HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Things have been pretty quite around—not even much activity at the Watering Hole at Harrison Auto Parts (the Thinkers have stopped thinking), and the old boy out on Bluff Creek is in summer hibernation. So we can all sit around in the normal rut and participate in the normal pastime—namely, cussing the weather, communists and bureaucrats. But not necessarily in that order, but the weather usually is the number one subject.

Summer is just started, and the hot weather will be the main topic for some time to come. Seems rather foolish, we know, though we do it, to meet another fellow on the street and make the remark, "Man, ain't it hot!" Sure, it's hot, and he is probably well aware of it; or maybe he has been trying to get it off his mind for a couple of minutes, a remark such as that serves only to remind him of his discomfort. Guess it's because we all love company in our misery, so we remind everyone we see how miserable we are. Some beautiful friendships could be ended by bringing up the weather at the wrong time.

Someone even said the other day they believed it is "hotter than it used to be." We don't know the statistics on heat waves, but believe it only seems hotter because we are all more or less accustomed to living under air conditioners most of the time, and notice the heat more when we get out; and have grown soft.

Regarding hot weather, it always seems to be the natural thing: when a group of people begin discussing the weather, all kinds of stories start cropping up about the "especially" hot summer some years back; or about the time when "we were cutting (or baling) hay in the creek bottom, and the field was surrounded by trees and there was no breeze, and the temperature went to 110!; or about the time "I was chopping cotton, barefoot, and had to step from the shade of one cotton stalk to another to keep from burning my feet; or about riding a "wiggly-tail" cultivator, and it was so hot "I could not touch the levers." And then the one about "it was so hot my Model T was stuck, sunk about five inches into the melted asphalt on the only paved road in the county!"

When such stories get started in such a group, there is never one that can't be topped. If the conversation has to be suspended until the next morning, someone is bound to think all night and come up with a real good one by the next day.

It's all hopeless, though, this sitting around and cussin'! The weather, we can't do anything about. Next comes the bureaucrats—if we cuss them too much and too loudly, they just might cut us off on some of the "hand-outs" we have become accustomed to. And cussing' communism is in vogue, if it is done in the right manner—we have to be careful for fear we will tread on some sensitive toes. And cussing' present regimes of certain countries is tricky too—we may be cussing' our "enemies" one moment and cussing' out "friends" the next.

We never fish for fish—we fish for fun. The way they bite for us, if we were fishing for fish, it wouldn't be any fun.

From the Biloxi (Miss.) Herald: Who is the Forgotten Man? He is that individual who does an honest day's work, pays his bills, brings up two or more children, keeps up a small savings account, never asks for charity from anyone, never gets into trouble with the police, never finds fault unless a principals is involved.

"When the hat is passed around, the Forgotten Man chips in his mite. The taxgatherer visits him regularly, and collects toll for the upkeep of the police courts, jails, workhouses, and the relief rolls—none of which the Forgotten Man ever uses. He is self-supporting, self-starting and self-sufficient.

"The Forgotten Man is just the everyday, common, ordinary, plain citizen who does the best he can and makes a pretty good job of it. He is the man you can count on in times of war or in times of peace, in times of prosperity or in times (Continued on page 8)

Water Usage In Winters Below Normal

Water usage during the past month in the city of Winters has been below normal for this season of the year, City Water Superintendent W. D. Waggoner said this week.

The water superintendent said that during the first week of July and for almost the entire month of June, consumption of treated water was measured at from 600,000 to 800,000 gallons per day. Normally during this season of the year, usage hits a million gallons and more per day.

Waggoner said the recent rains and showers which have been received in Winters proper accounts for the lowering of water consumption. In May, before the rains were received, when temperatures hovered near 100 degrees and sometimes climbed above, usage was above the million-gallon mark for one continuous week, he said.

Winters City Lake caught a substantial amount of water during the last rains on the watershed northeast of Winters, and water level this week is about 14 to 15 inches below the spillway, the water superintendent said.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

There was scheduled but later cancelled, an "International Seminar" to be held in Tanzania on July 15 to the 28, on the matter of sanctions against the governments of Rhodesia and South Africa. The United Nations was a part of the sponsoring authority and was to assist in its financing. The U. S. was to participate and of course to foot a goodly part of the bill. Just what business it is of the United States to dip its oar into the affairs of South Africa and Rhodesia is not easy to understand.

Speaking for our Government in the United Nations, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg joined in support of the British in calling for sanctions against Rhodesia when the Government of Ian Smith refused to accept joint control with the Africans to govern Rhodesia.

This is not a question of Economics, the form of government or its character, but, rather, social.

"Apartheid" simply means a separation of the races, and these two countries are the only places in the world it is applied. South Africa and Rhodesia say that the word means "apart" but equal development of the blacks and whites. Many of those with an intimate knowledge of this area of the world, by firsthand observation, are convinced that there is less discrimination, as the term is ordinarily applied, than in many parts of our own Country, but the do-gooders have world sway and are going to reform all those who do not share their view.

While the United States continues to back the British on the Rhodesian embargo, British flagships continue to carry goods to Communist Viet Nam. They are less than they were a few months ago, but the double standard of England is plainly visible in its willingness to trade with Communist countries, but not with Rhodesia. Rhodesia and South Africa are not recipients of America's foreign aid, but we joined in sanctions against them while talking of "building bridges" to trade with Communist nations.

National Council of Churches says that the battle concerning sanctions against Rhodesia is actually being fought in Washington, and in this they are correct to a considerable degree. Well organized lobbying is bringing pressure to bear in Congress to quiet criticisms for our official support of sanctions against what they call the illegal regime of Ian Smith. On the other hand, there are influential pressures to encourage Congress to declare null and void the Executive Order approving the United Nations action for selective mandatory trade sanctions.

Many of the same people who want to see the Government of Rhodesia and South Africa overthrown are for treating North Viet Nam as a friendly enemy or either withdrawing from all of Southeast Asia and turn it over to Communist aggression. While our own men are dying in Viet Nam, while millions are suffering from malnutrition, the do-gooders have world sway and are going to reform all those who do not share their view.

MOVIES

"Island of Terror"

"Island of Terror," stars Peter Cushing and Edward Judd, and deals with the unknown. Suddenly, instances of men and women living on a dreary, fogged-in island begin to appear as formless masses, their bones completely gone from their bodies. How this happened, and what is done about it, makes a terror-filled motion picture experience. Co-starring Carole Gray and Niall MacGinnis, it was directed by Terence Fisher from an original screenplay by Edward Andrew Mann and Alan Ramsen.

"CinderFella"

In "CinderFella," Jerry plays as the title implies, the male counterpart of little old Cinderella. Only there have been many changes made, all of them contributing to the hilarity and originality of the comedian's newest gift to folks who like to laugh. Produced by Jerry himself for Paramount release, "CinderFella" co-stars Ed Wynn as the Fairy Godfather, Judith Anderson as the wicked stepmother, Henry Silva and Robert Hutton as the mean stepbrothers, and Anna Maria Alberghetti in the role of The Princess. As is immediately obvious, only the stepmother retains her original sex, but there are many other changes in this modernized version of the old fairy tale.

"Is Paris Burning?"

Over one thousand years have passed since the barbarians sacked Rome but it was only a little more than 22 years ago that Paris, France was rescued from similar destruction in one of the narrowest escapes in the annals of Western civilization. The complete destruction of Paris was the order of the day in the summer of 1944 when the German occupation of the City of Light was threatened by the rapidly advancing Allied armies. An incredible chart of ruin was ordered and followed. Dynamic charges were all in place. Only one ingredient was lacking: a signed order from the German general charged with carrying out Hitler's mad plan to blow up the Louvre Museum, Notre Dame Cathedral, the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe and the splendid bridges spanning the Seine River. The facts behind this monstrous plan and its failure come vividly to life in the Paramount-Seven Arts-Ray Stark presentation "Is Paris Burning?" showing Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

"Harper"

When "Harper" was being filmed on the Marion Davies estate, Paul Newman, who plays a private-eye in the thriller, cased the interior of the late star's home and was intrigued to discover five wall safes, one of them in the kitchen. For the rest of the day, Paul and co-stars Lauren Bacall, Julie Harris, Pamela Tiffin, Arthur Hill, Robert Wagner, Robert Webber and Shelley Winters debated the need for a kitchen safe.

A few hours, and many clever quips later, having gotten nowhere slowly, they called upon Captain Horace Brown, widower of Miss Davies, for an answer.

Brown, who is making his acting debut in the role of a bartender in "Harper," had never noticed the safe before. His deduction: "A hiding place for caviar, or a cook's jewels." Warner Bros. Technicolor—Panavision film shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre.

while uncontrolled population growth breeds misery, frustrations and future aggressions, the United Nations has decided the real danger to the peace of the world is in a Government in Salisbury which no longer accepts instructions from London. But with the kind of irony which is becoming the hallmark of the United Nations, the very nations which so pride themselves on their anti-colonialism are trying to punish Rhodesia for refusing to behave like a colony.

Before we lend our own power to the support of such actions, we would do well to ask whether they might not be a greater threat to the peace than the policies of the Government they are designed to punish.

As was called to the attention of the Department of State and Mr. Goldberg on December 7, 1966, at the time of our approval of the United Nations action against Rhodesia, should we not ask ourselves whether we would be willing to tolerate this kind of intervention in our own internal affairs.

Finding Fish Is Easy—Finding white bass is easy, providing you know how. Perhaps the easiest way on most of Texas' large impoundments is to watch for the birds. When you see a flock of gulls diving down into the water, it is a sign that the whites are chasing shad. And that's a cue for you to chase the fish. Cast a heavy, fast sinking spoon near the edge of the activity. You'll discover that the whites usually are deep down and dining on the injured shad that sink to the bottom.

Once in awhile you'll latch onto a big old lazy black bass down there, too.

"Remember, there are millions of him, and there isn't much chance that he will ever go crazy even though the whole world about him does seem inclined that way. When things get too bad he will take a hand at running them himself, and you can depend upon him to do it in a sensible way."

Former Resident Goes To Rome For Wedding

Mrs. Homer Fish of San Angelo, former resident of Winters and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stephens of Winters, recently flew to Rome, Italy, with her daughter, Patricia E. Fish, where Miss Fish and Milo Keith Matthews were married June 19 at an Air Force Base. A civil ceremony was performed at 12:15 on June 19, and at 3 in the afternoon, a religious ceremony was performed at the Air Base.

Mrs. Fish and her daughter left Houston June 7 aboard a KLM Royal Dutch Airline plane, flew to Montreal, Canada, and then to Amsterdam, Holland. While in Amsterdam they toured the city and visited a diamond cutting and mounting company and an art museum.

From Amsterdam they flew to Rome, where they spent two days sightseeing, visiting tourist attractions which included Trevi Fountain, the Vatican City and St. Peter's Cathedral. They also went to Naples, and to Brindisi, on the Adriatic Sea, where Mr. Matthews is stationed with the Air Force.

From Brindisi, Mrs. Fish traveled alone to Florence, and then to Venice where she went on a gondola tour, and visited churches, art museums and other places. Two couples from Chili, South America, joined her on a gondola tour in Venice.

From Venice she flew to Milan, and then took a train to Zurich, Switzerland. From Zurich she went via Eurobus through Switzerland, and the Black Forest of Germany to Frankfurt. While in Germany she took a boat ride on the Rhine River, viewing old castles and villages, to Koblenz, and then drove to Bonn, West Germany, and then to Cologne. At Cologne she visited a cathedral which was partly destroyed during World War II, and is being restored. She returned home by way of Amsterdam, Holland.

Mrs. Fish said that most every place she visited the people spoke some English.

A man hath need of tough ears to hear himself freely judged.
