HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

It just happened that way!
Not really planned!

Last Saturday we made a trip to the County Seat. When we were ready to leave, we were asked to give the Winters Presbyterians' preacher, Rev. James Sinclair, a ride. Agreed!

When we got ready to go, we looked high and low (at least one trip up the Main Drag), but could find no preacher. Finally decided that he had hitched a ride with someone else, and the word hadn't seeped down to us.

But when we got back to Winters, we learned that he had not returned. A couple of phone calls revealed that he had managed a ride back (and almost beat us home). We finally learned that he had been doing some work as the secretary of the County Democratic Convention, and had been behind locked doors in the court house.

So it all ended well.

(Thinking back on the event, however, we are puzzled. The person who asked us to give the preacher a ride remarked to us (we're certain of it): "Have a nice weekend!" He never DID say, "Take the preacher back to WINTERS." Grapevine Communication Service informs us he thought we were headed SOUTH toward the border for the weekend!

The American system of commerce is contagious, and sets in at an early age, carrying with it its many pitfalls and disappointments. A little tyke we know, shortly after the rains, gathered from water puddles a small jar full of tadpoles. She made a sign, "Tadpoles For Sale, 1c," and started toward her first million.

We later asked her how business was. Not good, she said, everybody's got tadpoles! "All except So-and-So," she said, "and he wants me to give him some of mine."

"If there are so many tadpoles, why doesn't he get him some of his own?" was the question.

"He doesn't want to get his hands muddy," was the bewildered reply.

Chain reaction! Approval by the Congress of the proposed 10 percent federal income tax surcharge probably will drive state tax requirements even higher. Simply because a reduction in spendable income—caused by the 10 percent surcharge—will affect the sales tax revenue in Texas. The more the federal government takes out of the state, the less we have to spend; and if more money is needed to operate the state—which is the case—a higher percentage of what we have left will be collected by the state. It's a vicious, ever-enlarging circle.

Odessa, Midland Horses Win In Winters Saturday

A horse named Fuego Rojo shown by J. C. Conine of Odessa was named the senior all-around horse in the annual Quarter Horse Show and Youth Activity here Saturday. The show was sponsored by the Winters Riding Club.

Miss Ginny 27, shown by Jan Ann Hite of Midland, was selected for the showmanship awards first place.

In Class 5, mare and 1968 foals, March Twist, shown by R. J. Bauer of Winters, took first place.

Bauer also showed an unnamed stud to first place in the Class 12, 1968 studs division.

Mary K. Bauer of Winters showed King Leo's Cody to second place in Class 21, 1964 and before geldings. An unnamed stud shown by Leon Rose of Winters was third in Class 13, 1968 studs.

Judging the show was Keith Barnett Sr. of Mesquite. Norval Alexander was show manager, and Pat Cooper was secretary. Trophies and ribbons were awarded from first through sixth places.

The show was held at the school livestock barn. Heavy rains during the past several days had made the Winters Riding Club arena in the southeast part of town unuseable.

Lots of Rain Creates Many Farm Problems

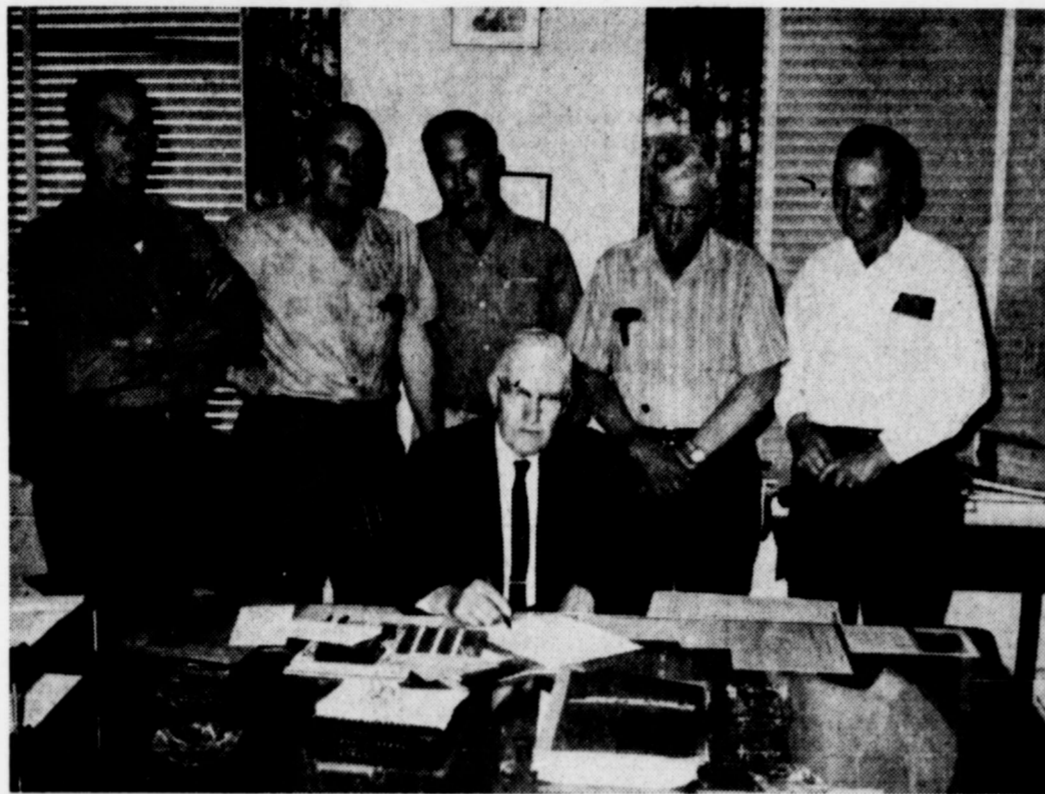

Much of the farm land in this area scheduled for cotton is either under water in places, or at least too wet to plow. The same conditions exist for land marked for milo. And even in fields which can be entered, many farmers are in a quandary as to which to plant first—cotton or milo—because May 15 has come and gone.

These extraordinary conditions exist because of too much rain this spring. Some areas reportedly already have received as much or more rain than is normally received for an entire year.

C. T. Parker, Runnels County Extension Agent, said that prospects for row crops in this area are still questionable—as is usually the case, in wet or dry weather. However, he said, the wheat looks better now than it did to him a few days ago. There will be a lot of loss because of rust, though. Parker also said that what barley and oats are planted in this section "look better than ever before."

Pastureland is in the best condition than ever he has seen. Parker said that most of the early milo in the county is located in the Winters area, and looks good—that which is not standing in water. Late milo will have another battle later in the season, with the sorghum "midge," which gives much trouble about time of maturity.

SOIL WEEK — Shown with County Judge W. H. Rumpy, as he signs the proclamation designating the week of May 19-26, 1968, as Soil Stewardship Week in Runnels Soil and Water

PROCLAMATION

Today with a rapidly increasing population we must be more aware than ever before of the value of our natural renewable resources. These God-given resources, soil, water, plant and wild life, must not only be conserved but improved.

Land is being taken from agriculture with the building of cities, highways, factories, airports, parks and water reservoirs. This is progress, but it does cause our farmers and ranchers to have to intensify land use for increased production. The responsibilities for the conservation of these resources is by law given to the Soil Conservation Districts and their Supervisors in Texas.

Today there are 184 Soil Conservation Districts encompassing better than ninety-nine percent of the land of our State. These Soil Conservation Districts and the landowners who govern them, assisted by many organizations and agencies, are proving that through proper land use our soil conservation practices will stabilize soil, conserve our water, and improve each acre for better quality foods and fiber.

As these resources are conserved and developed we are making possible the continued strength of our State and assuring our people of a continuing high standard of living. Most important of all, is that good soil and clean, pure, water will continue in its service to men of future generations as a trust from the Creator.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as County Judge, W. H. Rumpy, do hereby designate the week of May 19-26, 1968, as SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK in Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, Texas.

Wingate Banker, Accident Victim, In Angelo Hospital

Duncan Hensley, Wingate banker, remains in Shannon Memorial Hospital in San Angelo, following a pickup-car collision about 4:30 p. m. Friday. The accident happened a mile north of Wingate on Highway 53.

Hensley's condition still is reported to be serious, but improving, although he had been taken out of the intensive care unit at the hospital Monday of this week. Because of the nature of his injuries, he could not be moved to the big x-ray machines until Monday.

According to reports, Hensley received a fracture of the skull, seven fractured ribs, and a punctured lung, and other cuts and abrasions.

Hensley was in a pickup which reportedly collided head-on with an automobile. He was taken to Winters Municipal Hospital where he received emergency treatment and then taken to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo.

Also hospitalized in the Winters hospital was Wendell Davis, formerly of Ballinger. He was admitted to the local hospital with a cut over his left eye, but was released Saturday morning.

Three other persons were in the car and pickup at the time of the accident, but were not seriously injured. Two ambulances from Spill Funeral Home in Winters and one from Allen-Davis Funeral Home of Ballinger carried the victims to the hospital.

Vo-Ag Boys Sponsoring Beef Production Course

A beef production course for adult farmers will be held May 20-23 under the sponsorship of the Winters High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools, and James Smith, teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Frank C. Litterst, beef production specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A & M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A & M University.

The short course at Winters High School is scheduled to begin May 20 at 8 p. m. in the Vocational Agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of four will be held Tuesday, May 21. During the dates the short course is in progress, Litterst will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Smith.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call James Smith. An entry fee of $2 will be charged.

Beef production short course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Litterst states that the field of beef cattle production must take a close look at efficiency of production in the future. With the land prices, feed, and taxes rising, the producer is meeting more and more competition for the consumers' dollar at the meat counter. From the economic view of the beef cattle business, there is every indication that in comparing the producer of yesterday and the producer of tomorrow, beef must be produced to sell cheaper in order to be a profit-making business.

Litterst indicates that the beef production short course will deal with methods of producing beef at a lower cost and the ways of producing the kind of beef that the homemaker wants to buy. He also states that the course will include such important fields as cattle reproduction and pregnancy diagnosis, selecting bulls and replacement heifers, calf crop percentages, and supplemental winter feeding. The course can be changed to meet the wishes and interests of the farmers and ranchers enrolled.

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available throughout the state under the cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A & M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A & M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A & M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Litterst is a graduate of Texas A & M University with a degree in animal husbandry. Much of his work was done in livestock production.

After three years of service in the U. S. Army, Litterst served as instructor in the Veterans Agriculture Program in Hays County four years and was district sales manager for Burrus Feed Mills, Ft. Worth, four years.

He then served as manager, Baldwin Feed & Cattle Co., with ranchers in Travis and Shelby Counties until 1964. This included operating of a ranch consulting business in Texas and Louisiana. He has successfully operated his own ranching and farming business consisting of both registered and commercial cattle, sheep, Angora goats, peacocks and grain farming. He is a former director in the State Shorthorn Breeders Association and a member of American Angus, and Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Postal Problems

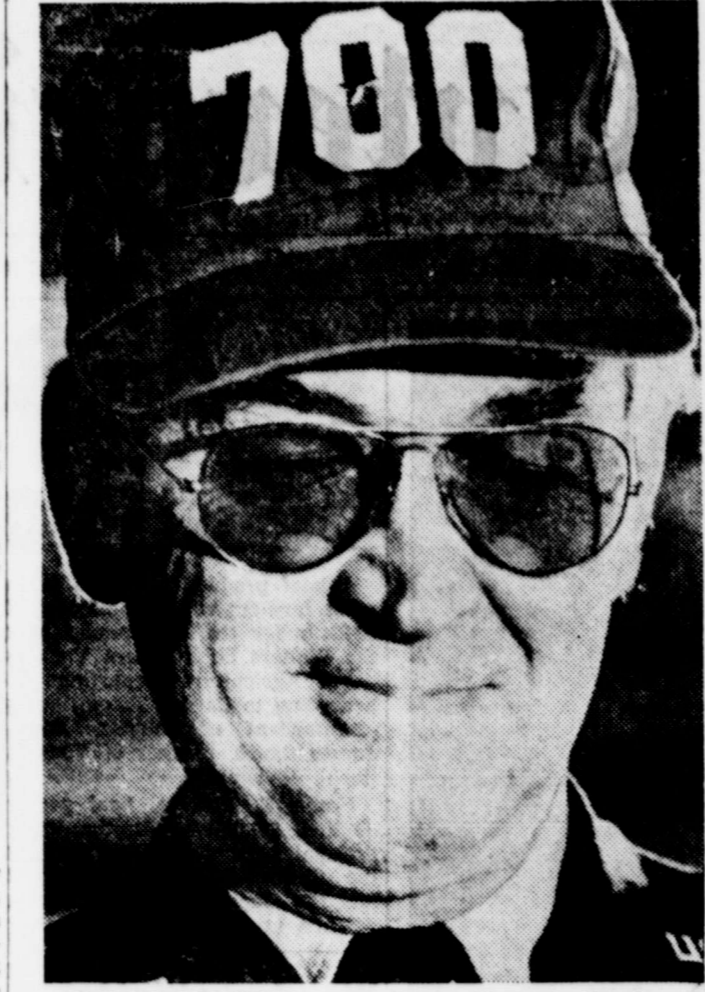

Babson Park, Mass. This week, as the Post Office Department marks the 50th anniversary of air mail, it is pursuing with vigor a program to move more first class mail via air. By sometime next year, there could be a merger of first class mail and air mail into a single class of priority mail dispatched by the fastest means of transport available.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien after a short term in office has focused attention anew on the fact that Postmasters General often have not served long enough to come to full grips with the problems involved, much less long enough to bring to a happy fruition long-range plans and projects of rejuvenation and reform.

Postmasters General and Politics

Actually, we have had 59 Postmasters General since President George Washington first appointed Samuel Osgood in 1789. Theodore Roosevelt had 5 during his two terms. Over a similar span Grant had 4. Yet Calvin Coolidge held on to a Harding appointee through all his own five years in office. Fifty-nine Postmasters General may seem too many, but it is about par for the course as far as some of our major government departments are concerned.

Just as lacy hoop skirts and satin once depicted a woman of leisure, a mink coat on a wife today shows her husband's esteem. Clothing speaks a language of its own, and people make value judgments from its messages. A person dresses not only for modesty and protection but for self-expression, attention, personality development and role play and to keep up with the Joneses, says Mrs. O'Connor. Today people don't buy clothing because they need, but because they want it.

NOT IN COSTUME, actor James Stewart also is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve. In World War II, he was a squadron commander.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

Each woman must set up a fashion image to fit her personality. She must dress for herself. Fashion not only means dressed for the times, but using common sense and good taste in selecting fashions best suited for you. An example is skirts lengths. The correct hemline should depend on the style of the ensemble, the figure that wears it and the date on the birth certificate.

cerned. Beginning with Washington's time and carrying down to the present, there have been 55 Secretaries of State, 58 Secretaries of the Treasury, and 66 Attorneys General.

The Ugly Head Of Patronage

Unquestionably, it would be a step forward if Postmasters General were responsible only for their department's administration and operation. The time-honored custom of assigning political and other duties to an incumbent Cabinet official has had its critics from the beginning, and rightly so. Even though dictated by expediency, it never was a good idea. Now that the P. O.'s work load has increased so many fold, it is unjust to permit its chief to be "borrowed" more or less continually for political and other tasks.

The Kappel Report

A Presidential commission headed by Frederick R. Kappel, retired chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Company, has completed an in-depth study of the P.O. and its operations. Members believe that within 5 to 10 years as much as $1.5 billion could be saved annually if the department were to be converted from its present Cabinet status to a non-profit corporation similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. The commission contends that perhaps as much as 20 per cent of the P.O.'s annual budget is wasted because of old-fashioned methods and antiquated buildings, and it cites especially the failure to make use of more labor-saving devices.

Bethany SS Class Held Meeting In Hamilton Home

The goal is to put the P.O. on a more businesslike and hopefully — self-sustaining basis by untying the patronage strings that hold back progress and by setting up a more flexible and equitable postage-rate structure. When can we expect such reforms? Probably not soon, for too many congressional toes would be bruised in the process. Never? That depends on how much we care and how forcefully and persistently we make our will for reform and economy known in Washington and felt at the ballot box.

Abilene Schools Approved As GED Testing Center

Abilene Independent School District has been approved by the American Council on Education and the Texas Education Agency as an official G.E.D. Testing Center as of June 1, 1968, according to Supt. A. E. Wells.

Connor Robinson, Coordinator of Adult Education, will serve as Chief Examiner.

"The General Educational Development Test was developed in 1945 because many students were forced to leave school during World War II to serve in the armed forces. This gave veterans, whose education had been interrupted, a chance to receive the equivalent of a high school diploma," Wells said.

"Since more than 62 million men and women over 25 years of age are without a high school education, this medium will serve to upgrade those who desire a broader educational background. Every state in the union now awards the High School Equivalency Certificate. High school certificates issued for satisfactory achievement on the G.E.D. tests are widely accepted as regular diplomas by business, industry, and civil services commissions.

"More and more, higher educational institutions are admitting adults whose G.E.D. test scores are consistent with their usual admission requirements for high school graduation," he said.

The G.E.D. tests will be administered periodically as demand dictates. The first test is scheduled for 8 a. m., June 4, at the Lamar Elementary School N. 8th and Hickory St. Adults, 19 years of age, or older, are eligible to take the tests in English grammar, social studies, science, interpretation of literature and math. A fee of $10 will be charged for the test.

Those desiring further information concerning the G.E.D. testing program should contact Robinson at the Administration Building of the Abilene Public Schools.

Country Music Show Scheduled In Fort Worth

In what probably is the biggest country and western musical show ever staged in the Southwest, producers of Texas Western Fair of Fort Worth today announced eight headline acts for the September 20-29 event at Will Rogers Memorial Center and promised at least five more to come.

The lineup of talent reads like the All-Star Game at the Grand Ole Opry — Archie Campbell, Loretta Lynn, Carl Smith, Stonewall Jackson and the Minute Men, Ben Smathers and the Stoney Mountain Cloggers, the Kitty Wells Show, Jimmy Dickens and the Country Boys and Waylon Jennings and the Waylors.

Archie Campbell, who will sing and serve as master of ceremonies, and the Stoney Mountain Cloggers, a folk dance group, will play for the entire 10-day, 14-performance duration of the Texas Western Fair. Other stars will perform in units, to be broken down like this:

Sept. 20, 21 and 22 (including matinees on 21 and 22) — Stonewall Jackson and the Minute Men and the Kitty Wells Show, which includes stars Johnny Wright, Bill Phillips, Bobby Wright and Ruby Wright.

Sept. 23, 24, 25 and 26 — Jimmy Dickens and the Country Boys and Loretta Lynn.

Sept. 27, 28 and 29 (including matinees on 28 and 29) — Waylon Jennings and the Waylors and Carl Smith.

All performances will be in Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium, with the evening shows starting at 8 p. m. and the matinees at 3 p. m. Tickets will be scaled at $3 and $2.50.

Fair officials said the remaining acts to be contracted would be of equal talent to those announced today.

In addition to the country music show, the fair—which will spread across the 59 acres of Will Rogers Memorial Center—will include hundreds of exhibits, a multi-million dollar midway and free entertainment on the grounds. Officials anticipate more than 500,000 to attend the 10-day show. And those who see the country and western performances will be treated to some of the best entertainment in the field.

Archie Campbell is regarded as one of the most versatile performers in the business. An RCA Victor artist, his biggest recordings were "The Men in My Little Girl's Life" and "The Cockfight."

Ben Smathers has headed a group of Southern Mountain folk dancers for 20 years.

Stonewall Jackson records for Columbia and he soared to the top of both the pop and country and western charts with his hit "Waterloo."

Little Jimmy Dickens' credits include such C&W successes as "Old Cold Tater," "Country Boy," and "May the Bird of Paradise Fly Up Your Nose."

Waylon Jennings claims such RCA Victor favorites as "Stop the World and Let Me Off" and "Dark Side of Fame."

Carl Smith's "Foggy River,"

"Deep Water" and "Loosetalk" are country classics.

Loretta Lynn is acclaimed by country music critics as one of the greatest female artists of all time. Her "Wine, Women and Song," "The Other Woman" and "You Ain't Woman Enough" highlight a long list of triumphs.

Kitty Wells also ranks at the top of the female performer lists and in 1952 when her "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels" went to the top of the charts she became the first female artist to rise above a secondary role in the country music field.

Kitty shares billing on her show with husband, Johnny Wright, their son, Bobby Wright, daughter, Ruby Wright, and Bill Phillips.

Johnny Wright is noted best for his patriotic renderings of "Dear John Letter" and "Hello Viet Nam."

Bobby won notoriety for his "Lay Some Happiness On Me" and Ruby's catchy "Dern Ya," a follow-up to Roger Miller's smash hit "Dang Me," received wide acclaim.

Nine Teams Now Probables For Golf Tournament

Nine four-player teams have been entered in the Second Annual Industrial and Commercial Golf Tournament to be held at the Winters Country Club on Memorial Day, May 30.

These entries have been "indicated" by various firms and businesses who have been invited to enter teams in the tourney, according to Art McLemore, chairman of the tournament committee.

There is still plenty of room for additional teams, McLemore said.

The tournament will be for 27 holes of play, instead of 18 holes as previously reported. Tee off time will be 8 a. m.

The four-man teams are to be entered as two 2-man partnerships, and scoring will be low-ball medal play. The two partnership team scores will be added together for the four man team score to determine the team winner.

Trophies will be awarded the sponsors of the three low teams, the two low individual partnership teams, and the two low medalists of the day. Sudden death play-off will determine winners in case of ties. Trophies to be awarded in the tournament are on display at Bahlman Jewelers.

Entry fees will be $40 per four-man team.

Those firms or businesses interested in sponsoring teams are asked to contact McLemore.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

"Citizens' Crusade against Poverty," a self-appointed agency sponsored by Walter Reuther, has just released a 100-page report entitled "U.S.A.—Hunger." The group under the agency is called the "Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States."

The report found shocking examples of hunger in all parts of the Nation but primarily "in the south and southwest."

The 100-page document identifies 256 counties that are so "distressed as to warrant a Presidential declaration" and naming them as "hunger areas," where this Board recommends that new emergency food programs should be immediately instituted.

Prior to this report the Department of Agriculture recently issued a survey on hunger and malnutrition which contradicts testimony given by Department officials before the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives.

Officials of the Department had testified before the Committee last fall that they had all the authority needed to feed hungry people anywhere they might find them and that they had the money with which to do it. The Agriculture Committee felt that under these circumstances it was unwise to establish another program to do the same thing, but another committee of the Congress has authorized an additional program which duplicates what is already being done.

Chairman Poage has received 77 responses already and more coming in. Local health officials say that in no case do they find any actual starvation but do find instances of malnutrition. Most of them have amplified their responses to say that malnutrition can occur in cases where food is plentiful and that it is a matter of a balanced diet. This may occur in any home of an affluent society. Most of them commented that from their observations many people preferred to be on relief with a limited supply of food than to accept jobs which were available.

Chairman Poage wrote specifically, (1) "I would greatly appreciate it if you would immediately advise me whether you have any personal knowledge of any actual starvation in your county. (2) Do you have any personal knowledge of any severe hunger in your county occasioned by inability of the individual to either buy food or receive public assistance?" None have thus far replied in the affirmative.

Of course there are instances of people who are too old or too sick to work and these are the people who are entitled to assistance and who will get it, if this is their condition.

Now coming out of these reports there is a move on to ask the President to appoint another commission to look into the matter. The Chairman of the Agriculture Committee says that if anyone knows of any facts needed to relieve conditions of hunger, the Committee will welcome such information and will do something about it.

The Chairman says "There is simply no need to spend millions of dollars to review the work which has already been done by the Committee, based on the headline-seeking report which has made the fantastic report of widespread hunger and starvation in the country."

Everyone knows there are people who need help—those who cannot help themselves. Those people will be helped, but to categorically find that an en-

Walt Disney's new nature-adventure, "Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar," tells the story of an abandoned cougar kitten, which is raised by a lumberman in the Northwest.

"Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar"

One of the most unusual animal feats to be captured on film appears in "Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar," the latest nature-adventure from Walt Disney, in which a domesticated cougar pet of a Northwest lumberman engages in a log-birthing contest with a champion birler.

On location in timber country, the cougar kitten was raised for and during filming. And from the beginning, it was plain that this was not an ordinary cougar.

In color by Technicolor, "Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar" was produced for Disney by Winston Hibler from an original screenplay by Jack Speirs, and photographed in the field by Lloyd Baese and Chuck Draper of Calgary, Ltd. Rex Allen narrates the Buena Vista release.

tire county is poverty stricken and people starving cannot be supported by official inquiry. But seemingly it can be readily determined by a group made up principally of professionals in other parts of the country who must labor with imagination and general statistics to prove their case. These would likely be the people appointed on a Governmental Commission if one is authorized.

Glenda Darlene Sims, Kim E. Israel Make Plans For Wedding On July 5th

The engagement and approaching marriage of Glenda Darlene Sims and Kim Eugene Israel have been announced by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Sims of Winters.

Miss Sims was graduated from Winters High School and is a junior at Hardin-Simmons University where she is a member of Epsilon Eta Phi, national professional business sorority.

Sergeant Israel was graduated from Loy Norrix High School, Kalamazoo, Mich., and is in the U. S. Air Force, stationed with the 819th Medical Group at Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene.

The wedding has been planned for July 5 in the Winters First Baptist Church.

Many people have the misconception that the only way to catch panfish—sunfish (perch), crappies, etc.—is with natural baits, like earthworms and crickets.

Normally bait of this type will catch the most panfish, but usually artificial lures will take larger ones.

Lake Marble Falls, located almost downtown in the community of Marble Falls in central Texas, holds an astronomical number of sunfish. But a fisherman using earthworms will more often than not, catch only a batch of little ones. These eager, speedy, small fish beat the bigger ones to the bait.

Next time out, try some of those tiny spinners, bugs and flies. They are more effective in taking the larger fish.

There are two facts to consider when after sunfish with artificials. Use a small bait and fish slowly. The smaller the artificial, the more effective it will be. And whether it is a surface or an underwater lure, retrieve as slowly as possible.

For fun at its best the sunfish should be taken on light tackle, something like a fly rod or an ultra-light spinning outfit.

Dick Brown, publisher of the Austin American - Statesman, likes to cast for so-called bream on Lake Austin, using a seven-foot fly rod that weighs less than three ounces. He says even a hand-sized fish fights like a big one on this dainty tackle.

Topwater bugs or flies on a fly rod should be small. About a No. 10 bug is best. The smaller bug will tempt many more strikes than a large one. Any tiny fly is okay, with standard colors of black, yellow and white producing best.

With a bug, just barely wiggle it on the surface. Don't pull with enough force to pop it. Pull the fly through the water in short, slow pulls. Sometimes a tiny spinner attached to the front of the fly will add the flash that attracts more strikes.

Also very effective is the ultra-light spinning outfit with the miniature lures designed for such tackle. A tiny spinner is best. A typical one will be less than an inch long with about a No. 10 treble hook.

Reel the spinner just fast enough that the blade spins; the slower you retrieve, the more strikes you'll get.

Sunfish seem to prefer bright colors like yellow with black dots, or orange with black dots.

With the fly rod or spinning outfit, the angler can cover much more water than he can while fishing with natural bait, and by exposing his offering to more fish, he naturally stands a better chance of catching more.

While most crappies are taken on live minnows, there actually are times when a tiny white jig will take more and bigger fish. This is particularly true in the springtime, when the fish are in the shoreline shallows to spawn. But sometimes it is also true when the fish are deep, near the bottom. I remember a time on Lake Falcon in southern Texas when the crappies ignored minnows, but a tiny jig hopped around the base of the submerged brush would prompt a strike.

To be effective the jig must be small. One weighing about 3-16th of an ounce is the best size. Probably the best known make is the Fly-Fly jig, manufactured in Oklahoma.

Usually the best retrieve is to simply cast the jig and allow it to sink to bottom near submerged brush or trees, then reel in slowly and steadily. There may be times when you have to twitch the rod tip ever so lightly to get the action that brings strikes.

If you can't adequately cast such a small bait, rig a pair up in tandem, one on the end of the line and another on a dropper line about 18 inches above this one. When the crappies are cooperative, it isn't uncommon to catch 'em two at a time.

Mrs. E. H. Baker Hosted Nan Wright Circle Tuesday

Mrs. E. H. Baker hosted the Nan Wright Circle of the WSCS of the United Methodist Church, Tuesday morning.

Refreshments and a social hour preceded the program for the meeting.

Mrs. H. O. Abbott, chairman of the circle, presided for the meeting and read a Mother's Day prayer. Each member was urged to attend church Sunday morning for an installation service for officers of the WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild.

Mrs. August McWilliams was leader of the program on "The Vietnam Christian Service." The devotional was given by Mrs. E. W. Bridwell on "A Better World Begins With Me."

Current events were given by Mesdames Nan Wright, Paul Gerhardt, Roy Crawford, Sallie Gray, E. L. Crockett.

In a round-table discussion it was decided to help the boys in Vietnam by praying for them, writing letters, send clippings from the paper about church affairs.

The next circle meeting will be with Mrs. E. W. Bridwell. Others present were Mesdames Thad Traylor, Jasper Drake, M. E. Leeman, E. L. Marks and B. M. Smith.

We commend our local and state police authorities for their vigorous enforcement of the law. We denounce with equal vigor lawlessness and civil disobedience. We deplore the fact that the new Code of Criminal Procedure tends to overprotect the offender and hinder law enforcement.

We urge adoption of a criminal code which will strengthen law enforcement rather than weaken it.
