Phone and Power Lines Downed By Ice Storm

Kerosene lamps and candles were banished by the tides of progress a good many years ago, but many rural North Runnels Counties brought them out of retirement and have given them places of honor and respect these past few days. But it is the forces of nature to initiate the action.

Sleet and icy rains hit the area last Thursday night, and freezing mists continued to fall through Friday. Reports started coming in early Friday of power and phone lines downed by the ice all over the area. By Saturday morning, the situation had worsened, until most rural areas were without electric power—and also without telephone communications to report.

For a while Saturday there were only two long distance lines to Ballinger. Telephone communication from here to Bradshaw, Wingate and Crews and other outlying communities was destroyed.

Most every rural area of North Runnels County was without electricity, as power lines broke under the heavy weight of the ice. Electric and telephone linemen were called out, and worked many long hours attempting to restore service and to eliminate any chances of danger from fallen electric lines.

Electric and telephone facilities in Winters were hit to some extent, but did not suffer the damage experienced by the rural areas. C. C. Paske, superintendent of the City Electric Department, said several service lines were broken by the storm, along with a few secondary power lines. In addition, many transformer fuses burned out, to place certain sections of the city in darkness for a short period of time. One electric power pole in Sunlawn addition was broken.

Hardest hit were the rural areas, serviced by West Texas Utilities Company and Coleman County Electric Cooperative. Most every farm and ranch home in North Runnels County was without electricity and many remain darkened and without power. According to a spokesman for WTU, the hardest hit communities serviced by them were Wilmet and Wingate, where primary spans were on the ground. These were repaired by Monday of this week, but secondary and service lines still were reported out of service. WTU also experienced blacked-out sections in Winters, when a primary line went out of action.

REA reported several poles down and many electric lines broke all over the area, leaving practically the entire rural area in darkness. In the Poe's Corner community west of Winters, many spans of electric line were reported down.

The telephone company reported 90 percent of the rural area without phone service Monday, and about 20 phones out in Winters. They said it would take all of this week to restore service, or at least until Friday.

Extra crews were brought in to work out the difficulty in the area serviced by the REA, but indications were Monday morning that it would be the last of the week before full service could be restored. REA power lines to the pump station at the Winters Lake were downed by the ice, but were repaired Sunday. City electric department crews Monday were at work repairing control lines from town to the lake.

At the height of the emergency, F. R. (Phil) Anderson, Winters manager for the West Texas Utilities Company, suffered a heart attack Sunday and was admitted to the Winters Municipal Hospital. He was reported to be progressing by the middle of the week.

Pan American Industries of Winters will hold their annual children's Christmas party again this year.

This year's party will be held at the State Theatre, where children will be guests of the company to see two feature films and several cartoons.

The show will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday, December 23, and last until 12 noon.

Feature films to be shown will be "Batman and Robin," and "The Three Stooges." Several cartoons also will be shown.

Estimate On Cotton Crop Scaled Down

In the early part of the cotton-harvest season, it was estimated that there would be about 8,000 bales in the North Runnels County area, handled through the Winters Warehouse Co.

That estimated has been lowered during the past few days, and it is now estimated that 5500 bales will be the limit here. This is in line with estimated production all over this section of the state.

As of Tuesday morning, 4809 bales had been brought in to the Winters Warehouse from gins in Winters, Wilmet and Wingate. Stripping was brought to a standstill by a light snow week before last, and remains halted by the ice storm of last week-end.

West Texas Cotton Crop Also Skippy

Farmers in the 22 West Texas counties comprising the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., along with producers throughout the Cotton Belt, will soon wind up the 1967 harvest with one of the shortest crops in many years.

Total U. S. production of cotton for 1967 has been estimated at 7,618,000 bales by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Charles Bragg, executive vice president of RPCG.

Texas' crop has been placed at 2,067,000 bales compared to 2,759,188 bales a year ago. The current U. S. crop compares with 9,575,000 bales last year and 14,935,000-bale average for 1961-65, as stated by Mr. Bragg.

"Adverse weather conditions throughout West Texas, as well as the entire South, are largely responsible for the reduced per-acre yields," said Bragg. "Payments offered by the government for idling cotton land is another reason for the short 1967 crop."

"In view of the short supply predicted for next year, directors of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers are joining cotton industry leaders in urging farmers to review carefully their planting plans for 1968," Bragg asserted. "This matter is expected to get major consideration at the 30th annual meeting of the National Cotton Council in Oklahoma City January 29-30. More than a thousand leaders of the cotton industry are expected in attendance."

The Rolling Plains organization has set a goal of 20 members for attendance at the meeting, including J. B. Cooper, Jr., Roscoe farmer and growers' president, Neuman Smith, Runnels County farmer and vice president of the Southern Region of RPCG, Charles Stenholm of Stamford, immediate past executive vice president, and Bragg, executive vice president.

Meantime, Bragg urges all cotton producers in the Rolling Plains counties to begin now planning for their 1968 cotton crop. So far this year, the price received by farmers for 1967 crop cotton has averaged 8.5 cents above the average market in 1966 and 4 to 14 cents above the loan.

World consumption for 1967-68 is estimated at 52.5 million bales. Under present programs and world outlook, estimated production for 1967-68 is 47.3 million bales, 5.2 million less than estimated consumption.

"It is conceivable that average price paid for cotton in 1968 could reach record highs," Bragg said.

Schools Will Dismiss 22nd For Holidays

Winters school will dismiss Friday, December 22, for the Christmas holidays. All classes will dismiss at 3 p. m.

The school will resume normal schedule Tuesday, January 2.

Blizzardettes Win Second Place In Eldorado Tourney

In the Eldorado Girls Basketball Tournament held last Friday and Saturday the Winters Blizzardettes took second place after losing to host Eldorado in the finals by the score of 36 to 28. Mistakes in critical situations probably cost the Blizzardettes the game and first place.

In their first game of the tournament the Blizzardettes overwhelmed Del Rio 66 to 41. They led 38 to 19 at the half and were never pressed in the final two stanzas. Leading the scoring for the Blizzardettes were Dora Snell with 23 points, Eileen Faubion with 15, Susan White with 13, Carla Walker with 10, and Debra Carroll with 5. Coach Gardner played every girl she had in coasting to an easy victory.

In the second game the Blizzardettes came from behind to defeat Rocksprings 50 to 39. Trailing 13 to 18 at the end of the first quarter, the Blizzardettes pulled even at half time and then coasted in for the win.

Outstanding defensive play was turned in by Dora Snell, Mary Lynn Pritchard, and Judy McNeill. Scoring for the Blizzardettes were Carla Walker with 21 points, Dora Snell with 20, and Eileen Faubion with 9.

In the final game the Blizzardettes seemed unable to get untracked. They led by only one point at intermission, fell behind by two at the end of the third quarter and were never able to pull away for the win. Defensive work by both the Blizzardettes and Eldorado dominated the game. Only one field goal was scored by either team in the fourth quarter and that was by Carla Walker. Fantastic free throw shooting by Eldorado helped bring them the victory as they hit twelve of twelve. In the final game Dora Snell scored 11 points, Carla Walker 10, and Eileen Faubion 7.

Dora Snell was selected the outstanding forward of the tournament and the Blizzardettes were given the sportsmanship trophy for their conduct during the tournament.

C. W. Carter Completed Course On Anti-Sub War

Seaman Apprentice Charles W. Carter, USN, has completed a refresher training course off the coast of San Diego, Calif., aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Yorktown.

During the training period the ship stressed combat readiness and held drills in fighting simulated fires. They also held general quarters drills for mock bomb, rocket and torpedo attacks.

Prior to its current operating schedule with the First Fleet, the Yorktown underwent a seven-month overhaul at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The amazing thing about the story is its persistence and agelessness. Time has been unable to affect it, to erase from it the glow of eternal light. In a reading of the history of mankind, just about the time you reach the chapter which would indicate that man is about to discard it, it takes on a new meaning for that generation.

If one segment of society seeks to bury it, it suddenly makes its appearance in another society, stronger still. In clings in the face of adversity and dark desolation, and men throughout the ages have found in it and indescribable peace. Tides have been unable to wash it from the minds of men, when those men seek a final and lasting peace of mind; armies have been unable to destroy it, though this, too, has been attempted.

It is the story of a town, not much different from hundreds of other towns in the land of Palestine: of drab houses facing smelly, narrow, sun-baked streets; of an animosity between peoples, of men of one race hating those of another race. A story of a crude shelter, a travel-weary couple; a quiet, starlit night that suddenly became a landmark in time, a beacon of guidance for a humankind fervently seeking something upon which to establish a lasting hope.

It is the story of a happening that has shaped the lives and consciences of perhaps more men than any other since the beginning of time. It is a story that, when remembered and recognized on at least one day

City Council In Short Session Monday Evening

Winters' City Council dealt with a short agenda in rapid-fire order Monday night.

Council approved appointment of Dr. H. H. McCreight as City Health Officer for the next year.

Request by the Fire Department for a ladder to replace an old ladder on one of the fire trucks was approved.

Council also discussed setting up a special fund for the Street Improvement Bonds which were approved by the voters in the November 11 bond election.

out of each year, serves to help men of faith refresh a hope, and to help men of little faith to regain a particle of hope in a seemingly otherwise hopeless world.

It is a story which serves as a connecting link to reality to men facing untold dangers and loneliness in a hostile clime far from their home-hearth; as well as to men experiencing a terrible loneliness which is all too apparent in the mine-line and loneliness of faceless throngs in the asphalt jungles.

It is the story of Christmas, and a promise and a hope for all mankind, if only it is recognized and accepted for what it is.

History Marker On Grave Of Civil War Soldier

An official Texas Historical Grave Marker has been awarded to Runnels County by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, according to an announcement by Rankin Pace of Winters, chairman of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

The marker is for the grave of Alec Simmons. It will be placed on the grave which is located 15 miles northeast of Winters on Highway 382.

The 12 inch x 6 inch grave marker will be inscribed: "Alec Simmons, Civil War soldier from Lemon Gap, 7 miles northwest, was buried here in an unmarked grave prior to 1897. Recorded 1967."

Turkey Shooters Not Deterred By Mud and Ice

Sports-shooters were not to be denied in the pursuit of their hobby Sunday afternoon. Melting ice and muddy grounds were taken in stride as they attended the turkey shoot sponsored by the Winters Shooters Association, and a sizeable crowd of shooters competed for prizes.

The bit attraction was the trapshoot, with Pete Holder, Chuck Richardson and Bobby Blackwood the big winners, taking home a total of nine prizes between them.

The association is planning another shoot to be held shortly after the first of the year.

Local Winners Named In Ford Company Contest

Three local residents and three out-of-town people who registered with the local Ford agency in the "Discover Ford Country" contest conducted recently have been notified of their winning prizes in the contest.

Dale's Ford Sales was the local sponsor of the contest.

Local winners, who received road atlases, were J. J. Swatches, R. C. Parramore and W. R. Nichols. Out-of-town residents who registered with the local Ford dealer and won prizes were Charles Winn of Abilene, a radio; Mariela Delapena, of Millersview; and Leonard Racokow of Coleman.

IN PARADE—This float, built by the Rummie Club and entered in the annual Christmas Parade here Saturday, December 2, won third place in the organizational float division.

"FILL 'ER UP!"—The businessman who runs out of gas on his way to an appointment is inconvenienced, sometimes embarrassed. A Navy ship that runs out of fuel at sea dies. It becomes a derelict, hazard to friend and enemy.

Even what the Navy calls a "low fuel state" can remove a ship from a fight as quickly as a round from an enemy gun. Low fuel forces a ship to slow down and reduce its activity. In combat a ship running low on fuel must withdraw.

To the crews of Seventh Fleet Service Force oilers off the coast of Vietnam falls the task of assuring that this never happens. They do this by "unrep"—underway replenishment. Like an all night gas station these oilers are always open for business. Their customers are the Navy carriers, destroyers, minesweepers, cruisers and transports plying the Vietnamese waters from the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam southward to the Mekong Delta, and they cannot afford to run out of fuel.

Pic 4: Once the fueling hoses are connected to the receiver's fuel tanks and pumping is started, this winch operator keeps the hoses taut and out of the water.

Pic 5: In special containers, ordnance powder casings are received aboard the oiler.

Candles . . . symbolizing Christ as the Light of the World, play a very important part in Irish Christmas tradition. On Christmas Eve the mother or father of the house lights a candle and the whole family prays for their loved ones, living and dead. In some parts of Ireland, no one is allowed to snuff out the Christmas candle except those with the name Mary.

Train Your Dog to Scent
 Many hunting dogs hunt more by sight than they do by scent. Often this is due to poor training when a pup.

Such a dog is a poor hunter. Bring your own pup up the right way by doing as many professional trainers do—practice at night when the dog can't use his eyes and must rely on his nose.

Construct a dummy made of quail feathers wadded and tied into a reasonable facsimile of a bird. Use it for his night training.

Clip Dog's Nails
 Unless a hunting dog gets all the exercise nature intended, his nails will grow too long. This is most likely to occur during the summer months.

When you notice his nails are getting too long, take time to cut the dead ends with ordinary nail clippers. Otherwise the pooh may be badly clipped by the time hunting season rolls around.

FOR SALE: Receipt Books, now at The Enterprise office.

Damage Done By Shot
 Many hunters are either too lazy, too negligent, or don't care enough to clean their game promptly after shooting it. This holds doubly true in warm weather.

Failure to promptly clean birds or other game can result in flavor-spoilage of meat due to shot bruising.

Field dressing is messy, it's inconvenient, but it sure means better meat on the table after you get home.

Designs are printed on cotton cloth similar to printing on paper, using paste for inks.

Roger Babson Report—

Big Storms Taken In Stride, Small Storms Throw Cities For A Loop

Big cities are girding again for their annual battle with those most persistent and costly foes: snow and ice. Good old-fashioned snowstorms, the municipalities seem able to take in stride. It's the mini-blizzards—the small storms—that throw them for a loss.

Boston Backlog

Among the first of the mini-blizzards this season to plague a major U. S. city was a sneak attack on Boston in mid-November. Downtown, the snow accumulation was a mere three inches; even in the outer suburbs, five-inch cover was rare. Yet in a matter of two hours, this stormlet tied Greater Boston supper-hour traffic into one huge knot that was to take eight to ten hours to unsnarl.

Movement on flat stretches of road was theoretically possible; but drivers could do no more than inch along—their passage slowed or blocked completely by cars unable to negotiate even small grades, or stalled because the long hours of delay had drained batteries and—or gas tanks. Thousands of cars were abandoned, many in the middle of the roadway. Repair trucks, sanders, ambulances, and fire apparatus just couldn't make any headway in the tangled mass of traffic. In the city itself, a coronary victim had to be removed from a police ambulance and carried on a stretcher a quarter of a mile to Boston City Hospital. Two blocks from the same hospital, a baby boy was born in his father's car which was hopelessly bogged down in the snarl.

Driver Deficiencies

During and immediately after practically every snow and ice storm, traffic problems are vastly increased as traction becomes more difficult to attain. This is true in the city, in the suburbs, and along rural roads. But the whole problem is compounded as drivers—ill-prepared to cope with winter conditions—fumble and flounder.

Holiday Marketing Tip: Compare

Time seems to grow more important around the holiday season. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension specialist in consumer marketing, offers these suggestions to help save time and money, making "plans-ahead" for food easy.

To shell or not to shell may be a question regarding pecans. Compare the cost of the nuts in the shell and those shelled. Two pounds of well-filled out pecans will yield about one pound of nut meats.

If pecans in the shell cost 69 cents a pound, one pound of nut meats would cost $1.38. Shelled pecans will cost about $1.70 a pound if bought in that quantity. If you buy three or four ounce packages of pecans, then the cost per ounce is more, the Texas A&M University specialist said. Broken pieces may be less expensive than whole kernel—check prices. The pecan crop is late this year and better prices may be available later in the season.

You may also be wondering whether to buy canned cranberry sauce or to make your own from fresh cranberries. A one pound can of cranberry sauce is two cups and makes 8 servings of one-fourth cup each. One pound of fresh cranberries will make three to three and a half cups of sauce and provide 12 to 14 servings of the same size. Of course, sugar must be added to the fresh cranberries when making sauce so add this to the cost of the fresh cranberries for accurate cost comparison.

To have all your cookies at their best on Christmas day, classify the kinds you plan to make according to their storage life. The first cookies to make are those that need to be stored for a time to mellow their spicy goodness (such as fruit cake cookies).

Next bake those that are ready for eating as soon as they are baked but keep well for several weeks—these include refrigerator cookies. These are tender and store best in a loosely covered container. Rocks and hermits should be stored in a tightly covered container to keep moist and tender. Bake last, cookies you will use soon, such as rich butter cookies.

This is the peak season for coconuts, cranberries and tangerines. Grapefruit, tangerines, navel and juice oranges, apples, pears, grapes, avocados, bananas and persimmons are other good fruit choices.

In fresh vegetables, at moderate prices, are cooking greens, cabbage, squash, celery, sweet corn, sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas and head lettuce.

Yet driver deficiencies are by no means the only causes of trouble. By and large, snow tires are more effective for braking on snow or ice than for obtaining and maintaining traction on slippery roads. And, let's face up to it: Cars made here in the U. S. are easily thrown off balance when the going gets rough because they carry the bulk of their weight forward and their power wheels behind.

Foreign-Car Advantages

By contrast, most foreign-made cars have their power directly under their motors, whether these are located in the front or the rear. As a result, these foreign cars do possess a considerably greater degree of road stability for driving under snow and ice conditions than do our larger, poorly balanced U. S. autos.

Ideally, of course, small cars propelled by electric—or perhaps nuclear—power are what we need for Winter driving, especially in big cities. And such cars would prove an excellent solution for our rapidly increasing air-pollution problem in urban areas. They would also make for less wear and tear on highways and city streets and would require less parking space. But, alas, electric—or nuclear-powered cars are far from being economically feasible.

Salt And Sand, Information And Imagination

Big cities still tend to rely too much on salt and sand to solve winter traffic problems. Often even these are used too little and too late. Ordinances with teeth to restrict the size of trucks on city streets—winter and summer—and to limit truck deliveries to off-peak hours are urgently needed. Another remedy would be more widespread synchronization of traffic lights in downtown areas and on the major roads approaching central city business sections.

TV and radio could also be more frequently and more effectively used to alert drivers to dangerous conditions and to solicit their co-operation. And, in the interest of public safety as well as public convenience, big cities should be making better and more consistent use of professional weather services and of helicopters to obtain advance notice of approaching storms and to locate potential trouble spots before they become so clogged as to defy untangling.

Homemakers Need Design Principles

Add to the list of things a homemaker should know the principles of good design.

Whether hanging a picture, making a flower arrangement, arranging furniture or setting a table, the homemaker is making design decisions, says Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

No laws can give the development of design, says the specialist. These decisions involve likes, tastes, preferences and the application of design principles, such as proportion, scale, balance, emphasis, rhythm and harmony.

To acquire a "feeling" for good design, Miss Lay suggests the following principles be applied.

"Proportion, which is the relation of one part of the design to another or to the whole, demands that all space divisions be pleasingly related to each other and to the whole," Miss Lay points out.

One pleasing relationship, she says, is the ratio of two to three. For example, a room that is 14 feet by 21 feet has good proportion.

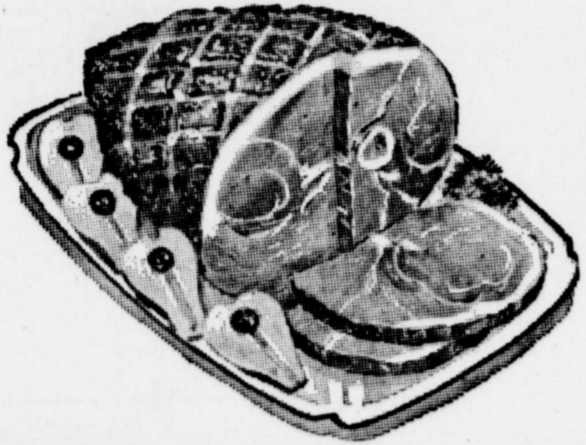

"Scale which is related to proportion refers to the consistency in sizes of objects or to the relationship of the measurements of one object to another," the housing and home furnishing expert explains. She suggests using this principle when grouping different sized objects together.

Balance gives a feeling of equal weights on both sides of an arrangement. Miss Lay recommends keeping in mind the two major types of balance—formal and informal.

"In formal balance two identical objects or attractions are placed at equal distance from the center," Miss Lay says. "In informal, unequal objects or attractions are placed at unequal distances from the center, but give the impression of being balanced."

Rhythm is created, says Miss Lay, when the design elements are arranged so that the eye travels from one part to another in an organized manner.

No other extensively grown crop approaches cotton in per acre income.

Use Two Duck Calls

Carry two duck calls — one high pitch, the other low. Use the higher pitch on dirty days when there is a lot of wind or rain. The low pitch call is for those "dead calm" days. A high pitch call on a "dead calm" day will sound too loud and unnatural.

Try For Two

When your partner hooks a speckled trout, cast your bait immediately behind the hooked fish. Often three or four specks will trail the hooked fish almost all the way to the boat.

'In the Eyes of a Child'

'Look at the old ones — Mommie and Dad and all of them. They'll be looking at me as if they expect me to do something special. They're all full of miles and secrets. . . . Oh! That tree! How it sparkles! All those things hanging on it — Look! There's a little man. . . looks like a gingerbread man! There's cinnamon candies stuck on him — like buttons! Wonder if they'll let me reach up and take him — m-m-m. . . Nope! I almost tripped over the wagon. Guess I'd better stay where I am. Hope they save it for me for later. . . I want to take it and that great big ball on the tree to bed with me tonight!'

Christmas is..

the air of excitement everywhere, the happy, pushing holiday crowds—the sharp fragrance of pine, the winking glint of tinsel. Christmas is the pulsing of the human heart, quickened again with hope, it is the warm handclasp of friends, dancing anticipation in the eyes of a child opening a present. It is a candle glowing in a glow, welcoming a stranger—welcoming the Christ!

Slowing Down Fast Dog. There are many ways of slowing down a fast hunting dog. When training your bird dog pup, if you find he ranges too far afield in his eagerness, an easy way to slow him down is to tie a bicycle inner tube to his collar and let the tube drag the ground. Tube will throw him when he runs too fast, but if he trots slowly, it will not.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Bursleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

The Congress has finally adjourned after a Session of eleven months and six days. There will not be much time between adjournment and the beginning of the 2nd Session of the 90th Congress in January.

It had been our hope and desire to have enough time between Sessions to visit old friends back home and to make new friends and acquaintances in the counties added to the 17th Congressional District by the last Session of the Texas Legislature. It is a disappointment that the time will be so short.

As heretofore constituted, the 17th District was composed of 24 counties. To this has been added seven more to the South; namely, Burnet, Lampasas, McCulloch, Llano, Mason, Menard and San Saba.

Under lines now drawn candidates for Congress in 1968 will run in the newly created Districts and when elected will begin representing the new area officially at the beginning of the 91st Congress in 1969.

The 31 counties composing the 17th Congressional District have a population of approximately 440,000. It measures 220 miles north and south and 260 miles east and west. It covers an area of almost 30,000 square miles. In these bounds could be placed the States of Maryland, Delaware, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island, with another 1,000 square miles left over. The area has 68 newspapers, 185 Post Offices, and 13 lakes with over 1,000 surface acres each. In spite of its size and far reaches, there is a strong community interest and compatibility and each county shares in all or many of its varied resources. It is really "Big Country."

It is farming country with an annual farm income of in excess of $195 million.

It is oil country, producing in one recent year more than 68 million barrels, and a total to date of over 1,800,000,000 barrels.

It is cow country, with a cattle population of over 930,000 head.

It is sheep and goat country, with an estimated 2,800,000 sheep and goats.

It is cotton country, ginning a quarter of a million bales a year.

It is pecan country, the annual production being 800,000 pounds.

It is industrial country, approaching $100 million per annum in manufactured products.

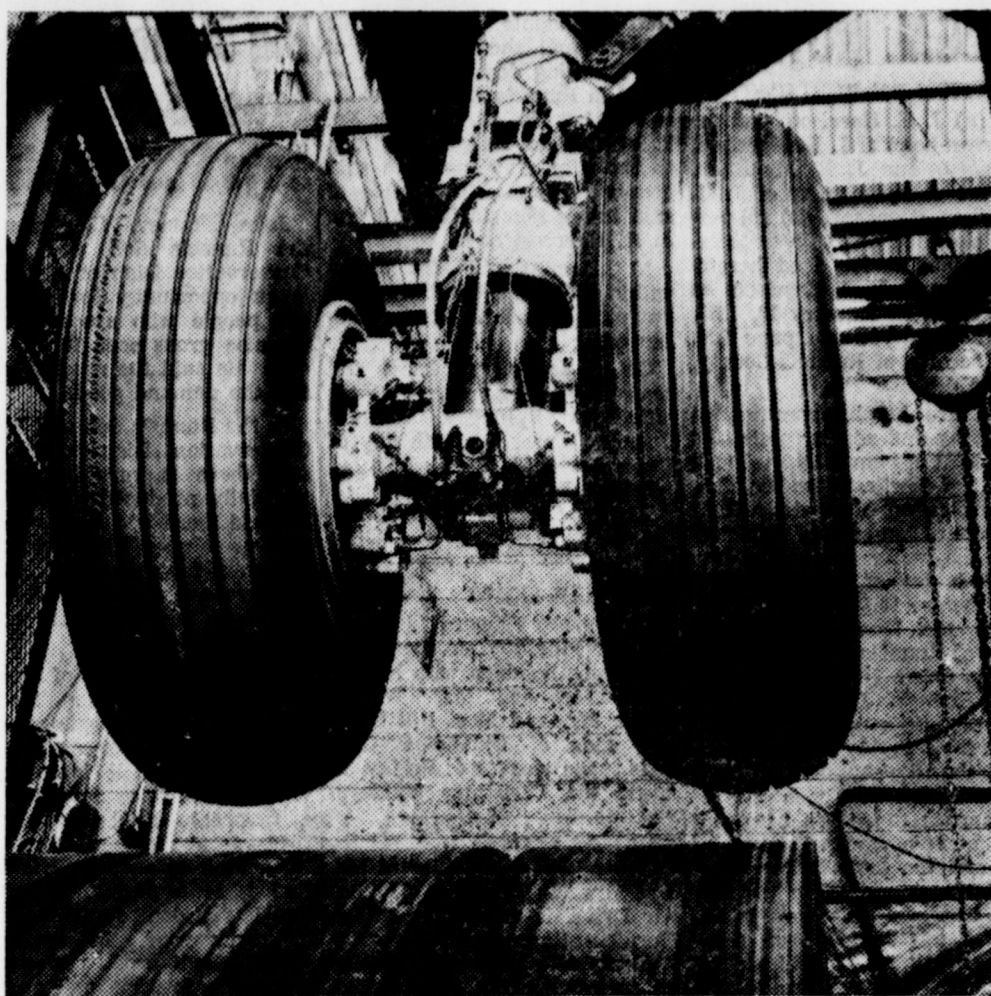

It is high I. Q. country, with its five senior colleges and three junior colleges.

It is the home of Military Installations in Big Spring, Abilene, Mineral Wells and Sweetwater, forming vital links in our national defense.

It is "Good Country," and its potential is as wide-ranged as its area. Its leaders show wisdom and vision in its further development.

This weekly letter will be discontinued until the Congress reconvenes in January at which time it will be resumed. Most newspapers run this column each week but in areas where it is infrequent, should readers know of someone who would like a copy, it will be gladly sent on request.

Permit us this personal note: We do not attempt to send Christmas cards since it is almost an impossible task but Ruth and I take this opportunity to wish everyone a most pleasant and safe Holiday Season.

SIMULATED LANDINGS of huge tires for the Boeing 727-700 jetliner, due for delivery this fall, test Bendix-produced brakes to insure maximum safety. Temperatures within the brake assembly during these tests at the Bendix plant in South Bend, Ind., reached 1,400 degrees F.

Christmas Party For Women's Industrial Club Wednesday

Annual Christmas party for members of the Woman's Industrial Club was held at the club house Wednesday of last week with nine members present.

Mrs. Agnes Lawrence, president, decorated the room in keeping with the Christmas season, including a Christmas tree. She also played several Yuletide selections on the piano and electric organ.

Mrs. John Shipman presided for the program and read the story of the authors of the song "Silent Night." The Rev. Joseph Mohr composed the words and Franz Gruber wrote the music.

Numbers were drawn and gifts exchanged. The meeting closed with the group singing "Silent Night," with Mrs. Lawrence at the organ.

The hostesses, Mrs. Eddie Voelker, Mrs. Walter Daniel, and Miss Emma Henniger served refreshments of sandwiches, cake, candy and coffee.

Members present were Mesdames Agnes Lawrence, John Shipman, W. H. Cole, Eddie Voelker, Walter Daniel, Grace Waggoner, Joe Dunnam, Lora Coupland and Miss Emma Henniger.

SURGERY IN HOUSTON

Baiting-Up For Catfish

Want to liven up your catfish fishing? Get the local slaughterhouse to save you the innards of a steer or maybe a hog. Put the entrails in a burlap bag, weigh with rocks and lower it into a likely spot. Catfish will rally from yards around.

Nail Clippers As Line Cutters

A pair of fingernail clippers is a handy item in the tackle box. They are great for snipping line and save wear and tear on teeth and fingernails.

It wasn't many years ago that leasing lands for deer hunting was a novel practice.

Today the pay-to-hunt plan has been accepted both by the hunter and by the landowner. And the idea gradually is spreading each year.

Now some farmers and ranchers are leasing their lands for quail and dove hunting, too. Some even are building private lakes for fee fishing.

This practice is destined to grow. There is increasing demand for recreational outlets while at the same time landowners are searching for ways to get full utilization from their lands.

Recreation is booming. Estimates are that by the year 2,000 our population will be double what it now is and demands for recreation will triple.

To satisfy this ever-increasing demand, the outdoorsman must look to private lands. There simply is not enough public land to handle the demand. This certainly is true in Texas, where public lands are minimal.

Actually, the pay-for-recreation plan has benefited both the outdoorsman and the landowner. The farmer or rancher, recognizing fish and game as a source of income, has tried to propagate the various species on his land. This in turn has helped the outdoorsman by providing more fish to catch and more game to hunt.

Some landowners even have camping sites available for family camping.

Many studies are being made today on recreation in conjunction with farming and ranching, thus to utilize the land at its fullest potential.

At Remington Farms near Chestertown, Md., for example, the officials of the Remington Arms Company have set up a 3,000-acre test policy to study the effects of game on agricultural practices.

"I believe that sound farming and good wildlife management are compatible," says Clark Webster, who is in charge of wildlife management for the Farms. "We're trying to prove this in our everyday activities."

Webster says the deer population on the tract has increased considerably within recent years, and "there's no question that our efforts at improving soil fertility have helped the deer population."

Webster points out that among the effective techniques being used at Remington Farms are the planting of shrubs and grasses in field borders between cropland and woodland. This serves a dual purpose since such areas generally are unproductive and often subject to damaging erosion.

"Cover crops such as bicolor lespedeza do particularly well on these edges and provide excellent food for quail and other game species," says Webster.

Areas such as fence corners, rocky spots, abandoned roads, or areas isolated by ditches, streams and gullies also can be utilized for wildlife management, he adds.

We wish you and yours the best of Yuletides ever!

Big Demand For Grass Seed, Says SCS Official

Jake Prestey, Chairman of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District said there is an opportunity for many of our people who are interested to raise grass seed for a cash crop. He said the need is great and the demand good.

In the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, Prestey said there is very little commercially produced grass seed. He said there is a local need as well as a need from surrounding areas for grass seed. Locally there are some 30,000 acres of native rangeland that needs to be reseeded.

Woodrow Hoffman of the local Soil Conservation Service said sideoats grama is a grass seed that has a great demand on the market. It is a native grass to this area and produces a favorable seed crop under seed production management. He said it is easy to establish. And it is a permanent grass. That is you don't have to reseed it every year. In favorable years it will produce two seed crops one in June and another in October. Yields of 100 to 150 pounds per acre can be expected under dryland conditions.

Any good combine will harvest the seed satisfactorily or there are seed dealers who will come in and harvest the seed for a share. Hoffman said a District Cooperator made 30 dollars an Acre from one seed crop and then had the grazing left.

Other grass seed which can be raised locally are green sprangletop, KR bluestem, cane bluestem and Klein grass. Hoffman suggested for anyone interested in grass seed production to stop by the local Soil Conservation Service office and they will be glad to help.

Beer Can Target

If you can't afford a commercial beer can hurler, how about improvising one of your own? This can be done by tying a can to the line of your spin casting rig, or bait casting outfit.

Stand behind the shooter and cast the can forward over his shoulder into the air. Change the direction of cast for variety. Casts of over 100 feet can be made this way.

You'll find it lots of fun. Cotton is the largest single earner of foreign exchange.

Texas' veterans land program derailed since late 1965, is back on the track again.

According to Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, sale of $30,000,000 in bonds is slated for December 19. Bonds are expected to be delivered around January 25. Money then will be available to buy land for state veterans.

At the November 11 election, Texans voted favorably for a constitutional amendment authorizing sale of an additional $200,000,000 in bonds for the program. Amendment also expanded the program to include veterans who served in Vietnam, as well as Korea and World War II. Ex-servicemen have spent $242,000,000 to buy 3,000,000 acres of land under the program since it was first authorized in 1946.

Qualified veterans now can borrow up to $10,000. Minimum amount of land that can be bought is 15 acres. Maximum interest rate on bonds is four and a half percent. Purchasers of land have 40 years to repay state loans. A five percent down payment and about $150 in legal and appraisal fees is necessary to close a loan.

DRAFT QUOTA UP
Draft boards will have to provide 1,659 young Texans for the armed forces next month. This is the biggest monthly quota since 2,012 were called in November, 1966.

January quota is Texas' share of the national call for 34,000 men for the army, says Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director.

Local boards in Texas will forward 5,455 men in January for pre-induction examinations. They already have scheduled 3,485 for the exam in December.

COURTS SPEAK
State Supreme Court agreed with the lower courts that the election which resulted in consolidation of Robert Lee Independent School District and Silver Peak Common School District of Coke County is valid.

High court granted writs of error and set for review these cases:

—A Bexar County man's claim he was disabled from cancer as result of assembling nuclear weapons.

—A contractor's liability to the city of Midland for defects in a swimming pool he constructed at a public park.

—El Paso jury verdict that cut a special condemnation commission award to an El Paso couple from $6,685 to $3,477 for property taken from them for freeway right-of-way.

Third Court of Civil Appeals ruled that former State Savings and Loan Commissioner James O. Gerst failed to follow the evidence in denying Houston First Savings Association an application for a branch office.

MARTIN FILES SUIT
Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin filed an $846,000 civil penalty and injunction suit to stop alleged air pollution by seven garbage dump operators near Houston.

Suits seeks $1,000 a day penalties from the date the new Clean Air Act went into effect, plus injunction. Hearing is set for January 4 in 151 District Court. It's the first major court test under the act. State Rep. Rex Braun of Houston earlier accused Martin of dragging his feet on complaints against dumps.

Later last week, Martin and two assistants argued a Permian Basin gas rate case before the U. S. Supreme Court. State maintains that the 14.5 cent rate for gas discovered Jan. 1, 1961, and 16.5 cents for gas discovered after that date are inadequate to support the exploration program to sustain industry vitality. Loss of tax revenue due to rates proposed by the Federal Power Commission also would affect the state, the attorney general claimed.

TOURIST CONFERENCE SET
A network of 10 Travel Trails showing how local communities can help themselves by promoting San Antonio's HemisFair '68 will be unveiled at the third annual Governor's Tourist Development Conference in Austin January 17.

Trails were chosen from among nomination in 154 counties and state tourism people will be pushing these routes to out-of-staters visiting Texas and HemisFair. State will erect "Travel Trail" markers and design and publish maps to guide and inform the tourists.

Two panels of travel experts will join Gov. John Connally in encouraging communities to step up their tourist promotion. A total of 7,000,000 visitors are expected at HemisFair, says HemisFair's Chief Executive Officer James M. Gaines who will keynote the conference. Two afternoon seminars are planned on developing special attractions and boosting them with publicity, photography and brochures.

HOLIDAY ACCIDENT DANGERS TOLD

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Texas Department of Public Safety director, estimates that 53 persons will die in traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend and 45 on New Year's weekend.

All highway patrolmen will be on duty as much as possible during the December 22-25 danger period. Some 150 men from other uniformed services will aid in patrol duty. Similar "death watch" will be kept December 29-January 1.

Texas Safety Association, Texas Highway Department, Texas Motor Transport Association, Texas Railroad Association and Texas Association of Broadcasters are cooperating.

Texas has received the American Automobile Association's Award of Merit for its outstanding pedestrian safety performance, as reported in National Pedestrian Safety Inventory for 1967.

LOCAL PARKS FUND

More than $10,000,000 has been allocated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in the two years since federal matching funds became available under the Federal Land and Water Conservation Act of 1965.

Approximately $5,500,000 has been approved for state park projects and another $4,600,000 for city, county and river-authority parks. Half of the money came from state coffers and half from the national government.

Four more state park projects costing $209,330 and three local projects figured at $362,408 now are awaiting approval for federal aid by the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

SHORT SNORTS

Secretary of State John L. Hill expects to resign about January 20 to run for governor.

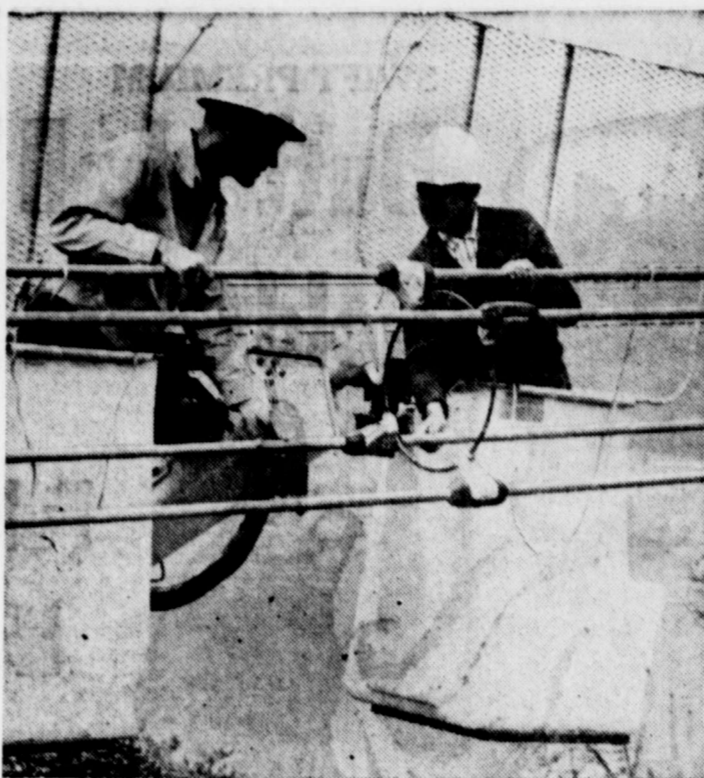

Governor Connally says he plans to serve out his term as governor and has no prospects for high government or private appointment.

Connally still insists no increase in state sales tax rate will be necessary to raise the money the state government must have in the 1968 special session.

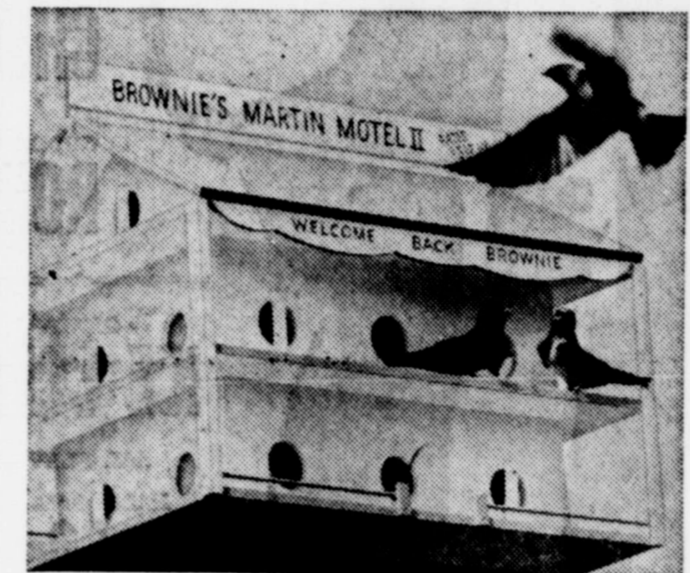

Attorney General Martin has held that county tax assessor-collectors must deposit tax funds in county depository at least weekly, pending transfer to the county treasurer, and are subject to lawsuit if they don't.

Glenn Biggs, administrative aide to Speaker Ben Barnes, will join National Western Life Insurance Co. on Jan. 1 as vice president in charge of development.

Texas Aeronautics Commission has set December 18 for hearings on the application for a new airline linking Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio at passenger rates 20

Shotgun Slings

Sportsmen in the U. S. might well take a tip from hunters in Europe and attach slings to their shotguns.

Slings can be fixed so they are easily carried in the pocket when not needed. Then, should it be necessary to wade streams, travel over rough country or perform other stunts that call for free hands, sling can be quickly attached.

Such a carrying strap can come in mighty handy for other purposes also.

Especially is this true when carrying a pack or if the ground is rocky and uneven.

Babson Park, Mass., Dec. 21.—As the season of the birth of Christ returns, we gather new strength from the angelic chant: "... there is born to you this day in the city of David a Saviour who is Christ the Lord ... Glory to God in the highest ..."

The Manger and Human Equality

Jesus brought about a complete social revolution. That is why the idea of His Kingdom was rejected so promptly and so forcefully by the leaders of the Romans and of the Jews. In every way, Jesus tried to show that all men are equal before God. He went further and promised that the humble would be exalted and that the meek would possess the land. Reflect, if you will, on the ways in which His birth was announced, marking the contrast between the angelic greeting to the shepherds and the indirect sign to the three wise kings.

The kings, far away in the East, saw only the star. Had the shepherds seen such a star, probably they would have gazed in awe and then forgotten. Even had they sensed its meaning, they would have been unable to follow it, for they had neither the means nor the leisure to do so. The indirect announcement to the kings may have been a tribute to their wisdom. More likely it was meant to indicate that their wealth and learning had its responsibilities, because for them the way to the manger was neither easy nor safe. And when they not there they found the shepherds had already made their adoration. The lesson is this: "No matter what our station or condition in life, our color or creed, we are all God's creatures and equal and responsible as individuals in His sight."

"Joy to the World"

Life is so mysterious and often vaguely that if we try to take a detached view of it for a moment, we stand agape at the spectacle. There is in it, however, one element that admits of no misunderstanding. It is the role that children play in the general scheme of things. Like a medal, a child has two sides. On the one side, it is helpless, or so we think. On the other, it possesses the only quality or at least one of the principal resources that lends warmth and strength to its elders. What matter if the world be split between rival factions, if national and international disorders abound? The children of the human heart that pierce the fog of our adult futility and restore our confidence in God and in ourselves.

It was no accident that Jesus came as a child. To the extent that we are successful in recapturing something of the innocence and unselfishness and faith of our own lost childhood will we find true joy this Christmas. For the way to the fulfillment of our desires must lead us—from our own visit to the manger—into paths of kindness.

Diversity Club Christmas Party In Garrett Home

Mrs. Earl Roach presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. E. Smith who is still in the hospital.

Mrs. Garrett's home was decorated in the Christmas theme. The members enjoyed an exchange of gifts from a snow-flocked tree decorated with red balls.

The hostess served sandwiches, fruit cake, mint balls, salted nuts, coffee and hot spiced tea to Mesdames C. R. Bellis, Paul Cozby, Roy Crawford, James Glenn, Z. I. Hale, Sam Jones, C. R. Whitlow, Roy Young, George Garrett and guests, Mrs. Fred Tinkle, Mrs. Douglas Cole, and Glenda Jo Cole.

thoughtfulness, helpfulness and hopefulness.

The Gifts We Give

Christmas is a time of gift-giving ... and rightly so. But the true joy of Christmas is the free gift provided for us by the graciousness and love of God, and offered to all who will receive it as little children. It should matter not at all how costly or showy the presents we exchange, so long as with each gift we give something of ourselves.

Our nation has been the greatest benefactor in the history of the world. Yet we have received scant credit for the sacrifices we have made and are making to feed the hungry, educate the young, and help build up the economies of underdeveloped countries. In only one program have we made rapid, and what promises to be good, over-all progress—the Peace Corps.

Could it be that the instant success of this particular program derives from the fact that thru it we have made more of a personal effort to teach, to serve, to lift? This gift of ourselves to God and to each other is the essence of the Christmas Spirit, the best guarantee of our own tranquility of mind, and the way to prosperity and peace in our troubled world.

Christmas In WHS

An annual affair around the Holiday Season in Winters High School is the FTA's "teacher appreciation week." For the entire week before dismissal for the Christmas Holidays the club takes on the responsibility of selecting and decorating each teacher's room. When teachers report to class the Monday before Christmas, they find not only the freshly decorated rooms but for Tuesday a candy cane, Wednesday a card, Thursday a box of cookies and Friday a gift from the two individuals who represented the club for her.

FTA members are to report to the High School Sunday afternoon to work on the various rooms.

The GALE Staff would like to take this opportunity to say that we hope you will get well soon Mr. Joyce!

Films

Several classes in High School had the opportunity to see films and slides of Africa and several European and Near East countries. Mrs. Kruse and Mr. Ledbetter had their regular Wednesday classes to report to the audio-visual room to see and hear a former student Bill Pumphrey, who has spent the last two and one half years as a Peace Corps volunteer in East Africa.

The slides pertained mostly to African school life and points of historical interest in European and other countries.

Christmas Issue

The Gale Staff would like to announce that our Christmas issue of the paper will be a separate issue. It will be circulated among the high school and junior high students on Friday, December 22. The annual "Letters to Santa Claus" will be published at this time.

J. E. Stevensen Died In Hospital, Service Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m. from Winters Church of Christ for Jim T. Stevensen, 91. Mr. Glen Gray, minister of the church, officiated. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Mr. Stevensen died at 9:25 a. m. Friday, Dec. 15, in the Winters Municipal Hospital where he had been admitted December 2, following a stroke. He was stricken at Merrill Nursing Home where he had been living.

Jim T. Stevensen was born March 6, 1876 in Georgia, the youngest of a family of 14 children. At an early age, following the death of his father, his mother moved with the family to Texas, settling in Ellis County. It was there that he married Daisy Cunningham on Dec. 26, 1897. Following their marriage they moved to Hollis, Okla., where he established the first telephone exchange and where he also bought some land that carried on the deed the signature of Theodore Roosevelt, who was then Vice President of the United States.

In 1911 they moved to Seminole, Texas, and in 1914 the family moved to Rannels County, where they settled on a farm in the Wilmeth Community. The family lived there until 1959 when they moved to Winters.

Mrs. Stevensen died on March 6, 1966. A son, Edsall, also preceded him in death in 1943.

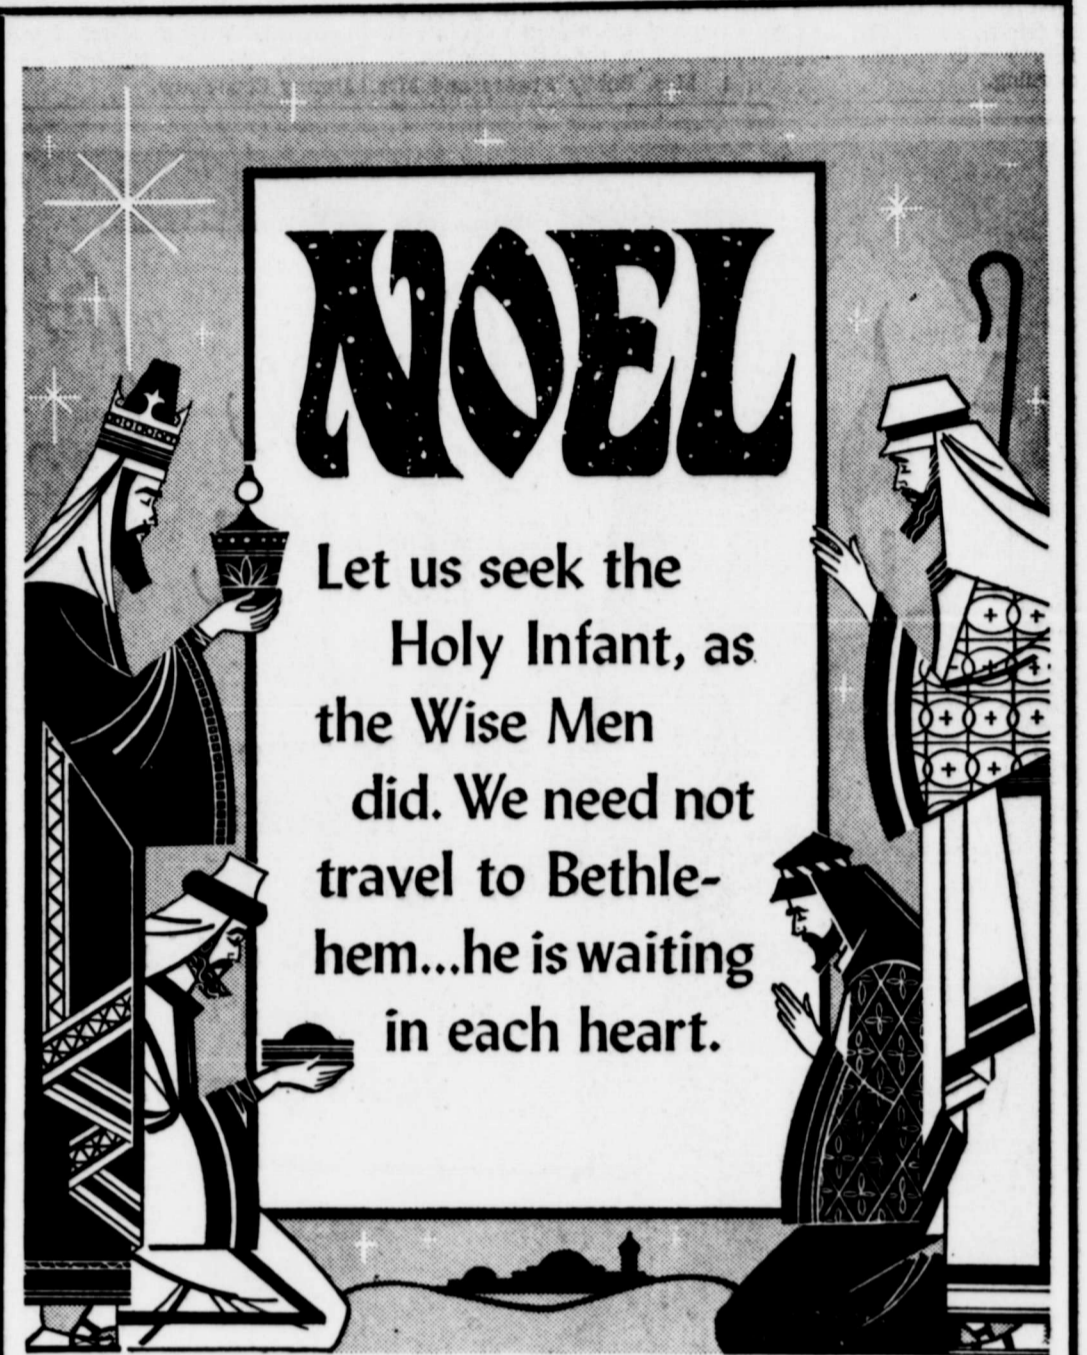

Mr. Stevensen was a member of the Winters Church of Christ. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ira McNeill of Winters, and Mrs. Kirksey Coates of Abilene; four grandsons and fourteen great-grandchildren.

Palbearers were Carson Easterly, James Brown, Luther Gideon, Grover Davis, Homer Hodge, R. O. Hood, Walter Onken, E. E. Vaughan, and Dewitt Bryan.

CARD OF THANKS

The group of bank robbers that terrify the whole Southwest during the Depression-struck 1930's are (left to right) Gene Hackman, Estelle Parsons, Warren Beatty, Faye Dunaway and Michael J. Pollard. "Bonnie and Clyde," the story of their crime spree, was directed by Arthur Penn and produced by Warren Beatty. The Warner Bros.-Seven Arts release filmed in Technicolor, shows on Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

★ MOVIES ★

"Bonnie and Clyde"

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" revives the Depression-ridden Southwest of the 1930's. It was the time when bank-robber Clyde Barrow and his cigar-smoking sweetheart, Bonnie Parker, held sheriffs and bank-tellers in terror and frequently captured headlines with their daring, reckless and often pointless crimes. The motion picture, showing on Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre, stars Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway in the title roles. The film was directed by Arthur Penn, produced by Beatty, photographed by Burnett Guffey, with art direction by Dean Tavoularis.

Other cast members include Michael J. Pollard as C. W. Moss, the driver for the Barrow gang; Gene Hackman as Clyde's brother, Buck; Estelle Parsons as Buck's wife, Blanche and Denver Pyle as the sheriff who hunted down Bonnie and Clyde in an obscure wood in Arcadia, La., on May 23, 1934.

The "Bonnie and Clyde" unit spent 10 weeks in northeast Texas, in and around a series of small towns near Dallas—Rowlett, Maypeal, Venus, Ponder, Pilot Point, Garland, among them—which had been visited by the Barrow gang for their raids on banks, grocery stores and gasoline stations. The small communities had remained almost unchanged since the early 1930's. In Texas the area is still called "Clyde Barrow Country."

"Hour of the Gun"

What happened after that famous gunfight at OK Corral? It was the most famous gun duel in the old west. On the one side was Frontier Marshall Wyatt Earp, his brothers, and the strange, tubercular "Doc" Holliday. On the other, the notorious Ike Clanton, his brothers and several henchmen. It was fought at Tombstone, Ariz., on October 26th, 1881.

Western action specialist John Sturges, who made the now-celebrated "Gunfight at the OK Corral" several years ago, and which ended with that historic confrontation tells in his latest production, the Mirisch Corporation presentation "Hour of the Gun," filmed in Panavision and Color by Deluxe and showing Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre. It is released through United Artists, a Transamerica Company.

Sans Souci Dinner Club Meeting Held In Lloyd Home

Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Lloyd were hosts for the Sans Souci Club dinner in their home on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Minzenmayer assisted as co-hosts. The buffet style dinner was served from a table centered with an arrangement of holly and red candles. Foursome tables featured small red candles in a nest of holly and pine cones. The Christmas motif was also carried out in place cards and napkins.

Festive hand made decorations of golden coccorns and bells adorned the ceiling lights and a centerpiece of fruits was on the coffee table. A traditional Christmas tree completed the decor.

Following games of 42, an exchange of gifts climaxed the evening.

Members attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bahlman, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. LaDell Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Gattis Neely, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young and Mr. and Mrs. George Poe.

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to the friends and neighbors for their many acts of sympathy, during our sad bereavement at the death of our father, J. T. Stevenson. For the lovely flowers, cards and to those who came to share our grief, to Dr. Rives, the nurses and the hospital staff, we wish to extend a special thanks. The family of J. T. Stevenson. 1tp.

Rifle Sighting

You don't need to zero your high-powered rifle at 200 or 300 yards. Get it dead center at 25 yards and you won't miss a deer up to 200 yards or more, if you hold right.

The Family Lawyer

Checks pour through our banking system at the fantastic rate of 17,000,000 per business day. Considering this figure, the process works with remarkable smoothness.

But every so often, into this vast machinery, someone drops a small monkey wrench. Like a bad check. What are the legal consequences?

For one thing, you are committing a crime if you buy something with a check that you know is bad. The essence of the crime is the obtaining of merchandise by false pretenses. For, by handing over the check, you are implying—falsely—that you believe the check is good.

But intent is a crucial point. Suppose the check is bad only because of an innocent mistake you made in keeping your check-book. Then, with no intent to defraud, you would not have committed a criminal offense.

Likewise, in most cases, it is not a crime to give a post-dated check that eventually turns out to be bad. At the time you gave the check, you may well have an honest expectation that it would be good when the due date arrived.

What if your check bounces not because of insufficient funds but because of a clerical error by the bank? Assuming this casts a reflection on your honesty, would you have a right to collect damages from the bank?

Ordinarily, yes. A check is your instruction to the bank to pay a certain sum out of your account. If the bank negligently fails to follow your instructions, it may be held liable for the consequences.

However, it may be difficult for you—as a private individual—to prove that you suffered any measurable harm. Bouncing a business check may really hurt the company's credit rating, but bouncing a personal check usually causes nothing worse than a few moments of embarrassment.

Nor can you blame the bank for rejecting a check which you yourself made out wrong.

In one case, a man complained that his check was bounced "even though I had plenty of money in the bank." But it turned out that his money was in a savings, not a checking, account—hence was not subject to withdrawal by check at all.

Denying his claim for damages, the court said the bank did not have to follow instructions which the depositor had no right to give.

First Gifts for Christ Child

According to the Book of Matthew, the first gifts the Christ Child received from the Three Wise Men were gold, frankincense and myrrh.

To the modern world there is no mystery about the value of a gift of gold. And in today's money market it gets additional attention.

The other gifts were rare and precious as well. However in today's world, little is known of these substances even though they are still in use.

Since St. Matthew says that the Three Wise Men were from the East, it is assumed that the gold they brought with them for the infant Jesus came from the mines of Indian Mysore.

Frankincense, or olibanum, is a resin obtained from the bark of trees which grow on bare rock in the mountains of southern Asia and northern Africa.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.
