HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Time marches on! . . . but not without a few ups and downs. In spite of the raft of publicity for many months concerning the change from Standard Time to Daylight Saving Time—which reached the saturation point immediately prior to the changeover date—there still is much confusion. It's not unusual, however—habits are most difficult to change.

Some churches report that on Sunday, the first day of the "new" time, some people forgot to set their clocks up, and double services may have been in order for the day.

It is hard to get accustomed to rising early while the sun still is low in the east—and even harder to get used to a bright western sun with the clock showing only 8 p. m.

Then, too, when one reminds another of something which is supposed to happen at a certain time, or perhaps another over for a visit at a certain time, the question is invariably asked, "Is that by the clock or by the sun?"

Which reminds of a story about an individual who refused to accept the change in time during World War II when the country went on "War Time." This individual refused to reset his clocks and stuck to the old, regular time. His reason: "If the good Lord had wanted 5 o'clock to come in the middle of the afternoon, He would have made it that way in the first place!"

Winters' bachelor preacher (Jim Sinclair of the Presbyterian Church) handed in a quote he'd picked up in a church magazine: Marriage counselors insist there's three sides to every marital problem question—His, Hers and the Truth.

Jim Swofford, Winters High School band director, has taken to the bottle! Not only that, he's got some of the youngsters in the band hitting the bottle! It's not as bad as it sounds . . . in fact, the sound is invigorating, really!

Swofford has organized what he calls The Slumtoun Six! Apparently, funds were available for only two recognizable musical instruments—two flutes. . . and the other musicians were given bottles. The bottles are filled with pre-determined amounts of liquid, then the musician blows into the open

Jerry Awalt To Continue Race For 440 Title

There will be six other boys from Class AA schools over the state in the 440-yard dash competition at the state meet in Austin this weekend, but the focus of fans in this area will be on the contest between two boys who are carrying over to this year a race begun at the state meet last year.

Jerry Awalt, Winters High School senior, is a qualifier for the state 440-yard dash event; Melvin Sissney of Lockney also is a qualifier. Both boys are going to state this year for the second time in the 440. Last year, Sissney was front-runner in the state contest, winning first place, and Awalt finished second.

Awalt took the third place spot in regional contests in Lubbock two weeks ago, finishing at 49.4; Sissney has a 50.0 to carry to state. Of the eight boys going to state, Awalt has the third best time. Other boys going are Alvin Dotson of Columbus who has a 48.5 time; Ronald Davis, Hardin-Jefferson, with a 49.3 time; Lee Valdez, Poth, 49.9; Sissney; Jerrell Branson, Decatur, 50.2; Leslie Yeats, Taft, 50.3; and Homer Brown, Teague.

Norman Honored As Man-of-Year

John W. Norman, attorney and insurance agent, was presented a plaque Tuesday noon honoring him as Winters' "Man of the Year" for 1966.

The presentation was made at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Winters Lions Club. Homer Hodge, representing the Winters Chamber of Commerce, the organization recognizing Norman, made the presentation before a large audience of Lions Club members and visitors.

The plaque was to have been presented during the annual Winters Chamber of Commerce banquet April 21, but the banquet meeting was adjourned shortly after beginning because of the collapse during the banquet and subsequent death of the outgoing Chamber of Commerce president, Harvey Dale Jones.

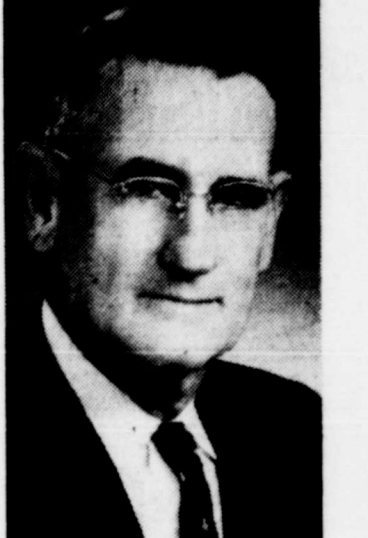

In making the presentation to the "Man of the Year," Hodge used a quotation to emphasize the reasons for picking the honoree: "Service, life happiness, seems to be one of those wonderful extras that comes with a job well done. It is not an entity in itself, but a blend of honesty, faith and a genuine interest in the other person's needs."

Norman, presently president of the board of school trustees, has served on the school board for 14 non-consecutive years. He served two terms as president of the Winters Lions Club, in 1934-35 and in 1948-49, and at one time, was active in directing the "Little Theatre" here. He also is a member of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, is a deacon of the Winters First Baptist Church, and has been assistant superintendent of the Sunday School.

He has one daughter, Nancy Norman, a student in the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and a son, Steve, and two grandchildren, Gloria and Denny, of Abilene.

Hodge lauded Norman's contributions to the community. "Very few individuals have given so generously and unselfishly through the years of their time and talent to civic affairs as has John W. Norman."

In addition to his law practice and insurance agency, Norman owns and operates "Lazy N Stables," in Winters. Shetland ponies from this stable have been shown in shows all over the country, and have performed for children during special events and at Christmas-time, and appear in parades in Winters.

JNO. W. NORMAN . . . Honored at Lions Meeting

A special committee of members of the Chamber of Commerce each year is asked to pick the "Man of the Year." Membership of the committees is not publicized, and the name of the honoree is kept secret until the formal presentation.

Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District Note 'Soil Stewardship Week'

Each year during May the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, along with other districts of the United States, observe Soil Stewardship Week. Dates for the 1967 observance are April 30-May 7.

Many people when they hear the term "stewardship" immediately think of men in the ministry as those who are qualified to speak on the subject. Then, many also take the attitude that we are not affected by the "stewardship of our resources." But this is far from the truth, and practitioners of soil and water conservation methods can testify. They point out, too, that "many of us would like to pass responsibility on to a few, not recognizing we all have an interest in the stewardship or conservation and development of these resources."

Bill Minzenmayer, Winters, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Runnels County SCD, points out that "good food and clothing are important to all mankind. However, many countries do not enjoy the abundant food supply available in the United States, which is often overlooked as a blessing. Neither are people of many

Valley Creek District Starts 13th Dam, 1200 Upstream Dams Now In Texas

"The 1200th upstream flood prevention dam in Texas was contracted last week," according to a report from H. N. Smith, State Conservator for the Soil Conservation Service in Temple.

Woodrow W. Hoffman, work unit conservator for the SCS, said that 12 of these upstream flood prevention dams have been constructed in the Valley Creek Water Control District.

Directors of the Valley Creek District signed a project agreement last week with the SCS to construct the 13th dam in that watershed project. Hoffman said this dam will be located in the Nolan County portion of the watershed on the C. H. Wylie ranch.

This latest dam to be contracted will have a fill of some 276,000 cubic yards, according to Hoffman. He said this structure will have a floodwater detention capacity of 4,017 acre feet, which will be automatically released at a controlled rate.

A bill now is in the State Legislature proposing to create a watershed program for the east half of Runnels County and south Taylor County. This project would cover the watershed of Elm Creek, and when approved by the Legislature will be called the Elm Creek Water Control District. It is expected the bill will be passed within the next few weeks, or before adjournment of this session of the Legislature.

Proposal for the creation of an Elm Creek Water Control District is the outgrowth of concern on the part of farmers and ranchers of the area to be included in the project, and citizens of Winters and Ballinger. It has been endorsed by the Runnels County Commissioners Court, the Winters Chamber of Commerce, the Winters Lions Club, the Ballinger Lions Club and several other civic organizations in the county.

The 1200th dam in the state is Site 139 in the Cedar Creek watershed near Mabank. Sponsors are the Kaufman-Van Zandt Soil and Water Conservation District, the Cedar Creek Watershed Association, and the Rockwall, Kaufman, and Van Zandt County Commissioners Courts. Cedar Creek is a tributary of the Trinity River.

State Conservator Smith said this milestone in Texas watershed progress was due to the local-level frontline leadership of soil and water conservation districts, county commissioners courts, cities, river authorities, and other groups who back the projects. These sponsors not only secure all needed land rights but also maintain completed projects.

The progress is also due to the way the projects prevent floods and halt erosion and sediment damages that clog rivers and lakes. They also protect and improve water supplies, benefiting both urban and rural communities. Almost half of the 1200 dams (599) are in the Trinity River watershed and 190 are in the Middle Colorado. The others are in small watersheds scattered over the state.

Last September, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman dedicated the 1000th small watershed dam built in the state near Van Alstyne.

The first upstream flood prevention dam built in Texas was in 1948 near Jacksboro on Howard Creek. The 1st, 1000th and 1200th dams in the state were all in the Trinity watershed.

Schools Get $11,461 For Head Start

Plans are being made for another Head Start program in the Winters schools this summer, and announcement has been made of a federal grant of $11,461 to finance the program.

Congressman Omar Burleson, in a telegram to the school Monday, announced approval of the summer program, which will benefit 45 children. The $11,461 in federal funds is 85 percent of the total cost of the summer project in the local school. The other 15 percent of the cost will be underwritten by the Winters school district, and a portion of that amount will be an "in kind" share, in the form of use of school facilities.

George Beard, principal of the Winters Elementary School, will be project director again this year. He said that the program will use the services of four volunteer non-paid workers, and a paid staff of six professionals and seven non-professionals, for three classes.

The Head Start program is designed to help pre-school children prepare for entry in the public schools. Under the regulations guiding the project, at least 90 percent of the children taking part must be from families of low income (poverty index line families), according to Beard. The other 10 percent may come from families in a higher income bracket, he said.

As planned now, the Head Start program in the Winters School will begin June 12 and continue for eight weeks, through August 4. Children in the 5 and 6-year-old levels will be enrolled in the school. Beard said that it is not necessary that the children be planning to enter the first grade for the first time this September; even if the younger children will not enter school until next year, some will be eligible, he said.

Pre-registration has already been accomplished, it was understood, and additional information may be obtained by contacting the project director.

In last year's Head Start program, the Winters school was granted $10,107 in federal funds; a total of $11,655 was spent on the project.

State Capital Highlights—
Both Houses Working On Budget
For Only Half the Fiscal Biennium

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Legislature showed signs of quick response to the request by Gov. John Connally to postpone writing a tax bill until next year and to adopt a state governmental budget for only half the fiscal biennium.

Both House and Senate budget-writing committees will scrap their biennial appropriations measures and have one-year bills ready for action this week.

In an unusual night speech to a joint session of the House and Senate, Connally pledged to call a special session next year to pass a 1969 appropriations bill and consider necessary new taxes. Overall purpose was to break legislative log jams on major legislation.

State financial picture appears to be this: Under the one-year budget plan, about $137,000,000 in additional spending can be done in the year starting next September 1 out of the general revenue fund. Because in past years the estimates of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert have been conservative, there generally is a surplus left at the end of each year. Connally thinks a surplus of $50-60,000,000 might be in sight a year from now. Thus the size of the tax bill to be passed could be that much less than it would have to be if it were passed now.

This $50,000,000 or so would not actually be "saving," since Connally expects the Legislature to spend the same amount on two one-year budgets as on the two-year budget. However, the Governor figures that if business growth continues to gain, revenues from present taxes will bring in more than had been expected, and thus make it possible to get by with a smaller tax increase.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, after initial doubts on wisdom of the procedure, urged the Senate Finance Committee to go along. Smith cautioned the legislators not to take the new financial procedure as an invitation to spend more freely and to clear up any legal questions at an early date.

Other would allow persons already knowledgeable in American and Texas history and government to take advance-standing exams, and if they make an A or B, receive that grade without having to take the course.

It also would exempt some out-of-state graduate students from having to go back and take undergraduate history and government courses.

A measure acceptable to both the Texas Motor Transportation Association and the Texas Joint Railway Labor Board now is awaiting action before the House.

Bill provides that trucks carrying explosives or inflammables stop when crossing railroad tracks within city limits but only slow down to 20 miles per hour or less when crossing tracks outside of cities.

An occupational safety bill, subject of bitter controversy and deadlocks in past legislative sessions, was passed by the House 143-0. A compromise version was hammered out after usual friction over terms developed. Senate passage is likely.

Bill calls for Division of Occupational Safety in State Department of Health, with three-member board to formulate standards. A safety engineer would inventory all industrial accidents and advise the board on needed rules.

Major revisions in code of criminal procedure to meet criticism of law enforcement officers is being speeded to House floor by Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

Major changes deal with warnings of rights of accused by judges; arrests of suspicious persons without warrants; notice of pre-trial hearings; sentencing procedures; and requirement that witnesses to crime identify themselves at request of a police officer. Committee voted down effort to allow greater freedom in use of oral confessions in trials.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held he could not approve bonds supported by Trinity River Authority tax of 15 cents on $100 valuation as proposed in Senate bill amendment because

Lieutenant governor, who contends that no new taxes are necessary, viewed Connally's proposal as "at least partial recognition that our financial salvation does not necessarily and exclusively lie in passing a big tax bill at this time."

COMMUNITY CENTERS

Bill by Rep. Billy H. Williamson of Tyler to make more cities in Texas eligible for grants-in-aid for community mental health centers has passed both House and Senate.

State now may make such grants-in-aid to cities of 100,000 or more population. This bill would lower that minimum to 75,000. It also would allow grants-in-aid to a center serving less than 75,000 population, if the state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation declares it eligible.

EDUCATION MEASURES

The House of Representatives passed two measures of the education package sponsored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton. One would allow some college-educated persons who did not take all the required education courses in college to qualify as teachers.

Other would allow persons already knowledgeable in American and Texas history and government to take advance-standing exams, and if they make an A or B, receive that grade without having to take the course.

It also would exempt some out-of-state graduate students from having to go back and take undergraduate history and government courses.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS

A measure acceptable to both the Texas Motor Transportation Association and the Texas Joint Railway Labor Board now is awaiting action before the House.

Bill provides that trucks carrying explosives or inflammables stop when crossing railroad tracks within city limits but only slow down to 20 miles per hour or less when crossing tracks outside of cities.

SAFETY BILL

An occupational safety bill, subject of bitter controversy and deadlocks in past legislative sessions, was passed by the House 143-0. A compromise version was hammered out after usual friction over terms developed. Senate passage is likely.

Bill calls for Division of Occupational Safety in State Department of Health, with three-member board to formulate standards. A safety engineer would inventory all industrial accidents and advise the board on needed rules.

CRIMINAL CODE REVISION READIED

Committee voted down effort to allow greater freedom in use of oral confessions in trials.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held he could not approve bonds supported by Trinity River Authority tax of 15 cents on $100 valuation as proposed in Senate bill amendment because notice of intent to introduce measure was not published locally as required by constitution.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: A sheriff is authorized to release a prisoner "laying out" his fine in jail after he satisfies sentence and court costs at the rate of $5 a day.

State Building Commission can enter a contract prior to September 1 for a liquor tax collection station at Cordova Crossing, El Paso, although construction will begin before transfer of site to the U. S. Under the Chamizal agreement.

Texas Water Rights Commission is not barred from canceling unused water permit for five years following public hearing where permittees ask partial cancellation without hearing.

County can purchase insurance from any licensed company on public buildings and contents provided agreement does not involve lending of County credit or granting public money, taking membership in or becoming stockholder in insurance firm.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Supreme Court agreed, on divided decision, that an Edinburg woman is entitled to $17,000 collected on winning Mexican national lottery ticket she purchased jointly with a neighbor.

Court rejected appeal of a Bryan man from lower court orders that he must clean up conditions at his egg and chicken farm if he wants to keep operating it within city limits.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld two rulings of James O. Gerst, state savings and loan commissioner, refusing application for savings firm offices in La Grange. Opinion noted there are 46 banks and eight savings and loan associations in surrounding counties, including eight banks in Fayette County alone.

$ BILLION FOR TOURISM

Texas broke into the billion-dollar circle for tourism for the first time last year. State Highway Department's Visitor Industry Report says that 19,200,000 visitors spent $1,080,000,000 in 1966. Most travelers—14,500,000—arrived by auto and spent $723,800,000.

Trains, buses and airplanes carried 5,070,000. Average tourist spent $8.80 a day and remained in Texas 5.8 days, report shows. Average length of complete vacation trip was 4,417 miles, 1,117 of which was driven in Texas.

TYLER PARK AID PROMISED

A $504,891 development and rehabilitation project at Tyler State Park soon will be undertaken, according to Will Odom, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

State Supreme Court action overruling Tyler and Smith County motion for rehearing on suit over park ownership cleared the way for work, Odom said.

The Legislature appropriated $278,950, and federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation agreed to $225,941 grant. Project includes shelters, campsites, restrooms, trailer sites, picnic units, fishing docks, nature trails and other facilities. Scenic park is near Interstate 20.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burselson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

The Supreme Court has just made another ruling which will have far-reaching effects. By upholding a Federal Trial Court, a new doctrine has been created to the effect that the States have an affirmative duty to mix the races in public schools.

Previous court decisions had laid down the rule that the Constitution does not require integration. It merely forbids discriminatory racial segregation. Under this theory the assignment of pupils by race to achieve a balanced distribution would be as unconstitutional as the assignment by race to prevent integration. As a matter of fact, all the Civil Rights legislation passed in recent years has as a central objective the prohibition against disallowing children entering public schools because of race, creed or color. No part of the Law contemplates the forcing attendance of the races in order that an approximate equal number would attend a particular school.

The Court has not explained why it has shifted its position. One dissenting Judge of the Court of Appeals called the ruling of that Court "an abrupt and unauthorized departure from the mainstream of judicial thought."

"Guidelines" imposed by the U. S. Dep't. of Health, Education and Welfare look to a racial balance in all public schools. This means that if not enough negro parents choose to send their children to white schools, the Federal Government will do the choosing for them. It also means that if not enough negro teachers are assigned to schools where a large number of white pupils are in attendance, the Federal Government will refuse funds unless the imbalance is corrected. The so-called "Guidelines" indicate percentages that must be achieved in order to satisfy requirements.

The Court has, in effect, taken over the legislative function in sanctioning virtual control of the public schools systems by the Federal Government.

This decision affects mainly six states in the deep South. An editorial in the New York Times says that "The Supreme Court was wise in refusing to entertain further frivolous delaying actions by States in the deep South on school desegregation and the decision should hasten constructive development." This, in spite of the fact that no city or State has a greater problem in attempting racial balance in schools than does New York.

The hearts of the great Cities of the Country are experiencing an exodus of people to the suburbs. This leaves an increasing percentage of negro families in the city proper and, of course, greatly increases the imbalance of the city schools. Therefore, a balance will require the bussing of children

Archery Club Organized, To Use Lake Area

Bow-hunters of the Winters and Ballinger area have organized an archery club, the Runnels County Archery Association, leased an archery range, started plans for tournaments, and applied for affiliation with national and state organizations.

The RC Archery Association is headed by Jerry B. Whitlow as president, with Joe Polk vice president, and Bob Wilson, secretary-treasurer. At present there are 25 members of the organization, from Winters and Ballinger.

The association has leased from the City of Winters an area south of the dam at the new Winters Lake to be used as an archery range. Work has been done to clear the area and make it suitable for the purposes of the club. Targets have been built and installed, and the entire range has been described by archers from other sections as "one of the most ideal."

The association has applied for a charter from the National Field Archers Association and the Texas Field Archers Association, and is planning to hold tournaments at the local range. Membership is open to family groups, with no age limit.

Designs are printed on cotton cloth similar to printing on paper, using paste for inks.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Patterson by members of the association, and a group of beginning golfers Mrs. Patterson has been instructing also presented her with a gift.

It was announced that family nights will be held each Thursday at the Country Club, beginning May 4, and to continue through the summer months. Eighteen were present at the luncheon.

IN MILLIORN HOME

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Bob McClelland and daughter Debra were weekend visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Milliorn. Sgt. McClelland will leave May 10, for 13 months duty in Korea.

Action Expected
Soon On Water
District Bill

House action is expected soon on the proposed bill to create the Elm Creek Water Control District, it has been learned from Austin sources this week.

The proposed bill, tagged House Bill 1250, was sponsored by Grant Jones, State Representative from Taylor County, and was submitted to a subcommittee of the House Committee on Conservation and Reclamation. According to information, the subcommittee reported favorably on the bill and it now will be presented to the House, probably on the next local consent calendar—a calendar for all strictly local bills—and should be considered within the next few days. Following action by the House, the bill then will go to the Senate for consideration.

Runnels County Judge H. H. Rampy, who was instrumental in preparation of the proposal, has been in contact with Capitol sources concerned with the bill. He expected favorable action within a short time.

The proposed Elm Creek Water Control District would encompass Elm Creek and all its tributaries in the eastern half of Runnels County and South Taylor County. Upon formation of the official district, efforts will be made to build a series of water retaining dams on the main creek and tributaries, similar to the Valley Creek project in the western edge of the county, to control flood waters and conserve the soil and water.

Home Town Talk--

mouth of the bottle. The amount of liquid in each bottle determines the musical note emitted, and regular and lively tunes can be produced after a little practice.

On the flutes are Sally Spill and Aurora Ruiz—they carry the melody. Then Glenda Cooper, Martha Brown and Lenda Fuller have two or three bottles each they "play."

Swofford is an old hand on the bottle—a mature bottle-man, you might say... so he reserved for himself the biggest bottles—in fact, big jugs.

They have open dates for special engagements!

Coffee and coffee drinking is sacred to many. Kick a man's dog, ridicule his children, belittle his family tree, and he may shrug and let it go. But mess around with his coffee—or his coffee-drinking time—and you've got a problem on your hands.

Most real coffee drinkers have peculiarities which must be learned immediately by those who serve the stuff over the counters of the drug stores and cafes. Some want the cup filled each time to a certain point; and no more; some want the coffee at just the right temperature; some insist that the coffee be scalding hot when it is served, and then dump in a lot of ice and water to cool it. It's enough to drive any waitress or waiter to drinking coffee!

Some years ago a group of coffee drinkers were sipping and slurping in a local beanery when one of them mentioned that the coffee tasted "like a dish rag." The other agreed; the waitress dipped into the urn and pulled out a dish rag... and promised to change dish rags more often after that.

Dr. Z. I. Hale tells the story of an unusual coffee break at a local office. Seems the office crew made a pot of coffee each morning, and everybody paused for a break. On this particular morning, someone suggested that the coffee tasted "like feathers." —Investigation! A parakeet had escaped from his cage, and unnoticed by anyone had decided to go for a swim—in a coffee pot!

Mrs. Jerry Davis
Visited Husband
In Honolulu

Mrs. Jerry Davis returned last Friday from Honolulu, Hawaii, where she visited her husband, Sgt. Jerry Davis, who was flown to Hawaii from Vietnam.

Mrs. Davis left Abilene by air April 21, for California, from where she flew to Hawaii.

Sgt. Davis has been in Vietnam since December 13. He is assigned to a Military Police unit at An Khe in the Central Highlands of Vietnam, where he is on convoy duty and also on duty at a prisoner of war camp.

The Armed Services provides a system of rest and habilitation for personnel on duty in Vietnam, flying them out of the war area to Hawaii, Japan, and other localities where in many instances they may be joined by their families for a short visit.

Sgt. Davis is the son of Mrs. S. E. Davis of Ballinger.

Sgt. and Mrs. Davis have a three-year-old son, Jerry Jr., who stayed with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Green while his mother made the trip to Hawaii. Mr. and Mrs. Green met Mrs. Davis in Dallas Friday, and they attended the opening day of Six Flags Over Texas Saturday.

Set against Mexico's turbulent background, a lusty, thoroughly satisfying drama of heroic action and high adventure has been fashioned in "The Professionals," which shows Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights at the Fiesta Drive In Theatre. Written for the screen and directed by Richard Brooks in Panavision and color by Technicolor, this brawling, entertaining new film stars Burt Lancaster, Lee Marvin, Robert Ryan, Jack Palance, Ralph Bellamy and Claudia Cardinale.

The Columbia Pictures release recounts the efforts of four soldiers of fortune to rescue the beautiful young wife of an American millionaire held in a Mexican bandit desert stronghold. The would-be rescuers must pit their expert knowledge and cunning in battle against a band of some 150 skilled guerrillas. They must also overcome an even crueler enemy—the rugged, waterless wasteland and towering mountains of northern Mexico. How they carry out their mission, employing every artifice and the special skills of each individual "professional," makes for an exhilarating action film that sweeps along with the fury and impact of a desert sandstorm.

FOR FINANCIAL PROGRESS—

The formula for financial success is simple but not always easy to follow. It is — increase your income and reduce expenses. The latter is often most important for, a great income brings no net gain unless a part of it is retained to produce more income.

Working in close cooperation with a friendly bank is always an aid to progress. The primary purpose for which such an institution is established is to be helpful. In fact, its own success depends on how well it succeeds in rendering a constructive service to depositors and to the community.

This bank has grown steadily and solidly through the years since it was established. It is gratifying to us that this record was made possible by helping others to succeed. New depositors will be cordially welcomed.
