Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Someone's always coming up with ideas to make the automobile safer for the driver and passengers—and some of these ideas have been incorporated in the manufacture of cars, either by widespread demand and/or acceptance by the public, or by laws.

Some of these innovations have included the padded dash, safety glass, disc brakes, seat belts, and the more-protective shoulder belts, and now (and hopefully not finally) a special extension or head rest on the back of the seat to prevent "whiplash" injuries to the neck of the driver or passengers. This last is being included in all 1969 models, and will be a requirement on all autos built after January 1, 1969.

(Of course, the most dangerous item, the nut holding the steering wheel, cannot be improved upon overnight or by law, it seems . . . it will take a lot of evolution to make that correction.)

But there is one little item which had escaped us until recently, which could, in our opinion, make driving a great deal safer. It has to do with the lighting requirements—and equipment of the rear end of a car.

Since the beginning, we suppose, it has been the practice—the requirement—to put RED lights on the rear of all cars. The red shows when the car is in motion; the red shows when the car is stopped; the red shows when the car is going in reverse. The red light has almost always meant "STOP"—but that "STOP" light keeps right on glowing as the car moves down the road. The driver behind knows the car ahead is going to stop only when those red "driving" lights become brighter, or additional red lights come on.

Now we've heard that someone has suggested a change in the color of lights on the rear of automobiles, and on the surface this idea sounds so simple that there is doubt that it could ever be adopted. Only research could prove its worth. The idea is that the rear end lighting system be changed to TWO colors—GREEN and RED! GREEN to be on when the car is moving forward; RED to be on when the speed drops below a certain MPH indicated, or when the car is stopped or in reverse.

Such a change would require a lot of education and change of driving habits on the part of drivers, but after all drivers in Sweden changed from left-hand driving to right-hand driving overnight, didn't they?

Such a change in light colors would be practical and simple, it seems. How many times have you, as a driver, followed the glowing RED tail lights of a car ahead, using only those lights as a guiding beacon? Think about it! We set our speed and our direction on those RED lights ahead, and only become alert if they glow brighter or more RED lights come on. There's been many a person killed or injured just because a driver followed those RED lights into a ditch or onto another road. Many accidents also have been caused because the following driver didn't notice the difference in the degree of glow of a RED "driving" light and a RED "stop" light, and plowed into a slowed or stopped car!

If the "driving" lights were GREEN, they would announce that it was comparatively safe to proceed; when the RED change-of-speed or stop lights came on, they would serve to readily warn the following driver that something different was about to happen. It could work!

Spokesmen for the organization said that $270 was taken in during the shoot, and that this amount will be sent to the Rehab Center.

Between 50 and 75 people participated in this second annual benefit shoot, competing for merchandise prizes worth about $250. The prizes were provided by Winters merchants. Many shooters from out of town attended, including Bangs, Ballinger and Norton.

The Winters Shooters Association wishes to thank the Winters merchants for their donations of prizes to make this event possible.

Soil and Water District Board Elected Officers

The Board of Supervisors of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District elected officers for the coming year at their regular monthly meeting Friday.

Grider Hays, Ballinger Route 1, was elected chairman of the board; Arthur Eggemeyer of Miles Route 1, vice chairman; Kirby Robinson, Winters Route 3, secretary; W. F. (Bill) Minzenmayer of Winters Route 1, and Jake Presley of Winters Route 2, will serve as members.

Hays said it is the policy of the board each year to reorganize and elect new officers following the supervisor election. The election this year was in Zone 5 of the district. Jake Presley was re-elected by landowners of this zone at Crews on October 5 to represent them on the board.

Country Club Golf Course Open Again

The golf course of the Winters Country Club opened again Thursday of this week, according to members of the board of directors.

The course had been closed for about three weeks while winter grass was being planted on the greens and other maintenance work was accomplished.

The greens are in "very good" shape, the information said, and the entire course is ready for play.

Chamber of Commerce "Third Monday" Luncheon Next Monday

The Winters Chamber of Commerce "third Monday" luncheon, for the entire membership of the organization, will be held at Huffman House next Monday, October 21, at 12:45.

All members of the Winters Chamber of Commerce are invited and urged to attend this luncheon, to discuss programs with the board of directors.

The luncheon is sponsored by the board of directors of the chamber, and is designed to bring together the membership of the organization so that all members may feel that they are "individually involved in the important community work of the Winters Chamber of Commerce," members of the board have said.

The board of directors, at their last regular meeting, approved a plan to have one membership luncheon each month, and picked each third Monday for the affair.

Winters Teachers, Students Attend American Heritage Dinner in Abilene

About 20 teachers and students of Winters High School attended the dinner meeting of the West Texas School American Heritage Project in Carter Cafeteria in the McGlothlin Campus Center at Abilene Christian College Tuesday night. One of the WHS students was on the student-led program.

Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., was the principal speaker.

Carroll Tatom, superintendent of Winters Schools, is chairman of the 13-county group, and said each school was invited to bring visitors equal to one-third of their number of faculty.

Randy Pendergrass, president of the Student Council in Winters High School, had a part in the program. He led the Pledge of Allegiance. The program was student-directed this time.

The American Heritage Project is oriented toward stimulating more appreciation on the part of the public toward Americanism, and is considered an important part of the educational process in the schools participating.

Parcel Post Rates Increase Saturday, Oct. 19

Clerk-in-Charge O. J. Murray of the Winters Post Office reminded postal customers today that higher parcel post and catalog rates will go into effect Saturday, October 19.

The rate increase will average 10.5 percent and in most cases will mean an additional ten cents postage per parcel. The higher rates were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in July.

Under the new rates the minimum charge for local parcel delivery will go from 40 to 50 cents. The minimum charge for parcels destined outside the local delivery area will be raised from 50 cents to 60 cents.

Almost all parcels that are charged up to $1.10 under present rates will go up 10 cents. This accounts for more than 80 percent of all parcel post. Murray pointed out. There will be a 15-cent hike on most parcels now charged between $1.10 and $4, and a 20-cent increase on parcels now charged over $4. Parcel post rates are based on the weight of the package and the distance it is mailed.

Higher rates for the delivery of packages and catalogs are required to bring revenue from this type of mail within four percent of operating cost, as required by law, Murray explained. The higher rates are designed to put parcels and catalogs, which are fourth class mail, on a break-even basis. Additional revenue is needed from parcel post and catalogs to offset higher costs resulting from pay-increases approved last year for postal employees.

WHS Principal At Dallas Meet

B. J. (Jake) Joyce, principal of Winters High School, attended the conference of the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals in Dallas this week.

Salvation Army Fund Drive Kicked-Off Thursday Night, Quota Is $1,200.00

Blizzards Go To Haskell Friday

The Winters High School Blizzards will be on the road this Friday night, traveling to Haskell for their third District 7-AA conference football game.

Still smarting from their close 6-14 loss to Hamlin last Friday night, the Blizzards are still searching for that elusive "winning attitude" formula. They will be hindered somewhat this week from injuries received in last week's game, but nonetheless will be attempting in the game with Haskell to improve their status in the district.

The Blizzards now have a 1-1 record for conference play, and a 2-3 record for the season.

The Haskell Indians also have a 1-1 record in conference play, and a 4-1 record for the season. They defeated Anson 27-19 in the first game of the season, a non-conference game, defeated Seymour 33-0, Munday 42-13, lost to Stamford 7-13 in their first conference game, and then defeated Merkel 27-6 in a league contest last Saturday night.

The Blizzards defeated Anson 19-6 in their first conference game, and then dropped their contest to Hamlin last week. In pre-conference games Winters lost to Sonora 0-24, to Coahoma 8-36, and then defeated Clyde 27-0.

"Lost In Crowd" Film Sponsored By Baptist Youth

"Lost in the Crowd," a new documentary film is to be shown at the First Baptist Church, Ballinger, at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, October 19. This is the program for the monthly meeting of the Runnels Baptist Association Youth Rally.

Filed at Daytona Beach, Fla., it takes an extremely frank look into the morals of a representative group of college students who migrate each Easter vacation to the beaches of Florida in search of sun, sand, surf, suds and sex.

Their successful quest is shown in the kind of stark realism which will leave parents shaken as the camera follows the searching crowd from beaches strewn with beer cans to crowded sin shops featuring "Go Go Girls." The film sparkles with glittering photography and raucous sound as it reveals the tortured strivings and mad exuberance of youth unrestrained.

As the film progresses, the camera moves in to take a more intimate look into the lonely solitude of trapped and troubled teenage hearts which have been left unsatisfied by raw pleasure while scarred for life. Right here is the reason for the film.

"Lost in the Crowd" has a positive answer for all anxious, lonely hearts from the beaches of Florida to the broad streets of metropolitan areas in the North, for along with sand, sun, surf, suds and sex, Salvation is also available on the beaches of Florida to the broad streets of metropolitan areas in the North, for along with sand, sun, surf, suds and sex, Salvation is also available on the beaches of Florida in the message proclaimed by some of this country's outstanding Christian athletes. Each year, these men give their time and talents in an effort to challenge the thousands of students.

Led by Ed Beck, former All-American basketball star at the University of Kentucky, the group also contains such well-known personalities as Bill Wade, quarterback of the Chicago Bears; Paul Anderson, the world's strongest man; Don Shinnick, linebacker of the Baltimore Colts; Bill Curry of the Green Bay Packers; Steve Sloan, quarterback of the 1965 National Champion University of Alabama football team and many others.

"This is not a film for the squeamish," says Billy Zeoli, president of Gospel Films, Inc., producers of the film. "While it documents sin, it does not glorify it. Nor does it point an accusing finger at the city of Daytona Beach or its officials. We learned that they are people who care. This film is intended to be a vehicle which God can use in bringing teens to Himself."

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Traffic Jams In The Air

Wellesley Hills, Mass. Traffic jams in the air could cost plane passengers as much as $300 million this year. So estimates the Air Transport Association, which is the voice of the nation's scheduled airlines.

Hazardous Situation

ATA's estimate of the loss to passengers may well prove conservative, and no one has come up with a dollar figure of how much the airlines themselves are losing because of logjams in the airways approaching the country's larger commercial airports. Cities like New York and Washington, already feeling the pinch of lack of sufficient fast, dependable rail service for passengers, are faced with dire economic consequences as air congestion mounts. In a sense, the situation is even worse in Los Angeles and Chicago.

Recognizing the hazards and risks to life and limb involved, the air carriers themselves will follow through (though not happily) with the Federal Aviation Administration's proposal to assign a specified number of take-offs and landings under instrument flight rules at Kennedy, LaGuardia, and Newark Airports in the New York area, Washington National Airport, and O'Hare at Chicago. Only the patience and the skill of airline pilots and air-traffic controllers at these congested airports have averted disaster during heavy stacking periods.

Airport Decentralization

Of course, the airlines themselves have been responsible for some of the conditions that have caused planes to be stalled in the skies for many minutes at a time. Scheduled flights between the larger cities have been expanded considerably during the past couple of years. Also, crowding in the air has been intensified by the practice of some airlines to run second, third, and sometimes fourth sections of scheduled flights in what are popularly known as shuttle services.

But government is also responsible. The Federal officials have been slow to increase air-traffic control crews, while state and local governments just haven't kept up with the big boost in air passenger service. Expansion of existing airfield facilities and development of alternate fields so as to achieve a measure of airport decentralization are urgently needed.

Air Priorities

Curiously enough, the traveling public flying in today's commercial airliners discover that their craft with dozens of people aboard may often be stacked up over a busy airport for long periods because two or three, or even more, light private planes were ahead of it in their approach to the field. Such situations create unnecessary hazards, as does also the operation of military aircraft from civilian airports.

It would appear that the Civil Aeronautics Board, or some other federal agency, could take the lead in working out a logical, sensible system of priorities for aircraft at the more congested fields. Longer range, perhaps non-airline, private flights could be diverted to alternate terminals where they would not so greatly add to congestion and to risk.

Who Will Pay?

Short term and long term, air travel costs promise to point upward—sharply upward. Both government and business have been singularly slow to attack this problem forcefully. In the case of airport expansion, it has almost invariably been a case of "too little, too late." This has been especially true during the past three or four years as rail passenger service has been slashed.

Now we are in urgent need of new safety and other equipment for airfields, more air-traffic controllers and other skilled help, and additional airports. Whether we live in or near the big cities or "down on the farm," we can't afford to be isolated from rapid contact with the rest of the nation. As taxpayers and as passengers, then, we must be prepared to pay a good deal more for air transportation.

Future Of Vending Machines

Wellesley Hills, Mass. Over the past couple of decades the automatic vending machine has developed into a robot controlling an impressive segment of big business. Just how great its significance was revealed at a recent convention in Philadelphia of the National Automatic Merchandising Association. The occasion drew approximately 9,000 delegates representing better than 6,000 vending service firms throughout the nation.

Uptrend Still Strong

To those who may have assumed that the market for vending machines and the expansion of their use had reached the "glut" stage, figures from within the industry will come as a surprise. Total take in this field during 1968 reached a spectacular high of $4.5 billion. And the projection for the current year promises sales volume almost 9 percent higher, hoisting the dollar turnover for automatic merchandising devices to a new record of $4.9 billion.

Convention representatives of this thriving industry were especially optimistic about the future. About one-third of the concerns anticipate that within five years their sales volume will surpass present rates by 50 percent, a particularly rosy forecast in view of the wide selling base already established. Even more arresting, however, is the fact that one out of every five companies represented look for a sales advance of 100 percent during that span. Pessimists were almost nonexistent at the meeting.

Focal Product Areas

Most of the business done by vending machines is concentrated in such lines as cigarettes, sandwiches, ice cream, milk, candy, chewing gum, soft drinks, and nuts. While discussion on the subject is still somewhat tentative, many insiders look for constant additions to the list of products machine-vendable. Planners for some department stores and discount houses, faced with steadily rising expenses, aim to test out the possibilities of machine-vending smaller items such as clothing, kitchenware, appliances, etc.

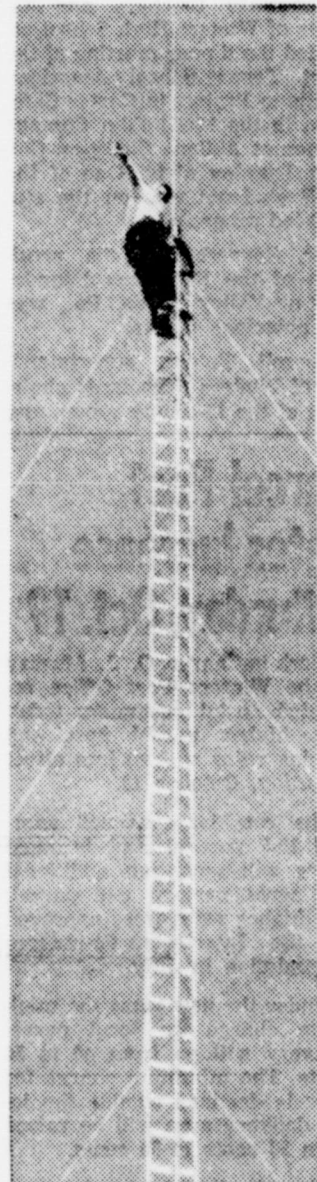

For the present, though, surveys show that the quickest changes for the industry are likely to be involved with articles of food and methods of distributing them most efficiently. As the automatic-merchandise operators have become larger, they have tended to run their own food kitchens rather than to buy from outside sources. This tendency will persist and become more prevalent, according to the surveys. In fact, close to one-half of the firms within the Association are currently turning out their food in their own commissaries, with still others expressing interest in this procedure.

Machines Vs. No Machines

One of the most striking revelations within the vending industry is the increasing reversion to non-machine techniques of selling and servicing. High on the list for development are more widespread regulation cafeterias and lunch counters. It should be noted, in fact, that some 35 percent of the vending-machine firms are already selling food by other than automatic-machine methods. Key emphasis for the future is "service" by whatever means. On the horizon, therefore, loom greatly extended tactics in truck catering and the letting out of concessions.

To save money, more and more of the smaller units are turning to the purchase of their convenience foods from concerns running their own output kitchens. Though the larger establishments are still somewhat divided, some purchasing their requirements and some running their own centralized commissaries, the trend is strongly in the latter direction.

Because of rising labor costs and other expense factors, the move toward consolidation of companies has gained speed. And this tendency will become stronger. Some executives in the field point to the inefficiency of workers as one of the worst drawbacks for the in-

LOFTY PERCH was achieved by Luna Deloney, 25, a physical education teacher who won 5,000 trading stamps offered by an Ozark, Ala., oil firm to the first woman who climbed its 140-foot radio tower.

The Things We Say

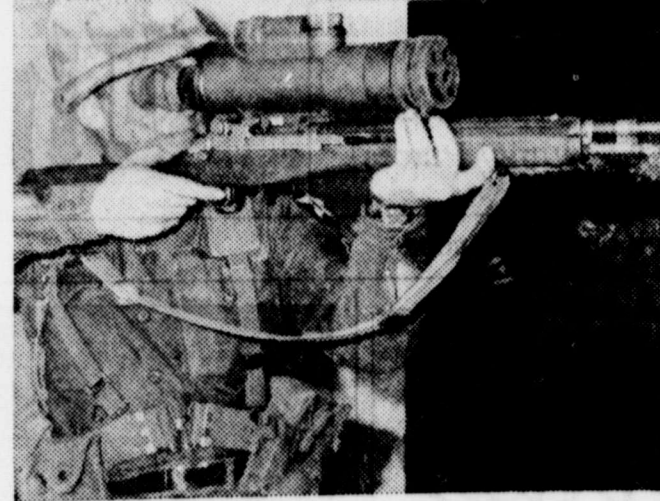

By RUBY SHANNON

When a sweet young girl makes her appearance with her hair combed, clothes pressed and her make-up on straight, someone is apt to remark, "How pretty! You look like you have just stepped out of the bandbox." The "bandbox" used in this case has nothing to do with a band that plays music.

In the 16th century, it was a popular fashion to wear a high collar which was called a band. Such bands were starched very stiff and kept immaculate by storing them in a box known as a "bandbox."

The smartly dressed young ladies had indeed been to the "bandbox" to get their stiff collars. The expression, "out of the bandbox" when first used then, had a literal meaning which meant just what it said.

AROUND THE 7-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

It took the eight teams of District 7-AA through Saturday night to complete their weekend picture; when all teams had played their second conference games, there it was: Stamford on the point, Coleman riding drag and the rest pretty well bunched up in between. However, there still are five games to be played by each, and anything can happen betwixt and between.

Stamford literally pulverized the hapless Coleman Bluecats on the Bulldogs' home ground Friday night, 42-0, for their second league win. They did it by scoring 14 points in each of the three first quarters, and racking up 352 yards on the ground and 22 on 2 passes out of 14 on the ground. Coleman made only 31 yards on the ground, and 35 in the air.

Standouts for the Bulldogs were Fullback Mike Brown, Rene Alvarez, Halfback Raul Vasquez, Gary Grissom, Choya Teichelman, and Butch Miller.

This game left Coleman in the cellar, and facing 0-1-1 Anson this week at Anson. Stamford goes to Merkel Friday.

The Merkel Badgers, who set out to make a place for themselves among the old district competitors, came down with a bad case of "Poison Ivy" - Haskell QB Lanny Ivy, that is - Saturday night, to end up on the short end of a 27-6 score. In the first half of that contest, Haskell's Ivy failed to click on his passing attempts - but came back strong to lead the Indians out of the thicket. Merkel had scored in the second stanza to send Haskell to the dressing room without a tally at the half. Haskell got their counters in the third-7-and in the final -20.

This leaves Haskell with one win and one loss for the district, and Merkel with a win and a loss.

Ballinger's Bearcats, who had won 3 and lost 1 for season play, couldn't get past Anson Friday night; nor could the Tigers get going good against the South Runnels County bunch. They settled for a draw - 6-6 - in a head-knocker, which saw Ballinger mark up 12 first downs to Anson's 11, 174 yards on the ground to Anson's 184, and 69 in the air to Anson's 55.

The first half was football without scoring; Ballinger got on the scoreboard in the third quarter, then Anson got on in the final. Ballinger tried to un-

Friday night's Winters-Hamlin encounter has to be described as a "spectator" event. It was a good football game, in which anything could have happened and much of it did. Quick-kicking by Hamlin, 1-yard-line dreadfalls for the Blizzards, and good heavy runs. But the Blizzards failed to keep up a head of steam and went down to defeat 6-14. It was about even on the ground and only slightly one-sided in the air—in favor of Winters—and the winner had to earn it.

Hamlin and Winters now stand even with 1-1 for the conference season.

Hamlin invites Ballinger this week, while Winters makes the trek to Haskell.

State Capital NEWS

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Presidential candidates, wooing Texas voters and the state's 25 electoral votes, are becoming familiar visitors in the Lone Star State.

Republican Richard Nixon swooped into Dallas for a rally Friday. He's likely to return, as is his running mate, Spiro T. Agnew, who also was here earlier.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will try to breathe new life into the late-starting Democratic drive with a barnstorming tour starting October 22. Ed Muskie, Humphrey's No. 2 man, is supposed to drop in around the 30th.

Third party candidate George Wallace made plans to return to Texas this week. He scheduled a high-noon rally for Fort Worth for Thursday (Oct. 17). Both Wallace and Vice-presidential candidate Gen. Curtis E. LeMay are being encouraged by backers to make repeat performances before November 5.

While waiting for the candidates to make their personal appeals, their supporters fought the battle of the polls.

Humphrey's national headquarters claimed a Belden sampling showed 35 per cent of the Texans interviewed favored Humphrey; 33 per cent were for Nixon; and 26 per cent for Wallace; with just six per cent undecided.

"Strange," retorted Nixon's state camp, since its Merrill-Wirthlin poll showed: Nixon 34 per cent; Humphrey 27 per cent; Wallace 22 per cent; and undecided 17 per cent.

Houston Chronicle interviewers concluded Nixon is leading with 40 per cent of the vote. Humphrey ran second in the Chronicle's poll with 33 per cent, and Wallace third with 28 per cent.

Activity in the Humphrey camps definitely is on the upswing. Texas Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie—headed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough—and Texas Democrats for Humphrey-Muskie—led by Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Will D. Davis of Austin—are battling against time to rally the traditional Democratic strength.

Former Gov. Allan Shivers, who emerged as national chairman of Democrats for Nixon, is actively encouraging "splitting the ticket"—for the GOP national nominee and the Democratic state and local candidates.

COURTS SPEAK

Awards totaling $477,900 to seven persons injured in a truck and Greyhound bus wreck three years ago was upheld by the State Supreme Court.

High Court, while declining to annul an order appointing Houston attorney Leon Jaworski to the board of trustees of the Robert A. Welch charitable foundation, agreed that the appointment should be given full court hearing.

Right of T-empte to retain 549.9 acres of land annexed five years ago was upheld by the Supreme Court, even though the city had not provided water or sewer service to the territory.

Same court backed a trial court decision in holding that no vacancy existed with regard to 155.1 acres of land in Upton County and that the property belongs to Atlantic Refining Company.

Court of Criminal Appeals stuck by its earlier reversal of a seven-year sentence given Houston tobaccoist Mair J. Schepps charged as an accomplice in printing counterfeit cigarette tax stamps. State motion for rehearing was overruled.

Charity Circle WMS Met In Lillie Marks Home Tues.

Mrs. Lillie Marks hosted the regular meeting of the Charity Circle of the First Methodist Church in her home, 505 Enterprise Street, Tuesday morning.

The circle chairman, Mrs. Frank Mitchell, presided and Mrs. E. H. Baker gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Eva Kelly presented the continuation of the study on Southeast Asia.

Others taking part were Mrs. Pearl Whigham "The Churches in Indonesia," Mrs. W. E. Mayhew gave a part and Mrs. W. T. Nichols gave "Higher Education, Training and Leaders."

The closing benediction was repeated in unison.

Refreshments of orange juice, coffee and cookies were served to Miss Frances Stricklin, Mesdames Eva Kelly, Elmo Mayhew, Frank Mitchell, Pearl Whigham, W. T. Nichols, E. H. Baker, Drasper Drake, A. L. Mayo, a visitor, Mrs. J. B. Pentecost and the hostess.

Blizzards Drop League Tilt To Hamlin In "Spectators' Night"

It was really "spectators' night" last Friday night, a touch-and-go situation which could have gone in any direction. But the final results on the scoreboard indicated it was not the "Blizzards' night," as they dropped the contest 6-14 to the Pied Pipers of Hamlin, realizing their first conference loss of the season.

The Blizzards overran the Pipers, according to the game statistics, but could put across only one touchdown during the evening against a determined Hamlin defense.

A 70-yard quick kick by the Pipers, an action you don't see in many schoolboy football games, helped to put the Blizzards in a hole on their own 1-yard line, could be considered one of the decisive plays of the evening. From deep in their own territory, the Big Blues were forced to kick out to Hamlin on the Winters 40.

From there, and in about eight plays, Hamlin drove over for their first counter. Piper quarterback James Asher connected with end Charlie Shira with a 9-yarder to put them on the scoreboard with 2:05 left in the half. Duane Stewart sewed up the 7 points with his PAT kick.

Following halftime activities, which featured a "fire-dance" by Blizzard band twirlers, the Blizzards came back with some fire of their own. Reese McCuiston intercepted an Asher aerial on the Hamlin 34, and from there the Blizzards drove through in 11 plays for their single counter of the evening—score now 6-7. Try for two extra failed.

A while later in the third stanza, the Blizzards fumbled on their own 19, and the Pipers took it from there to pay territory for the final scoring of the evening.

Most of the play in the first half was on Hamlin's end of the field, but the situation was reversed during the second half.

Fullback Robert Moore was the Blizzards' top gainer, with 52 yards in 18 carries.

Game statistics were:
First downs: Winters 12, Hamlin 10; rushing yardage, 139-135; passing yardage, 53-17; passes completed, 7 of 16, 2 of 4; passes intercepted, 1-0; punts, 5 for 37, 7 for 35, average; penalties, 2 for 23, 0 for 0. Both teams now are 1-1 in conference play.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

What is the newest, most fashionable in fabrics for fall? Leather-like materials. It is showing up in skirts, vests, jackets and jumpers as well as rainwear and accessory items such as tote bags, hats and belts. Sewing techniques used on leather-like fabrics are similar to those for vinyl and real leather. Select a pattern with simple design lines. Raglan and kimono sleeves are easier than set in sleeves, advises Mrs. O'Connor. In cutting the fabric, pin pattern in seam allowances only. Use sharp shears and cut accurately. To mark the pattern, she suggests dressmaker's carbon and a smooth edge tracing wheel to mark from the wrong side.

Stitch a test seam on the sewing machine before beginning. From this, determine correct pressure and tension. It should be medium tension and light pressure. She recommends 8 to 12 stitches per inch for stitch length; a 14 size needle for medium weight fabrics and 16 for heavy weights; and heavy duty mercerized cotton thread for construction.

Plain seams will roll and they cannot be ironed flat. Flatten seams with rubber cement or adhesive, suggests Mrs. O'Connor. Taper darts to a very fine point. The last three to four stitches should be on the fold. Don't backstitch.

Use a tailor's hem, picking up one or two threads in backing. Don't pull the stitches tight or the garment will pucker on the right side.

Another tip: do not baste seams but pin them in the seam allowances. If the leather sticks to the machine's metal surface when sewing, use a strip of tissue paper between them. Also, use reinforcement in buttons and neckline areas to prevent stretching.

Bonded fabric labels which give quality control standards and guarantees protect consumers. Poorly bonded fabrics may no longer be allowed to destroy the great potential of this unique fashion fabric, says the Home Demonstration Agent. Major fabric companies and trade associations are pushing for bonded tests and standards.

Three companies have taken leading roles in combating the problem of shrinkage, delamination, blistering and puckering. Guarantees on fabric labels are your protection for quality.

Louis G. James, president of Lone Star Gas Co. of Dallas, has been re-elected to a two-year term on the American Gas Association's board of directors.

Elections were held during the closing session of the 50th annual convention of the gas industry's national trade association. Some 5,000 gas industry executives from the United States, Canada, Europe and South America participated in the four-day event.

A native of Fort Worth, James joined Lone Star as a clerk in its gas measurement department in 1923.

Texas consumes 5 billion gallons of gasoline a year, ranking second behind California.

He who is the most slow in making a promise is the most faithful in the performance of it.
