HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

In the world of golfing, collecting a golf bet is about as easy as stuffing tooth paste back in the tube. We know of one individual who, after being hounded and hounded to pay up, sent a small check and the following letter to the winner:

"Dear Sir:
"In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to Federal L. a. w. s. State Laws, County Laws, Mother-in-laws, Brother-in-laws, Sister-in-laws, and Out-laws.

"Through these laws, I am compelled to pay a business tax, cigarette tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, food tax, furniture tax, unemployment tax, compensation tax, and excise tax. I am required to get a business license, operator's license, truck license, marriage license, not to mention a dog license and fishing license.

"I am required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployed relief and the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Salvation Army, Community Chest, Red Cross, Purple Cross, Double Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., as well as way stations for wayward girls and boys, boy's ranch and Boy's town.

"For my own safety, I am required to carry health insurance, life insurance, fire insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, falling aircraft insurance, unemployment compensation insurance, and old age insurance.

"My business is so governed that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it. I am inspected, ejected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

"Simply because I refuse to donate something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

"I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that just happened, I could not enclose the check. The wolf that comes to many doors nowadays just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them—and here is the money."

A sad story like that could really break a man up, and ruin the whole day for him.

Our old friend out on Bluff Creek says he believes that in this age of high-stepping political campaigns, a presidential candidate who wins a four-year term should be given credit for at least a year, or the amount of time he spent before the conventions and election, stumping the grass roots and attending the hustings about the country.

Farmers and Ranchers In RSCD Sign For $79,300 Cost-Share Practices

Woodrow Hoffman of the local Soil Conservation Service, has said that during the past year, 18 farmers and ranchers in the Runnels Soil Conservation District signed contracts under the Great Plains Conservation Program with the SCS. He said about $79,300 for cost-share payments was set aside for these contracts. These payments, he said, are earned by those under contract by applying certain conservation measures that they have included in their conservation plans for their farms.

Hoffman said the Great Plains Conservation Program is a voluntary one. Its core is a complete soil, water and plant conservation plan, based on the soil, the condition of the grass, the available water and on the problems and needs of the farmer or rancher.

To get started on the program, Hoffman said, the land user makes application for assistance under the GPCP with the SCS. He then develops a conservation plan for his place with technical help from the local SCS. If his plan is mutually acceptable to him and the SCS, he can then sign a contract with the Service. Here he agrees to apply the needed practices according to a schedule which he has worked out. Hoffman said the following conservation practices are cost-shared on in Runnels County: seeding grass on land unsuited or no longer needed for cropland, shaping and seeding waterways, reseeding depleted pastureland, terraces, diversion terraces, range pitting, irrigation pipeline, leveling irrigated land, lining irrigation ditches, livestock water wells and pipelines, farm ponds, brush control and permanent inside fences to protect or improve grassland. Hoffman said that since this program started in the District in 1958 some 117 farmers and ranchers signed GPCP contracts on 49,800 acres. And 50 of these have completed their conservation program with assistance from this program. This leaves a total of 67 farmers and ranchers with contracts in force on 34,500 acres. Because of the shortage of funds, Hoffman said, at the present time the SCS is not entering into any GPCP contracts. He said when notice is received by the local SCS that funds are available everyone interested will be notified.

Pat Pritchard Named To COG Review Group

Pat Pritchard, Runnels County Commissioner of Wingate, is a member of the initial membership of the Government Application Review Committee of the West Central Texas Council of Governments. The appointment was approved by the COG executive committee recently.

West Central Texas Council of Governments is an organization made up of county, city and other political subdivision officials, formed to help expedite applications for Federal and State assistance on different projects.

There are fifteen members of the Review Committee, according to COG headquarters in Abilene. Reasons for the large membership, according to the executive committee, are to minimize the number of meetings individual members will be called upon to attend; to establish broad representation of the area; to assure attendance of the minimum considered necessary for transaction of business; to provide flexibility sufficient to avoid having committee members being placed in conflict-of-interest situations when there are applications from their own counties, cities or districts.

Other members of the review committee are Brown County Judge W. O. Breedlove, Shackelford County Judge Ike Chism, Abilene City Manager H. P. Clifton, Rotan Former City Councilman George Field, Haskell City Secretary Ira Helmer, Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin, Brownwood City Manager Harry Miller Jr., Taylor County Commissioner of Abilene Grover Nelson, Coleman City Manager Jim Snodgrass, Sweetwater City Manager James E. Swaim, Stamford City Manager Kerry Sweat, Eastland City Manager Lewis Tiner, Throckmorton County Judge Byrd F. Thorp, Stephens County Judge Miller Tuttle.

Charles W. Carter Reports Back To Carrier After Leave

Seaman Charles W. Carter, 22, USN, left Monday for Long Beach, Calif., to report back to the Aircraft Carrier Yorktown, following a few days' leave at home with his family. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carter of Winters, and husband of the former Miss Martha L. Cowlishaw of Ballinger.

Seaman Carter arrived in Long Beach July 5 aboard the Yorktown following a cruise in the Pacific. The Yorktown had spent more than six months deployed off Vietnam in support of U. S. military operations. The famed "Fighting Lady" of World War II, has played a dual role as a man of war, protective anti-submarine warfare screen and also giving a logistics support to U. S. forces in the Gulf of Tonkin.

News of the Pueblo incident some months ago gave Yorktown and her crew an opportunity to show their versatility. While steam toward Yokosuka, Japan, the carrier was ordered to change course and head for the Sea of Japan. There, the Yorktown combated icy winds and driving snows to provide round-the-clock surveillance operations off the shores of Korea.

Voters of the Norton Rural High School District—along with the voters of Bronte School District—will decide Saturday, July 27, the immediate fate of the Norton School.

An election has been ordered for Saturday to settle the question of consolidation of the Norton district with the Bronte district. Taxpayers in each of the two districts will have a say in the matter.

The dilemma facing the patrons of the Norton School District was born June 8, when fire destroyed the district's school building and all equipment and records. Material loss has been estimated at $150,000—insurance covered only about $24,000. A small school, with only about 100 students, Norton is faced with a multitude of alternatives; among them, attempting to rebuild for the entire 12 grades; attempting to rebuild for either an 8-grade or 6-grade school, and contracting high school students to adjoining districts; or consolidation with one or more of the surrounding districts.

School boards of Winters, Ballinger and Bronte presented offers to the Norton School board for consolidation of the individual districts, or absorption of high school students and maintenance of a 6- or 8-grade school system in Norton. Trustees decided to erect a six-grade school, and allow students in grades seven through 12 to attend school in any of the surrounding districts.

During the first week in July, however, petitions for consolidation of the Norton and Bronte school districts were filed with Runnels County Judge W. H. Rampsy and Coke County Judge W. W. Theford. The election was set for July 27.

Voters of both the Norton and Bronte school districts will have to approve if the issue is to pass.

In inviting the Norton people to unite with the Winters Independent School District, Winters school board members offered to build a six-grade school at Norton, and absorb the other students. Ballinger made practically the same offer. In their overtures to the Norton school patrons, Winters district representatives pointed out the most desirable financial position of the Winters district, which will be debt-free in 1972.

The Winters school board also offered to honor the contracts of the Norton teachers, if they had not been employed elsewhere if the offer were accepted by Norton.

The Bronte district reportedly promised that if the Norton and Bronte districts were consolidated, two present members of the Bronte board of trustees would resign and residents of the Norton district appointed to the board.

Although the consolidation election is at hand, there still is discussion of the possibilities of construction of school buildings in the Norton district. It has been estimated that a prefabricated steel structure would cost approximately $35,000 with total cost of setting up a plant with books, furniture, etc., of nearly $50,000.

The counties where this program will be conducted have populations of over 21 per cent who are 65 years of age or older.

Central Texas Opportunities is taking applications for these positions, and anyone interested should apply at the office at 117 West Street, directly west of the court house or write to Box 882, Coleman.

No Service At P. O. Windows On Saturdays

Effective Saturday, July 27 patrons will be unable to mail packages, get general delivery mail, accept parcel post packages, buy stamps, or conduct any other business over the counter of the U. S. Post Office here.

Stamps will be available in the coin machine in the lobby of the post office for those who have the correct change, however.

The "no Saturday window service" policy is the result of cutbacks in operations ordered by the Postmaster General in the face of Congress' economy drive.

Even though the customer windows in the local post office will be closed, Saturday city delivery of mail will not be affected, O. J. Murray, senior clerk in charge of the Winters post office, said.

"A Stranger in Town"

No punches are pulled in "A Stranger in Town," a powerful and tautly realistic outdoor adventure-drama, in which one man pits his cunning and strength against that of a vicious bandit and his murderous cohorts. Directed by Vance Lewis with explosive impact, the Allen Klein production for MGM, in Metro-color, starring Tony Anthony, Frank Wolf, Yolanda Modio and Gia Sandri, is an all-out action thriller which will hold the spectator in a relentless grip.

of Cerro Gordo where Aguilera (Frank Wolf), a notorious bandit with a price on his head, has captured a company of Mexican soldiers. The soldiers have fallen into the trap on their mission to receive a large quantity of gold which the United States Government is lending to the Mexican Government.

San Antonio's HemisFair is more than just San Antonio's. It is Texas', the Nation's, the Western Hemisphere's and the World's.

By reason of it having been approved by the International Exposition Headquarters in Paris, it is international.

It is most impressive in all the ways that fairs may impress people but it makes impressions in more simple terms.

Some of those who are not Texans and lacking in bias, which those of us from Texas may have, are quick to comment upon the orderliness, its cleanliness, its courtesy, its lack of ballyhoo, which might otherwise be expected.

There is, however, one critical note. It has come under attack from numerous sources. It is the controversy of the film "Confluence USA" at the United States Pavilion. What does that mean? A coming together of peoples, a joining of forces—everything, nothing—but officials of the Department of Commerce, the Agency under whose jurisdiction comes exhibitions, fairs and expositions, say that "world's fair films are not supposed to mean, they are supposed to be, like laughter or morning dew." When Mrs. Lyndon Johnson saw the film she is quoted as saying "It lacks the element of hope." Former Ambassador Ed Clark, now Commissioner of the United States Pavilion at HemisFair, said "They had to pass up a thousand good things in America to find one of its bad things to show."

Not all officials of our Government nor our citizens think it is bad. Some view it as a great film that just sweeps down on you and says "Look America—Look what you are doing to yourself." At a bend in the corridor on leaving the theatre, you see yourself on television with the caption "Are you a part of the problem?" and at the next turn another television picture of yourself above which is "Are you a part of the solution?"

This comes about because after the film has shown many wonders of the United States—its great productive capacity, beauties of nature, its enterprising people, its great flowing rivers and lakes, majestic peaks, waving fields of grain to feed millions in the world, its pulsing industry—comes the seamy side. It shows hunger and want, poor people and the disadvantaged, streams polluted by the refuse of our industrial plants, as well as the air from automobiles and smokestacks. It shows dead automobiles covering acres in junkyards; a newly married couple spend most of the day and night stuck in a freeway traffic jam in some great city.

The controversy, simply stated, is why show the bad or "seamy" side of America and does it mean that to not show it is a denial it exists?

Several years ago, when Edgar R. Murrow was appointed Director of the United States Information Agency for our Government's propaganda overseas, he introduced the idea that we should portray America exactly as it is to foreign peoples. When questioned on this policy his reply was that we must not deny to foreigners that we do not have problems and that to honestly reveal them would be greater cause for them to believe the good things. Many of us disagreed and questioned him at length.

A good salesman never says "You don't want to buy any of this, do you?" He extols the virtues of his product. Advertising people try to put in words, music or pictures the merits of what they are trying to sell to make people want to buy.

To withhold the seamy side of America is not to deny we have a lot of it. But the point is that by portraying the best, it emphasizes the system of Government which is able to produce more things for more people and where people are better off than any other place on the face of the earth.

It is not so important that we have more automobiles, more telephones, bathtubs, television sets and just about everything portable to sell the idea that a world put together. It is im-

Parks & Wildlife Released 545 Game Birds

Biological crews of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department this week released 545 foreign game birds in four widely separated areas in the State, according to Joe Davidson, biologist in charge of the exotic game bird program headquartered in the Departments Management and Research station near here.

Some 140 California ring-necked and Western Iranian cross-breed pheasants were stocked south of Devers, in Liberty County, at the most eastern edge of the rice growing section of the State.

Davidson said these crosses would look like the Western Iranian black-necked pheasant to a casual observer, but that some have faint semblances of the ring familiar in the ring-necked.

Half of the birds released were brood stock, and the other half were half grown or seven weeks of age.

Davidson's crew also released 90 Afghan white-winged pheasants in Lynn County, near Tahoka, and another 90 north of Slaton, in Lubbock County. He said the high plains area was chosen because of the bird's ability to live in areas of low rainfall.

"The irrigated grain fields of the high plains should provide good habitat for the large pheasant," Davidson said. The birds are native of Afghanistan and the cocks reach approximately four pounds live weight in the wild.

Crews also released 225 gray francolins near Hubbard, in Hill and Limestone Counties. This excellent game bird, which weighs about nine ounces and is twice the size of a quail, is much more resistant to parasites and diseases than other game birds.

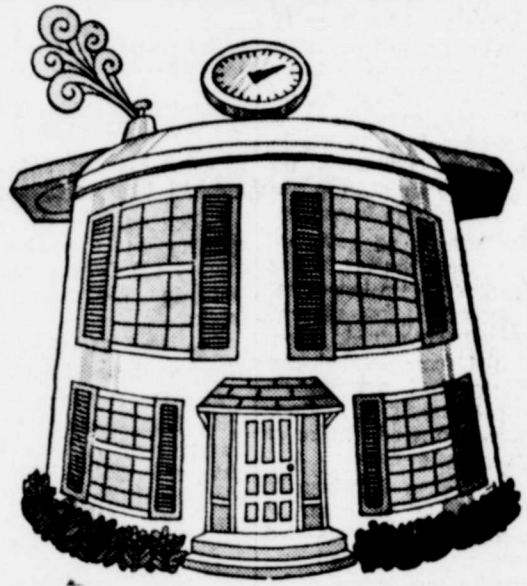

Davidson said the purposes of the stockings were not to replace native game bird stock but to fill in the void created by destruction of habitat and subsequent displacement of native game bird species due to changes in land uses.

else than all the rest of the free democratic society and a free enterprise system, made possible those wondrous accomplishments. It does not mean that our Nation is perfect but like individuals, we work toward perfection.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

This year, according to State Highway Department's travel and information division soundings, members won't reveal the recommendations that were submitted to them by Acting Administrator O. N. Humphreys Jr. until after careful study.

Last set of regulations banning cash sales in the clubs and curbing the issuance of guest cards by manager-members was knocked out by a district court order in May.

Humphreys termed the new rules "workable" but "not rigid."

Meanwhile, he submitted a long report on the steps taken to restore public confidence in the LCB which has been hard hit on investigation of irregularities.

Humphreys detailed steps taken to upgrade personnel and improve administration, case handling and record keeping.

At their July 18 meeting, the board also:

Approved retirement for LCB Enforcement Chief A. R. Cartledge and named as his temporary replacement Don Fishell, 39.

Announced that a permanent successor to resigned Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. will be appointed in 30 to 60 days.

Acknowledged that Stevenson told members he had received an expensive watch as a gift but they did not question his acceptance of it.

Reported law enforcement activities and collections are on a substantial increase over last year.

"The future looks good," commented Chairman W. D. Noel of Odessa, who is scheduled to step down soon after 16 years of service.

TAX BILL LAW

Now there's no way out of paying those new taxes approved by the Legislature in special session. Gov. John Connally has signed into law the bill which is designed to raise $160.2 million for 1969 state operations. It's effective October 1, and here's what it does:

Raises the general sales and auto sales tax rates from two to three per cent statewide. In cities which levy 1 percent local option sales taxes the rate will be four per cent. (No change was made in exemptions.)

Increases the corporation franchise tax rate (collectible May 1) from $2.25 to $2.75 per $1,000 of taxable capital, surplus and undivided profits. Portion of the franchise tax on corporate debt will be reduced from $2.25 to $2.00 in 1969 and phased out by 1973.

materials and/or negligence under a surety bond required by the Water Well Drillers Act.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Dr. Bevington A. Reed, 52, was named to succeed Dr. Jack K. Williams as Texas Commissioner of Higher Education effective September 1.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith named three senators to a new committee to study state park needs: Joe Christie of El Paso, Dorsej Hardeman of San Angelo, Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, Charles Herring of Austin, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Murray Watson Jr. of Waco.

State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. designated Jim Campbell of Pampa as acting deputy state GOP chairman for the Panhandle-Northern Texas Region V, temporarily replacing Bryce V. Beard, Amarillo. O'Donnell appointed Mrs. Pierce P. Langford Jr. of Wichita Falls Region V as deputy state vice-chairman.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has urged the U. S. Supreme Court to reconsider its decision that the Texas tidelands boundaries must be measured from 10.3 miles of shoreline as it expected in 1845, without regard to recessions.

State Supreme Court reversed an $862,000 verdict favoring foreign car dealers. They had sued the city of Houston for flood damage to autos, claiming inadequate drainage.

High court set October 16 for review of the lower court orders directing charter be granted to Mission Savings and Loan Association, San Antonio.

Court said National Surety Corporation has a valid judgment of $18,237 against the Independent School District of Friendswood, Galveston County but cannot collect.

It ordered a new trial in a Hansford County landowner's suit against a professional wheatcutter whose truck started a fire in his field.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held that the State Board of Education could order a hearing on the appeal of a Lumberton school superintendent who was fired by a local board.

Third Court directed a new trial in a case involving disannexation of 550 acres of land from Temple.

City cannot force on a landowner higher air control standards than those set by State Air Control Board, Attorney General Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

A Texan is qualified to vote in a local liquor election if he resided in the state a year, the county six months before election and is a resident of the city where the election is held.

Dallas County Hospital District to release a surety bond on an insurance company that is in receivership when all claims are satisfied and when the one-year statutory time limit is satisfied.

Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners cannot vary fees set by state law.

Plaintiff could not recover for faulty workmanship, labor and operation Youthlift August has been declared by Governor Connally as Youth Month at HemisFair.

Ben Barnes, Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, heads a statewide committee to organize special youth excursions to the Fair. He is meeting with youth leaders in key cities of Texas to plan the August trips.

Special, low-cost, package-plan excursions, including overnight accommodations in San Antonio, have been developed by HemisFair to tie in with the program.

Any youth group in Texas desiring to participate in "Operation Youthlift" should contact HemisFair Headquarters or the Speaker's office at the state capitol.

SHORT SNORTS
New $7 million bond issue has been sold to aid Texas college students needing tuition loans.

First court penalty—$10,000—has been directed against a chemical company accused of polluting the air near Galena Park.

Governor Connally approved $1,683 regional planning grants to aid Lubbock Metropolitan Council of Governments and Smith County-Tyler COG, benefiting Tyler, Arp, Bullard, Lindale, Troup, Whitehouse and Winona.

Veteran University Interscholastic League Director Rodney J. Kidd will go on modified service September 1, as UIL scholarship program head.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reports that 2,262 active contracts have been received from purchasers under the revitalized Veterans Land Program.

You must say, "I am his friend," and prove that fact to be true.

IN NO HURRY is Velvet Gaye Riegel, 15 months, who seems to be wondering if she chose the right transportation in "Tommy," a 75-year-old turtle at the Detroit zoo. "Tommy" was among many animals on hand during a Zoological Society family day.

The United Nations Today
Wellesley Hills, Mass. Since its founding nearly 23 years ago, the United Nations has been a controversial force in our country. Its promoters bombard us with propaganda stressing its achievements and avoiding mention of its shortcomings. Its foes are equally articulate and insistent in branding it ineffectual.

Limiting Nuclear Weapons
We don't know for sure whether the UN has prevented World War III; we only know that so far we have been spared such a holocaust. We do know, however, that the UN is making its impact on relations between governments. The discussions in the General Assembly and in the Security Council of the UN are open for all the world to hear, as is the debate in our own Congress. And in the course of these discussions, governments still sadly estranged from one another do communicate via their representatives.

As a result of this dialog, last month the United Nations General Assembly adopted the U.S.-Soviet draft treaty for the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons. By a 95-to-4 vote (21 abstentions), the nations agreed to prohibit nuclear powers from distributing nuclear weapons, or knowledge, to others. They also agreed to bar nonnuclear powers from building atomic weapons. In addition, the treaty provided for a full exchange of information looking toward the wider utilization of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

Obstacles To Peace
Of course, the nuclear treaty is not yet operative. It must still be signed and ratified by the U.S., Britain, and the Soviet Union, as well as by some two-score nonnuclear countries. But it represents a step toward peace and good will which probably could not have been taken if there had been no UN to sponsor and encourage the necessary dialog.

There are many obstacles to peace: The conflicting aspirations of more than a hundred nations; the ancient rivalries between countries within a given region; the differing approaches of the haves and the have-nots to the agricultural, economic, and social problems that confront them; and, finally, the deep cleavages stemming from racial, cultural, and language disparity.

Many Plus Factors
But there are plus factors too, not the least of which is the universal yearning for peace. The UN has not found the key to peace in the Middle East. Indeed it cannot fully enforce the cease-fire it ordered. It has not resolved the Korean impasse. Nor have the parties to the Vietnam conflict permitted it to come to grips with the situation there.

However, the UN is still a force for peace and progress in today's world. So long as there is a General Assembly and a Security Council there is reason for optimism.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

The cook is entitled to a vacation from some of the kitchen chores so take advantage of the many types of ready-to-eat meats. The more popular ones include frankfurters, bologna, liver sausage, meat loaf, head cheese, ham loaf, pickle and pimento loaf and many others. These ready-to-eat meats may be made of beef, pork, veal or lamb or a combination of two or more of these. Seasonings are many and varied, says the Home Demonstration Agent. In many milk solids act as a binder.

The label gives a list of ingredients in order of predominance, the name of the meat, the manufacturer's name and address, and the weight of the package (if prepackaged).

The meats yield about 5 servings per pound. Since they are perishable keep them in the refrigerator. The proteins and vitamins in ready-to-eat meats are equally as nutritious as those in any meat cut.

Suggestions for stretching the budget this month includes variety meats. Demand is greater for the tender steak cuts at this season so you'll find the economical beef choices to be round steaks, chuck roasts and steak and ground beef. Best pork values are found on hams and picnics. Eggs are plentiful supply at economical prices. Fryers continue to be bargain choices in most meat departments.

Watermelon highlights most produce counters since they are low in price. Cantaloupes, peaches, plums, grapes, Bing cherries, bananas, and nectarines are moderate to low priced fruit choices.

Fresh corn, green cabbage, carrots, radishes, green onions, salad tomatoes, blackeye peas, purple hull peas, potatoes and dry yellow onions are usually the economically priced vegetables.

Quick comparison is not easy for all the fruit beverages which don the market today. Mrs. O'Connor suggests comparing flavor, ease of preparation, nutritive value and cost each serving. Reading the label is your best guide.

Standards have been set for many varieties of canned, frozen concentrates, canned concentrates and dehydrated fruit juice products. Recently, some fruit drinks, but not all, have been included.

Fruit punches have not been standardized. The label will tell the ingredients used.

Beverages that are labeled juice, punch drink, or nectar, vary considerably.

Juice is what the name indicates—true fruit juice—finely divided pulp, possibly sugar and perhaps additional vitamin C. If sugar and vitamin C are added, they will be listed on the label. Fruit juices have no water added.

The popular frozen concentrated juices are juice with some of the water removed. Some of the fruit juices sold in bottles at the dairy case are reconstituted frozen juices—the water has been added for you.

Punch is made of two or more juices, water, sugar, artificial color and flavor. The ingredients listed in the order of volume.

If water is the first ingredient, water out-measures juice; if juice is listed first, juice out-measures water.

Fruit drink may or may not contain fruit juice. The label will tell. Some brands contain water, sugar, corn syrup, concentrated juice, vitamin C and flavors and colors.

Nectar is usually water, fruit concentrate, sugar and citric acid.

Disabled Veterans Should File Claim With VA

Veterans retired from the Armed Forces for disability who have not filed a claim for compensation from the Veterans Administration are reminded by the VA that they may be losing money.

Many retired disabled veterans do not file claims for VA disability compensation because they mistakenly believe that they will lose all military retirement benefits if they do.

This is not the case according to Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco.

Even though retirement pay and compensation cannot be paid at the same time, the veteran has the right to elect which ever benefit is greater and may switch from one benefit to the other whenever it is to his advantage to do so. If he waives his retirement pay and elects to receive VA disability, he is still eligible for all basic retirement benefits such as commissary privileges and dependent medical care.

Severely disabled enlisted men generally will receive greater financial benefits by electing V. A. compensation rather than retirement pay, Coker said.

There are other benefits which retired disabled veterans who have not filed for VA compensation should consider, he pointed out.

The Family Lawyer

Man Versus Beast

Hot-tempered Brown, seeing a neighbor's Airedale frolicking on his lawn, took out a pistol and fired a fatal shot. Sued later for damages, Brown protested that the dog had been "trespassing on my private property."

But the court held him liable anyhow. The judge commented: "A dog should not be the object of target practice simply on the grounds that it was outside the custody of its master."

Generally speaking, you are not justified in killing someone else's domestic animal merely because it is trespassing on your premises. Nor is killing justified by other annoyances of a similar petty character.

For example, a court held that a man had no right to kill a dog for walking across his freshly-painted porch. And another court reached the same conclusion when a man killed a dog for chasing his pet cat up a tree.

But the life of a domestic animal is not sacrosanct, either. If the animal inflicts damage that is sufficiently serious, this fact may justify his aggrieved victim in striking back.

Accordingly, a court ruled that a suburban home owner could not be blamed for slaying a cat which had a long record of raids on his hen house.

This right of retaliation is usually recognized even if the animal is one which comes under the protection of the local game laws.

A recession is a period in which you tighten your belt. A depression is a time in which you have no belt to tighten.

You've heard that axiom: two heads are better than one. Well, it's true about eyes, too. Especially when applied to the sport of shotgun shooting.

Aiming and firing a shotgun with both eyes open is one of the most basic fundamentals and important principles that novice shooters should try to follow from the very beginning.

One eye gives a picture only in one perspective. Our two eyes act as windows for the brain, and since these eyes are located some distance apart, each one sees objects from a slightly different angle because of their different viewpoints.

Nature has taken care of this situation by giving one eye mastery over the other, or what is commonly called the "master eye." This controlling eye pulls its partner into focus, transmitting a single image to the brain when both eyes are open.

In most cases, the master eye follows the master hand (e.g., a right-handed person has a right master eye). But there are exceptions and thus it is of prime importance to the beginner in shooting to find out which eye is the master one.

A simple test is to close one eye; the one left open is the master. Some people can close either eye, but few can close the master eye and leave the dependent one open.

An alternate and more fool-proof method is for the shooter if he is righthanded, to close the left eye, raise the gun to the right shoulder and take aim at some object 15 or 20 feet away, sighting along the top of the barrel with the right eye. When the aim is established, the left also should be opened.

If the aim remains clear and the appearance of the mark is unchanged, then the right eye is the master eye and the shooter should do his shooting from his right shoulder.

If, on the other hand, when the gun is at the right shoulder and sighted with the right eye, the appearance of the picture changes with the opening of the left eye in such a way that the left side of the gun is seen and the mark appears to be to the left of the muzzle, then the left eye is the master.

This simple test can be made more easily by pointing the index finger of the right hand at some object a distance away and sighting along the finger with the left eye closed. If the right eye is the master, the sight picture will remain the same even when the left eye is opened.

Should a person with a master left eye continue to shoot from his right shoulder, he most likely will crossfire, even with both eyes open.

Even if you're shooting from the wrong shoulder, don't be afraid to change. Probably you will see almost immediate improvement. Same thing also applies to shooting a rifle or a bow-and-arrow.

Some right-handed people must, by necessity, shoot southpaw since their master eyes are the left.
