HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

There are many, perhaps, who approach the advice—plea, if you please—to "trade at home" with a certain amount of cynicism, and try to belittle such attempts at community promotion by pinning to them the label of "a Chamber of Commerce stunt." This labeling, in the minds of some few, automatically places such promotions on the bottom rung—"unworth my second thought."

(But some of the same people, you will notice, always insist on riding the wagon when someone else does the pushing). True, a "trade at home" promotion of any type can carry the label of a "Chamber of Commerce-type stunt"—whether it is a combined effort or an individual attempt at the age-old process of trying to keep a firm footing in this ever-changing and highly competitive commercial world. And the idea makes a heck of a lot of sense!

Such promotions, if you want to call them that—be they individually-sponsored or group sponsored—are merely attempts to point out that community growth (community continuance, really) requires community pull-together. Without this pull-together and work-together attitude, there would be no reason (community) in the first place.

In Winters, the merchants are aware of this; they spend a lot of time and effort in promotion of their community—and the end result of promoting their own business. (Turn it around, and it works the same way.) They spend a lot of time and effort and money in obtaining their wares and presenting them for sale. And they do their best to stock and sell what you and I want and need. It's their business to do so—if they don't, they'll not be around long.

Take Christmas shopping, for instance: if these merchants didn't work their heads off buying and displaying the merchandise they think we'll want and buy, all of us would have to go out of town to do our Christmas shopping, in place of the few who do so now. In fact, if the merchants didn't do it, they would have to do it! It's that simple.

To put it another way, if a given percent of the people of Winters decide this year to do all their Christmas shopping out of town, there will be fewer items for the "shop-at-homers" to choose from next year, and they'd have to go out of town. Add these to the first given percent, and it begins to have a snowballing effect. Pretty soon it could reach the point where nobody trades at home, because there's nobody here!

So when you do your Christmas shopping, keep these things in mind: Winters merchants are in a position to provide you with just about anything you desire. If they don't have it on the top shelf, they probably can get it for you right away. And they can probably provide it at no more cost than you would have to pay if you went to Big Town, regardless of all the wild claims. (Remember, gas, oil, travel and wear and tear on the nerves!) And Winters merchants stand ready to service what they sell, too!

Let's put it this way: Imagine calling the fire department if your house begins to burn, and get this type of answer: "Sorry, the merchants who helped pay for our fire trucks closed up because you went out of town to do your shopping. See if you can get Big Town to send a water truck to wet down the ashes to keep them from blowing all over the landscape!"

An Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University predicts that men, too, will soon have the "total look," with more color, higher styling and more attention to detail and accessories.

Can you imagine any of this town's leading male citizens diked out in a corduroy cap, flowered tie, solid colored shirt with tapered body, a jacket with flap pockets and deep side vents, color-coordinated glen plaid durable press slacks with legs straight from the knees, large enameled cuff links, or black zip-top boots and the typical "mod" accessories such as wide-striped belts with brass links, bright print shirts and buckles, large jeweled cuff links, bright print shirts and white French cuffs and lace

Directors Of Winters Public Library Pushing Fund Campaign For Enlarging
For the first time in four years—the first time since the library was moved to its present North Main Street location—the board of directors of the Winters Public Library is asking for assistance from the public in raising the necessary funds for an enlarging project.

Letters explaining the campaign and setting out the enlarging project, were sent to community subscribers and other interested persons several days ago. In the letter, the directors stressed their appreciation for the support of the community during the four years the library has been in the present location. They said: "This is the first time we have made an appeal for help since our initial campaign. Your help and support of this worthy cause will be appreciated."

It was explained that the shelves in the Winters Public Library are filled with books—books that are being read at the rate of 175 per week. Patronage of the Winters library is greater than in any library of any city of comparable size in this section of the state, it has been pointed out. "The time has come when space must be expanded," the directors said.

Plans for the expansion project call for incorporating part of the present storage room in the library proper. By doing that, it was explained, shelf space can be doubled and floor space increased by 40 percent.

This work would require removal of a partition, and the building of another, covering the floor, installing a new furnace and lighting fixtures, and a few other minor changes.

Moonlight Sale Monday Night

Christmas shoppers visiting many Winters stores next Monday evening, December 18, during the big Moonlight Sale, will be given an opportunity—several opportunities—to win merchandise worth several hundred dollars.

The many merchants participating in the Moonlight Sale event will hold separate drawings in their own stores, with persons whose names are drawn to receive merchandise. Each merchant will conduct his own drawing. No purchase will be required to register for the drawings, and it will not be necessary that winners be present to win.

In addition to the drawing, participating merchants will be offering many money-saving bargains in this gigantic pre-Christmas sale. Merchants will remain open in the evening for the convenience of Christmas shoppers; no time has been set for closing.

This is the second big event of the Christmas season promotional program sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce. The program is being promoted in order to give shoppers who work during the day to get some of their Christmas shopping done. In addition, it is being promoted to bring to the attention of all shoppers that Winters merchants can supply most anything in the way of general merchandise—and Christmas gifts.

The first big event of the Christmas season sales program was the Sidewalk Sale held November 17, and which was heartily endorsed by shoppers.

Winters' Cub Scout packs will have a bake sale Monday evening during the Moonlight Sale. Their booth will be on Main Street in front of Heidenheimer's.

Santa Claus will visit Winters stores during the Moonlight Sale Monday evening, and also will be in town again Saturday, December 23.

Potatoes
How do you like potatoes? Whether you prefer them boiled, baked, French-fried or some of the many other favorite preparations, you know you're eating one of the most delightful vegetables around.

Potatoes are rich in vitamins and minerals, says Mrs. O'Connor. No matter how potatoes are to be cooked, make sure they are clean. Remove all bruises or defects. If potatoes are pared, keep parings thin.

If you want to get the most food value from potatoes, cook them whole in their jackets. Boiling in as little water as possible saves the most vitamins.

Pared potatoes usually retain their whiteness better during boiling than potatoes cooked in their skins. If potatoes aren't cooked immediately after peeling, cover them with water to prevent darkening.

For cooking whole, choose potatoes of uniform size, so that all will be done at the same time. The odd sizes can be used for potato salad or for scalloped potatoes or other dishes for which the potatoes are cut into pieces before cooking.

For speedier cooking, cut potatoes in pieces and cook in as little water as possible in a tightly covered pan. Although the larger amount of exposed surface tends to increase loss of nutrients, this may be offset by the shorter cooking time. The smaller amount of water also causes less loss of nutrients. Don't overcook potatoes. Potatoes cooked only until done are at their best in taste, food value and appearance.

If boiled potatoes are your choice, first wash the potatoes. Leave skins on or pare. Leave potatoes whole, or dice or quarter. Put potatoes into a pan containing boiling, salted water. Use about 2 cups of water and 1-2 teaspoon of salt for 4 medium-sized potatoes cooked whole. For quartered or diced potatoes reduce water to about 1-2 cups. Cover and boil gently. Vigorous boiling may cause the potatoes to break up. Be sure water doesn't stop boiling during the cooking period.

Boil potatoes until they can be pierced easily with a fork. The time required varies with the size, shape and type of potatoes. Approximate cooking time for potatoes in various forms are: Medium, whole, 25-40 min.; quartered, 20-25 minutes; diced, 10-15 minutes.

Drain potatoes as soon as they are done, so they won't get waterlogged. Uncover to let the steam escape. If necessary, shake the potatoes in the pan over low heat to help dry them. Remove skins of unpared potatoes, if desired.

For baked potatoes, scrub potatoes well with a brush so that the skins may be eaten. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees). Potatoes of medium size will take from 50-60 minutes. Potatoes usually are done if they feel soft when pressed. Or, if other foods are to be cooked in a moderate oven, medium-sized potatoes will take from 60-80 minutes. Remove potatoes from the oven as soon as they are done. Slash an x in the top of each potato. Force the soft inner portion up through the opening to let the steam escape. Thus keeping the potatoes dry and mealy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Virden Celebrate Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary Sunday

By Charlsie Poe

When Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Virden celebrated their wedding anniversary at a reception Sunday the bride-groom of 60 years ago was wearing the coat he wore when he and the former Flora Eller were married at Texaco Dec. 1, 1907.

He recalled that Ben Spill, who had a tailor shop in Winters, ordered the suit for him in 1907. The coat and vest cost $12.50 and he paid $5.65 for the trousers.

"This was expensive clothing considering that in 1906 I was paid only $10 for moving some wagons and horses from Runnels to Texaco—a 15-day trip in October. A blue blizzard struck and the ice broke the barbed wire fences, and I had left home without a coat," Mr. Virden recalls.

The Virdens' anniversary celebration was a reception at their home 15 miles west of Winters in the Wilmett Community.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cornett of Wingate, Rt. 2, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson of Winters, Rt. 1, children of the couple.

The Virdens began housekeeping in a dugout on 160 acres of land that he owned southwest of Texaco. The dwelling was 12x24 ft., built 5 ft. below the ground and 3 ft. above, with a dirt covered roof. Their water supply was hauled in barrels.

"But we were fancy, our dugout had two rooms and two entrances," says Mrs. Virden. She also recalls that about all they had to eat at first was cornbread and a bushel of rutabagas given them by a neighbor.

Times have changed considerably for the Virdens who bought more land and moved a house to their property several years later. By the time they sold out and moved to Runnels County in 1920, they had acquired a thousand acres.

Recalling that he sold his land for $32 an acre and paid $20 an acre for his present home, Mr. Virden bought it from a man in Seguin. It is known as the Jim Allen place—Allen filed on the land and bought the lumber in Houston for the house. It was then hauled from Ballinger in wagons.

The Dry Hollow school house was on this land until Christmas of that year when another was built on Oak Creek.

The Virdens continue to live in the original house which is more than 80 years old, and burn mesquite wood in the fireplace.

While his farms in Runnels County and the one in Taylor County are rented, Mr. Virden continues to break land and sow grain on his homestead each year. He has always been interested in raising and training horses, but says he broke his last horse when he was 80 years old.

Mrs. Virden rode horseback until four years ago when her horse was killed by a snakebite—she never found another to suit her. However, they have both kept their saddles which were made to order at Pueblo, Colo., by R. T. Frazier.

For many years the Virdens have raised polled Hereford cattle and have kept up the herd which they say is their hobby.

Mrs. Virden was born July 31, 1889 near Knoxville, Tenn. Her father died when she was two years old and the following year her mother brought her to Texas, near Grandview.

Her mother married W. M. Hewatt in 1894 and the family moved to the Panhandle. She graduated from high school at Hereford and took the state examination for a school teaching certificate.

In 1906 the family moved to Texaco in a covered wagon, a trip which took two days and nights. Mrs. Virden recalls walking behind the wagon and driving the cattle. She also recalls meeting her future husband when she attended Sunday School at the little school house in Texaco.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewatt moved to Winters in 1921.

Mr. Virden was born Sept. 14, 1882, at Davilla in Milam County. The family moved north of Killeen when he was 5-years-old and to Lampasas about the following year. He was not a strong youngster and was sent to live with his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. George Youngblood, at Winters in 1900. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Virden, came in 1905.

Mr. Virden recalled that he learned his multiplication tables while driving a team of oxen. "I made a song out of them," he said. "I didn't have much opportunity to go to school."

The Virdens have four children, Mrs. Cornett, Mrs. Johnson, Gene Virden of Rt. 4 and Mrs. Sid Horton, Rt. 3. There are eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Guests at the reception included Mr. Virden's sister, Mrs. Zack West of Robstown, and brother, Rube Virden of Ballinger.

Another sister, Mrs. A. D. Smith, helped register guests. Other houseparty members were Lucretia Bryan, Harold Shellburne, Mrs. Milton Bryan, all of Norton, Mrs. Wyman Virden of Robstown, Mrs. Kathryn Dyess of Nolan and Mrs. Nola Sheed of Shep.

Postmaster Pace Urges Earlier Christmas Mailing

Postmaster Rankin Pace said Wednesday that although the mail volume is running ahead of last year's schedule, the post office would like to see more Christmas mail come in now so the department will have time to handle it better.

"A most important point that I'm not sure the public is aware of," Pace said, "is the fact that with Christmas coming on a Monday this year, the last day we will deliver mail will be the 23rd, or Saturday."

By keeping this factor in mind, he said, he was in hopes that people will make an effort to get cards and packages to the post office as early as possible, insuring quick and efficient processing by the post office.

"Nothing takes the glitter away from a Christmas gift faster than it being a few days late," Pace said.

He said the department will not deliver anything but special delivery mail and perishable articles both Sunday and Christmas day.

"I would also like to stress the usage of Zip Codes," Pace said. "The people need to place their packages in already 'Zipped.' If not, the clerks must take time out to zip each parcel and this cuts operating time a great deal."

He said if anyone needs a

Blizzardettes Win Two Games From Roby Tuesday

Winters Blizzardettes coasted to easy victories over the Roby girls basketball teams by the scores of 76 to 37 and 38 to 18 in games played in Roby Tuesday night. Coach Gardner played every girl she had in both the A game and the B game in games that really were no contest for the Blizzardettes.

In the A game the Blizzardettes chalked up a 19 to 2 first quarter lead and were never in serious trouble. The experience of the Winters girls was just too much for Roby. Dora Snell led the scoring with 29 points followed by Carla Walker with 18 and Eileen Faubion with 16.

In the B game the Blizzardettes went into the dressing room at half-time with a 21 to 8 lead and won the game going away. Scoring for the Blizzardettes were Debra Carroll with 19 points, Dody Folsom with 12 and Joy Awalt with 6.

The season record for the Blizzardette A team is now eight and one with the only loss to Lakeview in the tournament last week. The B team owns a five and two record.

special Zip Code list, the post office would be glad to take the list, "Zip" it and drop it back into the mail free of charge.

"Let's for everybody's sake, please get your mail in now," requested Pace.

"Hot Rods to Hell"

Teen-agers on the rampage in their hopped-up gas buggies, terrorizing the community as they strive for more and greater "kicks," risking the lives of each other and anyone who gets in their way, using their hot rod cars for assignments in their fanatic zeal for a combination of speed and sex—today's rootless, and reckless younger generation

This is the explosive theme, one which has provided the subject for blazing news headlines and editorials, of "Hot Rods to Hell," a new Sam Katzman production for MGM, starring Dana Andrews and Jeanne Crain with Mimsy Farmer, Laurie Mock, Paul Bertoya, Gene Kirkwood and Mickey Rooney, Jr. and His Combo.

Special Student Government Week At Texas Tech

Texas Tech student senators are spotlighting student government this week to familiarize the Tech student body with the university's top student governing organization.

Highlights of the week, according to student Sen. Henry H. (Hank) McCreight, Winters, occur Wednesday with "gripe sessions" in each of Tech's eight schools and Thursday with an open meeting of the Senate.

"We are using Student Government Week," McCreight said, "to familiarize students with the areas of service and problems involving the Student Senate. During the gripe sessions, we want students to come and discuss their problems and meet the representatives from the schools."

The Thursday night session will give students a chance to observe the role student government plays at Tech.

McCreight is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. McCreight of Winters. He is a junior in Business Administration.

Blizzards Lose To Sweetwater In Game Tuesday

The Winters Blizzards lost a basketball game to AAA Sweetwater Mustangs by the score of 60 to 55 in a game played in Blizzards gym Tuesday night. The Blizzards played one of their best games of the season as they had their fewest number of turnovers and did their best rebounding. Their methodical working their offense almost undid the Mustangs.

The Blizzards led at half-time 25 to 23. A bad four minutes in the middle of the third quarter proved to be the difference in the game.

Leading the scoring for the Blizzards were Danny Killough with 20 points, Donny Killough with 10, and Larry Cook with 9. Danny Killough also led the rebounding with 18.

In the B game played earlier the Blizzards came out the victor by the margin of 54 to 52 to notch their sixth victory against three defeats. They had to make up a ten point deficit in the final quarter to sew up the victory.

Leading the scoring for the Blizzards were Johnny Cathey with 13 points, Alton Pierce with 11, and Bob Colburn and Reese McCuiston with 10 each.

There are more than 250 kinds of cotton cloth and more than a thousand different finishes.

Cotton cloth of a fineness yet to be surpassed was woven in Egypt some 6,000 years ago.

Gingham gets its name from Ging Gong, a cloth woven by natives in Mayla and Java.

Rena North of Corpus Christi Spoke To Lions

By Charis Poe

Rena North of Corpus Christi presented a program on Morocco at the Lions Club Tuesday.

Mrs. North, Chief in the Naval Reserves, who spent two and one-half months this summer in Port Lyauette, renamed Kenitra, after the country gained independence, was introduced by her uncle, Eddie Little.

She was wearing a caftan, gold embroidered formal dress for Moroccan women. The main garment worn every day is called djallaba and is made of different material, a woolen weave named tergal. She also displayed many articles made of brass and carved wooden animals made at the government project in Azure.

Describing a diffa (feast) which she attended in the home of an important government official, Mrs. North said that it consisted of six courses and began at 10:30 p. m. The guests were seated in groups of 12 around brass tables, one meter in diameter, called meter tables. They were covered with seven layers of plastic and one layer was removed after each course.

Before the meal began, large basins of water were passed to each guest and when they had washed their hands each was given a small towel. This process also concluded the meal. No cutlery was provided, everything was eaten with the thumb and first two fingers of the right hand.

The first course was a huge pigeon pie, guests pushed back the crust and dipped in with their fingers. Next a whole roasted lamb was brought to each table, served with Moroccan bread. Each person seasoned his portion with cumin and salt.

The third course was called teju and consisted of six chickens for each table. They were cooked with almonds, almonds juice and butter and garnished with hard boiled eggs. This was served with Coca Cola, a very favorite drink.

Cous cous was the fourth course and consisted of a Farina like cereal served with a mixture of dates, nuts and raisins. Espresso coffee, made very strong and sweet topped this off.

The last course was three pitchers of a milk like substance, and when Mrs. North said she did not want any milk, a fellow guest quickly explained it was not milk but was made of pressed almonds and rose water, and was served only to dignitaries—and one did not refuse.

She also learned that it was not polite to refuse any of the food and when one could no longer eat, the guests began to feed each other, so it was still not polite to refuse.

Later in the evening, mint tea, a national beverage, and little cakes covered in powdered sugar were served. The Muslims do not drink alcoholic beverages and none was served.

Robot, the national capital. Mrs. North found to be the most interesting place of all. She visited the Black Kings palace and the tea garden, where she saw them make the mint tea.

The climate on the coast is similar to California. Skiing is popular in the winter. The people raise wheat, barley, sheep and goats. They make very fine blankets and rugs of sheep and goats hair. Cork is a principal crop and fine citrus fruits are raised. Euclyptus trees are also grown, the oil is used for healing and the wood furnished charcoal.

Mrs. North has been in the naval reserves for eight years. While we handed back our air base there to the Moroccans in 1962, a skeleton crew remains to assist these people and they are very appreciative—the king is certainly pro-American, she says. She learned that Morocco was first to recognize the independence of the United States in 1776, but they declared war on the U. S. in 1803, however it was canceled before we even found out about it.

The berbers were the original inhabitants but because it controls the access to the Mediterranean, Morocco is a very strategic position and has been conquered by wave after wave of people. It is now inhabited by the Moors, people of mixed races.

Henna is the beauty treatment used and is put on the hands and feet, which is considered good for the skin and ensures the people to the heat. Children use it on their hair.

The housing is of two different types: European and native. Some of the natives live in tents, and in their concrete homes enter through a hole in the wall. Homes in the European section are of the French type with many rooms.

Mrs. North's husband, Walter, is superintendent of a branch post office in Corpus Christi. He is also a Chief in the Naval Reserves. They have two children, a son who was an honor graduate at Annapolis in 1961, who was nuclear engineer in the collar?

Don't laugh—it could happen—and probably will. Think back . . . how often have you chuckled when turning through an old album or even watching an old movie, and noted the clothes styles of the men? Some of those styles were popular even in the memory of many of us, and yet if we showed up on Main Street wearing a 1929 suit we'd be grist for coffee-counter talk for quite a while. We'll venture to say that within 10 years, if we walked out of the house wearing a suit which is supposed to be the latest style of 1967, there'd be some head-shaking. We men may shake our heads over the ever-changing styles of women's clothing, but we fail to realize that we, too, are being handed changes in styling all the time. The only difference, the changes are so subtle we don't really notice them—until someone pulls out 10-year-ago's album.

Suggestions

What is a suggestion box? What is it for? What is it doing here in the first place?

These are some of the questions students of Winters High School have asked in the past. These are good questions. Think a moment. What are the suggestion boxes in schools for? Well, for one thing, the boxes are there for the common good of everybody. Take for instance: If one student didn't like something that was being done in one way or if he wants to get something done for the good of everybody, he could express his view points by writing down his ideas and sending them to the Student Council through the suggestion box.

The Student Council Committee opens the suggestion box once a month and reads the suggestions. The committee then takes the suggestions that they think are worthwhile and present them to the whole Student Council. If the Student Council approves of a suggestion they may take it to the principal or superintendent for consideration.

If the suggestion is approved, it may then be in effect and pertain to the whole student body.

Library Club

By Bill Brock

The Library Club needs your help. They are collecting old toys, children's books, and stuffed animals, and repairing them so that they might be given to needy families at Christmas time. If you have some old toys lying around that you no longer have any use for, give them to the Library Club, they will love you for it. It will make some child's Christmas a little more happier and will surely show the Christmas spirit. You may take the toys to the school office or to the Chamber of Commerce Office. I'm sure the Library Club will thank you for it and I will too because the Gale Staff gets a lot of fun out of playing with them before they are repaired.

FHA Has Money-Making Project

By Melba Lewis

Members of the Winters FHA Chapter met in the homemaking cottage Tuesday, November 28, to pick up their samples of Mary Kay products. Since we did not receive enough samples for each girl, the Future Homemakers will work in pairs to sell their quota of two bottles each.

Each team of two girls received three samples of these products, including Mary Kay Bubbling Bath, Men's Lotion, and some Exquisite Perfumed Body Lotion. The money from this sale goes to finance the club and for the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in the spring. Also, plans were made for a float for the Christmas parade.

"A Desk For Billie"

The Freshman class saw a film on December 4th and 5th on "A desk For Billie." It was shown in the high school film room. The film depicts the life of Billie Davis, author of the Saturday Evening Post series, "I was a hobo kid."

This film is a true story of a migrant child who found that education was the road to fulfillment of anyone's life. This film covers many parts of American countryside and the schools that were there. It shows dramatic, heart-warming episodes of how school changed Billie's life, through kind and understanding teachers.

The film lasted 57 minutes and was in color. It was an NEA Continental Film.

This film was a movie showing the courage of a girl who wanted to go to school and the determination after she was in school. It showed the true American fighting for her right to go to school.

Freshman News

By Joe Echols

The Freshman class met Monday, December 4, in the High School auditorium. At that time Mrs. Harrison passed out the results of the test which were taken previously.

After the guidance period David Harrison called a class meeting. Diana Magee read the minutes of the last meeting. The class decided after much debate that 50 cent dues would be collected no later than Friday, December 15. This will be under penalty of fine.

SC Float Wins First

The Student Council of WHS displayed the winning float in the annual Christmas Parade on December 2nd. Council members constructed the large white and gold float in the form of a large Bible inclined against the back of the vehicle. Inscribed upon it were the words "Peace on Earth." Randy Pendergrass posed as a soldier opening a package from home. Along the side was written the theme of the float "The greatest Gift." The Library Club also sponsored a float. It was of carousel design with different storybook characters riding on it. Venita Sample, Shirley Hubach, Patsy Wuestinger, Linda Allen, Kilah Graves, Serena Tischler, Martha Porter, and Myrna Lawrence, acted as the various characters.

It seems like more people are doing more and more reading these days. The English teachers seem very happy about the fact, but they wonder what type of literature the people are reading.

We asked a few people around school what they were reading and came up with the following:

Shakespeare and Me, by Mrs. Kruse; The Thin Man, by Mr. Joyce; Prince In Disguise, by Lanny Shellhouse; Valley of the Giants, by Wesley Crouch; Blondes Have More Fun, by Mrs. Bauer; Ship of Fools, by the Freshman Class; And The Band Played On, by Mr. Swafford; Old McDonald's Farm, by Mr. Smith.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

How old is old? In the outdoor kingdom, that's an elusive question. There simply are too many factors involved.

Few creatures in the wild ever die of old age. Usually they succumb to such things as infant mortality, predators, diseases, accidents, sieges of bad weather, or competition for food and shelter.

Nature's world is a violent thing. It was set up with checks and balances. One animal preys on another. This keeps down an overpopulation of animals.

Before natural predators like mountain lions and coyotes were controlled or eliminated (and researchers solved such problems as the screwworm menace) we had no overpopulation of deer for hunters to harvest.

Nature has her own way of balancing the game or fish to available habitat and food. But man has learned something about the longevity of certain creatures through controlled studies. Most of these studies have been made in zoos, where pampered animals live under conditions ideally suited to prolong life. It is from such studies where the statistics concerning the longevity of animals are developed.

For instance, man lives the longest of all mammals. But as age goes, man's lifespan really isn't long. In general, birds live longer than mammals and certain reptiles live longest of all.

For some unknown reason large animals have a tendency to live longer than their smaller relatives. But of course there are many exceptions.

Champion of the old-timers is the giant tortoise. One has been known to live for 152 years!

But this isn't much better than the box turtle, with an authentic age of 123 years. An alligator has been known to live for 68 years, a snapping turtle for 57 and a cottonmouth snake, 21.

Elephants rank behind humans among the mammals. One 69 years old has been known. A horse has been known to live for 50 years, a hippopotamus, 49, a chimpanzee, 40 and a grizzly bear, 32.

With the more common animals, a cottontail rabbit has lived to 10 years and a squirrel to 16. There have been lions which saw their 30th birthdays, and a mountain lion that lived 20 years.

A 102-year-old swan leads the birds. This also includes the parrot, 80; the great horned owl, 68; eagle, 55; English sparrow, 23; canary, 22; and hummingbird, 8.

Among the amphibians, a giant salamander lived to 55, a toad to 36 and a bullfrog to 30.

There is no recorded lifespan statistics on the bobwhite quail. But certainly under ideal conditions this bird should live longer than a year. Yet biologists estimate that fully 80 per cent of the quail born this year will not see their second birthday. Whether they are hunted or not, some 80 of 100 quail will perish from factors like predation, disease and starvation, before they are two years old.

Blizzard B Team Takes Second In Novice Tourney

The Winters Blizzard B Team took second place in the Novice basketball tournament held last Thursday through Saturday. On the way to the finals, which were played Saturday night, the Blizzards won games over Ballinger B team and the Novice A team.

Friday afternoon the Blizzards defeated the Ballinger B team by the score of 41 to 36 to move into the semifinals. Reese McCuiston and Johnny Cathey led the scoring for the Blizzards with 12 points each.

In the semi-final game the Blizzards snowed under the Novice Varsity by a 53 to 36 score to move into the finals with Coleman who defeated Bangs earlier in the day. Arlon Barnes was high point man for Winters with 14 points.

In the final game with Coleman the Blizzards dropped a 55 to 56 decision as Coleman was able to drop a field goal in the final seconds of the game. The Blizzards led at half-time 28 to 24 but a 20 point scoring binge by Coleman proved to be their undoing. Johnny Cathey and Bob Colburn led the scoring for the Blizzards with 15 points each.

Bob Colburn was named to the all tournament team.

Blizzardettes Won Second In Tourney At Lakeview

In basketball action last Friday and Saturday, the Blizzardettes took second place in the Lakeview tournament by the score of 62 to 49.

In their first game, the Blizzardettes defeated Klondike 49 to 47, a team which was probably the best team in the tournament. The Blizzardettes led by three points at half-time, were tied at the end of three quarters and eked out a victory in the final stanza.

In the second game the Blizzardettes sank Talpa 47 to 37 to go into the finals. They trailed by one at the half and led by only two at the end of the third quarter. They were able to win going away as Talpa was limited to only 4 points in the fourth quarter.

The final game was dominated by Lakeview. The Blizzardettes trailed by only three points at the half and were down by only 5 at the three quarter mark but a 19 point scoring surge by Lakeview in the fourth quarter was too much for the Blizzardettes.

Outstanding in performance were forwards Dora Snell, Eileen Faubion, and Carla Walker, and guards Mary Lynn Pritchard, Babs Tatum, and Judy McNeill. Dora Snell and Babs Tatum were chosen on the All Tournament team and Mary Lynn Pritchard was chosen outstanding guard of the Tournament.

A bill commonly referred to as "Truth in Lending" has just been voted out of the Banking and Currency Committee. The purpose is to require banks and most stores to disclose the exact yearly credit charges paid to "bumped" customers. Holiday travelers run the risk of being "bumped" because airlines often reserve more seats than they are able to provide. The last travelers to get in line may be left at the boarding gate even though they hold confirmed reservations and have paid for their ticket. It has been estimated that about 50,000 a year have found themselves in this fix.

The proper use and development of lethal weapons is under test and study in order that police and other law enforcement officers can better control crime and riots. These include tear gas and nauseating chemicals, pepper extracts, itching powder, adhesive and barbed tape, slippery confetti, foam generators, water cannons treated with dye for marking individuals, blinding lights, certain sound effects, bullet proof shields and clothing, and armored police trucks built somewhat like tanks. Technology is developing an entire new anti-crime and anti-riot arsenal to meet obvious need.

In many cities conditions have reached the point where even the hospitals, including ambulance and supply vehicles, face such hostility that perimeter security similar to that maintained on military installations is essential. Armed guards at entrances, rapid movement of victims from areas of violence, no changing of shifts during hours of darkness and armed motorized escorts for ambulance mercy drivers are considered first steps. Firemen, of course, need protection so that they can do their job of saving people and property.

De Gaulle of France may leave in his path of egomania actions a communist party as his successor. The General has been so busy attacking the American dollar that he has neglected about everything else. The French Communist Party is stronger than it has been in the past 20 years. He has been so consumed by his injured ego by Churchill and Roosevelt in World War II that he has never recovered. If the United States would make the proper demand that he repay the billions spent by the United States to bail France out of chaos, the shoe could quickly be placed on the other foot.

Brother of Mrs. Jonah Eckert Dies In Car Accident

Clifford Smith, of San Saba, brother of Mrs. Jonah Eckert, was killed Monday afternoon about 5:00 o'clock in the city limits when his car hit the abutment of a bridge.

Mrs. Eckert received the message Monday night and went to San Saba Tuesday to attend the funeral. She planned to remain with her relatives there for a few days.
