HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Information, photographs and historical material on "ghost towns" are in demand for articles in national magazines, according to the publicity department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Several requests have been received lately seeking the names of ghost towns, pictures of them during their better days, information as to their founding and their founders, names and anecdotes about characters who were prominent in the towns and other data about the famous landmarks of the particular town.

Any such information and material can be sent to the publicity department of the WTCC in Abilene and it will be sent on to the publishers, who will develop the information further.

Many such ghost towns exist in West Texas, according to early records. Some of these towns have disappeared completely and others have dwindled to a store or two and a historical marker, but there is considerable interest by history buffs, according to the WTCC publicity director, Jack Nixon Jr.

He said publicity in national magazines will create more tourist interest in these spots and more tourists mean more dollars in West Texas.

This is a story of confidence in self. So that it may be fully appreciated the accounting must be prefaced with a description of the place:

No. 8 fairway at the Winters Country Club is a 240-yard Par 4 straightaway, with Bluff Creek as a natural hazard just in front of the tee box. Men golfers must drive over the creek with their first shot—or wind up in the creek. The ladies' tee box is across the creek. Locale established:

Hal Dry was telling about his play on No. 8. "My ball was lying in perfect position for an eagle, but I missed it! It was right in the middle of the fairway, just in front of the ladies' tee box!"

As long as a golfer can keep that kind of confidence . . .

Jiggs Nichols paid another golfer for a "golf lesson" some three-four months ago. When he handed over the dollar bill, he marked it. The "teacher" had planned to keep it—for a souvenir—but somehow it got away from him and into the channels of commerce. After several weeks, that bill came home to roost—Jiggs received it in change. Now he won't let it go—even at a premium; he doesn't want the word to get out that he paid for a golf lesson.

Freedom of expression is as basic and inalienable a right under representative government as freedom of the press. But, by no stretch of the imagination can the principle of freedom be stretched to include mass defiance of laws governing an orderly society.

Former Supreme Court Justice, Charles E. Whittaker, warns that ". . . history shows that every society which became lawless soon succumbed, and that the first evidences of each society's decay appeared in the toleration of disobedience of its laws and the judgments of its courts . . . it can hardly be denied that a large part of our current rash and rapid spread of lawlessness has derived from planned and organized mass disrespect for, and defiance of, the law and the courts, induced by the irresponsible and inflammatory preachments of some self-appointed leaders."

The remedy is as plain as the threat. It is simply to insist that our governments, state and federal, reassure and discharge their "first duty" of protecting the people against lawless invasions upon their persons and property by the impartial and vigorous enforcement of our criminal laws and by the swift, certain, and substantial punishment thereunder of all persons whose conduct violates those laws.

Those who genuinely believe in freedom of speech and press and all of our other freedoms in the United States should be well aware of the distinction between freedom and license.

Farm Safety Week July 23-29 In Runnels County

County Judge W. H. Rappy has officially proclaimed the week of July 23-29 as Farm Safety Week in Runnels County, according to Marion Hays, president of the county Farm Bureau. The local farm organization is coordinating activities for the special farm safety campaign.

President Johnson and Governor Connally have previously designated the week on national levels as a period to call attention to worthwhile safety practices that can reduce disabling injuries and death.

Hays pointed out that the accidental death rate for farm residents has increased since 1961. "If this trend is to be reversed, and the needless suffering and losses substantially reduced, each of us must have a renewed effort," he said. He emphasized that farming remains one of the most hazardous occupations in America today. He also said that farm and ranch families can reduce these costly farm accidents by using some of the tools of safety such as seat belts, fire extinguishers and SMV emblems.

In his official proclamation, County Judge W. H. Rappy said, "All the citizens of Runnels County are deeply concerned about the safety and well-being of farm families from whom we receive our abundance of food and other essential agricultural commodities.

"Farm and ranch accidents reap a grim harvest of approximately 150 fatalities and thousands more suffer painful disabling injuries each year in Texas, plus the great economic loss, causes profound physical and psychological damage suffered by members of farm families that are involved."

Five HS Students To Attend School For Cheerleaders

The course, which closes July 28, is designed to introduce new yeils and cheerleading techniques, more effective pep rallies, better promotion and increased school spirit.

Industrial Club Observed First Year Wednesday

The Winters Women's Industrial Club observed their first anniversary Wednesday afternoon of last week during their monthly meeting at the clubhouse on College Street.

Mrs. Agnes Lawrence is club president; Mrs. John Shipman, vice president; Mrs. Jim Edwards, secretary; and Mrs. Lora Coupland, reporter.

The club was formerly the Winters Home Demonstration Club, which was organized in 1932. In July of last year, members met for the last time under that name, and adopted a new name, Winters Women's Industrial Club. The club operates as an unaffiliated organization, with newly adopted by-laws and constitution.

Officers of the old Home Demonstration Club continued to serve in office during the remainder of 1966, and were re-elected for the year 1967 in the new club.

Aim of the club is to devote its time to charitable and civic affairs in the Winters community, the Winters Public Library being of vital interest.

One of the main interests of this organization is serving weekly luncheons to the Winters Lions Club.

During the past year the club has donated funds to the March of Dimes, Winters Public Library, West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene, sent a Christmas box to the Abilene State Hospital, and presented sheets to the Winters Municipal Hospital. Members brought articles to the last meeting to be sent to the State Hospital in Abilene.

Members of the club point with pride to the clubhouse, which was purchased by them with money earned in bake sales and serving luncheons to the Lions Club each week.

Each meeting has been devoted to studying crafts and solving problems of the community and helping with charitable affairs. Members have brought articles of interest to be displayed at each meeting, such as antiques, crocheted work, knitted articles, all sorts of handwork, and other crafts.

Presently, there are 14 members in the Winters Women's Industrial Club.

For the anniversary observance, Mrs. Walter Daniel was in charge of the program, and several articles of handwork were displayed. Mrs. Simpson displayed a handmade, embroidered bedspread and pillow cases to match. Mrs. Lawrence displayed antique crocheted articles and some embroidered articles made by her when she was five years old.

Mrs. Coupland was hostess and served angel food cake, ice cream, cookies and punch.

OEO Approves Swim Program In Winters

A summer swimming project for underprivileged children has been approved for Winters by Central Texas Opportunities, Inc., under the poverty program of the Office of Economic Opportunities, it was disclosed this week.

A total of $1200 has been appropriated for the program in Winters, a spokesman for Central Texas Opportunities Inc., said.

The program calls for co-operation by the City of Winters in providing, without charge, pool facilities as the City's contribution toward the program.

The program, as explained by CTO spokesman, provides salary payment at the base rate of $300 per month for a swimming supervisor, with a helper to receive $1.40 per hour.

Wayne Roberts, who has been in charge of the Municipal Swimming Pool this summer, has been designated as supervisor for the program.

CTO spokesmen said applications from persons desiring positions as aides, or helpers, will be received until noon Monday, July 24. Applications should be forwarded to Roberts. It was not announced how many helpers will be employed under this program.

Date for beginning the program here has not been announced, but City officials said swimming classes under the program will be held from 10:45 to 11:45 daily.

The swimming program in Winters will be restricted to children of families meeting the "poverty program" criteria, that is, with incomes of less than $3000 per year, it was stated. Children from families with higher incomes will be disqualified from the course.

Joe Philpott of Coleman is director of Central Texas Opportunities, Inc., with board or committee members named from the several counties covered by the organization. CTO is clearing house and approval agency for all poverty program projects, such as the Head Start Program, in this area.

This is in line with a recent directive from Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, following the signing of the Post Office Department appropriation bill by President Johnson.

State Capital Highlights—

July Oil Allowable At Record High To Meet Shortage Caused By War

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Railroad Commission has turned up the oil allowable to a record high 48 percent of potential — retroactive to July 1—to meet demands created by the Middle East shoot-out. Commission's extraordinary mid-month emergency order was the third of the kind since the Arabian oil cutoff. It boosted allowable to 3,830,560 barrels a day—higher than during latter part of the 1957 Suez oil crisis and probably the highest since wide-open production days of 1948 when producers were encouraged to build up war-drawn crude supplies.

New increase adds 131,000 barrels a day to July allowable, which was raised to 42.9 percent on the first of the month. Major purchasers told the Commission added production was necessary.

Allowable was 33.8 percent when the Arab-Israeli shooting started in June. Commission raised it slightly—to 35.9 percent—in mid-June, retroactive to June 1, and on July 1 announced the 42.9 percent order. August allowable is due to be set this week.

Since the percentage factor was first used in 1963, the 37.5 percent of potential production was the highest adjustment used until the present Middle East crisis erupted.

In addition to the major effect on the state's general economy, a steadily climbing allowable appears likely to increase Texas' governmental tax income substantially. It has been estimated that the July 1 order would mean a $53,617 a day increase in state tax income—or a total of $1,600,000 through this month. Obviously, the increase now will be greater.

If the crisis continues for several months, the added income will be a major factor in shaping special session tax needs next year.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jim C. Langdon emphasized that the Commission is determined to avoid repetition of the situation that followed the Suez emergency when oil industry suffered for two and a half years working off surplus stocks which piled up as a result of the big allowable boost a decade ago.

AG OPINIONS

State can pay for telephones and rent electric typewriters for use by legislators in their home district offices, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has ruled. In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

—New law reorganizing Texas National Guard Army Board and extending terms of members to six years is constitutional.

—Dallas County auditor has authority jointly with the county's hospital administrator to establish and keep accounting procedures for the Dallas hospital district subject to board of managers' approval.

—Bee County attorney and 36th district attorney must report to district courts and county clerks all their collections of public funds (or file negative reports if they have received none).

FARM MARKET EXPANSION

Agriculture Commissioner John White announced the initiation of what he called "the most aggressive market expansion campaign in the history of Texas as agriculture."

White said the marketing drive will include efforts to present the true quality image of all Texas foods and fiber products as well as specific programs to bolster markets for Texas-produced and processed commodities.

HURRICANE 'WARNINGS' OUT

The 1967 hurricane season has arrived, and coastal residents had better not forget it, warns Department of Public Safety Director Col. Homer Garrison Jr.

Pamphlets on hurricane precautions are being distributed to local civil defense offices in coastal counties.

Garrison said too many people "develop a false sense of security" after small hurricane experience or having been "on the fringes" of a major storm, and this attitude can be fatal.

Three major hurricanes have hit the Texas coast this century, including Carla in 1961.

NOTICE TO STUDENTS

It is with a great deal of regret that we announce that this school year, for the first time in more than 15 years, we will not make the annual pictures.

Due to the excessive stress and strain involved in taking and processing 300 or more pictures and orders in a period of 2 months, it will be impossible for us to take the pictures this year without taking too much chance of a disastrous effect on health.

We will be able to continue regular operation by taking a limited number of sittings, and will be open for business August 1, but until Eddie has completely recovered from the heart attack suffered last spring cannot undertake the additional pressure of the annual work.

Once more, we are sorry.

MOVIES

"COME SPY WITH ME"

"Come Spy With Me," the Jamaican holiday dip into espionage, is set to swing into the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre Friday night only. Its swinging cast of handsome beach boys and darlings of the discotheque scene is headed by Troy Donahue. Starring with him are Andrea Drom (the "Is this any way to run an airline?" TV girl who made her film debut as the baby sitter in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming") and Albert Dekker, famed for his portrayal of Dr. Cyclops.

Espionage is the heart of the plot with Andrea Drom starring as an unlikely secret agent. Albert Dekker turns out to be the target of her spying; old Dr. Cyclops has struck again, this time representing an unnamed, unconscionable enemy bent on destroying a ship carrying a top level meeting of foreign secretaries of state.

"RED TOMAHAWK"

For his latest robust western, Producer A. C. Lyles has taken a historical fact and fleshed it into a handsome wide screen Technicolor production for Paramount Pictures entitled "Red Tomahawk." Cracking with excitement, the new release shows Saturday night only at the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre and has the winning combination of Howard Keel and Joan Caulfield in lead roles.

With an all-star cast Producer Lyles has based his script on the premise that the famous massacre on the Little Big Horn could have been handily averted had Gen. George Armstrong Custer not deliberately left four Gatling guns behind with his supplies on the Powder River.

"DOCTOR, YOU'VE GOT TO BE KIDDING"

"Doctor, You've Got To Be Kidding!" is the kind of movie that makes you forget your troubles.

With Sandra Dee and George Hamilton as its attractive new romantic team and such favorites as Celeste Holm, Bill Bixby, Dick Kallman, Dwayne Hickman and night club comedian Mort Sahl adding to the fun, this MGM attraction has something for everyone — an amusing plot, the latest word in lavish sets and costumes filmed in Panavision and color, songs and dances, and rapid-paced action.

Comin' to the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"THE RARE BREED"

Jimmy Stewart is wearing his old clothes to work again. In "Universal's" "The Rare Breed," just as in a dozen or so other large-scale, largely outdoor pioneer adventure dramas, dating all the way back to his "Winchester 73" for the same studio 15 years ago, he wears the identical weather-beaten wardrobe. "The Rare Breed," in Technicolor and Panavision, comes to the Fiesta Drive - In Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday nights.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

There is no more dedicated hound in the world than the "Hog dawg."

This is not a special breed that wins ribbons and cups at dog shows. In fact, most hog dogs might be classified as mongrels, crossbreeds and dogs that otherwise wouldn't be worth shooting. But as hog dogs they are tops.

In Texas there are two kinds of hog hunting.

Wild Undomesticated Hogs

In the Big Thicket of East Texas are the feral or wild undomesticated hogs. They have been bred through generations of hogs that have roamed the thickets, eating acorns, rooting up tender herbs with their tough snouts and breaking into corn cribs. They are lean, lanky and dangerous.

In a way, they represent the Arkansas razorbacks and no doubt some of them are kin. These thick hogs occasionally are seen crossing the highways in Southeast Texas. They are hunted as a sport in much of the timbered country.

Hunting them requires mean dogs and tough men. It is a sport all its own. And the dogs which hunt the hogs seldom are good for anything else, although their cousins might be good coon or possum dogs.

These dogs are natural hunters, reviving the instincts of their own wild ancestors in love of the chase. They'll bay a hog and kill it or hold it until the hunters arrive. Most of the time they come away badly slashed, because wild hogs give no quarter in a fight.

In Arkansas, just across the Texas line, some of the hog hunters now are using bulldozers. These tenacious, square jawed animals can grab a pretty good size shoot and shake it to death.

Javelina Hunting

In Southwest Texas there is another type of hog hunting — the javelina or collared peccary. Generally, the dogs are the same offbreeds. They are not much good for anything else.

But you talk with a man who likes to hunt javelinas with a dog and these nondescript pooches are just about as dear to them as their own children.

If anything, they are slightly faster than the East Texas dog because they have more open country. They are just as dedicated to their work and they don't die easily. Sometimes they are slashed unmercifully by the javelinas. But they keep on fighting.

Because of this dog's tenacity, the javelina hunter follows his hounds as closely as he can. Usually the dogs are smart enough not to engage in a one-dog death battle with a hog.

These dogs have a language all their own. When they bark "treed," all the other dogs in the hunt soon gang up on the hog. Sometimes the air is so thick with hogs and dogs it is hard to separate them.

Bob Snow, a retired game warden who lives in Kerrville, when he's not hunting in Mexico or Central America, has a pack of these hounds (in addition to his other dogs used for trailing wounded deer during the season).

Another of these old-time wardens is August Timmerman of Hondo, west of San Antonio. Timmerman and his sons probably have taken more javelinas with dogs than any other hunters in Texas. They happen to live in an area where not only are the javelinas plentiful, but there still are a few of the old Russian board around. These men spend most of their week-

Winters Readers Showing Higher Interest In Library

High interest in the Winters Public Library is being shown this summer, Miss Myra Glover, librarian, has said.

For instance, on Wednesday, July 5, a total of 196 books were checked out — the largest number of books ever checked out in one day, the librarian said. About 400 books are circulated every week during the summer months.

The children's reading group this summer is the largest in the history of the library, too, Miss Glover said. There are 108 members in the group. The summer reading club was opened to all children of the community, and many children who are not members of the library are reading.

Last spring the Diversity Club and the Junior Culture Club donated to the library to help finance the summer reading program.

ends hunting hogs of either variety.

Ranchers in the area are glad to have them, because the javelinas can get too numerous and the Russian boars are sheep and goat killers.

The Timmermans take good care of their dogs. When the javelinas are killed and skinned, the meat is cooked and fed to the animals, thereby reducing the kennel food bill.

Occasionally, they will lose a dog. When this happens, even though the dog may just be a mongrel, there is sadness in the whole town of Hondo.

Although hog dogs are not a special breed, cast in a mold all their own, they are true to the chase and idolized by most who know them.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

OMAR BURLERSON, M. C. 17th District, Texas

We are still trying to buy friends and influence people with the taxpayers' hard-earned money.

The Foreign Aid Bill is soon to come before the Congress, and it is pretty much the same old story of the past 15 years — keep the hand-outs going and everybody around the world will love us.

The fact is, some of those we have helped the most kick Uncle in the seat of his pants the hardest.

We continue to dip our oar into everyone's business — Rhodesia, the Congo, Greece — to play Santa Claus and the policeman at the same time.

Now, it is proposed that, for all intents and purposes, we give away the Panama Canal, which has cost the American people more than $5 billion since our Treaty with Panama in 1903. This magnanimity on the part of the United States is supposed to placate Panama's demands and to show all Latin America that we no longer claim sovereignty over that which we have bought and paid for in perpetuity.

Since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917, the Russians have demanded and announced their intention to overthrow U. S. control of the Canal. They have never lost sight of that goal. After last month's Mid-East crisis, the Soviets repeated their demand that all strategic waterways be put under "international" control. Yet, that same crisis and the shut-down of the Suez Canal by Egypt, demonstrates how important it is to freedom that the Panama Canal remain in strong and responsible U. S. hands.

To "internationalize" the Canal or to surrender our sovereignty over it, can have the effect of augmenting Soviet power in the Western world and to weaken our own capability to resist aggression everywhere.

Theodore Roosevelt, quoted in The Kansas City Star on Dec. 2, 1918, following the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, had this to say:

"The Panama Canal must not be internationalized. It is our canal; we built it; we fortified it; and we will protect it and we will not permit our enemies to use it in war. In time of peace all nations shall use it alike, but in time of war our interest at once becomes dominant."

The details of proposals to abrogate existing Treaties over the Panama Canal and to change its status of sovereignty are not yet known in detail. Both Houses of Congress, however, have repeatedly reiterated their approval of the fundamental provisions of the Treaty of 1903. Should the Senate approve, a profound change will come over the operation of the Canal. The question to be seriously considered is the soundness and workability of any new and untested concept — the concept of whether the Canal can still serve U. S. interests if it is no longer operated under the direct control and sovereignty of our Nation.

The American people have the right to clear answers to many questions involved in this proposed transaction. Paramount are these:

Would a new treaty protect the American soil of the Canal Zone, obtained by both Treaty with Panama and purchase of property from individual owners?

Will any new treaty abrogate the body of law in the Panama Canal Zone Code and the administration of justice based on it?

Will any new treaty protect the investment of approximately $5 billion made by U. S. taxpayers since the building of the Canal?

Will any new treaty protect U. S. interest in the Canal in the event that a sea level de-

Fad Diets Can Be Dangerous

Through the years, many fad diets have been used for weight reduction. They appeal to obese individuals because they are claimed to offer a quick and easy solution to a difficult problem, according to foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University.

Many fad diets have unusual proportions of fat, carbohydrate and protein and may be deficient in one or more nutrients. Adherence to fad diets may endanger health. Total fasting is particularly hazardous. Obesity is a complex medical problem and should be treated as such.

Obesity was recognized as an "affliction" over a hundred years ago as was the fact that weight could be lost by fairly simple means. The question of by what method an obese person should reduce, however, is a controversial one.

Why is weight reduction such a problem? One of the reasons is that food represents many things to human beings in addition to nourishment. Food habits are closely intertwined with the ethnic, religious and family culture. Most social functions involve eating; in many cases it is the predominant feature. For some, eating provides satisfaction and relief from stress which, for some people, can be obtained in no other way.

Even though it is attractive to avoid the frustration and risks of failure when dieting, fad diets seldom help an obese person. Weight may be lost on fad diets, but the reduced weight is seldom maintained. Diets which do not permit an interesting variety of food usually are not adhered to for long periods of time. The individual soon reverts to his former eating habits and his former weight.

The safest way to diet is to plan with a doctor a well-balanced diet low in calories and high in nutrition. Under such a plan and over a reasonable period of time, weight can be lost safely.

'67 Milo Crop Dribbling In

The 1967 milo crop in the Winters area has started "dribbling in," and the harvest season promises to be a long one.

Cutting of some early grain has started—most of it coming from areas south of Winters — with increased cutting activity expected to begin within the next week or two.

Early-crop grain is going to be short, both in yield and in acreage, grain men said. Moisture content of grain brought in thus far has been low.

Late-planted milo will be late in maturing, and given sufficient moisture is expected to produce more than the early grain. Lateness of plantings will serve to extend the harvest season on into late in the fall, it was forecast.

sign or nuclear excavation prove impractical?

(It is pretty well understood that we may propose the building of another canal, but probably without sovereignty over it for the protection of our tremendous investment.)

Our sovereignty in the Canal Zone has been used for the good of all and honorably exercised for civilization. The demands of Panamanian politics and to show our generosity to the world are hardly enough to justify giving it away.

CARD OF THANKS

With grateful hearts we wish to express our sincere appreciation for all cards and letters received and to those who came, sent flowers and food. Especially do we want to express our sincere appreciation to Dr. C. T. Rives and the nursing staff at the Hospital and Merrill Rest Home and to Mr. Ted Meyer.

During the time of sorrow we learn just how much our friends mean to us. Your thoughtful kindnesses will always be remembered by the family of Frank Lehman. Itc

Eight Longhorns Added To Herd

The longhorn herd at Fort Griffin State Park was increased by eight members which came as a gift from Charles Schreiner of the YO Ranch near Mountain Home, according to Joe Shelton, park manager at Fort Griffin State Park.

Shelton said the new addition consisted of five registered longhorn cows with three calves. This brings to total of 78 longhorns wearing the five-pointed
