This week—February 18-25—is "Future Farmers of America Week" in Texas, so proclaimed by Governor John Connally.

So the following report of activities of Winters FFA Chapter—which holds the Number 1 charter in the State of Texas—is appropriate and in order:

The livestock show circuit for the Winters FFA Chapter has been bright this year. Beginning with the State Fair of Texas in Dallas in October, local Future Farmers started things in a winning way. In the Suffolk wether class of the Lamb Show, Allen Mills exhibited the first place lamb, while David Carroll Jr., a first year feeder, was close behind in the 3rd spot. In the Shropshire Class, it was a Winters sweep all the way, with Charles Brown showing the first and second place lambs. Jim Morrow was close behind in 4th place and David Carroll exhibited the 5th place lamb. Other placings in the Lamb Show at the State Fair included a 4th in the Hampshire Crossbred class, shown by Jim Morrow, 14th Southdown shown by Carroll, and 8th place Shropshire shown by Allen Mills.

Also, the Winters group was presented the Herdsman Award. This award is open to all Chapters and 4-H Clubs in the show. It is judged on appearance of the livestock, neatness of the pens, attractiveness of the exhibits, and cooperation by exhibitors.

In the Market Steer Show, Dennis McBeth showed his calf to a blue ribbon. The steer, an 830-pound Angus, was graded choice by Dr. O. A. Butler of Texas A. and M., who judged the Market Steer Show.

Livestock shows took a back seat for a while for the Winters Chapter, as work on leadership contests became more concentrated. At the District Leadership contest held in Coleman Nov. 22, Winters teams won two firsts and one second. Winning first places were the Junior Chapter Conducting team and the Farm Radio team. The Senior Chapter Conducting team placed second. At the Area IV contests in Stephenville Dec. 2, the Senior Chapter Conducting team was third, and the Junior Chapter Conducting team stood fourth. Members of those teams were: Junior Chapter team—Randy Sneed, president; Gary Antilley, vice president; Lanham Bishop, sentinel; Rex Harsham, reporter; Johnny Cathey, treasurer; Johnny Pritchard, secretary; and David Carroll, advisor. President—Ronald Presley, secretary—Allen Mills, reporter—Allen Andrae, sentinel—Larry Pritchard, treasurer; Larry Donica, secretary; Dick McNeill, advisor.

At the District Talent Contest, held in conjunction with the District Awards banquet, the Winters team won first place. This instrumental group is composed of Jackie Bean, Ray Guevara, Robert Sherman and Rex Harrison. They will compete in the Area IV Talent Contest later this spring.

The Abilene stock Show was next on the agenda, and it was another good show for Winters FFA members.

In the Lamb Show, Allen Mills was the first place heavyweight fine-wool lamb. This lamb was later named Champion Fine-wool Lamb of the show. In the Southdown class, David Carroll showed the first place and Champion Southdown Lamb. Jim Morrow was backing David up by placing 2nd in the Southdowns.

In the Barrow Show at Abilene, Steve and Mike Smith of Winters had the first place Lightweight Berkshire and Champion Berkshire barrow. Also, Steve and Mike showed the second place heavyweight Duroc and the third place heavyweight Hampshire barrow.

In Fort Worth for the Southwestern Livestock Exposition, Tommy and Garry Antilley, who are both FFA and 4-H members, had the Champion and Reserve Champion Hereford Steer carcasses. Bob Colburn, another 4-H and FFA member, had the Reserve Champion Shorthorn on Hoof, and first place Senior Calf in the Red Angus Division.

In the Pig Show at Fort Worth, Larry Donica had the first place medium-weight

Lloyd and Davis Are Candidates For School Board

Raymond Lloyd, incumbent member of the board, and Willis Davis, who farms northwest of Winters, filed Wednesday as candidates to fill two vacancies on the board of trustees of the Winters Independent School District.

School board election will be Saturday, April 1, with voting to be held at the office of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

Terms of office of two school board members expires this year. Raymond Lloyd, secretary of the board, completes his present term of office. Audra L. Mitchell, the other board member who finishes his term of office, has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection.

County Will Get $156,808 School Fund For Children

Congressman Omar Burlison notified The Enterprise Wednesday morning that a grant totaling $156,808 had been made by the Office of Education to the State to help 969 Rannels County children in low income families, under provisions of Title I, Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

It is not known how this amount will be apportioned among the several schools of the county. Winters Superintendent of Schools Robert Christian said he had received no notification of this grant, and had no idea how much would be allocated to the Winters schools.

Co-Op Gin Meet Set For Friday In School Cafe

A meeting to study formation of a cotton gin cooperative has been planned for Friday night, Feb. 24, at the Winters school cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Interested farmers and other persons are invited to attend the meeting.

Nelan Bahlman Is Candidate For City Council

Nelan Bahlman, owner of Bahlman Cleaners, has formally signed as a candidate for alderman in the City Election to be held April 4.

A mayor and two aldermen will be elected at the annual election.

There now is one candidate for the office of mayor—Wade White, incumbent alderman who completes his present term of office in April—and two candidates for the two vacancies on the council—E. E. Vaughan, who filed two weeks ago, and Bahlman.

Bahlman has lived in Winters and operated a dry cleaning business here for several years. He is a past vice president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and was named some time ago as chairman of the Winters Housing Authority, and is on the board of directors of the Winters Lions Club.

Allen Mills Shows Lamb To Top Honors At Santone

The Winters chapter of the Future Farmers of America was well represented at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition which ended this past week end.

Allen Mills, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Mills of Winters, led the Winters charge by exhibiting the first place heavy weight Crossbred in the Junior Lamb Show. This lamb was later named Champion Crossbred of the Junior Show, and then defeated the open show Crossbred Champion for Grand Championship honors.

The 104-pound lamb was a Hampshire cross which came from the flock of Hamilton Choate of Olney. In the premium sale which was held Friday, Feb. 17, HEB Food Stores purchased the lamb for the handsome price of $1,000.

In other classes in the Junior Lamb Show at San Antonio, other Winters Future Farmers placed well. Charles Brown exhibited the second place heavy-weight Hampshire, followed by Jim Morrow in sixth place. Jim also showed the fourth place lightweight Southdown. In the Lightweight Crossbred class, Allen Mills' lamb placed sixth.

This was one of the largest lamb shows in the history of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition. In the Junior Show, in which only 4-H and FFA members participated, approximately 1400 entries were accepted. The open show totaled 235 entries, for a combined total of 1635 lambs.

Direct Dialing For Winters Phoners Sept. 10

September 10, 1967 is the target date, according to an announcement by the Southwestern States Telephone Company, a division of General Telephone serving Winters.

Direct distance dialing (DDD) is now scheduled for all Winters customers Sept. 10. A. M. Chappell, division manager said. Along with the changeover to DDD will come a change in telephone numbers for local subscribers, he said.

In order to provide this new service, it will be necessary to replace the present central office equipment with new DDD equipment, Chappell said. For several weeks contractors have been working on additions to the central phone office building on North Main Street, and it is expected that construction will be completed by May 15. Then the changeover in equipment will begin.

The division manager said the company is notifying business customers in Winters of the anticipated changeover and the telephone number change that will be made effective with the DDD conversion. Business customers will be furnished their new telephone numbers approximately two months in advance of the actual change. Chappell said, so that they may make necessary changes in stationary and advertising. A direct distance dialing directory will be published to coincide with the conversion, he said.

Direct distance dialing will enable Winters telephone customers to dial their own long distance calls with only a minimum of assistance from the long distance operators.

Richard Puckett On Dean's List At McMurry College

Richard Puckett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney C. Puckett, was on the Dean's list for the fall semester at McMurry College in Abilene. His grade point was 4.0 and he ranked in the top 10 of the student body.

Puckett is a member of the McMurry Indians varsity team. He is a graduate of Winters High School and was an outstanding member of the Blizzardette football team, and took active part in other school activities.

Petitions Out On Water District

Another step and a more definite one has been taken toward creation of a water control district on Elm Creek and its tributaries.

At a meeting last Thursday night of the steering committee appointed to study the possibilities of formation of a water control district and to begin work on organization, committee members voted to make application to the proper Federal agencies for assistance (under Public Law 566) in the project, and also voted to "proceed to create the Elm Creek Water Control District."

The steering committee for the proposed Elm Creek Water Control District will meet Friday evening, Feb. 24, at 7:30 at the Winters City Hall, W. M. Hays, chairman of the committee, has announced.

Those members of the committee and others who have been circulating petitions called for the creation of the district are asked to return the petitions by the time of the meeting so that certain legislative deadlines can be met.

Representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, present at the meeting last week, will prepare applications for Federal assistance, and the steering committee will ask the State Legislature for special legislation creating the District.

Petitions are being circulated in the areas which would make up the District. These petitions will be forwarded to the Legislature along with the request for the special legislation.

The request for assistance and the request for legislation will be for a "multiple-purpose" project, which would cover land treatment, flood prevention, agricultural water management, municipal and industrial water supply, recreation, fish and wildlife, and rural area development.

Appointment of the special steering committee to head the proposed project is the outgrowth of a meeting of Winters and Ballinger citizens and other Rannels County residents several weeks ago to study possibilities of obtaining a joint water supply for the two towns and the county.

It was pointed out at the meeting last week that if the water control district is approved and formed as proposed, it would be similar to the Valley Creek Water Control District in the western part of the county, with the addition of a municipal water supply. There are 20 water retention structures planned for the Valley Creek district, with eleven of them now completed.

It was also pointed out at the meeting last week that if the Elm Creek district is formed cost of construction of water retention structures on the main creek and its tributaries would be paid for through Federal Soil Conservation Service funds. Only the cost of planning, survey and maintenance of the structures would be borne by the district. In the event a municipal water supply project is approved, such as a larger dam and lake to furnish water for Winters and Ballinger, cost would be borne by the two towns with the Soil Conservation Service paying for a portion to be used for water control.

Soil Conservation specialists said that two "multiple-purpose" projects, as proposed for the Elm Creek area, have been formed in this section of the state, at Brady and Coleman.

Winters Lions Endorse Water Control District

In an apparent enthusiastic community-progress spirit, the Winters Lions Club Tuesday voted to endorse the proposed creation of an Elm Creek Water Control District.

Then members of the local service club clinched their endorsement of the proposed project by voting overwhelmingly to assist in underwriting the preliminary cost of creating the district.

W. M. Hays, chairman of the steering committee which is working for creation of the water control district, explained the proposal to Lions Club members and circulated one of the petitions which are being signed by residents of the area to be encompassed by the proposed district.

Water Control Movie To Show At Bradshaw

Clarence Ledbetter, a member of the steering committee working to form a water control district on Elm Creek and its tributaries, has announced that a movie explaining the value of such control districts will be shown at the Bradshaw Methodist Church Tuesday, Feb. 28.

The meeting and showing of the movie will begin at 7:30 p. m. Members of the Soil Conservation Service will be on hand to answer questions and to explain the importance and workings of water control districts.

All farmers and ranchers and other interested citizens of the area have been invited to attend this meeting.

Junior Culture To Sponsor Movie At Theatre March 4

Winters Junior Culture Club will sponsor a movie "Judith" in Technicolor and two color cartoons at the State Theatre Saturday March 4, from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock, it has been announced.

The entire proceeds from the show will be given to Winters Library. Admission for children will be 25 cents and adults 50 cents.

Roger Babson Says

More Than a Million Families Now Own Some Sort of Mobile Home

Babson Park, Mass. Expositions displaying the latest in mobile homes and recreational vehicles of all types have been popping up all over the country. And never before has the general public showed so much interest in this specialized form of transportation. Well over a million families now depend on such vehicles, sometimes just for week ends and vacations, sometimes for full-time portable homes.

Wander-Bug Is Biting Hard

The trend toward more mobility in living has long been on the increase, but in the past few years the epidemic of the wander-bug has been spreading more rapidly. The big switch is in full swing from the simple convenience of auto travel to the more complicated comforts of trailers, tent-camping units, pick-up coach campers, and mobile homes. So far, trailers are still the most popular, since the auto can be unhitched and used separately. But motorized homes, with the compact conveniences of a small dwelling, are gaining steadily.

Sales of recreational vehicles during 1966 smashed all previous records.

vious records, moving ahead almost 50,000 over 1965 to reach a grand total of more than 314,500 units. There is every reason to expect continuing advances over the years immediately ahead. Better highways, rising incomes, desire to see new parts of the country, increasing availability of suitable camping facilities, and the economical aspects of such modes of travel, —all mean more interest in portable homes.

Countryside Adapting To These Vehicles

The trailer rash brought quick emergence of overnight and longer-term parks and camping sites equipped with water, electricity, and other necessities. Many were privately operated, established to capitalize on the swelling migration of trailers. Recently, arrangements for recreation-vehicle sites have been greatly stepped up because of the freshet of new families on the go.

It is estimated that there are currently over 1,400 privately owned parks in the U.S. where recreational vehicles can put up for the night or longer. In the past five years the federal government has opened 41 additional camp sites under the aegis of the National Park Service. This brings to a total of 1,700 the number of such camps run by the government alone. Since vacation-vehicle visits to all parks have skyrocketed from 86,680,000 in 1961 to 137,000,000 during the past year, it is inevitable that there will be speedy efforts to make more localities available in the immediate future. Expo 67, opening at Montreal, Canada, in April, reports 3,000 camp sites already completed in that general vicinity with work in progress or in early prospect on about a thousand more.

More Innovations In Mobile Homes

Both trailers and self-contained motorized homes are now building in a great many features that were once optional, —and extra. People want them, and would prefer, generally, to have them already installed when they buy the vehicle instead of having to go through a dickering deal. More firms are including lavatories, pressure pumps, hot water heaters, carpeting, thermostats, complete insulation, —and some, even bathtubs! Also, demand is growing for larger structures, permitting more room for luxury equipment and storage.

Prices are not exorbitant, everything considered. Some mobile homes on truck chassis are being offered for prices somewhat less than $4,000. The average cost of this kind of transport-home not too many years ago was about $12,000. At present, there is evolving a demand that allows greater production, a situation which has always led to more reasonable prices. Even with labor and materials costs at very high levels, stepped-up output can be expected to reduce retail prices for mobile homes, — or at least to keep them at attractive levels. This will certainly add to the growing popular desire for "a home on wheels."

Free-World Crisis In Education

Babson Park, Mass. The Poverty and hunger that grip so many of the free nations of the world cannot be permanently allayed without sufficient education. It is important not only for children to be taught their letters and their sums, but youngsters must also be kept in school long enough to learn discipline and valuable skills.

School Problems Here At Home

Many authorities on education are disturbed by the lack of progress made in the United States toward bringing equal and adequate education to all of our boys and girls. Earlier this year, Congress was sufficiently impressed to pass legislation providing new aids to education. The drop-out problem has been carefully studied, and the fact emphasized that drop-outs make far less when they go to work than do graduates, — and that their learning, power, motivation, and adaptability are likely to be sadly lacking.

But we in the U. S. are at least sharply aware of the value of basic education, and we are determined to do all that we can to better our schools and universities. This country spent some $39 billion on education last year, recognizing that only through training our young can Washing rules for pots and pans—how to keep most metal utensils clean.

Aluminum cooking utensils should be washed thoroughly in hot soap or detergent suds, then rinsed with hot water. Use fine steel wool and suds to remove food which has stuck to the surface; on spun aluminum, scrub parallel to the lines of the design. If food is burned on, soak the utensil for about 15 minutes in warm suds; then scrape the surface with a wooden spoon or rubber scraper. All aluminum utensils should be sudsed, rinsed, and dried each time they are used — even if only for boiling water — because the minerals in water and foods cause pitting if not removed promptly.

To brighten darkened aluminum, boil for a few minutes with a solution of two teaspoons cream of tartar to a quart of water. Then wash in hot suds, rinse with hot water, and polish with a soft cloth. Inside discoloration can also be removed by using the pan to cook tomatoes, rhubarb, apples, or other acid foods. Avoid cooking eggs in aluminum vessels, since this causes quick discoloration.

Wash aluminum foil in warm suds after use, rinse in warm water, pat dry with a soft cloth, and smooth it flat or roll it up for re-use.

Chromium utensils should be washed with a soft sponge or cloth and hot suds. After rinsing polish to a high gloss with a soft dry cloth. Never use scouring powder, steel wool, or a brush on chrome because the soft surface will wear off if treated harshly.

Copper utensils should be washed in hot soap or detergent suds, rinsed with hot water, then polished dry with a soft cloth. A little ammonia added to the suds will help to remove stains or corroded spots. Or, after washing and drying, rub spots with lemon and salt and then suds again. If the bottom surface becomes stained from heat, apply a commercial copper-cleaner and wash again. Laquered copper should be washed quickly without soaking, using warm suds. Then rinse and wipe dry.

Iron cooking utensils — unless labeled as pre-treated—should be seasoned for rust resistance when new. To do this, first scour each piece with a household cleanser on a sponge or cloth; however never use steel wool on iron. Then wash thoroughly in hot soap or detergent suds, rinse with hot water, and wipe it dry right away. Finally, spread melted vegetable shortening or unsaltbe assured cultural, social, and economic advancement for all our citizens. And we are not likely to permit outlays for defense or space projects or foreign aid to slow our expansion of educational plant and teaching manpower.

Tragic Comparisons Abroad

The statistics on developing free nations make our worries appear trivial, until we realize that peace and liberty will be ensured for all of us only if our brothers in those countries learn to provide for themselves and keep themselves free. Education is the essential lever for this. Yet it is estimated that more than a quarter of a billion children from 5 to 14 years of age in the developing nations of Asia, Africa, and Latin America will not have gone to school at all in 1966. Add to this the bitter fact that about half the adult population in these non-Communist parts of the earth—amounting to nearly 750 million—cannot read or write.

Reports from the United Nations indicate that there has been an increase of approximately 200 million in the total of the world's illiterates in the past six years, probably due mostly to population growth. Even this figure is considered by demographic experts to be optimistic. They point out that struggling countries want to make their educational picture look as bright as possible, —so many of the estimates may well be below the actual totals.

Long, Hard Road Ahead

Some idea as to the desparateness of the school situation, even in some of the more ambitious free nations, may be gathered from the fact that India expended only the equivalent of $17.6 million on education during the latest year of record. Compare that with our own $39 billion in 1965. For the Indian child, this means a per-pupil outlay of perhaps 32 cents annually—barely money enough to pay for books and teachers for the few children who actually do get to school!

Statistics show too that about 132 million young Indians are not getting any formal education at all. And, all the time, India's population is soaring upward by at least 12 million annually. Some idea of the enormity of the problem may be gained from the knowledge that India's gross national income in 1963 was only $32 billion, less than the United States lays out for education alone.

ed vegetable oil over the entire inside of the utensil and its cover, using a pastry brush or paper toweling. Heat the piece for two or three hours in a 250 degree oven or over low heat on top of the range. It may need two such treatments before use and possibly a third if it is inclined to rust.

Daily care consists of washing ironware with hot suds and rinses promptly after use. Dry carefully and thoroughly to prevent rust. If food sticks to the surface, soak for 10 to 15 minutes in warm suds; then scrape with a wooden spoon or rubber scraper. If it becomes necessary to scour with cleanser, it will need to be seasoned again. Any utensil which is to be stored for some time, should first be coated with unsalted vegetable oil or shortening.

Pewter should be washed in warm suds, rinsed, and polished with a soft cloth. If very old pieces become spotted, soak them in a strong solution of lye for 15 minutes, remove with tongs, scrub with a stiff brush dipped into suds, rinse with hot water, and polish dry with a soft cloth. Repeat this treatment, if necessary. If a pewter piece is heavily tarnished, first wash it in hot suds, rinse, and dry it. Then cover it with silver polish and, while still wet, apply a thick soap or detergent lather. Rinse in hot water and polish dry with a soft cloth.

Silver, either sterling or plated, should be washed with hot suds and rinses after each use to delay tarnishing. While still warm, buff it dry with a soft towel. When polishing is necessary, first wash and dry each piece; then apply polish, working lengthwise on flatware and following the contours of hollowware. Let the polish dry and then rub the silver to a high gloss with a soft cloth or chamois. Finally wash it again in hot suds, rinse with hot water, and buff it dry with a soft cloth.

Stainless steel should be washed in hot suds promptly after use to maintain its luster. Rinse with hot water and dry thoroughly because moisture left on the surface causes a cloudy film. If food deposits stick to utensils, soak them in warm suds; then scrub with a cloth, sponge, or fiber brush. If this metal becomes dull with use, scrub gently with a fine abrasive to restore its luster. If brownish or varicolored "heat-tints" appear on the bottom of pots and pans, rub at once with a fine abrasive; then wash in hot suds, rinse with hot water, and dry. To avoid such marks, cook at moderate heat.

Tin utensils need only washing in hot soap suds and rinse, plus thoroughly drying. Tin absorbs heat better as it develops a bluish tone and becomes dull with use. Do not try to scour.

Senior Guidance Period

Monday, February 13, the senior guidance period was held at 9:30. It seems much emphasis is placed upon college, but approximately one half of the graduating seniors do not attend college. Not every high school graduate should attend college. The film "If You Do Not Plan To Attend College" was shown. Mrs. Harrison, the counselor, pointed out to the students that one does not have to attend college in order to lead a happy useful life. The film showed many occupations for persons not attending college.

WHS New Student

Winters High students welcomed a new student to its old halls at mid-term. A member of the sophomore class, Beverly Frick's friends call her Bev. During the short time she has been here, she has answered many questions about . . .
 . . . WHS students and teachers. "They're real friendly. Everything as a whole, including the grading system, the teachers, and the homework, is easier." . . . the school she attended before coming to Winters, Charles M. Russell High School in Great Falls, Montana. The total enrollment varied between one thousand and one thousand, five hundred students. . . . the town of Winters, "This is the friendliest town I've ever been in." . . . the students, "No one wears socks here, and everyone wore them all year 'round in Montana." According to Bev, "ya'll" is rarely heard in Montana, instead the word is "you guys." In Montana the girls wear more slacks than they do here, but never to school. We are very glad to welcome Bev to WHS and we hope she likes it here.

Jane Eyre Viewed By Students

"Jane Eyre" was the title of the film by the WHS students Tuesday, February 14. The film, shown fifth and sixth periods in conjunction with the English classes, starred Joan Fontaine and Orson Wells, with a score of minor characters.

Faculty Drowns Seniors

The high school gym was the scene of the annual intra-school basketball games last Tuesday. Starting off, the fourth period P.E. boys were downed by the first period boys P.E. class. The junior class literally slaughtered the sophomore class. Jim Vaughan was high point. The juniors left the court with a rousing rah-rah. Juniors. Then, in other action, the faculty downed the senior boys. High point man was Coach Bill Grissom, however, the seniors maintain that referee Alvin Dunn deserves this honor.

Tribute To a Patriot

Miss Leva Reagan has been a teacher in Winters for the past two years. She has made many friends in Winters High. Last Thursday the rumble of our school was silenced as the news spread of the death of her brother in Viet Nam. Though we may, perhaps, still be too young, too carefree to really realize the true meaning of this loss, our hearts sincerely go out to Miss Reagan and her family.

In a few days the flags of town will hang below the top of their staffs and will seem to symbolize compassion, more than the usual pride. Rex Reagan will come home down these flag draped streets; and never again will he leave.

Let us take a moment of our time and review those things that Rex has given his all for. Let us take a long and a hard look—and then thank God for such men. And when we next glance up at the stars and stripes dancing in the breeze vow that, forever, shall it symbolize those high ideas that he has given his life for; that his death will not have been in vain.

NHS Elects Moore President

Meeting Monday, February 13, the National Honor Society of Winters High School selected Sylvia Moore as president. Dan Kratz was elected vice-president and Phyllis Awalt secretary. Also attending the meeting were the prospective new members, eight juniors and two seniors. Sponsor is Mr. Jake Joyce, principal.

State Capital Highlights—

Senate Committee Endorses City Sales Tax By Local Option

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Texans may be a lot closer than they think to paying city sales taxes. But, in any event, they will have the final say at the local level.
A bill to permit authorization of a one-per-cent sales and use tax by cities, where voters approve, received a Senate Committee endorsement. It didn't find such a warm welcome in a House Committee.

Floor consideration is likely in both houses within a short time, say legislative leaders.

Texas AFL-CIO headed the opposition in committee hearings, while Texas Municipal League paraded mayor after mayor to testify that the property tax — standby revenue source of municipalities — is overworked. Texas State Association of Fire-fighters and Texas Municipal Police Association spokesmen, pushing for better fire-police pay and benefits, supported the mayors.

Here is what will happen if this bill is passed:
City councils can call elections on whether the levy is to be authorized—or wait to be petitioned for an election.

If local voters say "no," there will be no local sales tax for at least two years in that community.

If they approve, an extra one per cent will be added to the two per cent state sales tax on covered items (but not automobiles) in the city. State comptroller will collect total three per cent tax, turning a third over to the city hall.

If citizens get to feeling over-taxed, they can get up a petition and call another election to throw out local sales taxation.

MONEY BILLS PASS, FAIL
Gov. John Connally's emergency appropriations request, which included $5,500,000 for the state's exhibit at San Antonio's HemisFair '68, won final passage and was signed into law after weathering a Senate filibuster.

A few days later, the House refused 116 to 19 to suspend its rules to permit consideration of the Senate's $15,000,000 interim pay raise bill for state employees. However, House Speaker Ben Barnes promised to encourage an interim raise after the general budget is approved.

INDUSTRIAL BONDS
Texas is losing ground in the industrial - expansion race among the states. So say Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake and Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. And to get into the ball game, the state needs a new program for statewide industrial financing.

Thus the two have introduced bills in their respective chambers calling for a Constitutional Amendment to authorize a municipal revenue bond program, wherein cities can issue bonds to build facilities for luring new industry. Bonds would be retired by lease revenue paid to the cities.

"Texas is in a favorable competitive position in regard to raw materials, transportation, labor, industrial sites, recreational facilities and all the other industrial location factors which are considered by industry as vital to industrial development, except an industrial financing program," Clayton said, in urging passage of his bill.

WATER BILLS
Public notice by publication of new or amended rulings of the Texas Water Rights Commission would be eliminated by a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Menton J. Murray of Harlingen. Bill also would dissolve the three water divisions in the state.

Another bill by Murray would cut from four to two the number of publications required on an application for appropriation of water.

DRIVERS BILLS
Modernization of Texas' license plates and driver's licenses would be accomplished by a pair of bills introduced in the House by Reps. Milton Schiller of Cameron and Dick Cory of Victoria.

Cory's bill would provide for a color photograph of the licensee on the driver's license. Persons under 21 years of age would be issued different-colored licenses. Proof of birth date and fingerprints would be required on the applications.

A bill by Schiller calls for reflectorized license plates. Motorists would pay the added 30 cents cost per plate.

COMMUNITY CENTERS
Three bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives to establish community mental health-retardation centers and implement the recommendations of the Department of MHMR.
Speaker Barnes sent to the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments the resolution to change the Constitution in order to create the centers. Bill to permit the state to help finance them and a bill to aid in setting them up were sent to the Committee on MHMR.

GUADALUPE PARK BILL MOVES ON

Senate approved 30-1 bill to insure creation of $13,500,000 Guadalupe Mountains National Park in Culberson and Huddell Counties.

House Parks and Wildlife Committee already had cleared the bill for House floor debate. Sen. Joe Christi of El Paso and Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine are sponsors.

Measure conveys to the federal government all mineral rights in the 71,000-acre area including Guadalupe Peak. Amendments would provide for reclaiming minerals if the area is dropped as a national park and the sharing of royalties if the federal government develops the natural resources.

BLUE LAW PROPOSED
A new twist to the old Sunday "blue laws" is proposed in a bill by Rep. Billy Williamson of Tyler. It would levy an occupation tax on persons selling or renting personal property on Sunday.

Actually, the tax would be so rough as to prohibit Sunday sales. It would be at the rate of 10 per cent of the receipts from the sale or rental, with some deductions provided. Anyone violating the measure would be fined not less than $25 nor more than $500 for each violation.

BANK CHECK EXPANDED
Texas Banking Department announced plans to expand routine examination procedures to include direct verification of customers' deposit and loan balances in state-chartered banks.

Examiners would mail verification forms to bank customers whose accounts are selected on a random sampling basis. Customers would be asked to verify deposit or loan balance indicated.

OIL ALLOWABLE
State Railroad Commission cut the oil allowable to 35.7 per cent of potential for March.

Cut was almost a full percentage point from the 36.5 per cent in February and nearly two per cent below the 37.5 per cent factor for January.

Producers can draw 3,147,541 barrels of oil a day next month, or 45,692 barrels daily below this month.
A reduction from February to March is the usual practice. March allowable this year is higher than the 33.2 per cent of March, 1966.

AG RULES
Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held that chiropractic services are not included in the medical assistance act of 1967.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: Texas Liquor Control Board can issue a liquor-transport permit to an airline holding a Civil Aeronautics Board certificate of public convenience and necessity. Bosque County commissioners have authority to determine whether county officers (other than law enforcement officers) are to be paid on a fee or a salary basis. Savings and Loan Associations do not qualify as county depositories. The Chancery of the Galveston-Houston Roman Catholic Church Diocese is exempt from property tax.

COURTS SPEAK
A district court ruling that the constitutional amendment to require annual voter registration is invalid because the issue was not spelled out clearly on the November election ballot will be argued on March 15. Third Court of Civil Appeals will hear the State's arguments.

In a Lampasas County case, the Third Court held a free rider (guest) in an auto must show gross negligence on the part of the driver before suit for injury damages can be maintained.

SHORT SNORTS
Texas' seventh water bond sale totaling $15,000,000 is slated March 1. Interest on $85,000,000 in bonds issued by Texas Water Development Board to date averages 3.18 per cent.

Named by Connally to the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners were Dr. Ray L. Shepperd of Burnet, Mrs. Katherine McKinney of Nacoches, Mrs. Martha Queen of Weatherford, Mrs. Bernice Harris of Galveston and Miss Petra Rojas of Harlingen.

Senators approved a bill granting free college tuitions to Texas Vietnam veterans.
Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, announced that Major W. J. Elliott, commander of the DPS Central Texas division headquartered in Waco, will retire February 28.

Senate Jurisprudence Committee has favorably reported a bill by Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth which would prohibit discrimination in state and local government.

Immediate construction of Cooper Dam and Reservoir and authorization of dams on Bois d'Arc Creek and Cypress Creek—all three in Northeast Texas—were recommended by Joe G. Moore Jr., executive director of the Texas Water Development Board.

Glenda Sims Named One of Best-Dressed Coeds At H-SU

Glenda Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sims, 120 Bel Air Drive, and a student at Hardin - Simmons University, was selected one of the twenty-three best dressed coeds on the H-SU campus last week in the Glamour Magazine best dressed coed contest.

The young women modeled three different fashions. They were judged on poise, understanding of her fashion type, a workable wardrobe plan, appropriateness, individuality in dress, overall grooming, deft use in make-up and posture.

The three judges were Mrs. Jackie Newman of Mr. Freds, Mrs. E. R. Bright of Fashion Lane, and Mrs. Bill Kiker all of Abilene. Commentator was Sande Rhode of Mr. Freds.

Attending the style show from Winters included Mrs. Wayne Sims, Mrs. Gayle Gardner, and Mrs. Spurgeon Parks.

Beef Cattle and Phosphorus—

Beef cattle producers need to consider the amount of phosphorus their herds are getting. This mineral, says U. D. Thompson, Extension animal husbandman, is highly deficient in dry pasture forage, a condition which is now widespread in Texas. Thompson suggests that producers contact their local county agent for detailed information and methods of supplying this very important mineral.

Sale of Personal Residence May Be Free of Tax on Gain

If you sold your home, the tax on any gain realized from this sale is postponed if certain tests are met, said Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for northern Texas.

Further if you are 65 years of age or older, you may be able to sell your home tax-free.

Mr. Campbell added that if within the 2-year period commencing one year before and ending one year after the sale, you buy and occupy another residence, the gain is not taxed at the time of sale if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the adjusted sale price of the old residence. You are allowed additional time if you construct a new residence or if you were on active duty in the U.S. armed forces after you sold the residence.

For those 65 years of age or older, if you sold or exchanged your principal residence you may generally elect to exclude from your gross income part or all of the gain on the sale or exchange if (1) you were 65 years of age or older before the date of the sale or exchange and (2) you owned and used the property sold or exchanged as your principal residence for a period, whether continuous or interrupted, of time totaling at least 5 years within the 8-year period ending on the date of such sale or exchange.

Document No. 5017, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, and Form 2119 may be obtained by dropping a post card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 1600 Patterson Street, Dallas, Texas 75201.

Roger Babson Says—

Debate Is On In Congress As To Merits of Income Tax Increase

Babson Park, Mass. The great debate is in full swing in Washington. President Johnson has asked for a hike in corporate and individual income taxes. He calls the proposed increase a 6 percent "surcharge." This will be levied on the tax itself, figured at prevailing rates and will be added at the end of the form. Hence, as the President intends, the new tax can be easily removed as soon as the emergency in Vietnam is over.

Battle Lines Drawn
A storm of charges and counter charges has been stirred up by Mr. Johnson's recommendation. Criticism is not aimed at the kind of tax. First, the amount—around $5 billion—is not very heavy in relation to a nearly $800-billion economy. . . nor contrasted with a budget close to $135 billion. Second, the low-income citizen can hardly get excited; for it is intended that a family with two children have $5,000 taxable income exempted.

The big battle is between economists and would-be economists. One camp holds that the private area of our economy is already in a recession (they say this is obscured by the tremendous surge in arms production). In the opposite corner are the anti-inflation forces (they maintain that the federal budget is already out of whack and any further bulge in the deficit will start inflationary fires raging again).

Enter Politics
As you may guess, such a brawl among the intellectuals is a made-to-order opportunity for our politicians in the Capital. And they have jumped in with both feet. Republicans and some conservative Democrats are demanding that no tax change be considered until the President's spending proposals have been gone over with a fine-tooth comb. Their cry: Cut spending to balance the budget!

Across the aisle, however, the banners of the Great Society have been raised. Despite defections from the conservative fringes, there is a hard core of determination. It is emphasized that the United States is strong enough to meet its commitments both at home and abroad. Surely - the Democratic argument runs - we are not going to abandon the underprivileged and the needy when the country is spending less than 9 percent of its annual Gross National Product on total defense.

Wait And See
Through the smoke of battle

only one signpost can be seen. It points to a delay of months before any final decision on a tax boost may be reached by the Congress. Working on the side of procrastination is the Democratic conviction that the Republicans will be able to cut only tiny slices from the overstuffed Administration budget. They are confident that, although the opposition may be strong enough to obstruct, they certainly do not have the power to launch a successful attack.

Remodel to Electric Heat

It's easy to add electric home heating when you remodel a home. Everything from decorator wall panel units to an electric heat pump is available for your selection. Baby-safe baseboard units with individual room controls are a big favorite with families who have growing children.

WTU's low 16¢ winter heating rate, Guaranteed Operating Cost, and Equal Payment Plan keep operating costs way down. In fact—you pay no more for clean flameless electric home heating.

See your electric home heating contractor or WTU for complete information.
