Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Persons over 60 years of age, who are otherwise qualified, will not have to register (in Winters) in order to vote in elections this year. All they'll need to do is go to the polls and sign the "ever 60" statement, and then vote.

The rest of us? The same rule applies now as in Poll Tax days—we must go get our registration certificate if we plan to do any voting this year. The only difference is we don't have to pay the Poll Tax now. But we will have to get that slip of paper. And we have only until January 31 to get it done, too.

There will be regular school district elections, city elections, and who knows what other kind of elections will spring up before the year is gone! So if you want to have a voice in running things, and you haven't got that registration slip yet—better get cracking!

A farmer-stockman, speaking of the successful Junior Livestock Show which was held here Saturday, was heard to remark, in substance, that "it's nice to live in a community where there is wholehearted support for and interest in such projects!"

The acceptance and support of the livestock show by individuals and merchants was overwhelming and very gratifying. Here was a means to provide award and encouragement to youngsters who had spent a lot of time and effort in feeding and grooming livestock for exhibition and competition. If no more than one of them—no, if not one of them—continues in the livestock and agriculture field as a life's career, it will have been worth every ounce of support extended, because of the training such activity has afforded.

But this man was speaking not only of the unequalled support of the livestock show, he was speaking of the total attitude of the community toward anything worthwhile. This is the crux of the whole matter. Countless times in the past when it has been made known that something should be done, there have been those who have stepped forward to lead the way and to get the job done. That's what he was talking about—a community welded together for the common good.

Multiply this instance many times; double this one man's attitude many times over, and we can see the results of the efforts of many people who are determined to project a worthwhile community image; who are determined to build a town of progress; who are not content to sit and watch the rest of the world go by but are out there pushing and pulling; who wade deep in the main stream; who refuse to let the rust of inactivity settle and eat away the foundation of progressiveness. They know the rewards.

Just read where a painting by a chimpanzee stood a chance of winning some big art exhibit awards. And all along we had thought all those "mod" paint dabbings had been done by chimps!

Ever notice that some writers are always mentioning the "snobbery" of intellectuals? We think some of these writers have their wires crossed, and are handling the word "intellectual" rather loosely; a true intellectual would no more stoop to snobbery than would a humble man tell the world he is humble!

Revival Starts January 13th At Emmanuel Mission

A weekend revival will be held at the Emmanuel Mission of the First Baptist Church, Winters, January 13-15. Services will begin at 7 p. m. each evening.

Rev. Moses Herrera, ministerial student in Howard Payne College at Brownwood will bring the messages and a choir from Howard Payne will provide special music.

Rev. Abel Ortega of Brownwood is the pastor. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Saturday's Junior Livestock Show Termed Biggest in Several Years

There was no rain or really bad weather, which many times marks the annual Winters Junior Livestock Show, but a moderate and nippy wind greeted the crowds swarming around the livestock barns Saturday. But the chilled wind failed to put a damper on the spirit of the viewing public, the exhibitors or the judges in the show which was called the biggest such event in a long time here. A total of 263 animals was entered in the show.

The show was sponsored by the Winters Livestock and Agriculture Association. Pat Pritchard, of Wingate, County Commissioner of Prec. 3, is president of the association.

Youthful exhibitors divided approximately $1000 in prize money, plus ribbons and trophies, presented by the Winters Livestock and Agriculture Association.

Approximately $1,300 In "Shares" For Bonus Awards In Stock Show

Approximately $1,300 in "bonus" money was awarded youngsters exhibiting animals in the Junior Livestock Show held here Saturday. The bonus awards were made in lieu of auctioning of winning animals.

Money was raised through the sale of "shares" to merchants and individuals of Winters and Wingate. Each "share" amounted to $18.00.

This was a project of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and sale of shares was conducted by members of the board.

Those purchasing shares in the project and the number of shares bought were:

Medicare Patients Invited To Have Claims Checked

Older people in the Winters area who have paid doctor bills but have not yet claimed their medicare doctor bill insurance payments are invited to have their claims checked by the San Angelo social security office before mailing them to the medicare carrier, according to Ted F. Moellering, district manager.

"In the first six months of the medicare program some benefit payments were delayed because the applicants did not include all the necessary information with their claims," the district manager said.

Moellering believes that most people will need this help only the first time they make a medical insurance claim. "The Medicare Handbook, which is given to all beneficiaries, explains how to make the claims," he said, "and the form is relatively simple, but most people can use some advice the first time they apply. We're glad to offer assistance, and we believe we can help many people to avoid some delay in the payment."

Moellering noted that the medicare claim may be made either by the patient or by the doctor, if he accepts assignments of the insurance. If the doctor applies for the medicare payment, he bills the patient only for any part of the $50 deductible that still remains to be paid and for 20 percent of the bill over the $50 deductible.

Under the other method of payment the doctor bills the patient, the patient pays the bill, and then the patient sends the completed request for payment form to the medicare carrier. A statement from the doctor showing the treatment given and the charges already paid by the patient must be furnished either on the request for payment form or in a separate receipted bill.

57% of '66 City Taxes Paid By December 31st

Of a total of $92,875.47 in ad valorem and personal property taxes in Winters for 1966, 57 percent had been paid by December 31, Mayor W. M. Hays said at the end of last week.

By the last day of the year, $53,095.89 had been paid in taxes, the mayor said. January 31 is the deadline for paying 1966 taxes without penalty and interest.

Johnny B. Smith, tax assessor for the Winters Independent School District, said that as of Dec. 31, 71.08 percent of the school taxes for 1966 had been paid. School tax total is $206,915.05.

City Makes Money With Money; Last Year's Total $13,993.90

A big and important revenue item for all departments of the City of Winters is the interest received on investments of momentarily idle funds during a given fiscal year. A current audit report, for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1966, shows that revenue from this source alone was greater than had been received in any previous year.

For the fiscal year ending last Sept. 30, the audit report shows that a total of $13,993.90 was received in interest on invested funds for the year. This compared to $9,944.23 for the previous year, according to the report.

Cherry, Eckert & Story, certified public accountants of San Angelo, a firm which has conducted the annual audit for the City of Winters for the past several years, submitted their report to the City Council this week.

According to the report, the books of the City of Winters show that as of September 30, 1966, $315,087.50 was invested, of which $250,000.00 was in 4 percent certificates of deposit from the Winters State Bank. Other investments are in Government bonds and securities.

Funds channeled into investments are those which are not needed for current operation expenses; for instance, tax funds which are received during a relatively short time during the fiscal year are apportioned so that part of the money is invested at all times, drawing interest. Too, funds which are designated for sinking funds to provide for liquidation of long-term debts are invested in securities until such time as they are needed to meet periodic payments.

Included in the audit report submitted this week are comparative balance sheets for all funds of the City of Winters, and a statement of cash receipts and disbursements for all funds. As shown by these statements, for the year ended Sept. 30, 1966, cash on hand and in banks increased by $33,051.57, investments decreased by $39,000.00 and bonded debt decreased by $45,000.00. Capital outlay for the year totaled $89,471.31, of which $65,210.90 was from the water and electric utility funds. A contract for expansion of the water treatment facilities in the amount of $64,650.00 was awarded in May, 1966, and of this amount, $21,160.14 was unpaid as of Sept. 30, 1966.

Income by way of taxes showed an increase in the fiscal year just past, over the previous year. The audit report shows a total of $88,021.84 received in current collection, delinquent collections, costs, and penalty and interest. (The total for the previous year was $86,375.29.) Of this amount, $56,282.91 was channeled for use in the General Fund, with $31,659.13 to interest and sinking fund.

The audit report shows that revenue for the General Fund was up over the previous year, totaled at $126,561.64 (Previous year's revenue was $118,935.45).

Expenses for the last fiscal year totaled $126,333.00. (Previous year total was $107,298.90) Biggest single revenue item in the General Fund, with the exception of ad valorem taxes, was sewer charge, with $19,339.10, slightly below the amount for the previous year. Income from sanitary charges was also down from the previous year. Interest on investments, however, was up from the previous year, with $5,457.66 coming in for this item.

Housing Authority Board Named To Study Plans For Housing For Elderly

The Winters City Council Monday night approved appointment by the mayor of a Housing Authority Board to study and draw up plans to build housing for the low-income elderly in Winters, and to administer the building and assignment of such housing if construction is undertaken here. Named to the Board were Nelan Bahlman, chairman, and members Neal Oakes, Ralph Lloyd, J. C. Joyce and Gattis Neely.

Although no definite plans have been made to apply for grants and loans from the Housing and Urban Development administration to build such housing, the council and members of the newly formed board met with a representative of architectural and building firm of Houston, Elwin Fitch and Associates, to discuss the local feasibility of planning for housing for the elderly in Winters.

Whether or not formal application will be made for grants and loans for such a project will depend upon the results of a study which will be made by the Housing Authority Board, Mayor W. M. Hays said. He said the Board would have full authority to act in making ap-

PC Volunteer Has Much Difficulty Speaking English To Britishers

BY BILL PUMPHREY I have never considered myself to be a linguist as in college, language courses were always my downfall. Today, however, I find that I understand and speak a little Texan, Spanish, English, Swahili and, most difficult of all, British. The British say that the Americans haven't spoken English in Years. If they mean British English I'm afraid that I must agree with them; it's completely foreign to me.

My first encounter with a Britisher was in Dar es Salaam last September just before I left for Chunya. I was searching for a clothing store where I could buy a pair of those white shorts and knee socks which are so popular in the tropics. I stopped one man, obviously a Britisher, in white shirt, shorts, and knee socks, and asked him where I could find a clothing store. He didn't understand. I said that I wanted to buy some pants, a shirt and some socks. He didn't understand. I even resorted to international sign language and pointed to my shirt, pants and socks. Still he didn't understand. Then, fortunately, a young African passed by and, hearing our conversation, said, "There's a good clothing store down the street two blocks."

The British speak differently from US Americans and they also have a different vocabulary. As Tanzania is a former British colony, the natives speak British English. Thus, I must say, "I need some cells for my torch" when I want some flashlight batteries. Cookies are "biscuits," cans are "tins," corn is "maize," gasoline is "petrol," kerosene is "paraffin," a phonograph is a "gramophone," a radio is a "wireless," a 't' shirt is a "vest," a car hood is a "bonnet," movies are the "cinema," a vacation is a "holiday" and on the list continues indefinitely.

Also, they spell differently. How many times have I caught myself writing "color" on the blackboard in the American way instead of "c-o-l-o-u-r." A few other spelling demons are tyre, honour, connexion, goal, jewellery, phytamas, cheque, and kerb. I hope you can recognize these words in their different spellings.

Grocery, Drive-In Hit By Burglars Thursday Night

Buck Matthews' Triple "J" Store on North Main Street, and Dot-Dot's Drive-In were hit by burglars sometime during the night Thursday of last week.

At the Triple "J" Store, entry was made through a back door. Safe and cash register were rifled, but no loss of cash was reported. A .22 caliber Remington automatic rifle was taken. Buck Matthews, owner of the store said, it is impossible to determine if any amount of merchandise was taken in that break-in, Matthews said.

Approximately $50 in cash and five 12-pound boxes of hamburger patties were taken during a robbery of Dot Dot's Drive-In, also on North Main Street. Burglars broke a glass on a rear door, gaining access to the building.

Police are investigating these break-ins. Two filling stations were hit by burglars earlier in the same week.

Roger Babson Says

States Finding It Hard To Get Along On Tax Money Left By Uncle Sam

State Finances
Babson Park, Mass. The tremendous growth our nation has enjoyed since the end of World War II poses new fiscal and other challenges for the states. On the one hand, their role has been diminishing steadily as the federal government has gathered unto itself more power. On the other hand, the prestige of many states has been deteriorating steadily as their largest metropolitan areas have expanded to great size and complexity.

The Shadow Of Uncle Sam
The decline of our states and of their effectiveness in government has been a long time coming. It is traceable to pre-World-War-I years when the federal income tax law was first enacted. But it was not until the great depression of the 1930's that the ball really got rolling. With the coming of the federal social security system and other broad social welfare programs — enacted by Congress, administered by the President, and financed by taxes collected by Washington—the shadow cast over the states by Uncle Sam grew longer.

Eclipse Of The States
Then came World War II, a protracted and costly conflict from which America emerged as banker and creditor to both victors and vanquished. The rebuilding of shattered European nations and their economies, of a badly beaten Japan, and the servicing of our own deferred needs—together with the financing of a long and very expensive "cold war"—put new pressures on our fiscal and natural resources. Federal government costs soared.

During the two decades that have followed World War II, we were to discover the high price that must be paid for defense, for the type of social progress which the majority of our people had chosen, and for the leadership of the Free World to which we had fallen heir. We were to discover also that the federal government had grown so much and so fast—and was taking in so large a percentage of the country's total tax dollars — that the states were hard put to carry on their own functions with what was left.

Pushed by rising costs of ad-

NOTICE OF Intention of the City of Winters, Texas, to Enter Into a Cooperation Agreement With the Housing Authority of the City of Winters, Texas.

Pursuant to a Resolution duly adopted on January 9, 1967 by the City Aldermen of Winters, Texas, Notice is hereby given of the intention of the City of Winters, Texas, and further: Notice is hereby given that at the expiration of sixty (60) days from January 9, 1967, the City Aldermen of the City of Winters, Texas, will consider the question of whether or not it will enter into a Cooperation Agreement with the Housing Authority of the City of Winters, Texas. This Notice is given and published pursuant to the Housing Cooperation Law of the State of Texas. 43-2tc ministration, labor, and materials, and by the expanding need for services triggered by the postwar population explosion, the states — which had hitherto relied mostly on fairly nominal personal and corporate income levies—greatly increased these taxes on income; in addition, they turned more and more to sales taxes as revenue sources. And the end is not in sight.

Challenge Of The "City-States"
Our prosperity of the past twenty years has compounded the problems of the states. There is too much reliance on federal grants and too great a disposition to let an eager federal government monopolize planning and control the administration of social welfare programs, of highway development, and of the expansion of some types of educational facilities.

Also, by and large, the states have not faced up to the fiscal problems of their cities. Often state legislatures have imposed intolerable fiscal burdens by making the cities assume responsibility for the cost of programs they had no part in enacting. This has forced many cities — some of which are as large as or larger in population than certain states—to seek more and more direct federal aid. Thus is our birthright of home rule and local government being whittled away.

The Fiscal Future
Tax Foundation, Inc. — a leading compiler of data in its field and noted for its careful evaluation of such data—reports that the fiscal future of state and local governments is "much better than generally realized." Tax Foundation believes the states can finance their expanding programs during the next decade without extensive tax increases. However, we are not so sure. For the next year or two at least, you would be wise to expect—and prepare for—mounting state taxes, spending, and debt. And you would be smart to take more interest in your state government and a robust public opinion to demand that your state officials grapple squarely and persistently with these fiscal problems.

Texas Motorists Warned To Secure Inspection Stickers

Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminded Texas motorists today that most vehicles have not yet been inspected for their 1967 vehicle inspection sticker.

"The inspection period is two-thirds over and only about one-third of the vehicles have been inspected," said Garrison. "This means that during the 14 weeks remaining before the April 15 deadline for inspections, more than twice as many persons each week must have their car inspected to avoid long lines forming at the end of the period."

In urging motorists to have their vehicle inspected at an early date, Garrison pointed out that official inspection stations are easily identified by the standard sign displayed at or near the service entrance of the garage.

He advised that inspection stations are being urged to request permission to inspect any vehicle brought into the garage for repairs or regular service.

"In this way," Garrison pointed out, "time will be saved for the motorist as well as for the inspection station."

"And if you have not had your vehicle inspected, take it to one of the 5,500 authorized inspection stations for a 'check-up' and start the new year off right with a safe vehicle."

State Capital Highlights—

State Officials Busy Taking Oath Of Office In Austin, 200 'Sworn In'

By—Vern Sanford Texas Press Association
There has been a lot of swearing going on at the Capitol. Seems like almost everyone has been sworn into an office of one type or another. We haven't made an official count but the number will approach the 200 mark.

First it was the judges. Then the top elective officials. Then the 31 State Senators and 150 members of the House. There's no doubt about it, there's a lot of swearing going on in the Texas capitol. And there's more to come.

With what's upcoming in the legislative halls, there's likely to be a lot of unofficial swearing, too—a bit stronger in nature. This is bound to happen when so many people get together, and especially when arguments, pro and con, get underway for this and that bill. It's expected that some 2,500 measures will hit the hopper before the law-making session ends.

SHOW IS ON THE ROAD
The 60th session of the Legislature now is underway. How long it will last is anybody's guess.

Three officials in a position to be among the state's best guessers are predicting it will not continue beyond the 140-day deadline for a regular session. This despite a mountain of problems to be resolved.

"We can finish on time," commented Speaker of the House Bon Barnes, as the representatives began to assemble. And he emphasized "I want no special sessions."

Gov. John Connally has voiced a similar view. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is even more strongly convinced that special sessions are out of the question.

"It is not only possible to complete our work in 140 days—there ought to be no other thought than finishing by then—and probably before," commented Smith.

Lieutenant Governor Smith suggested that legislators could speed up their work if they abandoned the usual practice of four-day weeks and stayed in sessions Fridays and Saturdays once the bills start coming out of committees. Asked if he felt that the lawmakers would do that, the lieutenant governor acknowledged that chances of them doing so are slim.

Smith feels the 60th Legislature faces no more problems than previous ones.

COURTS SPEAK
Texas Supreme Court agreed with the lower courts that West Texas State University could indefinitely suspend a student for violating conditions of disciplinary probation for traffic offenses.

High Court also, in effect, upheld tax values of the City of Port Lavaca which had been attacked by property owners who claimed land assessments were discriminatory since bank deposits were left off tax rolls.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones heard arguments in the AFL-CIO suit to invalidate the constitutional amendment and would require annual voter registration. Labor leaders claim that the ballot stated only that it would repeal the poll tax as a voting requirement—thus failing to describe its full purpose.

Secretary of State John L. Hill has been enjoined from canvassing the November 8 vote on the amendment pending outcome of the suit. AFL-CIO seeks summary judgment. Union officials want permanent registration.

SHEPPERD NAMED PARK TRUSTEE
John Ben Shepperd has been appointed sole trustee and administrator of the LBJ Park Fund.

Fund consists of money donated to buy land across from the LBJ Ranch in Gillespie County. Selection of the former attorney general for this post was made by the State Parks and Wildlife Commission following criticism of the Commission for its handling of the fund.

Simultaneously, the commission announced it is fencing 25 acres of the 247-acre park to contain deer, buffalo, turkey, longhorn steers and other native animals.

Park has been enlarged to include historic and scenic, as well as recreational objectives. Area will be open soon, commissioners indicated.

Commission Chairman Will Odom of Austin said Shepperd was named to make the project function more smoothly and not because of earlier criticism. Shepperd said he will reveal the names of the donors to the fund, as requested by Governor Connally, when all land acquisition is complete.

COLLEGE GRANTS
Twenty-eight Texas colleges and universities have been recommended for $812,094 in teaching grants from the federal government, says the Higher Education and Coordinating Board.

Public senior colleges scheduled to receive $375,499 are Angelo College, Stephen F. Austin State, Sul Ross State, East Texas at University, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State, Midwestern University, Texas College and University of Houston.

Nine public junior colleges to receive $177,280 are San Antonio College, Cisco, Wharton County, Lee, Laredo, Del Mar, Cooke County, Southwest Texas and Panola County.

Private schools receiving $259,315 will be South Texas College, University of St. Thomas, Abilene Christian College, Jarvis Christian College, Texas Christian University, Bishop College, University of Dallas, and St. Edward's University.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish there were enough words in the English language to express to our friends and neighbors our deep humility and gratitude for so many kindnesses done for us at the passing of our husband and father. We would especially like to express our deep appreciation to the doctors, and the staff of Winters hospital for their efficient work, to Ted Meyer and all the rest of the staff at Spill's Funeral Home, also the pallbearers, our beloved pastor, the Rev. Ed Otwell and the ladies of the Fidelis Sunday School Class. Mrs. C. L. Chapman and sons, Morris, Howard, Robert, David and Carter. Itc

CARD OF THANKS
We wish it were possible to write each of you, but strength will not permit it. Mere words can never express our thanks for your prayers, visits, cards, gifts, and food, and especially each lady for transportation to and from the hospital while my husband was a patient. To all who sent cards, gifts and visited us while both of us were patients at Hendricks Hospital following surgery. We felt the power of prayer these last two months when we felt we had come to the end of our strength. Ed and the boys want to thank our pastor, and a few loyal friends who came at that early hour while I was in surgery. We pray that we may be a help to you in your hour of need. Ed and Bertha Brandon. Winters' Comprehensive Plan

Engineers Recommend Search For Water Supply, Planning for Schools

In preparing a Comprehensive Plan for the future development and growth of Winters, there were many areas to be considered, including present and future industrial sites, realistic routing of traffic arteries, water distribution systems, water supply, and community facilities.

The engineering firm which prepared the Comprehensive Plan for Winters, Bryant-Curington, Inc., of Austin, examined all facets of the present community and using their projected population figure of 5,897 for the year 1989 as a guide, recommended certain and many changes which they said should be made to adequately support such an increase in population and the resulting demand for goods and services.

The effect a population change—growth—would have on the schools was considered in the overall picture, and planners recommended that considerable thought be channeled in this direction in order to maintain adequate schools for the future. The report of the engineers stated that future school population basically depends upon overall population growth. Since 331 students now use bus service and come from outside the Winters city limits, "then it can be assumed, due to declining population in rural areas, that no more than the same number of rural students will be attending Winters' schools in 1990. At 26 students per classroom, the present junior-high elementary building will supply the needs for 1990 elementary space. The junior high activities should be moved into the senior high building, which would just accommodate them at 23 pupils per classrooms. A new senior high should be built to accommodate the 1990 demand for room. These are minimum requirements based on a simple projection of students in direct proportion to the growth of population."

(It should be pointed out that although engineers-planners consulted school authorities in making their calculations, the Comprehensive Plan was made for the City of Winters and not for the Winters Independent School District. Therefore, planners did not go to great depth in making recommendations which deal with school planning.)

RECREATIONAL

Engineer-planners suggested that more park and recreational facilities should be provided. They suggested that the area around the old City Lake north of town would be adequate for a lake-centered public park. (Ed. Note: City Council has been studying plans for such a project.) Neighborhood type playgrounds should be conveniently located in each section of town even though they all cannot be ideally located adjacent to elementary schools, the report said.

WATER SYSTEM

A most important requirement for the future growth of Winters will be an adequate water supply. Without advance planning, this one requirement could hamper future development. Engineer-planners recommended that "planning of an additional water supply requires that it be made available before the existing supply becomes inadequate, that it be adequate for a substantial part of time required to amortize the cost of (facilities), and that (a) reservoir site be developed to its most feasible capacity, since good reservoir sites are fast being used up."

Engineers compiling the Comprehensive Plan made several suggestions which, if followed, could provide more water for use in a growing Winters. They pointed out that the existing water supply, Winters Lake, was originally designed for a safe yield of one-half million gallons per day average, or 560 acre feet per year. "On the basis of operating studies and past performance the safe yield of the lake can be assumed to be 600 acre feet per year, or an average of 0.57 MGD if the spillway is raised 2 feet to offset the loss in capacity due to silting."

Other sources for an adequate water supply also were studied. A dam on Elm Creek south of Winters should produce a reservoir of about 50,000 acre feet capacity based on topographic maps, the report stated. "The development of this site would need to be a joint project with the Soil Conservation Service or other flood control agency," it was pointed out. Safe yield is roughly estimated to be 2.14 MGD average or 2400 acre feet per year. To make this project feasible Ballinger would need to share in the development and take one-half of the water. Cost of the total project is estimated to be $1,500,000. (Ed. Note: A meeting was to be held Thursday night of this week in Ballinger, sponsored by the Runtels County Water Authority, to discuss such a reservoir project.)

MOST FEASIBLE

According to the final report of the engineer-planners who prepared the Comprehensive Plan for Winters, the most feasible source of additional water supply for the City of Winters, was found to be on Bluff Creek about two miles north of FM 1770. The site reservoir area-capacity has a drainage area of 120 square miles as compared with 60 square miles for the present Winters Lake.

Safe yield for a Bluff Creek reservoir has been calculated to be 1200 acre feet per year or an average of 1.07 MGD. This yield, combined with the existing Lake Winters safe yield of 600 acre feet would meet the forecast water supply requirement of the City until the year 1998, even during the worst drought of record.

The chemical quality of water which could be taken from a Bluff Creek reservoir should be substantially the same as that taken from Winters Lake because the soil on the water shed is very similar, the report said. However, the amount of red silt in the Bluff Creek reservoir should be substantially less than in the present lake since the proportion of the drainage contributing red silt will be less.

To substantiate their recommendations, engineer-planners explored previous rainfall and runoff data from several sources.

Development cost of such a dam and reservoir site on Bluff Creek, recommended as the most feasible by the planners, is estimated at $926,000. This amount could be apportioned from three sources: participation by Soil Conservation Service, Federal matching funds, and a water development loan.

Engineers stated that estimated cost for water from a Bluff Creek site north of Winters would be $0.10 per thousand gallons, as against $0.152 per thousand gallons from an Elm Creek-Bluff Creek reservoir between Winters and Ballinger.

If you think you saw some tennis balls at the fresh fruit counter of your supermarket, don't be alarmed.

A new fruit from Australia and New Zealand often appears here and there and it looks like a flattened tennis ball because of its shape and rough brown coat.

"Kiwi" is the name of this fruit. When you cut it open, you'll find a clear green jelly-like interior with a beautiful cluster of seeds in the center.

How rich in vitamin C this fruit is! It is used as a breakfast drink and in salads by the Australians.

New Zealanders feature "kiwis" in a favorite dessert. They use a meringue-like crust or base covered with sliced kiwis and topped with sweetened whipped cream.

Breakfast in both Australia and New Zealand rates high in vitamin C because of the widespread use of the "kiwi" fruit.

You may not see this exotic fruit at your market, but you will find a heavy supply of another good source of vitamin C—orange and grapefruit.

Nutritionists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say that an orange or a half grapefruit will give you your daily requirement of Vitamin C. Remember, this important vitamin

However, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in northern Texas, said that farmers need not file an estimate if they file their 1966 Federal income tax return, Form 1040, and pay in full any tax due by February 15, 1967.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," (Publication No. 225), which furnishes information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a post card to your District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 1600 Patterson Street, Dallas, Texas 75201 or from your county farm agent.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Lillie Heath and the late Howard Heath.

Rate Increase For Parcel Post Effective Jan. 15

Use of ZIP Code will make it easier to mail packages after January 15, Postmaster Rankin Pace of Winters said this week.

New rates and a new system for identifying parcel post zones will go into effect on that date as provided in legislation signed into law by President Johnson September 20, 1966, the Postmaster pointed out.

The rate increases will average about 10 cents a parcel, Pace said. Starting July 1, the law provides for a series of size and weight increases on packages mailed between first-class offices.

Use of ZIP Code in the recipient's address will enable the sender or a mail clerk to quickly determine the proper zone, and thus the rate, for the package. The zones will be based on the distance a parcel travels between the 552 sectional centers in the country, Pace said.

By consulting a simple chart, which is available at all post offices, the zone can be readily identified because the first three numbers of the ZIP Code represent the sectional center. This replaces a method in which a directory often had to be consulted to locate the proper zone for each of the nation's 33,000 post offices.

The new rate will range from 40 cents for a three-pound parcel destined for local delivery to 60 cents for the same parcel to zone 3 (150 to 300 miles) to $1.05 to zone 8 (over 1,800 miles). The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising of their periodicals.

Pace noted that all parcels mailed between post offices within the Abilene sectional center will be charged at the first zone rate. There are 55 post offices within the sectional center.

The new rates are expected to provide an additional $74 million a year for the Post Office Department. The latest size and weight increases will add another $32 million a year. The additional revenue is to help keep the Department within 4 percent of costs on parcel post as the law requires.
