, don't overload your car with packages or passengers. Don't pile books, clothes or packages so high in the back seat of your car that the rear view window is blocked. If you must hang clothing in the car, make sure you have outside rear view mirrors," he said.

In concluding, Musick further advised students to get plenty of sleep before starting trips and to take several rest stops along the way.

"If possible, alternate with other drivers. It's much less tiring and a great deal safer."

IN HOSPITAL
Leon Bridwell of Snyder, former Winters resident, is in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital suffering from injuries received in an accident December 1. He will be hospitalized there six weeks at least.

FROM ARKANSAS
Mrs. C. V. Thompson, the former Eleanor Kelley, mother of the missionary, Carol Thompson of Coronto, Brazil, has returned to her home in Arkansas after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Lyda Kelley.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincerest thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy expressed in so many ways at the death of our loved one. For the flowers, cards and visits during his long illness, and to the hospital staff for the kind attention given him, we are deeply grateful. Your expressions of sympathy will always be remembered. Mrs. R. E. Fisher and Family. Itc and—as a health measure—force people to use public transportation in going to and from these areas. If local and state governments prove unequal to the task of cleaning up our air, the federal government will have to act. Perhaps that is the only way we can place a really effective ban on another major contributor to air pollution—the open burning of garbage, leaves, trash, and refuse.

More Understanding Needed
We talk about the need for land conservation and water conservation. There is an equally great necessity for air conservation. Neither more stringent laws nor more comprehensive control programs can do the job as quickly and as thoroughly as it must be done. It demands 100 per cent co-operation from people.

The University of Massachusetts has already begun to make people more knowledgeable by offering an extension course on air conservation. Through such study of the basics of meteorology and their role in air pollution, we can acquire more information about air quality criteria and types of air pollutants. "Knowledge is power." Armed with it, we can lick this problem and produce a healthier, happier, more prosperous nation in the bargain. But this will be possible only if we act on this knowledge now.

Of course, once in a while a State driver would have to get on the other side of the Federal road—but special offices could be set up to issue temporary road crossing permits, good for one trip across. This of course would be a lot of trouble, but just think of the people it would put on the Federal payroll, thus lowering the unemployment rolls.

State Capital Highlights—

Governor Connally Talking About Bond-Financing of State Parks

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
A bond-financing program for $2,000,000 to acquire and develop state parks is talked by Gov. John Connally. This would increase the present 60,000 acres in parks to 150,960 by 1979. It would emphasize water-oriented outdoor recreation facilities, along with executive budget proposals, for the Parks and Wildlife Department, 1968-69.

Plans call for: Twenty-six water-based recreation areas of 61,000 acres in seven regions. Twenty scenic and unique areas covering 84,395 acres for "passive and educational use." Forty-four significant, historic sites (3,565 acres) "to complete a tourist network of interesting sightseeing stops." Connally proposes a Constitutional Amendment to authorize a $75,000,000 bond issue over a 10-year period.

Bonds would be repaid from park entry fees of not less than $1 a car per trip. Another $7,000,000 in federal aid is foreseen.

While Texas population has increased 62 per cent during the last 20 years and park use is expected to more than double by 1990, the number and size of state parks has remained unchanged.

Executive plan, proposing parks of 1,000 to 5,000 acres, advocates coordination of land buying with construction of major reservoirs under the Texas water plan.

Although the exact location of 26 outdoor recreation areas, backbone of new system, has not been pinpointed, the governor's plan recommends the following distribution:

Region 1: (Lubbock and Amarillo areas) two parks, 3,500 acres.

Region 2: (East Texas, Dallas, Fort Worth, Texarkana and Waco) seven parks, 13,000 acres.

Region 3: (Upper Gulf Coast, Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Victoria areas) nine parks, 24,500 acres.

Region 4: (San Antonio, Austin, Hill Country areas) five parks, 11,000 acres.

Region 5: (West Texas, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa areas) one park, 1,000 acres.

Region 6: (El Paso area) one park, 5,000 acres.

Region 7: (Rio Grande Valley, Corpus Christi, Brownsville and Harlingen areas) one park, 3,000 acres.

Governor's proposed budget for the Parks-Wildlife Department for 1968-69 totaled $26,000,000. This is an increase of $6,700,000 over the present $19,300,000.

TAX OR NOT TO TAX Lt. Gov. Preston Smith disagrees with Governor Connally's forecast that new state taxes are inevitable. Legislative Budget Board's spending recommendations for 1968-69 are based on an anticipated $850,000 in general revenue from present levies, plus the balance on hand at the start of the next fiscal period. That would permit a spending increase of nearly $220,000,000.

Connally's spending recommendations are some $120,000,000 above the board's.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED
Burton G. Hackney, 59, Brownfield attorney and chairman of the State Board of Public Welfare for eight years, was chosen by the board to succeed the late John H. Winters as Welfare commissioner.

Herbert C. Wilson, assistant commissioner, will head the department pending Hackney's move to Austin.

Joe D. Carter, Texas Water Rights Commission chairman and former Sherman legislator, was named chairman of the Interstate Conference on Water Problems at a meeting in Phoenix.

E. G. Morrison, Austin, was appointed to the University of Texas Development Board.

Governor Connally's top aide, Larry Temple, announced at the freshman legislator's orientation school that the governor soon will name a new press secretary. Post has been vacant since George Christian joined President Johnson's staff.

HOOD BID REJECTED

After a stormy hearing Texas Aeronautics Commission rejected Hood Airlines' request for authority to use DC-3 type planes on its Killeen-to-Dallas run.

Trans-Texas and Braniff Airways opposed Hood's request. TAC said no new facts were developed to warrant changing its policy limiting commuter airlines to planes under 12,500 pounds.

Hood serves Fort Hood and also has flights to McGregor, Mineral Wells, Breckenridge, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.

OYSTERS UNDAMAGED

Live oyster reefs in Galveston Bay have suffered practically no damage since shell dredgers were allowed to operate closer to them three years ago, according to J. R. Singleton, director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Singleton said dredging has remained stable during the last decade, while live oyster harvests have increased.

No changes in the controversial dredging regulations are contemplated, although P&W field procedures on oysters may be altered.

SCREWORM PROBLEM

Screwworm flies which are infiltrating into Texas may force the Texas Animal Health Commission to pass a regulation to keep the insects South of the border.

Currently, infected cattle are not allowed to be imported into Texas. But they are kept at the border where the insects hatch and fly across the Rio Grande anyway.

Commission is considering a rule prohibiting the import into Texas of any cattle from a herd in which diseased cattle are found.

This rule, it is reasoned, will force the importer to return his entire herd to the ranch, thus keeping the screwworm larvae away from the border. No action has been taken, and none will be necessary if ranchers take steps on their own.

PIT BAN ARGUED

Oil associations clashed at the Railroad Commission hearing over a proposed statewide ban on salt water disposal pits. Some expressed fear that the federal government might enact such an order if the state doesn't. Others called the proposal arbitrary and of questionable legality.

Commission has banned salt water pits in oil fields in 43 counties on grounds they endanger underground fresh water supplies.

FORTY-SEVEN (47) WILL DIE

Predicted by the Department of Public Safety are 47 deaths in traffic accidents for the Christmas holiday weekend.

Says Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, "We are going to undertake one of the most intensive safety efforts ever, in hopes of reducing this figure." Several state agencies and organizations interested in safety are working hand-in-hand with the department to help hold down the toll as much as possible.

"Operation Deathwatch" will be conducted from 6 p. m., December 23, until midnight, December 26, to focus attention on the dangers involved in holiday travel.

"Deathwatch" will be resumed at 6 p. m., December 30, and continue until midnight, January 2. It is predicted that 36 persons will die in traffic accidents during that period.

Some 150 additional patrolmen will be on duty in an effort to reduce the toll.

In terms of lives lost and property damage 1966 to date has been the most terrible in Texas history.

TEXAS BUSINESS DOWN

Texas business activity dropped in October for the second month in a row. Decrease was five per cent. Activity still was 10 per cent above the October 1965 figure, according to Dr. Francis B. May of UT's Bureau of Business Research.

An increase in business activity for the first ten months of this year was noted. Non-residential building permits led the field running 20 percent over the first 10 months of last year.

SHORT SNORTS

Federal highway program cut-back will cost Texas $57,000,000, according to State Highway Engineer D. C. Groer. Lenn Jones, personnel consultant of Dallas, has been retained on a part time basis by the Texas Hospital Association to meet the growing needs in the field of personnel and employer-employee relations in hospitals.

State Democratic Executive Committee is busy planning a gala Democratic victory dinner here next month at inauguration time.

The lumber industry is the oldest industry in America.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

You can perform home magic at very little cost by trying some dramatic lighting effects, says Mrs. Juanita O'Connor, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Light and shadow patterns will transform an ordinary room into a wonderland. Planning are all it takes. You can spotlight your Christmas tree, or some Christmas plants, or some treatment can produce big scale fantastic patterns over the walls and splash bold decorations across ceilings.

This richness of projected shadows can elevate one's plant or an arrangement of branches to a position of important decoration. You'll be painting with shadows, moving the spotlight in close or backing away to find the most effective play of silhouettes.

To achieve just the right intensity, the agent says you can add a dimmer control or experiment with bulbs of different wattage.

You can use the same spotlighting idea outdoors. Light the branches of picturesque trees or bushes and bring them forward as sculptural features; or cast dappled patterns of natural forms across walls or pavings.

It's a good way to have a lot of fun for very little money. And you'll gain experience in how to make your home more attractive the year-round.

Per Capita Food Consumption Increases

The per capita food consumption in 1966 is averaging about one percent larger than in 1965 despite a 4 and 1-2 to 5 percent increase in retail food prices.

This information comes from the USDA National Food Situation report. Increased demand for poultry meat, beef, vegetable oils and potatoes more than offset declines in pork, dairy products, animal fats and vegetables, according to Mrs. O'Connor.

Most of the increase in food expenditure in 1966 is due to the increase in retail food prices. Per capita food consumption and population each are increasing around 1 percent. Strong demand for food is implied by the simultaneous increase in both prices and consumption.

GRENADE LAUNCHER, the M-148, is the latest new field weapon in Viet Nam. The new launcher tosses grenades up to 400 yards.

The unusual price rise that developed this year can be traced partly to reduced supplies of some important foods but most was due to the increase in demand for food products.

This week, special promotions reflect good supplies of beef and increased supplies of pork. Boston butts, pork shoulder and loin roasts, chops, spareribs, sausage, bacon and liver are good buys. Beef steaks, chuck and rib roasts, various boneless roasts, ground beef and stew meat are featured items.

Apples continue as top fruit choices—flavor and color are good, prices are lower. Most abundant apple varieties include: Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Winesap. Evidences of good citrus supply continue with the by-the-bag purchases the best values as a rule. Excellent quality juice oranges are arriving. Tangerines are some cheaper. Cranberries and avocados are in good supply.

Some of the better vegetable buys are carrots, cabbage, eggplant, cauliflower, head lettuce, dry onions, sweet potatoes, mustard, collards and turnip greens.

"When did you last check your food supply? Do you know what food items you have on hand?" asks Mrs. O'Connor.

It is a good idea to keep an ample stock of staple foods such as flour, sugar, salt, meal, baking powder, shortening, seasonings that are used regularly, and canned milk or non-fat dry milk.

It is equally important to have available canned, frozen or dried foods from each of the four food groups (bread and cereal group, milk group, vegetable and fruit group, and meat group). This should prevent extra trips to the store and assure you that your family will have a good diet from one day until the next.

If a large portion of your food allowance is spent on perishable foods as soon as the money is available, you may find it difficult to stretch your food supply until another pay check arrives. However, if you plan your meals in advance and stock your shelves for emergencies, you should be able to serve nutritious meals most anytime.

A regular check of food shelves may also prevent overbuying and the accumulation of one particular food at the expense of other foods needed in the diet. Some homemakers buy whatever appeals to them at the moment, possibly because the item is attractively displayed or highly advertised. Needless to say, this is a poor way to spend food dollars.

Another excellent reason for keeping a close check for foods on hand is so that provision will be made for unexpected guest who drop by to stay for dinner or the guests may be friends who come by in the afternoon and you want to serve them refreshments.

Cauliflower is Smart Buy Now:

Cauliflower is more versatile than most vegetables. The raw florets of cauliflower add zest to the relish tray or salad bowl. They make neat dippers when served in the appetizer course. Cooked, cauliflower will serve equally as well as a vegetable or as a salad ingredient.

Cauliflower is generally sold by the pound, sometimes on special by the head, occasionally broken down into florets, say Mrs. O'Connor. She also gives these interesting facts and suggestions about cauliflower.

Cauliflower prefers a cool, humid climate. Cool enough to develop excellent quality, too cool to develop quantity is the present situation.

To produce the typical creamy-white curds, cauliflower must tuck its head beneath its leaves, away from the sun. Head-tucking doesn't come naturally with cauliflower, so hand labor is required to tie the leaves over the heads.

When selecting cauliflower, look for compact, firm, clean, creamy-white heads. Attached leaves should be fresh, crisp and green. Cooked cauliflower is at its best with melted butter, salt and white pepper. It goes well with a creamed or cheese sauce. For flavor's sake, cook in an open kettle of salted boiling water until just tender. A teaspoon of lemon juice added to the cooking water promotes the whiteness, and adds an interesting flavor. Cauliflower is extra elegant served with hollandaise sauce.

MOVIES

"The Plainsman"

"There will always be outdoor action pictures, better known as westerns." That's the opinion of Guy Stockwell, currently starring in his first sagebrush saga, Universal's "The Plainsman," in color showing at the State Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It also stars Don Murray, Abby Dalton, Bradford Dillman and Leslie Nielsen.

"The basic plot of a western is timeless and appeals to everybody," he explains, and "while it's essentially American, what it says reaches out to people everywhere; probably the reason westerns have an international acceptance."

"Cast a Giant Shadow"

Melville Shavelson is a triple-threat man among creative artists who writes, produces and directs films in Hollywood and other parts of the world. In addition, he has become an accomplished specialist in two diverse fields of film making, in comedy and biographical drama, and alternates between the two.

But nothing has commanded his imagination nor enthralled his imagination more than his latest, "Cast a Giant Shadow," which he wrote for the screen and directed, and which shows Saturday night, Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre in Color by DeLuxe and Panavision as a Mirisch Corporation presentation and United Artists release.

This is because the new film is based on the exciting true-life exploits of U. S. Colonel David "Mickey" Marcus, who became Israel's first general in 2,000 years, commanding troops on the Jerusalem front in Israel's 1948 War of Independence.

And Shavelson is distantly related to the late Col. Marcus and knew him as a boy in New York.

"Cast a Giant Shadow" stars Kirk Douglas as "Mickey" and the sensational Santa Berger as the riflewoman who becomes fascinated with him.
