HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

This is supposed to be the "autumn" season, when life and weather reach a pleasant point. But the icy blast which hit the area and state the first of the week seemed more like winter than fall. All a fact which can serve as a plotting point to remind that it is later than we think; Christmas is just a few weeks away, and those of us who have put off our "early" shopping until now had better get cracking!

This is also a good time of the year to review the value of "shopping at home." This value really knows no seasons, however. Some of us may not fully grasp the importance of this; these reminders are really meant for the man down the block. What we spend out of town makes no difference, it is such a small amount, it won't be missed. We may fail to realize the chain-reaction, but we had better begin to recognize it.

Every dollar spent with Winters merchants is a sort of premium payment on insurance against Winters becoming a non-town. Part of that dollar is in turn used by the merchant to pay his share on the many things we all enjoy. Without his help, we would have to foot all the bill. He helps us, we help him—it's a simple as that. If we think what we spend out of town—no matter how small the amount—does not make a difference, we are bucking the odds.

So... as we approach once again the Christmas season—the season of extra buying—we should all take another long look at the results of our buying.

Did you get your clock reset over the weekend? We've heard some weird tales of some people getting mixed up again on which way to turn the hands, and ending up just two hours off, which would cause some confusion. It's nice, though, to be able to sleep a little longer (by the sun) in the morning, and not have to go to work before daylight. It doesn't make much difference during this time of the year, either, whether one gets off earlier (by the sun). Even an hour's difference wouldn't be enough time to permit a leisurely tee-off or hook-baiting.

Polls about the state have indicated that most people do not care for the Daylight Saving Time system; they'd rather have the old Standard Time system, "as the Book meant it to be." We've a suspicion, though, that these before-sunup risings we've had as the days have grown shorter may have something to do with the way people "vote" in those polls. When it comes time to change back to Daylight Saving Time next spring, we'll bet most people, remembering the extra daylight time which was enjoyed during the past summer months, would vote for DST. These "polls" are bound to be influenced by the weather at any given time. Such as, during an extremely cold spell, most people might "vote" that they enjoyed hot weather most; and in 100-degree-plus weather, they might take an opposite view.

When Congress passed the Daylight Saving Time thing, giving the States permission to act on their own, it's a good thing they didn't go an extra step and put it on a monthly basis instead of an hourly basis. Just imagine what would happen if they gave the States permission to lop off a month this season, and add a month next season. Some States wouldn't go along, and others would—and the confusion would mount as we all tried to figure out if we should tear off a month or add one on the calendar. Christmas could come in November, or might come in January.

Blizzards Play In Colo. City Friday

The Winters High School Blizzards, committed to the road for the rest of the season, go to Colorado City Friday night to meet the Wolves—a team calculated as being capable at any given time to tear things apart in District 5-AA.

The Blizzards, in their last homestand of the year last Friday night, dropped their third conference tilt to a strong Stamford squad, and now stand with only one win out of eight turns this year.

A Winters win over the Colorado City pack would make no difference so far as the Blizzards stand in the district, but a C-City win could cause some second thoughts, depending on the outcome of other District 5-AA games this week — and next.

Colorado City has a 4-4 record for this season and a 1-2 score in district competition. Winters trails with a 1-7 season record, and an 0-3 for district.

Winters Football Game Schedule For Next Year

The schedule of games for re-organized and enlarged District 5-AA for 1968 has been released, following a meeting last Wednesday night of school administrators.

There will be seven conference games in the eight-member district the next two years, in contrast to the five conference games which have been played the last several years.

Winters will not be opening the season against Lake View next year, as that school has been put in a big 11-member Three-A district. Only three non-conference games have been scheduled for the Blizzards: Sonora, Coahoma and Clyde.

All 1968 games will begin at 8 p. m.

Winters and Colorado City faced two common opponents in pre-conference play — Brady and Ballinger — and both teams lost to those out-of-district squads. Winters lost 7-12 to Brady, and 0-21 to Ballinger; Colorado City lost 6-36 to Brady, and 0-27 to Ballinger.

In district competition, Winters and Colorado City have met two common opponents thus far: Hamlin edged Winters 21-0, and Stamford took Winters 17-0; Hamlin whipped Colorado City 26-8, and then Stamford shut out the Wolves 35-0.

Colorado City is ahead, but slightly, in the scoring department in district play, with 27, to opponents' 67; Winters has marked up only 20 points in district play, but have allowed only 63.

This week's game will be the last of a series of games through several years between the two teams. The Wolves are playing their last season in Double-A status; they are going up to Three-A status next year, and have a full 10-game conference schedule for the next two years. The Blizzards remain in 5-AA.

Kickoff time at Colorado City Friday night is 8 p. m.

Soil Conservation Service, explains some of the details of a water-retarding structure on a tributary of Valley Creek, one of several such structures in the Valley Creek Water Control District. This group of men, members of the board of directors of the recently-created Elm Creek Water Control District in east Runnels County and South Taylor County, along with several members and interested persons from the Willow Creek District in South Runnels County, toured several such dam structures in the Valley Creek watershed area Tuesday of last week. They were accompanied by members of the Soil Conservation Service from Runnels and Taylor counties, and members of the board of the Valley Creek District. Structure shown is Site 18 of the Valley Creek District, on the Ralph Burns place. The Elm Creek District board is studying ways and means of constructing such sites in this district. Junior High Grid Game Changed To Tuesday Evening

The junior high school football game between Winters and Anson will be played on Blizzard Field Tuesday evening, Nov. 7, beginning at 6 p. m.

The game originally was scheduled for Thursday night, Nov. 9.

Absentee Bond Vote Underway

Absentee balloting was opened this week for the Winters street improvement bond election called for Saturday, Nov. 11. Buford Baldwin, City Secretary, said absentee voting will be open through Nov. 10, and information can be obtained at the City Hall.

Voters are also being reminded that only bona fide residents of Winters, owning property in Winters, will be qualified to vote in this bond election. Each voter will be required to sign an affidavit of ownership of property which has been duly rendered for taxation to the City of Winters. This is in accordance with Article 5.04 of the Texas Election Code, which requires that voters give a description of one specific item of property which has been rendered for taxation or placed on the unrendered rolls by the Tax Assessor prior to October 17, 1967, the date on which this election was ordered.

The election will be for the issuance of $120,000 in bonds, to finance the City's portion of purchase of right-of-way and to pay for damages anticipated in the widening of Winters' Main Street, which is U. S. Highway 83. The City is obligated to pay one-half of these charges, with the State Highway Department to pay one-half. The Highway Department will pay for actual construction.

The widening of Main Street will require some additional right-of-way in some sections, it has been pointed out, but the amount needed will not be as much as had been anticipated when the project was first proposed some time ago. Property owners will be paid for right-of-way and for damages incurred.

In calling the election, the Winters City Council pointed out that no increase in taxes would be necessary in order to begin retirement of the bonds.

The board of directors of the Winters Chamber of Commerce and the membership of the Winters Lions Club have gone on record in favor of the bond issue and the proposed improvement and widening of the street to meet Highway Department specifications. If U. S. Highway 83 were to be routed around town, it has been pointed out, it would have a drastic effect on the economy of Winters and the entire area, it was stated. Top City officials have pointed out, if the highway should be routed around town and maintenance of the street, which presently is the responsibility of the Highway Department, is returned to the City, cost of such maintenance in a few years would be more than the estimated $120,000 which property owners are being asked to approve in the Nov. 11 election.

The City Secretary said that charts covering the proposed project as on hand at the City Hall for study by any interested person.

Miss Anita Gonzales is working at the Winters Municipal Hospital, and David Val Verde is working in the Municipal Water Department.

Miss Gonzales will work 30 hours per week under the supervision of Mrs. Tommy Rougas, hospital superintendent, and is required to attend classes for eight hours each week.

Val Verde is required to work 34 hours a week and attend classes of instruction for six hours a week.

There now are six people working in various departments of the City under the OEO program.

Lenda Fuller Is Band Sweetheart At Winters High

Lenda Fuller, a senior student in Winters High School, was crowned 1967 Blizzard Band Sweetheart during halftime ceremonies at the Winters-Stamford football game Friday night.

Miss Fuller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fuller Jr. Taking part in the crowning ceremonies were other members of the Blizzard Band: Larry Cook, Carla Davis, Babs Tatum, Eileen Faubion and Aurora Ruiz.

Also a part of the halftime ceremonies was introduction of the senior members of the band. The band was drawn up in a two-line formation, one line on each of the 40-yard lines of the football field. As the seniors' names were called, they left the lines and formed the cross-legs of the "Marching W," the signature of the Blizzard Band.

Senior members of the band introduced Friday night were Brenda Awalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Awalt; Gayla Beall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Beall; Martha Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown; Larry Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cook; Lenda Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. B. Templeton; and Susan White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade White. Also members of the band but who did not participate in the halftime ceremonies or march with the band because they are also on the football team, are Lanny Bahlman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bahlman; and Jimmy Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughan.

The Blizzards now have two more games scheduled for this season — Colorado City there this week, and Anson at Anson next week.

In Friday night's game, Stamford took the opening kickoff and was pushed back by the Blizzard defenders. After their punt the Blue took over on their own 30-yard line. Led by the fine running of backs Wilder, Boles and Kozelsky, Winters marched for 4 first downs before a clipping penalty set them back and forced a punt.

Again the Blizzard defense held and they received the Bulldog punt at the Winters 40-yard line. This time the drive was stopped as a Stamford defensive lineman shot through and spoiled the hand-off, causing a fumble which the Bulldogs recovered.

Aided by the fumble recovery, the Bulldogs mounted a 6-yard drive. Alvarez went in from three yards out for the score. (Continued on page 4)

Further Spending of Money Said Not Answer To Insurrection

Babson Park, Mass. Imagine headlines in U. S. papers telling of rebellion in Leningrad; and others reporting widespread looting and arson in Novosibirsk; still more giving accounts of snipers atop the new apartments in Kiev holding troops and police at bay. Quite likely many of us would feel that the Communist hierarchy was in deep trouble; the Soviet "rebellion" might cause a let-up in Russian shipments of arms to North Vietnam. Undoubtedly such a Russian uprising would be viewed here as a help to our efforts in Southeast Asia.

Great Comfort To Soviets
But it is the U. S. that is wracked with insurrection, arson, and looting. Damage to physical properties is counted in the hundreds of millions. Destruction of human values defies assessment. Buildings can be repaired and rebuilt. Looted inventories can be replaced. Who is there, however, to heal the burned-out souls of the looters, or to cool the hatreds of the antagonists?

And our "home war" is doing even greater damage to the foreign image of this country. Openly our allies are asking: "Can he who is incapable of keeping order in his own house be expected to restore peace to a jungle area where brother is pitted against brother?" If this is the attitude in the Free World, surely each outburst of violence here brings great comfort to the Soviets. To them it is proof that their grueling efforts to bolster Hanoi have not been in vain.

Not By War Alone
It is widely heard today that the U. S. is "overextended" throughout the world. The implication is that we should be less aggressive in trying to maintain peace... that we should "pull in our horns." It is recommended by one school of international thought that we should draw the line as to what parts of the earth we would defend and what sections we would be willing to "let drop."

Recently it has been touch and go whether the Administration should call up the reserves to increase pressure on the Viet Cong. Widespread use of the National Guard to contain mass violence in our cities, however, has led to even stronger demands that we keep our reserves at home. Pleas are made not to let the "home front" go unprotected. These developments point up one of the greatest lessons of history: It is not by war alone that nations are beaten and civilizations destroyed; it is the weakness within, the rot at the core, that paves the road to downfall.

Houses On The Moon
Our insurrections at home have started a new pack in full hue and cry. It is another form of isolationism... only this time the desire is not to isolate ourselves from the far corners and responsibilities of the world, but from the trackless wastes of space. This, of course, is not new. Many before have questioned the rewards to be gained by putting a man on the moon.

Now the twist is a little different. Sickened by instances of oppressive poverty in parts of our large cities and aroused by appalling destruction in the riot-ridden areas, questioning of the space program and its costs is becoming more general and more intense. The issue: Why not spend $50 billion for new housing for the poor on earth instead of on the moon?

Reacculturate The Spirit

In our hearts, we know the solution does not lie in pulling out of the far corners of either the earth or space. Nor will the furnishing of greater material comforts assure freedom from insurrection. Gifts will not bring peace at home any more than foreign aid has abroad. Surely, every effort should be made to correct the conditions that cause rebellion.

But it will not be done "by bread alone." Before reconstruction can take over, order will have to replace chaos... not only on the streets, but also in the mind. In recent years our judicial system has moved so powerfully to protect the accused that the victim has been all but abandoned. Never in the history of the world has such a high value been placed on human life... and so low a value on the soul. Never such emphasis on the rights of a minority, benign or antagonistic. Never so great an upgrading of "tolerance" toward those who flout the laws of man and God.

Voter Registration In Full Swing, No Bloc or Group Sign-Ups Allowed

Voter registration for the big 1968 election year is getting into full swing. Secretary of State John L. Hill already is busy sending out detailed instructions for county tax assessors.

As chief election officer, Hill discussed current problems with an advisory committee of tax officials who are local registrars and reviewed suggested ground rules.

He remains firm in his agreement with an attorney general's opinion that voters must bring or mail in their own registration applications or submit them through authorized members of their immediate family.

Bloc or bulk registrations are outlined by an October 11 opinion. It brought critical comment from former State Sen. Franklin Spears, head of a liberal-backed drive to register five million voters.

Hill encourages house-to-house registration drives and says there is no restriction on the manner or the extent of distributing application forms. He is advising local registrars that:

—There is no limit on reproduction of sample registration forms by third parties or purchase of those ordered by official registrars.

—Solicitors may encourage individuals to register but must avoid inducing registration thru false or misleading representation.

—Assistance to the applicant is all right (including filling out forms), but the voter must supply the necessary information himself and sign the form or place his mark on it.

—Drives may furnish envelopes and even stamps to voters, but the applicant or family member must mail the form.

—Local registrars should provide blank, sample forms to all who request them, but each registrar may fix his own policies as to furnishing forms in large quantities to solicitors.

Spears has called on registrars to ignore the attorney general's opinion, and accept applications delivered by third party solicitors in bulk, or a group of applications sent in the same envelope. Spears claims the opinion is the result of a "plot" to keep the registrations low.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

When a high school girl brushes her hair and dresses immaculately, someone is sure to remark, "She's neat as a pin!"

Most pins that we see today look just about like the other pins in the paper or plastic box. It would be difficult to find a pin that was not neat.

The expression originally was "neat as a new pin," and it was first used in the days when pins were made from iron and not coated with brass or tin to prevent them from rusting. A new iron pin looked considerably neater than one that had been used and allowed to rust.

"Neat as a pin" is another of those expressions that has remained in the vernacular long after people have forgotten why we say it.

Pin money has a different origin. When pins were introduced at the beginning of the sixteenth century, they were made of silver and were quite valuable as gifts. If a husband did not wish to give his wife a pin, he gave her the money to buy her own, and thus "pin money" came to refer to the allowance a wife was given for her private expenses.

An elephant can submerge and tread the bottom of the river as long as it can push its trunk out of the water.

Biologists say a young cottontail rabbit has only one chance in 20 of reaching its first birthday. But there are plenty of rabbits to go around.

Science has discovered that honey bees look first for the color of the flower then for the scent, before they take the nectar.

Keep your hooks sharp. Always have a small hone handy in your tackle box. Pulling lures across rocks dulls the hooks fast.

Bass fishermen would do well to take a crappie rig along — especially in the poorer bass fishing weather.

Night fishermen do better when they move their light out a little distance from the boat. This is done easily by using a piece of plywood fastened to an inflated inner tube. Anchor the lantern on top of the board and let it float.

Balancing the Boat—Balancing the weight in a boat is essential for both safety and comfort. If the bow tends to plow through the water, the load is too far forward. If the bow tends to be high, the load probably is too far aft.

"Barefoot in the Park"
 Can a strait-laced, conservative young lawyer find happiness with a kooky bride who treats life as a game and makes the pursuit of fun a near religion? That seems to be the problem at the core of Neil Simon's hilarious screenplay, based on his record-breaking stage comedy, which Hal Wallis produced in Technicolor for Paramount Pictures, which is to show at the State Theatre Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The film stars Robert Redford, Jane Fonda, Charles Boyer, Mildred Natwick and Herbert Edelman. As the ecstasy of the honeymoon gives way to the horrifying reality of setting up housekeeping in a five-flight walk-up, the harmony of martial bliss strikes a discordant note. Problems are compounded upon problems. And with each problem and with each twist or turn of the plot, the true to life anguish of the newlyweds offers grounds for laughter.

White Reflects Light—Don't fret about cleaning the mud or dirt splashes off your hunting coat. A dirty coat will add you in blending better with surrounding marsh foliage. Also, skip shaving before a duck hunt. A clean-shaven upturned face can stand out enough to spook incoming ducks.

There is the challenge of the chase, the suspense, the excitement.

Then there is the enjoyment of getting into the spongy woods away from the hustle and bustle of city life, sharing experiences with companions. Of all, I guess the best part is the companionship.

A congenial, understanding buddy who appreciates the little things that make up the delights of a hunt, who will congratulate you when your aim is true, or sympathize when things go wrong, can turn any hunt into genuine pleasure, whether any thing is killed or not.

But a companion who ignores the rules of safe gun handling, who is careless with fire or the landowner's property, or who is continually griping about conditions or his own luck, can tarnish any hunting trip. This no matter how successful it might be from a shooting standpoint.

Being a good hunting buddy requires effort. It isn't a haphazard thing that should be taken for granted. Every hunter must go out of his way to make the hunt a pleasure for his companions. On such considerations a lasting friendship is bonded. It is easy enough to be a good hunting companion. All you must do is have full consideration for your gunning partner and practice gun safety and the every-day principles of ordinary courtesy.

Enter into the hunt enthusiastically.

If you are the host, try to figure out what type or method will best please your guest. Ask him what's his pleasure. This immediately removes the threat of misunderstanding.

If you are the guest, let the host dictate the order of the day, and do so enthusiastically, whether you approve or not. If you want to do something else, ask him in a polite way and undoubtedly he'll be pleased.

A successful hunting trip is two-way cooperation.

Have a well understood shooting procedure before you start out. Should you be deer hunting, let your companion have the first shot, out of courtesy. Don't try to show him up by killing the first deer or attempting to bag the biggest.

If quail is your game, shoot only at the birds on your side of the cover rise. Await your turn in shooting single birds. If duck hunting, don't spoil your companion's chances by firing too soon. Make sure he is ready and the birds are in range. And take those on your side of the blind only.

In dove hunting don't try to claim every bird that's downed. Should your companion say he got one, while inside you feel it was your shot that bagged the bird, let him have it. There's always another chance and to squabble over a bird only sours the hunt.

Everyone should be familiar with the rules of gun safety. Don't be careless. Treat every gun as if it were loaded and never point at anything you do not intend to shoot. Don't take a loaded gun into an automobile or truck.

A man careless with a gun soon finds his invitations to hunt are conspicuous by their absence.

If you're hunting upland game birds, don't try to handle your companion's dog. You are not familiar to the dog, your efforts might confuse him, and your companion is almost sure to resent it. Regardless of who killed the bird, let the dog retrieve it to his master if he desires.

When you go hunting with another gunner, never be a show-off. You may be a much better shot, but don't make him feel it. Let it be a "we" and "our" hunting trip and he will be more than glad to go with you again.

ALWAYS CARRY SPARE LINE
Smart fishermen always carry an extra spool of fishing line in the tackle box. It is even better if you have a spare loaded spool for your reel.

MAT PREVENTS SLIPPING
If your feet are inclined to slip in the bottom of your boat when it is wet, toss in a couple of those "welcome" door mats or a large size bath mat.

FLASHLIGHT IMPORTANT
How about including a small flashlight in your tackle box. It may take up the space of a couple of plugs but in an emergency it may pay off better than the two plugs it replaces.

THE ATTRACTIVE COUPLE is none other than Robert Redford and Jane Fonda in this scene from the hilarious Technicolor comedy, "Barefoot in the Park," showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre. The Hal Wallis Production for Paramount Pictures all stars Charles Boyer and Mildred Natwick, who recreates her role as the mother which won her wide acclaim on the New York Stage. Neil Simon, who wrote the play, has repeated his success with the screen play, and Gene Saks, who has directed such stage hits as "Mame," "Half A Sixpence," and "Enter Laughing," makes his directorial bow in films.

Blizzards Lose--

The extra point try was wide. The Blizzards, in an attempt to even the score, took to the air only to see a Wilder pass intercepted and Stamford once more in possession of the ball. The Blue defenders held and with 30 seconds left in the half, the Bulldogs kicked a field goal from 13 yards out. The score at intermission was 9-0 for Stamford.

The third quarter was a defensive struggle as both teams were stopped cold. Fumbles and interceptions marred the Blizzards' offensive show.

Then in the fourth quarter lightning struck in the form of Bulldog Larry Jones as he intercepted Wilder's pass and returned it 28 yards for the final score. The pass for two points was good and the scoreboard read 17-0.

Taking the kickoff was Charles Mathis who returned the ball to the 40-yard line. Winters marched down within scoring distance only to see their scoring bid dwindle when the ball was knocked out of the hands of Alton Pierce in the end zone.

The Blizzards played hard-nosed football but 5 fumbles and 4 interceptions kept them behind the 8-ball for one more week. Offensively Randy Boles ran hard and led in rushing. The interior line opened up fine holes for the runners.

The defense was led by Sam Scott with 12 tackles to his credit.

Stamford had 12 first downs and Winters had 10. The rushing yardage was also close with Stamford picking up a total of 202 yards to 172 yards for the Blizzards.

Lighter Lines Most Popular

Years ago the best selling fishing line tested over 14 lbs. However, with the advent of synthetic material, the most popular lines sold today are eight and 10-pound test.

Crossing the Wake
Boaters crossing the wake from another boat will find the crossing relatively smooth if it is approached at a 45 degree angle.

Ever wonder how a bird sees so well? It's two eyes often weigh more than its brain.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

The following is a "Re-Run" of this column on June 6, 1963. A sequel to it will follow next week.

Nathan Hale did not say: "Me spy on the British? Are you trying to be funny? Do you know what they do to spies they catch? I will give you a news flash, chum. They hang them."

Paul Revere did not say: "Sure, I'm for liberty. First, last and always, I'm for liberty. But we have got to be realistic. We are a pretty small outfit. If we start pushing the British around, someone is likely to get hurt."

George Washington did not say: "Gentlemen, I am honored and appreciate your confidence, but I have too much to do. I am just starting to get things in shape out at Mount Vernon."

Since these heroes did not say these things, they would be considered "squares" nowadays.

This word "Square," according to Mr. Charles H. Brower, originated with convicts. To them, a square was an inmate who would not conform to the convict code. From this, the sophisticated have applied it to the man who never learned to get away with wrongdoing. To them, he is a Joe who volunteers when he does not have to. He is a guy who gets his kicks from trying to do something better than anyone else can. He is a boob who gets so lost in his work that he has to be reminded to go home. He is a slob who still gets choked up when the band plays "America The Beautiful."

The Square does not fit too well into many current groups of angle players, corner cutters, sharp shooters and goof-offs. He does not even like to open packages before Christmas. He does not fly now and pay later. He is burdened down with old fashioned ideas of honesty, loyalty, courage and thrift. In fact, he may be on his way to complete extinction.

In Mark Twain's Day, the word "Square" was pretty wholesome and one of the finest. At that time you gave a man a square deal if you were honest. You gave him a square meal if he was hungry. You stood foursquare for the right as you saw it, and square against everything else. When you got out of debt you were square with the world. And that was when you could look your fellow man square in the eye.

Of course, we know that times change. With changes come different expressions, just as we hear new tunes and have new dances.

Sometimes some of these things sound somewhat foreign. It causes one to wonder if we are importing ideas, rather than exporting them.

It has been pointed out that the famous quotes from Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry and others have been practically dropped from all textbooks. In nine of the new texts, the reply of John Paul Jones to the British demand for surrender, "I have not yet begun to fight," does not even appear.

Today we have a new set of heroes. Their names are Glenn and Grissom, Shepard, Carpenter, Shirra and Cooper. These heroes are from nice, small towns with names like Sparta, Boulder, East Derry, Mitchell and Shawnee. Maybe these men are squares and maybe the reason is they have lived too far from the sophisticated influences to keep from becoming squares. For who but a square would volunteer his life for his country's good? This would be the opinion of some of those who want to make fun of a square, but not these squares. We can be thankful there are still some, and hope there will be a great deal more.

Next week we will talk about Bobby Dylan's new song, "Something is Happening in the Land, and You Don't Know What it is, Do you Mr. Jones?" Mr. Jones is the "Square" and most of us, young and old, are Mr. Joneses.

The rank of fleet admiral in the U. S. Navy was established December 14 1944. The following day Ernest J. King, William D. Leahy and Chester W. Nimitz were appointed to that rank.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lollar To Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lollar of Route 2, Ballinger, will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, November 5.

Their children will host open house, from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. at the Lollar farm, 7 miles northeast of Ballinger on the Ballinger-Crews highway.

PERSONALIZING RODS

It is easy to write your name or initials on a glass fishing rod. Just use talc powder, white chalk, or similar to buff the rod near the butt, write your name with India ink and cover with clear nail polish.

DETACH LURE

Are you a lure dangler. Before you get out of the boat, detach your lure and put it in your tackle box. You are taking a chance of hanging a hook in a fishing buddy, or even yourself. Cautious anglers tie on a rubber plug used for practice casting.

Choosing Sinkers—Let the lake bottom determine the kind of sinkers to use. If you want to bounce the bait along with the current, use round or dipsy-type sinkers. If you want to keep the bait in place against the current, try pyramid or flat sinkers that won't roll.

A MARGIN OF SAFETY

When drawing plans for a bridge, the engineer figures the weight each part will have to carry. Then he provides for much greater strength as an extra margin of safety. When shaping our policies to protect the funds of depositors, we always keep an extra margin of safety in mind.

The best deposit insurance is careful management. Through a period of years, this institution has gained the reputation for being a sound, conservative bank — and also for being one which is unusually progressive.

We believe that safeguarding the funds of depositors is both a service and the fulfillment of a trust. We are capable and have the facilities for handling a greatly increased volume.

Southern School Assembly

By Gene Templeton
 Tuesday, October 24, Chief Stewart and his Indian maiden presented a program to the students of the Winters Public Schools.

He opened the program by singing an old Indian song. The Indian Maiden (his wife) accompanied him on the piano. The program was about the every day songs of the Indians, their hunting songs, their romantic songs, and their songs of war. He showed and played the three original, primitive instruments of the Indians. The three instruments are the drum, the gourd rattlers, and the flute. After this he performed some of the Indian dances while he sang and played.

Chief Stewart showed some of the Indian art work of the past and present. He closed his program by teaching the students a few words in sign language and then telling the students a short story. He said good-bye in his own Indian tongue, Cherokee.

School Spirit

By Mike O'Dell
 The spirit for this school year of 1967, shown so well at the football games and pep rallies, has been great. The Winters High School students have shown a lot of enthusiasm this year, and we hope that they will keep it with them in the few football games we have left this school year.

There is a way for students to keep this enthusiasm as high as it is now. Think what you are saving every time you shout or yell for the Blizzards. You are trying to raise the team's and school's spirit as high as it can go. When hundreds of people start yelling for the Blizzards there is a whole lot of spirit flying around our team on the playing field, and this is what makes our great ball team strive harder to reach their goal. If you want our team to try harder to win these next games, yell for them and give them some spirit so they can achieve the goal they are reaching for. All of you go to the last of the Blizzards football games and shout with all your might for the Blizzards.

Authors Anonymous Meet

By Dody Folsom
 Authors Anonymous held their regular monthly meeting October 17, 1967 in the Winters High School auditorium. The year-books for the 1967-68 year were passed out. Theresa Meyer, president, read through the Constitution. It was decided upon at this meeting that the club should use the rules of parliamentary procedure at each and every meeting.

The resignation of Robert Sherman was read and accepted. Jimmy Gonzales was accepted as a new member.

Authors Anonymous pins were discussed and it was stated that the money for these pins should be turned in to Brenda Awalt, secretary, by October 31, 1967. The cost of the pins will be $1.90 each.

The club decided to have a night meeting October 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Winters High School auditorium to read the manuscripts that were turned in.

This meeting was then adjourned. Authors Anonymous met Thursday night, October 17, in the Winters High School auditorium, at 7:30 p. m. Theresa Meyer, president, called the meeting to order. Old and new business was discussed. It was decided that the members should begin turning in ideas for the A. A. C. Christmas float.

The reader for this meeting was Gene Templeton. He read three essays, twenty-six poems, and ten short stories. There were three works of conventional art and two works of abstract art. The manuscripts and works of art were voted upon by secret ballot and then the meeting was adjourned.

AROUND THE 5-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

The headlong race for the District 5-AA championship this year could go to the wire! And the dust may not be settled until after the last game is played next week.

Slam-banging Haskell, the only team in the district with an unblemished season's record, will have to face Stamford this week. Stamford has one loss for the season, and wins Haskell for an unbeaten district image.

The winner of this week's Haskell-Stamford tilt will have a better vision of the title, but it still won't be in the sack. Stamford still has to face the Hamlin Pied Pipers, who have only one loss in the district. And the whole thing could end up in a three-way tie—if Stamford wins over Haskell this Friday and Hamlin beats Stamford next week.

If Haskell beats Stamford this week, they still have to down the Colorado City Wolves the following week. And C-City, playing their last season in Double-A, can be expected to give someone some rough competition yet.

Winters and Anson are out of the race for the title, with wins in conference play. Winters goes to Colorado City this week, and then plays at Anson next week. Anson goes to Hamlin, and Haskell goes to Stamford.
