A SEASON FOR GROWTH

Spring is the season for new beginnings. It is a time for the start of new growth. Everywhere there are miracles of Nature which we can see, but which we can never fully understand. It is now that seeds may be planted for a future harvest.

It is also a good time to start a bank account to insure steady and solid financial growth during years ahead. Each deposit will be a step toward greater security. Your cash reserve will gradually increase with wise money management, even if the amount you put aside at regular intervals is not large.

This may be your best season to build a financial foundation for the future.

The strength of this bank and the conservative policies it has pursued over the years qualify it to be an acceptable ally in your financial plans.

City Council Buys Street Equipment

Winters City Council Monday night accepted a bid by Allis-Chalmers Co. of Abilene for a light maintainer to be used by the street department.

Cost of the maintainer will be $2250, the City Hall announced. The new machine will supplement present street department equipment, and is small enough so that alleys can be graded and improved. A present maintainer is too large for such work, it was stated.

Council also authorized purchase of 17 new parking meters. The new meters will be to replace older meters now on Main Street, and will be easier to service and maintain, it was explained.

A project to spray mesquite brush in the east spillway of the Winters Lake also was approved.

To meet requirements of Medicare regulations, the Council also voted to employ Mrs. B. J. Joyce on a part-time basis as dietician at the Winters Municipal Hospital.

Runnels Rancher Completes 25 Acres Range Seeding

Clyde Flanagan, cooperater with the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, has recently completed 25 acres of range seeding, cost-shared by the Soil Conservation Service under the Great Plains Conservation Program. Ronald Hugh, Range Conservationist, with the local SCS said that Flanagan seeded 60 acres last spring, and now has a good stand of side-oats and K. R. bluestem. He is using the same mixture of grass this year.

Rugh said that the Runnels S&WCD owns two grass drills that are available for rent to landowners in this area. And that the SCS will be glad to help adjust the drills to accommodate any type seed mixture.

For information about the use of these drills, Rugh said to contact one of the Runnels S&WCD supervisors, who are Bill Minzenmayer, Jake Presley, Kirby Robinson, Arthur Eggenmeyer, and Grider Hays.

C. of C. Members Are Voting On 1967 Holidays

Members of the Winters Chamber of Commerce this week are being asked to approve the several holidays to be observed by most businesses during 1967.

Post card ballots have been mailed to members, who are asked to mark their approval of holidays suggested by the Retail Trade Committee. Holidays will be those dates chosen by the membership.

Suggested are the following dates, the same dates which were observed last year: Memorial Day, May 30, Independence Day, July 4, Labor Day, Sept. 4, Thanksgiving, Nov. 23, Christmas, Dec. 25, New Years, Jan. 1.

Information Kit Now Available For Medicare Records

Medicare beneficiaries who signed up for medical insurance protection can now obtain an information kit to help them keep a record of their doctor bills so they will know when they reach their yearly $50 deductible, Ted F. Moellering, San Angelo, Social Security District Manager, announced today.

The kit includes a record-keeping folder and two leaflets which explain the two methods of payment for medical insurance claims, and what medical expenses count for the $50 deductible. The folder has pockets on the inside for holding doctor bills and space to write in the date and amount of each bill so that the beneficiary will know immediately when he reaches the $50 each year. After that, the medical insurance plan pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges for covered expenses for the remainder of the year. Moellering said that all new Medicare beneficiaries will receive the kit when they sign up for medical insurance. Those who already have medical insurance coverage should write, telephone, or visit the social security office to obtain this free kit. The office is located at 3000 West Harris Ave., San Angelo, Texas, telephone 949-4608. Also, people who need help in completing a medical insurance claim are urged to get in touch with the social security office. "We know that these claims—especially the first claim—can be confusing to people," said Moellering, "and we will be glad to help in every way possible."

Traditional Easter Ham: If ham is traditional for Easter at your house, you're in luck. For you can expect to pay less for it than last year, as latest reports show that 8 to 10 percent more hogs will be ready for market this spring than a year earlier.

Prices on the hoof during early March reflected this increase slipping about 6 to 7 cents per pound lower than a year ago. This makes it a good time to use pork, whether for Easter dinner or other meal-time needs.

Pork should be cooked slowly until done for the tenderest and juiciest results. Methods of preparation vary. Depending on the cut, pork can be baked, broiled, pan-broiled, fried, braised or simmered.

Different seasonings give pork a more interesting taste and look. Garlic, dry mustard, ginger, sage, thyme, rosemary, soy sauce and caraway or celery seed go especially well with fresh pork. Moist cuts of fresh pork baked with barbecue sauces are delicious, too.

You'll find glazes or sauces add flavor to both fresh and cured pork. Currant jelly, orange marmalade, peach or apricot jam, applesauce, cranberry sauce and pineapple are delicious. You may also want to select honey, barbecue sauce or pickled fruits and their juices. Sauces also may be made from such soups as celery, mushroom and onion.

Dressings made of apples, raisins and prunes, and spiced with cinnamon also provide real taste treats for roasts and stuffed chops. Try this method for glazing your Easter ham. When the ham is done, remove it from the oven. Then remove the rind and excess fat. Score the remaining fat lightly into squares or diamonds and stud with cloves. Then cover with a glaze.

Return the ham to the oven, raising the heat to about 400 degrees. Bake long enough to allow browning about 15 minutes. Baste once or twice with the melted syrup that runs off the ham.

If you don't have your own tasty glaze, you might try this one made of 1 cup brown sugar mixed with 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1-2 teaspoon ground cloves. Mix with a little fat from the pan to make a stiff paste.

The family will like the Cushion Pork Shoulder Roast. To prepare, have your butcher prepare roast, cushion style, from a fresh skinned picnic shoulder from which hock has been removed. The pocket is made by going from side to side. Season inside and out with salt & pepper.

Fill pocket with Apple-Raisin stuffing—sew or skewer opening. Place meat, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in 350 degree oven allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

For the Apple-Raisin stuffing, you'll need 2 slices diced bacon, 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1-2, c. chopped onion, 3 tart apples, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup raisins, 2 cups dry bread crumbs, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1-4 cup milk, 1 tsp. salt and 1-8 tsp. pepper. To prepare, fry bacon until crisp. Cook celery and onion in drippings for 3 minutes. Core and dice apples. Add apples and raisins to celery mixture. Add crumbs, parsley, sugar and seasonings. Mix lightly.

Once Vietnam War Is Out of the Way, Resources to Be Developed

Babson Park, Mass. Once the Vietnam War is out of the way, hopefully Uncle Sam will turn his time, attention, and money toward more effective development and use of our natural resources. These include the land itself and its produce, the minerals under the land, and also the minerals under the sea.

Matter Of Self-Preservation

We have set many records in the field of agricultural production and have built up a promising chemurgic industry. Yet there is so much more we need to do to make our land still more fruitful and to use our agricultural wastes to better advantage. We possess vast mineral resources. Yet there is a great deal more we could do by way of research, development, and extraction.

Still we have at least been aware of the potential of our land and mineral resources. By comparison, we have sadly neglected the mineral wealth that lies at the doorstep of our long coastal borders. The small beginnings made by us so far in this field must be greatly expanded—and soon—for the economic pressures of the coming years will be greater than those we are now encountering and we shall need our ocean wealth to keep us a strong and self-reliant nation.

The small beginnings made by us so far in this field must be greatly expanded—and soon—for the economic pressures of the coming years will be greater than those we are now encountering and we shall need our ocean wealth to keep us a strong and self-reliant nation.

Future Of Oceanography

As we look back over the two decades that have passed since the end of World War II, we can see the many changes that have occurred in our everyday life. Our nation has become more highly industrialized. Our metals and chemicals industries have expanded far beyond our expectations. Vast markets have been opened up as new uses have been found for traditional raw materials and as new materials have been introduced.

There is a very good chance that a breakthrough resulting from oceanographic studies and explorations will open up a marine minerals industry of huge potential. Within the next ten or fifteen years, we may

Former Resident Writes Interesting Letter From Arabia

Mrs. Lora Coupland received a letter recently from Mrs. J. Corlett from Awali, Bahrain Island, Arabian Gulf, which is most interesting. Mrs. Corlett is the granddaughter of the late T. D. Coupland and was born in Winters, although it has been many years since she lived here, local residents will remember her grandfather and perhaps other members of the Coupland family.

In her letter she refers to the Bahrain Island in the Arabian Gulf as an outlandish place. She was before her marriage, Ruth E. Coupland and did not know her father or any other of the Couplands.

Excerpts from her letter follow:

"My husband is an electronics and radio engineer. When I married him (nearly 22 years ago) he was in the Royal Air Force (as I was), but a few years after the war he decided to leave the Air Force and take up work in an International Commercial company. Most of his work has been dealing with oil companies overseas. We lived in Nairobi, East Africa for two years, then two years in Tripoli and Benghazi in North Africa and now for the past 7 and 1-2 years we have lived on this small island. In between this my husband has also been on an Antarctic Expedition and was away for a whole year, during this time I stayed with Mum in England.

"We have only one child, David who is now 20 years old and is in the Royal Air Force. Unfortunately he is now based at Aden and, no doubt, you will have read in the International newspapers that Britain has a problem there now due to the fact that it is our main military base in the Middle East, but due to wish for their independence, the local people have been causing a great deal of trouble-terrorists as much as anything else, and it is not a pleasant place to be stationed. Fortunately David has only three more months to complete his tour overseas. At the beginning of June he will be transferred back to England, at which time I shall feel greatly relieved.

"This island on which we live is very small, 35 miles in length and 15 miles wide. Its economy is rather poor, in fact the only revenue is from the oil refinery. There is very little oil actually in Bahrain but the main source of income is from the oil which is piped over from Saudi Arabia well have a government-sponsored National Oceanographic Agency to rival the National Aeronautics & Space Agency. Before the year 2000, we could be extracting from our offshore areas commercially valuable deposits of minerals, including precious metals.

Deep-Sea Floor Studies First, we must prepare to penetrate the secrets of the sea. Steps are already being taken on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts of continental U. S., and in Hawaii. In the New York area, local capital is financing the construction and the ultimate voyage of a deep submergence vessel in which Swiss oceanographer, Dr. Jacques Piccard, will make a six-week, 1,500 mile observation journey beneath the Gulf Stream. Dr. Piccard plans to submerge to a depth of about 300 feet off the Miami coast, drifting with the current to Nova Scotia and descending to depths of as much as 2000 feet.

In California, a somewhat similar project is under way, sponsored jointly by a Bureau of Mines Marine Technology Center and the Coast and Geodetic Survey. There the emphasis will be more on exploring and mapping the continental shelf with a view to minerals exploitation, while Dr. Piccard's journey will perhaps concentrate more on observing marine life.

Economic Prospects Of course, we know so little about the sea and her secrets that there are bound to be disappointments and setbacks in the effort to discover the extent of the ocean's wealth and how best to extract it.

Right now any minerals taken from the sea would be costly to haul up and to transport to refineries and ultimate markets. But one day we shall learn to make them truly competitive with land minerals. In the process we shall also learn a great deal about marine life and its vital potential as food for man.

CARD OF THANKS We would like to thank each and every one for their prayers, flowers, cards and food. Especially Dr. McCreight, the nurses and the ones that sat up. Mr. Hatler and Mr. Eager, while I was in the hospital. My wife joins me in saying thanks to each of you. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Williams and family. Itp.

OLD STONE FORT Nacogdoches

The Old Stone Fort standing on the campus of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches is generally believed to have been built during 1779 or 1780.

It has been held and garrisoned at various times by Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

It was truly an outpost in the wilderness!

Nacogdoches itself, one of the four oldest civilized settlements in Texas, was named for the Nacogdoches Indians. Here in 1716 the Spaniards established Mission Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe around whose deserted buildings Nacogdoches was permanently established in 1779.

LONE STAR GAS

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

I'm sure that it is disconcerting to many so-called "weekend fishermen" to note the same anglers' names being published again and again in the local newspaper when catches of big bass are reported.

Many readers dismiss such feats as luck. Well, catching one trophy bass could be attributed to luck. But when an angler consistently brings in big fish, he knows something many other fishermen don't know. What's his secret?

One fact about fishing reports that many casual readers overlook, is that the same angler usually catches his fish from one or two lakes or streams near his home. He doesn't let the wanderlust beckon him to far-away places. He fishes these "home" waters regularly.

When an angler travels to a strange lake or stream to fish, the odds are against him. That is, unless he hires a professional guide who knows the water and how to fish it.

Bass have certain spots where they prefer to hang out. Perhaps one weed bed or a submerged tree on a lake is such a spot.

A sprawling man-made impoundment has so many spots, so much water, that it takes a long time before the fisherman finds these hotspots.

These are discovered by trial and error, by fishing regularly, by being observant and keeping tabs on spots which produce.

These same places pay off with fish time and again. There is something about the water and environment which bass prefer. When a big one is taken out, another lunker most likely will move in and set up house-keeping.

Once a fisherman has learned of several such spots, he frequents them often. True, he may go through "dead" periods when the fish are not biting, but when they do begin foraging, he knows his bait is in waters where he stands the best chance of getting one to hit.

There's an old saying that no lure will produce unless it is presented close enough for a bass to hit. Far too many fishermen spend time casting in places where there are no fish.

Through experience and study the angler also has learned which particular baits the fish prefer and at what seasons. Perhaps in early spring a plastic worm bumped right along the bottom will pay off. A month later a shallow-running bait might be the secret. And in early summer a topwater plug could be the best bet.

WALKING A CROWD are two New York girls, Karen Feulner, 21, left, and Lilah Kistler, 22, who are "dog-walkers," performing a service for those who don't have time to take their pets for a stroll.

SNAKE WALKING makes sense to people at the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Science Center, but it brings double-takes from passersby. Exercising an indigo snake is Center helper Lori Ullian.

There are many unpredictable pieces of the bass-fishing jigsaw puzzle that must fall into place before the angler is assured of success. He doesn't get this information haphazardly. He has learned it by talking to other fishermen, by reading and by observing. Knowing a lake and the spots to catch fish, knowing what bait the bass prefer, all are important to success in fishing.

Every successful angler knows that if he casts a proven bait into proven waters, and if he sticks with it for long periods that sooner or later he'll prod a granddaddy bass into striking.

He knows too that tenacity is important to angling success and to catch fish you gotta keep the bait in the water. . . not in the tackle box.

Furthermore, he knows that big bass feed only occasionally. Thus he might cast for hours without a strike. But if he stays with it, somewhere, someplace, he'll hit that jackpot.

When preparation meets opportunity, that's luck—not fate. But it's planned success.

Pheasant Hunting in Texas
Someday, Texans may be hunting pheasants as they do in the middle west. This bird was transplanted from the Orient in 1881 and today it is one of the principal game birds of America.

Ever wonder about a baby elephant? It isn't weaned until it is about five years old.

Dual-Purpose Ice
A good way to have plenty of ice water when traveling is to fill milk cartons with water, freeze them solid, then place them in the water in your ice box. They keep the water cold and when all the water is gone the melted ice in the cartons can be used as drinking water.

Fish Abundant in Texas
Texas has something like 100 species of fresh water fish. However, only a dozen are of interest to fishermen. Mainly they are bass, with catfish, crappie and bream in about that order.

U. S. hunters traveled nearly 10 billion auto-passenger miles in 1965. Half of that distance was just to hunt small game.

Social Security Nos. Must Be Reported On Tax Returns

Texas taxpayers were minded today that the law requires them to list their correct social security number on their Federal income tax return.

If husband and wife each have income and file a joint return, they should list both numbers in the spaces provided on page 1 of the 1966 Federal income tax return. If the wife has no income, however, the husband's number will suffice.

If you do not have a social security number, application Form SS-5 may be obtained from your local Internal Revenue Service office, Social Security Administration office or most Post Offices. Applications should be filed as soon as possible.
