State Capital Highlights—

HemisFair, Liquor-By-Drink, Racing Hold Spotlight in State's Capitol

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Gov. John Connally's emergency appropriation recommendations to the Legislature held the spotlight at his weekly press conference.

Connally noted that the Senate "apparently wants to study very carefully" the emergency appropriations for which he has asked. He said that plans for San Antonio's HemisFair '68 may have to be "seriously altered" if the Senate takes much longer. Governor asks $5,500,000 in emergency funds for the state's exhibit, the Institute of Texas Cultures.

state employees only if Connally asked them to. However, he declined and stood by his original per cent per year.

When no one appeared to testify against the measure, Rep. Rayford Price, committee chairman, referred it to a subcommittee composed of Reps. A. C. Atwood of Edinburg, Bill Bass of Ben Wheeler and Gerhardt Schulte of San Marcos.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION
Three bills are in the Legislature aimed at forming a Texas Constitutional Revision Commission to investigate whether and how to either revise or rewrite the Texas Constitution.

Governor John Connally's bill, recommendations for increases effective September 1.

Connally also answered some of the opposition which has lived up since he asked the Legislature to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink. "Opponents on an issue like this always write, and proponents never do," he said, after the flood of letters began arriving. His bill initially contemplated automatically legalizing over-the-bar sales in wet areas without necessity for additional local option elections. However, there is strong pressure to require separate elections. Connally acknowledged the entire proposal faces "tough sledding."

Governor also revealed that A. W. Moursund of Johnson City, close friend and business associate of President Johnson, has asked not to be re-appointed to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. His term expired last week, but he will serve until Connally appoints a successor.

Connally also hinted that he is considering running for a fourth term. He said, "My future action may be determined by what we accomplish during this session."

He declined to say where he stands on pari-mutuel horse race betting legislation or daylight saving time for Texas.

RACE ON
The horses bounded out of the legislative starting gate with record speed in the Senate.

Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns approved the measure to legalize horse race gambling in Texas by a six to five vote.

However, newsmen's polls indicate the bill lacks majority support in either house. Proponents virtually acknowledge that—but feel that their prospects are brighter than ever before.

Bill is sponsored by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg and Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville. House bill was referred to the Counties Committee.

Senate committee hearing featured arguments on tourist attraction and tax revenue value vs. moral and economic objections to legalized gambling regardless of its visitor appeal and tax potential.

APPOINTMENTS
Ned Price of Tyler, former Smith County judge, was re-appointed by the governor to a new six-year term on the State Board of Insurance.

Gov. Connally picked Corpus Christi oilman Laurence A. McNeil as new board member of Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville. He succeeds John Lynch of Houston, who resigned.

Bob G. Allen of Hamilton, a staff member for two years, was named acting director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, replacing Walter Richter, who resigned to join the federal War on Poverty.

Miss Bernice R. Johnson of Austin, secretary-treasurer of the Board of Nurse Examiners, was selected to serve on the 50-member U. S. Defense Department Advisory Committee on Women in the Services.

CONSUMER CREDIT CODE
A hard crackdown on certain firms offering credit is the recommendation by a governor's study committee on consumer finance.

Committee found that the public is being defrauded by such organizations as home-improvement firms and small-loan businesses. Governor's recommendation is that the state set up strict regulation of these businesses—all the way from banks and savings and loan associations down to retail merchants giving credit.

Code would set maximum credit charges, limit insurance required for credit transactions, make clear to consumers amount of credit or cash advances and all charges or pertinent data and prohibit deceptive advertising in the field.

Also included in the recommendations was altering the state statutory ceiling on interest rates which the various types of business may charge for credit.

PARK MONEY
Governor Connally's proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the sale of $75,000,000 in bonds for state park development was unopposed at its hearing before the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

Measure would provide that the bonds be paid off from entrance fees at the parks. Interest rate would not exceed six sponsored by Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews, would set up the commission and provide for a state Constitutional Convention in Austin in June, 1968. It also would give Connally authority to appoint 10 of the 25 members of the commission and call for a November election of 450 delegates.

Rep. Carl A. Parker of Beaumont also introduced a bill setting up the commission. But his would give the governor no more appointments than the speaker, the lieutenant governor and the chief justice of the supreme court.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston has introduced a Senate bill to create the commission with 45 members. The governor, speaker and lieutenant governor each would appoint 15 members under this measure.

FEED LOT LICENSING
Disagreement on a bill to regulate and license cattle feed lots marked a hearing before the House Committee on Livestock and Stock Raising. Disagreement is among cattlemen concerning its merits and a zoning committee members on whether to immediately approve it.

Bill sponsored by Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury, would require cattle feed lots with a capacity of more than 1,000 head of cattle to be licensed by the state and to meet state standards.

Motion to approve the bill without submitting it to a subcommittee came out with an 8-8 tie and was thus defeated. Lloyd Bergsma, representing the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association, testified on behalf of the bill. Three witnesses appeared to oppose it, asking for evidence that feed lots are a public nuisance.

POLLUTION STUDY WINDS UP
In its final report to the Legislature, an interim pollution study committee recommended controls of wastes from leaking oil wells, boats and septic tanks.

The proposals included more funds for the Railroad Commission to plug abandoned and leaking wells; salt water controls; state control of air and water pollution from commercial livestock feed lots; authority for river authorities to operate local and basinwide sewerage and waste disposal facilities; and creation of another study group with power to look into air and noise pollution and land use.

PARK BILL ADVANCED
Legislation to clear the way for establishing the $135,000,000 Guadalupe Mountains National Park was approved by the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns.

Same measure was heard by the House Parks and Wildlife Committee. Bill would deed certain state-owned lands in Culberson and Hudspeth Counties to the federal government with restrictions guaranteeing the state benefits from future mineral development in the area.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso and Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine are authors.

TAX IMPACT VARYING
Impact of optional city sales taxes would vary widely from town to town, according to a study made by the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

Committee said Baytown residents, for example, would pay a per capita average of $12.10 a year—while San Benito citizens would pay only $3.45. Other examples: Garland and Grand Prairie, $5.50; Pasadena, $8.45; Odessa, $7.55; Tyler, $11; and Temple, $8.25.

SHORT SNORTS
Six new public lakes, 819 miles of new highways and 18 new safety rest areas are making their debut on the 1967 Official State Highway Map published by the Texas Highway Department.

Texas Federation of Cooperatives, representing 75,000 farm families in Texas through various cooperative associations, held their 15th annual meeting in Austin with the Houston Bank for Cooperatives and the Texas Cooperatives Gainers Association.

Air pollution is becoming so dangerous that someday doctors will probably advise their patients to stop breathing it.

ELECTRIC CONDITIONED LIVING

Roger Babson Says—

Nation, Living Beyond Its Means, May Fall Into Financial 'Hot Water'

International Financial Problems

Babson Park, Mass.—Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1967 warned readers that some of the greatest dangers in 1967 might develop in the foreign economic field. With the first month of the year only now gone, it is possible to get a clearer glimpse of the likely trouble spots. Foremost among these are international financial difficulties. Strangely enough, the cause of these is to be found right here at home.

Living Beyond Our Means

A nation, just like a person, may fall into financial hot water. The citizen who spends more than he earns may get by for a while by adding to his current income from savings. But when he has exhausted his assets, he must either borrow, or cut back on his way of living. And if he borrows while continuing his unbalanced budget, it will not be long before his credit becomes worthless. Then he has to toe the line, or go bankrupt.

Since a nation is far more complex than an individual, it takes much longer before a country, living beyond its means, reaches the end of its financial rope. The U. S. still has a lot of that rope left. However, we do live in a community of Free World nations who subscribe to the capitalistic rules of earnings statements and balance sheets. Hence, our failure to live within our means as a body politic for 16 of the past 17 years is raising more suspicion among other nations.

Why Now?

Well, you say, if we have been getting away with such high living for such a long time, why should we run into big trouble in 1967? Why didn't we last year... or why not next year, perhaps? The answer lies in a bunching this year of unfavorable financial trends and attitudes in our relations with other nations of our Free World community.

First and foremost is the Viet war. With half a million men in Southeast Asia, we are forced to spend a great deal more for foreign materials... in Japan for instance. Additional defense outlays abroad for 1967 will run half a billion dollars above 1966. With air fares abroad sharply cut and the attraction of EXPO 67 in Montreal, U. S. tourists should add almost as much as the war to 1967 foreign spending. We may make some net gains from exports of goods; but with imports also tilting higher, with foreign investments likely to rise, and with lower interest rates in the U. S. raising doubt as to other countries' keeping their accounts here, our deficit in international payments for 1967 may hit $3 billion or more. This would follow last year's big bulge in our foreign-payments deficit of more than $1 billion.

Drawing The Line

It is no wonder that our Free World neighbors are moving ever closer to drawing a line around our international financial activities. This may be the year they will do it; for the opportunity exists in two cases. First, England must repay a billion dollars to the International Monetary Fund in December. Since the U. S. is in debt to the Fund, Great Britain cannot use dollars to meet her debt. She will have to use currencies of countries not in debt in the Fund. This will certainly embarrass the U. S. It will give France and her friends on the Continent a chance to "trade" with Washington; the Europeans will surely demand more say in running the IMF.

Second, Britain "wants in" on the Common Market. France's de Gaulle is making noises that sound like he does not want his neighbor admitted. But while the General talks about not letting England join, he is probably drawing up conditions for her admission. Among these may be a further revision of the International Monetary Fund's regulations... aimed at cutting down on both England's and the U. S.' power to dictate the Fund's policies. He figures: Why should the U. S. — a debtor to the IMF — have the biggest part in world money councils?

Best In Long Run

Of course any European moves to curb the U.S. spending spree abroad will be greeted by howls of dismay in Washington. The cry of "ingrate" will be hurled at France, Italy, Holland, etc. But—in the long run—our country may be thanking the Europeans for having saved the dollar from eventual unilateral devaluation.

Keeping Up With U. S. Growth

Babson Park, Mass. Spectacular postwar increases in our population and Gross National Product are creating great new problems to plague us. We have entered a technological age largely undreamed of as recently as 25 years ago. The question is: Will we be able to keep up with our growth, — or will it destroy us as a nation?

Tremendous Expansion

During the past 20 years, our population has climbed 41 percent. In the same interval—that is since 1946—personal incomes in the United States have soared 225 percent. Even allowing for the steady erosion in the dollar's buying power which occurred in the past two decades, we are today far, far better off incomewise than in 1946.

Our nation is also stronger economically than in that first year after the end of World War II. Our Gross National Product is now within a whisker of $740 billion a year, — up 255 percent from 1946. This is truly impressive evidence of our success in developing improved techniques leading to a more productive use of the vast resources of our country.

Stream Of New Inventions

Though still playing second fiddle to Russia in the space race, we have nevertheless chalked up our own impressive list of space firsts and have invented many devices and techniques which the Soviets are still striving to duplicate. In an unbelievably wide variety of fields, we have encouraged

Sheppard Inks—

(Continued from page 1) to pilot what he described as the "best crop of Tech freshmen footballers ever" during the 1966 season, said "thinking is toward starting Sheppard in an offensive guard spot" on the 1967 freshman team.

Sheppard is one of six players in this section of the state to be signed by Tech this week. Teaff said. The other boys are from school teams which did not play against the Winters Blizzards during the past season.

Sheppard is a three-year football letterman. He filled the guard spot on the Blizzard team, and wore the number "77" for three years. He was rarely out of the lineup for any of the games in the 1965 and 1966 seasons, and was named all-district guard, offense and defense, for his aggressive action during the 1966 season, and was one of eleven players to be picked for the all-area team in 1966, in the guard position.

Skip played basketball during his high school sophomore year, and was on the track team during his freshman, sophomore and junior years. He has played nothing but football in his senior year, but keeps in shape by working out at the gym regularly.

Sheppard caught the attention of scouts from a wide area for his high school football play, and inquiries regarding his availability as a college football player have come from many colleges, including Texas Western, McMurry College, Abilene Christian College, Sul Ross, Texas A. and M., University of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma State, University of Houston, New Mexico Highlands College at Las Vegas, and Ft. Lewis A. and M., Durango, Colo.

Sheppard has not made definite career plans, but at the start at Texas Tech will major in agriculture and minor in business administration.

Sheppard was a starting guard on the 1964 football team, along with Mike Patterson, who was on the Tech varsity squad this year.

IN HOGAN HOME

Week end visitors in the M. H. Hogan home were Mrs. Hogan's father, J. T. James, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. James of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Torrence of Merkel, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lowrey of New Home, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Heathcott of Wingate, their son, Mr. and Mrs. Winford Hogan and sons of Clyde.

thousands of inventors who have enriched our country and the world with their ideas. We have also been singularly adroit in putting these inventions to productive purpose.

What we have done, we can do again. America can remain in the forefront in the invention of new products and new methods of production. Additional ways will be found to make those new products and new production methods useful in advancing the American way of life. But such further progress is surely dependent upon our ability to prove true to that American way of life which was built on the idea of free enterprise.

Encourage Risk Capital

One way to preserve our heritage of free enterprise and to assure our continued progress and prosperity is to make certain that our laws, our federal, state, and local tax structures, and our over-all management-labor relations are such as to encourage—not discourage—inventors and businessmen to risk their time, their talents, and their capital.

Now nearly 200 million people strong, we must plan toward the day when—despite our slowing birth rate—we shall have 240 million or more. Growth of our potential domestic market is practically assured. We have proved we can develop technique or "know-how," and we have proved that such development is the key to increased productivity and to prosperity itself. But do we fully realize that new techniques to keep up with our growth will come only from men ureed on by the prospect of profit and backed financially by investors risking their capital because they have reasonable hope of making a net gain?

Fiscal Responsibility

If there is one single trait this nation stands more in need of than any other it is fiscal responsibility. As individuals we need to be resold on the idea of living within our means of jealously guarding our credit ratings, and of helping to provide for our own futures. As a nation, we need to be reminded that public funds are a public trust and that public expenditures and public receipts ought to be in longterm balance.

At all levels of government, there is need for sounder, better co-ordinated public service programs and tax policies. Right now, we are wasting billions of dollars in ill-timed, ill-planned projects, in careless and inefficient public administration, and in the management and funding of public debt.

OLD STONE FORT Nacogdoches

The Old Stone Fort standing on the campus of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches is generally believed to have been built during 1779 or 1780.

It has been held and garrisoned at various times by Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

It was truly an outpost in the wilderness!

Nacogdoches itself, one of the four oldest civilized settlements in Texas, was named for the Nacogdoches Indians. Here in 1716 the Spaniards established Mission Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe around whose deserted buildings Nacogdoches was permanently established in 1779.

"Under The Magnolias" was the decoration theme for the Sweetheart banquet given Saturday evening in the Fellowship Hall at the First Baptist Church. Approximately 80 attended.

Richard Craig of Howard-Payne College furnished the entertainment and gave a talk.

Sweetheart Banquet At Methodist Church Tuesday Evening

The Annual Sweetheart Banquet was held at the Methodist Church Tuesday night, February 14 with eighty youth, sponsors, and pastors present.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of two Sweetheart Queens. Miss Laura Lee Jones, of Ballinger, was crowned queen of the Junior High Department. Miss Kay Orr, of Winters, was crowned queen of the Senior High Department.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Winters First Methodist Church were the hosts to the youth group from the First Methodist Church in Ballinger. The youth designed, painted, and decorated the Fellowship Hall with a Cinderella theme. A large horse drawn carriage had been prepared and the four Queen contestants were helped out of the carriage by their escorts. The four queen nominations that had been selected were Miss Jan Green, and Miss Laura Lee Jones of Ballinger and Miss Jill Matthews and Miss Kay Orr of Winters.

Rev. Edward H. Orwell, pastor of the Methodist Church, made the presentation of the Queen nominations, and crowned the two queens.

Bennie Brink, Choir and Youth director of the First Baptist Church gave the entertainment, and Rev. Dean Franklin, pastor of the Eastern Hills Methodist Church, Ft. Worth was the featured speaker. The meal was catered by the Fireside Restaurant and served by the MYF Mothers.

Word is out that one chosen speaker for a college graduation ceremony will urge the grads to go out into the world and accept its biggest challenge—finding a parking place.

Scott and White Hospital Toured By Food Handlers

About 100 supervisors, managers and cooks of Texas School Food Service from the entire state, met in Temple Friday and Saturday for an executive board meeting.

A tour was conducted by the head dietitian of Scott and White Hospital. First the group was taken through the kitchen, storage space and cafeteria, then to the different floors of the hospital, showing how the food is elevated through the dumb waiters and carried to the patients.

Those attending from Runnels County were Mrs. Mary Cervenka, Ballinger, Mrs. Betty Brown and Mrs. J. B. Whitlow, Winters.

Plans were made for the next executive board meeting in Austin in June, and the National School Food Service Convention to be held in July at Dallas.

"Marco the Magnificent"

The spectacular adventure drama, "Marco the Magnificent" is inspired by the almost incredible journey made in the 13th century by the young Venetian, Marco Polo, from Venice to the domains of the Emperor of China—the boldest traveler the world has ever known.

When the real Marco Polo, together with his father, Nicolo, and uncle, Maffeo, returned to Venice in the year 1295, after a 24-year sojourn in the land of Kublai Khan, they gave a big banquet for their relatives and friends. At each course they appeared in a different robe, one more magnificent than the other.

"The Appaloosa"

Marlon Brando is given a new arena for his protean talents in Universal's "The Appaloosa," in which his co-stars are Anjanette Comer, John Saxon and Emilio Fernandez. The film shows Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

Brando reaches the Technicolor screen in the role of a saddle tramp, bone weary of life as a buffalo hunter on the open range, who aspires to settling down on a ranch as a horse breeder.

Although the film, based on Robert MacLeod's best-seller novel of the same name, has a traditional western setting, it is primarily a human drama, only by chance encompassed within an outdoor framework.

"The Ten Commandments"

Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," epic spectacle dramatizing the life of Moses, will begin a "command performance" engagement at the State Theatre, showing Sunday and Monday.

The Paramount presentation, acknowledged as the masterwork of master showman DeMille, is the most widely-acclaimed and most successful motion picture in history. The "command performance," arranged in response to an unprecedented public demand.

"The Ten Commandments" has a superb cast of stars headed by Charlton Heston, Yul Brynner, Anne Baxter, Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

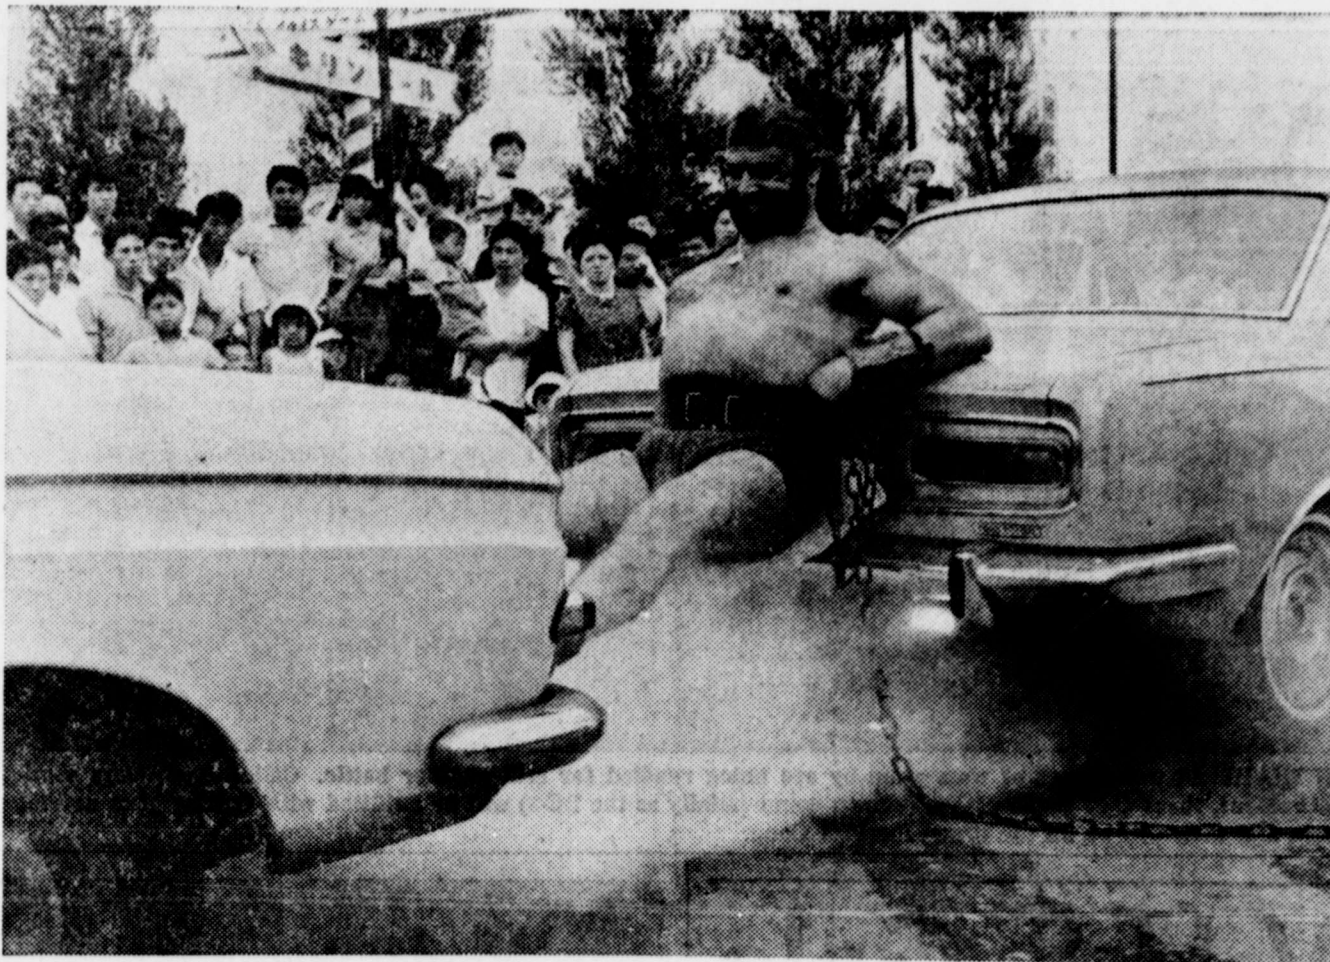

DeMille's epic spectacle is the biggest motion picture of all time — 10 years in planning, three years in writing, two years in actual production. The record cast, the biggest ever assembled for a single film, numbers more than 25,000. The Paramount presentation in Vista Vision and Technicolor was made on location in Egypt at places described in the Bible.

The awesome dramatization of the life of Moses presents such spectacular sequences as the Plagues, the building of an Egyptian treasure city, the parting of the Red Sea, the Burning Bush, and Moses receiving the Lord's Commandments on Mt. Sinai.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

Cherry Flan:

What a flavored spot cherries rate on Feb. menus for they are traditionally associated with George Washington, whose birthday launches any midwinter festivities.

And what is a flan? Mrs. O'Connor states that flan, pie, tart or tarte are all names for an open or single crust pastry. The words "tart" (or tarte) and "flan" are often used interchangeably in England and France to designate a pastry filled with fruit, custard, or some other filling.

In the U. S., the term most often used for this confection is open or single crust "pie," while a tart is the name for a miniature pie. The French call this little pastry a tartelette.

In this country, almost all such dishes are cooked and served in a pie dish, while in England and France a metal flan or pastry ring, placed on a metal baking sheet, is most often used as a base for the tart or flan.

For these pastries as for American pie, the type of pastry used may be short, ordinary, pastry, sweet pastry, semi-flaky pastry or puff pastry.

These pastries, or crusts, may be baked empty and filled later; or the filling and crust may be baked together.

However, it is made or whatever it is named—a pastry crust filled with a satisfying bright red cherry sauce is sure to be a hit.

For your flan, select canned red tart pitted cherries. And you can expect a high color and good flavor from canned cherries that have earned U. S. Grade A or U. S. fancv. Many processors use this grading service of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service as means of establishing quality control of their pack.

Canned red tart pitted cherries of the top USDA grade must possess a good color, be free from pits, practically free from defects, have a good character, possess a normal flavor and score not less than 90 points.

Also, you can be sure the cherries will be a good size as the pack may contain no more than 5 percent, by count, of cherries that are less than 9-16ths inch in diameter.

How quickly you can bake this cherry flan. Bake it in the oven at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. This recipe yields 12 servings.

For the crust—a short dough—use 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 pound butter, 1 large egg, 1 cup flour. Cream sugar and butter; beat in egg. Scrape bowl; add flour. Mix at low speed until blended. Roll out lightly on floured surface to 14 inch diameter. Place inside 10 inch spring pan. Turn up sides to form edge. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 15-20 minutes. To make filling, use 1-2 cup cherries, drained, 1 1-2 cups cherry juice plus water, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, sugar to taste. Heat juice to boiling, reserving 1-2 cup to mix with cornstarch. Stir cornstarch juice paste into heated juice.

About sixty attended with guests from Coleman, Ballinger and Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Isidro Lopez were in charge of arrangements.
