HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

With crime steadily increasing, and few people of authority or persuasion giving little more than lip service to its prevention, the common voter in Texas will be given an opportunity Saturday, May 4, to do a little something toward curbing it, by at least expressing his opinion regarding an area which has long been known to be heavily infested with criminal parasites. Whether the voter's opinion will be worth a hank of hair when it comes to the final decision remains to be seen.

The subject is pari mutuel horserace betting. In a referendum Saturday, Texas voters will be asked to state whether they approve of pari mutuel horserace betting. The vote, pro or con, will not be binding, but is supposedly being taken only to show the desires of the people of Texas. Whatever the outcome of the voting, none of us can be sure of just what will happen, political machinations being what they are.

To be sure, if horserace betting were legalized in Texas, the State would get a pretty penny rake-off; how much is only guesswork, even for the so-called experts. It would even look good on the income side of the State's ledger.

We could be sure of something else, too, if race tracks sprang up about the state, a natural result of legalizing gambling. (We've got a few now, of course, but at least the wide-open gambling has been kept to a minimum.) We could be sure that there would be an influx and rapid growth of the criminal insects which swarm toward the bright lights of legalized betting. They would infect the bloodstream of communities where they set up shop, and their offshoots would spread their slime of vice and graft over a wide area of the state. To keep swatting and exterminating them would take a lion's share of the State's take.

In addition: Assistant professor of Business, Burton Burrus, at Howard Payne College, says, "Proponents of pari mutuel betting claim that it will stimulate business in Texas. But the record in other states shows, on the contrary, that many businesses suffer after horserace gambling is legalized. It is not difficult to understand why retail stores should experience decreases in time payment, increases in bad checks, and slumping sales during the racing season. Business—real business—fills a need, but horserace betting produces nothing of value. It does not feed, clothe, house or transport people. Profits from pari mutuel horserace betting do not go back into the community. Horserace gambling reduces the disposable income of families who would otherwise spend more for useful products and services."

"Bobby Kennedy is my second choice for president."
"That right? Well, who's your first choice?"
"Anybody! Just anybody!"

An editor received a story from one of his reporters about the theft of 2,012 pigs from one farmer.

Curious about the large number, he called the farmer. "Are you the one who had 2,012 pigs stolen?" the editor asked.
"Yeah, I thure am," replied the farmer.
"Thanks," said the editor, and he re-wrote the story to report the theft of two sows and 12 pigs.

Know how to tell the difference between a Democrat and a Republican?

Democrats buy most of the books that have been banned somewhere. Republicans form censorship committees and read them as a group.

Republicans are likely to have fewer, but larger debts that cause them no concern. Democrats owe a lot, too. They don't worry either.

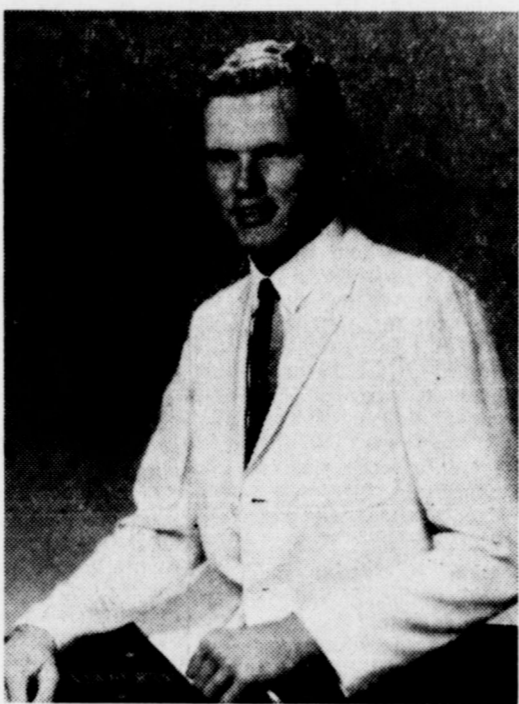

Republicans have governesses for their children. Democrats have grandmothers.

Democrats name their children after popular sports figures, politicians and entertainers. Republicans' children are named after parents or grandparents, depending on where the most money is.

Democrats keep trying to cut down on smoking, but are not

Work Started To Enlarge Winters Public Library

Work was begun last week on the enlargement of the Winters Public Library, with plans to have the enlarged facilities ready for the children's summer reading program.

The current enlargement program has been made possible through contributions of the people of the community, and through large contributions made by people who do not live here but who have displayed an interest in the Winters Library. The contributions of those who do not live here have been very substantial, according to members of the library board.

More funds will be needed to complete the work, the board said. Contributions can be given or sent to Mrs. Ellen Reid, treasurer.

Latest donors are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Asburn of Casa Grande, Ariz., who sent $10 to the fund.

Frances and Sheila Allen of Fort Worth, substantial donors and longtime friends of the library, brought some books to the library while here on a visit, and expressed pleasure that the enlargement project had been started.

Miss Myra Glover, librarian, has announced that the library now has the 1968 addition of the Congressional Directory of the 90th Congress, a gift of Omar Burleson. Also, a copy of "The Texas Capitol, Symbol of Accomplishment," has been presented to the library by the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

Another source from which the library has received some new books is the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute of Abilene. Miss Glover has been a student of this Institute of Abilene. Miss Glover has been a student of this Institute by arrangements made by Mrs. Edward Bredemeyer.

Election Day Is Saturday, May 4

Locally, the most intense interest in this year's Democratic Primary, Saturday, May 4, will be centered around the race for State Representative, 64th District. There are three candidates running for the Democratic nomination to that office: Everett J. (Ebb) Grindstaff of Runnels County, and Lynn Nabers and Bert V. Massey, both of Brownwood.

The race for the Democratic nomination for governor, locally follows the statewide trend of lack of white-hot intensity is, however, expected to influence local voter turnout, with 10 candidates on the ticket.

Another race for a State office which has created a lot of interest in the 64th District, and one which also is expected to influence the turnout, is the one for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor. The popular incumbent representative of the District, Speaker of the House Ben Barnes of De Leon, has two opponents in that race, Don Gladden of Fort Worth, and Gene Smith, also of Fort Worth.

In Winters, voters on the west side of Main Street will vote in Box 7, in the office of the Winters Chamber of Commerce. John J. Swatchesue is election judge. Voters on the east side will vote in Box 6, at the fire station. T. H. Worthington is election judge.

Voters are being asked to attend their respective Democratic precinct conventions, to be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, during the election. T. H. Worthington is precinct chairman at Box 6, and John J. Swatchesue, chairman at Box 7. Voters are reminded that they must have voted in the primary to be eligible to take part in the precinct conventions.

Candidates for nomination to county offices have no opposition in this primary, and the same holds true for the 119th Judicial District. Sheriff Don Atkins is up for re-nomination and re-election with no opposition, as is Pannell Lege, tax assessor-collector for Runnels County. County Attorney O. L. Parish Jr. has no opposition District Judge of the 119th Judicial District, Glenn R. Lewis, has no opposition, nor does District Attorney Royal Hart.

In Winters, there is a race for Justice of the Peace, JP Precinct 5. Ray Heathcott, who was appointed to that office by the County Commissioners some months back to fill an unexpired term, is seeking nomination and election. He is opposed by W. O. (Bill) Webb.

Mail Patrons May Stop "Offensive" Mail By Reporting

Of Whatever political persuasion be the candidate or whatever Party he represents, a man offering himself as President of the United States should start with some simple yet fundamental qualifications. — People have the right to expect no less.

In these times of crises, of violence, of hatred and of horror, one thing is at least clear amidst the vast and menacing uncertainties of our day. This is that the political future belongs to the man who most truly embodies a sense of dignity, of judgment, of restraint, of action, of strength, of compassion, of calm firm resolve to restore to this Nation the old and traditional values which seem largely to have been lost.

For some years now, it seems that most everything fashionable has been sick—sick comedians, sick students, sick politicians, sick demonstrators and counter - demonstrators, sick books, periodicals and sick movies.

Old fashion qualities have not seemed fashionable at all in many quarters — patriotism, loyalty, love of family, responsibility in private and public conduct, consideration toward other men and other ideas—even in religion.

In this latter, it seems the "IN" Pulpits have been ringing out, not so much with man's obligations to God as with the shrill, socio-political dogmas of political preachings. Many men in the "square" pulpits have called attention to the use of sanctuaries of noble cathedrals being used for bitter pseudo-dramas, for wild psychedelic so-called music and the gyrations of youthies, rather than for the somber measure and timeless liturgies of our ancient faiths.

Seemingly lost also is that sense of manners standing for mankind's true values next to morals themselves. Neither public nor private morality can long endure with that lesser but indispensable companion which used to be called "good taste."

"Student Activists" defy military draft, coaxed by professors publicly advising them on schemes to evade a common obligation of their generation while less privileged boys carry the guns and do the dying. While these intellectuals proclaim freedom for everything, they close their minds and ears to every opinion except their own. Many have encouraged university students to shout down and even physically menace men invited to their platforms for open discussions if views contrary to theirs are offered. Many such institutions owe their existence for no other reason than for the free and decent exchange of ideas.

Some of us are old enough to remember the hoarse, terrifying, mindless roars of Hitler's youth. It is an uncomplimentary thing to say, but nevertheless it should be said—conditions existing on some of our campuses and elsewhere are not too dissimilar from Hitler's youth of that time.

Some students, young professors and some young and not so young politicians, have laid ugly hands upon the honored concept of free dissent. In too many instances, they have twisted and perverted rights into a license of intellectual terrorism and into a conscious subversion of lawful national purpose constitutionally authorized.

It seems that people should have the right to expect no less of a man who even offers himself for the Presidency, than a dedication and strongest resolve to offer a cure and administer the treatment for this sickness in our land.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Personal Income

Newly upped minimum wage rates and expanded social security payments will combine with additional generous wage settlements and high interest and dividend payments to lift incomes to new peaks. . . but inflation will cut into the gains as prices continue their uptick.

Retailing

If you're a retailer, your cash registers should be ringing up a heartening increase in dollar sales. However, the boost in actual dollar volume, owing to price increases, and unless you can manage to exercise strict control over costs, the rise in profits versus the first quarter may well be disappointing.

Building And Construction

Home building promises to show a seasonal increase over the first quarter, with lower-mental apartment units predominating because of high and still rising land, labor, and material costs. Cutbacks of spending for new plant and equipment and of appropriations for public buildings will put a damper on public and commercial construction, though hospital build-

International Affairs

Meanwhile, our international relations on the whole are not faring well. In Latin America, our preoccupation with Europe and Asia is being misinterpreted as disinterest in problems which are becoming more serious and more potentially dangerous to the peace of this hemisphere. Nor are we regarded much more highly in Europe, the stronghold of our moral support in years past. By and large, our friends among the Free World nations are looking askance at our ambitious military stance in Southeast Asia and at our dilly-dallying and shilly-shallying in fiscal matters while the fires of inflation burn brightly and the dollar teeters on the brink of a devaluation which could well plunge the world into financial turmoil and possibly also into a severe depression.

Farm Prospects
Spring plantings of barley, cotton, flaxseed, and rice will be importantly expanded, but there may be some cutback in soybean acreage versus a year earlier as a result of the newly announced regulations disqualifying soybean acreage for direct feed and grain payments. Farmers' expenses are still pointing strongly upward. For the three months just ahead, their gross income should show better gains than in the first quarter, but the boost in net will not keep pace.

Profits And Profit Margins
Profits appear to have made some worthwhile gains during the first three months of this year, and there is good reason to expect that this will carry over into the second quarter. This assumes, of course, that any new federal taxes will not become operative until July 1 or later. Readers should be warned, however, that the better profits trend we are forecasting is likely to be of relatively short duration. How much it could be extended beyond midyear—even without a tax boost—is problematical, for labor and materials costs will

Danger Of Protectionism
The Administration's proposals for severe restrictions on travel and trade abroad have triggered alarming official and private attitudes and postures which could lead us down the road to fiscal ruin rather than up the path of fiscal sanity. We are witnessing now the beginnings of what could become a veritable barrage of propaganda designed to persuade us to curtail our trade with the rest of the world in order to conserve our dollars and help out our balance of payments in better shape. Hopefully, Congress will not be carried away by the Administration's requests for restrictions on foreign trade and — or travel or by the importunings of businessmen who see in such a move a way of escape from foreign competition. In the long run, such restrictions would hasten—not delay—worsening of our economic position in the world, especially if they are not accompanied by sharp cutbacks in government spending.

The Dollar
The nation's continuing gold drain and unfavorable balance of international payments are extremely serious and will pose new challenges to the government and to the economy itself over coming months. There will, however, be no devaluation of the dollar and no boost in the $35-per-ounce price of gold in the second quarter.

Taxes
In the wake of the gold crisis, the international bankers are insisting that LBJ pay taxes and cut expenditures. Although the tax surcharge was marked for death, it could now be revived. If the President should conclude that we must again escalate dramatically in Vietnam, higher taxes could come by midyear, casting their shadows before them.

Federal Spending
Uncle Sam was all set to shell out more money, with national security expenditures predominating, when the Central European Bankers blew the whistle. Spending at all levels of government will still enter new high ground, pushing the annual rate close to the $200-billion mark. However, foreign aid funds will be further curtailed by Congress; and new federal programs enacted into law to help cities, advance education, and promote civil rights will not appropriate anywhere near the amounts which advocates of these measures are presently pressing for.

Employment And Unemployment
As Vietnam and other defense and security efforts place greater demands on manpower, total employment will show a further increase, unemployment will hover near what must be just about an irreducible minimum, and the shortage of skilled labor will become more serious.

Labor Prospects
Shortage of skilled help will place labor in a still more powerful bargaining position vis-a-vis management, with the squeeze hurting hard as overall economic activity gathers more momentum. However, it is well to remember that wage and price controls are being held in the wings and will be imposed if the economy should become overheated and/or our balance-of-payments situation more severely threatened.

Strikes
Labor walkouts may not capture quite as many headlines in the second quarter as they have in some past periods, but they are sure to be fairly numerous and to cause some supply-demand dislocations in various sectors of the economy. At this writing, the odds would seem to favor a steel strike around midyear. . . but if we should move toward another large troop buildup in Vietnam with all that it would entail, the likelihood of a steel stoppage would fade and anticipated heavy hedge - buying in the April-June period would run well below present expectations.

The easiest way to sell that "white elephant" of yours is to advertise it in The Winters Enterprise Classified Column.

To put it another way, on balance second quarter business should be quite good, improving on the performance chalked up in the period now drawing to a close. But the rate of increase seems slated to slow down, and the longevity of the rise itself will be coming more and more into question as mid-year approaches.

Vietnam
The war in Vietnam and our military and economic involvement in Southeast Asia will dominate Washington trends in the coming quarter. While a cessation of hostilities is widely desired and eagerly sought by a number of other governments as well as our own, the respective positions of both sides have hardened since the North Vietnamese Tet offensive which resulted in such heavy casualties to all combatants. Reluctantly but resolutely, the President will probably move toward some further buildup of military strength, but in the second quarter he will not approve anything near as large an escalation as the generals are reported to be urging.

Money And Interest Rates
We foresee some tightening in money, but certainly no massive crunch. However, the Fed has moved to tighten availability moderately and this will put upward pressure chiefly on short-term interest rates. Long-term rates, on the other hand, will likely change little as a further slackening in business expenditures for new plant and equipment occurs. A tax boost would push tax-exempt interest costs lower.

Personal Finance
Although both business volume and profits will move up measurably in the second quarter, the plus and minus factors simply do not add to anything like the start of a new boom in the coming three months. The financial position of the nation is precarious and beset by a big war which threatens to get bigger before it is finally ended. Moreover, international, political, economic, and military uncertainties have seldom posed so many challenges to our government or to American citizens. Yet, despite all these dangers and distractions, there are opportunities for bettering your own economic position. Today's higher incomes provide more Americans than ever before with greater choice and discretion in their everyday decisions on business investments, employment, purchases of necessities and more marginal items, and on the buying and selling of securities.

Babson Quarterly Business And Financial Forecast
As we move toward the opening of the second quarter, the economy is generally strong. Gross National Product has shown good gains during the three months now ending, as have employment and personal income, though betterment did not reach earlier sanguine expectations. Looking ahead into the April-June period, we perceive signs of additional gains for the nation's business. Propelled by still rising military procurement for Vietnam, sizable overall defense requirements, and heavy federal and other government spending, economic activity promises to move moderately higher.

The supporting factors cited above will likely be augmented by still more bullish activity in the steel industry and well-maintained to possibly somewhat firmer over-all performance in other parts of the private sector of the economy.

To put it another way, on balance second quarter business should be quite good, improving on the performance chalked up in the period now drawing to a close. But the rate of increase seems slated to slow down, and the longevity of the rise itself will be coming more and more into question as mid-year approaches.

April output of milk and dairy products should show a sharp increase as production nears its seasonal peak. What a good time to take advantage of the abundance of milk and all dairy foods.

Preston Smith "Made No Deals," Is "On My Own"

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas, has stated that he has made "no entangling commitments" in an attempt to gain financial support in his race, and is running "on my own."

In these final weeks prior to the May 4 Democratic primary, the Lieutenant Governor has been stressing that he has "prepared myself for this office through experience. I made up my mind long ago and have continuously worked toward training and developing myself for that office." That is the reason he is running for Governor, he said, "the culmination of experiences I have had and views I have developed during the last quarter of a century."

He said his qualifications to be governor "are not based on the shortcomings of other candidates, but are reflected in my public record of six years in the Texas House of Representatives, six years as state senator, and nearly six years as lieutenant governor. No other candidate can approach my 18 years of experience in Texas state government. And that is what the governor's office is about—the operation of our $1 billion state government.

Regarding his position in areas which have become of grave concern to most of the people, Smith said, "Let me say there are basic values that do not change such as personal ethics, the importance of the home, church, school and the Constitution. I believe in and will work for: A progressive Texas ready to take advantage of future opportunity and work for solutions of our problems. Wise handling of the people's tax money. Taxation only as absolutely necessary, and recognizing that inflation is the cruellest form of taxation for people on fixed incomes. I do not stand for anarchy in the guise of freedom that defies law and order; Texans don't have to stand for this. Humanitarian, progressive care and treatment of the less fortunate. Promotion of industry and tourism. Attention to the special problems of both city and farm life. Programs to insure abundant supplies of clean water and air.

"As acting governor last summer, I found that our state has a ready, workable plan for preserving law and order thru the Department of Public Safety and the National Guard as reserves to local police," Smith said. "I found that when a quiet but firm policy demanding law and order is wisely enforced, potential lawbreakers understand and heed the warnings."

Smith continued, "I can tell the people: I know something of what I'm talking about. I've sat in the chair. I've dealt with the problems. I've sat through some storms. I am acutely aware that our growing and increasing complex state demands experience, judgement and fairness in its future leader."

Connally Seeks "Favorite Son" Role in Election

Texans who for years have voted for Governor John Connally at the polls have another opportunity to support the popular chief executive this week, even though his name will not be on the ballot.

While the Governor is not seeking re-election, voters can assign to him what could be an even more important job for the state in the months ahead.

In view of the political uncertainty throughout the country at this time, Connally has agreed to become a favorite son candidate for the presidency from Texas and to head the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention, provided voters throughout Texas support such action in precinct conventions Saturday.

The conventions will be held at neighborhood polling places, some during the day (primarily in rural areas), and many after the polls close. Any citizen who votes in the Democratic primary that day is eligible to take part in the precinct convention.

Governor Connally this week completed a round of visits with supporters in various cities, urging heavy turnouts at the conventions.

"It is imperative that responsible citizens turn out in large numbers in every precinct," he said, "to prevent a small minority to speak for Texas on matters of grave concern in the months ahead."

Connally pointed out that with President Johnson retiring from office in January, Texas will have no representation in the top leadership of the nation for the first time in almost 40 years.

"If Texas is to have a hope of helping shape the course of national leadership, we must be in a position to speak as a united voice in any eventuality," he said.

Connally asked that all who attend conventions vote to adopt the unit rule, and vote to designate the Governor as "favorite son" leader of the Texas delegation to the Chicago convention in August.

Hard-driving candidates for governor are coming down the stretch after a long campaign which has failed to fire up the voters.

Probably about 50 per cent of the total eligible electorate of just over four million will decide the outcome Saturday (May 4).

Strong Democratic runners include Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, John Hill, Waggoner Carr, Eugene Locke, Don Yarborough, Dolph Briscoe and Edward L. Whittenburg. Pat O'Daniel has campaigned extensively in recent weeks. Other candidates, Johnnie Mae Hackworth and Alfonso Veloz, have done little campaigning.

In the Republican primary, a warm gubernatorial contest features Paul Eggers, John R. Trice and Wallace Sisk.

Another hard-fought contest on the Democratic ballot pits House Speaker Ben Barnes against Don Gladden and Gene Smith for lieutenant governor.

There are two State Supreme Court races in the Democratic primary:

Place 1—Matt Davis vs. Sears McGee.

Place 2—Tom Reavley vs. James G. Denton.

There is just one other statewide contest on either ballot: Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is opposed by Dallas Blankenship.

Democratic, Republican and American parties have scheduled referendums on legalizing sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on local option, pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing, also on local option, and establishment of a state milk-price-fixing commission.

Democrats expect sharp fighting in their precinct conventions Saturday which decide makeup of the national presidential nominating convention delegation and shape of the state party organization. Gov. John Connally is campaigning for favorite son presidential designation, leadership of the national convention delegation and binding of delegates under the unit rule. Liberal opposition opposes both Connally as favorite son and the unit rule. Republican conventions Saturday will see strong efforts to name Senator John Tower as their favorite son candidate.

Voters have been warned they cannot participate in affairs of the new American Party supporting George Wallace for president if they vote in either the GOP or Demo primaries Saturday or go to major party conventions. American Party needs 14,000 members to get Wallace on the November ballot.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that the "open meetings" law of 1967 is valid and constitutional. Opinion has cleared the way for first court action (at Brownsville) under the new act. Cameron County Criminal Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham requested the opinion after the Brownsville Herald complained its reporter was barred for an hour from a meeting of the Brownsville Public Utilities Board last January 25.

In other new opinions, Martin has concluded that: Department of Public Safety can pay a commercial transportation company to move the household belongings of a highway patrolman transferred to a new duty station when state-owned equipment is not available.

Beer can be sold from a 2 5/8 gallon container at a licensed bar.

State must pay the claim for $6,700 for the administrator of an estate in absence of any evidence that the documents submitted with the claim are false.

Harris County Hospital District may spend public money to pay employees' travel expenses in recruiting activities but can't pay those of applicants or moving expenses.

COURTS SPEAK

In an important new opinion, Court of Criminal Appeals has held that trial judges must in-called for statewide minimum building and housing codes and other action encouraging individual initiative in the area of home improvements.

Housing code, committee said, should be established by a state agency, designed to protect health and should include physical requirements and establish a desired occupancy ratio. Building Code was recommended for a January, 1970, effective date.

Other committee recommendations: Encouragement of local non-profit neighborhood corporations to plan neighborhood renovation.

Establishment of a state-guaranteed loan program to assist with renovation and compliance with codes.

Creation of a State Housing and Planning Commission to administer programs proposed.

GRANTS APPROVED Governor Connally has approved six supplemental state regional planning grants totaling $18,153.

Biggest of grants, $8,559, will go to North Central Texas Regional Planning Commission, a voluntary association of local governments in 10 counties of the Dallas-Fort Worth region. Same organization received an earlier grant of $22,000 for a variety of studies.

Other voluntary associations of local governments receiving grants were: Alamo Area Council of Governments, San Antonio, $3,691; Coastal Bend Regional Planning Commission, Corpus Christi, $2,030; Concho Valley COG, San Angelo, $570; El Paso COG, $1,765; and West Central Texas COG, Abilene, $1,338.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE

The top official with the U. S. Office of Education made a plea for expanded bilingual education programs here during the first session of the National Conference on Educational Opportunities for Mexican-Americans.

Harold Howe II, U. S. Commissioner of Education, said local school districts have failed Mexican-American children because our society has treated persons who are different as inferior.

He said bilingual education gives proper dignity to the Spanish-speaking by not making their language and customs appear inferior.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor's Committee on Public School Education, in a first-installment preview of its recommendations to the legislature, says enrollment will remain about the same for the next decade or so.

Governor has proclaimed May as "senior citizen month" in Texas.

Mrs. John Connally dedicated the Texas Tropical Trail along Padre Island and Rio Grande Valley, one of 10 off-the-beaten-path routes through scenic-historic Texas areas.

Parks and Wildlife Department has bought 64.5 acres in Starr County for white-winged dove nesting areas.

Bard Logan, San Antonio city directory agent, is new chairman of the American Party of Texas, succeeding former State Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston who resigned.

Republican state headquarters has added five new staff members: Mrs. John De La Garza, public relations; Miss Judith A. Rutledge, assistant to Executive Director John M. Stokes; Henry Smith, coordinator of candidates; Lewis E. Berry, Jr., research division head; and Kent Span, research.

Texas Animal Health Commission reports that Dimmit, Calhoun, Limestone and Zavala counties, have qualified for certification in the crash program to clear up brucellosis in as many counties as possible by the end of the year.

RECORD NUMBER OF VOTERS

Total voter registration this year is a record 4,072,397—nearly a million more than the last presidential year (1964) but still shy of predictions.

Figure compares with 3,014,597 in 1964 and 2,970,966 in 1966. Five biggest counties of the state alone account for nearly 1,633,000 of the total eligible voters, and if all major metropolitan areas are counted, city voters overwhelm the rural area residents. That statistical fact figures strongly in campaign plans of gubernatorial candidates who are busily scouting the big cities during

Correction
It was erroneously reported last week that Alvis Jackson, a coach in the Stamford schools, was going to Floydada. The Enterprise regrets this error.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express to our neighbors and friends our heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of sympathy during the illness and at the death of our mother, Mrs. Laura N. Holliday. To Dr. Rives and the entire staff at the Merrill nursing home, we are so very grateful for your loving and thoughtful care. To the Spill Funeral Home and their staff, for their helping hand and comforting deeds. To Rev. Ed Otwell, Tom Loughrey and Wayne Oglesby we extend a special thanks for their words of consolation. The floral offerings, cards and each remembrance is gratefully acknowledged. The Family of Laura N. Holliday. 1p

CORRECTION
In last week's issue of The Enterprise a mistake was made in the following paragraph which should have read: "Miss Sarah Casey, town and country worker of the Methodist Church, has been commissioned a deaconess of the church." Miss Casey, the daughter of Mrs. J. T. Casey is now working in Kentucky.

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to express our thanks to Dr. McCreight, the hospital staff and Ted Meyer and his assistants for their kindness and service when I broke my hip. For the visits, prayers, flowers, cards and telephone calls. May we be a comfort to you in your time of illness, is our prayer. Mrs. S. P. Gray and Family. 1tp

CARD OF THANKS
Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow. For the beautiful service, floral offering, food and other kindnesses, we are deeply grateful. Mrs. O. H. Wheeler and family. 1tp
