U. S. Marines To Celebrate 193 Years Soon

In 193 years, United States Marines have been called a lot of things: not all of them complimentary, of course, but always respectfully.

At Belleau Wood in June, 1918, the Germans referred to the Marines as "teufel-hunden" or "Devil-dogs" because of the fighting spirit of the 4th Brigade. The French officially named Belleau Wood the "Wood of the Marine Brigade."

During the American Revolution Marines became known as "Leathernecks" because of the leather stocks they wore around their necks to protect them from cutlass slashes when boarding enemy ships or vice versa. It was also during this time they became known as "Dingers" because of their marksmanship ability when firing from the masts and main-tops of American vessels.

Two more recent terms are "gyrene," probably of Army origin but difficult to interpret, and "Jar-head," obviously a Navy term and probably referring to the short, close haircut that gives Marines that famous "peeled" look. Some Marines say it refers to the hardheaded, unswerving devotion to duty Marines pride themselves for.

General of the Army John J. Pershing who commanded the American Expeditionary Force in France during World War I said, "A Marine and his rifle is the most dangerous weapon in the world." Of course, that was before nuclear weapons made it a real contest.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said of Marines on Iwo Jima, "Uncommon valor was a common virtue." This was the campaign in which photographer Joseph Rosenthal made the picture of the famous flag-raising on Iwo Jima's Mount Suribachi. Keith Wells of Abilene was the platoon commander of the platoon that raised that flag. The flag came from the USS Talladega.

Twenty-five years later on August 18, 1965, another Abilenean, Hugh Doss, went ashore from the USS Talladega 12 miles south of Chu Lai, South Viet Nam and participated in operation Starlight, which was the first confrontation between a large American force and a large Viet Cong force.

There are many area residents who can claim title to the aforementioned nicknames by virtue of their service to the Corps in one of four wars or intervening times of peace. This group will have a birthday soon. Once a Marine, always a Marine still holds true, and most will make all efforts to be in attendance to commemorate this 193rd Anniversary of the Corps.

Saturday night, Nov. 9, these "Leathernecks," "jar-heads," "dingers," — "gyrenes," and AUSTIN — At least half a dozen Democratic nominees for statewide office are weathering an unusually sharp attack from Republican challengers this year.

In a final flurry before the November 5 general election, the attacks will be stepped up.

Taking no chances, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Preston Smith, Ben Barnes, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin have returned to full-time campaign status.

Their Republican challengers are Paul Eggers, Douglas DeCluitt and Sproesser Wynn.

Republican Manny Sanchez of Brownsville also has campaigned actively for state treasurer against veteran incumbent Jesse James. GOP'er E. H. Schuhart of Dallas is running hard for agriculture commissioner against John White and Millard Neptune of New Ulm is running a serious race to beat land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Other statewide Republican candidates, who have campaigned less vigorously, are John Bennett and Jim Segrest of San Antonio, nominees for state controller and railroad commissioner respectively. GOP campaign headquarters claims Bennett as a member of its "action team" but doesn't mention Segrest.

Controlled Robert S. Calvert and Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon, James and White show no sign of concern.

Polls have indicated the statewide Democrats leading, but battle-wise veterans who face hard-charging opponents can't be sure how many Richard Nixon supporters will decide to vote a straight Republican ticket in indignation over a "change."

GROUP SEEKS MORE MONEY

In their Association meeting in Austin county judges and commissioners voted to ask the Legislature to give them more money for county business, and in several ways.

First, they endorsed Constitutional Amendment No. 7 on the November 5 ballot. It would take the state out of the property tax field a little at a time between now and 1976. County officers want authority to levy this tax for county purposes as fast as the state abandons it.

A bigger share of automobile license plate fees also is sought. Where a county gets the first $50,000 in license plate fees, and half of the next $25,000, they would like for the Legislature to allow them to share with the state up to a total of $1,000,000 a year, instead of $175,000.

Other resolutions called for the state to participate in getting federal aid for crime prevention programs, to make the law clear that local units of government are exempt from the state sales-tax law, and to revise the law so delinquent tax suits for less than $25 can be filed.

Judges and commissioners opposed the proposal that they be given zoning powers like cities have. This legislation will be proposed to the next Legislature so as to make rural areas eligible for Federal flood insurance under a new program. Without zoning or building controls, flood insurance will not be available.

LAND SALE SET

A big sale of forfeited veterans land tracts is scheduled for November 19. A list of tracts and their locations is available from the Veterans Land Board in Austin, which will receive bids until the day of the sale.

Some tracts are available only to eligible veterans at five and a half percent interest. Non-veterans are free to bid on most of the property, however, although they will have to pay six and a half percent interest if they are successful purchasers.

FOURTEEN VOTES

Campaigning is becoming a bit heated on the 14 proposals to amend the constitution on which Texans will vote November 5.

Texas Municipal League and the Texas Water Development Board have come out against Amendment No. 12. This would allow cities, counties and navigation districts to issue bonds to finance buildings and equipment for manufacturers.

Both groups of public officials fear that huge industrial bond issues will drain off investment money needed by the cities and the water agency from their own bond issues.

On the other hand, the proposal is being supported by regional chambers of commerce and others. They say 44 states have such plans to attract industry, and Texas needs it, too.

Texas State Teachers Association, Texas Association of Classroom Teachers, and Texas Association of College Teachers all have come out for Amendment No. 9. It would enable public teachers to put six percent of their full salary into the retirement fund. Limit now is six percent of $8,400 a year.

ment fund. Limit now is six percent of $8,400 a year.

Texas Public Employees Association came out for Amendment No. 1, to raise the retirement "deduction" from five to six percent, and to allow investment in corporation stocks of the trust fund built up for their retirement.

Texas A&M and the University of Texas may not agree on Thanksgiving Day football matters. But they are agreed on supporting Amendment No. 3. It would allow the investment of the University of Texas Permanent Fund in a higher percentage of corporation stocks, on the theory that the fund will make more money this way.

Amendment No. 5 would raise the pay of legislators from $400 a month to $700, and it is being supported by legislators and others who think it's become a full-time job.

Amendment No. 2 is being supported by older Texans. It would raise by $15,000,000 a year the amount the state can spend on old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and disabled, and to dependent children.

AROUND THE 7-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

After the dust had settled in four stadiums around the 7-AA loop last Friday night, the Stamford Bulldogs looked around and found themselves still the leaders in the league. They had just finished whomping the Merkel Badgers 26-7 to bring their win total to 3 for conference. That game pretty well gave an indication of which direction the conference wind is blowing, even though the 'Dogs still have four more games to play—Anson, Winters, Hamlin and Ballinger.

In that Stamford-Merkel encounter, Stamford showed what "depth" can mean, when a sub quarterback took over in the absence of the regular, who was injured, to completely swamp the Badgers in every department.

Stamford hosts Anson this week.

Ballinger visited Hamlin last Friday night, sewed up the game neat and tight 22-6, to win a second-place in the standings, with 2-0-1. The Bearcats scored in the second and final quarters for their 22, while the Pied Pipers hit only in the third, without a conversion. Hamlin has a 1-2 record for conference.

Ballinger will be host to the Haskell Indians this week.

Coleman has won only two games out of six this season one pre-conference and one conference. They handed Anson a 13-7 loss Friday night, after Anson had led 7-6 until the final minutes of the contest. Anson drew first blood, in the first, and then Coleman came back in the second for 6, but the attempt for PAT was futile. It stood that way until the last quarter when on a pass play, the Bluecats put one over the line, and then kicked for the extra.

Coleman plays Hamlin in Coleman this week.

It's a long way from Winters to Haskell—going up—but the return trip was even longer for the hapless Blizzards, who had that contest sewed up through the third quarter, only to lose their grasp and let the Indians catch up and pass by one point, 22-21. The try for two extra and the win was the straw that made the score difference.

In that game, the Blizzards, who already had a 1-1 record for conference play, "got up and went"—for about three quarters. They out-distanced the Indians in all departments, but four fumbles in the game slowed them down on the scoreboard.

The Blizzards will try to even the score this Friday, in a homecoming event on Blizzards Field, against the Merkel Badgers.

Some important games already have been played and won—or lost—but even at this stage of the game, if someone slips, someone could be looking down someone's throat.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express the warmth of our feelings of gratitude shown us during our time of sorrow. It's during a time like this that we learn how much our friends mean to us. To those who brought food and sent floral offerings we offer our sincere thanks; to those who expressed their sympathy in other ways we are truly grateful, and to a very wonderful and understanding man, to which we owe a lot, we want to express a special thanks to Ted Meyer. May God bless you all. —The family of a truly wonderful husband and father —Howard Poindexter. ltp.

A TIME FOR DECISION

A Presidential election, the most important one in our lifetime, is close upon us. With three candidates in the race Texans are confronted with such a variety of appeals that some confusion is not surprising. We see some of our top state political leaders urging support of Hubert Humphrey on the self-serving appeal of party loyalty. We see fine Texans tempted to support George Wallace because they like his outspoken position on certain issues and are thus swayed by an appeal of sheer emotion. With full respect for the right of every Texan to make a personal decision, this message in behalf of Richard Nixon is offered as

... AN APPEAL TO REASON!

HUBERT HUMPHREY WILL NOT change. He has proved consistently anti-Texas. He is famous for his filibuster against Texas owning its tidelands. He has fought our right-to-work laws and sought to destroy our vital oil depletion allowance. On every issue of world importance his position is contrary to that of most Texans. Humphrey, an ultra-liberal founder of the ADA organization, would gain executive authority for radical minority viewpoints should he become president. This cannot happen by popular vote. In view of his vicious attacks upon George Wallace, what a ghastly miscarriage of intent it would be if Wallace supporters themselves should throw the election into the House of Representatives where every Wallace vote in Texas would automatically go to Humphrey!

GEORGE WALLACE CANNOT be denied his impressive showing. A number of fine people heed his third party call. The very least that can be said is that he has dramatized the desires of many people for a change of direction in the affairs of our government. However, the very most his supporters can hope for is to split the popular vote so that all of us would be at the mercy of Washington politicians who would elect our president for us. This is Hubert Humphrey's only hope for election. The more positive way to vote for change is to recognize the many fine merits of Richard Nixon and his program, then vote for Nixon to assure the election of our president by the people instead of by the Congress!

RICHARD NIXON CAN... AND WILL supply dynamic, experienced leadership for an immediate change of direction—at the top—in all our national affairs at home and around the world. Your concerns are his concerns!

- NIXON ON LAW AND ORDER is pledged to help improve local police protection, to appoint an Attorney General dedicated to rooting out crime, to restore balance in our courts strengthening peace forces against criminal elements and to cease freeing so many of the guilty on technicalities.
- NIXON ON VIET NAM will call upon his experience as vice-president during eight great Eisenhower years of peace to reform world alliances now in disarray, to redirect our strategy on new global terms. He will end this war and avoid future ones by dealing with adversaries in the only way they respect—through strength, collective security and patience.
- NIXON ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT is pledged to move control of local schools and all other governmental functions which properly belong at the local level closer to the people.
- NIXON ON OTHER PROBLEMS has solid solutions PLUS solid backing of enough members of Congress to implement those solutions.

IF YOU REALLY WANT A CHANGE... AND IF YOU WANT TO BE SURE YOU REALLY GET IT... VOTE FOR NIXON/AGNEW

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — We are in the final stretch of the quadrennial review of the policies of our federal government. Crime on the streets, Vietnam, the plight of our cities, and foreign aid are among the top campaign issues. Strangely enough, high taxes—though deplored—just aren't getting very much pre-election attention.

High Incomes Can Be Deceiving

To be sure, there is still considerable grumbling over the 5% federal income tax surcharge which now seems likely to be extended beyond the June 30, 1969 deadline. But on the whole, high federal taxes are not really ranking. Many people lump taxes in with other living costs and blame inflation for the higher trend of these costs. Some just don't realize how high taxes actually are because larger total personal incomes have sold them on the idea that they "never had it so good."

Overall income statistics indicate that we are better off than ever. However, gross figures on income do not necessarily give a true picture of how well off individuals are. In the first place, such statistics should be reduced to disposable (i.e., after-tax) income. Then they should be adjusted to a constant purchasing dollar. Finally, they should be expressed on a per-capita basis.

Middle Class Squeezed

When this is done, it will be found that the middle-income taxpayer is being unconscionably squeezed. Locked in between the high and low levels, he has too much income to obtain advantage from the low family exemption and from such government-sponsored programs as Medicaid. On the other hand, he does not make enough to permit him to take advantage of the numerous loopholes available to high-income people.

At the state and local levels the problems of the middle-income taxpayer are compounded. Counties, school districts, as well as states and an increasing number of cities, are taking a bigger income tax bite. All along the line, sales taxes, property taxes, fees, and licenses are being boosted. In quite a number of instances, increases in a single year have run to 20 percent or higher.

Tax Overhaul Desperately Needed

Taxpayer revolts in the United States have been rare and pretty much restricted to local areas . . . although heavy taxation was one of the key factors which cost Great Britain much popular support in the American colonies and finally led to the Revolutionary War. But during the past year or two, citizens have been more eager to vote down, or pare, school budgets, bond issues, and outlays for municipal betterments.

Perhaps one reason why taxpayers are not yet more numerous and more vocal in their demands for federal tax reform is lack of real understanding of the primary role government spending plays in the inflationary spiral. In any event, a federal tax overhaul is desperately needed and broad restructuring of federal, state and local tax policies and program would make for more efficient government and a stronger economy.

Public Must Curb Appetites

Whatever the political persuasion of the next Administration in Washington, probability is that the new Congress will be more conservative than for some years past. Chances are good that meaningful studies looking toward broad and constructive tax changes will be instituted. But the overhaul that is needed will take at least two years—possibly more—to hammer out. In that interval, the temptation to water down initial reform proposals and come up with a piecemeal, hodgepodge omnibus tax bill will be very great.

Unfortunately, the worst enemies of tax reform are not the proponents of big government at high cost, but the public which demands more services, all of them expensive and many by their very nature not capable of being administered efficiently by government. Hence tax reform must have broad and strong public support to prevail.

Starting New Businesses

Wellesley Hills, Mass. Despite the fact that our free enterprise system is fettered by heavier taxes and more government regulations than ever before, interest in starting new businesses still runs high. Last year, new business incorporations in the United States totaled 206,000 plus. Add to these the number of unincorporated new businesses started and you reach a formidable figure.

Veterans Beware

Many returning servicemen are seriously exploring the possibilities of going into business for themselves. They seek advice from friends and relatives, from former teachers, and sometimes from businessmen in their home communities. Less frequently do they address their queries to those in the best position to counsel them: Bankers, chamber of commerce officials, and business analysts.

Opportunities still abound in the United States, but a good deal more than hard work is needed to take advantage of them. Veterans and others desiring to enter business as proprietors must be adequately financed, know well the field in which they plan to operate, and be prepared psychologically as well as financially to endure disappointments and setbacks (including bankruptcy). There is no easy road to success, and the business mortality rate is heavy.

Start-Up Costs

Most business counselors caution against returning veterans starting new businesses immediately even in cases where they appear well financed and well acquainted with the field. One obvious reason is that most returning servicemen have been away from civilian pursuits for two, three, or more years and are out of touch with what is going on businesswise in the nation or even in their own communities. They need time to get their feet on the ground and to think their plans through. Also, many of them have had no prior business experience.

But perhaps the biggest stumbling block is the high start-up cost in most businesses. Even with all other signals "go", individuals starting businesses today soon discover how quickly these costs can eat up what seemed initially to be ample capital funds.

Buying Existing Businesses

Broadly speaking, even the well-heeled veteran who is apparently able to finance a new business venture without taking on an unrealistically heavy debt burden would do better to spend two years at a school of business administration or as an employee in his chosen line. And then he might be smarter to buy an existing business at a reasonable price than to start one from scratch.

Every year, successful though small family businesses are put up for sale because of the retirement or death of their owners. Often survivors need to get their money out fast to pay death taxes or satisfy other obligations. Hence bargains are by no means rare, though you must scout for them. As a rule of thumb, beware of paying as much as ten times the average annual net earnings after taxes for a going business. Aim to pay closer to five times annual net, and then only if you are satisfied as to location, competition and the general character and condition of the business.

Locating Likely Businesses

Anyone seriously bent on buying an existing business should go about it systematically. First read your own local newspapers thoroughly—news, editorials, and advertisements. Then learn about conditions and opportunities in other cities in which you might like to locate by studying their newspapers just as carefully.

Follow this up by personal contact with chambers of commerce, bankers, lawyers, and public officials of the community.

Other things being equal, it would probably be wiser to buy a good business in a small or medium-size community than in a large city. But don't be in too much of a hurry. Search patiently and try to improve your cash position while waiting.

Woman's Industrial Club Elected New Officers Wednesday

Regular meeting and business session of the Woman's Industrial Club was held Wednesday at the club house and new officers were elected for another year.

Mrs. John Shipman was elected president; Mrs. Bill Cole, vice president; Mrs. Jim Edwards, secretary; Miss Emma Henniger, treasurer.

At the next meeting Wednesday November 2, there will be a demonstration on the various ways foil can be used.

A cordial invitation is extended to all those who would like to attend the demonstration.

DRAFT QUOTA UP AGAIN

December draft call for Texas increased to 869 (from 523 in November), according to Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service chief. Inductions will occur between December 1-14.

Quotas for October and September were 774 and 683. Highest monthly call in 1968 was in May, when quota of 2,223 was issued. Monthly calls for 1967 ranged from 674 to 1,421.
