If ever there was a young man who had the entertainment world on a string, it's John Davidson. An overnight sensation on television's "Kraft Summer Music Hall" a couple of seasons ago, and a Columbia recording star, John has now completed roles in a pair of top Disney musical comedies, "The Happiest Millionaire" and "The One and Only, Genuine, Original Family Band."

"The One and Only, Genuine, Original Family Band."

Polished veteran actor, Walter Brennan, 74, recently re-teamed with Buddy Ebsen for the first time in thirty years for Walt Disney Productions' new musical, "The One and Only, Genuine, Original Family Band."

Their last picture together was another musical called "Banjo On My Knee" made in 1937. "That picture was set in Mississippi," recalled Brennan, "and had a lot of good country music. I played Ol' Buddy's Uncle Newt. That was a long time ago. Funny how time passes and we all get younger."

"It's kinda appropriate," continued the grand old gent of films, "that in our reunion picture, I graduate from his uncle to his pappy. And strangely enough, the action in 'Family Band' takes place in the 1880's, same as that first picture. And there's a slew of songs, too. All about the Dakota Territory."

Coyote Gets Its Kicks By Just Being A Coyote

Some Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists found out that it is a good idea to have a scapegoat, or in this case a scapecoyote, nearby when you irritate a mother.

The biologist spotted the coyotes while capturing antelope fawns for examination. When they netted a particularly noisy fawn, its bleatings brought mama at full charge.

After striking out at biologists, nets, and anything else which to her looked menacing, the big female spotted the two coyotes who were watching, they thought, from a safe distance. The antelope gave chase and quickly caught one of the hapless critters, giving it a sharp, powerhouse kick just on general principles.

Biologists quickly examined and released the fawn, glad that it was the coyote and not they who suffered the fury of a mother whose baby was crying.

The bride's attendants wore yellow crepe empire gowns fashioned with round neckline and large flat bow of yellow velvet attached at the back of the dress. Their headpieces were a cluster of daisies and small yellow veils. They carried a bouquet of daisies and greenery and wore matching shoes and long white gloves.

WASHINGTON "As it looks from here" OMAR BURLESON Congressman 17th District

It seems our Government, including all branches, believes that more money and more promises will cure the evils which we face.

The Government has promised more, both to our own people and to the outside world, than it can deliver. A day of reckoning one way or the other is not far off.

This past week the Congress passed what is known as the "Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968" costing $5-1.2 billion in this Fiscal Year. That, however, is not the whole story by any means.

The Bill involves about 30 different subsidized programs and no one can give a satisfactory answer as to what it will finally cost in the years ahead. Estimates are fairly clear that 8 of the major provisions will cost between $45 and $50 billion during the next 10 years.

The Bill includes a subsidy for rent payments, commonly known as rent supplement. It provides the difference between 20 percent of a home owner's income after deducting $200 for each minor child and monthly mortgage payments. Market interest rates can be subsidized down to a minimum of 1 percent regardless of the going rates at the time.

Another example is insurance provided by the Federal Government to rebuild property destroyed by riots. Urban renewal with Federal grants and loans is provided but with this type of insurance any ghetto can be made under the insurance provision.

In the Debate on this measure the sponsors agreed that this is the answer to chaos occurring in many of our large cities but a few crumbs is provided for every nick and cranny of the entire country under some type of Federal program.

All this follows the Law recently passed providing for a 10 percent surcharge tax increase, together with a $6 billion reduction in the current budget, together with the cancellation of $10 billion in commitments already made.

How all of this is to be accomplished, while committing the Government to these huge outlays of expenditures in the future, is wholly inconsistent.

Every public official, whether a Mayor of a town or the President of the United States, knows from experience how difficult it is to curb the momentum of expanding Government activity and we know that this portends the continuation of the levels of taxation higher than any of us want to bear. When Federal monies are available, pressures for every program mount.

As the Chairman of the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives said last October "We want to pause in this head-long rush to ever bigger Government." In a statement Chairman Mills made at that time he said that "the real issue is whether or not the Congress will ever be able to focus properly on controlling the growth of Federal claims on the Nation's productivity capabilities over the years ahead. It is one thing to attempt to cope with immediate challenges but it is another to look at the long range results of committed spending."

The interest on the Public Debt now exceeds $15 billion and the debt will continue to expand unless there is established firm control over the course of future expenditures. What is needed and what is essential is a change in spending programs to bring responsibility to our Fiscal affairs. We should focus sharply on what the Government is to do, as well as on how much it is to spend.

Any realistic appraisal of our Nation's financial condition should make it crystal clear that Federal expenditures will increase with Federal activity. Expansion of Government activity may not in itself be improper. As natural changes occur, so must actions to meet it but we definitely should be sure that obligations to meet the demands of the future are what we want them to be and that it is the proper mission of the Federal Government.

Many of us are allergic to the appointment of Commissions to do something we should be doing ourselves but it may take some outside group to bring reality to get it further away from political machination.

Game Prospects Look Good Over The Hill Country

Deer and turkey hunting prospects continue to look good in the Texas Hill Country says A. W. Lewis, Region II director in Waco for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Lewis says favorable reports continue to come into his office. Department Wildlife Technician Jerry Butler, of Llano, recently reported seeing 150 deer in five miles of driving in Llano County. Butler says the fawns are beginning to "show up" with the other deer, and some of the bucks have exceptionally large velvet antlers, an indication of above average size "racks" being available by the open season.

"Everything looks good right now," says Butler.

Regional Wildlife Supervisor Horace Gore said he had been in eight or 10 Hill Country counties during the past few days and has not seen a poor deer. Huey Robinett, Department wildlife biologist in Llano, says he is getting many reports of young turkeys.

Adolph Heep, Department game management officer in Fredericksburg, says he is seeing more young turkey for this time of year than he has in the 35 years he has served in the area.
