HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Winters is going to get a landing strip! After much study, hunting for possible sites, negotiations with landowners, and planning, the City Council has approved purchase of land for the strip.

This idea has been in the mill for a long time; but, as in everything worthwhile, it could not be done overnight. There were many obstacles to overcome; just any strip of land would not be adequate for a landing strip. In the first place, the land had to be located so as to be readily accessible from town. There had to be sufficient width to meet safety standards and provide room for parking facilities and, eventually, service facilities of some sort. The strip had to be long enough to accommodate most any type of aircraft being used by private companies, including twin-engine craft. The area had to be located so that natural and man-made obstructions do not create unnecessary hazards to aircraft in landing and taking off.

So far as is possible, the site picked for the landing strip meets all these requirements; it has been described as next to ideal for the purpose; there are few obstructions within a wide area of the strip; it is close to town; and length will be more than sufficient.

A casual observer perhaps would overlook the necessity for a landing strip facility for Winters. But the need is there, and is growing larger by the day. Many companies now use aircraft as a matter of course—and as a matter of economy—to serve their fields. Winters' industries and companies are no exception. Manufacturers must be served by suppliers, and they must have outlets for their products; and the fastest and most economical method of transportation is proving to be the airplane. It has been suggested that once Winters has an adequate facility, air traffic to and from this area will increase many times over. Seldom a week goes by that local businessmen, industrialists, agriculturists and oil men are not called to pick up a client at the Abilene airport—they could have flown on to Winters if a place to land had been available.

This facility will be much different from the many small airports which sprang up some 20 years ago following WW II. The so-called "weekend" flyer or small airplane owner will not be discouraged from use of the strip—in fact, he will be encouraged to take advantage of it. But meeting the requirements of the pleasure-flyer is only secondary in this instance. Primarily, provision of such a facility is necessary if Winters is to remain abreast of the rest of a progressive economy.

Ordinarily, we'd steer clear of poetry... in fact, fend it off with a ten-foot pole. But here is a little verse that is educational... and helps to fill space. (We swiped it!) This verse includes every letter in the alphabet except one. How long will it take you to spot the missing letter?

"A jovial swain should not complain,
Of any buxom fair,
Who mocks his pain and thinks it gain,
To quiz his awkward air."

Comes now a Senator who is voicing opposition to a proposed Constitutional Convention to write an amendment dealing with reapportionment. He says that he's afraid to let a bunch like that get together... "they're liable to do anything... Seems that many people don't really understand that another "bunch like that"—namely, the Congress—is the ONLY group the Diety has seen fit to endow with unquestionable wisdom.

EDDIE LITTLE... Winters Photographer

Eddie Little Awarded Registered Professional Photographer Honor

Eddie Little, Winters photographer, has been awarded the certification of Registered Professional Photographer for his outstanding—photographic—craftsmanship and ethical practices.

The award was made by the Texas Professional Photographers Association. Five Masters of Photography have passed upon Little's work, a requirement for the certification.

To meet other requirements for the certification, a photographer must annually have photographic work judged at exhibitions and annually attend photographic training courses or lectures, thus keeping up-to-date in his field.

in Texas to have received a national merit award.

The Winters photographer has been a state director of the Texas Professional Photographers Association for a number of years, and has had over 100 prints to win ribbons in exhibitions. He also has presented programs for the Texas association, and in New Mexico, and has been a judge for New Mexico, and has been a judge for New Mexico State photographers conventions several times.

Robert Guevara Welcomed Home

Robert Guevara, who has been in a hospital in Big Spring for several months, returned home Saturday to be welcomed by a group of wellwishers and friends.

Robert was seriously injured last fall during a hunting trip when a rifle accidentally was fired and the bullet struck him in the head. For many long weeks he was in a hospital in Abilene, and then was transferred to Big Spring where he underwent treatment to help him regain the use of his arms and legs.

His grandparents report that he has improved considerably and is expected to return to school in September.

The sale, scheduled for late September, was founded in 1961 when Coke County rancher Conda Wylie donated 20 calves to the Center.

This year's Roundup is expected to receive hundreds of animals from ranchers throughout the Southwest. All proceeds from the sale go to the WTRC, providing a third of the annual operating costs of the Center. The Center is dependent upon donations from groups and individuals, and does not receive any type of federal or state aid for operation.

Morris, chairman of the sale since 1962, said this year's sale would be held at Ranchers and Farmers' auction facilities on East Highway 80 in Abilene.

"We're ready to begin picking up cattle anywhere and at any time," Morris said. Cattle will be quartered at the new WTRC feeding pens south of Abilene until the sale date. Arrangements for picking up cattle donated to the sale can be made by calling OWen 2-1633 in Abilene.

F. Minzenmayer In Summer Project For Texas A. & M.

Fred Minzenmayer of Winters is one of 22 students participating in a summer training program as a part of the curriculum of the Texas A. & M. University recreation and Parks Department.

He will be working at Palo Duro State Park in the Panhandle.

The students are working in some of the major federal, state, county and municipal park and recreation systems throughout the nation.

Dr. L. M. Reid, head of the A. & M. Recreation and Parks Department, said the purpose of the "internship" is to give the group practical experience.

"Exposure to various philosophies of park and recreation administration is a prime objective," Reid said, "and both the university and participating agencies will work closely to arrange a summer program which is a challenging and stimulating experience for the interns."

The students spend considerable time on planning, financing and administering park and recreation systems.

City Buying Land For Landing Strip

In a called meeting Tuesday night the Winters City Council authorized the purchase of approximately 27 acres of land for use as a landing strip for aircraft.

Land picked for the landing strip is out of the C. Kornegay estate, less than a mile from the southwest corner of the Winters city limit. The strip will be east of the cattle feeding pens, with landing strip running approximately north and south.

The acreage authorized to be purchased will be about 400 feet wide; length will vary from approximately 3042 feet on the west boundary to 3010 feet on the east boundary. The north end of the strip will face FM 53, and will be easily accessible. Cost of the site will be $300 per acre.

Location of the landing strip is very satisfactory, according to members of the Council and others who have been studying the proposition. There are no surface obstructions in the vicinity to create hazards for aircraft landing and taking off, and the strip will be large enough to accommodate most executive-type aircraft, up to and including twin-engine craft used by many companies.

The Council has for some time been studying a proposal that a site for a landing strip be obtained to provide a landing facility for aircraft in the vicinity of Winters. There has been an increasing need for such a facility here because so many of Winters' industries—and other businesses—use small aircraft, it has been pointed out.

Plans are being made to grade and improve the site, and to put down an asphalt landing strip. Mayor Wade White said. No plans are being made at the present time toward providing service facilities—hangars, etc.—but water, electricity and telephone facilities will be available, it was said.

Improvement of the site will begin as soon as final purchase transactions are completed, it was stated.

'67 Wheat Crop Short, Harvested

Harvest of the 1967 wheat crop in the Winters area has been over for some time. This year's crop was short by regular standards, and considerably below that of last year, which was described as an unusual wheat year.

J. C. Jarrell, local agent for Abilene Southern Railroad, said that only 50 cars of wheat had been shipped from the local yards this year. This compares with the 236 cars he reported shipped in 1966. As usual, some of the current crop is stored for shipment and use later.

Sources said quality of this year's wheat was high, as usual. This area is noted for its high-protein wheat.

Roger Babson Column

Money Supply Is Vital Clue To Inflation, Threatening Recession

Babson Park, Mass. A year ago everybody was talking about inflation. Food Prices - especially meats - were soaring. Business was booming. But the stock market was going down. Those who had bought stocks as a hedge against inflation were puzzled, and disturbed. This year stocks have climbed smartly in the face of falling production and rather flat prices. What has happened to inflation?

Facts On Inflation
When we listen to stock brokers, we feel that all one has to do in order to make money is to buy common stocks and let inflation take its course. But when the government economists discuss the matter, we get the impression that to have no inflation is bad, a little is good, and a lot would wipe us all out. Then we talk with some pretty smart bankers, and they just about convince us that the best recipe for a real stretch of prosperity is to have all prices tilt gently downward.

Recent History An Example
No better example of what may happen when the money spigots are turned off - then on - can be found than a study of events in 1966 and so far in 1967. With living costs threatening to run away and with the stock market bumping the 1,000 Dow Industrial level, the money managers became alarmed. They cut the money flow from an annual rate of advance of about 8 percent to the zero level. Short-term interest rates spurred. Bonds sagged week after week. Stocks tumbled wildly. Money was dragged from savings banks and placed in higher-yielding bonds and certificates of deposit. Mortgage money disappeared, and home building sank to the lowest figure of the past two decades.

Money The Clue
Today it has become fashionable to talk of rising prices as being caused by "cost-push" inflation. Simply, this means that prices can be boosted by the unions demanding and getting increases in wages that are greater than the advances in productivity. It also means that higher taxes can cause inflation. How? By corporations adding the amount of the hike in taxes to the prices of their goods and services. It would seem, then, that the culprit behind inflation has been found; that all we would have to do to control inflation is to hold costs down. Yet a little examination will show that if there is not a sufficient supply of money around to create enough demand for products at the higher prices, sales will soon decline and profits tumble. This, in turn, will lead straight to a business recession. So it may be concluded that, without sufficient supplies of money, all the "cost pushing" in the world would lead not to inflation, but to recession!

Never Fear - It Will Return!
Those who have been wondering "where inflation went" may not have to wonder long. The outpouring of funds by the bank-system and by government action will soon be matched by perhaps the biggest budget deficit since World War II. As much as $15 billion, and maybe even $20 billion, will be the annual rate of federal-spending deficit by a year from today. If this proves accurate—and we think it is not far from the mark—inflation will be on everyone's lips again by spring 1968.

POLLUTION BOARD TO VISIT
President's Water Pollution Control Advisory Board will visit Texas June 26-29 to survey state pollution problems first hand and study solutions being undertaken.

Nine-member board will visit Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston and Houston. Trip will be climaxed June 29 by a public meeting at the Rice Hotel in Houston.

JULY DRAFT QUOTA 974
Texas draft boards will be called on to furnish the Army 974 men during July. Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz has announced. National call will total 19,900.

Monthly calls from January through June ranged from a low of 674 to a high of 1,110.

In July 155 local draft boards will forward 5,016 men for draft pre-induction examination. It's an increase from 4,000 in June.

State Capital Highlights—

Railroad Commission Authorizes Additional 2,268,000 Barrels of Oil

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Railroad Commission authorized Texas oil industry to produce an additional 2,268,000 barrels of oil during the last two weeks of June in view of curtailed supplies from the unsettled Middle East.

Commission increased the June allowable from 33.8 per cent to 35.9 per cent, retroactive to June 1. This figure will permit maximum oil production of 3,112,191 barrels daily compared to current 2,992,236 barrels. Commission postponed setting an allowable for July, but another moderate increase is almost certain.

State officials, conscious of the Legislature's special tax session looming next year, see a possible revenue windfall (which could reduce the new tax need) from the crisis-caused oil production jump.

With an increase from 10 to 13 days a month in production, there is no telling at this point how much the ultimate increase will be. Before the emergency situation, the oil production tax income for the coming year had been estimated at nearly $140,000,000.

These factors figure in the magnitude of future allowable increases:

Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Algeria have banned oil shipments to U. S. and Britain. Libya's production has been halted by a strike.

Arabs want to nationalize their oil fields or call in Spain and France to develop their oil fields or call in Spain and France to develop their petroleum industry, replacing the U. S. and Britain.

Suez Canal may remain blocked for several months. Thus any oil shipments would have to round the Cape of Good Hope. Trip would be longer and more expensive.

Interstate Oil Compact adopted a resolution calling for a 12.2 per cent limit on the ratio of imported oil to domestic stocks east of the Rocky Mountains. Experts say present situation demonstrates need for better government attitude toward domestic production and industry development.

Auto drivers may have forgotten, but they will be reminded of "points" starting August 1.

That's when the new insurance plan adopted last July by the State Board of Insurance begins to show on insurance rates. Drivers will pay 15 per cent more for insurance if they have one point charged against them, 35 per cent for two points, 60 per cent for three points and 90 per cent for four points.

Points are assessed for accidents or traffic law violations which came after August 1, 1966, when the plan was adopted. Penalties will apply when auto insurance policies are bought or renewed after August 1, this year.

A driver who is assessed points can "work them off." Only points assessed after August 1, 1966, will count. But after three years of being charged more, the points drop off the driver's record, for rate purposes.

Board believes this will lower the basic rates, thus will reward no-point drivers.

14-YEAR-OLDS CAN DRIVE
Fourteen-year-olds who complete driver education before August 28 still can get a license good until its regular expiration date.

Homar Garrison Jr., Director of Texas Department of Public Safety, issued the interpretation following numerous calls about new licensing law amendments. New law which goes into effect in late August would raise the minimum age for licensing drivers with behind-the-wheel instruction to 16, except in unusual cases. Garrison said, however, he did not interpret the new law as denying "the privilege of driving" to 14-year-olds who already have qualified under existing regulations.

DESALTING FEASIBLE
New study concludes that large scale desalting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley can provide a dependable source of good municipal water at costs comparable to that of conventional production.

Study for Texas Water Development Board and U. S. Department of Interior said water could be made available to a metropolitan district for about 25 to 31 cents per 1,000 gallons at a desalination plant. Cost of delivery to individual cities in the Lower Valley would increase that figure from one to two cents per 1,000.

COURTS SPEAK
U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments October 2 on whether the one-man-one-vote standard it applied to congressional and legislative districts also fits county commissioners precincts in Midland.

State Supreme Court found no error in lower court opinions dismissing the case of a woman who sued Galveston County for $20,000 after finding glass in scrambled eggs served her at the county's Memorial Hospital.

A certificate-holding student pilot does not meet standard insurance policy definitions of a duly-licensed aircraft operator whose passengers remain insured while in flight. State Supreme Court concluded in a Gillespie County case.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES
Gulfward state boundary is a line three marine leagues from coast, and in those waters Texas is empowered to control and regulate fishing, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has ruled.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

In counties where the office of ex-officio county superintendent has been abolished, a county judge serving in superintendent's role continues to be paid for the extra job until the end of the current term of office. Thereafter, he must perform those duties without pay.

State can make lease and rental contracts for up to four years, contingent on availability of funds appropriated by the legislature.

When a married couple creates a valid joint tenancy agreement with a third party, including right of survivorship, inheritance tax is applicable on the passing of the couple's interest.

WATE PROJECTIONS APPROVED
Texas Water Development Board found San Antonio River Authority eligible to seek $960,000 in state aid to build a low water dam on Cibolo Creek and provide water supply to Karnes City and Kenedy. SARA also will seek a federal grant of $915,000.

At the same time, board extended for 120 days a $2,700,000 loan commitment to the Upper River Municipal Water District for facilities to take water from the Proctor dam reservoir to Comanche, De Leon, Dublin and Gorman, pending outcome of bid for a federal grant.

The Family Lawyer

Right to "Get Even"

Haled into court for beating up a neighbor's son, Hawkins offered the following explanation: "He threw a rock at my little girl, so I went over and taught him a lesson."

But the court rejected Hawkins' excuse and ordered him to pay damages. Pointing out that the girl was no longer in danger at the time her father intervened, the judge said the right to protect did not include the right to punish.

By and large, the law does not give you the right to "get even" for a wrong inflicted upon you or your loved ones.

The reason lies in the "contract" between the individual and society. The individual gives up his right to punish a wrongdoer, in return for society's promise to do it for him.

To be sure, it may be difficult in a particular case to determine whether a person was acting to protect or to punish. Take this case:

A night watchman was rushed by a man wielding a knife. Drawing his gun, the watchman killed his assailant with two fast shots. But in due course, he himself was arrested and was brought to trial on a homicide charge.

"His first shot was legitimate self-defense," conceded the prosecutor. "However, his second shot was fired after the man was already wounded. That was no longer self-defense. It was punishment."

But it also appeared that the victim, though wounded, was still armed, close, and dangerous. Dismissing the charge, the court held that the watchman's second shot, too, was within the reasonable scope of self-defense.

On the other hand: A landlord and tenant got into an angry scuffle, during which the tenant was knocked to the ground. While he was lying there helpless, the landlord gave him a swift kick in the head.

Because of the kick, the landlord was later held liable for assault and battery. The court said that, with danger past, the landlord had clearly acted out of sheer vindictiveness — and must therefore pay damages.

It was the law's way of echoing the warning of the poet La Fontaine: "Revenge, however sweet, is dearly bought."

AT FATHER'S BEDSIDE
The children of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burton who were here for the week end to be at the bedside of their father were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burton of Texas City; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burton of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. David Burton of San Antonio and Billy Burton of San Angelo.

Kay Orr Attended Drum Major School At Cisco College
Kay Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Orr of Bradshaw, has returned from Cisco where she attended the Drum Major School at Cisco Junior College.

More than 275 drum majors and majorettes from throughout the state attended. Kay scored among the highest, having a score of 98. She was selected as a group leader.

Kay will be a senior in Winters High School and Drum Major of the Blizzard Band for 1967-68 school year.

Fishermen in the Texas Panhandle long have boasted that they are right in the middle of the best fishing in the world—namely halfway between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Now, however, fishing is a little closer to home.

Today, one of the newest and most interesting lakes in Texas is in the process of filling. Lake Meredith is created by the Sanford (no kin) Dam across the Canadian River, only a few miles out of Borger.

It is a new glory for this city, which first became famous something like 40 years ago with the discovery of oil.

At that time and during the intervening years the Canadian River, which cuts across the Panhandle north of Amarillo, was mostly a dusty stream that went wild with torrential rains and flooded its valley. Then came the wind and sun, and the river dried up again in spots.

Now that has been changed! After years of talk and planning and the expenditure of almost a hundred million dollars, Lake Meredith has been completed and the stored water will be carried by a 35 mile aqueduct to serve the nearby cities of Borger and Pampa.

Another aqueduct carries the water to Amarillo and a half-dozen other high-plains cities, which for years have depended entirely upon underground water for domestic purposes and agriculture.

Located in Hutchinson County, Lake Meredith will cover slightly under 44,000 surface acres. It will be 20 miles long when filled.

Sanford Dam was constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation, after years of research and survey, both by the government and by private agencies.

This lake presented some major problems because much of the reservoir site was in the heart of a major natural gas field. It was necessary to execute contracts with the owners of 19 pipe-lines and 44 producing wells for relocation of the lines and capping of the wells, or re-tapping them by slant drilling.

This all has to do with the building of the lake to impound the water. But to the Texas Panhandle, it means so much more in a new recreational area. Floating docks, boat moorings, fueling facilities, trailer parking areas and other recreational facilities are being provided.

This year will see the greatest utilization of the facilities now available.

Another interesting development is the work being done by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department in stocking the new lake with walleyes. Just a year ago some 2,000,000 fry were released in the lake. The baby walleyes were brought down from Iowa, in an exchange agreement between the two states.

Lake Meredith also has been stocked with black bass, crappie and catfish. The Canadian itself long has been a good catfish haven and natives have caught many fine cats from the river in the years gone by.

This walleye experiment has been most promising. After the first release of 500,000 in 1965, netting samples from the lake indicated good survival. Fishing for walleyes has been closed in Lake Meredith until such time as it has been shown the fish are well established.

Fine cooperation is expected from sportsmen from the area because the Panhandle long has been famous for its wildlife conservation programs. Most of the fresh water fishing that has been available to these residents has been in Colorado, New Mexico and Central Texas. So Panhandle anglers know the value of this conservation and will give it all the help possible.

Information about Lake Meredith can be obtained from the Chambers of Commerce in Borger, Pampa or any of the nearby towns all of which are extremely interested in this newest development in the Panhandle area.

"The Shaggy Dog"

A mother as well as an actress, Jean Hagen, the willow blonde cast opposite Fred MacMurray in Walt Disney's "The Shaggy Dog," is a firm believer in the moral responsibility of the movies.

"That's one reason I'm such an ardent admirer of everything Disney," she says. "The Disney name on a picture is like a guarantee that you can take your kids to it."

"The Shaggy Dog," is a comedy-fantasy about a teenager turned by magic into a part-time Bratislavian sheep dog. It stars MacMurray, Miss Hagen, Tommy Kirk, Annette Funicello, Tim Considine, and Kevin "Moochie" Corcoran, and was directed by Charles Barton for Buena Vista release.

best-selling novel set against the contemporary background of a grand hotel, will show here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

Rod Taylor, Catherine Spaak, Merle Oberon, Karl Malden, Melvyn Douglas, Richard Conte, Michael Rennie and Kevin McCarthy star in "Hotel," a Technicolor film which combines as many varieties of drama, comedy, tragedy and excitement as there are varieties of guests in the luxury establishment. Richard Quine directed the film from a screenplay by producer Wendell Mayes.

"Hotel" opens the doors of the richest suites, peeks through dusty keyholes and rises up the backstairs, from basement to penthouse, as it lays bare the round-the-clock drama of a luxury hotel in New Orleans.

"The Russians Are Coming"

"The Russians Are Coming" to the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, through United Artists release. In Color by DeLuxe and Panavision, the comedy stars Carl Reiner, Eva Marie Saint, Alan Arkin, Brian Keith, Jonathan Winters, Theodore Bikel and Paul Ford. Co-starring are Tessie O'Shea, Ben Blue, John Phillip Law and Andrea Dromm. William Rose wrote the screenplay based on Nathaniel Benchley's novel about a Russian submarine that comes too close to America for a curious look and gets stuck on a sandbar 400 feet offshore.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON
Indiana is known as the Hoosier state, but the origin of the word "Hoosier" is a bit obscure.

The dictionary says that Hoosier refers to the mountaineers of Kentucky who settled the southern part of Indiana. Sometimes a person who is a bit dirty and uncouth is called "an old Hoosier" by his more sophisticated city brethren.

Hoosiers have the reputation of being inquisitive, and some say they got their nickname because they could not pass a house without pulling the latchstring and crying out, "Who's there?"

Another version of the word indicates that it is a corruption of the word, "husher," denoting a man of superior strength or skill who could hush or overcome every adversary.

Citizens of Indiana frequently rode the riverboats to New Orleans in the early days when the Mississippi River was the main path of transportation. The New Orleans Picayune reported a "husher" saying that he "didn't see the reason of folks living in a heap this way where they grew no corn and had no 'bars' to kill."

Whatever its origin, the Hoosier state is Indiana, and the citizens there smile and accept the moniker for there isn't much else they can do to erase their nickname.

University Wants To Know How Places Got Names

Residents of Runnels County were asked this week to help solve the mystery of the origins of several geographical names found on county maps.

The information is needed for a dictionary of Texas place names, including Runnels and the other 253 counties, to be published soon by the East Texas State University press. Before Dr. Fred Tarpley, professor of English at the university, submits his final manuscript, he is appealing to county residents for assistance in contributing information about several names with unexplained origins.

With the following exceptions, the reasons for the choice of approximately 200 names found on detailed maps of the county have already been determined: Hog Creek, Quarry Creek, Valley View, Motley Oil Field, Mesquite Creek, Mule Creek, Brookshier, Lake Ballinger, Millan Oil Field, Clayton Oil Field, Beddo Oil Field, Bull Hollow Creek, Turkey Creek, Flag Branch, Rattlesnake, Mud Creek, Cree-Sykes Oil Field, Crews, Hopewell, Freeman Oil Field, Sykes Oil Field, Harmony, North Beddo Oil Field, Fairve, Little Coyote Creek, Poe Oil Field, Bay Oil Field, Wilmeth, Mazeland, Hollow Creek, Mustang Branch, Wagon Fire Creek, Fish Creek, Sanford Oil Field, Valley Creek, Pumphrey Community, Drasco, Big Coyote Creek, Bluff Creek, Mill Creek, Briley Oil Field, Red Flat Oil Field, Moro Mountain, Hull Dobbs Oil Field, Saxon-Gerratt Oil Field, Leonard Oil Field, Long Creek, Butternut Creek, Antelope Creek, Red Bank Creek, Kristoff, Rock Creek, Dry Ridge, Grape Creek, Love Oil Field, Pony, Bethel, Indian Creek, Willow Creek, St. Boniface, Olfen, Fuzzy Creek.

Dr. Tarpley, who started his research on Texas geographical names five years ago, has exhausted material available to him in history books, newspaper files, student research, and interviews with county leaders. He is hoping that the story behind the naming of the communities, creeks, and other geographical sites listed above can be explained before his book goes to press.

Information will be welcomed by Dr. Fred Tarpley, Department of English, East Texas State University, Commerce, Texas 75428.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Bright new gadgets intrigue most of us—except when they do not work after short use. There must be a lot of people sitting up late to figure out an electric comb that generates heat to help the lady set and dry her hair. Then, there are "wooden shoes" made out of plastic. . . . colored car keys of anodized aluminum in red, blue, green, and gold. Something practical—buttons on medicine cabinets to keep the kids out. Press them in the right order and the door swings open. Close it and the kids can't get in. The combination can be changed as fast as the little angels learn it. Luxury soap by the loaf. . . . Slice it as it suits. . . . Vaporizers in the shape of turtles, trains and Humpty Dumplings to replace the standard hissers and add a little fun to having a cold. Then, there are battery operated automatic kitchen towel dispensers — for those who do not want to go to the trouble to pull them down and tear them off. Business is always good for those who can think up new ideas.

Marketers have statistics on groups of potential customers for everything they make. There is the baby market, the teenage market, the young adult market, the senior citizen market, the Spanish, Negro, diabetic, geriatric, and the demographic (whatever that is) the socio-economic markets. It is amazing what must be known from the commercial standpoint on what will sell and what will not and how much tariff the market will bear.

In a bigger market, the Commerce Department is developing processes which may make old material more valuable as scrap steel than as junk, thus eliminating the need for outdoor warehouses and automobile graveyards. In the future, old automobiles may simply be moved from some central purchasing office to a processing plant. The land which now houses some 6 million discarded heaps a year can be used for other purposes. It is contemplated the competition for this material will open up a broad new market and a whole new set of advertisers. Whatever may result, if a few of our junked automobiles can go through the process of reincarnation, it may be a better way for highway beautification than to move the junkyards back from the highways or to screen them by high fences.

It might do us good to occasionally contemplate on the tremendous advances made in the millions of little things which all add up to great advances in things that may mean our very survival.

We can not exactly know when the moment was, but once upon a time a man decided he could mount a camel and get someplace faster than by walking. The first adventurer must have been pretty brave. Whoever did it, and at whatever time, he was responsible for a milestone in transportation and communication. He accelerated from the speed of human legs to that of his now tamed four-legged beast.

It took us almost all of the intervening 5,000 years to step up the speed of communication from that of a camel to the speed of light. In some ways, it was not so gradual. Only recently, in terms of time, when Lincoln was shot the news of the assassination was carried largely by horse, which was no great improvement over the camel.

All great advances can be used for good or evil because man is both good and evil himself.

We can not always blame the "THING" itself when things go wrong — it depends on how it is used. Even nature is double-edged. The sun gives light, yet its rays can kill. Water quenches thirst, yet men have drowned in it. Rain is a blessing. A hurricane is a murderer.

The world in which we live calls for greater responsibility on all of us because of what we can release with a flick of a switch.

A reader wants to know if the average criminal serves less time than the juror who convicted him.

Roger Babson Report—

Underground of Con Games Aimed At Victimizing Poor, Needy, Elderly

Babson Park, Mass. There is today a flourishing underground of con games aimed chiefly at victimizing the naive, the poor, and the elderly. Involved are essential services and products, and the approach generally appears to be both helpful and honest. But the Better Business Bureau and other protectors of the buyer warn that millions of dollars are being milked from unsuspecting customers without their even becoming suspicious.

Wide Range Of Come-Ons

The schemers don't have to try to sell Brooklyn Bridge or make an old lady withdraw her life savings to cover some allegedly "found" money that will be shared with her. Today's extortions take place in a most "natural" manner, in the marketplace, in the home, by mail. They have an everyday flavor; they look innocent enough. . . . until it's too late. Frequently they are directed at the 18 million senior citizens whose incomes may be low but whose bank accounts are too often just big enough to be vulnerable.

Heating, plumbing, and house repair proposals should never be accepted from strangers without a complete investigation of the prestige of the companies involved. Far too commonplace is the furnace "renovation" that finds the unit a "fire hazard." A new furnace costing several hundred dollars is suggested. For most households, it is easy and necessary to take the word of the "expert" . . . too often the furnace is already disassembled. Most victims don't bother to get professional help; they ante up the cash.

Store Loss-Leaders Sometimes Bait

Irking the Better Business Bureau in many areas is a retail strategy including ads offering fantastic bargain prices for brand merchandise. When the customer arrives, he is shunted away from the proffered article by one excuse or another. Far more expensive merchandise is demonstrated, with a big spiel on how much better it is than the advertised product. So many unwilling customers have been hooked this way that Educational TV has been showing films to teach the guileless or the weak-willed how to avoid being bilked.

This sort of thing also goes on in some frozen-meat centers. Advertising ridiculously low prices for beef, for example, can end up in clever diversion of customers to far more expensive cuts. Then, too, many buyers find that they pay regular supermarket prices—or higher — for meat after the "hanging weight" has been slashed by boning and fat removal. Some customers have reported that they ended up paying more than $1 a pound for beef cuts that included hamburger.

Watch Out For Work-At-Home And Mail-Order Gyms

Beware of the glamorous ads that tell you how to go into the mail-order business or how to make things at home that you can sell for a fortune, usually to the company doing the advertising. Here again the Better Business Bureau advises against responding to any glittering claims, particularly when you must send money to find out what it is all about. There have been instances where customers have bought expensive machines for turning out textiles, novelties, or clothing, with the promise that the company will buy the results. More often than not, fault is found with the customer's product; all that the firm cared about was unloading the costly machine.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to approximately 50 guests. Gift packages were opened by the honored couple and admired by those present.

IN CONDRA HOME

Department of Agriculture Will Try To End "Migration of People to Cities"

Woodrow Hoffman, Chairman of the Runnels County Technical Action Panel said today the Department of Agriculture had instructed its rural development specialists to "end the migration of rural people to large cities by helping small communities revitalize themselves."

Hoffman said instructions had been sent by Assistant Secretary John A. Baker to all the field staffs of USDA agencies urging them to expand efforts to:

—Provide assistance to multi-county planning and development groups.

—Extend services and benefits to all Federal agencies into rural areas.

—Help rural communities to make economic development plans and secure services needed to carry out the plans.

The Assistant Secretary's action emphasized the importance of the Technical Action Panels that the Secretary of Agriculture has ordered established in each State and the approximately 3,000 rural counties to work with local community development organizations.

"Basically, what the department is doing," Baker explains, is realigning and fortifying its field offices to insure that rural communities do not miss out on help available from any source in their development programs.

"We have established a 'one-stop' service concept in every rural county to enable local leaders to (1) get help they need in finding out what is impeding the development of their local economy, (2) obtain assistance in preparing economic development plans, and (3) tap all government and private services that can be used to turn dreams into reality."

Membership of the technical action panels at the state level consists of the heads of all Department of Agriculture agencies that have State offices. The heads of all other government agencies that provide support in the development of rural areas are invited to become members. The panels are assisted by the directors of the Extension Service, who in some States also serve as a panel member.

The State Director of the Farmers Home Administration serves as chairman. The Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist is co-chairman, and the State Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is alternate chairman.

To give staff support to the panels a Farmer Home Administration rural development specialist has been assigned as executive director in 40 states. Baker in his directive also gave details on multi-county panels that are to be set up where needed to service area-wide planning bodies. These panels will include development specialists from the same group of agencies represented on state and county panels, but will deal with projects that serve more than one county.

"Modern communication and transportation," Baker points out, "have made possible a new kind of functional rural community that has a population base adequate to support a large number of basic public services. Generally this new type of community includes two or more rural counties and at least one small city which is the focal point of local economic, educational and social activity. Areas of this type can undertake development programs that no single county or community could afford."

In addition, Baker's instruction listed the contributions to be made in rural areas development by USDA agencies that do not have nationwide, county-level field staffs.

For example the Consumer and Marketing Service will provide technical assistance in the area of marketing services and food assistance programs.

The Farmer Cooperative Service will help provide advisory and educational assistance to rural cooperatives.

The Forest Service, through its cooperative State and private program, will provide technical assistance in each area where forests are economically important.

The Rural Electrification Administration, working through its borrower organizations, will furnish credit-finding aid for commercial and industrial projects.

Support efforts of the Agriculture Research Service, the Cooperative State Research Service, the Economic Research Service, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, and the Statistical Reporting Service were also listed.
