HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Speaker of the House Ben Barnes, who spoke at the First Methodist Church's 75th Anniversary Celebration here Sunday, spends a lot of time in the air—flying from one place to another. Much of the time he is on official State business—for instance, he returned from Washington, D. C., to Austin Saturday night, following a meeting on legislative redistricting. That trip was made by commercial jetliner.

Speaker Barnes also is in great demand as a speaker for various functions throughout the state. These engagements he has to wedge between, over and under his official duties, and he meets many of them by flying to and from Austin in a private airplane.

In flying about the state in private aircraft, there is one rule which Speaker Barnes adheres to (and one which his secretary and assistant, Glenn Biggs, insists upon) is that these airplanes must be multi-engine types—for obvious reasons.

Also on his many flying trips about the State, this "youngest House Speaker in Texas since Reconstruction days" has learned a great deal about flying. Many times there are only two people in the aircraft—Barnes and the pilot—and most of the pilots are glad to give "in-the-air" instruction as they fly along. Barnes has "shot landings," navigated and handled the controls in straight and level flight and simple maneuvers, under the watchful eye of an experienced pilot. This is all "unlogged time"—in the parlance of pilots—but valuable experience. After all, he explains, "If there is no one but myself and the pilot in an airplane, I feel I should at least be able to land the plane... just in case."

Great Britain has very strict gun laws, but reports are that its crime rate is increasing much faster than that in the United States.

Our red-dirt farmer friend out on Bluff Creek says that now that all the papers are carrying pictures of bathing beauties cavorting about, and with the temperature hitting the 90-plus mark, he has discarded his red flannels. But he'll keep them handy, just in case, he says... at least until the news is out that someone has fried an egg on a hot sidewalk downtown.

There is little doubt that efforts are being directed toward unwarranted control of advertising as a backdoor means of regulating business and more importantly restricting the most fundamental of all rights—freedom of speech and freedom of the press. In most instances, as in the case of the retail distribution industry, restrictions on advertising are proposed in the name of protecting the consumer. Nothing could sound more innocuous than this, until it is realized that advertising and a free press are inseparable.

Advertising is what makes the competitive free market system a living reality. No better example of this can be found than in the field of mass-distribution. It takes advertising and promotion to sustain the movement of maximum volume of goods at lowest possible prices.

Attempts are being made to gain a foothold by the pretension that the poor little housewife is being fooled every day into buying something which she does not want, or that she is being confused. When it is examined at closer range, it can readily be seen that there are those who believe that the housewife—and everybody else—is too "stupid" to know what is good for them, and need someone to hold their hands—someone like a big, smiling, friendly and helpful bureaucrat!

Corporate Judge Reports— Traffic Violations Top List In City Court; Most Offenders Under 21

Failure to yield right-of-way, operating a motor vehicle without a valid operator's license, and speeding led the list of offenses referred to City of Winters Corporate Judge Mord Tucker's court during the year 1966.

And a top-heavy majority of these offenses are committed by persons under 21 years of age, the judge says. In a report of "business" conducted by his court during the past year, Judge Tucker, who is on his third year in the appointive office, also pointed out that of the many complaints filed in his court (his jurisdiction is the City of Winters), a big 70 percent were committed by persons under 21.

The judge also said that of the "repeaters" who have appeared more than one time before him, most of them for driving without a license, the majority have been persons under 21 years of age.

On the other side of the coin and, according to Judge Tucker, a credit to those young people who have not reached their majority, complaints for offenses other than traffic violations have been against persons well over 21 years of age. For example, nine complaints for drunk and disorderly were entered on the docket for the year—and all offenders were over 21 years of age.

In the almost three years he has been in office, Judge Tucker says he has the "utmost cooperation" from everyone in the community and from those who have been brought before his court. He said he has had no trouble with offenders who have come before him—except for one time when an out-of-town person attempted to use abusive language.

In the tabulation of cases on his docket, there were 14 filed on for driving without a license, with 85 percent of those being under 21 years of age, he said. Speeding accounted for 13 cases, with 80 percent committed by persons under 21.

The judge said parents of persons under 21 who have been brought to his court have been

'Day Off' From Legislation for Barnes As He Spoke At Methodist Celebration

Ben Barnes took a "day off" Sunday from his normally heavy seven-days-a-week duty schedule as Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Speaker Barnes re-assumed his role as a Methodist layman to be the main speaker for the 75th anniversary celebration of the Winters First Methodist Church Sunday evening, and told the church membership and many visitors who filled the church for the service that "it's time to slow down, shift to a lower gear and reflect on what's right and wrong." He said that we as a nation and a people are traveling too fast.

A highlight of the all-day celebration at the First Methodist Church was an announcement of a donation by Donald C. Chapman Sr., of Columbus, Ohio, of $20,000 for the purchase of an organ for the church.

Chapman, president of Gates, McDonald & Co., dealing in cost accounting and insurance with offices in 46 states, is a former member of the Winters Methodist Church.

The organ will be a memorial to the Chapman and Donham families, who were members of the local Methodist Church. Chapman's mother was the former Alice Donham.

Also during the anniversary celebration services, the Rev. Roy Crawford, retired Methodist minister, announced the presentation to the church of an autobiography by the late John Wesley Bowden by three of the Rev. Bowden's granddaughters.

The Rev. Bowden was pastor of the church when the first building was built in 1899. The granddaughters also presented to the church the Rev. Bowden's Bible.

The Rev. Edward H. Otwell, pastor of the church, presided at the service. A retired Methodist minister, the Rev. Chester Wilkerson, led the evening prayer, and the Rev. Roy Crawford made a statement on the anniversary celebration. Rankin Pace recognized out-of-town guests and Winters Mayor Wesley M. Hays introduced Speaker Barnes.

Barnes told the audience that today's young people would "make the decision whether or not Christianity, and even life, will continue to exist." He reminded that "Every Christian nation that has fallen fell from an enemy within, not from without."

Barnes, youngest speaker of the Texas House since Reconstruction days, pointed out that "we have made tremendous progress in many fields, but sometimes I think we move too fast. If we don't slow down and meet our responsibilities, the whole reality of life may be destroyed."

He said that the church has a big responsibility toward its young people.

Barnes related the story of Ed White, the astronaut recently killed in an Apollo rocket explosion. He said that White, when asked by newsmen sev-

The steering committee piloting the proposal for an Elm Creek Water Control District will hold a final meeting Friday night of this week at the Winters City Hall, beginning at 7:30.

At that time, all final paper work necessary for submission to the Texas Legislature for a bill to create the proposed district will have been completed. This will include the area description and bounds.

Also to accompany the proposed legislative bill will be a list of permanent board members, who will officially be appointed by the legislature on enactment of the bill. Petitions of the residents of the area to be included in the proposed water control district also will accompany the paperwork to the Legislature, to show a desire on the part of the people for such a project.

Because the deadline for submission of bills to this session of the Legislature has passed, the proposed legislation will have to be presented under the "four-fifths" vote rule now in effect; however, it is the opinion of most that there will be no objection to the presentation of this bill, which is strictly a "local" bill.

Names of the permanent board members to accompany the proposed bill will not be released until Friday night because some of them have to be contacted and agree to serve on the board. Upon probable enactment of the bill, the steering committee which has been handling the project to this time will cease to exist.

Commissioners Buy 10 Trucks And 4 Loaders

The trucks will be allotted two to each precinct, with precincts one and three, Ballinger and Winters, each to get one additional truck, to be paid for out of local funds. The trucks will be paid for with interest bearing warrants.

The commissioners also bought four loaders, two from Patton Equipment Co. of Abilene for $25,200 each, rubber tired tractor type, and two from Bains Machinery Co. of Abilene, hauler type, at a net difference of $22,632 each. They will be paid for with interest bearing warrants.

The commissioners voted to sponsor the Elm Creek Water Control District, now in the process of formation.

State Capital Highlights—

About 1,700 Bills Up As Solons Get Ready For 60 Days Of Debating

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Now that virtually all the bill-introducing has been done, Texas Legislators can get down to the business of thrashing out laws.

Under the State Constitution and the rules of each house, a four-fifths vote must be obtained for a bill to be introduced in either house after the first 60 days of the session. That deadline came at the end of last week.

As the 60-day deadline approached, the House had about 1,200 bills on file. Senate had another 500 bills. In addition to these, each house has a number of resolutions to consider.

Subject matter ranges from minor local measures to proposals for sweeping overall changes in the constitution and state agencies.

That 60-day deadline is a magic number in the Senate for another reason, too. A four-fifths vote in the upper chamber is necessary in order to bring up a bill for final action before the first 60 days have elapsed. Actually, the House is similarly restricted, but the members voted to suspend that rule early in the session.

NEW BOARD PROPOSED

In order to mobilize Texas' vast agricultural resources another board is proposed. It would be known as the Texas Agricultural Development Board.

Noting that Texas is falling behind in the relative growth of one of its key industries, the interim House Study Committee suggests that a 15-member board representative of all areas of the state be appointed by the Governor.

Its duties would be to inventory agricultural assets and needs, establish goals for the industry, prepare an agricultural market program, develop new ways of converting raw agricultural products into marketable items and perform other similar activities designed to boost agriculture in the state.

TAX HEARINGS ON

Major portions of the Governor's $187,300,000 tax program came under heavy fire at initial House revenue and tax committee hearings. The industry spokesmen suggested a general sales tax hike as preferable.

Gas industry representatives opposed the proposal to increase the natural gas production tax from seven to eight per cent. Breweries objected to beer being placed under the general sales tax.

Surprisingly, corporations did not speak out against the recommended increase in the corporate franchise tax rate (from $2.25 to $3 per $1,000 on capital and surplus with a gradually decreasing levy on debt).

Opposition to boosting the gasoline tax from five to six cents a gallon will come at a second hearing set for March 14.

Another big date will be March 21 when the controversial liquor-by-the-drink bill comes up for tax committee review. A tipoff to opposition strategy was given by William H. Abington of Texas Midcontinent Oil and Gas Association when he suggested the Legislature might find its revenue-raising job easier by adjusting the sales tax.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith says he favors the sales tax approach if new money must be found. He still insists that the budget can be balanced without any new taxation.

Smith indicated that the optional one per cent city sales tax bill already passed by the House will be okayed by the Senate.

REDISTRICTING "GETS WORSE"

Redistricting is going to be a bigger headache this year than in 1965. So predicts House Speaker Ben Barnes after studying legislative and congressional reapportionment problems.

Some Texas congressmen reportedly are upset. Rep. Gus Mutschler, Brenham, chairman of House district committee, Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian, his Senate counterpart, and Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall visited Washington over the weekend to talk with congressmen and swap ideas.

Numerous redistricting bills are in the hopper.

NEW GOVERNOR

Texas will have a "new" governor on March 28. On that date Sen. William Patman of Granada takes his turn as acting chief executive.

Patman is president pro tempore of the Senate. Each holder of that office traditionally serves as "Governor-For-A-Day" while both the governor and lieutenant governor are out of the state.

Citizens from Patman's 14-county 18th district will be honor guests for the occasion. They will attend an all-day reception in the governor's office and take special tours of the governor's mansion and capitol complex. Patman will sign proclamations, honorary appointments and bills.

An exhibit by artists from Patman's district will be displayed in the capitol on that date. Recalling that the first seat of Texas government was at Washington-on-the-Brazos (in Patman's district), a special display of historical items from the area also will be set up. These will be in the State Library and Archives Building.

SCHOOL TESTING

This spring approximately 60,000 seniors in 296 high schools in 128 school districts will be given an opportunity by the state to analyze critically and constructively their schools and their teachers.

Public School Education Committee is sponsoring the unique questionnaires. Purpose is to measure what the students have learned and how well they can use their knowledge.

Results of the study will be related to a massive data-gathering project to give a full picture of the state's public-school-education system.

MANSION GROUNDS

Mrs. John Connally has unveiled a model representing detailed plans for landscaping and beautifying the grounds of the Governor's Mansion.

She used the unveiling to launch a statewide fund-raising project, in coordination with the new Texas Fine Arts Commission and the Texas Garden Clubs. Project is to be financed completely by donations. Plans for the habilitation of the grounds were drawn up by Joe Lambert of Dallas. Specifications are being drafted by the State Building Commission. Construction is to begin this summer.

SNIPER TOOK DRUGS

University of Texas sniper Charles J. Whitman "ate" amphetamine drugs "like popcorn," and found a seemingly endless supply through illegal sources. A legislative committee was given this information by C. Dean Davis, general counsel for the Texas State Board of Pharmacy.

His comments concerning the killer of 18, in that murderous rampage last August 1, overshadowed hearings on bills to place LSD amphetamines, barbiturates and a variety of hallucinogens on the dangerous drug list.

Bills went to sub-committee after lengthy hearings.

SHORT SNORTS

Senators sent the four-year-term constitutional amendment bill back to committee for reconsideration after it was approved 5-4.

Voting on the feed lot licensing and regulating bill has been postponed in the House until March 21.

House passed a bill to authorize the Parks and Wildlife Commission to restore and maintain historic forts, missions and other important sites.

House voted to substitute Memorial Day (May 30) for Columbus Day (October 12) as an official state holiday.

Hearings on the $1.25 an hour minimum wage bill have been set for March 15-16 by Senate and House committees.

Application for a new state bank at Hurst, in Tarrant County, has been filed with the State Banking Department.

Legislature voted final authority for Bexar County commissioners to raise tax assessments to finance a teaching hospital for the new University of Texas medical school at San Antonio.

Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has announced the appointment of Dr. John Kinross-Wright as commissioner, succeeding Dr. Shervert Frazier who resigned to return to full-time academic work at Baylor University Medical School.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says that intangible Texas property belonging to a non-resident citizen is subject to the inheritance tax, since a provision of the law which would exempt them is unconstitutional.

SON TO SAWYERS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sawyer of Melrose, New Mexico are announcing the birth of a son, Cody Ray, on Saturday March 11. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Armstrong of Shep and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. Ella Mae Sawyer of Winters. Mrs. Sawyer is spending a few days at the ranch in New Mexico with her new grandson.

A cold shoulder doesn't attract warm friends.

Purposeful Beaks

Most shore birds have long, slender beaks, so they can dig for their food. But the Shovel-type ducks have flattened beaks so they can scoop up their food from the mud.

Texas Parks More Popular

Texas has more camping and cookout facilities in state parks this year than ever before.

Food For Thought

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices receive many requests, but occasionally one comes along that provides a warm glow. Yes, thoughtful people like Mrs. J. R. Richardson of Victoria, Texas, stimulate public servants mightily.

Mrs. Richardson asked the LaPorte Parks & Wildlife Department office about purchasing some fish tags. Her boys had been fishing in a small lake; they had been keeping the large fish and throwing back the small ones. They needed the tags, so small fish could be weighed, measured, tagged, and recorded to determine whether the lake was overstocked.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department annually turns down hundreds of requests for hatchery fish from adults who do not know what Mrs. Richardson's boys already knew—that most lakes are usually overstocked.

More important, Mrs. Richardson is aware that nourishing a growing boy's curiosity is as important as feeding his stomach. She doubtless realizes further that because past generations produced too few adults with such concepts, the next generation must solve the problem of more adults with less resources.

An optimist is one who, instead of feeling sorry he cannot pay his bills, is glad he is not one of his creditors.

BEAUTY BATH brings sullen look from a Hereford steer as warm water is dumped on his head for washing before a London livestock show.

BY VERN SANFORD

At long last wildlife management is finding a resting place with society.

We have come to recognize that wildlife management today has advanced to a point where it is an accepted fact. We have an abundance of game because of proper management and we may continue in that direction so long as we maintain that management.

Deer perhaps provide the best example.

A quarter of a century ago Texas faced the loss of deer hunting because the deer were disappearing. Ranches were overrun with does. Little or no attention was being paid to management of the crop. Then things changed! Today we actually have an over-population of deer in many areas.

It has been less than 15 years since wildlife specialists were able to convince some landowners and some hunters that the harvesting of doe was necessary. A few counties, under the regulatory authority program, permitted the harvest of the doe deer on a permit basis. Each year the number of permits increased, as did the number of areas where doe harvesting was permitted.

As a result the quality of the deer went up. Landowners realized that in management practices they could consider wildlife a crop. As a result, today Texas has more deer and harvests a greater number than any other state in the union. Same thing has happened to fishing.

Through a continuous program of dam building Texas now has more inland water than any of the 48 contiguous states. That water has been stocked with game fish. A great deal of work has been done on attempts to control the trash fish also found in the waters. It was a good thing, too. Today, with the new push for outdoors recreation, there are many more fishermen and potential fishermen than just a few years ago. And we have the fish for them, as a result of management practices paid for with funds that have come in from the sale of licenses.

This money has been plowed back into the program, the same as the funds collected on the sale of hunting licenses. It has been a self-supporting program, with the sportsmen of Texas carrying the entire load of wildlife restoration and management.

Which brings us to the point of suggesting that the vigil on the use of these funds be retained. They should not be sidetracked for other purposes. It is money paid by the sportsmen of Texas and any other use of it would be a misapplication of funds.

A great deal more work must be done in experimentation. For instance, efforts now are being made to introduce new upland game. These birds would supplement the quail rather than replace it. Some of these birds, partridges and pheasants, have done well in other states. They might also do well in Texas.

Similar work is being done in fisheries. Stripers and walleyes from other states have been brought in and introduced into Texas lakes. This has been going on for some time, through exchange programs with other states. So far not a great deal of progress has been made, but the work continues.

Who knows? Perhaps one of these fish will take over like the white bass (sandies to some).

White now are in abundance in practically every impoundment of any size within the state. They increase rapidly. They make a fine game fish and can be caught literally by the thousands any month of the year.

The walleye may be another fish that will take over like the sandies.

Meantime, black bass, spotted bass, crappie and the various species of bream are plentiful. And blessed be the catfish, an old-timer with many friends.

Perfect Shotgun Scores

Think you are pretty good with a shotgun? Only seven perfect scores of 100 have been posted in the Grand American Handicap at Vandalia, Ohio, since trap was started 67 years ago.

Water Use Rising Fast

Water usage is increasing more than twice as fast as America's population. Consumption in 1900 was around 40 billion gallons daily. Now it's around 350 billion daily.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

After teaching 35 tribes of Indians for two years, I can truly say that they are a unique race of people. Many times I have heard a knock at my classroom door, but when I opened it, no one was there. I could see no one in the hall or anywhere in sight; yet someone actually did knock. In some way, the passing prankster managed to slip behind a door or duck into another room and thus escape right before my eyes.

My class always got a kick out of my confusion, but neither they nor I were supposed to get upset about it.

Indians make good fighters in the armed services because it is natural for them to sneak through the woods and fight from ambush. Only when the white settlers learned to fight this way were they able to overcome America's first inhabitants.

In traveling, Indians march one behind the other, stepping in each other's tracks. The last Indian in line erases his tracks so that enemies cannot follow them.

Indian file then means walking right behind the other.

Sometimes one and the same couple will see another couple walking one behind the other instead of arm in arm. They are likely to ask, "Why are you walking in Indian file? Had a quarrel?"

Roger Babson Says—

Selective Service "Hottest Potato" Congress Will Handle This Session

Shortcomings Of The Draft

Babson Park, Mass. This year Congress has several "hot potatoes" to handle. One of the very hottest is Selective Service. The present draft law—which is widely criticized as unfair in several of its aspects and applications—expires July 1.

Improving The System

In a nation as large as ours probably no military draft law can be fully equitable, or be administered with complete impartiality. The present law has proved workable over a long span of years. In its essentials it is the same system that was used during World War II. However, until the past couple of years, when our greatly expanded military commitment in Vietnam has focused more attention on the system and its weaknesses, there has been no cry for serious and fundamental reforms.

Last year President Johnson appointed a 20-member National Advisory Commission on Selective Service to study the system and to suggest specific reforms. Also in 1966, a congressional study commission, headed by retired General Mark W. Clark, was given the task of making recommendations for changes in the law to the House Armed Services Committee.

Agreement is pretty general in and out of Congress—on the need for changes in the draft

Mrs. Vada Babston Hosted Charity Caroline Circle

Charity Caroline Circle of the Womens Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Vada Babston, 512 Vancil Street, Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. M. E. Leeman presided for the meeting and minutes were read by Mrs. Babston and the treasurers report was given by Mrs. Pearl Whigham. Mrs. Leeman also led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Dick Mayo, program chairman, read the scriptures from 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians.

Those taking part on the program "Christian and Hindu," were Mrs. Eva Wright, Mrs. Connie Gibbs and Dick Mayo.

Coffee and cake were served to Mesdames Gattis Neely, M. E. Leeman, Dick Mayo, Pearl Whigham, Connie Mac Gibbs, Tammy and Kenny, Frank Mitchell, Eva Wright, C. R. Morrison, Miss Frances Stricklin and the hostess, Vada Babston.

gister at age 18 for a two-year draft. Registrants could state a preference between military service, a hitch in the Peace Corps, or participation in other such federal programs as might be established by Congress. Chances of enactment of such a proposal this year, however, are slim.

Impact On The Economy

Congress now has less than four months to decide what to do. If it can't agree by the end of June, the present draft law will have to be extended. And it would certainly be much wiser to extend it than to amend it hastily or scrap it in favor of a program providing for youth regimentation.

Meanwhile, we must live in a world sharply divided by different ideologies and by different concepts of what is right and what is wrong. Clearly we must have a strong military system, with all the manpower requirements that implies. This fact should spur us to devise a better and fairer draft whose impact on civil life and on the economy will be as constructive as possible.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
BY VERN SANFORD

How times have changed!

Today, many a man who once boasted of giving his wife a rifle or shotgun for Christmas—so HE could use it—now finds that she wants it for her dear little self.

There are more than a million licensed women hunters in the United States today and the number is on the increase!

Hunting camps that once were the exclusive hangout of male hunters and their poker-playing buddies, now have the touch of the female.

There is a change in the attitude of the men, too. Most of them welcome having their wives along. And the fellow who thinks he'll shoot the big buck and leave the easy doe for his wife usually finds he is foiled. There are hundreds of cases on record where friend wife got the best trophy, not only on her first hunt, but subsequent safaris.

Men do quite a bit more shooting than women. They also do a lot more talking about it. Out on the range, hubby will sight in the rifle for his wife. He hands it over to her and she promptly puts the bullet in the bullseye. And that's that for her! She's done for the day.

On the other hand hubby more than likely will finish the box of shells before he quits.

In the field it is somewhat the same story. The woman, perhaps realizing her limitations, makes the first shot count. She doesn't take a chance on a long or running shot. Hubby will. As a result, the little woman gets the most game per shot.

Women also have found their place in competitive shooting. Some of the best shots in the nation are women, with shotgun, rifle and pistol. Women figure in all the major competition. They have their own field, but some of them shoot alongside the men, asking and getting no odds.

Women today also are handling mansized guns. Only a few years ago men usually bought the .410 for their wives. This is a gun only for experts, because of its small shot pattern. Then some women found they had better results with a heavier 20 gauge and didn't get a bad shoulder from the recoil. Still others went to the 12 gauge.

If you really want to see a demonstration of women shooting alongside men, then make a trip to the Rio Grande Valley for the white winged dove season. There you'll find women by the hundreds standing alongside men in this, perhaps the greatest of all, group shooting competition.

Since most men hunters concede they get only about one bird for every five shots, women have little trouble keeping up with them.

It is surprising that women also are using good guns in this type of shooting. Most of them have pump shotguns, which seem the most natural for them to handle without mechanical difficulties. Some, however, use the over-unders and some the automatics. In a line of perhaps 50 shooters in one area, there'll probably be a dozen women and the remainder boys and men.

And mama didn't go along to pick the doves. She shoots her share.

In big game hunting, women also are participating to a much greater extent. Guides, for the most part, appreciate having women in camp. Although women are generally termed the weaker sex, it doesn't show up to a harmful degree on trips into the country back of beyond, say the guides. The women may slow the party some in its speed, which may be for the best. Sometimes the men try to work too fast.

Women also bring more decorum to the camps. Guides dislike hunting trips where one or more of the men insist on hitting the bottle a little too hard. This usually doesn't happen with women along.

This new world of together-

National Wildlife Week March 19-25

Conservation districts, the Soil Conservation Service and other agencies are joining the National Wildlife Federation to observe National Wildlife Week, March 19-25, according to Bill Minzenmayer, Chairman, Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District.

The theme, "This is Your Land," emphasizes the responsibility that all citizens have in protecting and improving the land and other natural resources, thus benefiting wildlife.

For years, the SCS has helped landowners through local conservation districts apply practices that benefit wildlife. These include stripcropping, grassed waterways, field borders of grasses and shrubs, woodland management, range and pasture development, farm ponds, watershed protection and flood prevention.

SCS biologists, conservationists, and other specialists assist farmers and ranchers to make decisions in the proper use of their land. Measures to improve wildlife cover were applied on nearly 200,000 acres of Texas lands last year.

Woodrow Hoffman, Work Unit Conservationist, SCS, said some farmers have found that land insured to producing row crops or pastures can be used profitably for farm ponds and to provide food and habitat for small game. Fish and wildlife are providing many Texas farmers extra income, Hoffman said.

Nationally, almost three million acres of land have been ness, shared by so many of the younger couples, is perhaps largely responsible for the husband-wife teams in outdoors activities. As a result we have family campers, family hikers and family boaters.

There are many women today who can back a boat trailer or set up a folding tent just about as good as any man. But when they are a team, everything just seems to work easier.

And it's fun to have mama along!

OLD STONE FORT
Nacogdoches

The Old Stone Fort standing on the campus of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches is generally believed to have been built during 1779 or 1780.

It has been held and garrisoned at various times by Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

It was truly an outpost in the wilderness!

Nacogdoches itself, one of the four oldest civilized settlements in Texas, was named for the Nacogdoches Indians. Here in 1716 the Spaniards established Mission Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe around whose deserted buildings Nacogdoches was permanently established in 1779.

Water Softeners Save Soap, But Should Be Measured—

Soft water or softened water can help homemakers save money because less soap is needed, said Mrs. O'Connor. It also helps prevent soap curd deposits on clothing.

Homemakers who want to know how much water softener to use may try this test. Put one gallon of hot water in a container with one-half teaspoon of softener. Stir until it is completely dissolved. Always put the softener into the water and agitate the chemicals before adding the soap. Prepare three clean quart jars. Put two cups of the hot water solution in each. Then add one-eighth teaspoon of soap to the first jar, one-fourth teaspoon of soap to the second and one-half teaspoon of soap to the third jar. Shake each jar vigorously for ten seconds to create a mass of suds. Let them stand for five minutes. If the suds stand up for five minutes, the water is softened. If the one-half teaspoon of softener does not soften the water, repeat the test using one teaspoon of water softener per gallon. Repeat this test for each specific brand of soap or detergent used. It's important to use accurate measurements of water softener to a given quantity of water to gain softened water. Correct proportions of soap or detergent in soft or softened water, adequate water temperature, correct wash cycle, and thorough rinsing combine to clean clothes satisfactorily.

Everyday Appliances
Check all your everyday appliances, for lint, grease, dust. The best equipment will fall apart without proper care. If you expect your sewing machine to give you the greatest service and satisfaction, you can't neglect proper care. To guarantee perfect operation, home sewers need to clean, oil and lubricate their machines periodically. Refer to the instruction book for specific care information and always for motor care instructions. After you have completed a garment, remove lint and fluff from the take-up lever, thread guides, tension discs, bobbin case and machine surface with a soft, clean cloth. If necessary, dampen the cloth to clean the machine surface, but don't use a detergent.

TO FALCON LAKE

Then with a lint brush clean the feed dog and hook or thread-handling areas under the throat and slide plates. After each cleaning, apply a drop of sewing machine oil to these areas. For specific oiling points, refer to the sewing machine instruction book. After oiling, always sew a few lines of stitching on a scrap of material to remove excess oil. Every few months, clean the area behind the face plate and oil the top and bottom of the machine in the oil holes.

If the machine is to be stored, clean all exposed parts and areas behind the face plate. Swab these parts with a lint brush saturated in sewing machine oil to protect the machine from rust. Rust damage is more likely to occur when the machine is stored in a closed closet than when the machine is kept open to the air. Keep a small piece of fabric under the pressure foot with the needle down through it to protect the foot and feed from damage. When the pressure foot is down, the pressure spring is released and its life prolonged. Also, excess oil will be carried into the fabric by the needle rather than accumulating on the needle.

Blackwell Man Died In Angelo Sunday Night

Parks Eye Patronage On Easter Holiday

Traditional festive opening of state parks on Easter weekend—this year March 25 and 26—will be marked by the usual large patronage, judging by reservation volume.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters report exceptionally heavy advance interest at parks like Lake Corpus Christi near Mathis, Garner near Uvalde, Huntsville near that city, Martin Dies (Dam B) near Jasper, Inks Lake near Burnet, Lake Whitney, Lake Brownwood, Lake Falcon and Fort Parker State Park near Mexia.

These parks all have screened shelters as does also Abilene State Park, Blanco State Park, Tyler State Park and Kerrville State Park.

Parks with cabins are Lake Brownwood, Garner, Bastrop, Caddo Lake, Possum Kingdom and Daingerfield.

Goose Island State Park near Rockport, has 13 cabana-type shelters, with no screens or complete enclosure. The semi-tropical climate lends itself to this open-air treatment, according to the Department.

The more popular parks, like Martin Dies, Jr., Garner, Inks Lake, Lake Corpus Christi, Lake Whitney and Huntsville, report shelter bookings well into July.

One of the better patronized state parks on Easter weekend is Bentsen - Rio Grande State Park near Mission which has neither shelters nor cabins but ample shade for the festive border weekend.

Lulu McConnell, manager, said the overflow attendance may be eased somewhat this Easter by a new fifty-acre county park five miles away.

Traffic arrangements there already have been made with Federal, state, county and local authorities plus a border patrol plane adding an aerial assist.

Light a cigarette, then hold the match a few inches above the smoke. Notice how the smoke is consumed by the flame? Same thing happens when you cook in a gas broiler. There's no smoke because the flame

A Letter From Robert

Last week Jerri Guy received a letter from a very dear friend of hers. It ended, — "Be a good kid and if its God's Will I'll be around before this '67 leaves us.

Thanks for your prayers. God is good." —Robert Guevara.

Last Tuesday, after assembly Winters High's old auditorium witnessed one of its quietest moments as that note was read to the student body. So quiet did it become that one could almost hear the tears filling his neighbor's eyes.

Faith is a very strong institution, and when one's faith is so rewarded as ours, it strengthens the foundation for an even stronger faith. This chapter of our lives can now best be expressed through the words of Hallador's Laxness: "I found in your heart's covets hidden.

The budding of truth and light The emblem of all that is highest.

In earthly life and light." For, indeed God is good. Robert has showed us this. And who among us today can view our efforts and deny that truly there is a God of Love.

WHS Students Exhibit Works

The boys of Shop I had an open house Tuesday afternoon, March 7, for other WHS students to view their work. According to Mr. Hill, industrial arts instructor, the shop boys are mostly freshmen. Among their creations are lampstands, coffee tables, gun racks, bookcases, magazine stands, boxes of many sizes and shapes, plaques, desks, and even a game called skittles. All of the works were constructed of different types of woods.

MODERN MINSTREL Richard Wexler plays his violin while passersby drop coins in his open violin case. Wexler plays his instrument to the delight of pedestrians up and down New York's Fifth Avenue and other parts of the city, to raise money to further his studies in music.

Other than industrial arts, Mr. Clifford Hill, teaches mechanical drawing and physics. The Shop I classes are second, fourth, and sixth and there is only one year of industrial arts.

The week end of February 25-26, Mr. Hill and other industrial arts teachers from schools all over Texas attended an Industrial Arts Convention at Texas A&M and heard several speakers on the subject.

Twirp Week at WHS

March 21-23 has been proclaimed Twirp Week by the Student Council. During this three-day period all activities shall be reversed. WHS girls will be required to purchase a Twirp license from any S. C. member beginning Monday, March 20 for 10 cents; the boys will in turn be required to purchase an exemption for 10 cents. The Twirp license and the exemption will not be owners into the talent show and the right to vote for the King and Queen Tuesday. Any girl caught with a boy without a license must pay a 25 cent fine. The exemption will allow the boy to refuse a date with any girl.

On Tuesday, March 21 at 7:30 p. m., there will be a Talent Show open to everyone. All school organizations and any area groups are invited to have a skit, number, or show which will be judged in open competition that night. There will be a 75 cent entrance fee for each talent entry and a time limit of 10 minutes. Prizes of $10, $7.50, and $5 will be awarded. Anyone who wishes to see the talent show and does not have a license or exemption will be charged 25 cents admission. At the Talent Show, the King and Queen candidates will be introduced.

On Wednesday noon, the students having licenses will elect the Twirp Week King and Queen.

Thursday, March 23 at 7:30 p. m., a Box Supper for WHS students will be held in the gym. Neither of these two nights will it be necessary to have a date. The girls are asked to bring a meal for two in a box, that will be auctioned to the highest bidder. There will be a $3 limit per box. After the auction has been completed, the boy who purchases the box lunch must eat the meal with the owner.

Friday and Saturday, March 25 and 26, will be date nights and the girls will be expected to furnish transportation and pay all expenses.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

This space has been dedicated to a discussion of law enforcement on a great many occasions. This appears an appropriate time for another.

The preservation of law and order is a first and fundamental function of government at any level. Every citizen has a right to expect, and is entitled to expect, his government to protect his person and property. Laws from city ordinances to the Federal Government are made for this purpose, but laws not enforced, not respected and the criminal not punished for violations, are no laws at all.

Since 1790, Congress has authorized the revision of criminal statutes on three occasions. The first revision began shortly after the Civil War, in 1866, when the criminal laws were scattered through 14 volumes of Statutes at Large.

President Andrew Jackson, with the Congress assenting, empowered a commission to examine criminal provisions to eliminate obsolete provisions and to collect the statutes for republication in a body.

In 1879, Congress again authorized a commission to revise and codify penal laws of the United States. These were updated in 1909, and 39 years passed before another study was made to modernize the Criminal Code.

At the present time the President is appointing another commission to revise, clarify and codify.

Many of our laws have been complicated by Federal Courts which render decisions in some 30,000 cases a year. Loopholes need to be closed as an excuse for some of the "do-gooder" opinions which have recently been decided. In many instances the Courts have in effect rewritten sections of our criminal laws and have acted more like a legislative body than a judicial body. The public is becoming more and more aware of these actions and certainly police and other law enforcement officials are more so. They are finding their tasks and responsibilities to be exceedingly difficult.

It is well that the President of the United States is calling for revision in our criminal statutes but what we need immediately is to stop coddling criminals and give greater regard for the victim of crime.

There are advocates of the idea that the victim of crime should be compensated from public funds but the real need is the enforcement of law to make "crime not pay." Law abiding people have a right to expect protection from criminals. Good intentions are worthless.

It is encouraging that community and civic authorities, educators, religious leaders and people from all walks of life are speaking out, demanding justice.

Law enforcement will be effective if they are permitted to do the job they are capable of doing. The detecting and apprehending of criminals is not the whole answer. The criminal must know that his destiny includes prompt prosecution and substantial punishment. He must know that the Courts are for the protection of people against criminal acts and not a-against furnishing technical procedures behind which the violator can hide.

When you help someone up hill, you, too, are closer to the top.

Never let a disappointment be carried over into a new day.
